Now with what burning indignation we think of the iniquitous stratagems by which goods are sometimes disposed of! Glance at the morning papers announcing the arrival at one of our hotels of a leading merchant from one of the large cities. He is a comparative stranger to the city, and of course must be shown around, and it will be the duty of some of our enterprising houses to escort him. He is a large purchaser and has plenty of time and money, and it will pay to be very attentive. The evening is spent at a place of doubtful amusement. Then they go back to the hotel. Having just come to town, they must, of course, drink.

A friend from the same mercantile establishment drops in, and usage and generosity suggest that they must drink. Business prospects are talked over, and the stranger is warned against certain dilapidated mercantile establishments that are about to fail, and for such kindness and magnanimity of caution ngainst the dishonesty of other business houses, of course it is expected they will—and so they do—take a drink. Other merchants lodging in adjoining rooms find it hard to sleep for the clatter of decanters, and the coarse carousal of these "hail fellows well met" waxes louder. But they sit not all night at the wine cup. They must see the sights. They stagger forth with cheeks flushed and eyes bloodshot. The outer gates of hell open to let in the victims. The wings of lost souls flit among the lights, and the steps of the carousers sound with the rumbling thunders of the lost. Farewell to all the sanctities of home! Could mother, sister, father, slumbering in the inland home, in some vision of that night catch a glimpse of the ruin wrought they would rend out their hair by the roots and bite the tongue till the blood spurted, shrieking out: "God save him!"

What, suppose you, will come upon such business establishments? and there are hundreds of them in the cities. They may boast of fabulous sales, and they may have an unprecedented run of buyers, and the name of a house may be a terror to all rivals, and from this thrifty root there may spring up branch houses in other cities, and all the partners of the firm may move into their mansions and drive their full blooded span, and the families may sweep the street with the most elegant apparel that human heart ever wore or earthly magnificence ever achieved.

But a curse is gathering surely for those men, and if it does not seize hold of the pillars and in one wild ruin bring down the temple of commercial glory it will breek up their peace, and they will tremble with sickness and bloat with dissipations, and, pushed to the precipice of this life, they will try to hold back and cry for help, but no help will come, and they will clutch their gold to take it along with them, but it will be snatched from their grasp and a voice will sound through their soul: "Not a farthing, thou beggarded spirit!" And the judgment will come, and they will stand aghast before it, and all the business iniquities of a lifetime will gather around them, saying: "Do you remember that?" And clerks that they compelled to dishonesty and runners and draymen and bookkeepers who saw behind the scenes will bear testimony to their nefarious deeds, and some virtuous soul that once stood aghast at the splendor and power of these business men will say: "Alas, this is all that is left of that great firm that occupied a block with their merchandise and overshadowed the city with their influence and made right-eousness and truth and purity fall under the galling fire of avarice and crime."

While we admire and approve of all acuteness and tact in the sale of goods, we must condemn any process by which a fabric or product is represented as possessing a value which it really does not have. Nothing but sheer falsehood can represent as perfection hoots that rip, silks that speedily lose their luster, calicoes that immediately wash out, stoves that crack under the first hot fire, books insecurely bound, carpets that unravel, old furniture rejuvenated with putty and glue and sold as having been recently manufactured, gold watches made of brass, barrels of fruit, the biggest apples on top, wine adulterated with strychnine, hosiery poorly woven, cloths of domestic manufacture shining with foreign labels, imported goods represented as rare and hard to get, because foreign exchange is so high, rolled out on the counter with matchless display. Imported, indeed, but from the factory in the next street. A pattern already unfashionable and unsalable palmed off as a new print upon some country merchant who has come to town to make his first purchase of dry goods and going home with a large stock of goods warranted to keep.

Again, business men are often tempted to make the habits and customs of other traders their law of rectitude. There are commercial usages which will not stand the test of the last day. Yet men in business are apt to do as their neighbors do. If the majority of the traders in any locality are lax in principle, the commercial code of that community will be spurious and dishonest. It is a hard thing to stand close by the law of right when your next door neighbor, by his looseness of dealing, is enabled to sell goods at a cheaper rate and decoy your customers. Of course you who promptly meet all your business engagements, paying when you promise to pay, will find it hard to compete with that merchant who is hopelessly in debt to the importer for the goods and to the landlord whose store he occupies and to the clerks who serve him. There are a hundred practices prevalent in the world of traffic which ought never to become the rule for honest men. Their wrong does not make your right. Sin never becomes virtue by being multiplied and admitted at brokers' board or merchants' exchange. Because others smuggle a few things in passenger trunks, because others take usury when men are in tight places, because others deal in fancy stocks, because others palm off worthless indorsements, because others do nothing but blow bubbles, do not, therefore, be overcome of temptation. Hollow pretentions and fictitious credit and commercial gambling may awhile prosper, but the day of reckoning cometh, and in addition to the horror and condemnation of outraged communities the curse of God will come, blow after blow. God's law forever and forever is the only standard of right and wrong and not commercial ethics.

Young business man, avoid the first business dishonor, and you will avoid all the rest. The captain of a vessel was walking near the mouth of a river when the side was low, and there was a long, stout anchor chain, into one of the great links of which his foot slipped, and it began to swell, and he could not withdraw it. The tide began to rise. The chain could not be loosened nor filed off in time, and a surgeon was called to amputate the limb, but before the work could be done the tide rolled over the victim, and his life was gone. I have to tell you, young man, that just one wrong into which you slip may be a link of a long chain of circumstances from which you cannot be extricated by any ingenuity of your own or any help from others, and the tides will roll over you as they have over many. When Pompey, the warrior, wanted to take possession of a city and they would not open the gates, he persuaded them to admit a sick soldier. But the sick soldier after awhile got well and strong, and he threw open the gates and let the devastating army come in. One wrong admitted into the soul may gain in strength until after awhile it flings open all the gates to the attack of sin, and the ruin is complete.

Again, business men are sometimes tempted to throw off personal responsibilities, shifting it to the institution to which they belong. Directors in banks and railroad and insurance companies sometimes shirk responsibility underneath the action of the corporation, and how often, when some banking house or financial institution explodes through fraud, respectable men in the board of directors say: "Why, I thought all was going on in an honest way, and I am utterly confounded with this demeanor!" The banks and the fire and life and marine insurance companies and the railroad companies will not stand up for judgment in the last day, but those who in them acted righteously will receive, each for himself, a reward, and those who acted the part of neglect or trickery will, each for himself, receive a condemnation.

Unlawful dividends are not clean before God because there are those associated with you who grab just as big a pile as you do. He who countenances the dishonesty of the firm or of the corporation or association takes upon himself all the moral liabilities. If the financial institution steals, he steals. If they go into wild speculations, he himself is a gambler. If they needlessly embarass a creditor, he himself is guilty of cruelty. If they swindle the uninitiated, he himself is a defrauder. No financial institution ever had a money vault strong enough, or credit stanch enough, or dividends large enough, or policy acute enough to hide the individual sins of its members. The old adage that corporations have no souls is misleading. Every corporation has as many souls as it has members.

Again, many business men have been tempted to postpone their enjoyments and duties to a future season of entire leisure. What a sedative the Christian religion would be to all our business men if instead of postponing its uses to old age or death they would take it into the store or factory or worldly engagements now! It is folly to go amid the uncertainties of business life with no God to help. A merchant in a New England village was standing by a horse, and the horse lifted its foot to stamp it in a pool of water, and the merchant, to escape the splash, stepped into the door of an insurance agent, and the agent said: "I suppose you have come to renew your fire insurance." "Oh!" said the merchant, "I had forgotten that." The insurance was renewed, and the next day the house that had been insured was burned. Was it all accidental that the merchant, to escape a splash from a horse's foot, stepped into the insurance office? No, it was providential. And what a mighty solace for a business man to feel that things are providential!

Many, although now comparatively straightened in worldly circumstances, have a goodly establishment in the future planned out. They have an imagination built, about 20 years ahead, a house in the country not difficult of access from the great town, for they will often have business or old accounts to settle or investments to look after. The house is large enough to accommodate all their friends. The halls are wide and hung with pictures of hunting scenes and a branch of antlers and are comfortable with chairs that can be rolled out on the veranda when the weather is inviting or set out under some of the oaks that stand sentinel about the house, rustling in the cool breeze and songful with the robins. There is just land enough to keep them interested, and its crops of almost fabulous richness springing up under application of the best theories to be found in the agricultural journals. The farm is well stocked with cattle and horses and sheep that know the voice and have a kindly bleat when one goes forth to look at them. In this blissful abode their children will be instructed in art and science and religion. This shall be the old homestead to which the boys at college will direct their letters, and the hill on which the house stands will be called Oakwood or Ivy hill or Pleasant Retreat or Eagle Eyrie. May the future hive for every business man here all that and more besides! But are you postponing your happiness to that time? Are you adjourning your joys? Suppose that you achieve all you expect—and that the vision I mention is not up to the reality, because the fountains will be brighter, the house grander and the scenery more picturesque—the mistake is none the less fatal.

DEMOCRACY ALL RIGHT.

The Situation in Georgia Is Typical of That in All Democratic States.

Congressman James M. Griggs, of Georgia, while in Washington was asked to contribute something to the Post's bureau of political information. This the Georgia congressman very readily consented to do, and in terms brief and terse, and yet admirably clear, he proceeded to set forth the political situation in Georgia, which, making due allowance for local conditions, is the situation in all the naturally democratic states. Congressman Griggs informed the Post's reporter that Mr. Bryan will have a solid delegation from Georgia at the next national convention; that the distinguished democratic leader is as popular in Georgia in 1899 as he was in 1896, and that he is held in the same high esteem all over the south; that there is small likelihood of the presentation of any other name to the convention, and that the Chicago platform will be reaffirmed and additional planks condemnatory of trusts added. To this the Georgia congressman added the statement that, while it is entirely too soon to make any predictions as to the result of the next presidential struggle, he does not regard the prospect as adverse to the democratic party. "On the contrary," he declared, "there is good ground for believing that the party will succeed. With a leader like Bryan, and confident of being on the right side of all the great questions of the day, with sixteen to one the leading issue, the democracy was never in better shape to prosecute a vigorous campaign." Now, that is the kind of talk we like to see democrats indulge in, says the Atlanta Constitution. It has the right ring, and, moreover, has the advantage of being true. There are a few pessimistic democrats to be found willing enough to take off their coats and get down to business whenever they are called on, but are temporarily overawed by the braying of brass bands and the successes of the money power, as shown in the formation of trusts. To doubt the success of democratic doctrines is to doubt the capacity of the people to govern themselves. They may, at some time or other, reach the point where they will succumb to the power and influence of money combinations. This is possible, but not probable; and until this surrender is definitely and formally made the democratic party, representing the true interests of the people, will always have a good prospect of success. We agree with Congressman Griggs that there is no good ground for believing that the party will succeed in the next campaign. It cannot be possible that the aggressive movements in the direction of centralization—movements which embody all the most vicious forms of attacks on the people's interests—are to go unrebuked. It cannot be possible that the voters are to permit themselves to be misled into following false leaders and indorsing false issues. Mr. Bryan, in his speech at the banquet given in his honor by Atlanta democrats, declared the truth when he said that the democratic party is nearer the principles of Thomas Jefferson to-day than it has been since its organization. And he uttered another great truth when he said that the Chicago platform is the platform of the voters, and not of the leaders. We are willing to admit that the campaign of next year will put the principles of Thomas Jefferson to the test of their popularity in this country. We have, as it were, reached another crisis in the history of this government, and the people are to be called on to choose between the principles of democracy and the doctrines on which a centralized plutocratic government is based. The issues are to be more clearly defined in 1900 than they were in 1896, and the voter who can be deceived as to his duty toward himself and his neighbors does not deserve to enjoy the blessings of democratic government. We have had such crises in our history before, as all students know, but at the proper time, at the appointed moment, the people have always given a verdict in their own favor, and against the allied and plutocratic interests of the money power.

OPINIONS AND POINTERS.

—Mr. Hanna says that no man need go hungry in the United States. He probably has reference to the nourishment derived from licking revenue stamps. It is our chief diet nowadays. —Columbus Press-Post.

—The St. Louis newspapers are worrying themselves unnecessarily over a new name for the United States. What is really needed is a restoration of democratic principles as applied to the affairs of government.—Atlanta Constitution.

—The republican party is beginning a defense of trusts all along the line. The explanation is easy. It will not be long before contributions will be wanted for another campaign and the usual source of supply must be preserved.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

—The defenders of the president offer as a defense to his civil service order the fact that the Chicago platform contained a declination against civil service reform. Admitting for the sake of argument that this is true, the president then stands in the attitude of repudiating the republican platform and enforcing the democratic platform as to this question.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

—It seems probable that the reciprocity negotiations with France will prove abortive. The French government had offered a uniform reduction of 20 per cent. in the duties on all imports from the United States, doubtless expecting equally generous treatment from us. The French have apparently yet to learn that in the American protectionist dictionary "reciprocity" means all take and no give.—Philadelphia Record.

WHERE THE BLAME RESTS.

McKinley's Supporters Trying to Shift the Philippine Failure on to Congress.

Some of the apologists of the president blame congress for the failure of the campaign in the Philippines and for the deplorable condition of our troops there. Had congress authorized a larger army, it is said, the insurrection could have been crushed long ago.

But congress on the ... day of March passed the bill authorizing the enlistment of 35,000 volunteers, to increase the army to 100,000. The president did not avail himself of this authority until the 5th of July, although it had long been obvious that our forces in Luzon, though fighting superbly, were gaining no permanent advantage.

Was congress at fault for this dilatoriness? Was any body except the president to blame for placing and continuing in command at Manila a third-rate general, who insisted that 30,000 soldiers were all he needed, and who sent bulletins steadily from February 5 to the collapse and suspension of his campaign announcing victories and repeating assurances that the Filipino forces were "disintegrating" and that the leaders were preparing to "sue for peace?"

Who except McKinley—unless it be Alger or Corbin, his "militnry advisers" —is responsible for Otis and for his inadequate force?

Other supporters of Mr. McKinley's war of subjugation declare that Aguinaldo has been encouraged by the opposition in this country to the president's policy. Could anything be more silly than this? Has Filipino resistance to tyranny for two centures needed any outside stimulant to keep it alive? If the president had sent a competent general and an adequate nrmy to enforce his edict, would any amount of criticism have prevented them from "sweeping Aguinnldo into the sea?"

The plain truth is that the deplorable situntion in the Philippines is wholly due to Mr. McKinley's unauthorized, un-American and unfortunate proclamation of sovereignty nnd demand for submission, and to the weakness, the wobbling and the perverse fatuity which have characterized his conduct of the war. Any attempt to place the blame elsewhere will be as futile as it is foolish.—N. Y. World.

THE TREASURY DEFICIT.

Present Indications Are That Another Bond Issue Will Be Necessary.

In spite of the best financiering of the shrewdest manipulators the deficit for the year just closed reaches nearly $90,000,000. This in spite of the remarkable flood of imports which has caused the custom house receipts to increase greatly. This showing is nearly $25,000,000 better than was expected by Secretary Gage six months ago. Secretary Gage's estimates of receipts for the next fiscal year were considerably higher than his estimates of receipts for the year just closed. He counted on $195,000,000 from customs and $270,000,000 from internal revenue for the present year, and on $205,000,000 from customs and $285,000,000 from internal revenue next year. It will be seen that if the customs receipts only do as well next year as they have done this year they will come up to his estimates, while the internal revenue receipts will have to increase $12,500,000 to equal his prediction. Both of these items depend so largely upon the business condition of the country that it is impossible to predict how the final account will stand.

The only hopeful source of decrease is in the pension account, while the expenses for war will mount higher and higher. The deficit for this year eats so heavily into the bond issue that another year cannot go by without another issue. While we contemplate with regret the enormous deficit, we are reminded of the fact that the republicans ascribed all industrial ills to the deficit a few years ago.—Utica Observer.

Free Speech Curtailed.

This military weapon against free speech seems to be very much liked by President McKinley in the colonies, especially in the Philippines, where nothing in the nature of current events is allowed publicity there or in the United States. The Atkinson affair shows that the Washington government would not hesitate to employ Gen. Wood's methods in this country if it dared. In fact, not a few organs of the administration urge the president to put a stop to newspaper criticisms on his foreign policy on the ground that they give aid and comfort to the nation's enemies.

It is but a short step from a Santiago or Manila newspaper office to a newspaper office in the United States, and there is no doubt at all that the administration would like to take that step. It does not need a very close observer of current events to see that the president and those machines are taking advantage of every opportunitl to centralize the political power of the country in the white house. They seem to have reached the lese majeste stage of the game already.—Kansas City Times.

—The deficit in the United States treasury is greater than it was when he addressed his tremendous wisdom to the administration of affairs. The extraordinary war taxes have more than provided for the war expenses, but still Mr. McKinley has run the government behind $90,000,000 for the year just expired. The president distinctly declared at the beginning of his administration that there could be no prosperity in business while the government was running behind. It follows, "as night the day," that if we have prosperity and happiness they are in spite of Mr. McKinley and not on account of his efforts.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

There are 118 schools of music alone in Berlin.

There are over 5,000 students of music in London.

Of every 100 school children in London, 65 leave school between their 10th and 11th years.

At the annual meeting of the German Baptist Brethren (Dunkards) at Ronoke, Va., there were 6,000 delegates present.

Since the pope issued his letter to the English people four years ago 20,000 Anglicans have joined the Roman Catholic church.

For several years the Church Extension society of the Methodist Episcopal church has furnished aid for the erection of two churches a day.

The new chapel recently dedicated at Wellesly college is the gift of Clement S. Hougton and Elizabeth G. Houghton as a memorial for their father, William S. Houghton.

The old schoolhouse in East Haddam, Conn., in which Nathan Hale taught the year after his graduation at Yale, is to he preserved by a patriotic society.

The First Presbyterian church of Yonkers, Dr. George F. Pentecost, pastor, gave the first thousand dollars for the Presbyterian minister's salary at Manila. Now that church has come forward again and given another thousand for the second year's salary.

It is not proper for a colored clergyman to sell his church for $600 and apply the money to the payment of his his own salary. The charge that he did this was made against Rev W. B. G. Coster, of Binghamton, at the African M. E. conference, and he publicly acknowledged his sinfulness and asked to be forgiven. He was permitted to act as a substitute prencher.

A peculiar religious sect, small in numbers, but thrifty, lives in eastern North Carolina, and the leading doctrine they practice is neglect of external appearances and all care to inward cleanliness. They bathe daily from head to foot and put on clean underwear; their houses are ill-kept without, but neat as a pin inside; their barns the same, and their little church, which looks like an old corn crib on the outside, is really beautiful within. They have given themselves no name, but their motto is "Look Within," and they are locally known as "Insiders."

NEWSBOYS IN MANILA.

They Are Rapidly Acquiring American Ideas, Phrases and Methods.

Manila now has the newsboy for the drst time in her history. They are a cosmopolitan lot — Filipino, Chinese, Japs, Hindus and representatives of races from all the islands—but quite like the newsboy wherever found. "These urchins are rapidly picking up and acquiring an English phraseology which is surprising," says Freedom, "but an equal amount of curiosity is aroused in the American when he suddenly hears such tunes sung and whistled as 'Hot Time in the Old Town To-Night,' 'After the Ball,' and all the other popular and unique airs of the Americano, and then sees a little Filipino youngster (with a bundle of papers under his arm) do it all. We are amused and laugh at the ragged, yes, here the almost naked, newsboy, but their training will be valuable to most of them, and it will no doubt add to them the experience of all public and business affairs, and they will be the better for the work they are doing. We are within sight and earshot of the occurrences and events that are making history for the nation, but often the newsboy making haste up the street with his papers gives us the first intimation of such notable happenings and events as 'Malabon has fallen,' 'Malolos has been taken,' 'All about the Americanos at Pasig.' Our pet, Manuel de Talimde, a young Spanish lad of 14 years, whose father was killed in the war, supports his mother, four sisters and one brother by his earnings as a newsboy, and by doing work at odd hours. His earnings have averaged $20 gold per week, which equals $40 in Mexican money. Each night he hands his earnings to his mother, and already is counting the months till they can all return to their old home in Spain."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Jersey Cow.

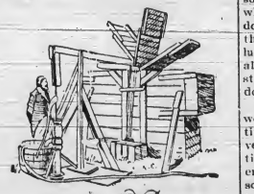
It was not without reason that the Greeks called a beautiful woman "cow-eyed;" but though many a famous Jersey cow has borne a Greek name, Hellas, never saw cows comparing in beauty with the modern Jersey—so fine and trim in shape and so dainty in color and shading, or with eyes so large and liquid. For many years it was disputed whether the breed were not a cross between the cow and deer. The Jersey as much surpasses her ancient progenitors in the richness and abundance of her milk and cream as in beauty. At the world's fair at Chicago, in 1893, the Jersey, putting aside all question of beauty, challenged all other breeds for quantity and quality of the butter, and was a triumphant winner over all competitors.—Harper's Bazar.

Length of Bird Life.

J. H. Gurney, in an article in the Ibis, has collected from various books and papers a number of facts regarding the age to which birds live. He mentions an instance of a raven having lived 69 years; a pair of eagle owls, one of which is 68 and the other 53 years old; a Bateleur eagle and a condor in the zoological gardens at Amsterdam aged 55 and 52; an imperial eagle of the age of 56, a golden eagle of 46 and a sea eagle of 42, and many other birds of the age of 40 downward are also recorded.—Chicago Chronicle.

Keeps His Pledges.

The pawnbroker should not be censured for keeping his pledges.—Chicago Daily News.



AGRICULTURAL HINTS.

A CHEAP WINDMILL.

How an Ingenious Nebraska Farmer Constructed One at an Expense of Just $1.50.

In the great arid west district several enterprising settlers have bought or fixed up various kinds of windmills, pumps, hydraulic rams, etc., and made the dry, parched desert blossom as the rose. One of the most enterprising of these industrious people is J. L. Brown, of Buffalo county, Neb., whose "go-devil" mill, illustrated herewith, was made entirely by him of cast-off farm material except $1.50 for gas pipe for axle. A similar mill can be made of new material for five or six dollars. This mill has furnished water since 1894 for house, stock and a ten-acre fruit farm.

Mr. Brown's mill fans are made of coffee boxes and are two and one-half feet wide. The wheel being nine feet in diameter. Holes are punched in the gas pipe axle to fasten the arms to. The crank is of two by four pine fastened to the axle by a three-eighth bolt. The wrist-pin that works the pitman is a one-half wood screw three inches long screwed into the crank. The lever that works the pump is probably seven feet long and is a two by four pine. The fulcrum in all cases should be one-quarter the length of the lever; then it will not break the pump nor the mill when struck by sudden gusts of wind or when running at high speed. A weight should be fastened to one of the fans to balance the weight to some extent of the plunger of the pump; how heavy it should be can best be determined by trial. Mine is about one pound; the well being about 26 feet deep it does not take much power to lift the water.

HOME-BUILT WINDMILL.

The wheel has eight fans. Many make them with but four, but eight are better, as it runs steadier in any wind whether heavy or light. The box is made just large enough for the wheel to turn nicely. If made too large, it does not work so well. Set four two by four pine scantlings in the ground to nail the boards to with one on each side of the wheel on top for the axle to rest on. The box for the axle to turn in is cut into the two by four, another piece is held in place over the journal by wood screws to hold it down. This has run since '94 and has worn but little in that time. The wheel is never kept from running whether occupied to the pump or not, as to lock it when not wanted for raising would be more apt to break the wheel than to let it run. Mr. Brown says that "it takes a stronger wind to run it than it does a well-made mill of the standard makes. I presume it is more useful here than it would be in other places, as our prevailing winds are north and south; we seldom have winds from any other direction that would work any wheel. The pump is more useful in seasons of drought than at any other time because we have severe drought here only in seasons of high wind."—Farm and Home.

A NEW ERA COMING.

The Introduction of Motor Power Will Necessitate the Making of Better Roads.

The propelling power of the future, in rural districts as well as in the cities, will be electricity and compressed air. The horseless age is almost upon us. Great factories are now preparing to turn out motor vehicles by the thousands and hundreds of thousands, and there is little doubt that only a few years will elapse before they will be in general use throughout the country. Not only will motor and compressed air vehicles be used for pleasure conveyances, but they will be used for doing the work of the farm and conveying the products to the markets and shipping points.

The use of this kind of vehicles will necessitate the making of better roads. They will prove an inestimable boon to the farmer. Their advent into general use means a new era for him. They will do away with much of the drudgery of farm life and add in numerous ways to its pleasure and profit. They will greatly lessen the cost of transporting to market his products, thus enabling him to realize more for his labor, even at the same prices. The care and expense of keeping work animals will be a thing of the past. But unless the people of the country bestir themselves for better roads the cities will enjoy these luxuries for a generation before they can be made practical in the rural districts.—The State's Duty.

And Do It Without Delay.

Call your neighbors together and devise some way for making the roads good in your vicinity.

The fruit and vegetable garden and the orchard combined make an excellent home sanitarium.

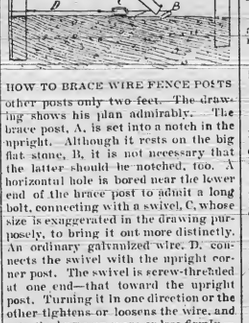
TREASURIES DRAINED.

An Ohio Man Tells How Officials Have the Drainage Where the Public Doesn't Want It.

Thomas L. Pogue, chairman of the Ohio Division L. A. W. Good Roads committee, has the following terse remarks to make on "Draining the roads instead of the treasury:"

"If the modern politician could truly enter into these words: 'My country, 'tis of thee I think,' instead of 'My country, think of me,' and 'the amount it cost me to get the election, and the amount it costs me to support the style that is expected of me, holding this great and honorable position as I now do,' it would change about the drainage system of all the great states. Instead of paying particular attention to the draining of the state treasury, there would be more attention paid to the drainage of the so-called state highways.

"Spoke wiser than he knew, did the man that coined the expression 'The county has gone dry,' for it is the only way the county could go, for no great things were ever moved about in mud, and no county will ever get a first-class business hustle until it has first-class roads, for these are the veins of prosperity, and if there is any trouble with the veins the body is not healthy. When a man gets bilious he takes something, perhaps thoroughwort, and when a county gets bilious and things don't move as they should, the best thing for that county is to take a good large dose of thoroughwork, and drain all the roads, then the second dose, stone all the main roads; and the third dose, stone all the roads.



"Some one says, what talk! That would bankrupt a county. Well, if the timid party will take the trouble to investigate he will find that every acre of tillable land in the state, which is not enhanced in value by its nearness to some village or city, can bond itself to twice its value for permanent roads, and such an act, if it were necessary, would be a good investment, and the owner could, if all did the same thing so that permanent roads were continuous, pay the interest and retire the bonds, and be worth more money in 40 years than he otherwise would have been. However, this is not necessary, for permanent stone roads can be built for much less than the value of the land to-day, but if these roads were built, land would climb the value ladder faster and go up higher than the most sanguine good roads advocate would dare to prophesy."

WIRE FENCE POSTS.

How a Swivel May Be Used to Tighten Things Up If the Brace Gets a Trifle Slack.

John G. Sigler, of Baileysville, Kan., has devised and tried with gratifying success a method of bracing a wire fence post. After a year's experience he considers it a substantial and economical device. If properly put in, he says, it will last for a lifetime. Mr. Sigler does not aim to take out a patent on this system, but contributes it for the benefit of our readers.

It may be remarked at the outset that he puts his end, or corner, post down three feet into the ground, but the other posts only two feet. The drawing shows his plan admirably. The brace post, A, is set into a notch in the upright. Although it rests on the big flat stone, B, it is not necessary that the latter should be notched, too. A horizontal hole is bored near the lower end of the brace post to admit a long bolt, connecting with a swivel, C, whose size is exaggerated in the drawing purposely, to bring it out more distinctly. An ordinary galvanized wire, D, connects the swivel with the upright corner post. The swivel is screw-threaded at one end—that toward the upright post. Turning it in one direction or the other tightens or loosens the wire, and sets the brace up more or less firmly.—N. Y. Tribune.

HOW TO BRACE WIRE FENCE POSTS

Simple Cure for Garget.

I have had quite a number of cows in my dairy at different times which were troubled with garget. I will not say what causes it, but some cows are more subject to it than others, and it is always the best cows which are affected. I have no trouble now in stopping it. As soon as I find a cow whose udder is hard I dissolve one tablespoonful of saltpeter in about two gills of hot water and mix it thoroughly with some ground feed. If she will not eat it drench her by using a long-necked bottle. Two doses morning and evening have always been sufficient. — Prairie Farmer.

What Birds Do for Man.

A French economic ornithologist states it as his belief, resulting from his investigations, that if the world were to become birdless, man could not inhabit it after nine years' time, in spite of all the sprays and poisons that could be manufactured for the destruction of insects. He shows that birds eat hundreds of millions of insects daily, which cannot be doubted when stomach examinations show that all the insect eating birds are continually destroying large numbers of insects, most of them harmful to agriculture. Birds are more the farmer's friend than he realizes.

NICELY TAKEN IN.

He Knew the Ways of the World But Got Caught Napping.

The man in question used to say he knew the way of the world as a cat knows its own kittens, and laugh at the wiles of those who live on their wits.

He had been economizing at every turn for a long time, saving all that he could, for the holidays were near at hand. He left his station the other night in the teeth of a blizzard. The bucs had stopped running, and he buttoned his coat collar about his neck with a determination to ——'s home rather than squander the price of a cab.

"Beastly night," said a tall, imposing man, as he tapped our friend on the shoulder. "Get into my carriage there; I'll be with you in a minute," and he dashed into the station after his bag. It was too good an offer to be refused, and the traveling man put in most of his time in thanking his benefactor, who politely insisted that the pleasure was all his.

"Just tell him where to drive to," he said, later, "I've got another to see. No, don't mention it. Glad of the opportunity."

Now, it was a horrible night, and he was using another man's carriage, so he could not do less than to treat the driver and give him a cigar to keep his nose warm. At last the economical traveler was at home, and he shouted a cheery "good night," as he slammed the door of the vehicle and started for the house.

"Here," cried the driver, "you've forgot ten something."

"Thanks. What is it?" as he hurried back.

"Nine shillings."

"What!" as the harrowing conviction seized him. "Why, the other man."

"That other man he blowed. I don't know him from a crow. You took the cab."

Then our man drowned the voice of the storm while he was settling, and, going in, swore his wife to secrecy. That's the way it got out.—Pearson's Weekly.

Elasticity of English.

Where does the slang of the day originate? When a new verbal monstrosity comes into current use its origin is as mysterious as its effect is startling. On a roof garden last night a weary-looking youth in a straw hat that had seen better days and with tell-tale puffs beneath his sleeves, released two straws from his mouth long enough to remark, languidly, that he was suffering from a horrible case of the "ding-bats." His companion, who looked like a vaudeville lady, had just remarked in a tone loud enough to be heard by her neighbors, that one of the performers was "a useless bunch of trousers." One meant that his head ached, the other that the object of her criticism was professionally incompetent. It's a great language.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Another Iliad.

The following story proves what hardly needs proving, that a man may handle boon without being a scholar. It wasn't in the book stall of a department store; it was in a real bookstore, a bookstore, moreover, where you would expect to find salesmen who know books. A friend of mine went in the other day and asked for Pope's Iliad. The salesman went away to look for it. Presently he returned with a book in his hand. "We haven't Pope's Iliad," he said, "but we have an 'Iliad.' It's by Homer, though."—Washington Post.

A Dash of Gayety.

The doomed man feared the people who waited along the way to the scaffold.

"See how they stare at me!" he cried, agonizingly.

"Yes, that's what you might call rubbering it in!" observed the executioner, playfully, deeming it not amiss to inject an element of gayety into this otherwise somber affair.—Detroit Journal.

The Conclusion.

"And you say the idiot of a teacher told you that you had an extravagant fool of a father?"

"That's what he meant?"

"But what did he say?"

"He said it was criminal folly to waste money on the education of such a chump as I am."—Indianapolis Journal.

Aline—"Wouldn't you hate to be a preacher's wife?" Anne—"No, indeed. Just think of being able to make him cut his sermons short."—Kansas City Independent.

All people make a pretence that they do not care for a fortune, but want just enough to make them comfortable.—Washington (Ia.) Democrat.

Pope says: "The mind's the measure of the man." Perhaps that is why some men are so hard to find.—Ram's Horn.

It is humiliating to reflect that bad teeth are responsible for more silence than is almost anything else.—Detroit Journal.

For disobedience the small boy frequently takes the palm.—Chicago Daily News.

THE MARKETS.

CINCINNATI, July 24
LIVESTOCK—Cattle, common	$ 1 00	@ 4 00
Select butchers	4 75	@ 5 85
CALVE—Fair to good light	5 50	@ 6 75
HOGS—Common and heavy	3 75	@ 4 25
Mixed packers	4 40	@ 4 50
Light shippers	4 40	@ 4 60
SHEEP—Choice	3 75	@ 4 10
LAMBS—Spring	5 00	@ 6 15
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 30	@ 3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 70
No. 3 red		@ 68
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 35½
Oats—No. 2		@ 33
Rye—No. 2		@ 60
HAY—Prime to choice		@ 10 00
PROVISIONS—Mess pork		@ 13 00
Lard		@ 7 75
BUTTER—Choice dairy		@ 12
Prime to choice creamery		@ 21
APPLES—Choice to fancy	1 25	@ 1 50
POTATOES—New, per bbl	1 00	@ 1 25
CHICAGO
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 50	@ 3 80
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 71½
No. 3 Chicago spring	68	@ 68
CORN—No. 2	31½	@ 32
OAT—No. 2		@ 24½
PORK—Mess	8 50	@ 9 00
LARD—Steam	5 47½	@ 5 52½
NEW YORK
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 65	@ 3 85
WHEAT—No. 2 red		@ 76½
CORN—No. 2 Mixed		@ 37¾
RYE		@ 61½
OATS—Mixed		@ 29¼
PORK—New Mess	9 00	@ 9 50
LARD—Western		@ 5 75
BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	3 35	@ 3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 71½
Southern		@ 72
Corn—Mixed		@ 36½
Oats—No. 2 white		@ 31
Rye—No. 2 western		@ 57½
CATTLE—First quality	4 70	@ 4 90
HOGS—Western	4 90	@ 5 00
INDIANAPOLIS
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 70
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 34
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@ 27
LOUISVILLE
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 75	@ 4 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 70
Corn—Mixed		@ 33
Oats—Mixed		@ 28
PORK—Mess		@ 9 75
LARD—Steam		@ 5 75

REPORTING THE WEDDING.

As It Was Turned In by the Young Reporter Fit for the Waste Basket.

A reporter on a newspaper was given the task of writing up a very swell wedding.

He composed a fine account of the wedding ceremonies, but, like many young writers, he tried to use too flowery language, and, becoming excited, he forgot to be accurate in the use of words. The description of the beauties of nature read something like this:

"The silvery moon hovered over the scene, and the stars twinkled merrily, the soft sighing of the wind in the trees near by came like a benediction of love to the happy couple entering upon the voyage of life together."

The reporter sent in his copy, but just as the paper was about to be sent to press he rushed into the editor's room, all excitement, saying he wished to make a correction in the account of the wedding, as, according to the almanac, there was no silvery or any other moon on that night.

And the reporter also said that he had blundered in writing of the "contesting" parties instead of "contracting" parties.

After a few more corrections the account of the wedding was found available for the editor's waste basket.—Tit-Bits.

An Intellectual Test.

"Your name?"

"Jan Przybelski."

"How long have you been in this country?"

"Wilhelm McKinley."

"Who wrote the declaration of independence?"

"Congress."

"Do you swear to obey the laws of this nation?"

"Jorge Washingtin."

"What form of government is this?"

"Ehrybem Lonking."

"That will do. You're accepted. Step down, I say."

"Der Star Spangled Benner!"

"Don't you understand me? I told you you were all right."

"Dree cheerz! Heep, heep, hooray!"

Is this an examination for admission to citizenship? No, gentle reader, the man wants to be a soldier, and our great and good government has declared that a soldier needn't have any more brains than a voter.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Summer Costuming.

"I don't believe in girls a-dressin' in stiff clothes durin' the hot weather," said the adipose elderly lady with the large diamond earrings and finger rings at the boarding house breakfast table the other morning. "I make my two daughters dress in negligent costumes all summer, no matter where they're a-goin'." "Maw!" said her daughters, warningly, from the other side of the table, and the fox terrier pup turned a fit out in the basement vestibule.—Washington Post.

Getting married is a good deal like coasting down hill in winter; a good deal of preparation is necessary, and it is soon over.—Atchison Globe.

Days when the business man has had an unsatisfactory breakfast the office boy has to earn his salary.—Somerville Journal.

Many a man who claims to be discreet is but a coward.—Chicago Daily News.

Still More Counterfeiting.

The Secret Service has just unearthed another band of counterfeiters, and secured a large quantity of bogus bills, which are so cleverly executed that the average person would never suspect them of being spurious. Things of great value are always selected for imitation, notably Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has many imitators but no equals for disorders like indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and general debility. Always go to reliable druggists who have the reputation of giving what you ask for.

A Man of Thrift.

She—Where are you going to spend the summer?

He—I'm not going to spend it at all. I'm going to save it till next winter and see if I can't get the janitor of the flat to use it in the rooms I occupy.—Detroit Free Press.

Ladies Can Wear Shoes

One size smaller after using Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It makes tight or new shoes easy. Cures swollen, hot, sweating, aching feet, ingrowing nails, corns and bunions. At all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Trial package FREE by mail. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Home Run Strikes.

Diggs—So your daughter is married, eh?" Biggs—Yes."

"And how does your new son-in-law strike you?"

"For a 'V' or an 'X' usually."—Chicago Evening News.

The Best Prescription for Chills

and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price, 50c.

A Clean Record.

"I wouldn't associate with her. Why, one of her ancestors was a charwoman."

"Well, then, she's sure that one of them, at least, had a clean record."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Every woman believes that her husband is a child in some respects, and that she must be on the alert to keep things out of his grasp that he wants, but which are not good for him.—Atchison Globe.

You can dye your goods in one hour with Putnam Fadeless Dyes. All other dyes require from one to four hours. 10c per package.

The depth of feeling displayed by the mosquito touches all mankind. — Chicago Daily News.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has saved me many a doctor's bill.—S. F. Hardy, Hopkins Place, Baltimore, Md., Dec. 2, '94.

It is the agent's business to sell things; it is your business not to buy unless you need what he has to offer.—Atchison Globe.

Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is a Constitutional Cure. Price, 75c.

It's a cold day when the palm-leaf fan gets left.—Chicago Evening News.

Did you ever See a Snow Storm in Summer?

We never did; but we have seen the clothing at this time of the year so covered with dandruff that it looked as if it had been out in a regular snowstorm.

No need of this snowstorm.

As the summer sun would melt the falling snow so will melt these flakes of dandruff in the scalp. It goes further than this: it prevents their formation.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

It has still other properties: it will restore color to gray hair in just ten times out of every ten cases.

And it does even more: it feeds and nourishes the roots of the hair. Thin hair becomes thick hair; and short hair becomes long hair.

We have a book on the Hair and Scalp. It is yours, for the asking.

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some difficulty with your general system which may be easily removed. Address,

DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

WINCHESTER GUN CATALOGUE FREE

Send your name and address on a postal, and we will send you our 156-page illustrated catalogue free.

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO.
176 Winchester Avenue, New Haven, Conn.

As Black as your Hat DYE Your Whiskers

A Natural Black with Buckingham's Dye.

50 cts. of druggists or R. P. Hall & Co., Nashua, N. H.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

The Kind You Have Always Bought

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA TEETHING POWDERS

Aids Digestion, Regulates the Bowels, Makes Teething Easy. TEETHINA Relieves the Bowel Troubles of Children of Any Age.

Costs Only 25 Cents. Ask Your Druggist for It.

THROUGH THE QUEEN'S DOMAINS.

Mid-Summer Excursion to

NIAGARA FALLS

...ON...

Tuesday, August 8th,

VIA THE

CINCINNATI, HAMILTON & DAYTON

and MICHIGAN CENTRAL Railways, via

Toledo AND Detroit THROUGH Canada

$7.00 Round Trip From Either Cincinnati or Indianapolis.

$6.50 Additional to the Thousand Islands.

$1.00 Additional to TORONTO.

Return Limit, Fifteen Days. For detailed information regarding the trip, Hotel Rates, Sleeping Car reservations, etc., call on your nearest agent. Connecting lines will sell excursion tickets via the C., H. & D. Ry.

D. G. EDWARDS, P. T. M., Cincinnati, O.

Plantation Chill Cure is Guaranteed

To cure, or money refunded by your merchant, so why not try it? Price 50c.

A. N. K.—E 1771

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, July 26, 1899.

Advertising Rates:

One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

We are authorized to announce J. W. KENNEDY, of Union, as a candidate for the Legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

We are authorized to announce BENJAMIN STEPHENS, of Florence, as a candidate for the Legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Democratic State Ticket.

For Governor,
WILLIAM GOEBEL, of Kenton.

For Lieutenant Governor,
J. C. W. BECKHAM, of Nelson.

For Attorney General,
R. J. BRECKINRIDGE, of Boyle.

For Auditor,
G. G. COULTER, of Graves.

For Treasurer,
S. W. HAGER, of Boyd.

For Secretary of State,
C. B. HILL, of Clark.

For Supt. Public Instruction,
H. V. M'CHESNEY, of Livingston.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. B. NALL, of Jefferson.

For Railroad Commissioner,
FLETCHER DEMPSEY, of Hopkins county.—First District.

C. C. M'CHORD, of Washington county.—Second District.

A. W. HAMILTON, of Montgomery county.—Third District.

For State Senator,
Dr. J. G. FURNISH.

Neighborhood News.

Berkshire.

Clarence Creggeory and B. C. Stewart are on the sick list.

Mrs. Martha Osenan is calling on her brother, A. E. Hume and wife.

R. L. Roberts and wife made a business trip to Lawrenceburg, Ind., a few days since.

Born—To Otto Martin and wife a fine son; to Samuel Friend and wife, a boy. Sam is happy.

Mrs. Nellie Hume, of the Verona neighborhood, is visiting Mrs. C. C. Hume, of whom she is an old and beloved aunt.

A very large congregation was in attendance at South Fork, Sunday week, and everyone seemed to enjoy the services. Bro. Watkins is an excellent speaker. Among the smiling faces we noticed those of B. B. Allphiu and wife, of Burlington.

North Bend.

The crops here are looking very well.

E. L. Riley was in this neighborhood, one day last week.

Mr. Wm. H. Harrison is slowly improving from his illness.

Miss Maude Michell, of Lexington, Ky., is the guest of Miss Bessie Cropper.

Mrs. W. P. and H. G. Cropper spent the day with Mrs. Mary A. Watts, last Tuesday.

Mrs. G. M. Riley was called to Dayton, O., last Monday, on account of her daughter being ill.

It seems as though all of a sudden a troop of beggers have lighted in this part of the county. Last week there was not a day passed but what some one went to each house with the story of a sick child, dying husband or a long distance to go.

Francesville.

Charley Beall lost a valuable cow, last Wednesday.

We have had three threshing machines near us the past week.

Some of our young folks attended the picnic at Harvest Home, Saturday.

Mr. Holly Goodridge made more money by marketing his berries than if he had sold his patch.

Tom Tanner will soon be circulating among his friends again. Thanks to Dr. Clore and careful nursing.

Zeke Aylor and Clint Riddell have the biggest crop of oats in the country. And Charley Southorn the largest crop of wheat.

Ben Wainscott, while burning weeds on his premises, last week, let the fire get the advantage of him, and for a while had quite an exciting time. Not much damage done we are glad to say.

That basket meeting will come off the 5th Sunday in this month. Come and bring well filled baskets, as we expect several preachers and a big crowd. Those who do not bring baskets will find plenty to eat at old Sand Run as usual. The ordination of deacons has been deferred until another meeting.

Pt. Pleasant.

Ruth, the little daughter of Mr. Eddie Riggs, is very ill.

Miss Lula Richie, of Ludlow, is the guest of Mrs. Harry Scott.

Miss Abbie Carter, of St. Louis, Mo., is the guest of Mrs. Agnes Vickers.

Miss Nora Rucker is sojourning with relatives in Petersburg, this week.

Miss Sadie Zimmer, of Constance, who has been very low with typhoid fever, is no better.

Mrs. Frank Russell and Mrs. Mason Riggs were the guests of Mrs. Ora Riggs, on Thursday.

Miss Lula Souther has returned home after a delightful visit with relatives and friends in Eminence and Frankfort, Ky.

Miss Mamie Gordon, of Burlington, and Miss Betsey Gordon and brother, of Minerva, Ind., were the guests of Miss Ethel Souther the first of the week.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of this neighborhood will give an ice-cream social at the home of Miss Lonia Souther, on Saturday night July 29, for the purpose of getting new pulpit furniture for Pt. Pleasant church. All are invited. A good literary and musical program will be rendered.

Bellevue.

Born, to Douglas Rice and wife on the 20th, a daughter.

Home grown nutmegs and watermelons are on the bill of fare.

Rev. Hoover and Thos. Watts were guests of T. L. Utz on the 16th.

Harry Acra and wife were guests of his brother Charles, Sunday last.

Bob Bradford and family were guests of friends at Waterloo on the 23d.

Jas. Pearson and wife, of Florence, were guests of T. L. Utz, last Sunday.

Miss Katie Craig has been employed to teach the public school at this place.

Thos. Clore has shipped 29 bushels of blackberries to the Cincinnati market.

Thanks to Flickertown and Petersburg correspondents for information received in natural history.

O. Snyder and family and Miss Cordelia Rector were guests of Mrs. and Miss Permelia Corbin on Sunday.

Jacob Klopp and wife and Bob Nixon and family were guests of Thomas Wingate and wife, on Sunday last.

Samuel Wingate and wife, of Waterloo, have been visiting their children in this community for the past week.

That inconsistent sheet known as the Louisville Dispatch, found its way to our box for two weeks and we returned them with our compliments (?)

T. Z. Roberts has been having a serious time with a carbuncle on his hand for the past two weeks. He is, at present, the guest of his sister, Mrs. French, of the Boosier State.

Hon. Jno. Lassing, Maj. Man Garnett, Edson Riddell, Harry Blyth, J. F. Blyth, Duly Beall and others, were recreating several days the past week just opposite here on the river shore. Maj. Garnett carried off the laurels in angling, having captured a three pound cat fish. Man certainly knows how to instruct along the line of angliug.

Several parties have been asking in reference to the prospective religious debate. I will say that Utz and Watkins have each selected his man, and Utz has submitted the following propositions: 1st—That Baptist churches to one of which I am attached as a member, are Scriptural in origin, history, doctrine and practice. Baptists affirm and Disciples deny. 2nd.—The churches of the Disciples, to one of which I am attached as a member, are Scriptural in origin, history doctrine and practice. Disciples affirm and Baptists deny. We see no reason why the controversy should not go on as the propositions are equally fair.

Walton.

Mr. Harry Noel has a bad case of spinal meningitis.

Mr. Philip Schulenberg, of Covington, was the guest of H. C. Diers, last week.

Hon. Gayle Botts, of Owenton, paid a flying visit to his brother, Judge J. E. Botts, Saturday.

Miss Ethel Waltz had a delightful visit to her cousins, the Misses Marhonia, in Louisville.

Misses Clara Diers and Pauline Curley enjoyed their week's visit to Mrs. F. Gunning, of Bank Lick.

Rev. Bow, of Newport, commenced a protracted meeting at the Baptist church, last Sunday night.

Col. Weedou O'Neal, of Covington, and Prof. Pulliam, of Falmouth, were entertained by Dr. Bagby, last week.

The gold watch at Rolling Bear's Show was awarded to Miss Kate Grubbs as being the most popular girl in Walton.

The Walton ball club had sharpened their knife and went over, yesterday, to Independence for scalps. They lost their own topknots by a score of 23 to 18.

Our townsmen regret that Charlie Chambers did not pass the final physical examination for the U. S. Navy. The boy's heart was set upon it and he is sorely disappointed.

The season for the sale of agricultural implements has closed. Mr. H. C. Diers' sales as reported are as follows: 38 mowers, 4 bluders, 3 separators, 1 each gasoline and steam engine, 9 hay rakes, 7 cultivators, 4 disc harrows, 4 corn planters and 7 buggies.

Miss Nellie Murphy entertained on last Friday evening in honor of Miss Lulu Conley, of Cincinnati. Among the guests were Misses Mollie Venable, Miss Arnold, of Crittenden; Pearl and Kate Grubbs, Messrs. F. M. Steely, S. A. Ingram and E. A. Dickson.

Mr. Philip Rist, wife and little son, of Covington, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kipp. Mr. Rist is a devout disciple of Isaac Walton, and on Friday last, could have been seen on the banks of the Holder Lagoon, bare headed in the broiling sun, busy with his line. He caught 49 in the forenoon of that day, and on the next morning was at it again by daylight, catchiug 14 more and would, no doubt, have exceeded the catch of the day before if a big one had not wrecked his tackle and takeu it away from him.

Mr. Clarence Nesbit, of Williamstown, was here, Friday, shooting hot words from his mouth in the roasting of Wm. Goebel. A gentleman who was listening to him with great interest, was a Republican, transcribed for the Recorder, the following: "Goebel will be buried so deep beneath an avalanche of ballots in November that even with all the machiuery of h—l he could not steal it"—speaking of the Governor's office. The friends of Goebel are staunch and true and all the blustering abuse and vilification heaped upon him by men of doubtful reputation themselves only gives him additional strength.

Gunpowder.

Martin Weaver, of Tenn., was here on business a few days last week.

Mrs. Polly Bartell, of Junction City, was visiting relatives here last Sunday.

Aunt Lizzie Quick has been visiting her many friends at Hebron for two weeks.

A. E. H. Blankenbeker is beautifying the house occupied by Ed Snyder by giving it a coat of paint.

At a recent meeting of the congregation at Hopeful church, Mr. Jeremiah Beemon was elected deacon to fill vacancy caused by the death of A. F. Rouse.

Pastor Lentz filled his regular appointment at Hopeful church last Sunday, and preached an interesting sermon to a large audience, those present from a distance were Mr. Thos. Thomson and family, of Covington, and Jno. Souther and wife, of Newport.

Mrs. Benham, who has been a sufferer for quite a while with that terrible disease, cancer, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. O. Rouse, last Thursday at the age of 60 years. Her many kind deeds had won for her a host of friends, and she was highly respected by all who knew her. A husband, one son and five daughters survive her. The funeral services were conducted by Pastor Lentz, at Hopeful church, after which the remains were buried in Hopeful cemetery in the presence of a host of relatives and friends. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family.

Union.

Babe Conner cut a meadow he thinks will make two tons to the acre.

Charley Finnell, of Verona, was the guest of Miss Bertha Baker, Sunday.

Mrs. Harry Pettit, of Crittenden, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cleek, last week.

Wheat that makes a bushel to the shock is reported from Crittenden. Name, $5 wheat.

Miss Lou Williams has returned to "White Hall," again, after a pleasant visit in Cincinnati.

Miss May Norman and Mrs. Jeff Norman returned from Mason county, after a delightful visit of several days.

Miss Martha Lassing was bitten twice by a snake, one day last week, but has recovered her usual good health.

Postmaster H. W. Riley and Miss Marietta Riley were visiting R. A. Riley aud wife, of Bracken co. last week.

Mrs. Violette and son, of Gallatin county, and Miss Annie Rice, of Covington, were guests of Mrs. John Garrison, last week.

Mr. Phips, a prominent Wall Street Broker of New York, attended church in Union, Sunday, as the guest of Miss Theresa Lassing.

Gus Friedman let his haud come between a 200 pound sheep aud a post, and the meat and skin were torn from the back of it as a result.

Harvy Tanner and Miss Etta Busby, of Gnnpowder, were pleasure ridiug through our town, Sunday. Harvy has a very nice buggy and horse.

John Berkshire and Kirb Tauner have kind, sympathetic natures and when they see a man in trouble and wanting his fingers tied up they always tie the string.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hney and Col. Tom Judge were recently enjoying the hospitality of friends in the Big Bone country, and Tom reports lots of nice fish and other delicacies.

Wm. Patterson is a master of his trade and carries a full stock of manly independence for distribution when occasion demands, as a citizen of our precinct discovered, a few days since, and had to apologize accordingly. Right.

Talk about turkeys, and turkeys that are turkeys, but Mr. Steve Robbins is said to own one that can stand flat footed and pick flies from a 71 foot ceiling. Messrs. James Clore, Tony Bentler, Lee Busby and other noted turkey raisers will please take notice of this.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles, Rice, of Richwood, have a little daughter that rides a horse with more skill than the average grown person. For instance, a train comes dashiug by, the horse whirls around like a buzz-saw; grown people get excited, but the little girl holds on to the hames and keeps cool and calm.

We were employed by Mr. Jno. Dennedy, one of the prosperous and hospitable farmers of Richwood, to decorate two rooms and a large double hall with lovely combiuations of wall paper last week. Mr. and Mrs. D., and son, Charley, with Messrs. Tom Judge and John Daly are kiud, pleasant people and know precisely how to be clever.

We met our friend Martin Weaver, of Hickson, Tenn., a few days ago and had the pleasure of his company for a three mile walk on the pike. Martin and two little daughters were the guests of Ryland Hedges and wife for a few days. He says business in the iron district of the South is booming and also in the fruit section. From his station 27 car loads of strawberries were shipped to Cincinnati and New York markets. The watermelon shipments have been heavier than for years, and hundreds of car loads of pig iron pass over the Southern road every month.

We hear lots of people howliug about Mr. Goebel and his nomination; as if he was the Democratic party. Can any man get big enough to live long enough to be greater than his Democratic party? Is it worth while for any man to say he loves the party and its principles less because he don't love its nominee as all? We may have been willing to give our interest in the golden shores of Klondyke to have seen P. Watt Hardin get the nomination, and yet, this will never keep us from walking up to the trough in November and casting our ballot for the grand old party of the people, without spot, scratch or blemish, believing that the party is greater than the man, now and forever.

Hathaway.

Roasting ears are on the bill of fare.

E. J. Rice and wife went to Rising Sun, last Friday.

The whistle of the steam thresher is heard in the land.

G. N. Smith is our blackberry merchant. He picks and hauls to Rising Sun.

A. F. Utz is adding much to the looks of his house by a fresh coat of paint.

Richard Stephens was in this vicinity, one day last week, trying to buy hogs to begin feeding.

Miss Essie Boggess and Early Conley were visiting Miss Fannie Smith on Gunpowder, last Sunday a week.

John L. Henderson lost $40 last week in currency on Riddell's Run between E. R. Smith's and G. L. Smith.

Mrs. Bertha Rice and children, of Bellevue, were visiting her aunt, Mrs. Sarah White, of this place, last Thursday.

Several of the Big Bone members met at the church, last Friday, to mow weeds off of the grounds surrounding the premises.

A party from the city came out to Jno. Henderson's, on Gunpowder last week, and pitched their tents and spent the time hunting and fishing.

G. L. Smith and wife, your writer and wife, and Mrs. Cynthia Mason spent the day, last Sunday, with Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Mason, and at the noon hour we were invited to partake of a bountiful dinner.

Richwood.

Corn is growlug nicely although it needs rain.

Miss Lottie Fall will teach at Richwood church, this fall.

J. J. Tanner and family were visiting in the Union neighborhood, Sunday.

Miss Janie Davis was calling on friends in Union, last Saturday evening.

A number of young men were catching turtles at Kensington lake, one day last week.

There will be a picnic at Dnianey's grove, near Dixon Station, next Saturday afternoon.

P. W. Gulliday and mother, of Milford, Ohio, were visiting relatives here, Sunday and Monday.

All the members of the Literary Society are requested to be present at the meeting to be held at J. J. Hudson's next Friday night, as the Society is going to make arrangements for an excursion to High Bridge. The railroad has offered round trip tickets to excursionists for 90 cents.

Bullittsville.

Since our last report society has been unusually quiet in the Bullittsville circle. It was due to the exodus of several of our young ladies.

Miss Fannie Willis is visiting her uncle in Lexington.

Misses Sadie and Lecie Kirtley are visiting relatives near Dayton, O.

Miss Bernice Duncan is visiting a friend in Richmond, Va. She accompanied her uncle, Rev. James S. Kirtley, of Kansas City, to the International Convention of the Baptists' Young Peoples' Union of America. After visiting Old Point, Virginia Beach and Washington, D. C., she returned to Richmond and will spend several days with her friend, Miss Pitcher.

Miss Zayda Gaines is in Mason county, visiting her friend and school-mate, Miss Florence Robb. She expects to extend her visit to Lexington and remain till after the fair.

The absence of these young ladies not only creates a vacuum in our social circle, but leaves a gloom that veils the sunshine of our society at this season of the year. We hope for their speedy return that the winter of our discontent may be made glorious summer.

Though we have been deprived of the assistance and attraction of the glorious presence of these young ladies our neighborhood is maintaining its reputation as a pleasant summer resort. Last week, Mrs. George Walton entertained two very bright and attractive young ladies from Ludlow, Miss Blanch Chilman and Miss Anita Davis. The Cuddles came at a very unfortunate time, but we hope they will be induced to return when our social circle will be complete and the flowers which compose it will be in full bloom.

Last week one of the bright stars of Louisville's society dropped, like a meteor, in our midst, and from the progress she is making, in the few days she has been with us, in alluring the young as well as the old gallants, I fear she will cause many a sad one to exclaim as did Napolean when he failed to conquer the world, "The meteror of conquest allured me too far." Miss Lora Grant is a beautiful bruuette, bright, witty and wiusome. She possesses that charming faculty of making every one in her presence happy, to remain as long as she will permit. We know whereof we speak from sad experience. Miss Grant is the daughter of Mr. Tom Grant, proprietor of the Palace Hotel in Louisville. She is visiting her relatives in this county.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Clore entertained a jolly party from Cincinnati, last week, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mantach and son, Master Milton; Mrs. A. Sylvester, Mrs. I. Posey, Mrs. I. D. Grumbine and Master Roy, Mrs. Harvey Roseboone and little daughter, Evelyn.

Mr. Joe Graddy, of Lexington, spent several days with his sister, Mrs. Courtney Walton, and returned to his labors in Lexingtou, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Kirtley are entertaining their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robt. Kirtley and three children, from Kansas City. They also have with them a young gentleman from Virginia, a friend and school-mate of their son Jimmie.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Cropper have as guests their two nieces, Misses Margaret and Irene Kirtley, of Covington.

Miss Lecie Kirtley had quite an amusing experience at the lunatic asylum near Dayton, a few days ago. She and her sister called in the morning and were informed that visitors would not be admitted until in the afternoon. They were invited to remain to dinner. A young man paid Miss Lecie particular attention during the morning. She was favorably impressed with his gentlemanly deportment and agreeable conversation, supposing him to be one of the employees of the institution whose special duty it was to entertain visitors. When dinner was announced he courteously excused himself for not accompanying her to diuner by modestly informing her that he would have to forego that pleasure as he had been an inmate of the asylum for nine years and would have to dine at the regular table for the lunatics. Imagine her consternation when she discovered that she had been playing agreeable to a lunatic for two hours.

Limaburg.

Ed Riggs' child is very sick.

The thermometer registered 96 Monday.

Hay all cut and up in good condition.

Chas. Clore, of Hebron, is painting the store house of Rouse Bros.

Overseer Gaines renovated the hill on the North Bend road here, last week.

A few nights since dogs orippled several sheep for Legrand Utz and James W. Utz.

Chas. Wilson, of Ludlow, was a guest of R. W. Rouse and Hubert Beemon, Sunday.

Wheat threshing is the order of the day in this neighborhood, Henry Tanner's machine doing the work.

A. G. McConnell, of East Bend, was in town, last Friday, and qualified as Justice of the Peace for the Rabbit Hash-Big Bone district. Mr. McConnell held the office several years ago, and made a good officer. He was a brother-in-law of the late Benj. Ryle, whose death caused the vacancy in the office to which Mr. McConnell was appointed.

LAWRENCEBURG FAIR

Lawrenceburg, Indiana,

AUG. 22, 23, 24, 25 & 26,

BABY SHOW every day.

A full program of RACES each day.

Will have the best line of LIVE STOCK ever seen on their grounds.

For information address

H. L. NOWLIN, Secretary,
Guilford, Indiana.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,

Grocers, Commission and SEED Merchants.

Tested Field and Garden Seeds.

Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.

Largest and Best Stock of

GROCERIES IN THE CITY.

Sole Agents for the Celebrated

RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.

When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.

27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone 4055) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street,
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

JOHN ALLISON,

UNDER-  EMBAL-

TAKER MER,

—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,—

COVINGTON, - KENTUCKY.

INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

Order Spring Suits NOW

H. F. BLASE.

And we will make them up artistically and ready for you promptly on time. We have

Over Five Hundred Styles

Of Spring and Summer Woolens to Select from. They come direct from the looms of foreign and domestic manufacturers, and surpass in elegance and variety anything ever shown in Covington. In the assortment are many exclusive patterns—goods that cannot be duplicated by any other establishment in this city. Keep these facts in mind and place your order for a stylish suit with us. We promise you a faultless fit, the proper cut, and a price that will not be more than you can afford to pay.

H. F. BLASE,

535 Madison Avenue,

COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY

A Word to the Public

MY STOCK OF

Dry Goods, Notions,

AND LADIES' AND GENTS'

TOILET ARTICLES

for the Spring Trade has been received, and to be appreciated must be seen. Fresh

DRUGS AND GROCERIES

received daily. A large stock of

PAINTS & OILS

on hand at all times. All Goods New and Clean, and are sold at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.

—GIVE ME A CALL—

J. G. OELSNER, Florence, Ky.

BEAUMONT COLLEGE, HARRODSBURG, KY.—Strongest Southern Girls' School Curriculum, perhaps; in essentials, the peer of any elsewhere. Six languages, without extra charge. Piano and Organ Director, Mus. Doct., Oxon. String Music Director, Grad. Boy. Col. of Music, Munich. Superb advantages in Art and in Elocution. Grounds (35 acres) unsurpassed in America for beauty. Its students have represented more than 30 States. Refined home. Number limited. Terms reasonable. TH. SMITH, A. M., Pres. (Alumnus of Univ. of Va.)

Local News.

J. W. Kennedy and Ben Stephens, candidates for Representative, will speak on the following dates at the following places at 8 o'clock p. m.: At Walton, August 1; Verona, Aug. 2; Beaver, Aug. 3; Union, Aug. 4; Big Bone, Aug. 5; Burlington, Aug. 7 at 2 p. m. The remainder of the places at 8 p. m.—Bellevue, Aug. 8; Petersburg, Aug. 9; Bullittsville, Aug. 10; Constance, Aug. 11; Florence, Aug. 12; Rabbit Hash, Aug. 14.

Corn needs a good rain.

J. L. Clore lost a sack coat, last Saturday at the picnic or on the road.

Thieves have stolen eight dozen young chickens of Mrs. Mary Kendall.

Several from here attended the lantern party at Erlanger, Thursday night.

The telephone is used more than it was counted on before it became a reality.

Geo. Blyth killed a black spreading adder in his hay field, one day last week.

J. E. Smith and J. F. Blyth have had a large number of turkies to die of cholera.

The eighth annual Keeley picnic will be given at the Harvest Home grounds August 5th.

J. S. Clutterbuck is invoicing the goods in the Burlington Mercantile Company's store.

☞Go to A. Corbin & Son's for first-class Kanawha Coal at 9 cents per bushel of 76 pounds. au-1

Monday was the hottest day in many years, said the government thermometer in Cincinnati.

On July 25th in County Clerk's office Dr. W. M. Randall was registered as a legal practicioner of deutistry.

We know whereof we speak when we say Rev. Hoover ranks among the best gardeners in Burlington.

The Article entitled "A House of Fate," published in this issue was copied from the Commercial Tribune.]

A thief visited Newton Sullivan's barn, one night last week, and stole a bridle, laprobe, some eggs and a part of a set of harness.

Lightning killed seven sheep for Geo. Kreyleich, several days since. They were under a tree that was struck by the electric fluid.

The afternoon picnic at the Harvest Home grounds, Saturday, was not attended by a large crowd, but it was a delightful affair.

The primary election for nominating a Democratic candidate for the legislature has been called for August 19. See call in this issue.

A young man passed through town, last Sunday morning, driving a new buggy, on which a front wheel and a rear wheel were reversed.

One night last week dogs killed seven sheep for Leonard Crigler, of the Hebron neighborhood. Several other sheep were badly mangled.

The early corn is just now at a stage to need rain badly. It is shooting, and a good root-soaking rain at this time would be worth many hundreds of bushels.

At the postoffice can be seen copies of the certificates that are to be awarded the babies that take premiums at the Lawrenceburg fair. These certificates will be taken to Bellevue in a few days.

A few days ago one of our colored citizens killed a chicken among the entrails of which was a sack containing about half a pint of water. This unusual growth did not inconvenience the fowl in the least.

The young ladies and gentlemen of Petersburg, will give a grand minstrel entertainment on the 29th inst. One of the features of the evening will be the Cake Walk by Master Delbert Belden and Pauline Alden.

The following item for which there is no foundation is going the rounds of the press: "At Erlanger, Robert Davis shot and painfully wounded William Raney because the latter was instrumental in having him turned out of church."

One day last week County Clerk Adams recorded the deed transferring the Boone County Distilling Company's property at Petersburg to the Kentucky Distilleiers & Warehouse Company. The consideration recited in the deed is $100,000.

J. M. Barlow, of the livestock firm of Barlow & Acra, called on the RECORDER, Friday. He said they bought only about 900 lambs this year, and that lambs are not weighing out as heavy as their looks indicate. The best they have handled weighed 77½ lbs.

Mrs. Mary Duncan, wife of James E. Duncan, of the Bullittsville, neighborhood died yesterday at 2 a. m., in her 72d year, after an illness of several months. The funeral will be conducted to-day at the Bullittsburg church of which she was a member, at 10 a. m.

Friday morning John Taneous, one of the carpenters engaged on Castleman's house, fell from the second floor joist to those of the first floor, a plank upon which he was standing being jarred from beneath his feet. He landed on one hip, and was considerably shaken up, but fortunately no bones were broken.

The skeleton of a full grown person was found in an excavation that was being made in a street in Aurora, one day last week. Near the skeleton was found an ax, which was an ancient specimen and showed severe use. These were secured at a depth of 16 feet. The bones indicate that the person was fully eight feet tall. They are unusually large, and from their position indicate that they were buried in a sitting position.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss Mary A. Thompson is visiting relatives at Old Point Comfort, Va.

Misses Della and Mary Roberts, of Verona, are guests at Judge Roberts

Mrs. B. W. Adams is visiting her father in the Hamilton neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Blyth entertained quite a number of friends at dinner, Sunday.

Mrs. Venie Patterson has returned home from a visit of several weeks in Covington.

Mr. Lawrence Ellis, of Indianapolis, Ind., spent several days, last week, in Burlington.

Mrs. Enule Williams, of Covington, was visiting Dazz., Mrs. T. Riddell, last Sunday.

Hubert Gaines returned, last Saturday, from a week's visit to Sanders, Carroll county.

John H. Perry, of New Castle, Ky., was a guest of Gordon McKim a few days last week.

Pluk Rice and wife, of Utzinger, were guests of W. E. Vest and wife, Saturday night and Sunday.

J. T. Dempsey and John Finnell, of Mudlick, were in town Monday. Buck showed up before breakfast.

Esq. J. C. Byland, of Walton, was transacting business here last Saturday. He is a live life insurance man.

Marion Stephens, of the Florence neighborhood, who had been quite sick for some time, was improving last week.

L. L. Childress, of Middlesboro, came up last Thursday to visit his parents, Esq. T. J. Childress and wife, of Erlanger.

Mr. W. L. Butts, of Joplin, Mo., and Mr. M. J. Hampton, of Milton, Ky., were guests of A. B. Rouse, several days, last week.

Mrs. Missouri Walton, of Erlanger, who had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jas. Rogers, of Bellevue, returned home, last Saturday.

J. S. Clore, of the Waterloo neighborhood, was in town Saturday. He reported the yield of wheat in his neighborhood as being good.

J. C. Bedinger, of Richwood, and Harry Adams, of Hamilton, were in town, Saturday, to attend the meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee.

It was a great pleasure to us to meet our old school-mate, Rev. J. S. Kirtley, at Erlanger, last Thursday. He is a leading Baptist divine in Kansas City, Mo.

The many friends of Dr. S. S. Scott, of Erlanger, will be sorry to hear that his eyes are in a very bad condition. Otherwise the Doctor is enjoying pretty good health.

Jeff Eddins came home Saturday night as brown as a berry. He says there is more pleasure in following a threshing machine than spending the summer at the seaside, and that it pays a great deal better.

Park Berkshire, a native of Petersburg, and a brother of George R. and John W. Berkshire, called on us last press day. He is now a prosperous citizen of Daviess county, and does not look a day older than he did the last time we saw him 17 years ago. His visits to the scenes of his childhood are not very frequent.

Misses Annie and Eliza Rouse, daughters of Jacob Rouse, of Monroe City, Mo., who are visiting relatives in this county, made the RECORDER a pleasant call last Friday. The Misses Rouse are sisters of W. J. Rouse, editor of the Monroe City, Mo., Democrat, a spicy little paper. They are educated in the art preservative, and assist their brother with his paper.

Last Saturday morning P. E. Casou's slumbers were disturbed by what he imagined, in his return to consciousness, was a combat between two Bengal tigers. He rushed to his window and was surprised to discover that the unearthly yells preceded from two giant tomcats that were industriously engaged trying to annihilate eachother. When the struggle, which was a draw, ended, the front yard was covered ankle deep with hair.

A couple of young people arrived in town, one day last week, and stopped at the Boone House. The young man was soon in consultation with county clerk Adams, in his private sanctum. He wanted a marriage license, but said he would not tell nor swear to a falsehood to secure the very much desired document, but instead would defer the marriage until he and the young lady became of age, which would be in a few months. The young man said they lived in Columbus, Ohio. No license was issued.

The following persons were examined for the purpose of securing teachers' certificates, last Friday and Saturday: Misses Ethel Terrill, Lizzie Parker, Essie Boggess, Katie Smith, Ethel Cecil Conner, Katie Flynn, the latter of Crittenden, Grant county, Messrs. Frank Riley and Carl Grant. Up to the present time this year ten have stood successful examinations for graduation in the common school branches, Misses Katie Clayton and Lillie Hammoud being the last two who were examined, and both passed.

The Burlington outing party that was in camp on the Indiana side of the river just below Bellevue last week for three days, was composed of county attorney Lassing, wife and two children, Sheriff Beall, wife and little boy, J. F. Blythe, wife and two little nephews, and Deputy County clerk Garnett. They were very comfortably located and had a most delightful time, and were visited by numerous persons from Burlington and Bellevue during their sojourn in camp. Considerable time was devoted to fishing but Garnett was the only member of the party who landed a fish, a 5 pounder. To Capt. John Smith, James and Harve Smith, Dr. Williamson and Mr. McNight, the latter the owner of the land on which they camped, is the outing party indebted for many favors. The party reached home late Friday afternoon, each wearing a first class sea shore browning.

Aurora will have a street fair August 17, 18, 19.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.

DOLLARS DO DOUBLE DUTY HERE.

Standard Granulated Sugar, 18 lbs. $1 00.
Arbuckle Coffee 10 cents per lb.
Daniel Boone Soap, 3 bars for 5 cents.
Pittsburg Wire less than city prices.
Lime, Cement, White Lead, Oils, Varnishes, etc., as cheap as in the city.

Baby Shoes for 10c per pair up.
Misses' Shoes for 50c per pair up.
A full line of Men's, Ladie's and Children's Tan Shoes—Latest Styles, Best Quality, Lowest Prices.
Men's Dress Pants, 75c per pair.
Wonder Overalls, Shirts and Pants, the best made.

COME at ONCE. THESE PRICES are ONLY While Present Stock Lasts.
UNION, KENTUCKY. UNION, KENTUCKY.

McALPIN & THOMSON,
Successors to RIGGS BROS.
Undertakers
—AND—
Embalmers,

LIVERY, BOARDING & FEED STABLES.
Special Rates to Traveling Men. Pianos, Organs and Furniture Carefully Removed. First-class Carriages for hire with careful drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, etc.
LEXINGTON PIKE, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
J. M. EDDINS, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

The Sun Shines on both Sides of the Street for the Man, Boy or Child who wear our
CLOTHING
Come in and try on some of the New Styles, if you want a most graceful becoming suit. Our CLOTHING are easily the neatest fitting, finest looking and best wearing in the country. Our experience in the business enables us to sell at
ROCK BOTTOM.
Whether you are ready to buy or not, we want to see you in our store. It will cost you nothing to look at our goods.
ROLFES & WACHS, No. 1 Pike Street, Cor. Madison Ave.
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

When in Burlington Call on
J. S. CLUTTERBUCK
DEALER IN
DRY GOODS
Notions, Boots and Shoes,
Who has just received his stock of
SPRING & SUMMER SHOES,
the nicest stock ever in town. Have old stock which I AM SELLING AT GENUINE BARGAINS.
NICE LINE WALL PAPER,
☞At Prices to Suit the times.☜

DEERING - MACHINES
Are the favorites in every land where grass and grain grow. They are adopted to all conditions. They are the "Acme" of strength, durability, simplicity and light draft. We will carry a full line of Repairs. Buy the Machine that is fully guaranteed and handy to obtain repairs for.
Also remember we are headquarters for all kinds of
Farm Machinery
At bottom prices. We handle nothing but the best and fully guarantee all.

Also the Largest and Cheapest
Stock of Shoes
In the county, and a full line of
General -- Merchandise.
—CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.—
COME AND SEE.
T. J. HUGHES,
BEAVER LICK, KY.

GO TO
C. T. DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,
HEBRON AND CONSTANCE.
A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.
GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.
Undertaking Given Special Attention.
A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.
Hebron. C. T. DAVIS & CO. Constance

W. H. HOSHAL & COMPANY,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
Cattle, Hogs and Sheep,
—UNION STOCK YARDS,—
Cincinnati, - Ohio.
—TELEPHONE 7346.—
Information Regarding Live Stock Cheerfully Furnished.
Consign Your Stock Direct to Us.

LUMBER!
LATHS,
SHINGLES,
DOORS,
BLINDS,
SASH.
If you want any kind of Lumber it will be to your advantage to visit our yard at Lawrenceburg, Indiana, before buying. ☞Prices to Suit the Times.
M. E. LEMING & CO.

The most affecting scene witnessed in this part of the country, for years, was the consigning to their last resting place in the cemetery at Hebron, last Wednesday, the remains of Clifford and James Shannon, victims of the river horror at Cincinnati, Sunday week. The parents of the two little boys aged 12 and 14 years, were raised in the Hebron neighborhood, and a large number of friends met the funeral procession at the cemetery, where a brief and solemn funeral service was performed, after the two white caskets had been placed side by side in one grave. The pall-bearers were three little girls and three little boys, school-mates and associates of the unfortunate little boys. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. The two little boys were the only children, and the pride of a widowed mother, who was devoting all her energies to the rearing of them to be useful men, and, appreciating their mother's devotions, they were growing up in the paths that lead to usefulness and honor. They were favorites with all who knew them.

Primary Election.

The Democratic Executive Committee of Boone county, pursuant to call, met in the office of D. E. Castleman in Burlington, at 2 o'clock p. m., July 22, 1899, and the following resolutions were unanimously carried:

1st. That the nomination of a candidate for the Legislature be determined by a primary election, to be held on August 19th, 1899, under the law, and that said primary election be conducted free to the candidates, except for the expense for ballots, for which expense the Chairman of the Committee, after having contracted for the printing thereof, shall apportion the same among the candidates.

2d. That all known Democrats and those young men who are not of age on the date of said primary, but who will be legal voters at the November election, and will pledge themselves to support the nominee of this primary, shall be entitled to participate therein.

On motion duly seconded and carried, the Committee adjourned to meet at the office of D. E. Castleman, in Burlington, on August 7th, 1899, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of selecting officers for said primary election, at which time each committeeman is requested to recommend a list of primary election officers for his precinct. D. E. CASTLEMAN, Ch'm'n.
J. C. BEDINGER, Sec'y.

R. J. Akins, who is cultivating Mrs. M. Collins' farm just across the river, has raised the best crop of potatoes reported this year. From an acre and a half of ground he harvested $130 worth of the best Early Ohio potatoes that have been brought to Aurora. Jacob Schuler bought the entire crop last week. Akin now laughs back at those who laughed at him for tending the "old worn out farm."—Aurora Independent.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

The taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the following places to receive taxes for 1899:

Verona, Sept. 5th, Oct. 5th.
Walton, Sept. 6th, Oct. 6th.
Bellevue, Sept. 7th, Oct. 9th.
Union, Sept. 8th, Oct. 7th.
Petersburg, Sept. 9th, Oct. 10th.
Bullittsville, Sept. 11th, Oct. 16th.
Big Bone, Sept. 12th, Oct. 11th.
Constance, Sept. 13th, Oct. 12th.
Beaver, Sept. 14th, Oct. 13th.
Florence, Sept. 15th, Oct. 14th.
Rabbit Hash, Sept 16th, Oct. 17th.
Gunpowder, Oct 18th.
Richwood, Oct. 20th.
Hebron, Oct. 21st.

All taxes not paid by Dec 1st, 1899, will have the 6 per cent. penalty added. Meet me at the appointed places and avoid the penalty.
ELMER BEALL, S. B. C.

W. M. RANDALL,
DENTIST.
Will be at
BURLINGTON, Monday, Tuesday,
PETERSBURG: Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday,
OF EACH WEEK.
GIVE HIM A CALL.

The League Institute,
VERONA, KY.
Opens September 18, 1899.
Miss N. E. Hamilton, Principal, teacher of Belle-lettres and Sciences.
Miss Madeline Pfeiffer, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Latin & German.
Miss Lulu Forwood, Mathematics and Elocution.
With those interested, a correspondence with the principal is solicited.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the League Institute, the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, 1st, That we endorse and commend the methods, management and zeal of the faculty.

2d. That we desire to express our appreciation of the steady growth of the Institute; and especially the great interest manifested by pupils and patrons.

3d. That we cordially invite parents seeking a good school for their children to investigate the merits of The League Institute.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS,
Verona, Ky.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, : : KENTUCKY.

OPAL mining is one of the latest Australian mineral industries. The principal opal mining center is White Cliffs, where the gem has been found in highly payable quantities and of the richest quality, within a radius of ten miles, and a population of 1,500 or thereabouts is settled there.

A CRUSADE has been started in London against "Sunday baking." It appears that there is an act of George IV. making it illegal to bake bread on Sunday in the city of London, though the fact has long been ignored. The question of Sunday baking is now to be taken up in parliament.

A LARGE folio book of common prayer, of 1552, which belonged to Bishop Creighton, who was bishop of Bath and Wells, Eng., in 1670, has been returned to its old home in the palace at Wells, and added to the many historic treasures of the library. It is an excellent specimen of the binder's art, having been bound by S. Mearns, the binder to Charles II.

ANNA S. DOUGLAS, of New York, caused the arrest of a man who sold her a Cripple Creek mine last year and sued for the purchase money, $5,000, on the ground that she had been buncoed into buying a worthless property. She lost her case, and now the ore being taken out of her mine runs from $10,000 to $100,000 to the ton, and the vein is about eight feet wide.

A LONDON magazine gives an estimate of the money lost on the turf throughout the world during each year. The amount is placed at $250,000,000, of which $50,000,000 is lost on English race courses, and, strange to say, about $100,000,000 on Australian courses. The remainder is chiefly distributed between France, the United States and British colonies.

BY a curious coincidence the death of Robert Bonner has followed that of Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth within a week. Although Mrs. Southworth began her career as a novelist in the National Era of Washington, her native city, yet she was most identified with the New York Ledger. She was five years older than Mr. Bonner, who had passed his seventy-fifth mile post.

GERMANY, with an approximate population of 52,279,901, has at present over 1,500,000 sufferers from phthisis, and, according to Prof. Leyden's estimates, 170,000 die annually of the disease. The United States has in 15 years lost more than 2,000,000 by tuberculous diseases, and from statistics it now appears that in America and Europe one person in seven or eight dies of tuberculosis.

ELDRIDGE T. GERRY, in his house on Fifth avenue, New York, has the finest private collection of law books in the United States. The library is splendidly fitted out, divided into alcoves, each one of which is marked by a column of rare marble. Surmounting each column is a bust of a Roman emperor. The ceiling is of thin onyx through which a good light is admitted.

THE South American horses supplied to the British cavalry in South Africa seem more satisfactory than any other mount. Coming from a grass country, where horses travel from thirty to forty miles a day with heavy riders, a class of animals have been developed which combines the constitution and stamina which are lacking in the Australian with the weight and bone which are lacking in the Arab for cavalry.

REINDEER meat as an ordinary and inexpensive feature of the menu in Europe is about to become an accomplished fact. Some enterprising Norwegians have undertaken, under very favorable circumstances, to raise the animals in large numbers for slaughtering purposes. They expect to find profitable markets in France and Belgium, and will even endeavor to induce the beef-eating British to purchase it.

JAMES T. DUBOIS, of Pennsylvania, now consul general at St. Gall, Switzerland, has been carrying on a great contest with the lace and other manufacturers of his district, who have for years been systematically defrauding the government by undervaluations. Mr. Dubois secured proof that the invoices were systematically undervalued to the extent of at least 33 per cent. As a result the government will gain hundreds of thousands of dollars annually in custom dues.

ELECTRIC light baths seem to have become an established therapeutic agent in Germany. Their principle is that of ordinary sun baths, but advantages are claimed in that the electric light is always available; that it can be regulated according to the patient and the disease; that the action upon the heart is slight, and harmful bacteria in the body are destroyed. Baths are administered in a mirror-lined box in which the disrobed patient is seated with his head projecting outside through a hole in the lid.

EXTRAORDINARY ceremonies attended the laying of the corner stone for the new post office savings bank in England. The prince of Wales, attended by a large royal party, himself wielded the elegantly engraved silver trowel and mallet. It is just 100 years since savings banks were first established in England, and the credit of their inception belongs to the church. In 1799 Rev. Joseph Smith opened the first "bank for savings" in England in his parish church at Wendover. There are now over 12,000 post office saving bank offices, with 7,500,000 depositors and $905,000,000 on deposit.

FIGHTING SIXTH.

The Regiment Took Part in a Bloody Battle at Bobong on Wednesday.

One Hundred and Fifteen Rebels Were Killed, Many Wounded and Supplies and Arms Captured—Our Loss Was One Killed and One Wounded.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The war department has received the following cablegram:

MANILA, July 22.

Adjutant General, Washington: Capt. E. A. Byrne, 6th infantry, with 70 men, surprised by united rebber bands in Negros, numbering 450; killed, 115; wounded, many; captured, a few rifles and revolvers, many hand weapons, large quantity of stock. Fighting at close distance. Byrne's loss, one killed, one wounded. names not given. The action very beneficial for quiet of Negros. OTIS.

NOTE—There are two Capts. Byrne in the 6th infantry—brothers—Capt. Bernard A. Byrne and Capt. Charles Byrne. Both are intrepid officers and noted as thorough fighters by their men. Capt. Charles Byrne, leading his company, F, was the first commissioned officer of Hawkins' brigade to reach Fort San Juan last July—this seems to be certain. Both these Byrnes are in command of battalions, acting majors of the 1st and 2d battalions of 6th infantry.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—It was at Escalante, on the Island of Negros, that Capt. Tilley, of the signal corps, was ambushed and murdered by the natives on May 27th last. It is supposed that the band of robbers who were so severely punished by Capt. Byrnes' command were a part of the same marauders. The signal service has just compiled a report on this occurrence made up from reports by the officers of the cable ship Recorder and Lieut. Alfred T. Clifton, who succeeded to Capt. Tilley's command in Iloilo.

MANILA, July 22.—The unprecedented rains of the last week have convinced observers here that military operations on a large scale or advances covering many miles will be impossible for a long time. Many miles of the country are flooded to a depth of three or four feet. The Paranaque bridge, which was considered impregnable, has been swept away, cutting off temporarily the garrisons of Imus and Bacoor from communication from Manila. In the circumstances it would be impossible to move wagon trains as the trails have become doubtful. Pack mules will be utilized if it should become possible for soldiers to make marches. The officials will have their hands full for some time in arranging for the departure of volunteers and in settling the regulars who are replacing them.

To Reopen With Union Miners.

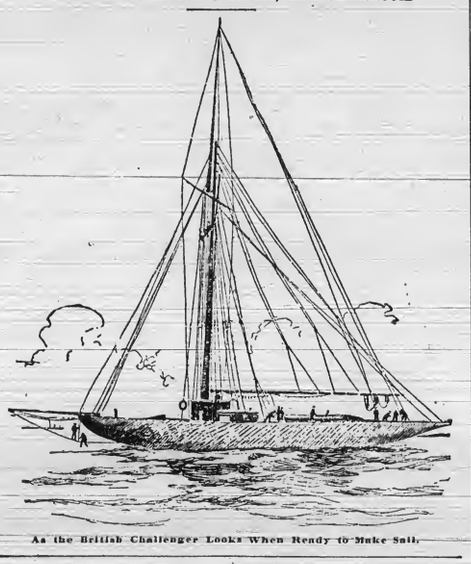
PANA, Ill., July 22.—It is authoritatively given out that all the mines will reopen with union miners on August 15 or September 1, thus putting an end to long lockouts and differences between operators and miners which has resulted in so much loss to property, death of no less than 15 persons, and has put the state and county to an expense of fully $150,000 to protect the company's property and the lives of their workmen.

Peace Reigns.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., July 22.—The impending race war in Chicot county has been settled and peace reigns there Friday night. One Whittaker, who had stirred up a bitter feeling on the part of the blacks, was ordered to leave the community and lost no time in catching a train.

Ex-Champion Lange Dead.

NEW YORK, July 22.—E. DeGrove Lange, once the champion amateur three-mile walker of America, died Friday at his home in this city.



ADM. DEWEY'S RECEPTION.

The Committee Makes Public the Plans for His Entertainment While in the Capital of the Nation.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Adm. Dewey having cabled approval of the plans for his reception at the national capital the committees in charge of that event are free to proceed at once with the necessary preparations. Some time ago the district commissioners appointed a committee of 100 citizens to take representative cognizance of the admiral's return to the national capital, which committee organized and subdivided. The executive committee sketched a programme, which was approved by President McKinley, Secretary Long and the committee of one hundred. The programme provides for a suitable committee escort from New York to Washington. Probably on the afternoon of his arrival the admiral will be conducted to the east front of the capitol where Secretary Long will present the sword of honor which was voted by congress. A capacious platform, suitably decorated, will be erected for the accommodation of the president, his cabinet, the members of the diplomatic corps and other distinguished personages.

In the evening there will be a military, naval and civic parade, in which every organized body in the District of Columbia is expected to participate. This feature is to be of the torchlight variety and is to be accompanied by a general illumination, the most elaborate effects being along the line of the march. The parade will be reviewed by the president, Adm. Dewey and many of the most prominent national officials and international representatives. Following the parade will be band concerts in various sections of the city.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON'S YACHT, THE SHAMROCK.

As the British Challenger Looks When Ready to Make Sail.

FUSE FACTORY EXPLOSION.

A Girl's Eyes Blown Out and Her Body Horribly Mangled—Two Other Persons Badly Injured.

XENIA, O., July 22.—A terrific explosion Friday morning at the Xenia Fuse Manufacturing Co., near here, injured three persons horribly. One, possibly two, will die.

The injured are: Miss Rose O'Donnell, fatally, Mrs. Ollie Davis and Ennis Wykoff. The plant, operated by the Aetna Powder Co., of Chicago, employs a large number of girls making cartridges.

The building, a one-story brick, is a total wreck, the walls being scattered in all directions.

Rose O'Donnell's clothes were burned off and her body mutilated in a most terrible manner. Both eyes are gone, her hands blown off and holes are torn in her body. She remained conscious long enough to state that it was through her that the explosion came about.

Mrs. Ollie Davis, a widow, with one child, was frightfully burned and will die.

Ennis Wykoff, aged 23, married, had one eye blown out, but he aided in rescuing the girls from the building.

The scenes about the building were heartrending. The fire department was called out, but the wreck did not take fire. The cause of the explosion is a mystery.

Three-Cent Fares Over.

DETROIT, Mich., July 22.—The street railway companies have announced the end of the three-cent rates. Five-cent fares, or six rides for a quarter, will be in effect again by Saturday. Pingree has abandoned his municipal ownership plan.

Elihu Root for Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Senator Platt, of New York, is expected to arrive in Washington Friday evening. It is said he will urge the president to appoint Elihu Root as secretary of war.

A CAR WRECKED.

It Was Blown Up by Strikers With Nitroglycerin or Gun Cotton.

Five Persons Were Badly Injured, Two or Three Probably Fatally—Houses in the Vicinity of the Explosion Were Shaken—Arrests.

CLEVELAND, O., July 24.—The rioting which continued throughout Saturday night was renewed Sunday, and there were several serious outbreaks of violence, but no clashes between the mobs and the troops.

Cars were started running as usual Sunday morning on all but one or or two lines. The mobs were astir early. Soon after 10 o'clock a thousand or more persons gathered on Burton street, on the south side, and proceded to obstruct the track.

When a car came along with two policeman on board, it was attacked with a shower of stones. In spite of the policemen the non-union motorman and conductor were roughly handled. One of them named McDermott had two ribs broken and the other was badly bruised. One of the policemen fired at the mob, the bullet striking a man named Wenuick. The mob assaulted the officers, both of whom were struck repeatedly with stones and but for the intervention of a priest of the Catholic church near at hand the officers might have been lynched. By this time the cars had been mixed up in the melee and a patrol wagon of police arriving the rioters dispersed and the cars were taken back to the barns. There was a serious disturbance on the Broadway line at the corner of Petrie street where a mob of 3,000 assembled in the forenoon and obstructed the track.

As a result of the shooting of the driver of a grocery wagon in South Brooklyn Saturday afternoon by a non-union conductor, the mayor of that village Sunday issued an order to the marshal to arrest all non-union conductors who carried concealed weapons. Every car was stopped and each conductor found with a revolver was arrested. All were subsequently bailed out by the company.

A small riot was started at the corner of Pearl street and Franklin avenue when a young woman struck a man who asked her to board a non-union car. A crowd of union sympathizers stoned cars and a squad of police finally cleared the street.

The company Sunday sent a note to the state board of arbitration declining to arbitrate the differences.

A Euclid avenue car, loaded with passengers, was wrecked by an explosion of nitroglycerin or gun cotton shortly before 11 o'clock Sunday night. Four persons were badly hurt, the names of the injured being:

Mrs. E. C. Martin, 79, Alanson street, compound fracture of the skull, right arm broken and internal injuries which may prove fatal.

E. C. Martin, right arm badly cut and bruised about legs and body.

Mrs. Catherine Harris, 25 Cornell street, suffering from nervous prostration.

F. A. Smith, 69 Vienna street, injured about legs and body.

Albert E. Fassett, 12 Wallace place, legs injured.

Late Sunday night it was learned that Mrs. Martin, one of the injured, would probably die. She suffered a compound fracture of the skull, had one arm broken and was otherwise injured. She was with her husband who was also badly hurt.

The explosion tore out the front end of the car smashed all the windows and destroyed the brake. After considerable difficulty the car was stopped and a call for ambulances were sent out. The motorman, William Draggers, who came from Cincinnati, was dazed by the shock, but the conductor, Frank Schroeder, of St. Louis, escaped injury.

The force of the explosion was so great that it shook all the houses in the neighborhood and was heard for a distance of two or three miles. Persons living in the neighborhood say they saw a man in a buggy stop at the corner of Kensington street, where the explosion occurred, and get out by the railroad track. He remained there a short time and then drove rapidly away.

Passengers who were on the car say the explosion seemed to lift the whole front end of the car and it ripped up the floor for more than half the distance from the front end. The car was, in fact, a complete wreck, but strange to say it did not leave the rails and was taken to the barns by the next outward bound motor.

The police were quickly summoned to the scene of the explosion and a force of men was detailed to investigate with a view of running down the person who placed the explosion on the track.

Trolley Car Strike Practically at an End.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The trolley car strike, both in Manhatten and Brooklyn seems to be practically at an end. General Master Workman Parsons says it is not Sunday and at a meeting of the Central Federated union he launched a scheme for a new labor political party and at the same time urged upon the delegates of the various trades unions in Greater New York the expediency of contributing the fund to aid the strikers and the delegates promised their financial support.

ROBERT G. INGERSOLL DEAD.

The Well-Known Lecturer and Lawyer Died Suddenly at His Summer Home in Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., Friday.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Robert G. Ingersoll died at his home in Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., Friday afternoon, of apoplexy.

Mr. Ingersoll went to his summer home in Dobbs Ferry two days ago apparently in good health. Shortly after his arrival there he complained of a slight indisposition.

He spent Friday morning in his room, and shortly before he was stricken his wife offered to have his luncheon sent up to him so that he would not have to walk down stairs to the dining-room below. He laughingly replied that while he did not feel quite as young as he used to, he guessed he was not yet an invalid and he would go down with the others. At he finished speaking and was about to rise he fell back in his chair. A physician was immediately summoned, but when he reached the house he found that Mr. Ingersoll had died almost instantly. The physician did not give the cause of death, but the family believe it was due to apoplexy. Mr. Ingersoll's wife and two daughters were with him when he died.

ROBERT G. INGERSOLL.

Robert G. Ingersoll was born in Dresden, N. Y., August 11, 1833. His father was a Congregational clergyman of such liberal views that he was persecuted for them, and in his early life Robert G. Ingersoll imbibed an intense hatred of Calvinism, which grew with his growth and finally made him an aggressive opponent of all generally received forms of religion.

No arrangements have been yet made for the funeral, but it will probably take place on Monday at the house, and the interment will be in Sleepy Hollow cemetery at Tarrytown.

Death came to him as he had recently expressed a desire that it should. He often in old times said he wished to die slowly, with a full consciousness, so he might tell those about him how it felt. Recently he experienced a change of desire to die painlessly and without warning.

INGERSOLL GREAT HEARTED.

Rev. Elijah P. Brown's Opinion of the Great Infidel—Sincere in Opposition to Christianity.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 22.—Rev. Elijah P. Brown, founder of the Ram's Horn, in earlier life was an infidel, but 18 years ago he turned Christian and became a preacher.

Concerning "Bob" Ingersoll he says: "During the years when I was an unbeliever myself Ingersoll was my patron saint. I knew him and loved him, and never missed an opportunity to hear him speak. He was sincere and honest in his opposition to Christianity, and he was not talking for money, as generally supposed, but because he earnestly desired to do good. He was a mistaken man, as every Christian knows, but he was an honest one. I think he was the greatest-hearted man I ever knew who was not a Christian."

SILVER LEADERS CONFER.

A Plan to Organize Their Forces Into a Distinct Party Was the Principal Theme of Discussion.

CHICAGO, July 22.—While the members of the national committee were enjoying a view of the drainage canal Friday the silver leaders were in conference at the Auditorium annex.

Those present were: John P. Altgeld, George Fred Williams, James P. Tarvin, president of the league of bimetallic clubs of the Ohio valley; Gen. A. J. Warner, president of the American Bimetallic union; C. A. Shively, of Indiana, and Morton Frewen, the English bimetallist.

It is said that a plan to organize the silver forces of the country into a distinct party formed the principal theme of discussion. It was not suggested as an immediate necessity, but as a contingency which future events might make not only expedient, but necessary.

Insurance Agent Fails.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Winfield N. Satley, an insurance agent, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in which he schedules $210,000 as liabilities. His assets, which are estimated at $70,700, consist chiefly of life insurance policies.

Condition of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Friday's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $270,697,618; gold reserve, $244,820,059.

"A Good Name at Home

Is a Tower of Strength Abroad." In Lowell, Mass., where Hood's Sarsaparilla is made, it still has a larger sale than all other blood purifiers. Its fame and cures and sales have spread abroad, and it is universally recognised as the best blood medicine money can buy. Be sure to get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Never Disappoints

MA GETS PA'S ADVICE.

But When She Gets It She Goes And Does the Other Thing.

Nite Before Last when paw Come Home maw says to Him:

"Paw, I got suthin I want you to Tell me."

"Well," paw says: "Speel away. I don't Spose they are enything I Can't tell You all about."

"Two gurls wants to work Here," maw Says, "and I wisht you'd Tell me which one to Hire. One's a Swede gurl and one's a Ninglish gurl. Whitch one would you take?"

"How Do I no," says paw, "When I ain't seen them. You ot to no which is the Best."

"Thay Seem about the Same," maw says.

"Well sposen we Flip a Penny," says paw. "Tales for the Swede gurl and Heds for the other one."

"No," maw says, "I think that's Disgraisfull. You' got to Tell me which you'd Taik."

So purty soon Thay Come Back and paw He Looked out through the crack from Behind the Door at Them while Thay was Talkin to maw, and when maw came in paw says:

"I gess you Better take the Inglish gurl."

Last nite paw Come Home Purty Tired and when we Got Set Down at the Table maw rung the Bell and in come the Swead gurl.

Paw He looks at Her a minit and when she went out He Says to Maw:

"I Bet I no what you'd Do if I Told you to Go and Jump in the Lake."

"What?" maw ast.

"You'd go away some Whair and Climb a Tree," paw says, and then He made a Swipe at a Fly what was Buzzen around and nocked over the vinagar Bottel. It was a Sad Site.—Georgie, in Chicago Times-Herald.

New Through Sleeping Car Line Between St. Louis and Denver. Only 26 Hours En Route.

The Missouri Pacific Railway, in connection with the Rock Island Route from Kansas City, is now operating through sleeping cars between St. Louis and Denver, leaving St. Louis 9 a.m. daily, arriving Denver 11 o'clock the next morning. This is the quickest line between these cities by over two hours.

Microbes are now understood to be necessary to human life. It is our tendency, we believe, to regard as necessities to-day what were merely conveniences yesterday. —Detroit Journal.

Automobile or ought not to mobile seems to be the question at issue.—Cycling Gazette.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 78,465]

"I was a sufferer from female weakness. Every month regularly as the menses came, I suffered dreadful pains in uterus, ovaries were affected and had leucorrhœa. I had my children very fast and it left me very weak. A year ago I was taken with flooding and almost died. The doctor even gave me up and wonders how I ever lived.

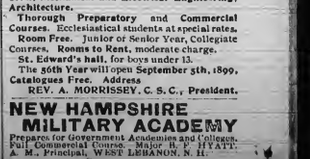
PERIODS OF SUFFERING GIVE PLACE TO PERIODS OF JOY

"I went for Mrs. Pinkham's advice at Lynn, Mass., and took her medicine and began to get well. I took several bottles of the Compound and used the Sanative Wash, and can truly say that I am cured. You would hardly know me, I am feeling and looking so well. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me what I am."—Mrs. J. F. STRETCH, 461 MECHANIC ST., CAMDEN, N. J.

How Mrs. Brown Was Helped.

"I must tell you that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than any doctor.

"I was troubled with irregular menstruation. Last summer I began the use of your Vegetable Compound, and after taking two bottles, I have been regular every month since. I recommend your medicine to all."—Mrs. MAGGIE A. BROWN, WEST PT. PLEASANT, N. J.



Doesn't your boy write well? Perhaps he hasn't good ink.

CARTER'S INK

IS THE BEST INK.

More used than any other. Don't cost you any more than poor ink. Ask for it.

EDUCATIONAL.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME,

NOTRE DAME, INDIANA.

Classics, Letters, Economics and History, Journalism, Art, Science, Pharmacy, Law, Civil, Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, Architecture.

Thorough Preparatory and Commercial Courses. Ecclesiastical students at special rates. Room Free. Junior or Senior Year, Collegiate Courses, Rooms to Rent, moderate charge.

St. Edward's hall, for boys under 13.

The 50th Year will open September 5th, 1899. Catalogues Free. Address

REV. A. MORRISSEY, C. S. C., President.

NEW HAMPSHIRE MILITARY ACADEMY

Prepares for Government Academies and Colleges. Full Commercial Course. Major H. F. HYATT, A. M., Principal, WEST LEBANON, N. H.

FRANKLIN COLLEGE New Athens, O. This Yr. Sent out U. S. Senators, Governors, and 300 Ministers. $130 a yr.; books free; 3 courses; both sexes; no saloons; Catalogue Free, with plan to earn funds. W. A. WILLAMS, D.D., Pres.

BUSINESS EDUCATION FREE. Write for particulars. Home Correspondence School, Springfield, Mass.

NEW GUN TESTED

It Is the Most Formidable Weapon of the Kind the World Ever Saw.

The Muzzle Energy of the New Gun Is 78 Per Cent. Greater Than That of the Old—A New Type of Mount Also Tested.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Tests at the Indian Head proving ground of a 4-inch gun, representing the latest advance in naval ordnance manufacture, has demonstrated that the United States government is in possession of the most formidable weapon of the kind in the world. The gun was designed by the bureau of ordnance, and has a chamber large enough to accommodate the charge of powder carried by the old 5-inch weapon.

With a charge of 17 pounds of perforated grain navy smokeless powder a muzzle velocity of 2,991 foot seconds was obtained, with a muzzle energy of 2,049 foot tons and with a chamber pressure of 16.95 tons per square inch. With a charge of 16.34 pounds a muzzle velocity of 2,937 foot seconds was obtained, with a muzzle energy of 1,975 foot tons. The muzzle energy of the new gun is 78 per cent. greater than that of the old.

A new type of mount for the heavy four-inch gun was also tested and worked in a thoroughly satisfactory manner.

In addition to their 12-inch turret guns the new monitors will each have an auxiliary battery of four of the new four-inch guns.

Orders were issued by the secretary assigning Commander C. O. Allibone to command the gunboat Wilmington.

SUCCEEDS SECRETARY ALGER

Elihu Root Is Appointed and Accepts the War Portfolio on the Advice of His Friend Senator Platt.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Elihu Root, of New York, through Senator Platt, has accepted the portfolio of war. This is on Senator Platt's authority.

The senator came here prepared to urge Gen. Francis V. Greene, if a military man should be desired; Root, if an attorney should be wanted, and authorized to accept for either.

The president chose Root because he wanted a man qualified to decide on civil government in the colonies, which will arise.

No claims except from the state of New York were at any time considered.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Elihu Root, who has been appointed secretary of war in place of Gen. Alger, has gone to Southampton, L. I., for a rest.

Root was born in 1845, in Clinton, N. Y., and educated in Hamilton college. He was admitted to the bar and came to New York to practice. He is counsel for many corporations, including the sugar trust.

Root and Roosevelt are close friends. Root is president of the Union League club. He has a wife, two boys and a young daughter.

He is tall and slim, quiet in manner and affable, a convincing speaker and fond of sport. He plays golf almost as well as Attorney General Griggs.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Hon. Elihu Root, who is to succeed Secretary Alger at the head of the war department, has telegraphed the president that he will be here Monday. Mr. Root desires to have a conference with the president, respecting the duties of his new office before the former leaves for Champlain.

A NEW VICAR GENERAL.

Filipino Priest Leads a Movement for the Independence of the Church in the Philippines From the Spanish.

MANILA, July 24.—A Filipino priest named Gregorie Agripay, with the insurgents, is trying to lead a movement for the independence of the church in the Philippines from the Spanish priesthood. He has issued a proclamation declaring himself the vicar general of all the Filipino priests in the districts outside of American control on the island of Luzon and is inciting the priests to disobey the regulations of the church and brotherhoods. The archbishop of the district has issued a bull excommunicating Agripay and this action has increased the feeling between the Filipino and the church.

The archbishop threatened to excommunicate the owners of Spanish papers publishing announcements of protestant and masonic meetings, whereon an American paper warned him that he might be bundled out of the island like any disturber of the peace if he should incite religious animosities.

The Dominican friars have begun the publication of a newspaper under the title of Libertas, for the purpose of defending the brotherhood.

Fatal Revolver Accident.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 24.—With her husband's loaded pistol in her hand Mrs. Gus Henderson, a young colored woman, stumbled on the doorstep of her house. As she fell the weapon was discharged and a ball entered her abdomen. Sunday she died.

Four Killed in a Cave-In.

AKRON, O., July 24.—Four men were killed here Saturday in a cave-in. The men are buried beneath 600 tons of clay.

STICKS TO THE PLATFORM.

Ex-Gov. Altgeld Predicts Triumph for the Principles of That of 1896.

An impromptu meeting of the supporters of ex-Gov. John P. Altgeld was held in the Unity building, Chicago, Saturday, the 15th, at which Mr. Altgeld was present and spoke as follows upon the principles and prospects of the Chicago platform of 1896:

"Governments are for the individual, they go along quietly for awhile, during which certain abuses arise, class interests get control of the legislation of the land and they choke to death, free institutions, and once in awhile it becomes necessary for the people to arouse themselves and shake off the incubi and clarify the atmosphere.

"We have been running along for the past 20 years while politics became rotten and powerful corporations have arisen and laid their slimy fingers upon the land, corrupting juries and courts, debauching our institutions and controlling the entire country for selfish purposes. We have reached a point where we are actually told that the principles of the declaration of independence are all bosh.

"The country calls for men, not politicians. The American republic is calling for men and that is going to grow louder and louder during the next few years. It has been said that ideas move the world. The man who propagates ideas is the man who shapes the destinies of the world. Not politicians, but men of ideas who will act upon honest judgment and deep convictions are the men who in the end will shape the destinies of this country.

"You had nothing to influence you last spring except high principles and the fact that fight to emphasize certain great principles. You impressed upon the trimmers the fact that this country cannot be delivered in job lots to anyone. I appreciate the fact that in this gathering there are a number of men whose influence will be patent in the future. They will go along the line of following the highest ideals, standing for purity in the government and standing for the declaration of independence. They will look neither to the right nor to the left. They pursue these ideals and I assure you that they will never regret their course.

"A year ago we were made to believe that the great principles of the second declaration of independence—the Chicago platform—were about to be repudiated. The enemy showed such a wonderful interest in our welfare. Mark Hanna's newspapers all over the country day by day misrepresented and misstated things that had not happened. They showed an extraordinary interest in us. They told us that they did not want us to stand by the Chicago platform because we could not win on that, and evidently they wanted us to win.

"We felt just a little bit suspicious of that advice and we thought we saw the slimy fingers of old Mark in the affair. So we concluded that the democrats of America had better decide for themselves rather than let the managers of the republican party decide for them. The people do not like to submit to talk every day, while the newspapers controlled by the opposition do talk all the time. Since last spring and during the last two months the people have had a chance to give a little expression to their sentiments, and I want to say the sentiment for the Chicago platform is just as strong to-day as it ever was.

"Six weeks ago we were told that St Louis was a good place to get sidetracked and that the party would dump its old principles and take up some new ones. But the old train came down the track and never noticed the siding. It came thundering down with all the force that it ever exerted and it went right straight ahead on the old through track.

"A few weeks ago there was a meeting at Louisville, Ky., of the National Bimetallic league. We were told that here the people would get a chance to say what they were thinking. We had been told that there was not a silver democrat in the town of golden-hued Mr. Watterson. When we got there we didn't find a gold democrat.

"About a week ago they held a dollar dinner at Columbus, O.—and a dollar is about the extent of our pile. When the atmosphere was cleared it was found that the sentiment of the people there was unanimously for the old platform.

"Last week Gov. Hogg, of Texas, started out to celebrate the Fourth of July down in New York—where they had arranged to launch a boom. They were going to propose every distinguished name from New York as a presidential candidate on the old platform. They sent down to Alabama for a launcher and when he got through launching the five-minute cracker, but it blew up the whole boom. It demonstrated to the American people what everybody knows before, that the rank and file of Tammany are as true to Bryan as the democrats elsewhere. Politicians, who maintain their power by blackmailing corporations and levying tribute upon officeholders may favor somebody else, but the democratic heart of New York is for Mr. Bryan.

"We are coming along to this meeting. It was time for the national committee to hold a meeting. It was right that the silver clubs and bimetallic leagues, the organizations that supported the party four years ago, should meet at the same time and renew their assurances that they want to work with the committee in 1900.

"It was deemed wise at the same time to discuss and to perfect the plan whereby in every man in America may be able to do his best. We are told that this is a sly scheme on the part of the silverites to coerce the national committee. The democratic people are ready to struggle for human liberty and human rights we are insulted by being told that. Though they may not be able to pass a Chicago civil service examination for a sewer cleaning job, the time has come when the men of America can grasp questions that are vital to the nation.

"I think it is right to give the people of Chicago an opportunity to hear distinguished democrats from other states. I am glad to know that the meeting you are arranging promises to be a gigantic success. I want you to bear in mind that the meeting has nothing to do with local politics. It is one preliminary to the lofty struggle that confronts us next year. I hope you will bear this in mind. If some men are there who give expression to sentiments of which you do not approve I hope you will treat them respectfully, for that is democratic. It is democratic for a man to express his views.

"We must go into this fight like the men and women back in the '50s went into the struggle for the emancipation of the negro slaves. Go in with the conviction that you are eternally right. It is only a question of time that the principles for which you contend will be established. Evolution never went backward. It is always forward—always in line with human liberty and the exaltation of a nobler manhood."

WHAT WOMEN HAVE EARNED.

Mme. Patti has earned as high as $356,000 a year.

One year's work by Rosa Bonheur sold for $190,000.

When fully engaged Mme. Melba earns about $150,000 in a year.

The annual earnings of Sarah Bernhardt have for a long time annually averaged $70,000.

In the next opera season in this country Calve asks $1,500 a night for 60 performances—$90,000.

THREE LYNCHED.

Negroes, Identified as Members of the Gang of Assaulters, Killed.

A Hundred Men With Bloodhounds Are After the Remaining Five Members of the Gang, and if Caught They Will Be Lynched.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 24.—A special to the Constitution from Bainbridge, Ga., says: A Negro captured near Iron City Sunday night was brought to Saffold and identified as one of the assailants of Mrs. B. E. C. Roe and Mrs. Thrasher, of Saffold, on the night of July 3. He was lynched Sunday morning near Saffold.

The other dead Negroes were found alongside the railroad track two miles west of Bainbridge Sunday morning. The names of none of these Negroes are known. It is believed by some that the two dead Negroes found by the railroad track were the men arrested Saturday at Troy, Ala., on suspicion of being implicated in the Ogletree outrage and who were being brought to Saffold for identification.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., July 24.—Three Negroes were lynched during Saturday night near Saffold, Ga., and the mob is hunting for five more who are believed to have been members of a gang that robbed J. E. Ogletree, agent of the Plant system at Saffold, Thursday night, afterward binding him and assaulting his wife in his presence. Since the crime was committed hunting parties have been out in search of the guilty Negroes.

One of the Negroes appeared at an old darky's hut near Brinson, Ga., and asked to be harbored. The old man went to Brinson and informed the authorities of his presence. A posse returned with him and captured the Negro, who gave his name as Louis Sammin. The man was taken to Saffold, and was identified by Mr. and Mrs. Ogletree as one of their assailants. He said there were eight Negroes in his gang and that they came from Augusta. He said two of the gang were not far away.

One portion of the mob went in pursuit of these two while the other hanged Sammin and riddled his body with bullets. The other two were overtaken, shot and scalped a party bringing their scalps to Saffold Sunday evening. A hundred men with bloodhounds are after the remaining five members of the gang and if caught they will be lynched.

NOTED AGNOSTIC'S REMAINS.

The Body of Robert G. Ingersoll Lies on an Improvised Bier in the Bedroom in Which He Breathed His Last.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The body of Robert G. Ingersoll lay on an improvised bier Sunday in the bedroom in which he died at the home of Walston H. Brown, his son-in-law, in Dobbs Ferry. Many men of all sorts and conditions, but mostly humble toilers, made the pilgrimage to Dobbs Ferry in the hope that they might be permitted to gaze once more upon the noted agnostic. In no instance was the request refused. No arrangements whatever have yet been made concerning the funeral. Mrs. Ingersoll and her daughters, Mrs. Brown and Miss Maude Ingersoll, are still too much overcome with sorrow to consider the matter.

"They can not tear themselves from the beloved dead," said Mr. Farrell Sunday night. "They have not left the chamber since he passed away, except to go into an adjoining room when visitors who wished to see him called. They can not reconcile themselves to the idea that they must part with him and all allusions to the removal of the body only cause distressing outbursts of grief. It may be a few days before they are calm enough to discuss the steps that necessarily soon must be taken for the removal of the body."

SIXTH REGIMENT'S VICTORY.

It Was Greater Than at First Reported—Will Have a Salutary Effect on Similar Robber Bands.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The war department Sunday received from Gen. Otis another dispatch giving additional particulars of the fight between Capt. B. A. Byrne, with 70 men of the 6th infantry, and robber bands in the island of Negros. It shows that the victory of the soldiers was greater than that reported in Gen. Otis's dispatch of July 21 and that the loss suffered by the robbers was considerably larger than before stated. Much satisfaction is felt by Gen. Otis over the results of this preliminary effort in dealing with this disturbing element in the island and he reports it already as having a salutary effect on other bands infesting the locality.

The President's Vacation.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—President and Mrs. McKinley will leave here the middle of the coming week for their vacation at Hotel Champlain, three miles from Plattsburg, N. Y. Quarters have been engaged at the hotel and nearly all the details of the trip have been arranged.

The Shamrock at Rothesay.

GREENOCK, July 24.—Sir Thomas Lipton's American cup challenger Shamrock arrived Sunday at Rothesay, Island of Bute.

BRYAN IN CHICAGO.

Talks Against Gold Standard, Trusts and Imperialism.

Urges Chicago Democrats to Stop Factional Strife and Unite—Radicals Kept from Bolting.

At the meeting of the national democratic committee at the Auditorium, Chicago, Thursday the 20th, William J. Bryan succeeded in restoring peace between the warring factions in the local Democracy. In response to the tumultuous demand addressed the meeting as follows:

"Mr. Chairman and Ladies and Gentlemen: I am not going to trespass long upon your time. [Cries of 'Louder' and laughter.] You have already listened for as long a time as you are accustomed to attend a meeting, and it would not be proper for me to enter at any great length upon any of the questions which are now before the public. I am somewhat embarrassed in speaking in Chicago, because the advocates of the Chicago platform are divided into two kinds, and it is not my business to employ the secret service to ascertain what democrats are the firmest believers in the party's creed. All Chicago platform democrats 'look alike to me,' and my aim is not to drive out of the democratic party any professed believers in the Chicago platform, but to so impress upon all democrats the importance of the principles at stake that all local differences will be forgotten in the determination to carry this government back to the foundations laid by our fathers.

"When Lincoln was appealing to the people of the country in 1858 he gave utterance to a sentiment that must be the sentiment of every one who realizes the magnitude of the struggle in which we are engaged. After paying a tribute to the founders of the country and to the declaration of independence, he used these words:

"'I charge you to drop every paltry and insignificant thought for any man's success; it is nothing; I am nothing; Judge Douglas is nothing; but do not destroy that immortal emblem of humanity, the declaration of American independence.'

"So in this country to-day we find some discussing persons, some discussing whether this man or that man or some other man is the best representative of democratic doctrine. I appeal to you as Lincoln did, to drop every paltry thought about any man and think only of the principles enunciated by the democratic party in 1896, principles that carry us back to the landmarks of the constitution. We are interested first in writing a platform, and we want a platform that fits the democratic party, a platform written like the last platform, not by party bosses, but by the voters of the democratic party. When we get a platform drawn by the democratic party it will be easy enough to find in state and nation candidates who fit the platform, but it is not necessary to have a man, and no man is fit to be a leader when he is wanted to lead who is not fit to be a follower when some one else is wanted to lead.

"In the brief time that I shall occupy your attention I desire to crowd into a few propositions as arguments on three subjects. I need not tell you that the democratic platform of 1896 will be reaffirmed as the first plank of the democracy of 1900. Occasionally some one talks about getting off of that platform, but upon investigation it is generally found that the man who wants to get off of it was never, in fact, upon the platform. The people who made the fight and who by winning the fight saved the democratic party in 1896 are still firm in the faith, and there is only one plank in that platform of which I shall speak to-night, and that is the one plank toward which most of the criticism is directed.

"I would defend every plank assailed. But there are some who say that if we will just drop the money question that we will make it easy for those who left us to come back. The fight in 1896 was won on the money question. It was the money question expressed in the Chicago platform that afforded us the means of distinguishing the believer in bimetallism from the believer in the gold standard. And if they tell you to-day that events have vindicated the gold standard you can answer them first, that when Mr. McKinley sent a commission all the way to Europe to get rid of the gold standard he admitted that we were right in 1896 when he said the gold standard was not satisfactory. Some of you may be so prejudiced that you decry success. If they tell you that the discovery of gold in the Klondike and the importation of gold from abroad has given us more money and events have vindicated you can reply to them that when they say that they confess the truth of the quantitative theory of money, and you can add that if a little gold from the Klondike or a little gold from Europe is able to make a little better times, that if we would open the mints to the people we could as well as gold and take the money out of our own mountains and have our own money to-day at all times, we could have great deal better times and relieve the English colonies of gold from the Klondike or from our exports. You can remind them that when we were discussing the silver question, and our ability to maintain the parity, they said that because of an increasing production of silver we could not keep the metals together. If that argument was of weight when they made it, we can now say that an increasing production of gold makes it easier now to keep the metals together than it used to be when they found fault with us. But this is an old question, and one about which we have talked many times.

"There is another question, half new and half old. The trust question that was in the campaign of 1896, enough to get all the trusts onto the other side, and yet not enough to make the people understand what the trust question means. And even now you will find people who say that the republican party is doing all that it can do. Why, the trust is so bad and so indefensible that even in Ohio, in a state convention controlled by Mr. Hanna, they had to adopt a resolution declaring trusts to be bad, and when that convention condemns the trusts, who in all the world will dare defend the trusts? [Great applause.] The trust is bad because of the monopoly feature. When a few people control a product necessary to human existence, then those few control to a large extent the lives and the happiness of all who produce those articles, all who work in producing, and all who furnish the raw material used in its manufacture. And can we afford to build up in this nation a system by which a few shall transmit wealth from generation to generation, where the masses can only hope for a clerkship under some trust? And if they say that there is no way to stop the trusts, that the republicans are doing all they can, remember that it is within the power of the president to appoint an attorney general who will enforce the law against trusts even if he has to go out of the republican party to get the attorney general. And if the law upon the statute books is insufficient, it is within the power of the attorney general to propose laws which are sufficient, and if the constitution stands in the way it is within the power of the attorney general to recommend an amendment to the constitution which will give to congress plenary power to deal with this subject. But the republican party is powerless to annihilate the trusts so long as the trusts furnish the money to keep the republican party in power—[applause]—so that the administration has it in its power to extinguish the trusts, if it so desires.

"When we come to the Philippine question again they say: 'What can the administration do?' There were two months between the signing of the treaty and the breaking out of hostilities—two months lacking six days—and when we asked them what they were going to do, they said they hadn't had time to decide what to do—not time to decide what to do. Why, there are but two sources of government, force and consent. Monarchies are founded upon force, republics upon consent. Our declaration of independence declares that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. Is that doctrine true or is it false? If it is false, how long ought it to take us to decide what to do in the Philippines? We recognized the truth of that declaration when we went to war with Spain. We said the people of Cuba are entitled to be free. Why? Because they live near us? No. Because they are part Spanish? No. They were and of right ought to be free because they wanted to be free, and government come up from the people.—[Applause.] If they were and of right ought to be free, who can draw a line between them and the people of the Philippines? Where is the philosophy that entitles one to liberty and another to vassalage? You say you don't know what to do.—[Applause.] If you find a pocketbook, and on it the name of the owner, do you have to count the money in the pocketbook before you know what to do with the pocketbook?

"If the doctrine set forth in the declaration of independence is sound, then we cannot rightfully acquire title by conquest. If the doctrine set forth in the declaration of independence is sound, we cannot rightfully purchase 8,000,000 of people at $2 apiece from an absolute monarch, whose rebellious subjects we ourselves armed to fight against their monarch. There is a principle involved, and when the principle is once understood its application is not difficult and if the people of the Philippine islands are and of right ought to be free, then this nation should without one moment's delay announce to those people that we are there as friends and not as enemies to establish a government, which shall be their government and not our government when it is established. Not only ought we to do that now; we ought to have done it in the beginning, and if the promise made to Cuba had been made to the Filipinos not one drop of blood would have been shed in the Philippine islands. And we could be sending school teachers to Manila to teach them instead of soldiers to tell them that the declaration was a lie. The Filipinos came into our hands by accident of war and, coming into our hands, they must be dealt with according to American principles and not according to European principles.

"They say that if we were to give those people their independence other nations of Europe would laugh at us. Are we afraid to be laughed at? Why, more than a hundred years ago, when there were but three millions of people in this country, our forefathers dared to give to the world a declaration of which the people of the old world laughed, but for which our people fought. When the framers of the declaration of independence wrote among the self-evident truths that 'all men are created equal, endowed with inalienable rights, that governments are instituted among men to secure these rights, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed,' the people of the old world laughed. But they didn't laugh long, because our forefathers maintained their declaration, and for more than a century this republic has been the most potent factor in all the world in influencing the destiny of the human race. [Applause.] Shall we be ashamed to admit now that we believe in the declaration of independence? I repeat that we must deal with these people according to American principles. They desire their independence. Let us say to them, as we said to Cuba, stand up, be free, and then to all the world say hands off, and let every republic live.

"Tell me that we don't know what to do? All we have to do is to read our nation's history to watch the nation as it traveled the pathway to lead from the little name of might to the lofty name of right, and when you can tell what this nation must do if it is true to its past. You have in your city a poet who has written the best poem on the Philippine question, Dr. Taylor has expounded into a concrete more philosophy as well as poetry, more philosophy than you will find in a whole speech on the side of imperialism, and if he never does anything else he has done enough in this writing of this one poem to give him a claim to the consideration of his fellow citizens in riotous living. This nation is not ready to turn back and with trembling voice ask to be classed among the hired mercenaries of tyranny. This nation has not sinned against heaven, and God grant that the crowned heads of the old world may never have occasion to kill the fatted calf to celebrate the return of this race from independence back to the creed of Cain. What should the democratic party do? Just what it has been one thing it can do. Sometimes I hear the people say if the party is not careful about this question of imperialism it is going to lose votes. My friends, at the next election of independence is repealed there will never more be a democratic party in this country or a work for one. Our faith is built upon it, and we can turn our backs upon the teachings of the fathers. Every wrong to be righted finds its inspiration in that declaration. We ask for a single reform without showing that if all we ask conforms to the principles of the declaration of independence. And so the democratic party must be true to the foundation principles of this government. It believes in the independence of the individual in industry, and says to the trust: 'You shall not crush in the life of the struggling manhood of this country.' It believes in the independence of the financial world, and says to the foreign financier: 'You cannot make the policy for 70,000,000 of American citizens.' It believes in the doctrine of liberty and independence everywhere. It is ready to plead for the right of people to govern themselves, although they differ from us in color and in race and in religion. We are standing for them. We are pleading for the safety of our own institutions. Lincoln said that the safety of this nation was not in its army or its navy, but in the spirit of liberty, in the spirit that prizes liberty as the heritage of all men in all lands everywhere, and he said that if we destroy this spirit of liberty we plant the seeds of despotism at our own doors.

"You ask me why the democratic party believes in giving independence to the Filipinos. I reply, because we cannot destroy self-government in the orient without endangering self-government in the United States. It is not for the Filipinos that we plead. It is for 70,000,000 of people, the greatest in the world, and yet a people not great enough to do harm to the humblest people in all the world. We are preparing for the campaign of 1900. The national committee met to-day and prepared for its work. We are going out to fight. You ask me whether we are going to win. I tell you I believe we ought to win, and there is no way upon which you can predict success except to deserve success. [Applause.] We are not going to ask: 'Is this thing popular?' or 'Is the other thing popular.' We are going to ask: 'Is this thing right?' And if this thing is right, the democratic party would rather go down as the champion of the right than to win as the champion of the wrong.

"Don't be afraid of defeat. I can speak from experience, and having met face to face a large number of those who were kind enough and generous enough to give me their support in 1896, I can say to you without flattery that, having seen them, I would rather go down with them to eternal defeat than be president and have to ask England what to do for my country."

NEWS ITEMS.

Don Carlos, the Spanish pretender, has left Venice, ostensibly for Austria.

Officers of the United States cruiser Newark will visit Arequipa, Peru, and, if time permits, will go to Lake Titicaca, nearly 12,000 feet above sea level.

Assistant Secretary Taylor has directed that the salaries of 31 immigration inspectors be raised from $4.00 to $5.00 a day to correspond with the salaries of oil inspectors.

The bicycle races, including the match race between Zald and Zimmerman, which were to be held at Vallsburg, N. J., Sunday, were postponed to next Sunday on account of rain.

All Colombia Thursday celebrated the 89th anniversary of the country's independence. The public offices at Colon were closed and all business was suspended in honor of the occasion.

The sailing of the transport Tartar has been postponed until Sunday. The Ohio and Newport will be ready to sail next Tuesday with recruits and two battalions each of the 19th infantry.

One of the boilers of the Austrian torpedo boat Adler exploded Sunday while the vessel was off the island of Torcola, in the Adriatic sea, killing a lieutenant and four members of the crew.

Rr. Adm. Sir Frederick George Dedham Bedford, commander-in-chief of the British North American and West Indian station, sailed from St. Johns, N. F., with his fleet Thursday morning for Halifax.

The street railway men's strike in Brooklyn is a thing of the past. The time schedules of the various surface railroads are Saturday practically restored and maintained throughout the city and subnrbs.

The business part of Phenix City, Ala., just across the Chattahoochee river from Columbus, Ga., was destroyed by fire Sunday night. Loss $75,000. Three negroes have been arrested on suspicihn of having started the fire.

Breweries having an annual capacity of 10,000,000 barrels are to be controlled by a syndicate, to be formed in the east, having millions of capital behind it, and this syndicate practically will control the beer trade of the United States.

The home correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "Masegani's hymn in honor of Adm. Dewey was performed at Pesar on Sunday for the first time before an audience of 2,000 persons. It was greatly appreciated and is considered one of the finest hymns Masegani has written."

President Diaz, of Mexico, and his cabinet will be formally invited to attend the ceremonies of the laying of the corner stone of the new federal building in Chicago on October 9, by a committee of representative Chicago men who leave this city for that purpose August 5.

At Buffalo, N. Y., the police allowed but one inning of the Buffalo-Minneapolis game to be played Sunday. Then the 18 players were arrested, taken to the police station and bailed out by President Franklin, of the home club. No attempt was made to resume the game.

The 400 coal miners working for the J. M. Durkee Coal Co., who went on strike Friday because it was supposed Durkee was selling coal to one of the striking coal companies to fill their contracts, have returned to work. Durkee affirmed that he has not sold any coal to the offending company.

George Cully, a Negro, was hanged in the United States jail yard at Muscogee, I. T., Friday for killing Dick Carr, a white man, 18 miles west of here, on September, 1897. He was baptized Sunday by a Negro Baptist preacher. Cully was a coal black Creek Negro, 28 years old. He murdered Carr to rob him.

After a terrific struggle in the surf, "Jack" Hogan, a life saver at Fire Island beach, Fire Island, N. Y., lost his life in attempting to rescue Adelbert G. Hubert, a newspaper correspondent, from drowning. Howard Bayliss, of Cranford, N. J., almost lost his life while assisting Hogan. He, too, risked his life freely to save that of a stranger.

The dowager empress has left St. Petersburg for Batoum to meet the body of the late Grand Duke George. Her majesty was accompanied by the Grand Duchess Xenia and the Grand Duke Michael, brother and sister of the deceased; also by the Grand Duke Alexandria Mikhalovich. Mlle. Catherine Ojeroff, maid of honor, and a numerous suite.

Frank Embree, the Negro charged with assaulting 14-year-old Miss Dougherty near Benton, Howard county, Mo., a few weeks ago, was taken from the jail at Mexico, Mo., Saturday and while en route to Fayette, to be tried for his crime, he was taken from the officers by a mob at Steinmetz, and hanged to a tree. The Negro denied his guilt.

Advices received announce that the town of Dobejhi, in the government of Volhynia, Russia, has been destroyed by fire. Seven persons lost their lives in the conflagration and the surviving inhabitants have been rendered destitute.

At Salt Lake, Utah, Judge Morrill Thursday imposed a fine of $100 upon Angus M. Cannon, the defendant having by his attorney on Tuesday last pleaded guilty to the charge of unlawful cohabitation. Mr. Cannon was not present in court but was represented by his attorney.

KENTUCKY CROP REPORT.

Condition of Crops and Live Stock July 1, 1899.

Reports received this month from 155 correspondents representing 104 counties.

WHEAT.—Winter wheat harvest is over and threshing has begun in many of the States in the winter wheat belt. So far reports from threshers bear out our predictions of a decreased yield and it is safe to say total yield of winter wheat will fall short of ante harvest estimates.

In Ohio threshing develops, with few exceptions, a light yield with quality good. In Indiana the yield is falling far short of previous estimates and the quality is generally poor. Threshing has not begun in Michigan, but former estimates of a poor crop will be borne out with quality generally poor. Missouri crop is much below an average in quantity, and quality not fully reported. Kansas crop is a poor one with many acres not harvested.

Spring wheat is from two to three weeks late with prospects favorable for a full yield on an average acreage.

Threshing in this State was well under way at close of the month. The yield is light as previously indicated, and, generally speaking, results are short of expectations. A few early crops that escaped damage from fly and rust are yielding well. The quality is superior as a rule. The average yield per acre is 8.2 bushels. For the past three years the estimated average yield per acre was, for 1898, 13 bushels; 1897, 12 bushels; 1896, 6⅔ bushels. By sections the average yield, is, for western, 7 2 bushels; central, 10.2; southeastern, 7 bushels.

CORN.—The corn crop is very uneven in appearance. Early corn is laid by in good condition and some of it is silking and tasseling. Medium early corn is not so promising, is somewhat ragged as to stand and is suffering injury from insects. Chinch bugs are present in a number of counties but the damage is confined to cornfields adjacent to fields of wheat. There is a considerable acreage of very late corn as result of failure to secure a stand and the planting of abandoned tobacco fields to corn. Cultivation was retarded early in season but later was pushed vigorously. Corn is now clean but the excessive cultivation necessary to clear it of weeds has left it in poor condition to withstand the dry weather now prevalent, except in sections that have been relieved by local showers. The condition averages 83, a loss of one point since June 1st. The average condition on this date for the past two years were: 1898, 96; 1897, 87. The condition by sections shows as follows: Western 82, central 83, and southeastern 84.

TOBACCO.—The acreage of tobacco is estimated at 83 per cent. of the acreage of 1899. A full acreage was planted but the damage by grasshoppers has materially affected the acreage. The destruction wrought by these insects this year is something unknown in the history of tobacco growing in the State. Early tobacco escaped damage, but late has suffered severely, many crops being set the third time. A majority gave up after the second trial and planted to corn or peas. By sections the acreage shows, for western 82 per cent. of 1898 acreage, and for central 86 per cent. The southeastern section grows comparatively little tobacco. The condition compared with average years is 79. The condition as of this date for past three years was, for 1898, 92; 1897, 68; 1896, 92. Late set tobacco is suffering greatly for lack of moisture. Worms are reported plentiful in a number of counties.

The condition of oats has improved from 82 on June 1st to 85 July 1st, and now promises a good yield yer acre. The straw is short but heads fine length and well filled.

The number of acres of clover cut compared with 1898, is 87. The quality is affected by the presence of an unusual amount of "white blossom." With exception of some damage by rain to early cut clover, it was saved in good condition.

Timothy meadows are in poor condition, being filled with "white blossom" and other weeds. Pastures are beginning to suffer from dry weather, and the condition is now 98 as compared with average years.

Fruit prospects have declined as the season advanced. Pears have still a fair per cent. of fruit remaining. Apples have dropped badly, and the outlook at present is for half crop. Early apples are ripe but inferior in quality.

LUCAS MOORE,
Commissioder of Agriculture.

[Lawrenceburg, Ind., Register.]

William Bently, the only son of Widow Bently, living in Greenville died Wednesday at 6 a m. as the result of a blow with a club wielded by David Pearson. Tuesday morning young Bently, a well behaved, inoffensive young man of 18 years, in company with several other boys, went blackberrying in the vicinity of sugar Grove church near Bright on the State line road. David Pearson an old man about 64 years of age, owner of a small farm in that locality, had been annoyed by berry hunters, and meeting young Bently with a bucket full of berries, and supposing that they came from his land, he demanded that they be turned over to him. Instead of so doing the young man poured the berries upon the ground and attempted to make his escape from the enraged farmer. As he did so Pearson rushed up with a club and dealt the boy a furious blow over the head, knocking him down. ——panions by this time came to the rescue and brought the unfortunate boy home unconscious. Physicians were summoned and discovered that while the skull had not been fractured the blow from the club had resulted in such a severe concussion of the brain that the young man's life was in serious danger. He died Wednesday morning without having regained consciousness. The murderer is in jail in default of $3,000 bail.

FROM OWEN COUNTY.

[News]

The new Methodist church at Cleveland, will be dedicated the fifth Sunday in July.

Newton Simpson, of the Lusby's Mill district, has bought over 700 lambs this season, at 5 cents per pound, and is still buying.

A divorce was granted to Mr. G. R. Duvall in the Owen Circuit Court last week from his wife Erba T. Duvall. This is the third divorce given the defendant before she was 24 years of age.

A large tobacco barn on the farm of the widow Barnes, on South Fork, was completely demolished by the severe wind storm Sunday evening, some of the boards and plank blowing a distance of one half mile. The residents in that neighborhood say it was the strongest wind storm they had seen for years but no further damage was done.

Sixteen years ago, at this place, Geo. Beaty severely chastised Sherman Fortner with a wagon whip. Fortner was only a youth and Beaty was a man. Fortner swore vengance, and last Saturday night he tackeled Beaty, who has recently returned to Owenton after an absence of many years. Fortner threw a rock striking him in the head. The rock glanced and broke a large glass window in the New Art saloon. No arrests were made as Fortner immediately left town.

A CARD.

Our opponents in this controversy remind us of the fellow who caught a bear by the tail, then finding that he was in a fix called for someone to come and help him let go. We are also reminded of a sad Bible story: Peter thought that he had gotten into a close place on one occasion and human nature suggested that the only way out of it was to deny his leader. Human nature is about the same to day. If there is no other way out of the difficulty, some will even dare to repudiate acknowledged leaders. Bro. Lentz is a striking illustration of this. I have the highest regard for him as a christian minister, but can see, that, like the rest of us poor mortals, he is some times influenced by the weakness of the flesh.

I proved that Lutherans taught the doctrine of consubstantiation by the language of the "Augsburg Confession of Faith" as defined by the great lexicographer (not theologian,) Noah Webster. Now, to get out of the dilemma, Bro. Lentz has discarded Webster because he is not "up to date." I will now introduce another, viz: Martin Luther. After Luther had formulated this new doctrine he states it in the form of a question with its answer.

Question—"What is now the sacrament of the altar?"

Ans.—"It is the true body and blood of the Lord Christ, in and under the bread and wine, which we christians are, through Christ's word, commanded to eat and drink. But how the body is in the bread we know not."

Up to this time the word consubstantiation was not in existence, and it is a fact of history that Luther invented the term "consubstantiation" and applied it to his new doctrine in contradistinction to the term transubstantiation. It is also a fact in history that Luther defended this position in a controversy with Zwingli. Now there is still a way for Bro. Lentz to get out of this difficulty and that is by rejecting Luther as a standard on the ground, that he is "not up to date." But will he do it? It is a fact that somebody holds to this view; if not Lutherans, who is it?

As to the second point, perhaps I had better profit by the manly example of Bro. Lentz and say that I did not mean to misrepresent the Presbyterian view. It was on the recommendation of a good Presbyterian brother that I bought Dr. Barnes' Commentary, and thinking that he was reliable, I quoted him in proof of my statement. But if he is "not up to date" I beg pardon for introducing a heretic as a witness. Bro. Lentz, no doubt, expects a vote of thanks from the Presbyterians for his able (?) defense of their views. The fact remains, however, that the only way to refute my argument was to impeach my distinguished witnesses.

Just a word in defense of Bro. Hoover. He stated that Zwingli and Calvin founded the Presbyterian church A. D. 1516-30, in Switzerland. It must have been a mistake of the reporter in making him say 1516. With kindest regards for all my christian brethren, who differ from me, I remain

Adv. Fraternally, T. L. UTZ.

In the last few years several new weeds have appeared and are annoying the farmers considerably. It is generally believed that they are brought to this part of the country in the grass seed that is bought and sowed here.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Flickertown.

Tobacco worms are plentiful and have lots of good tobacco to eat.

Egbert Nichols and his little 3-year-old girl were on the sick list, last week.

Ethel Sebree, Maud Jarrel and Les Sebree went to Vevay on the Workum, last Thursday.

Some of the young folks of this neighborhood attended church at Believue nearly every night, last week.

Marshall Terrill and Alf Chambers attended a moonlight picnic at Independence, last Saturday night.

Lystra Smith pulled a radish, last week, that measured 18 inches in length and 14inches in circumference. He has another in his garden that is still larger.

Harry Passons is the champion potato raiser of this neighborhood. His vines are so large that birds are building in them, and potatoes are in proportion to the vines.

The colored folks had a picnic up on Asbby, just above Hiram Early's, last Saturday evening. They danced until nearly daylight Sunday morning when they departed for their homes a happy lot of coons.

The many friends of Geo. Weludel are glad to hear that he is so well pleased in Uncle Saul's service, and we think it would be a good thing for some of the young men in this neighborhood if they would follow his example.

Pith of the Press.

Mr. McKinley has received thirteen LLD's.—Minneapolis Journal.

The "round robin" cured Otis' case of lockjaw, but he will have a relapse.—Kansas City Times.

Peace has its victories; but that kind of peace bulletined by General Otis hasn't.—Detroit Tribune.

If the Administration is determined to rid itself of Alger, Hanna will find the way.—Canton (Ohio) Democrat.

It will be rough sledding even for the very elect if Hon. William McKinley decides to introduce in the United States those methods, which he indorses in the Philippines.—Chicago Chronicle.

Order of Reference.

Boone Circuit Court.

E. W. Weaver's Adm'r, Pltf.
vs. | Order of Reference.
E. W. Weaver's heirs, &c., Defts.

This cause is now referred to J. W. Duncan, Master Commissioner of said court, under section 431, Civil Code of Practice, with the following instructions:

1st. The Master will audit and settle the accounts of the administrator.

2nd. He will ascertain the amount of debts found against decedent's estate, and report same.

3d. He will ascertain the number of acres of land, location and value of same owned by decedent at the time of his death.

4th. He will give due notice of his sittings, and report at the next term of this court.

Witness my hand as clerk of said court, this July 24th, 1899

J. W. DUNCAN, Clerk B. C. C.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will begin his sittings on the 1st day of August, 1899, at the Circuit Clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., to hear proof in the above styled cause, and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 12th day of Aug., 1899. All persons having claims against said estate will present them to me properly proven according to law.

J. W. DUNCAN, Master Com'r.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

A. E. Gorman's Adm'r., Pltf.
against | Equity.
R. A. DeMolsey, &c. Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the April term thereof, 1899, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the court-douse door in Burlington, Boone County, Ky., to the highest bidder at public auction, on

Monday, August 7th, 1899,

at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabout, being county court day, upon a credit of 6, and 12 months, the following described property, to-wit:

Three small parcels of land lying in the town of Walton, Boone county, Ky., bounded thus: Beginning at a stone on the east side of the Covington & Lexington Turnpike road, corner to John Fink, and running with said line north 40 feet to a stone, corner to John Fink; thence 60 feet with Conner's line to a stone in said line; thence south 40 feet with another line of said Conner to a stone in said Fink's line; thence with said line west 60 feet to the beginning, containing 2400 square feet more or less.

Also, the following tract of land, being 3½ feet front to the Covington and Lexington Turnpike road between the premises now owned and occupied by the parties hereto, respectively, being about 30 feet in depth.

Also, the following tract of land: Beginning at the n. e. corner of said Conner and DeMolsey, and thence parallel with the line of said Conner and DeMolsey about 45 feet to the railroad; thence along the line of said railroad about 45½ feet; thence along the line of said Conner and John Fink about 45 feet; thence to the place of beginning.

All of the foregoing described property will be sold subject to the life estate of E. J. Gorman and subject to the homestead right of the said Gorman and the infant children of A. E. Gorman, Eugene DeMolsey, Ernest DeMolsey, Rivolet DeMolsey and Hazel Gorman, respectively, until the youngest of the infants become of age.

For the purchase price the purchaser, with approved security or securities, must execute bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained thereon until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms Amount to be raised by sale, $896.53.

J. W. DUNCAN, M. C. B. C. C.

STATE DIRECTORY.

Governor—W. O. Bradley.
Lieutenant Governor—W. J. Worthington.
Secretary of State—Charles Finley.
Assistant Secretary of State—S. D. Guffy.
Attorney General—W. S. Taylor.
Auditor—Samuel H. Stone.
Assistant Auditor—Frank Johnson.
Treasurer—George M. Long.
Sup't of Public Instruction—Geo. M. Davidson.
Register Land Office—Charles O. Reynolds.
Deputies—Stanley D. Brown, Sam S. Shepherd.
Insurance Commissioner—Sam Stone.
Adjutant General—D. R. Collier.
Assistant—Walter Forrester.
Supt. Arsenal—Capt. David O'Connell.
State Inspector—C. M. Lester.
Commissioner Agriculture—Lucas Moore.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Chief Justice—Joseph Lewis. Judges—Geo. Durelle, J. R. Grace, T. H. Paynter, B. L. D. Guffy, J. H. Hazelrigg, J. H. Lewis.
Reporter—E. W. Hines. Clerk—S. Addams.
Sergeant—W. S. B. Hill. Tipstaff—C. C. Turner.
Librarian—Miss Pauline Hardin.
Inspector of Mines—C. J. Norwood.

STATE PRISON OFFICIALS:

Frankfort Prison—Warden, Henry George; Deputy Warden, M. A. Rooney.
Eddyville Prison—Warden, L. C. Curry; Deputy Warden, Ward Linn.

RAILROAD COMMISSION:

John C. Wood, Chairman; J. P. Dempsey, H. S. Irwin. Secretary—Samuel Brown.

COUNTY DIRECTORY.

County Judge—C. C. Roberts.
County Clerk—B. W. Adams.
County Attorney—J. M. Lassing.
Sheriff—Elmer Beall.
Deputy Sheriff—B. B. Allphin, jr.
Jailer—T. A. Adams.
Assessor—T. G. Willis.
Coroner—A. A. Murat.
Superintendent Schools—L. H. Voshell.
Surveyor—W. E. Vest.

Fiscal Court meets Tuesday after first Monday in January, April, July and October.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge—John W. Green.
Clerk—J. W. Duncan.
Commonwealth's Attorney—M. D. Gray.
Master Commissioner—J. H. Berkshire.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

Courts are held in the months of March, June, September and December, as follows:

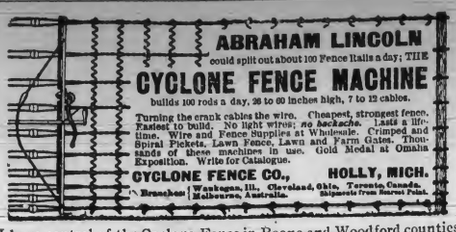
District No 1.—Clinton Gaines, fourth Saturday; J. T. Grant, Constable.
District No. 2.—M. B. Green, first Saturday; Constable.
District No. 3.—B. H. Ryle, Wednesday after third Monday; J. W. Aylor, Constable.
District No. 4.—John S. Cowell, Thursday after second Monday; Constable.
District No. 5.—J. C. Byland, Third Monday; J. H. Watson, Constable.
District No. 6.—J. H. Walton, third Saturday; T. I. Brown, jr., Constable.

J. T. MARSHALL,
SALESMAN FOR
F. W. KASSEBAUM & SON,
Manufacturers and Dealers in
Granite and Marble Monuments.
GRANT P. O., KENTUCKY.

Consign your Stock to
Rabenstein, Harris & Conner,
—Live Stock—
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
COVINGTON STOCK YARDS,
Covington, Ky.,
OR UNION STOCK YARDS,
Cincinnati, Ohio.
When shipping East bill our care privilege selling Central Covington Stock Yards.
We will make it to your advantage and give your stock special personal attention.

Helms' ~ Barber ~ Shop,
PETERSBURG, KY.
Hair cut 15c, on Saturday 20c; Shave 10c; Shampoo 15c; Sea Foam 5c; Hair Stuge 5c; Beard—Trim 5c; other work proportionally as low in price. Ladies' and children's work a specialty. ☞All work guaranteed satisfactory or money refunded. Hair Oils, Tonics, Perfume, etc., for sale. Thanking all for past favors, I remain, &c.,
EVERETT HELMS, Prop.

LADIES—To the ladies that have not paid us a call, will say, that Thursday is conceded to be their day. Ladies Shampoo 25c; Sea Foam 15c; Bangs trimmed 10c. Hair dressed for special occasions a specialty, at reasonable rates. Courteous treatment is our motto. Give us a call.



SIXTH YEAR OF
Walton :-: Academy
—OPENS—
First Monday in September.
First-class instruction in all Common School Branches.
Higher Arithmetic, Elementary and Higher Algebra, Book-Keeping, Plain and Solid Geometry, History, Rhetoric and Literature, Physiology, Geography, Physics, Astronomy, Logic and Phychology. Latin includes Cesar, Cicero, Nepos, Virgil. Greek including Beginners, Greek and Xenophon.

Terms:—Tuition and Board in the building, five days in the week, under the care of the teacher, $105.75, for nine months; Board the full week or Music $18.50 additional for the full term.

Mrs. S. H. MYERS, Prin.

For Rent or Sale.
My farm of 113 acres of well watered, well fenced, good cultivating land. Large dwelling, tenement house and good tobacco barn on place. Seventy-five acres can be sown in wheat in the fall; 12 acres of uncleared woodland. Farm situated on L. & N. Railroad, 1½ miles from Verona, Boone county, Ky. For terms address,
MRS. J. T. BROCK,
416 E. Main St., Lexington, Ky.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

I have control of the Cyclone Fence in Boone and Woodford counties. I will build the fence or sell machines to farmers that they may build their own fences. It is the cheapest and best fence that can be built. Address G. CARTER GRADDY, BULLITTSVILLE, KY.

DR. A. P. WALTON,
DENTIST,
CINCINNATI,
The Lancaster Building 22 W. 7th, Bet. Vine and Race.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.

E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
EDGAR CROPPER, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. K. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

CORNER
Drug Store
Rising Sun, Ind.
Is the place for anything in the Drug Line.
WALL PAPER, PAINTS, WINDOW SHADES.
STATIONERY,
PERFUMES,
FANCY GOODS, &c.
B. F. BUCHANAN,
—DRUGGIST,—
Over thirty year's experience.

FARMERS
Take Notice!
If you want good
Fertilizer
PLEASE GIVE
B. F. ZIMMER
A CALL.
He will try to please you. He has the finest line of Fertilizer for 1899 he has ever handled. Write for particulars to
CONSTANCE, KY.

Central Covington Stock Yards,
COVINGTON, KY.
Are located so as to offer special inducements to shippers South of the Ohio river in saving them extra expense and time. In addition to the local buyers there will be Eastern and foreign buyers on the market for all kinds of stock. When shipping East, don't fail to consign our care privilege selling which will be of beuefit to you.
Central Covington Stock Yards Co.
Commission firms will give prompt attention to consignments.

FRANK HOSSMAN,
Hebron, Ky.,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
—Also handles all—
KINDS OF ROOFING.
Which is furnished and put on at the Lowest Prices consistent with good work.
I am prepared for moving buildins.
Your Work is Solicited.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.
Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect Dec. 6th, 1898.

P. M.	A. M.		A. M.	P. M.
4.00	8.30	lv Cincinnati ar	10.05	6.00
4.15	7.04	" Ludlow lv	9.55	5.50
4.30	7.18	" Erlanger lv	9.36	5.27
5 18	8.25	Williamstown "	8.45	4.25
5.35	8.49	" Corluth "	8.25	4.03
6.17	10.28	" Georgetw'n "	7.50	3.19
6.39	10.50	ar Stam'g Gro'nd	7.28	1.55
7.10	11.20	" Frankfort "	7.00	1.00

JOS. R. NEWTON, G. P. A.,
Frankfort, Ky.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him. mch22-93.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
☞All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 20,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN $50,000
SURPLUS, ... $ 3,000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
Artificial Dentures, Crown and Bridge Work to represent natural organs.
☞Will be in office at Union every Monday.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

JOHN L. VEST,
SURVEYOR
WALTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of work south of Burlington, Ky. Prompt attention given to all mail orders.

Executor's Notice.

All persons indebted to the estate of L. B. Stephens, deceased, are hereby notified to come forward and settle same; those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned proven according to law.

J. D. FRAZIER,
L. D. SHOUSE, Executors.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 2, 1899. NO. 41.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

J. W. C. Beckham, Democratic nominee for Lieutenant-Governor, will speak in the court house in Burlington, next Monday at 2 o'clock p. m.

In another column will be found Mr. Bryan's letter endorsing the Democratic ticket in this State.

In 1896 a large number of Democrats conceived the idea that it was their duty to save the Democratic party by bolting W. J. Bryan and the national platform, and as a result they sent the party down the toboggin to overwhelming defeat. This year in Kentucky a portion of the same crowd, reinforced by some others, has decided to engage in the business of saving the party again, with no prospect of electing anybody by their vote, but contributing largely to Republican success.

The following is from what is given out as an interview with Congressman Berry in Washington, D. C., July 14, and is both significant and suggestive, indicating that the Colonel is taking more interest in the Gubernatorial campaign than he did in one that might be mentioned if necessary:

"I think Bryan will do well to keep his nose out of Kentucky affairs or he may lose the State. Carlisle thought he could run Kentucky and got rotten eggs. I don't think they would do that to Bryan, but it is just as well to take warning."

W. J. Bryan in a letter to Urey Woodson, National Democratic Committeeman for Kentucky says:

"I noted with deep regret the bitterness which characterized the contest for the gubernatorial nomination, and studiously avoided saying or doing anything which could be construed as an expression of preference between the candidates, all of whom I know personally, and all of whom were outspoken supporters of the Chicago platform.

"I did not then nor shall I now discuss the relative merits of the candidates; neither am I sufficiently informed upon the facts to sit in judgment upon the conduct of the convention which placed the ticket in the field. The only objection I feel called upon to consider at the time is one urged by a number of friends whose sincerity I cannot doubt, but with whose opinion I cannot agree, namely that the election of Mr. Goebel would endanger the success of the Democratic principles as enunciated in the Chicago platform."

Mr. Bryan then goes on at great length to show Mr. Goebel's loyalty to the Chicago platform and expresses a desire that all Gold Democrats shall return to the party fold provided they will accept the Democratic platform and support candidate pledged to it.

In conclusion he says: "Certainly a victory won upon the platform adopted by the Louisville convention cannot do harm but what shall we say of a defeat? If the Republican state ticket is elected the Republicans in Kentucky and elsewhere will be encouraged and the fight of 1900 made harder. If the Democratic state ticket is defeated a Republican Senator may be elected from Kentucky. The Senator elected by the next Legislature will serve throughout the next Administration.

"What shall it profit us if we elect a President and House of Representatives and have a hostile Senate to obstruct legislation? Silver cannot be overthrown. The imperial policy of the Republican party cannot be brought to an end until the Senate, the House of Representatives and the Executive are all taken out of the hands of the Republican party.

"In answer to those who urge that Mr. Goebel's election would be detrimental to the cause of bimetallism, and to me personally, I deem it my duty to say that I have no personal or political interests that deserve to be considered when Democratic principles are at stake, and that in my judgment the cause of Democracy would be injured by the defeat of a Democratic ticket nominated upon a platform which unqualifiedly indorses the Chicago platform."

TRUE DEMOCRACY.

The Democracy of Kentucky is confronted by a condition which seems to threaten destruction to them, as to the State ticket this fall. It seems to me, as far as I can perceive at present, that a majority of the party are hostile to the head of the ticket, and intend to slaughter it in November, unless it is remodeled. I know of but one precedent of the present case, and that was a county affair in Carroll county, some years ago. In that case a majority of the people in their precinct meetings instructed for Wm. Lindsay to represent the Democracy in the State Legislature. But on the assembling of the delegates in county convention, the people were "tricked," and the nomination given to G. P. Gullion. The people advised Lindsay to make his race independent of the "tricky convention," I myself being one of his advisers. Said I to Mr. Lindsay, "the people who preferred you in their precinct meetings will vote for you in the final election," which they did in about the same proportion as the instructions indicated. Now, I supported Mr. Goebel in our county convention, with the understanding that he was in favor of "the Chicago Platform with Bryan the candidate for President in 1900, and J. C. S. Blackburn for the U. S. Senate." If I was rightly informed every Democrat should support him; but if he is on the Courier-Journal platform, and expects that paper, with its Hanna satellights to lead his fight, every true Democrat should do all in his power to defeat him. I cast my first vote for McLellan in 1864 against Abram Lincoln for President, and have steadfastly voted against Republicanism in every election since, never scratching a Democratic ticket, that was made in a legal Democratic manner. I have nothing to regret as a Democrat.

The wholesale unseating of Hardin delegates in the Louisville convention, with the unkept promise to Stone, in order to secure the organization and there by bulldoze the people through the ruling of the chair, was not a Democratic proceeding, and ought not to be tolerated by a free people. I hope the legal and independent Democracy of the State will see that the people have a ticket to support that is untainted with any of the unfair, Republican, Hanna methods of construction. If we as a party, love anything, it is liberty and freedom, justice right, majority rule, &c. &c. Why, it is these very virtues that has built up the Democratic party and the unheeding of these will disintegrate and destroy the party. We demand, above all other issues the "equality of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1." It is the foundation of our continued existence. All other issues are as "sounding brass and tinkling cymbals" compared to it, and who, better than W. J. Bryan to establish the going of such an independent Government? Away with the Courier-Journal and all of its co-workers, with all that may mean. As I said if Mr. Goebel is in collusion with the enemies of Bryan, Blackburn and the Chicago Platform, I shall not vote for him nor shall I suffer any one else to vote for him who does not know his meaning if I can prevent him doing so. But I will not besmear my record, as a Democrat, by voting for a Republican like many others say they will do. No, under no consideration whatever, will I vote for a Republican. I prefer a defeat of a Courier-Journal ticket by a Republican ticket, for the rebuke of that clan, but I cannot, as a true Democrat, vote that way. There is plenty of time yet. Let true Democrats "reason together," then act. We can elect a Democratic ticket by a safe majority if we act right. We need real patriotism now.

I. CRAIG.

If Mr. Craig will take the pains to inform himself he will discover that the leaders of the move to save the Democratic party by bolting the nominees of the Louisville convention are about the same fellows who attempted, on two other occasions to save the Democratic party in Kentucky, and in 1895 turned it over to W. O. Bradley for Governor, and in 1896 delivered it to McKinley for President. Here is a list of the most prominent leaders of the bolt: W. C. P. Breckinridge, of Lexington, who bolted the Chicago ticket and made the race for Congress on the Republican ticket. Basil W. Duke, of Louisville, the chief attorney of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad in Kentucky. He also bolted the Chicago platform and refused to vote for Bryan, and has not been a Democrat since; W. C. Owens, whose opposition to the principles enunciated by the Chicago platform dropped him out of Congress, and W. M. Beckner, of Clark county, who has never ceased his fight against the Chicago platform. The names of several others of less prominence might be mentioned, but the above constitute the leaders, and if Mr. Craig, or anyother Democrat desires to line up with the anti-Bryan sentiment in Kentucky he will follow the above named leaders as against William J. Bryan, who has written a letter urging the election of Goebel; as against, J. C. S. Blackburn, who is the chairman of the Goebel State campaign committee; as against Judge W. S. Pryor, who says he would rather see Goebel Governor than be Governor himself; as against ex-Congressman Goodnight, and ex-Congressman W. T. Ellis, who are the original free silver men in Kentucky; as against ex-Congressman James B. McCreary, and many other brilliant Democratic leaders in the State. The last above named gentlemen are Democrats who have attended every Democratic State Convention held in Kentucky for years, and some of them have enjoyed victories there gained, and experienced the pangs of defeat there received by the same methods as those resulting in Goebel's nomination, and in no instance did they ever kick out of the traces. Blackburn, Pryor, Goodnight, Ellis, and McCreary are imbued with as much honesty and as great love of justice as Breckinridge, Duke, John Wallen, Harvey Myers W. C. Owens or W. M. Beckner, and they are not rending their raiment because of unparallelled rascality on the part of the Louisville convention. They recognize in the leaders of the bolt their true aim and desire, which is to again turn over in 1900 to the Republicans, Kentucky, which is unmistakably in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of both gold silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

If Kentucky goes Republican this fall it places Democratic success in the national election next fall beyond the pale of possibility, as without Kentucky's electoral vote the Democratic party cannot win, and to commit the party thoroughly to Bryan again, in every speech Goebel made during his canvass, he declared he would not accept the nomination unless the State platform endorsed the Chicago platform and declared for W. J. Bryan for President in 1900. The success of the Democratic ticket this fall means success next fall—its defeat this fall means defeat next fall. The Democratic party has the matter in its own hands.

The Boone County RECORDER will do well to investigate the sources from which it derives its news supply before expressing its opinion regarding Owen County Democrats. Its story about J. W. Gayle being at the Lexington Convention was wholly untrue.—Owen News.

The RECORDER is exceedingly glad to hear that its information in regard to Mr. Gayle was incorrect. It came from anti-Goebel sheet, and likely a great many other statements from the same source are equally as false. The RECORDER copied into its last issue the denial made by the News at the request of Mr. Gayle

SATAN preaching the gospel of Christ would be as consistent as T. F. Hallam or Harvey Myers when delivering such speeches as those they made at Bowling Green on the 24th inst.

THE Chairman of the County Democratic Executive Committee is very desirous that every member of that committee be present at the meeting next Monday, as, besides appoiuiting officers for the primary election, matters pertaining to the State campaign will be considered.

POLITICAL.

J. C. S. Blackburn has been selected as chairman of the Democratic campaign committee, while State Treasurer G. W. Long will act in the same capacity for the Republicans. The campaign will open in about two weeks.

Last Monday was county court day and a good crowd was in Versailles. Very little business, however, of any importance was done on the streets. The principal topic of conversation was the Democratic ticket and its chances of success. The Clipper man found very few bolters. The prospects of the ticket in Woodford county are very gratifying indeed.—Clipper.

There is no comparison between Mr. Goebel and Mr. Taylor, the nominees for Governor, who is a pigmy in intellect beside the nominee of the Louisville convention. Even those who oppose Mr. Goebel must admit that he is one of the most courages and shrewdest men in Kentucky, well educated, a good parliamentarian and a power in politics. — Carrollton Democrat.

The Louisville Post says the Owen county meeting was postponed "on account of disturbances." This is indeed news to our people, who supposed that the meeting was really held and that both sides were given a respectful hearing, and that there was not the slightest disturbance of any kind. Will the Post be fair enough to make this correction?—Owenton Herald.

Harvey Myers says he happened in at the Glasgow meeting. "Happened in" is good. Harvey never happens in unless there is money in sight. The L. & N. are good payers. Harvey happened to be here at the head of a contesting delegation from Kenton county three years ago at the Appellate Judge's Convention. Harvey happened here and the report is that he and his gang took $6,000 or more for their treachery to Goebel at that time. There is method in Harvey's happenings, but the people are getting on to him. His work will fall dead when it becomes known that he is in the employ of the L. & N. Railway.—Brackin Chronicle.

COL. W. C. P. Breckinridge, who deserted the Democratic party and made the race for Congress on the Log Cabin ticket, is chief fugal-man for the anti-Goebelites in Lexington and vicinity. The Colonel has never been recognized as a Democrat in good standing since his break, and it is strange anybody who is acquainted with his political antecedents will heed the advice which he is dishing up through his paper, the Lexington Herald for Democrats. He was a gold bug, and with others of his way of thinking on the money question, is endeavoring to destroy the Democratic party in Kentucky in the interest of the gold standard.

The bolt in Kentucky against the Democratic nominee, Wm. Goebel, is being largely magnified. There is no bolt in Grant county. The Democratic candidate will get the usual Democratic majority. There may be and probably are a few Democrats who will refuse to vote for Mr. Goebel, but they are very scarce. The bolt in this county as compared with the gold bug bolt in 1896 against William Jennings Bryan, is infinitesimal. Bryan carried the county in spite of the bolt 435 over McKinley. Goebel will do equally as well or better. Bryan will stump the State for Mr. Goebel and P. Wat Hardin will do the same. There are no better Democrats than those in Grant county, and when the time comes the opposition will find the boys all in line to be counted.—Williamstown Courier.

The State ticket of the Kentucky Populist is headed by John G. Blair, of Nicholas county. The convention at Lexington rebuked Bryan for giving his indorsement to the Goebel ticket and the Goebel law. Wharton Barker and Ignatius Donnelly were indorsed as a National ticket. The platform is not a great departure from previous Populist platforms, but it declares that the trusts are a more vital issue than "16 to 1." The ticket nominated is: Lieutenant-Governor —W. R. Browder, Logan county; Auditor—Sam Graham, Marshall county; Treasurer—A. H. Cardin, Crittenden county; Secretary State—Ben Keys, Calloway county; Superintendent Public Instruction—John C. Sutherland, of Anderson county; Attorney-General—John T. Bashaw, Louisville. Railroad Commissioners—1st District, R. H. McMullen, Breckinridge county; 2nd District, John H. Reed, Spencer county; 3rd District, W. J. Patrick, Estill county. The convention also nominated G. W. Reeves for United States Senator.

CROP AND STOCK.

Hathaway & Co., of Boston, bought of J. H. Graves, of Fayette county, 330 cattle at $5 per cwt., and 35 at $4,75.

Jay Biod has put more performers in the 2:30 list than any other stallion so far this season—four trotters and two pacers.

The crops in Bracken are looking well, especially those in the north section of the county. The late bountiful rains will make a large increase in the tobacco crop.

J. S. Collins, agent for Hathaway & Co., of Boston, Mass., shipped from Richmond 320 export cattle, averaging 1,250 lbs. They were bought at 4½ and 5 cents.

J. S. Collins, agent for Hathaway & Co., of Boston has closed contracts for 900 export cattle in Fayette, Clark and Garrard counties at 4½ to 5 cents, immediate delivery.

Col. Jno. T. Hughes, of Fayette county, sold to Mr. Alsop, of Pittsburg, Pa., a pair dark brown geldings, sixteen hands high, for $1,000. One of them has a mile record of 2:36.

Last fall Geo. W. Harbor, of Robertson county, bought 15 ewes, paying $52 for them. He has already sold $120 worth of wool and lambs and has the ewes yet and in much better condition than when he bought them.

Lexington Gazette: Fat hogs have been in active demand and are selling readily at $3.75 per hundred. Lambs are in good demand at $3,25 per hundred, but unless it rains they will go begging.

One of the strictly first-class features of the Richmond fair this week, will be the exhibition in the Bankers' Stakes for saddle stallions, mares or geldings. The premium in this ring is $1,000, which makes it the most valuable prize ever offered for horses in Kentucky.

A Clintonville man who is usually very truthful, perpetrates the following: A farmer in our neighborhood recently hired a very inexperienced boy from Paris to help about the place. One morning he told the lad to salt the calf in the pasture. The boy took about a quart of salt and rubbed it all over the calf, working it into the hair. A gang of colts in the pasture scented the salt and got after the calf. They licked the half off the calf's back and tried to lick the hide off, too. The farmer tried to catch the calf and wash it off, but the creature thinking he wanted to lick, too, kept out of his way. The boy, calf and farmer are all unhappy. The colts are the only ones who had any fun out of it.—Paris Reporter.

A New York paper tells the following good story on ex-Senator J. C. S. Blackburn: "Upon one occasion Blackburn and his then colleague, Senator Beck, now dead, spent an evening together. They had with them Conuelly F. Trigg, of Richmond, and John Randolph Tucker, of Virginia. Mr. Tucker was then well advanced in years, and it was decided when the hour for going home arrived that the whole party would take Tucker home. They reached the Tucker residence all right, and were engaged in an animated if somewhat unintelligible discussion in front of the house. Just then a window opened and a female voice exclaimed: This is Mr. Tucker's house. Always courteous, Blackburn took off his hat with one hand, while he clung to the arm of one of his companions with the other, and said: "We know that very well, Mrs. Tucker, but won't you please come down and pick him out."

State News.

Hon. Jas. McKinzie is losing his sight.

Louis McRoberts, a Rowan county farmer, was killed by lightning.

Bill Rose, ringleader of the Jackson county moonshiners, has been captured.

A Lexington man offers $100 reward for the capture of the theif that stole 150 of his spring chickens.

The grand jury at Glasgow returned 162 indictments, all except 13 of them being for the illegal sale of whisky.

James Blaine, of Bourbon county, fainted on the bank of a creek, and fell into the stream and drowned.

While threshing wheat in Marshall county, Orliss Price, a young school teacher, was caught in the cylinder and his legs torn off.

Five ex-Governors of Kentucky are living—Preston H. Leslie, James B. McCreary, J. Proctor Knott, Simon Bolivar Buckner and John Young Brown.

A survey of Main Licking river is being made by the government with the view of determining the practicability of locking and damming that river so as to make it navigable as far as Falmouth.

Mrs. Robert Elkin, aged 103 years, died at her home in Madison county. Her husband, aged 104 years, with a large list of children, grand-children, great, and great-great grand children, survive her.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Davidson has fixed the common school per capita for the coming year at $2.70. The school census shows that there are 719,654 children of school age in the State and the fund to be paid to teachers amounts to $1,943,065,80. The per capita last year was $2.30.

One of our young lawyers had a number of witnesses summoned to try a hopeless case before one of our magistrates, says the Lancaster Record. He made a motion to throw the case out of court. The Squire asked for a second to the motion, when a witness supported it. He put the question and the motion was carried, where-upon he opened the window and threw the papers out of court. This is a new rule in court but it is strictly parliamentary.

An association is being formed in Lexington for the purpose of preventing the killing of birds out of season. Doves are the birds now chiefly sought by the pot hunters and others, but the season does not open until August 1, and it is the purpose of the association to offer $25 reward for the arrest and conviction of anyone killing this or other game out of season. This will be in addition to the fine of $5 for each bird killed or found in the possession of any one—half going to the informer.

When a farmer sells $500 worth of hay he sends away from his farm over $300 worth of fertilizers, and when he sells $500 worth of wheat he disposes of $126 worth of fertilizers. But when he sells $600 worth of dairy products he parts with less than $50 worth of fertilizers. And when he sells $500 worth of fruits he loses less fertilizer than either of the other because fruits are composed largely of actual solids. This shows that the highest priced products rob the farm the least, and is an argument in favor of diversified and intensified farming.

THE Louisville Post is laboring hard booming the Republican candidate for Governor, and Ex-Governor John Young Brown for the nomination of the bolters convention to be held in Lexington, August 30.

Benjamin Finnell, of Morningview, Kenton county, was killed, last Sunday. His son-in-law, Austin Stephens, with whom he had had considerable trouble, is suspicioned of being the assassin. The murdered man was a son of the late Thomas Finnell, of the Mudlick neighborhood, this county. The burial took place at Big Bone church, yesterday.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, : : KENTUCKY.

AUGUST—1899.

Sun.	Mon.	Tue.	Wed.	Thur.	Fri.	Sat.
....	....	1	2	3	4	5
6	7	8	9	10	11	12
13	14	15	16	17	18	19
20	21	22	23	24	25	26
27	28	29	30	31	....	....

For the first time in its history Milwaukee had a colored jury summoned the other day. It was a coroner's jury, and was called together to hold an inquest over the body of one Negro supposed to have been killed by another.

DREYFUS' coffin was specially made at about the time of the Zola trial. To enable the wooden shell to resist ants, etc., it was steeped in tar and creosote. The lining was of zinc, and the lids were panes of glass, through which the face of the dead could be seen, so that the Meline government might prove that he was really dead.

PEOPLE who wear false hair will be interested in the announcement of a strange discovery made at Antwerp. In that city a bale of human hair, weighing 173 pounds, was stolen from a railroad station. It was afterward learned that the hair had been clipped from the heads of lunatics and convicts in public asylums and prisons.

THERE are only seven ambassadors representing England abroad. The seven great powers entitled to receive them are France, Austria, Germany, Italy, Russia, the United States and Turkey. Their salaries range from $35,000 to $50,000, the British ambassador at Paris receiving the highest sum, and holding the most coveted post in the diplomatic service abroad.

THE keeper of a public cemetery of a small Bohemian town near Prague excavated the older parts of the graveyard, and sold all the old bones he could find for industrial purposes, as he found that certain manufacturers paid more for human bones than for those of animals. He had been making money in this way for several years before he was detected and suspended from his post.

WHENEVER the Stonewall Jackson Camp of Confederate Veterans, at Staunton, Va., turns out to bury a comrade, as it did recently, a veteran of the civil war who fought on the union side falls in with the procession and participates in the ceremonies. The grand army man on such occasions wears his uniform and badges, and he is always treated by the confederates as a brother.

MR. CARNEGIE has bought a block to make a garden for his child to play in. The grounds of his new mansion are to be arranged to form a beautiful Italian garden, with fountains, pavilions and marble terraces, and along the eastern side of the garden is to be a beautiful palm house. All this splendor will cost about $2,000,000, and it is planned and to be carried out for the benefit of Mr. Carnegie's only daughter, a little maiden of two or three years.

THE most costly and precious wine in the world is that contained in a cask named the Rose, in the Bremen town hall cellars. This Rudesheim, of the vintage of the year 1653, is of the color of old ale and has a wonderful aroma. It is never sold, but is used exclusively for the sick of Bremen, the only exceptions having been when a small bottle was presented to Emperor William I., another to Frederick III., and one to Prince Bismarck. The supposed money value of the wine is something beyond credence.

EMPRESS CHARLOTTE, of Mexico, recently celebrated her sixtieth birthday at the Chateau de Bouchoto, where she is confined. Although she does not look her age, her mental condition is as hopeless as ever. It seems that she is able to amuse herself by playing on the piano and by copying miniatures, but the least noise alarms her, and she is frequently seized with fits of terror, in which she is under the impression that she sees enacted before her the dreadful death of her husband, Emperor Maximilian.

TO LONDON, as to almost every large city, the question of a water supply has been a serious problem. Londoners now see a way to solve it. The engineer of the county council has informed that body that underneath London is an immense lake, in a chalk basin 2,500 square miles in extent. The annual rainfall that sinks to this lake, 100 feet below the surface of the ground, amounts to 380,000,000,000 gallons, which would give a daily yield of 767,000,000 gallons. An artesian well has already tapped the lake at Clapham.

ONE of the so-called strangling bugs, a large and hideous-looking insect, said to be migrating here all the way from Northern Africa, where it is a terror to man and beast, was captured in the county jail yard at Media, Pa., by Jail Warden Thomas S. Fields. The bug is of a dark, brown color, about two and a half inches long, has a strong pair of wings and is armed with a sharp-pointed "sucker," or sword, and two crab-like claws. The insect was placed in a jar with a live mouse. The bug strangled the little animal in less than no time and sucked its blood.

A BAD WRECK.

Passenger Train Runs Into a Wrecked Freight on the Erie Road.

A Freight Train on the East Bound Track Was Wrecked by a Landslide and Engine and Cars Were Thrown Across the West Track.

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., July 31.—The accidents on the Erie railroad growing out of the landslide a mile east of Lackswaxen, Pa., were not as serious as first reported. Only the fireman and engineer of the derailed engine of the west bound Chicago express, which turned over on the track, were killed, though a number of passengers on the express, the vestibule passenger train for Buffalo and Cleveland, which left New York at 7 o'clock Saturday, were injured.

The wreck, which occurred shortly before midnight Saturday was preceded by a cloudburst and storm which lasted two hours. A section of the bank fell on the east bound track directly in front of the freight train. Several trees went down with the rocks and earth and the freight cars and engine were turned over directly across the west bound tracks of the Erie road.

Sixty freight cars constituted the train, but only 29 were derailed and the debris was piled up on the west bound tracks just as the Chicago express put in an appearance, running at the rate of 50 miles an hour.

The engine of the express train crashed into the wreck and the baggage car, combination and buffet car and two Pullman sleepers were piled up on the tracks immediately in front of the wrecked cars. The first sleeper was split into two parts as a result of the accident and the passengers were thrown 30 feet down a bank. Fire at once broke out and four cars of the express train and nine of the freight cars were burned.

Baggagemaster Becker, who found himself under the baggage car door, recovered consciousness only to discover that he was all alone in that part of the wrecked passenger cars. He managed to crawl from his position only to find a blaze starting in front of him, while half of the cars were somehow braced up immediately over him. He called for assistance but there was no response.

Then he saw the passengers who had been hurled down the 30-foot embankment endeavoring to extricate themselves from the debris and make their way up the bank. All were clad only in their night clothing and they were shivering with the cold. Some were bleeding and moaning, but all were dazed.

Members of the train crews commenced to search different portions of the wreck and assisted those who were struggling to escape.

Blankets were brought in from the Pullman cars and wrapped around shivering women and half conscious men.

Word was telegraphed to Port Jervis. A relief train was at once arranged for and Dr. Cuddehack, Dr. Swartout, Dr. Johnson and several trained nurses returned for the purpose of caring for those needing immediate assistance. The relief train soon reached the scene of the accident and nearly all of the injured persons were removed to the hospital.

Several thieves from Port Jervis who, it is supposed, reached the scene of the wreck on the relief train, ransacked the clothes of the passengers during the period of excitement.

F. View, a millinery decorator of New York, lost clothing containing $300 in bills and a gold watch. F. S. Gilpatrick, of Denver, lost $100, a gold watch, a diamond pin and a diamond stud. On the way to the hospital he noticed a man wearing his trousers. They went through the pockets together and found the money gone. The man said that the trousers had been given him by one of the trainmen, but claimed that the money and valuables must have been abstrated before he received the present of the garment.

After several hours' search the bodies of Engineer Outwater and Fireman Sells were found under the wrecked train. Both bodies had been burned to the waist. The men were identified by their watches.

Dr. Talmage Ill.

FRANKLIN, O., July 31.—Dr. T. De Witt Tallmage, it is announced, is no longer able to stand the great strain of his work. At the last moment he has canceled all of his Chautauqua dates for the summer on the advice of his physician. Dr. Talmage was to have opened his season at the Miami Valley Chautauqua at this place Sunday. Rev. Madison Peters, the pastor of the People's church at New York city, has been secured to fill the vacancy.

Secretary Long Leaves Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Secretary Long expects to leave the city Monday for a vacation of some weeks in New England. Assistant Secretary Allen will have charge of affairs during Secretary Long's absence.

The Algers Return to Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Secretary Alger and Mrs. Alger returned to Washington Sunday afternoon. The secretary will formally relinquish control of the war department to his successor. Mr. Elihu Root will take hold.

DIED ON SAME SCAFFOLD.

Simultaneously Four Negroes Were Hanged at Baltimore—One of Them Was Slowly Strangled.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 29.—Upon one scaffold, and simultaneously, four Negroes were hanged at 9:48 a.m. Friday in the Baltimore city jail yard. Three of the men, Cornelius Gardner, John Myers and Charles James, paid with their lives for criminally assaulting Annie Bailey, a 13-year-old Negress, while Jos. Bryan, the fourth member of the quartette, killed Mary Pack, a Negress with whom he had lived.

The necks of James Myers and Bryan were broken by the fall, and they died almost instantly.

Gardner's cap became disarranged in the fall and his face was visible to the spectators. He was apparently conscious about one moment, after which he slowly strangled.

SLAYER MAKES HIS ESCAPE.

Mike and George Mordanus, Brothers, Quarrel Over Money Matters, and One Is Stabbed to Death.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 29.—Friday evening about 8 o'clock Mike Mordanus killed his brother, George Mordanus, by stabbing him in the heart and cutting him across the body to the leg with a dirk. The difficulty arose about some money which Mike owed George for wages. About a year ago Mike attempted to kill his brother for the same claim. Friday he came to Bridgeport, loaded up with whisky, a revolver and a knife, and assailed his brother in the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railroad yards, with the above result. Both are Austrians and part of the floating gang of the C., L. & W. railroad. The slayer escaped, but the authorities at Bridgeport say they will have him by daylight.

INCREDIBLE BRUTALITY.

A Number of Lads Suspected of Theft Horribly Tortured by the Belgian Iron Company in the Caucasus.

LONDON, July 29.—The Berlin correspondent of the Daily News telegraphs a story, taken from a Tiflis paper, of the incredible brutality in the works of the Belgian Iron Co., in the Caucasus. According to the story, a number of lads, who were suspected of theft, were horribly tortured by the Belgian director and six Belgian foremen with a view of forcing a confession. The lad's eyelids were pierced with needles, their bodies were savagely belabored until they lost consciousness, their teeth were extracted, large stones were forced into their mouths and their foreheads were hammered with the butts of revolvers.

INNOCENT NEGRO LYNCHED.

Sampson Hayes Was Killed by a Mob for an Alleged Criminal Assault That Never Took Place.

JACKSON, Miss., July 29.—Persons in the city Friday from Rankin county bring a new story about the lynching of the Negro Sampson Hayes recently for alleged criminal assault. According to this story the mob killed an innocent man, and it further appears that there was no criminal assault nor attempt to assault as at first given out. The facts about a Negro having entered the house of the Gorley family were spread abroad in the neighborhood, and they became distorted as they were passed from mouth to mouth. The Negro Hayes bore a bad reputation in the vicinity, and some one suggested him as the probable culprit. This report was spread about and Hayes was killed.

WITH MILITARY HONORS.

Isaac Raskallan, Electrician on Board the United States Cruiser Olympia, Buried at Trieste.

TRIESTE, July 29.—Isaac Raskallan, electrician on board the United States cruiser Olympia, was buried with military honors Friday. The cortege was led by the Olympia's band, followed by a squadron of marines. The hearse was followed by 60 American sailors and a detachment of Austrian marines. Adm. Dewey sent a beautiful wreath. The Austrian authorities offered a military band for the occasion which was courteously declined. The Olympia will leave on Tuesday, August 1, for Naples. On the way to New York the cruiser will probably stop at Leghorn, Gibraltar and Medeira.

Railway Wreck Near Allegheny, Pa.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 29.—Twenty people were injured Friday night in a wreck on the West Pennsylvania railroad at Herrs station, a few miles above Allegheny City. None of the injured are likely to die but a number are badly hurt.

Mayor Walter Bailey.

MORRIHEAD, Ky., July 29.—After a prolonged illness of several months Walter M. Baily died Friday evening of locomotor ataxia. He has for the past two years been mayor of the city. His remains will be taken to Clifton Forge, Va., for interment.

Drowned in Lake Erie.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., July 29.—The body of James Littles, of Mt. Victory, O., was found floating in Lake Erie. A neighbor read of the affair and informed the parents.

YELLOW FEVER.

Thirty Cases, Believed to Be Genuine in Soldiers' Home—Three Deaths.

There Are Four Thousand Old Veterans in the Institution and Several Large Excursion Parties Woot There During Last Week.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., July 31.—There are 30 cases of what is believed to be genuine yellow fever at the National soldiers' home near Hampton, and three deaths from the disease were reported Sunday. There were several other deaths at the institution Saturday, but it could not be stated Sunday night that all of them were caused by yellow fever. Newport News and Hamptou quarantined against the soldiers' home Monday morning.

The government authorities at Old Point have already adopted this step and no strangers are allowed to enter the reservation. Quarantine officer Hobson, of this port, went to soldiers home Sunday night and verified the statement that there are now 30 cases of the disease at the home, and that there were three deaths from the malady Sunday.

While no one outside of the soldiers home knew about the existence of yellow fever until Sunday, it is said the disease made its appearance three days ago. The most rigid quarantine regulations will be enforced to prevent the spread of the malady. The news has created great excitement in Newport News, Old Point and Hampton and the most vigorous measures will be resorted to to prevent its spread. There are 4,000 old veterans at the home and several large excursion parties were there last week.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Surgeon General Wyman, of the marine hospital service, was informed Saturday night of an outbreak of what it was feared was yellow fever at the National soldiers' home at Hampton, and immediately dispatched surgeons in the service from Wilmington, N. C., Norfolk and Washington to investigate the sickness there, report on its character to the authorities here and to take measures to prevent the spread of the disease.

Dr. Wyman, himself, will go to Hampton in a few days to take charge of the work of preventing a spread of the disease if it develops into genuine yellow fever. Two of the surgeons dispatched to the home reported Sunday that the symptom very much resembled those of yellow fever and that while they could not be positive in their diagnosis as yet they were inclined to the belief that the illness was the dreaded yellow jack. The government will adopt strict precautionary measures to prevent a spread of the disease and will fight its progress with all the skill and resources at its command.

SITUATION IN SAN DOMINGO.

It Is Critical and an Outbreak Is Momentarily Expected—The Friends of the Government Are Under Arms.

PORTO PLATA, San Domingo, July 31.—The situation is critical. An outbreak is momentarily expected. The friends of the government are under arms and ready for action to protect property and preserve the peace. A feeble attempt was made to seize the body of President Heureaux by the assassins, Ramon Caseres, Manuel Caceres, Horacio Vasques and Domingo Pichardo, who are in the country about Moca with their followers.

The burial of President Heureaux was conducted with fitting honors. Gov. Pepin has assembled troops in Moca and the governor of Lavega Real has 1,000 men. The minister of the treasury has arrived at Moca in hot haste. The government is taking steps for the protection of business and the finance of the country and expects to carry out the contemplated cancellation of the state bank notes. In Puerto Plata there is an urgent demand that the government send a sufficient force to Moca to hunt down the assassins of the president.

FILIPINO LOSS HEAVY.

The Insurgents Attempted to Capture Calamba Sunday, But Were Easily Repulsed—Due American Killed.

LONDON, July 31.—A dispatch from Manila says that the rebels, Sunday, attempted to recapture Calamba, but were easily repulsed. One American was killed and six others wound. Filipino loss was heavy.

Pope's Letter to Queen Wilhelmina.

THE HAGUE, July 31.—The Pope in a letter to Queen Wilhelmina, of Holland, expresses the hope that he will soon be able to establish harmony between the two South American nations, which have submitted their dispute for his arbitration.

Will Neither Affirm or Deny.

TRIESTE, July 31.—Adm. Dewey when seen by a reporter Sunday regarding the report of an interview published in a New York paper in the course of which the admiral is quoted as saying: "Our next war will be with Germany," said: "I have long ago gave up denying or affirming newspaper reports."

Three Workmen Killed.

MONACO, July 31.—By the collapsing of a wall of a new building at Condamine three workmen were killed and 11 seriously injured.

NO OUTBREAKS.

Cars Were Running on Schedule Time in Cleveland Sunday.

Gen. Axline in Favor of Declaring Martial Law in the City—He Thinks That Would Put an End to the Trouble Effectually.

CLEVELAND, O., July 31.—Notwithstanding the fact that big crowds were upon the streets Sunday, there were no outbreaks of violence and apparently little attention was paia to the Big Consolidated cars, which ran on all lines on schedule time. On the South Side and out Broadway to Newburg the cars were run practically empty, but the East Side lines, especially those running to the parks, were well patronized, though they carried fewer passengers by far than usual on fair Sundays.

Adjt. Gen. Axline, speaking of the fear of the people to ride on the cars in certain sections of the city at night, said Sunday night:

"This state of affairs is likely to continue for several weeks or months unless a settlement is reached. The only way to put a stop to it is to declare martial law. That will require 4,000 or 5,000 soldiers, and every street will be patrolled. Everybody will be required to remain indoors after a certain hour and all who are out after that time without a permit will be arrested. But martial law would put an end to the trouble effectually."

The only exciting incident on the South Side was the hold up of an ice cream wagon by a crowd of soldiers who took from it a four-gallon freezer full of cream. They offered money for the cream but the driver of the wagon refused to accept it, saying he could not sell it. The soldiers says they ordered the cream several days ago and the dealer promised to deliver it but it did not come, probably because of the boycott. When this soldiers saw one of the company's wagons they stopped it and took the cream offered to pay for it.

The people in the neighborhood looked upon this as a great outrage, but the soldiers only laughed and treated it as a huge joke. Business Agent Pratt, of the union of the Big Consolidated strikers issued a statement Sunday in reply to the intimation that there was a breach between the strikers and the employes of the Little Consolidated. The latter have organized a separate union, and have decided not to take part in a sympathy strike.

Pratt thinks they should have joined his union and he says in his statement that the motive which prompted the organization of the separate union was not pure. He accuses certain of the Little Consolidated employes of trying to head off a strike on those lines, and he intimates that it would be unwise to divide the funds and energies of the two unions.

TRIPARTITE COMMISSION.

Their Official Report on the Samoan Question Said to Be on the Way to Their Respective Governments.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—The Call publishes the report of tripartite commission sent to Samoa, making various recommendations regarding the new form of government decided upon by them as most suitable for the islanders. These resolutions are based upon the best features of the Berlin treaty, and included the main features of the proposed treaty, as amended and modified by the commissioners. The official report of the commissioners and the draft of the proposed amended treaty are said to be now on the way to the respective governments.

Among other things the report says:

The chief evils may be, in our opinion, grouped under four heads:

1. Those which appear to inevitably attend the election of a king in Samoa and his subsequent efforts to exert his authority.

2. Those which are due to the rivalry of foreign nationalities between themselves and to their position to take sides in the native politics and thus increase the importance and bitterness of the disputes which arise.

3. A third class of evils have their origin in the fact that for many years there has been no law or government in Samoa other than native custom outside the limits of the municipality. Murder and other serious crimes have remained unpunished when committed by persons of rank, and the supreme court and the nominal government at Mulinuu have been equally powerless to exert any force.

4. The insufficient enforcement of the customs regulations has allowed unscrupulous traders to distribute large numbers of arms among a native population rent by political factions and ready to fight both one another and Europeans.

Aged Couple Killed by Lightning.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 31.—H. H. McConnell and his wife, ar aged couple, were killed by lightring at their home, near Cottage Grove, Henry county. Both had their clothing burned off.

Were Buried Together.

SPRINGFIELD, O., July 31.—The twin children of James Grist, aged seven months, died of summer complaint, within a few hours of each other. They were buried Sunday evening in the same coffin.

"Actions of the Just Smell Sweet."

The fragrance of life is vigor and strength, neither of which can be found in a person whose blood is impure, and whose every breath speaks of internal troubles. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and makes the weak strong.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Never Disappoints.

A "HOT" COLD BANQUET.

Some Inside Information by a Waiter from the Bowery Who Helped Serve It.

One of the waiters at a popular local restaurant is a bird of passage from the Bowery and was a member of the small army that served the famous "Dollar Dinner" in New York last April. A good many stories have been told of that memorable event, but none of them surpass his own in point of picturesqueness and inside detail. "It was the funniest push I was ever in in me life," he says, confidentially. "The kitchen was so small they had to cook everything on the outside, and when it got there it was dead cold. The second course was haddock, and each fish come served in a linen bag, so we could put 'em in tubs of hot water and warm 'em up—see? Well, some of the boys got rattled and served 'em bags and all, with egg sauce over th' outside. Say, you'd of died laughing seeing them fellers tryin' to carve their fish. This is the toughest auld haddock I iver tackled in me life," says one Tammany man at the head table; "it's got a skin like a rhinoceros," says he. In the kitchen there was a riot all night long. It was so small the waiters couldn't reach the dishes up and they got to scrapping for front places in the line. One man was knocked stiff with a turkey, and when they picked him up I thought he was dead. I did, on the level. But it wasn't blood. It was only cranberry sauce. Another flunkey fell into the salad and one of the cooks put a can of ice cream in the oven, thinking it was brown gravy for the beef. That's on the square—just as I'm tellin' you! But the worst of all was when we came to the wine. It was 'Merican champagne in half pints, without ice, and of all the kicking and hollering! One fresh gent told me it was the only thing he had had that night that was good and warm, and he had hardly said it when a waiter that was a little jagged accidentally poured about a quart of boilin' coffee down the back of his neck. Say, you ought of heard him cuss! Between you and me, a good many waiters got to hitting the wine, and they found one of 'em with 15 empty bottles in his pants leg. That's honest. I saw it myself. It was the hottest banquet I was ever at."—N. O. Times-Democrat.

HE WAS REJECTED.

But He Stuck to His Job and by a Lucky Hit Won the Coveted Prize.

"It was such a good joke on me," said the girl in the gray velvet toque to the girl in the blue velvet shoulder cape, as they stirred their hot chocolate, "that I must tell you.

"You know how John has been proposing to me at regular intervals ever since he was out of knickerbockers. Well, he did it again the other night, and, with his usual facility, chose an occasion when I was very cross.

"He did it a little more awkwardly than usual, too, deliberately choosing the old-fashioned method of offering me 'his hand and heart.'

"Here she paused to drink some chocolate, and the girl in blue asked breathlessly what she said.

"Oh!" remarked the other, in the tone of one relating an event of no importance, "I told him that I believed I was already provided with the full quota of bodily organs, and that I wouldn't deprive him."

"And what did he say?"

"Well, Belle, that's the funny thing. He seemed to brace up, and said, politely, that at any rate there was no doubt about my having my full share of cheek! I was so delighted to find a man capable of even that much repartee on being rejected—that I accepted him."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Corrupt.

Biggs—The corruption among public officials is shameful.

Boggs—I should say so. I had to tip the custom house inspector five dollars just to bring a few diamonds in without paying duty.—N. Y. Journal.

One thing people can't understand, and that is how those they hate do so well in life. —Atchison Globe.

Even the quiet waiter is frequently called to order.—Chicago Daily News.

Mrs. Col. Richardson
SAVED BY MRS. PINKHAM.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 72,896]

"You have saved my life, snatched me from the brink of the grave almost, and I wish to thank you. About eighteen months ago I was a total wreck, physically. I had been troubled with leucorrhœa for some time, but had given hardly any attention to the trouble.

"At last inflammation of the womb and ovarics resulted and then I suffered agonies, had to give up my profession (musician and piano player), was confined to my bed and life became a terrible cross. My husband summoned the best physicians, but their benefit was but temporary at best. I believe I should have contracted the morphine habit under their care, if my common sense had not intervened.

"One day my husband noticed the advertisement of your remedies and immediately bought me a full trial. Soon the pain in my ovarics was gone. I am now well, strong and robust, walk, ride a wheel, and feel like a girl in her teens. I would not be without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it is like water of life to me. I am very gratefully and sincerely your well-wisher, and I heartily recommend your remedies. I hope some poor creature may be helped to health by reading my story."—Mrs. Col. E. P. RICHARDSON, Rhinelander, Wis.

1000s of UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIALS SAY

CAPILLARIS

Permanently cures all Itching, Burning, Scaley, Scalp and Skin Diseases, such as Salt Rheum, Eczema, Scald Head, Chilblains, Piles, Burns, Tetter, Humors, Dandruff, Itching Scalp, Falling Hair, thickening and making it Soft, Silky and Luxuriant. All Face Eruptions (producing a Soft, Clear, Beautiful Skin and Complexion). Contains no Lead, Sulphur, Cantharides or anything injurious. An ex. gress seller. Lady canvassers make $5 to $15 a day. Druggists or mail 50c. Capillaris Manufacturing Co., N. Y. Address T. HILL MANSFIELD, Agt., GLEN RIDGE, N. J.

ORIGINAL DUST.

The Ashes of Robert G Ingersoll in a Beautiful Urn.

On One Side of the Funeral Urn is Inscribed "Robert G. Ingersoll;" on the Other, "This Urn Holds the Dust; the Heart, the Memory."

NEW YORK, July 22.—Robert G. Ingersoll died at his home in Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., Friday afternoon, of apoplexy.

NEW YORK, July 27.—The funeral of the late Robert G. Ingersoll took place Tuesday afternoon from Walston, Dobbs Ferry, where he died on Friday last.

No clergyman was present to conduct the services; there was no music and there were no pallbearers. The body lay on a cot in the room where he died. It was enshrouded in white and just one red rose placed on the broast. About the cot were banks of floral tributes sent by friends, wreaths and bunches of blossoms.

The services were held at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Ingersoll sat beside her dead and beside her were her daughters, Mrs. Walston and Brown and Miss Maude Ingersoll. They were very much agitated and wept almost continuously. Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Farrell were present and Charles Broadway Rouse, Col. Ingersoll's oldest friend, occupied a chair by the side of the bier.

There were some 40 others present, and they remained standing throughout. The intense silence was then broken by Dr. John Clark Ridpath, who in a voice full of emotion said:

"My friends, it is a very sad duty to read in the presence of the dead the last poem written by Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, entitled, "Declaration of the Free." This poem Col. Ingersoll had read and altered in some of its parts only a few hours before he was stricken down. Maj. O. J. Smyth, who resides in Dobbs Ferry and who was a close personal friend of Col. Ingersoll, then without preliminary words read another extract from Col. Ingersoll's writings entitled "My Religion.

Dr. John Elliott, of New York, read the funeral oration delivered by Col. Ingersoll over his brother's dead body. This concluded the short and simple services. Nearly all present then took a parting look at the dead and passed out. Mr. Rouse arose from his chair, and, as he is totally blind, passed his hand over the face of his dead friend.

Many additional telegrams of sympathy were received Tuesday, one of them being from Gen. Miles.

Floral tributes were received all the morning and there were two rooms of them.

Photograph of the body was taken Tuesday afternoon just as it lay surrounded by these flowers. It took a three-quarter view of the face.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The body of Col. Robert G. Ingersoll was cremated at Fresh Pond, L. I., Thursday. The body was placed in the retort at 11:30, and at 2 o'clock all that remained was ashes.

There were no services at the crematory. Even the organ, which is usually played while a cremation is going on, was silent. This was at the request of the family. There was a crowd about the building, and a number demanded admission, but no one except the members of the family and two members of the cremation society were admitted.

The body was removed from Walston soon after 9 o'clock and taken to the Dobbs Ferry station where a funeral car was waiting. The body was placed in the car and the members of the family also entered it. The body was inclosed in a black coffin, which was unrelieved by handles or plate. On the trip to the city Mrs. Ingersoll and the family sat about the bier and on the top of the coffin rested wreaths of roses and evergreens. The party reached the Fresh Pond crematory at 11:30 o'clock. The coffin was not opened in the columbarium. Those present stood around it for a few moments and then it was carried to the incinerating room. Mrs. Ingersoll bore up better than it was expected she would. When the retort had sufficiently cooled, the cradle was drawn out and the alumn soaked sheet was opened. The ashes were then placed in the usual canister and then in the urn. Both were sealed and the urn taken in charge by the Ingersoll party. The return trip was then begun. Mrs. Ingersoll bore up well.

The funeral urn is a beautiful one, wound with laurel leaves and berries in bas relief and set with cypress leaves fashioned of green bronze. It is oval and set on a red porphery base that rests on a brass plate. On one side is the simple inscription, "Robert G. Ingersoll."

On the other, in French, are the words: "This urn holds the dust; the heart, the memory."

Made His Own Funeral Preparations.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., July 28.—John McGrew, of Fulton county, is making careful preparations for death. He is 68. He proposes that his tomb shall be located on his little patch of ground, and he has been working at odd times in digging his grave. The excavation was completed a few days ago and McGrew boarded it up. He procured an old piece of marble, and carved an epitaph upon it, the inscription being protected from vulgar gaze by a wooden hood. He constructed a coffin several years ago.

HIS PREDICTION.

Gen. Moscoso Says Uncle Sam Will Settle the San Domingo Trouble.

The United States About to Send a Naval Vessel to the Island to Protect the Interests of American Residents Should Occasion Arise.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Gen. Abelarde A. Moscoso, an exiled leader of the liberal party of Santo Domingo, now living in New York, says: "The death of President Heureaux will, I think, surely be followed by a long state of disorder and revolution. I want to emphasize this prophecy—that the United States will eventually be compelled to interfere to establish peace in the island, just as this country did in Cuba.

I favor the policy of peace. I shall be glad to return to my country and support such a policy if it is inaugurated by Gen. Figuerca, the vice president, who succeeds to the head of the government. But if something is not quickly done to establish order and peace more revolutionary expeditions will follow, like that of Gen. Jimenez and Gen. Morales, who led a band from Cuba against Heureaux. There are now in this country Gen. Toribco Garcia and Edward Grullon, who share my views. We think that the United States ought to take an interest in our West Indian republic. It will be a great commercial ally. It lies between Cuba and Porto Rico. It must, of necessity, I believe, ultimately become attached to this country."

Gen. Moscoso has been in exile in New York for three years. He opposed the late president politically and had to flee to save his life.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—A naval vessel is to be sent immediately to San Domingo. Secretary Hay has made the request that Secretary Long take this action, and the Machias, now at San Juan, Porto Rico, and only a few days' run from San Domingo, will proceed at once to that island. This is a measure of precaution rather than one of necessity at the present time, for Minister Powell has not suggested any such action to the government. Still, it is deemed well, in view of the press reports, indicating a disturbed condition of affairs, to have a representative of the United States authority within reach of the minister to protect American interests should the need arise. Minister Powell cabled the state department Friday morning from Port au Prince, Hayti, simply announcing the assassination of Heureaux by some unknown person between 1 and 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Wednesday.

Burial of President Heureaux.

CAPE HAITIEN, July 29.—The funeral of President Heureaux, of Santo Domingo, took place at 5 o'clock Thursday evening in Santiago de Las Caballeros. The population was panic-stricken, but there was no disorder.

A report has been received here to the effect that the adversaries of the government attacked Noca Thursday night.

Swallowed Her False Teeth.

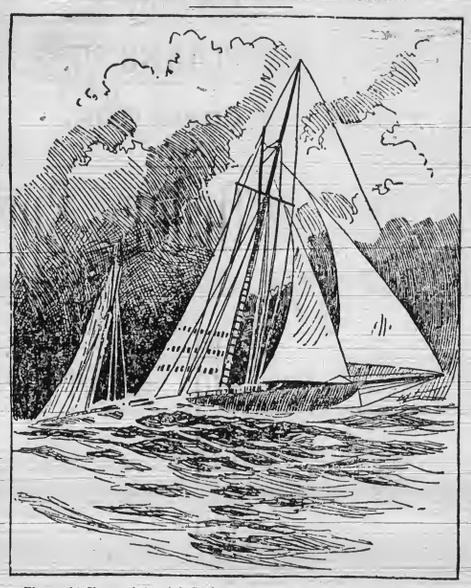
LYNCHBURG, Va., July 29.—Mrs. Maggie E. Jennings, of Amherst county, swallowed her false teeth about a week ago, and came to this city to consult a physician. The plate was located by the X rays. An operation was performed. She died.

Grain Elevator Burned.

GREEN SPRINGS, O., July 29.—The Nickel Plate grain elevator was burned Friday. About 20,000 bushels of wheat were destroyed. The cause of the fire is unknown.

THREE MET WATERY GRAVES

Sad Ending of a small Pleasure Party on the Ohio River at Evansville, Ind.—Skiff Capsized.



EVANSVILLE, Ind., July 29.—August Mattingly, 17, Pearl Cheaney, 14, and Marion Onana, were drowned in the Ohio river in front of the city Friday night and three of their companions narrowly escaped. About 5 o'clock Friday afternoon Mattingly, in company with John Cheaney, Wm. Cheaney, Pearl Cheaney, of this city, and Misses Teresa and Marion Onana, of Henderson, Ky., started out for a hay ride and reaching the river at 7:30 o'clock, decided to take a skiff ride.

They were out about an hour when their boat was caught in the current and capsized in front of the mail line wharfboat. Fifty or more people were on the wharfboat, but none offered to go to the rescue. Mattingly, Pearl Cheaney and Marion Onana were rapidly swept down the current and nothing more was seen of them.

Their cries could be heard for blocks away. Wm. Cheaney seized Teresa Onana and reached the shore with her after a hard fight in the rapids. He says his life was saved by the headlight of the steamer Jewel in port which enabled him to see which way to swim. Teresa Onana sank in the water two times and when brought to shore by Cheaney, was unconscious. John Cheaney was swept under the hull of the steamer Jewel, but being a good diver and knowing the channel, was saved. Searching parties were along the river bank Friday night with torches trying to find the bodies of the lost. Late Friday night they had not been successful in their search. Expert divers will be employed Saturday morning.

Miss Marion Onana was one of the leading society belles of Henderson, Ky., and would have been married in a month.

SHAMROCK AS SHE WILL CROSS THE OCEAN.

The yacht Shamrock has left Rothesay bay for Greenock to complete fitting out for her voyage across the Atlantic, which will begin August 2. Sir Thomas Lipton, the owner of the challenger, says the crew of the Shamrock will be increased to 50. Capt. Hogarth, of the Shamrock, refused to express any opinion as to the yacht's chances for winning the cup, but said: "Tell the Americans not to lay odds."

FARMER SHOOTS FOUR BOYS.

They Are Seriously Wounded and Several Posses Are After the Shooter—He May Be Lynched if Caught.

VICKSBURG, Miss., July 29.—Several posses are now in the hills east of here searching for Ithamar Yerkes, a truck farmer, who Friday afternoon shot and seriously wounded four boys, all of whom are under 10 years of age. They are Warren Cooley, shot in head and body; Frank Smith, shot in head, face and body; Murray Foster, shot in body and legs; Richard Kendall, shot in head and body, fatally wounded. The first two are white. Members of Yerkes family claim the youngsters were stealing watermelons, but this is denied by the boys.

Yerkes used a double-barreled shot gun. He may be lynched if caught.

The Sick Soldiers at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—All the convalescent volunteers at the general military hospital will be held there until the regiments are mustered out. It is stated that among 760 patients at the Presidio there are only three cases of typhoid fever and there is little danger of its becoming epidemic.

The Turkish Minister.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The Turkish minister, Ali Ferrouh Bey, leaves Friday night for an European trip, and while no official word has been received as to his permanent withdrawal, it is expected that he may be transferred to another post.

Ground to Death Under Car Wheels

CINCINNATI, July 29.—Mrs. Lena Fairkamp, a widow, of 2179 Sherman avenue, was run over and killed Friday morning at 8 o'clock by Cincinnati Southern switch engine No. 515, at Kenner street.

SPIRITED FIGHT.

Insurgents, Who Had Been Driven From Calamba, Attacked Americans.

Americans Had Four Killed and Eleven Wounded—Calamba Was the Headquarters of Gen. Malbar—Is a Strategic Point.

MANILA, July 28.—The insurgents who had been driven from Calamba Wednesday, returned Thursday and furiously attacked the American outposts. Several companies of 21st infantry and Washington volunteers sallied out of the town and again drove them to the hills, after a brisk fight.

A thousand picked men under Gen. Hall Wednesday captured Calamba, on the southwest shore of Laguna de Bay. The town was the headquarters of Gen. Malbar and the center of the insurgent telegraph system in southern Luzon. It was a most important strategic point.

Four hundred Washington volunteers, under Maj. Weisenberger, and a battery of the 1st artillery left Pasig Wednesday morning in caskoes and launches, joining 450 regulars from the 21st infantry, under Capt. Eltenhead and 150 4th cavalrymen, under Capt. McGrath, from Morong.

The men were conveyed by gunboats to a point off South Talim island.

It was 4 o'clock in the afternoon when the troops arrived off Calamba. The regulars led the way, the men of the 21st infantry and the 4th cavalrymen wading ashore in water neck deep to the north end of the town.

The insurgents lay quiet in their works till men had landed. Then they opened a brisk fire, but were quickly driven from their first position and across the river, which Capt. McGrath and Lieut. Bateman swam, securing boats for the cavalrymen, who then crossed and advanced through the town.

The 21st regulars, meantime, made their way through swamps to flank the enemy on his right, while the Washingtonians, flanked on the left, under cover of the Napilan's six-pounders and gatlings, landing on the south, but not rapidly enough to prevent a portion of the enemy from escaping.

The fighting continued three hours. Four dead and 11 wounded was the American loss.

LUETGERT DIES IN HIS CELL.

The Chicago Sausage Maker, Who Killed His Wife, Succumbs to Fatty Degeneration of the Heart.

JOLIET, Ill., July 28.—Adolph L. Luetgert, the wealthy Chicago sausage maker, who was serving a life sentence in the penitentiary here for the murder of his wife, was found dead in his cell Thursday.

Drs. Werner and O'Malley held a post mortem examination. Dr. O'Malley says Luetgert died from fatty degeneration of the heart and that it was surprising considering its condition that death had not come long before this.

The trial of Luetgert in Chicago attracted wide attention and was one of the most sensational in the history of the state. Luetgert was charged with having murdered his wife in the basement of his factory, and cooked the body to pieces in a vat. The prosecution had but a few bones and two rings as evidence that their theory was correct but secured conviction and a life sentence.

WARM WELCOME FOR ALGER.

The Ex-Secretary, on His Return to His Home at Detroit Next Week Will Be Received by the Citizens.

DETROIT, Mich., July 28.—Five bands have already been engaged to welcome Gen. Alger on his return home next week. One will go to Toledo on a special train with the committee, and will play there during the reception at the city hall in that city. The projected line of march for the parade in this city will include a march past the general's residence and a review from a big stand in front of the city hall. The city will be elaborately decorated for the occasion, and 5,000 American flags will be distributed among the people along the sidewalks. It has not been settled who will be the speakers, but the committee having the arrangements in charge say men of national reputation have promised to participate in the ceremonies.

"Gen." Coxey's Purchase.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 28.—"Gen." Jacob S. Coxey has purchased the old steel plant of Graff, Bennett & Co. at Millvale, near here, and will remove it to Massillon, O. It is his intention to erect a large open hearth steel plant at a cost of $150,000. The new works will give employment to 300 men.

Peas and beans are the most nutritious of vegetables, containing as much carbon as wheat and double the amount of muscle-forming food.

In southern Russia camels are much used by farmers for field work. They even stand the climate fairly well farther north.

The first Christian Endeavor society of Spain recently celebrated its eighteenth anniversary.

Dr. W. Seward Webb knows railroading from top to bottom and frequently amuses himself by running an engine.

MR. BRYAN'S LETTER.

He Does Not Believe the Election of Goebel Would Endanger the Principles of the Chicago Platform.

Urey Woodson, Esq., Owensboro, Ky.—My Dear Sir: I have received within the last few days a number of letters and telegrams from Kentucky democrats, some urging me to come to Kentucky and make a speech in support of the state ticket recently nominated, and others giving reasons why the ticket should be defeated. In view of the fact that engagements already made will occupy my time until about the middle of September, and in view of the further fact that the demands upon my time are such as to prevent an early answer to the many communications received, I deem it best to address the democrats of Kentucky through you, the national committeeman from that state.

"I noted with deep regret that bitterness which characterized the contest for the gubernatorial nomination and studiously avoided saying or doing anything which could be construed as an expression of preference between the candidates, all of whom I knew personally, and all of whom were outspoken supporters of the Chicago platform. I did not then, nor shall I now, discuss the relative merits of the candidates; neither am I sufficiently informed upon the facts to sit in judgment upon the conduct of the convention which placed the ticket in the field. The only objection I feel called upon to consider at this time is urged by a number of friends whose sincerity I can not doubt, but with whose opinion I can not agree, namely, that the election of Mr. Goebel would endanger the success of democratic principles as enunciated in the Chicago platform. Several persons have addressed to me doubts as to Mr. Goebel's loyalty to the silver plank of the platform, while others complain that he is receiving influential support from gold democrats and gold newspapers.

"As to the first objection, I desire to say that Mr. Goebel supported Mr. Hardin and Mr. Blackburn in the campaign of 1896; he supported the Chicago platform and ticket in 1896, and was chairman of the reception committee when I, as a candidate, visited Covington during the campaign. He was chairman of the democratic state convention in 1897, when the Chicago platform was re-affirmed and Mr. Shackelford nominated. During his canvass for the gubernatorial nomination he declared himself in favor of the re-affirmation of the Chicago platform, and announced that he would not accept the nomination unless the Chicago platform was indorsed by the state convention. He is now a candidate upon a platform unanimously adopted, which gives an emphatic endorsement to all of the Chicago platform.

"In answer to the second objection, permit me to say that it is not a valid objection to Mr. Goebel that he is supported by some who opposed the ticket in 1896. We desire that all gold democrats shall return, provided they will accept the democratic platform and support candidates pledged to that platform. We desire to have all gold newspapers return to the party if we can secure their return without surrendering party principles. It is not the policy of the party to drive people away from it, but rather to invite people into the party. The party stands committed to the doctrines set forth in the Chicago platform, and while it will not turn its back upon these doctrines in order to gain the friendship of gold democrats, yet it does not and should not reject the support of any who are willing to aid in upholding the principles of the platform by electing candidates who represent those principles.

"Certainly a victory now upon the platform adopted by the state convention can not do harm, but what shall we say of a defeat. If the republican state ticket is elected the republicans in Kentucky and elsewhere will be encouraged, and the fight of 1900 made harder. If the democratic state ticket is defeated a republican senator may be elected from that state. I can not look with unconcern upon the possible defeat of Senator Blackburn. He has been so loyal, so courageous and so devoted to the principles of democracy and has defended them with so much ability and eloquence that I can not remain silent, when silence might be construed to mean indifference to his success. The senator elected by the next legislature will serve throughout the next administration. What shall it profit us if we elect a president and house of representatives and have a hostile senate to obstruct legislation? Silver can not be restored; the trusts can not be over thrown; the imperial policy of the republicans can not be brought to an end until the senate, the house of representatives and the executive are all taken out of the hands of the republicans.

"We are engaged in a great contest between plutocracy and democracy, a contest which may decide finally whether English financiers or American voters shall control our financial policy; whether our government shall be a government of the trusts or a government of the people; whether our nation shall remain a republic or become an empire.

"In answer to those who urge that Mr. Goebel's election would be detrimental to the success of bimetallism and to me personally, I deem it my duty to say that I have no personal or political interests that deserve to be considered when democratic principles are at stake, and that, in my judgment, the cause of democracy would be injured by the defeat of a democratic ticket nominated upon a platform which unqualifiedly endorses the Chicago platform. Yours truly,

"WM. J. BRYAN."

ICE PLANT BURNED.

An Incendiary Applied the Torch to the Armstrong Works North of Indianapolis—Loss $55,000.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 29.—About 3 o'clock Friday morning an incendiary applied the torch to the Armstrong natural ice plant, on the canal north of the city, and ten structures under one roof, together with the power house and running ways, were consumed. Each chamber or structure contained 2,500 tons of ice, with the exception of three, from which a small quantity had been shipped. The total loss reaches $30,000 to Messrs. E. J. & J. W. Armstrong, on which there is $10,500 insurance, divided among a number of companies. A number of refrigerator cars belonging to the Big Four Co., were also consumed, with a loss of $15,000. The Armstrongs operated under the name of the Indianapolis Ice Co., and but recently refused an offer of $25,000 for their stored ice. Altogether 20,000 tons of ice was badly damaged. While the fire was burning the police arrested Rufus Stoops, a former employe, as the supposed incendiary, but there was no evidence warranting detention and he was released.

SOUTHALL-CLARDY FEUD.

Fatal Fight Because of a Forbidden Wooing—The Daughter's Suitor Was Killed by Her Father.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., July 29.—The feud of the Southall and Clardy families resulted in a double tragedy at noon Thursday. They have adjoining farms in Montgomery county, Tenn., just over the Kentucky line.

Will Southall, aged 22, was attentive to Pete Clardy's daughter, and Clardy forbid his attentions. Will and Charles Southall were at work in the field when Clardy came up with a shot gun. He fired at Will. His first shot missed. Charles Southall begged him not to shoot again, but he fired a second shot, and Will fell dead. Charles hurled a stone, striking Clardy on the head, then he beat him, fracturing Clardy's skull. He then took Will's body to his home near by. Clardy was removed to his home, but never regained consciousness, and he will die.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Shaft of a Coal Mine Damaged—Weighman Shocked and Other Employes Had Narrow Escapes.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 29.—A special from Coal Bluff says that during the storm there Friday morning the shaft building at the Gladstone mine was struck by lightning. Joseph Reid, the check weighman, was severely shocked and other employes had narrow escapes. One of the large axles on the sheave wheels was cut off and allowed the cage with a loaded car of coal to fall to the bottom, causing damages which will make the mine idle for some time.

Had Two Bodies.

MIDDLEBORO, Ky., July 29.—On the farm of Capt. Evans, near Broadhead, Ky., was one of a litter of six pigs that was a curiosity. It had one head and neck, two backbones from the base of the neck, the bodies beginning to separate at the shoulders, but joined together again, there being two distinct, well-formed bodies, each one being that of a well-formed pig; it has four front legs, two of them having perfect feet, the other two having what resemble paws, one with five toes and the other six; two tails, four hind legs and four hind feet, one heart, no stomach, no palate or roof to its mouth.

Disaster on the C. & P. Railroad.

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 29.—Nearly 100 workmen were bruised and received minor injuries in a wreck on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad near here, Friday morning. A freight train blocked the main track, forcing the Mingo work train, with 80 passengers to stop. The flagman had not gone back far enough, and a gravel train crashed into the Mingo train, smashing a number of cars and injuring nearly every person aboard.

Car Blown Up by Dynamite.

CLEVELAND, O., July 29.—A car returning from Euclid Beach park was blown up by dynamite about 11 o'clock Friday night while returning to the city. The explosion took place a short distance north of the Lake Shore railroad, about two miles east of the city limits. The front truck was demolished and the floor of the car shattered. There were no passengers on the car and the motorman and conductor escaped without injury.

Fourth Wage Increase.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., July 29.—The Keystone Coal and Iron Co., of Irondale, Va., will advance the wages of its men 5 per cent. on the 1st of August. This will make the fourth time this company has advanced wages since the 1st of May, making an advance in all since that date of 20 per cent. The company employs 225 men.

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, Aug., 2, 1899.

Advertising Rates:

One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

We are authorized to announce J. W. KENNEDY, of Union, as a candidate for the Legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

We are authorized to announce BENJAMIN STEPHENS, of Florence, as a candidate for the Legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Democratic State Ticket.

For Governor,
WILLIAM GOEBEL, of Kenton.

For Lieutenant Governor,
J. C. W. BECKHAM, of Nelson.

For Attorney General,
R. J. BRECKINRIDGE, of Boyle.

For Auditor,
G. G. COULTER, of Graves.

For Treasurer,
S. W. HAGER, of Boyd.

For Secretary of State,
C. B. HILL, of Clark.

For Supt. Public Instruction,
H. V. MCHESNEY, of Livingston.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. B. NALL, of Jefferson.

For Railroad Commissioner,
FLETCHER DEMPSEY, of Hopkins county.—First District.

C. C. MCHORD, of Washington county.—Second District.

A. W. HAMILTON, of Montgomery county.—Third District.

For State Senator,
Dr. J. G. FURNISH.

Neighborhood News.

Limaburg.

Geo. E. Rouse is visiting his son at Varnelltow.

Chas. Crigler is limping because of rheumatism.

Very little rain fell here on Saturday and Sunday.

Don't forget the picnic at Harvest Home on Saturday.

William Utz has the finest tobacco in the neighborhood.

E. S. Rouse is building an addition Jack Tanner's barn.

Eli Tanner will visit his son James in Grant county, this week.

Someone stole Ezra Aylor's buggy harness and lap-robe a few nights since.

Mrs. E. J. Rouse, who has been quite sick for several days, is getting better.

James W., Lagrand and J. P. Utz and Hubert Rouse made 20 bushels of wheat to the acre.

A horse belonging to Ed Riggs broke through the arch and fell into a cistern It was taken out unhurt.

Hathaway.

B. D. Adams has bought a new buggy.

Joe Riddell is hauling coru from East Bend.

The little son of John Rue, of Lexington, spent several days here last week.

Mrs. Bettie Sullivan and Miss Percie Ryle were visiting on Gunpowder, last Friday.

Mrs. G. L. Smith and Cynthia Mason were guests of their aged parents last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Stephens were visiting their daughter in the Gunpowder neighborhood last Thursday.

Tony Bentler was in this neighborhood a couple of days last week with his force of threshers.

Miss Stella, Clyde and Stanley Barker were out on Gunpowder visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joe Riddell, several days last week.

Mrs. Daversinville and two little daughters, of Newport, were visiting her sister Mrs. J. Q. Elston for the past three weeks.

Flickertown.

Jim Smith has been quite poorly for several days.

Bud Acra has been quite poorly for a couple of weeks.

Born, to Jim Green and wife, on the 25th ult., a fine girl.

Miss Aunie Hammel, of Ludlow, was the guest of Samuel Hensley and wife, last week.

A great many from this vicinity attended the basket meeting at Petersburg, last Sunday.

Geo. Hensley and wife have moved to the breezy heights of Woolper, known as chinkapin ridge.

Misses Edith Smith and Ada Rue were visiting in the Gunpowder neighborhood, several days last week.

Threshing wheat is the order of the day. Collin's machine from Indiana is doing the work in this neighborhood.

Wm. Hensley and family, of Petersburg, Miss Hammel, of Ludlow, Egbert Nichols and family, Misses May and Pearl Sebree, of this neighborhood, were the guests of Samuel Hensley and wife, last Thursday.

Bellevue.

What ails John Young Brown?

O. N. Grant is out on his wheel.

A fine rain fell here last Saturday.

Weed is quiet again and seems perfectly reconciled.

Heine Lindenburn spent last week with old friends here.

Hulling butterbeans and picking out moles is the order of the day.

We are listening every day for the rumble of the watermelon wagon.

Mrs. Al Rogers was visiting her mother and sister, one day last week.

Mrs. Sallie Cutchins, of St. Paul, Minn., is visiting her aunt, Miss Julia Dinsmore.

Prof. D. M. Snyder and wife attended the Baptist meeting in Petersburg, last Sunday.

All seem to be pleased with the action of the Democratic Committee at their last meeting.

Miss Minnie Deck is assisting Mrs. J. H. Lawell in housekeeping. She is a worthy young lady.

Miss Myrtle Corbin returned home Sunday, after a week's visit with Geo. White and family, near Burlington.

Mrs. John Scott and her daughter, Mrs. Bettie Botts, were visiting Seberu Scott and family in Indiana, several days last week.

Jake Ryle and Jossie Acra went to Lawrenceburg, one day last week, and were married. May their path be filled with peace and plenty.

Joe Birkle lost his fine colt, Friday. It jumped onto the iron feuce at J. H. Lawell's and run one of the spears into its body just in front of the left flank.

Walton.

Miss Ruby Vest has returned to her home in Dry Ridge, after a pleasant visit to Miss Gertrude Curley.

Misses Julia Ross, Ella Shaw and Mary Lou Shaw, of the Highlands, Campbell county, are the guests of the Misses Rouse.

Misses Bessie Weyman and Gertrude Van Leuven; and Messrs Edw'd. Wetzet and J. M. Van Leuven, the first and third from Cincinnati, and the second and fourth from Newport, are visiting friends here.

Miss Adah Lermond and Allie Wilson, of Bank Lick, are visiting Mrs. Artie Lermond, of Silverton, Indiana. On Saturday last a party, consisting of Misses Julia Adams, Martha Rouse, Eva Shaw, Julia Rose, Eva Byrd Mary Lou Shaw, Lucy Fields, and Gertrude Curley, Messrs. Walter Rouse, John Crowe, Willie Norman, Thos. Stevens, and Robert Byland, made an impromtu visit to Big Bone.

Another excursion party, Misses Nettie Rice, Mollie Venable, Pearl Grubbs, Alice Dixon, Clara Diers and H. C. Diers, chaperone; Messrs, Edw'd. Fullilove, Eugene Demoisey and Sleet Yarnell, did Big Bone, Sunday, so also did Mr. Ed Stamler, and Miss Alice Laws. Verily the old resort is becoming more popular with our young people.

A great many more people visit Big Bone than was at first supposed. There is another Walton delegation on the list: Misses Iva Vallandigham, Lida Percival and Lydia Shinkle and Messrs Iva Vallaudingham, Will and Clayton Shinkle. Mr. and Mrs. Brittenhelm and many others from all about here attended the camp meeting now being held there.

High Street bridge was condemned by the council more than two years ago, and probably the Southern was notified. If immediate steps are not taken to repair it somebody's horse may be crippled and will have to be paid for.

The Walton base ball club have improved their grounds by the addition of a grand stand. On last Saturday afternoon they did up the Sherman club by a score of 14 to 10 in a 7 inning game —called off on account of the rain.

Miss Effie J. Lermoud will teach the same school in Kentou she taught last season.

The series of meetings at the Baptist church has been well attended, and the Rev. Mr. Borr has shown himself to be as able and eloquent a preacher as has been heard here for a long time.

The colored people had a picnic on Saturday and challenged the admiration of the whites by the orderly manner in which the affair was conducted.

Rabbit Hash.

A good rain would make the farmers rejoice.

Mrs. Mary O'Neal is building a nice, new dwelling.

Road working has begun, but not before it should.

Miss Maud Ryle will teach the Maple Hill school this fall.

B. W. Nelson will teach the Petersburg High School this winter.

E. L. Stepheus will build a house in Rabbit Hash in the near future.

Wheat is all threshed and it made an average of 6 or 7 bushels to the acre.

Rev. Slaughter, Universalist, preached at the K. of P. Hall, Sunday evening.

There is very little said about the race for Representative in this precinct.

There is a good deal of complaining about the tobacco worms being so numerous.

Blufe Ryle and Miss Marbie Keut, of this place, were married in Rising Sun, last Tuesday.

Quite a number of our young people attended the camp meeting at Big Bone, Sunday.

Rev. Dame filled his appointment at the Baptist church last Sunday morning and evening.

Misses Lou Allen and May Thompson, of Petersburg, have been visiting relatives in this neighborhood.

J. H. Walton, B. D. Adams, S. N. Riggs, R. M. Wilson and Will Long each purchased a new buggy, last week.

A. G. McConnell and wife have returned from their visit to Wilmore where they attended the holiness meeting.

John and Sam McConnell started for Lexington to-day on their wheels. They will go through the blue-grass regions and visit several places on the round trip.

Florence

Lena, the little daughter of Jas. Tanner, is quite sick.

Miss Ada Latham is visiting her mother, Mrs. Mary Latham.

Born—On the 28th ult., to William Marks and wife, a fine girl baby.

Miss Hattie Wagstaff, of Louisville, is the guest of Mrs. Will Bradford.

Miss Anna Carpenter, of Chicago, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Harry Fisk.

Owen Bradford and wife, of Union, spent Sunday with the Misses Corbin.

Misses Maud and Edna Batton, of Lockland, Ohio, are visiting at Mr. Jacob Rice's.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Conner spent Saturday and Sunday here, the guests of Mrs. Latham.

Misses Alice and Cleo Menzer, of St. Bernard, Ohio, are the guests of their grandfather, Mr. M. Grogan.

Mrs. Francis Clutterbuck and children, Carl and Emma, spent Sunday with Mrs. Reuben Clutterbuck, near Point Pleasant.

The protracted meeting, which began here a week ago, conducted by Revs. Watkins and Ringold, is increasing in interest each night. The house was full to overflowing Sunday night. Those who are staying away are missing a spiritual treat.

Died—At his home near Florence, last Friday morning, John Dorsey, aged 35. The funeral services were held at the Catholic church Monday morning, after which the remains were laid to rest in St. Mary's cemetery.

About 200 people assembled at the ball ground on the Lexington pike at the Logan place, Sunday afternoon to witness two games of ball. The first was between the Independence and Erlanger clubs which resulted in a score of 17 to 8 in favor of Erlanger; the second game was the Queen City's of Cincinnati vs Erlanger, which resulted in favor of the former by a score of 25 to 10. It was a quiet orderly crowd.

Union.

R. T. Clements put in two days, last week, farming.

This section was visited by a glorious rain, Saturday evening.

B. L. Norman returned from a visit in Mason county, Saturday.

For sale—A full blood thirlrid boar, 1 year old. Lou Clarkson.

Miss Grace Odenwald, of Richwood, was the guest of Mrs. Mike Kualy, last week.

Miss Carrie Thomas, of Bracken Co., was the guest of Miss Naunie Burkett, last week.

Prof. Neander Stephens, of Kenton county, was in town Saturday evening on business

Mrs. Mildred Baker and daughter, of Covington, are the guests of Mrs. Napolean Bristow.

Ed Clegg has a tree with two peaches on it—the only one we have heard of in this section.

John Debahanty and sons have put up 32 stacks of hay. Hustlers—well, I should say they are hustlers.

Muge Conner is, perhaps, the only man in the county that never killed any kind of game with a gun.

Granville Rouse is remodeling a line of wire fence for J. A. Huey and has a long line to build for Jas. A. Huey.

Mr. J. S. Asburry, of Masou county, will be in Union, August 5th, with 245 good stock ewes to sell at reasonable prices.

Misses Opha and Marietta Riley entertained a number of frends, Wednesday evening. Refreshments were served and a most delightful evening was passed by all present.

If ever a time comes when the world seems a dark and dreary affair and fortune plays fantastic tricks with future prospects, it is the time when a fellow goes on Gunpowder Saturday afternoou and sees bass skipping over the rippling waters like lambs in sprigtime and the chauces are 4 to 1 in favor of catching a two-pounder and the rain pours in torreuts. Ask Uncle Frank Smith.

Union has been on a boom this year and no mistake. The ring of hammers and whiz of saws ranging in size from the light and graceful turned shoeing hammer at the blacksmith shop to the massive sledge used in breaking stone, and the mitre saw of the carpenter to the large circular saw of the "Union Milling Co." Prosperity sitteth in high places and all kinds of vegetables plentiful. The crowing of the "yaller leg" chickens can be heard abroad in the land, and crop prospects are out of sight. Work of all kinds has been abundant, so the boys have money to burn. The girls have beaux and old folks are canning blackberries and looking forward to the future with hopes of talking through the telephone and riding on the electric cars from here to Covingtou, &c.

Petersburg.

These are dog days.

Corn and tobacco need rain.

Marshall Terrill went to High Bridge Sunday.

Hughes and Riggs are on duty here as gaugers.

Miss Hallie Wentzel, of Delhi, Ohio, is visiting friends here.

The Pauline has extended her trips to the mouth of Garrison.

The City of Pittsburg has entered the Louisville trade and a lively rate war is on.

Frank Smith's mother and sister, of Ludlow, spent last week with him and his family.

Bert Berkshire and sister, of Burlington, were visiting here Saturday and Sunday.

After the concert Saturday night the young folks engaged in the mazy dance till midnight.

Jack Berkshire and family, of Florence, were visiting his parents here, several days last week.

Park Berkshire has returned to his home in Daviess county, after spending two weeks at his old home.

P. E. Cason was visiting the scenes of his youthful days, and attending to legal business here, Saturday.

Chas. Shipman has 3 acres of potatoes on Elijah Parker's farm that will make 200 bushels to the acre.

Watermelons are ripe, but owiug to the scarcity of money among the working they people, are selling lowly.

Loder & Co., put in three faithful weeks painting the flouring mill. It took 65 gallous of oil to mix the paint.

H. P. Crisler has returned from a visit to his son at Brooklyn, N. Y. He also called on Rev. Absalom Gaines at Canton, N. Y.

Louis and Courtney Jarrell went to Louisville, last Sunday, to see their little brother who is in the Baptist Orphans Home.

Sheriff Beall was here, Saturday, gathering taxes and posting notices of his appointments to meet the tax-payers at different places.

Revs. Kirtley and Hoover preached at the Methodist church, Sunday morning and afternoon. Dinner was served in the school house yard.

Mrs. Mary Rector stepped on a rusty nail Saturday, making a painful wound two inches deep and at this time it is swollen and very much inflamed.

Harry Graves, who went from here to St. Louis, Mo., several years ago, is now superintendent of the Cooperage department of the Liggett & Myers Co.

Everett Bruce, who had just returned from Danville school for the deaf and dumb, was badly hurt by being jerked against a stump by a wild calf, one day last week.

Colored society in coontown is all agog over the approaching marriage of the gallant of the town with a yaller gal from Rising Sun. The expected groom has already bought his intended a charm string.

While driving through his meadow, last Tuesday, Col. Appleton's buggy turned over with him, carrying the Col. and horse down a steep embankment. The buggy was wrecked, but Mr. A., luckily escaped.

Martin Kittle is very strangely afflicted. When walking about his knees will become dislocated, when he falls, and then he drags himself to a fence, where he places his feet in a crack and pulls his knees into place.

I. J. Yerkes, who moved from here to Vicksburg, Miss., several years ago, shot and killed two boys and wounded two others, that were in his melon patch, Friday night. At last accounts a mob bent on lynching was pursuing him.

Our hotels are getting ready to entertain the teachers and their friends who attend the Institute, which meets here on the 14th. Hotel Crisler is situated in the shadiest spot in town, and is convenient to the steamboats and airships. Hotel Morrison is located on the banks of the beautiful Ohio, and is reached by all roads centering in the city. Teachers arriving in town can secure a guide at any of the news stands on Front street.

The young people of the town gave a concert last Saturday night, that was attended by 200 people. All the neighboring towns were well represented in the audience. The curtain raised on a minstrel scene, introducing the entire company, with Mrs J. I. Wingate as interlocutor, and William Crisler and Charles Gardner as end men. We have not space to mention all the particulars and the role each assumed, but each acted his or her part well, and during the three hours solid fun there was not a single blunder. There were some very young people in the several parts, and their appearance before the foot-lights caused rounds of applause. The performance concluded with a grand cake-walk, introducing the entire company, and it was so near perfection that it made the coons present turn white with envy.

Richwood.

Judge Cecil Peuce, of Covington, was visiting friends here, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rice and Mrs. Johnnie Carpenter spent Saturday in the city.

Miss Emma Harvey is visiting relatives here, and will remain a week or ten days.

The friends of Mrs. Dorsey, nee Lal Soden, sympathize with her in the sudden death of her husband.

The Singing Society was delightfully entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robinson at their last meeting.

Mr. Clifford Nadaud, the Klondiker, now candidate for Mayor of Covington, was entertained by friends, here last Thursday.

Mrs. Merrill Sparks and little daughter, Elizabeth, of Williamstown, are spending the summer with Mrs. S.'s mother, Mrs. John Harvey.

Prof. Andy Collins has accepted the principalship of the West Covington school. While we regret losing him, we congratulate him on his success.

Miss Pearl Hughes has returned to her home, after quite a stay with her brother in the West; she stopped at Indianapolis to attend the Epworth League Convention, with which she was delighted.

Some of the young people who anticipated attending the Big Bone Camp Meeting, Sunday, were disappointed on account of the rain, but Mr. and Mrs. Claud Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. William Glacken, Miss Lucy Robinson and Mr. Ben Northcutt attended.

The many friends of Mrs. Mary McGlasson, of Covington, will regret to learn of the death of her husband in Texas; her son George also died there some months ago. Mrs. McGlasson and Miss Alice have made many friends here during their visit to Mrs. Jane Couner.

Born, to Fielding Dickey, jr., and wife, a daughter.

Mr. Lee Gash, of Atlanta Ga., has been visiting at the home of Rev. W. H. Davis.

Miss Lottie Fall, of Union, will have charge of the Richwood public school during the coming year.

The new station at Richwood has at last been completed and the building, though small, is very nicely finished both inside and out.

Mr. Will Wolfe has purchased a pretty piece of woodland on the Beaver pike, from the Rice heirs, and expects to build a house upon it.

Miss Sara Converse, of Louisville, who has been visiting her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dickey, was called home on account of the illness of her mother. Her departure was regretted by her many friends.

The Excelsior Literary Club will hold its next meeting at the residence of Mr. Justice Hudson. The new officers elected at the last meeting were, President, Mr. Wade Bedinger; Vice-President, Miss Nell Cleek; Secretary, Miss Martha Lassing; Treasurer, Mr. Sam Sleet.

The last "singing" was entertained by Mr. Robinson, on the Beaver pike. There was an unusually large crowd present, which goes to show that this is a popular meeting place. The next singing will meet with Mr. Rice at Richwood on the Saturday evening before the first Sunday.

Berkshire.

Several couple from this place went to Frankfort on the excursion, and had a grand time.—Mrs. Katie Aliphin took dinner with her daughter, Mrs. C. C. Humes Sunday, it being her 80th birthday.—Mr. R. L. Roberts is very sick of asthma.—Joe Lee Noell lost one of his match horses the other day.—J. Bert Aliphin has gone to the Indian Territory to seek his fortune. His numerous friends regret to see him go.—The Aid Society met at South Fork, Wednesday, to make their little pops in the church and to work on a beautiful quilt they are making.—R. L. Roberts and wife have placed a nice tombstone at the grave of their deceased son.—The tent meeting at Big Bone is progressing nicely. No additions.—Hope the boys will keep their little pops in their pockets. Lou West has had his buggy so nicely painted that the girls can see themselves in it.

Josie Acra, who lives at O. P. Conner's and John Ryle, of McVille, eloped to Lawrenceburg, last Wednesday night, and were married. The bride is the daughter of Joseph Acra and wife, of McVille.

LAWRENCEBURG FAIR

Lawrenceburg, Indiana,

AUG. 22, 23, 24, 25 & 26,

BABY SHOW every day.

A full program of RACES each day.

Will have the best line of LIVESTOCK ever seen on their grounds.

For information address

H. L. NOWLIN, Secretary,
Guilford, Indiana.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission and SEED Merchants.
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.
Largest and Best Stock of
GROCERIES IN THE CITY.
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.
27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone 4055) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street,
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

JOHN ALLISON,

UNDER- EMBAL-

TAKER MER,

—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,—
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.
INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

Order Spring Suits NOW

And we will make them up artistically and ready for you promptly on time. We have

Over Five Hundred Styles

Of Spring and Summer Woolens to Select from. They come direct from the looms of foreign and domestic manufacturers, and surpass in elegance and variety anything ever shown in Covington. In the assortment are many exclusive patterns—goods that cannot be duplicated by any other establishment in this city. Keep these facts in mind and place your order for a stylish suit with us. We promise you a faultless fit, the proper cut, and a price that will not be more than you can afford to pay.

H. F. BLASE.

H. F. BLASE,
535 Madison Avenue,
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY

A Word to the Public

MY STOCK OF

Dry Goods, Notions,

AND LADIES' AND GENTS'

TOILET ARTICLES

for the Spring Trade has been received, and to be appreciated must be seen. Fresh

DRUGS AND GROCERIES

received daily. A large stock of

PAINTS & OILS

on hand at all times. All Goods New and Clean, and are sold at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.

—GIVE ME A CALL—

J. G. OELSNER, Florence, Ky.

BEAUMONT COLLEGE HARRODSBURG, KY.—Strongest Southern Girls' School Curriculum, perhaps; in essentials, the peer of any elsewhere. Six languages, without extra charge. Piano and Organ Director, Mus. Doct., Oxon. Superb advantages in Art and in Elocution. Grounds (33 acres) unsurpassed in America for beauty. Its students have represented more than 30 States. Refined home. Number limited. Terms reasonable. TH. SMITH, A. M., Pres. (Alumnus of Univ. of Va.)

Local News.

J. W. Kennedy and Ben Stephens, candidates for Representative, will speak on the following dates at the following places at 8 o'clock p. m.: At Walton, August 1; Verona, Aug. 2; Beaver, Aug. 3; Union, Aug. 4; Big Bone, Aug. 5; Burlington, Aug. 7 at 2 p. m. The remainder of the places at 8 p. m.—Bellevue, Aug. 8; Petersburg, Aug. 9; Bullittsville, Aug. 10; Constance, Aug. 11; Florence, Aug. 12; Rabbit Hash, Aug. 14.

Go to the Keeley picnic next Saturday afternoon.

Several Burlingtonians attended the camp meeting at Big Bone, Sunday.

Several Burlington ladies enjoyed a day's outing down on Gunpowder, last week.

Arch Acra sold and delivered a considerable quantity of sheaf oats here, last week.

A nice afternoon can be spent with the Keeleyites at their picnic next Saturday.

Several of the K. P's of this place attended the banquet at Erlanger, Saturday night.

There has been a warm competition among threshing machines in this county this year.

The Keeleyites will see to it that you have a nice time at their picnic next Saturday afternoon.

Remember the Keeley picnic on the afternoon of the 5th inst., at the Harvest Home grounds.

Fishing down on Gunpowder was very fine, last Thursday, and several large bass were taken.

On another page you will find the Harvest Home premium list. Some new features have been added.

☞ Go to A. Corbin & Son's for first-class Kanawha Coal at 9 cents per bushel of 76 pounds. an-1

Only one colored applicant for a teacher's certificate last Friday and Saturday. She was from Covington.

Wheat threshing will be about closed out this week. The crop in this county is considerably below an average yield.

There were fine rains in several neighborhoods in the county last week, and, as a result, a great many nubbins were spoiled.

The electric road to Big Bone is creating a considerable interest among those living along the proposed route, and they will give it material assistance.

The Florence fair this fall will be better than any of the past in numerous particulars, and especially in the matter of accommodations for exhibitors of live stock.

WANTED—100 head of horses and mules. Will pay the market price for same, cash. Will buy all kinds on the 1st Monday in August at Burlington.
GOLDBLAT & Co.

A few days since Miss Ella Duncan completed a typewritten copy of the Edwards divorce suit, which will be taken to the court of appeals. There are over 300 pages of the record.

Next Monday is county court day, and on the Monday following the August term of the Boone circuit court will convene for a two weeks' session if the business requires that much time.

The Underhill machine threshed 3,500 bushels of grain in the Hebron neighborhood, last week. The largest crop threshed was that of Harrison Clore, 1,100 bushels of wheat. This is the largest crop of wheat we have heard of being threshed in the county this year.

You must put a 2 cent stamp on your checks. The revenue department has recently ruled that a bank is not permitted to stamp a check for a depositor, and that if it does it is liable to a heavy fine. An unstamped check now has to be returned to the person drawing it.

The Boone County Teachers' Institute will hold a five days' session at Petersburg from August 14 to 18 inclusive. All those holding certificates, or those intending to apply for certificates to teach this year, are required by law to attend the full session. A. C. Fleshman, general instructor; Miss Lillie Rouse, specialist in primary work.
L. H. VOSHELL, Co. Supt.

Rev. and Mrs. James A. Kirtley are entertaining their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ida M. Kirtley and her children, of Kansas City, Mo.—Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Jordon, daughter and son, also from Kansas City, spent several days, last week, at the Kirtley home.—J. Henry Irving, of, Charlottesville, Va., was the guest of James A. Kirley, jr., at his father's home, for a few days last week.

There have been many rumors in regard to the Street Railroad. The latest is that the company had sold out its poles and rails to other companies. In order to have something authentic to say we called up Col. Hoover, at Hamilton, O., the President of the company, just before going to press and he informed us that there is every assurance that within the next ten days a force of 500 men will be at work on the line.—Lawrenceburg Register.

The Burlington and Bellevue base ball clubs have arranged for a series of three games, the proceeds of the games to go for the benefit of the Odd Fellows' Lodge at Bellevue. The first game will be played at Bellevue on the 12th inst. The following is the Line up:

Bellevue.	Position.	Burlington.
Cook,	catcher	Gordon.
Arnold, H. E.	3 base	Clutterbuck, R
Rogers, John	1 field	McKim,
Arnold, W. B.	s s	Slayback,
Lindenburn,	pitcher	Brady,
Maurer, E.	center	Kendall.
Moody,	1 base	Sandford,
Maurer, C.	2 base	Maxwell,
Clore,	r field	Kirkpatrick.
Smith, (all.)

PERSONAL MENTION.

Robert Rice, the Florence machine man, was in town Monday morning.

J. G. Blanton and wife, of Dayton, were guests at Dr. Furnish's Sunday.

C. A Fowler and wife, of Athens, Ohio, are visiting their relatives here.

Sheriff Beall and attorney Cason made a business trip to Petersburg, last Saturday.

O. P. Conner and Henry Phipps attended the High Bridge camp meeting, Sunday.

Geo. W. Popham was among our callers, Friday. He is getting younger day by day.

Mrs. Lottie Daveraintville, of Newport, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Hall, at this place.

R. Lee Huey and wife, of Big Bone, were visiting Bert Gaines and wife last Saturday and Sunday.

H. W. Smith, proprietor of the Burlington Hotel, Cincinnati, spent several days in Burlington, last week.

Mrs. J. H. Ryle, of Florence, has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. S. Clutterbuck, for several days.

J. M. Lassing, receiver, was in Florence, Monday, appraising the property belonging to H. Kroger, a bankrupt.

Mrs. Nannie Cloud and Mrs. Robert Carver are visiting their sister, Mrs. J. E. Rouse, at Yarnellton, Fayette county.

Miss Blanche Chesman, the pleasant guest of Miss Jessie Gordon for the past two weeks, has returned to her home in Woodland Park.

Among those transacting business in Burlington, Monday, were Thos. F. Grant, of Bullittsville; Jno. R. Whitson, of Florence, and N. W. Burkett, of Union.

Mrs. A. L. Williams and Miss Juliette Bohmey, who have been spending several weeks with Mrs. Williams' mother at this place, returned to their home in Indianapolis, Sunday.

Speaking of colored applicants for teachers' certificates, last Friday, Supt. Voshell, said, "they have improved considerably in the last few years, and stand quite as good an examination as the white applicants do."

Our friend, Benj. Crisler, of the Gunpowder neighborhood, made us a call early Friday morning. Ben says the grasshoppers have about robbed him of a tobacco crop, but he consoles himself with the belief that it will not be worth much, anyhow.

Thos. Cowen, of Frankfort, came down Friday and remained over Saturday. It had been some time since he was in Burlington, and his friends here, and they are limited only by the population of the town, were glad to strike hands with him again.

N. W. Culbertson, and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Stephens, of Covington, and Benj. Frazier, of Arizona, took dinner at Mrs. Cowen's, Sunday. Mr. Fraizer was born in this town, moving away in 1844, when he was only a lad. In 1847 he visited Burlington for his last time until last Sunday. He met only two or three persons who were residents of the place the last time he was here. His hair and whiskers are as white as snow, but he is physically robust.

P. T. Fail, of Union, was in town last Saturday, and was tackled by C. L. Crisler, of the Boone House, for failing to paint a sign for his hotel according to a promise made several months ago. Philip silenced Cy's battery when he informed him that the sign had been painted and delivered according to contract, in Florence several weeks ago, and that it is hanging at a place in that town where no wide awake person could fail to see it. Cy has passed his sign about twenty times but never recognized it.

A Delightful Trip to Vevay.

One of the nicest excursions that ever boarded the Levi Workum, was that of the 20th of July, given by Mrs. A. J. Gauce and Mrs. Jas Jarrell, the former from Arlington Heights, Ohio, and the latter from Petersburg. There were about 25, all good, jolly church members of different denominations. The Arlington crowd boarded the boat Wednesday evening and remained on board over night, and the next morning at half past four the Petersburg people joined them, and as they gently glided down the river all joined in singing "When the Roll is Called up Yonder, I'll be There." Many more nice pieces were sung, after which all enjoyed some nice music made by Mr. Wm. Fenton's music box. The dinner hour arriving the contents of the numerous well filled baskets were spread, and all did justice to the nice, delicious food. The afternoon was spent in social chat and many hearty laughs followed the numerous and well told jokes. At the proper hour supper was spread and all enjoyed the last feast, after which vocal music was the order until the boat was near the landing at Petersburg, at which place our people bid adieu to the Arlington crowd, who sang, "God be with you till we meet again," as we went ashore. So pleasantly was the day spent that it did not seem more than half the usual length.

Those composing the crowd on the part of Arlington were, Mr. and Mrs. Gance, Mr. and Mrs. Gares, Mesdames Long, Orth and son Albert; Stewart, Livingston and daughters Euna and Mary; Minnez and daughter, Bessie; Ellis, Misses Alma, Corrin, Lillian and Edna Skillman; Bessie, Edson, Roxie Sellers, Frances Williams, ——Adams. Representing Petersburg were Mr. and Mrs. James Jarrell, Mesdames Ben Jarrell, Dan Hoffman, Thos. Hynes, Chas. Wells, Chas. Hoffman, Joe Snelling; Misses Nannie Bigney, Ellie Nelson, Lizzie and Annie Wendal, Maud McWethy, Effie Hensley, Maud Jarrell, Ethel and Lou Febree, Maggie and Kate Suelling, Inice Hensley and Messrs. Leslie Sebree, Stephens and Burgess Hynes.

COUNTY COURT.

Sarah F. Powers appointed administratrix of the estate of W. J. Powers, deceased. F. M. Cleek, G. W. Roberts and W. T. Farrell, appraisers.

G. N. Buffington and Benj. Stephens dedicated to the county the road leading from the Covington and Lexington turnpike near the residence of Benj. Stephens to Kenton county line.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.

DOLLARS DO DOUBLE DUTY HERE.

Standard Granulated Sugar, 18 lbs. $1 00.
Arbuckle Coffee 10 cents per lb.
Daniel Boone Soap, 3 bars for 5 cents.
Pittsburg Wire less than city prices.
Lime, Cement, White Lead, Oils, Varnishes, etc., as cheap as in the city.

Baby Shoes for 10c per pair up.
Misses' Shoes for 50c per pair up.
A full line of Men's, Ladie's and Children's Tan Shoes—Latest Styles, Best Quality, Lowest Prices.
Men's Dress Pants, 75c per pair.
Wonder Overalls, Shirts and Pants, the best made.

COME at ONCE. THESE PRICES are ONLY While Present Stock Lasts.

UNION, KENTUCKY. UNION, KENTUCKY.

McALPIN & THOMSON,

Successors to RIGGS BROS.

Undertakers —AND— Embalmers,

LIVERY, BOARDING & FEED STABLES.

Special Rates to Traveling Men. Pianos, Organs and Furniture Carefully Removed. First-class Carriages for hire with careful drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, etc.

LEXINGTON PIKE, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
J. M. EDDINS, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

The Sun Shines on both Sides of the Street for the Man, Boy or Child who wear our

CLOTHING

Come in and try on some of the New Styles, if you want a most graceful becoming suit. Our CLOTHING are easily the neatest fitting, finest looking and best wearing in the country. Our experience in the business enables us to sell at

ROCK BOTTOM.

Whether you are ready to buy or not, we want to see you in our store. It will cost you nothing to look at our goods.

ROLFES & WACHS, No. 1 Pike Street, Cor. Madison Ave.
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

Order of Reference.

Boone Circuit Court.
E. W. Weaver's Adm'r, Pltf.
vs. | Order of Reference.
E. W. Weaver's heirs, &c., Defts.

This cause is now referred to J. W. Duncan, Master Commissioner of said court, under section 431, Civil Code of Practice, with the following instructions:

1st. The Master will audit and settle the accounts of the administrator.

2nd. He will ascertain the amount of debts found against decedent's estate, and report same.

3d. He will ascertain the number of acres of land, location and value of same owned by decedent at the time of his death.

4th. He will give due notice of his sittings, and report at the next term of this court.

Witness my hand as clerk of said court, this July 24th, 1899.
J. W. DUNCAN, Clerk B. C. C.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will begin his sittings on the 1st day of August, 1899, at the Circuit Clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., to hear proof in the above styled cause, and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 12th day of Aug., 1899. All persons having claims against said estate will present them to me properly proven according to law.
J. W. DUNCAN, Master Com'r.

Primary Election.

The Democratic Executive Committee of Boone county, pursuant to call, met in the office of D. E. Castleman in Burlington, at 2 o'clock p. m., July 22, 1899, and the following resolutions were unanimously carried:

1st. That the nomination of a candidate for the Legislature be determined by a primary election, to be held on August 19th, 1899, under the law, and that said primary election be conducted free to the candidates, except for the expense for ballots, for which expense the Chairman of the Committee, after having contracted for the printing thereof, shall apportion the same among the candidates.

2d. That all known Democrats and those young men who are not of age on the date of said primary, but who will be legal voters at the November election, and will pledge themselves to support the nominee of this primary, shall be entitled to participate therein.

On motion duly seconded and carried, the Committee adjourned to meet at the office of D. E. Castleman, in Burlington, on August 7th, 1899, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of selecting officers for said primary election, at which time each committeeman is requested to recommend a list of primary election officers for his precinct. D. E. CASTLEMAN, Ch'm'n.
J. C. BEDINGER, Sec't'y.

For Rent—Blacksmith shop. Apply to Mrs. Annabel Kirkpatrick, Burlington.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

The taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the following places to receive taxes for 1899:

Verona, Sept. 5th, Oct. 5th.
Walton, Sept. 6th, Oct. 6th.
Bellevue, Sept. 7th, Oct. 9th.
Union, Sept. 8th, Oct. 7th.
Petersburg, Sept. 9th, Oct. 10th.
Bullittsville, Sept. 11th, Oct. 16th.
Big Bone, Sept. 12th, Oct. 11th.
Constance, Sept. 13th, Oct. 12th,
Beaver, Sept. 14th, Oct. 13th
Florence, Sept. 15th, Oct. 14th
Rabbit Hash, Sept. 16th, Oct. 17th.
Gunpowder, Oct 18th.
Richwood, Oct. 20th.
Hebron, Oct. 21st.

All taxes not paid by Dec. 1st, 1899, will have the 6 per cent. penalty added. Meet me at the appointed places and avoid the penalty.
ELMER BEALL, S. B. C.

W. M. RANDALL,
DENTIST.
Will be at

BURLINGTON,	PETERSBURG:
Monday,	Wednesday,
Tuesday,	Thursday, Friday, Saturday,

☞OF EACH WEEK.☜
GIVE HIM A CALL.

The League Institute,

VERONA, KY.

Opens September 18, 1899.

Miss N. E. Hamilton, Principal, (teacher of Belle-lettres and Sciences.
Miss Madeline Pfeiffer, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Latin & German.
Miss Lulu Forwood, Mathematics and Elocution.
With those interested, a correspondence with the principal is solicited.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the League Institute, the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, 1st, That we endorse and commend the methods, management and zeal of the faculty.

2d. That we desire to express our appreciation of the steady growth of the Institute; and especially the great interest manifested by pupils and patrons.

3d. That we cordially invite parents seeking a good school for their children to investigate the merits of The League Institute.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS,
Verona, Ky.

When in Burlington Call on

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK

●DEALER IN●●

DRY GOODS

Notions, Boots and Shoes,

Who has just received his stock of

SPRING & SUMMER SHOES,

the nicest stock ever in town. Have old stock which I AM SELLING AT GENUINE BARGAINS.

NICE LINE WALL PAPER,

☞At Prices to Suit the times.☜

DEERING - MACHINES

Are the favorites in every land where grass and grain grow. They are adopted to all conditions. They are the "Acme" of strength, durability, simplicity and light draft. We will carry a full line of Repairs. Buy the Machine that is fully guaranteed and handy to obtain repairs for.

Also remember we are headquarters for all kinds of

Farm Machinery

At bottom prices. We handle nothing but the best and fully guarantee all.

Also the Largest and Cheapest

Stock of Shoes

In the county, and a full line of

General -- Merchandise.

——CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.——

COME AND SEE.

T. J. HUGHES,
BEAVER LICK. KY.

GO TO
C. T. DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,
HEBRON AND CONSTANCE,
A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.

Undertaking Given Special Attention,

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron. C. T. DAVIS & CO. Constance

W. H. HOSHAL & COMPANY,

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

Cattle, Hogs and Sheep,

—UNION STOCK YARDS,—

Cincinnati, - Ohio.

—TELEPHONE 7346.—

Information Regarding Live Stock Cheerfully Furnished.
Consign Your Stock Direct to Us.

LUMBER!

LATHS,
SHINGLES,
DOORS,
BLINDS,
SASH.

If you want any kind of Lumber it will be to your advantage to visit our yard at Lawrenceburg, Indiana, before buying. ☞Prices to Suit the Times.

M. E. LEMING & CO.

THE IVORY PALACES.

Dr. Talmage on the Glories of the World to Come.

The Attractiveness of Christ, Who Opens the Way for His Faithful Followers—The Christian's Guide to Heaven.

[Copyright, 1899, Louis Klopsch.]

In this discourse Dr. Talmage sets forth the glories of the world to come and the attractiveness of the Christ, who opens the way; text, Psalms, 45:8: "All thy garments smell of myrrh and aloes and cassia out of the ivory palaces."

Among the grand adornaments of the city of Paris is the church of Notre Dame, with its great towers and elaborate rose windows and sculpturing of the last judgment, with the trumpeting angels and rising dead; its battlements of quatre foil; its sacristy, with ribbed ceiling and statutes of saints. But there was nothing in all that great building which more vividly appealed to my plain republican tastes than the costly vestments which lay in oaken presses—robes that had been embroidered with gold and been worn by popes and archbishops on great occasions. There was a robe that had been worn by Pius VII. at the crowning of the first Napoleon. There was also a vestment that had been worn at the baptism of Napoleon II. As our guide opened the oaken presses and brought out these vestments of fabulous cost and lifted them up the fragrance of the pungent aromatics in which they had been preserved filled the place with a sweetness that was almost oppressive. Nothing that had been done in stone more vividly impressed me than these things that had been done in cloth and embroidery and perfume. But to-day I open the drawer of this text, and I look upon the kingly robes of Christ, and as I lift them, flashing with eternal jewels, the whole house is filled with the aroma of these garments, which "smell of myrrh and aloes and cassia out of the ivory palaces."

In my text the King steps forth. His robes rustle and blaze as he advances. His pomp and power and glory overmaster the spectator. More brilliant is He than Queen Vashti, moving amid the Persian princes; than Marie Antoinette on the day when Louis XIV. put upon her the necklace of 800 diamonds; than Anne Boleyn the day when Henry VIII. welcomed her to his palace—all beauty and all pomp forgotten while we stand in the presence of this imperial glory, King of Zion, King of earth, King of Heaven, King forever! His garments not worn out, not dust bedraggled, but radiant, and jeweled, and redolent. It seems as if they must have been pressed a hundred years amid the flowers of Heaven. The wardrobes from which they have been taken must have been sweeter with clusters of camphire, and frankincense, and all manner of precious wood. Do you not inhale the odors? Aye, aye. "They smell of myrrh and aloes and cassia out of the ivory palaces."

Your first curiosity is to know why the robes of Christ are odorous with myrrh. This was a bright-leafed Abyssinian plant. It was trifoliated. The Greeks, Egyptians, Romans and Jews bought and sold it at a high price. The first present that was ever given to Christ was a sprig of myrrh thrown on His infantile bed in Bethlehem, and the last gift that Christ ever had was myrrh pressed into the cup of His crucifixion. The natives would take a stone and bruise the tree, and then it would exude a gum that would saturate all the ground beneath. This gum was used for purposes of merchandise. One piece of it no larger than a chestnut would whelm a whole room with odors. It was put in closets, in chests, in drawers, in rooms, and its perfume adhered almost interminably to anything near it. So when in my text I read that Christ's garments smell of myrrh I immediately conclude the exquisite sweetness of Jesus.

I know that to many He is only like any historical person—another John Howard, another philanthropic Oberlin, another Confucius, a grand subject for a painting, a heroic theme for a poem, a beautiful form for a statue, but to those who have heard His voice and felt His pardon and received His benediction He is music and light and warmth and thrill and eternal fragrance, sweet as a friend sticking to you when all else betrays, lifting you up while others try to push you down, but so much like morning glories that bloom only when the sun is coming up, nor like "four o'clocks," that bloom only when the sun is going down, but like myrrh, perpetually aromatic, the same morning, noon and night, yesterday, to-day, forever. It seems as if we cannot wear Him out. We put on Him all our burdens and afflict Him with all our griefs and set Him foremost in all our battles, and yet He is ready to lift and to sympathize and to help. We have so imposed upon Him that one would think in eternal affront He would quit our soul, and yet to-day He addresses us with the same tenderness, drowns upon us with the same smile, pities us with the same compassion.

There is no name like His for us. It is more imperial than Cæsar's, more musical than Beethoven's, more conquering than Charlemagne's, more eloquent than Cicero's. It throbs with all life. It weeps with all pathos. It groans with all pain. It stoops with all condescension. It breathes with all perfume. Who like Jesus to set, a broken bone, to pity a homeless orphan, to nurse a sick man, to take a prodigal back without any scolding, to illumine a cemetery all plowed with graves, to make a queen unto God out of the lost woman, to catch the tears of human sorrow in a lachrymatory that shall never be broken? Who has such an eye to see our need, such a lip to kiss away our sorrow, such a hand to snatch us out of the fire, such a foot to trample our enemies, such a heart to embrace all our necessities? I struggle for some metaphor with which to express Him—He is not like the bursting forth of a full orchestra; that is too loud. He is not like the sea when lashed to rage by the tempest; that is too boisterous. He is not like the mountain, its brow wreathed with the lightnings; that is too solitary. Give us a softer type, a gentler comparison. We have seemed to see Him with our eyes and to hear Him with our ears and to touch Him with our hands. Oh, that to-day He might appear to some other one of our five senses! Aye, the nostril shall discover His presence. He comes upon us like spice gales from Heaven. Yea, His garments smell of lasting and all pervasive myrrh.

Would that you all knew his sweetness! How soon you would turn from all other attractions! If the philosopher leaped out of his bath in a frenzy of joy and clapped his hands and rushed through the streets because he had found the solution of a mathematical problem, how will you feel leaping from the fountain of a Saviour's mercy and pardon, washed clean and made white as snow, when the question has been solved: "How can my soul be saved?" Naked, frostbitten, storm-lashed soul, let Jesus this hour throw around thee the "garments that smell of myrrh and aloes and cassia out of the ivory palaces."

Your second curiosity is to know why the robes of Jesus are odorous with aloes. There is some difference of opinion about where these aloes grow, what is the color of the flower, what is the particular appearance of the herb. Suffice it for you and me to know that aloes mean bitterness the world over, and when Christ comes with garments bearing that particular odor they suggest to me the bitterness of a Saviour's sufferings. Were there ever such nights as Jesus lived through—nights on the mountains, nights on the sea, nights in the desert? Who ever had such a hard reception as Jesus had? A hostelry the first, an unjust trial in over and terminer another, a foul-mouthed, yelling mob the last. Was there a space on His back as wide as your two fingers where he was not whipped? Was there a space on His brow an inch square where he was not cut of the briers? When the spike struck at the instep, did it not go clean through to the hollow of the foot? Oh, long, deep, bitter pilgrimage! Aloes, aloes!

John leaned his head on Christ, but who did Christ lean on? Five thousand men fed by the Saviour. Who fed Jesus? The sympathy of a Saviour's heart going out to the leper and the adultress; but who soothed Christ? He had n fit place neither to be born nor to die. A poor babe! A poor lad! A poor young man! Not so much as a taper to cheer His dying hours. Even the candle of the sun snuffed out. Was it not all aloes? Our sins, sorrows, bereavements, losses and all the agonies of earth and hell picked up as in one cluster and squeezed into one cup that pressed to His lips until the acid, nauseating, bitter draft was swallowed with a distorted countenance and a shudder from head to foot and a gurgling strangulation. Aloes! Aloes! Nothing but aloes! All this for Himself? All this to get the fame in the world of being a martyr? All this in a spirit of stubbornness, because he did not like Cæsar? No, no! All this because He wanted to pluck me and you from hell. Because He wanted to raise me and you to Heaven. Because we were lost, and He wanted us found. Because we were blind, and He wanted us to see. Because we were serfs, and He wanted us manumitted. O ye in whose cup of life the saccharine has predominated; O ye who have had bright and sparkling beverages, how do you feel toward Him who in your stead and to purchase your disinthrallment took the aloes, the unsavory aloes, the bitter aloes?

Your third curiosity is to know why these garments of Christ are odorous with cassia. This was a plant which grew in India and the adjoining islands. You do not care to hear what kind of a flower it had or what kind of a stalk. It is enough for me to tell you that it was used medicinally. In that land and in that age, where they knew but little about pharmacy, cassia was used to arrest many forms of disease. So, when in my text we find Christ coming with garments that smell of cassia, it suggests to me the healing and curative power of the Son of God. "Oh," you say, "now you have a superfluous idea! We are not sick. Why do we want cassia? We are athletic. Our respiration is perfect. Our limbs are lithe, and on bright cool days we feel we could bound like a roe." I beg to differ, my brother, from you. None of you can be better in physical health than I am, and yet I must say we are all sick. I have taken the diagnosis of your case and have examined all the best authorities on the subject, and I have to tell you that you are "full of wounds and bruises and putrefying sores, which have not been bound up or mollified with ointment." The marasmus of sin is on us, the palsy, the dropsy, the leprosy. The man that is expiring to-night in the next street—the allopathic and homeopathic doctors have given him up and his friends now standing around to take his last words—is no more certainly dying as to his body than you and I are dying unless we have taken the medicine from God's apothecary. All the leaves of this Bible are only so many prescriptions from the Divine Physician, written, not in Latin, like the prescriptions of earthly physicians, but written in plain English so that a "man, though a fool, need not err therein." Thank God that the Saviour's garments smell of cassia!

Suppose a man were sick, and there was a phial on his mantelpiece with medicine he knew would cure him, and he refused to take it, what would you say of him? He is a suicide. And what do you say of that man who, sick in sin, has the healing medicine of God's grace offered him and refuses to take it? If he dies, he is a suicide. People talk as though God took a man and led him out to darkness and death, as though He brought him up to the cliffs and then pushed him off. Oh, no! When a man is lost, it is not because God pushes him off; it is because he jumps off. In olden times a suicide was buried at the crossroads, and the people were accustomed to throw stones upon his grave. So it seems to me there may be at this time a man who is destroying his soul, and as though the angels of God were here to bury him at the point where the roads of life and death cross each other, throwing upon the grave the broken law and a great pile of misimproved privileges so that those going by may look at the fearful mound and learn what a suicide it is when an immortal soul for which Jesus died puts itself out of the way.

When Christ trod this planet with foot of flesh, the people rushed after Him—people who were sick and those who, being so sick they could not walk, were brought by their friends. Here I see a mother holding up her little child, crying: "Cure this croup, Lord Jesus! Cure this scarlet fever!" And others: "Cure this ophthalmia! Give ease and rest to this spinal distress! Straighten this club foot!" Christ made every house where He stopped a dispensary. I do not believe that in the 19 centuries which have gone by since, His heart has got hard. I feel that we can come now with all our wounds of soul and get His benediction. O Jesus, here we are! We want healing. We want sight. We want health. We want life. "The whole need not a physician, but they that are sick." Blessed be God that Jesus Christ comes through this assemblage now, His "garments smelling of myrrh"—that means frankincense—"and aloes"—they mean bitter sacrificial memories—"and cassia"—that means medicine and cure.

According to my text, He comes "out of the ivory palaces." You know, or, if you do not know, I will tell you now that some of the palaces of olden time were adorned with ivory. Ahab and Solomon had their homes furnished with it. The tusks of African and Asiatic elephants were twisted into all manners of shapes, and there were stairs of ivory and chairs of ivory and tables of ivory and pillars of ivory and windows of ivory and fountains of ivory that dropped into basins of ivory and rooms that had ceilings of ivory. Oh, white and overmastering beauty! Green vine branches sweeping the white curbs. Tapestry trailing the snowy floors. Brackets of light flashing on the lustrous surroundings. Silvery music rippling on the beach of the arches. The mere thought of it almost stuns my brain, and you say: "Oh, if I could only have walked over such floors! If I could have thrown myself in such a chair! If I could have heard the drip and dash of those fountains!" You shall have something better than that if you only let Christ introduce you. From that place He came, and to that place He proposes to transport you, for His "garments smell of myrrh and aloes and cassia out of the ivory palaces." What a place Heaven must be! The Tuileries of the French, the Windsor castle of the English, the Spanish Alhambra, the Russian kremlin, are mere dungeons compared with it! Not so many castles on either side of the Rhine as on both sides of the river of God—the ivory palaces! One for the angels, insufferably bright, winged, fire eyed, tempest charioted; one for the martyrs, with blood red robes from under the altar; one for the King, the steps of His palace the crown of the church militant; one for the singers, who lead the one hundred and forty and four thousand; one for you ransomed from sin; one for me, plucked from the burning. Oh, the ivory palaces!

To-day it seems to me as if the windows of those palaces were illumined for some great victory, and I look and see climbing the stairs of ivory and walking on floors of ivory and looking from the windows of ivory some whom we knew and loved on earth. Yea, I know them. There are father and mother, not 82 years and 79 years as when they left us, but blithe and young as when on their wedding day. And there are brothers and sisters, merrier than when we used to romp across the meadows together. The cough gone. The cancer cured. The erysipelas healed. The heartbreak over. Oh, how fair they are in the ivory palaces! And your dear little children that went out from you—Christ did not let one of them drop as He lifted them. He did not wrench one of them from you. No. They went as from one they loved well to one whom they loved better. If I should take your little child and press its soft face against my rough cheek, I might keep it a little while; but when you, the mother, came along it would struggle to go with you. And so you stood holding your dying child when Jesus passed by in the room and the little one sprung out to greet Him. That is all. Your Christian dead did not go down into the dust and the gravel and the mud. Though it rained all that funeral day and the water came up to the wheel's hub as you drove out to the cemetery, it made no difference to them, for they stepped from the home here to the home there, right into the ivory palaces. All is well with them. All is well.

Queer Collection of Buttons.

The wife of an English clergyman has made a collection of all the buttons placed in the offertory bags during the last two or three years and has fastened them to cardboard in various cunning shapes of animals, birds and flowers. As a bazaar is shortly to take place in connection with the church work, she has had these button pictures photographed and copies will be on sale a the fair.

GREAT OLD ENGINEER.

An Eastern Veteran Railroader Who Ran a Mile a Minute Fifty Years Ago.

"Speaking of the locomotives of the olden time," said a veteran railroader, "reminds me of the greatest one of the day, the Carroll of Carrollton, named for the great Maryland signer of the declaration of independence. She was built by Ross Winans in Baltimore for the Boston & Worcester railroad in 1840. She was the first locomotive in this country to have wrought-iron driving wheels, and the first one in the world with drivers seven feet in diameter. And she was a coal burner, the very first of her kind. Jimmy Buckman was the engineer who ran her, and he saw every bit of her machinery made and put together, a good many of the appliances being of his own suggestion. He thought nothing of running her a mile in 60 seconds, and a mile in 63 seconds was a common and easy task for her. Those were the days of single tracks, mind you, and hand brakes, and cast-iron rails, liable to 'shake heads,' and other primitive appliances, so to run a locomotive at a mile-a-minute rate, which to-day is considered a feat worthy of talking about and boasted of, required nerve and judgment in an engineer that few engineers have to-day.

"And speaking of 'shaking heads,' that is something the present-time railroader or railroad traveler knows nothing about. One of the most important employes of a railroad in the old days was the 'snake spiker.' When the rails were simply iron straps spiked to wooden stringers the straps in time worked loose, and the ends where they were joined together would curl up and look like a big snake with its head raised a few inches from the ground. Hence the name. The snake spiker was a trusted man, who had a certain section of the track which he was detailed to patrol, with a sledge hammer and a leather bag with new spikes in it slung by a strap over his shoulder. He was to keep a sharp lookout for snake heads, for they were dangerous things for a car to come into contact with, and, when he found one, spike it down flat to the stringer again. The safety of life and property on railroads depended in a great measure on the vigilance of the snake-spiker. And it was over such rails as those that the boys of the old days had the nerve to push their engines a mile a minute."—N. Y. Sun.

SEP WINNER AND HIS SONGS.

Author of "Listen to the Mocking Bird" and Other Well Known Songs Is Still Alive.

Septimus Winner, who wrote "Listen to the Mocking Bird" and other standard American melodies, celebrated his seventy-second birthday the other day at his home in Philadelphia.

Mr. Winner makes no pretensions of having been a writer or composer of classical music, but he has written compositions which have thrilled American audiences. He occupies the unique position of having been the only author that wrote a song which was suppressed and its author threatened with imprisonment.

The greatest of all his melodies, in point of circulation and merit, was "The Mocking Bird," written almost 50 years ago, and which has been translated into the languages of the principal nations of the earth. Its effect as a revenue producer to the author lost its worth many years ago, as the copyright had expired. Some other selections which Mr. Winner composed were "Whispering Hope," "What Is Home Without a Mother?" "Ten Little Injuns," and "Give Us Back Our Old Commander."

It was a few days after Gen. Burnside had superseded McClellan in the command of the Army of the Potomac that the "Give Us Back Our Old Commander" was composed by Mr. Winner. He received his inspiration from the outburst of popular indignation which was sweeping over the land, particularly among the soldiers of the Army of the Potomac, in opposition to the removal of McClellan. "Give Us Back Our Old Commander" could be heard at night from one end of the union lines to the other, and at Chancellorsville, where Hooker displayed his inability to cope successfully with Lee, it was sung with renewed vigor.

But at this point the commotion created by the song reached its climax when the war department issued an order suppressing its sale and prohibiting the singing of it. The government, however, did not stop at this, for Julia Mortimer, one of the greatest of American singers, who was then filling an engagement at Ford's theater, was informed that imprisonment awaited her if she persisted in making the objectionable song a part of her role. Actors in Baltimore were enjoined by the government from singing it in the theaters.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Oldest Nun in America.

At the abbey of Gethsemane, in Kentucky, the home of the Trappist monks in America, was celebrated recently the dimond anniversary of Sister Generose Mattingly, the oldest nun in America. Sister Generose, who belongs to the Lorentine order, took the veil 75 years ago, when she was but 20 years old. To celebrate her anniversary the pope's prelate, Archbishop Martinelli, came to Kentucky. Others in attendance were Archbishop Spalding, of Peoria, who is a relative of the venerable sister, all the Catholic clergy of Kentucky and a number from the east. Sister Generose is related to several of the oldest and most prominent families of Kentucky. Though in feeble health she still retains all her faculties.—Chicago Tribune.

Dignity.

Any man who can deliberately pass a dog fight on the street without glancing at it possesses true dignity.—Chicago Daily News.

EPIGRAMS BY BRYAN.

Democratic Truths Delivered in Terse and Taking Style.

William J. Bryan has an epigrammatic manner of speech which rivets attention and causes the truth of his utterances to strike home and to remain constantly in the memory.

In his recent address delivered at the Auditorium meeting Bryan was unusually forceful and remarkably wise in his remarks, and the entire speech was masterly in its logic and irresistible in its eloquence.

In dealing with the subject of the trusts, the great democratic leader spoke words that cannot be forgotten. Among other things he said:

"The trust is bad because of the monopoly feature. When a few people control a product necessary to human existence, then those few control to a large extent the lives and the happiness of all who produce those articles, all who work in producing, and all who furnish the raw material used in its manufacture.

"Can we afford to build up in this nation a system by which a few shall transmit wealth from generation to generation, where the masses can only hope for a clerkship under some trust?

"If they say there is no way to stop the trust, that the republicans are doing all they can, remember that it is within the power of the president to appoint an attorney general who will enforce the law against trusts, even if he has to go out of the republican party to get the attorney general.

"And if the law on the statute books is insufficient, it is within the power of the attorney general to propose laws which are sufficient, and if the constitution stands in the way, it is within the power of the attorney general to recommend an amendment to the constitution which will give to congress plenary power to deal with this subject.

"But the republican party is powerless to annihilate the trusts so long as the trusts furnish the money to keep the republican party in power."

These words should be studied carefully by every man who has the good of the people at heart.

In them will be found the arraignment of the trust, the description of its evils, the suggestion of the remedy, the impeachment of the republican party and the demonstration that the people need hope for no relief from that party.

Seldom has so much of truth, wisdom and epigram been expressed with such terseness. There are volumes in less than half a hundred lines.—Chicago Democrat.

ALGERISM IS GONE.

Retirement of the Published Secretary of War Encourages Hope.

Gov. Pingree of Michigan makes an impassioned defense of Alger. He says that it will be learned "that the president himself has been responsible for whatever mistakes have been made in conducting the war," and adds: "I am told on the very best authority that Gen. Alger made very few appointments of officers during the war, and that the commissions were issued almost entirely upon the orders of the president."

The country takes very little stock in Gov. Pingree's attempt to represent Alger as an innocent victim of the hostility of the trusts. The embalmed secretary has several dollars in his pocket, and more than two or three of them have been put there by his intimate relations with trusts—notably the Diamond match and paper trusts.

Of course, if Algerism was nothing but McKinleyism, and if the retirement of Alger does not involve any change in the methods of the war department, the criticisms that have been directed against the secretary of war will be aimed hereafter at the president.

The people have regarded the disappearance of Alger as the first step in a radical reform of the abuses that have disgraced and crippled our military service. They have expected to see it followed by the appointment of a new general in the Philippines, by a thorough shake-up in the rotten staff bureaus at Washington, and by the substitution of honest military methods for political favoritism. They expect, for instance, to see an immediate end of the dragging Carter scandal.

Of course if nothing of this sort is meant, and if Alger has had to go, not because he disgraced and demoralized the army, but because he became a candidate for the senate against a friend of the president, the public will take no interest in his departure.

But until it has proof to the contrary, the Journal will continue to believe that the change really means reform. The selection of Alger's successor encourages it in this hope. That Mr. Root is a corporation lawyer is merely a necessary qualification for service under a corporation administration. The only question with which we have to concern ourselves is whether he is a good man of his kind, and that he certainly is. He is no soldier, but he is so infinitely superior to Alger that we have a right to expect him to institute a revolution in the conduct of his department.—N. Y. Journal.

——Is it strange that a republican organ like the New York Tribune has to take the party to task for false pretenses and broken pledges? Is there a shade of doubt that William McKinley, by showing weakness where strength was needed, has given the signal for such attacks upon the civil service as this by the republicans of Kentucky? If the next republican national platform is copied from that built at Louisville, it will not be the Kentuckians who are to blame for setting the example. The blame will rest in the white house.—Providence Journal.

PREPARING TO WIN.

Democrats Getting Ready to Put Out the Enemies of the People.

Mr. Bryan's summary of the work accomplished by the democratic national committee at its recent meeting in Chicago presents the results of that conference as bearing upon the presidential campaign of next year in a clear and positive light.

There is good reason to believe that an exceptionally compact and harmonious organization of the national democracy has been insured by the Chicago action of the committee. Party lines for the management of the next campaign have been more closely drawn. Notice has been distinctly served that local factional differences will not be permitted to affect the harmony of purpose prevailing in the national organization. Participants in those local disagreements have been urged to reach an amicable understanding for the good of the party.

Mr. Bryan is justified in his expression of satisfaction that the recent work of the national democratic committee places the party in excellent shape for the campaign of 1900. Aggressive movement will not be delayed until after the adjournment of the democratic national convention, as was the case in 1896. The organization of the party will have been perfected, and, with its platform of principles clearly enunciated, its systematic efforts for democratic victory will begin the moment the democratic standard bearer is named.

In the great fight against the trust evil, the fight of the people led by democracy, effective organization is imperative. It is good to see this organization begun at an early day by the party managers. It is incumbent upon the party in each and every state to vigorously assist the national committee in the work of organization. The fomenting or the continuance of local factional disputes means a distinct lessening of the chances of democratic victory in 1900. There will be no such elements of weakness manifested if democrats place the good of the party above selfish personal considerations.—St. Louis Republic.

NOT RID OF ALGERISM.

Until McKinley Goes the Country Will Not Be Freed from Rotten Administration.

Yielding to pressure, Alger has at last resigned. He is said to feel extremely bitter over this practical ejectment from office, and he has a right so to feel; for Alger's senatorial aspiration is a mighty thin pretext for his removal by an administration which approved and stood by the embalmed beef, the death camps, and, in short, went the whole dance, so far as the conduct of the war was concerned.

President McKinley stood by Alger when to have removed him would have been popular. He now removes him—or forces his resignation—under conditions which make Alger something of a martyr, and are well calculated to create sympathy with the Michigan man at the administration's expense.

For be it understood (and this every administration organ has admitted over and over again), Mr. Alger's conduct of the war department had President McKinley's unshaken confidence and support. So long as he could be counted upon for the second term, his resignation was not asked for, and not desired. This enforced resignation comes too late to relieve President McKinley from responsibility for the rotten beef, the rotten transports, the suffering and death of hundreds of soldiers who never saw Cuban soil.

Of Alger, the country is rid; of Algerism, it will not be rid until William McKinley and the administration responsible therefor have been retired to private life.—Albany Argus.

PARAGRAPHIC POINTERS.

——Let Alger not repine. Ambition has its meats and bounds.—Albany Argus.

——The administration would be in more creditable position if Alger's resignation had been tendered and accepted a year or more ago.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

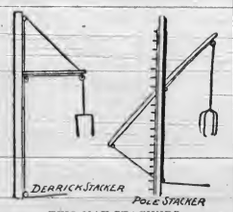
——There will probably be an anti-trust plank in the next republican national platform, but it will be used by the Hanna crowd merely as a good thing to wipe their feet on.—St. Louis Republic.

——Alger's incumbency was one of the grave misfortunes of war, which the nation suffered in silence while vast treasure and precious blood were poured out as the price of error.—Philadelphia Record.

——If the administration had given to the Filipinos the assurance of independence given to the Cubans there would have been no bloodshed. If that assurance were given now hostilities would cease.—William J. Bryan.

——Dumping Alger overboard is not enough to restore the McKinley administration to popular favor. The dumping process must be persisted in until he is rid of all the brood of advisers who have misled him into by-paths that lead to defeat and disgrace. There are others than Alger. Dump them.—Omaha World-Herald.

——The cabinet is now equally divided between the east and the middle west, but there is no member from west of Iowa or south of Missouri. Nearly every member of the cabinet is very wealthy. Hay married the daughter of Amasa Stone, the Cleveland millionaire. Gage was president of one of the leading national banks of the country. Long is independently rich. Hitchcock is a protected manufacturer. The two able attorneys, Root and Griggs, are best known as corporation lawyers and Griggs has no time, he says, to fight the trusts. It is emphatically a capitalistic aggregation.—Buffalo Courier.



Agricultural Hints

HANDY HAY STACKERS.

Two Varieties Which Have Been Used with Gratifying Success for a Number of Years.

The simple hay steckers represented in the accompanying illustrations are used extensively in certain haying districts. They are erected at convenient places in the fields and yards and near barns and sheds. Any ordinary hay fork can be used in connection with either, and much of the dreaded hard lifting and pitching of the harvest season be avoided.

The pole stacker consists of two well-seasoned poles, two chains, three pulleys and ropes to manipulate the fork. One pole is set in the ground four to six feet, after slats have been nailed on or pins driven in auger holes about two feet apart for a ladder. The post or pole may extend 30 or 40 feet in the air if high stacks are wanted. A short chain is placed around this pole near the top and hooked so as to hold the pole in place. This is a seasoned slim sapling resembling a well pole, and usually about 30 feet in length. A long chain, of say eight feet extends from the butt end of this pole to the post to which it is fastened near the ground. Three pulleys arranged properly are sufficient to lift the hay or grain. A small rope is enough to handle the fork. The pole is pulled around to the wagon, the fork inserted in the load and the chain naturally draws it back in place over the stack or shed and the load is dropped. The chains and ropes with one pole may be removed after the stacking is completed.

TWO HAY STACKERS.

Another stacker is sometimes called the derrick or crane and is more handy than the pole. It consists of a heavy post set solidly in the ground and reaching 30 or 40 feet high, with an arm 12 feet or more in length, upon which the pulleys and ropes are arranged. The arm is fastened in a groove cut in the post, and kept in place by an iron band which allows it to turn round. This stacker is frequently used when stacking hay or straw in a circle, with the post in the center. It is useful also in lifting from the wagon and swinging round to a shed or platform at a barn window. The same ropes and pulleys are required on both stackers, and a horse does the work of elevating the load. A rope, twisted wires or chain forms the stay of the derrick and prevents it from breaking. If the band holding the arm slips it may be held in place by hanging a chain above and hooking it around the arm.—Orange Judd Farmer.

TO KILL TREE STUMPS.

Destruction by Means of Salt Is the Most Effective and Cheapest Method Yet Discovered.

Here is something worth knowing. In many cases it is a long and tedious process to finally kill outright the stumps and roots of trees that it is desirable to destroy. A correspondent of the Country Gentleman tells how to promptly get rid of these unsightly trees:

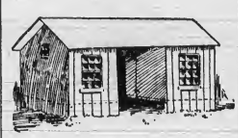
"For the last 25 years I have applied common fine salt to every stump of tree or shrub as soon as cut that I wish to destroy, without a failure. My first experience was with ailanthus and lilacs; next was 12 acres of land covered with a second growth of all the varieties of the northern oaks and hickory, soft maple, white thorn and mountain willow, using 12 barrels of salt. I have also applied it to the stumps of Lombardy poplar, which is very tenacious of life, and I have not a failure to report. I apply about one-half teaspoonful to a small shrub and a half peck on a stump measuring two feet in diameter, varying according to size. I recommend late summer or early fall as the best season for cutting and salting, for the reason that the downward flow of sap at that season will carry the dissolved salt, which is poison to all tree growth, to the extremity of the out-reaching roots."

How to Prepare Whitewash.

Take half a bushel of unslacked lime, slack it with boiling water, cover during the process to keep in the steam, strain the liquid through a fine sieve or strainer and add to it a peck of salt previously dissolved in warm water, three pounds of ground rice boiled to a thin paste and stirred in while hot, half a pound of Spanish whiting and one pound clean glue previously dissolved by soaking in cold water and then hanging over a slow fire in a small pot hung in a larger one filled with water. Add five gallons of hot water to the mixture, stir well and let it stand a few days. Cover from dirt. It should be applied hot, for which purpose it can be kept in a kettle or portable furnace. A pint of this wash mixture, if properly applied, will cover one square yard and will be almost as serviceable as paint for wood, brick or stone.—Prairie Farmer.

SYMPTOMS OF CHOLERA.

Many Poultry Diseases Called by This Name Are Merely Cases of Indigestion.



Cholera frequently prevails in summer, but many diseases are ascribed to cholera through ignorance of the symptoms. The first symptoms of the disease are, in the majority of cases, a yellow coloration of that part of the excrement which is usually white, quickly followed by violent diarrhea and rise of temperature. Other common accompanying symptoms are dropping of the wings, stupor, lessened appetite and excessive thirst. Since the disease is due to a specific germ it can only be introduced into the flock by fowls from infected premises. When the symptoms of the disease are noticed the fowls should be separated as much as possible and given restricted quarters, where they may be observed and where disinfectants can be freely used. As soon as the peculiar diarrhea is noticed with any of the fowls the birds of that lot should be changed to fresh ground and the sick ones killed. The infected excrement should be carefully scraped up and burned and the inclosure in which it has been scraped should be thoroughly disinfected with a one-half per cent. solution of carbolic acid, which may be applied with an ordinary watering-pot. Burn the dead birds. The germs of the disease are taken into the system only by the mouth, and for this reason the watering-troughs and feeding-places must be kept free from contamination by frequent disinfection with the solution mentioned. Treatment of sick birds is of but little advantage under any circumstances. The disease runs its course, as a rule, in one, two or three days, and it can only be checked with great difficulty. The majority of supposed cases of cholera are really due to indigestion.—Farm and Fireside.

GOOD HOUSE FOR HENS.

Large Enough for Forty Birds and Yet Not Too Expensive for the Average Farmer.

P. S. W., of Flanders, N. J., sends illustration of a henhouse which he has tried several years and likes very well indeed. It is 24 feet long and about ten feet wide. The two closed sheds at each end and the open shed each occupy eight feet of the length of the building, which rests on three-feet posts, having a scratching place underneath the whole affair.

One of the closed sheds is fitted up for a roosting place and the other divided by lath partition to make a place for layers and another for sitters. When a hen wants to sit, her nest can be shoved into the sitter apartment out of the way. These sitters have a little run all by themselves, as shown in the drawing. Boards with cleats nailed upon them serve as steps to the closed sheds. These steps are taken down at night to make the coops proof against prowling animal pests. The open space is floored with litter and has a door or curtain (not shown) in front for severe weather. Mr. W—— has a wire door back of the weather door. His house is good for 30 to 40 hens and cost him $75, built in first-class style.—Farm and Home.

HOUSE WITH OPEN SPACE.

AMONG THE POULTRY.

You cannot clean the coop too often.

A hen pays in proportion to the eggs she lays.

Fresh earth for scratching and dusting is indispensable.

In shipping poultry now be careful not to crowd the coops.

Too much stimulating food often causes over egg production.

While Leghorns are the best of layers, they are small in size.

Pekin ducks can be raised with only sufficient water for drinking.

Put coal oil on the roosts and air slaked lime about the building.

Young cockrels often prematurely disfigure themselves by fighting.

Feed sulphur sparingly as it will cause rheumatism or leg weakness.

Fowls that fatten easily should have plenty of opportunity to exercise.

As soon as the young turkeys get strong enough give them a free range.

Keep the dust bath always ready. Use dry earth, or sifted coal ashes, adding a little lime.

If the most prolific hens are retained and the worthless ones marketed a decided improvement will soon result.

Young and old fowls require sufficient nutritious food to keep them in a thrifty, growing condition.—St. Louis Republic.

Skimmilk Good for Chicks.

Recent experiments have shown that skimmilk is a very valuable food for young chicks, but becomes less valuable as the chicks get older, though there is no doubt that skimmilk is always valuable as a food. But for young growing chicks it seems to be more than ordinarily valuable. When added to the ration for chicks it increases the consumption of other foods given. The farmer almost always has a plentiful supply of skimmilk, at least so far as the demand for a feed for the chicks is concerned. Meat and milk as part of the ration of the chicks will cause a rapid growth, and this is of great importance when we are trying to get fall layers.—Farmers' Review.

OUR SPORTS IN HAVANA.

Cubans Readily Take to Horse Racing, Baseball, Golf and Other Amusements.

An army officer said to a Havana Herald reporter recently that, in his opinion, the successful meet of a jockey club, combined with the enthusiasm which exists for baseball, to be followed, he predicted, by golf, tends to prove that American amusements will take root in Cuba. Continuing, he said: "Heaven speed the day when the cock fights and the bullfights are superseded by contests improving to the moral and physical nature! The soldiers, sailors, marines and officers have given a practical demonstration of what they can do, and I trust that our insular and peninsular friends will now follow suit. Why should there not be foot races, jumping, leaping and vaulting? Perhaps some of our Cuban friends would like to play polo or ringtilting. Their small, wiry ponies would give them an immense advantage in this respect over the large American horse.

"If Capt. Bellairs is as well posted in Tattersall rules as we believe him to be, no doubt he could get up a series of exercises involving the Balaklava melee and pegging, participation in which would be healthful and instructive to those who witnessed.

"Capt. Lucien Young has shown himself such an admirable judge, toastmaster and citizen that we venture to suggest that he provide an aquatic contest between soldiers, Cubans, sailors and marines."

MAN FROM MEMPHIS.

His Opinion of Chicago Weather Was Formed from Seeing a Radiator Salesroom.

A stranger in Chicago trudged along Dearborn street the other day with a yellow valise in one hand and a tattered and travel-worn copy of a Memphis paper in the other. At the corner of Lake street his gaze wandered to one of the big windows in the block, and he paused and sidled up to it. Before him was the salesroom of a steam radiator company, and various styles, shapes and sizes of radiators were strewn through the room at frequent intervals; there looked to be enough of them there to heat the Klondike and a portion of Siberia.

The stranger's eyes grew big and round as he put down his valise, tucked the paper into his breast pocket and clasped his hands behind his bottle-green frockcoat. His gaze traveled down one vista of radiators and up another. He tried to count them, and got lost at 240, because the ones at the far end began to jump up and down before his sight—or seemed to. Then he shook his head slowly and reached for his valise.

"I've heard tell that Chicago is a cold place in winter," he muttered as he went on, "but, dog my cats if I thought it was cold enuf to take 'bout 500 of them radiating things to heat a room no bigger'n Odd Fellows' hall at home."

An Assured Fact.

Mr. Mover—Ouch! Wow! Blankety blank the blankety blank—

Mrs. Mover (indignantly)—My father never swore in my presence in his life.

Mr. Mover (as indignant)—Then your father never burned his hand on a red-hot iron in your presence in his life.—Judge.

Its Mild Form.

Gwilliams—Look at this overcoat. Had it only five weeks, and part of the lining of the right sleeve gone already!

Sfiint—Well, you can darn it, can't you?

Mrs. Gwilliams—He does worse than that every time he puts it on.—Chicago Tribune.

THE MARKETS.

	CINCINNATI, July 31.
LIVESTOCK—Cattle, common	$ 2 25	@ $ 4 25
Select butchers	5 01	@ 5 15
CALVE—Fair to good light	6 00	@ 6 50
HOGS—Coarse and heavy	3 65	@ 4 15
Mixed packers	3 85	@ 4 40
Light shippers	4 35	@ 4 67
SHEEP—Choice	4 00	@ 4 35
LAMBS—Spring	5 50	@ 6 60
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 30	@ 3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 69
No. 3 red		@ 67
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 33½
Oats—No. 2		@ 22½
Rye—No. 2		@ 58
HAY—Prime to choice		@ 10 00
PROVISIONS—Mess pork		@ 9 75
Lard		@ 5 22½
BUTTER—Choice dairy		@ 12
Prime to choice creamery		@ 19½
APPLES—Choice to fancy	1 00	@ 1 25
POTATOES—New, per bbl	1 00	@ 1 50
	CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patent	$ 3 50	@ $ 3 90
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 71½
No. 2 Chicago spring	61	@ 70
CORN—No. 2	32	@ 32½
OATS—No. 2	24½	@ 24½
PORK—Mess	$ 8 95	@ $ 9 70
LARD—Steam	$ 5 22½	@ $ 5 37½
	NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patent	$ 3 65	@ $ 3 85
WHEAT—No. 2 red		@ 77½
CORN—No. 2 Mixed		@ 37½
OATS		@ 28½
OATS—Mixed		@ 28½
PORK—Mess	$ 9 50	@ $ 10 00
LARD—Western	$ 5 65	@ $ 5 65
	BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	$ 3 25	@ $ 3 50
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	71	@ 71½
Southern	68	@ 72
Corn—Mixed	36⅜	@ 33½
Oats—No. 2 white		@ 26
Rye—No. 2 western		@ 54
CATTLE—First quality	4 70	@ 4 90
HOGS—Western	5 00	@ 5 15
	INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat, No. 2 red		@ 70
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 34
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@ 25
	LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patent	$ 3 75	@ $ 4 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 70
Corn—Mixed		@ 32
Oats—Mixed		@ 23
PORK—Mess		@ $ 9 75
LARD—Steam		@ $ 5 75

FROM TRIFLING CAUSES.

Petty Quarrels Have Brought On Long and Bloody Conflicts in the Past.

Many wars have had trifling causes, says Leslie's Weekly. A dispatch altered in one or two points by Bismarck brought on the Franco-German conflict. Palmerston said facetiously that only three men in Europe ever knew what the Schleswig-Holstein troubles which led to the wars were about, and two of them died before the conflicts began, while he, the third man, had forgotten. A slighting reference by Frederick the Great of Prussia to Mme. Pompadour of France was said to have been one of the causes of the Seven Years' war, sometimes called the "war of the three petticoats" from the fact that the France of Pompadour and the Russia of Catherine II. joined the Austria of Maria Theresa against Frederick.

According to John Bright, England and her allies drifted into the Crimean war without realizing it until after they got in, and they did not know what they were fighting for even after they started; while it is certain that everything which is supposed to have been fixed by that results of a quarter of a century of war beginning with the commencement of the French revolution and ending with Waterloo "pleased nobody and settled nothing," according to Sheridan. The average person who lived in those days knew as little about the causes of the slaughter as old Kaspar did about the battle of Blenheim when questioned by little Peterkin.

SAMOAN LIFE.

When Not at War They Have a Very Easy and Agreeable Time.

When native Samoans are not at war they seem to foreigners to have a very easy and agreeable life. There is never very much to do, and what there is is not arduous or tiring. The old women, for instance, braid mats or sit upon the rocks and beat and strip the bark for making tapa, the native cloth. The men spend much of their time in making fishing nets and tackle.

In spite of the simplicity of the national attire, the Samoans are rather vain, and spend a good deal of time in beautifying themselves. The hair is often plastered with white lime, giving it, when dry, the effect of a white wig. The lime is washed off by night. The result is a gradual change in the color of the hair from a red to a bright yellow. Apart from this strange fancy, the Samoans quite share the European ideas in regard to beauty. They particularly admire tall persons.

A fad of the young man of Samoa is to wear the name of his sweetheart tattooed upon the forearm. As the Samoan wears no sleeves this ornament is always visible, and he is very proud of it, which is easily understood, as the young lady herself always does the tattooing, it being impossible to intrust to a professional workman a task so full of sentiment.

MODERN RUSSIA.

The Land Still Feels the Autocratic Influence of Peter the Great.

All nations feel more or less the original impetus given them by one great man, but probably none so much as modern Russia. It may almost be said to have been the creation of one man, Peter the Great, and the features he impressed upon the Russian state are still distinctly visible. A mass of barbarism was transformed by him into a powerful and active member of the family of civilized nations. He gave to his subjects an army, a navy and an educational system. Commerce with foreign countries, previously forbidden, he warmly encouraged. The autocrat transferred his capital to the shores of the Baltic, and built the great city which bears his name to be the open door to the civilization of the western world. He introduced the arts, the literature, the sciences and the economic theories of the most advanced nations. Russia at the present day is actuated by the ideas of the great czar. In its restless ambition, its subtle and unscrupulous policy, its varnish of culture, scarcely hiding the ferocity of the barbarian, its intolerance of popular liberty and its real solicitude for the material welfare of the people, the Russia of today is the Russia of Peter the Great.

Venom.

Mabel—Are you going to return the poor fellow's ring?

Florence (who has just broken her engagement)—I haven't decided. I suppose he'll propose to you now, and I thought I'd just hand it over to you to save bother. — Philadelphia North American.

Licenses for Horseshoers.

An enactment in Washington requires horseshoers to pass an examination and to be licensed.

A Woman's Fate.

If they live long enough, the New York Press declares, all women die two deaths. The first is old age.

His Strike.

"Did you know that Jimcox had returned from the Klondike?"

"Yes."

"He made a big strike, I guess."

"Why do you think so?"

"I met him out at one of the gardens. He was blowing the boys off to a good time and was telling them some great stories about the country up there."

"Oh! Then you must have run across him just after I had been fool enough to let him have five dollars with which to get a new start in life."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Rich—Yet Starving.

Doctors frequently have very wealthy patients who are starving to death. They have money to buy food, but their stomach has not the strength to digest it. It lies there a heavy fermented mass, the sole cause of dyspepsia, nervousness and biliousness. The surest remedy to cure a weak stomach is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It will restore vigor to the digestive organs. Nothing is "just as good." See that a private Revenue Stamp covers the neck of the bottle.

The Kidnaping Trust.

"What have you done with the child?" asked the chief kidnaper.

"Just boxed his ears," replied the eighth assistant accomplice.

"Good!" exclaimed the chief. "Now, address the box to that yellow journal, and write the editor that we will furnish exclusive views to the whereabouts of the remainder of the child for $20,000, less two per cent. for spot cash."—Standard and Catholic Times.

Locating the Trouble.

"Dear me, the circus isn't what it used to be."

"Now, John, stop; the circus is all right; it is you that has changed. You know you couldn't climb a pole, turn a double somersault or skin the cat to save your life."—Detroit Free Press.

Ladies Can Wear Shoes

One size smaller after using Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It makes tight or new shoes easy. Cures swollen, hot, sweating, aching feet, ingrowing nails, corns and bunions. At all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Trial package FREE by mail. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Power of a Woman.

In five minutes a woman can clean up a man's room in such a way that it will take him five days to find out where she put things.—Berlin Herald.

The Best Prescription for Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price, 50c.

Budgeby's Nose.

"Mamma."

"What is it, dear?"

"Isn't the pineapple on papa's face almost ripe enough to pick?"—Puck.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

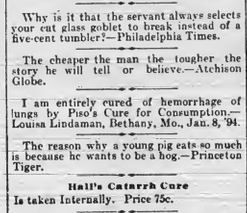
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Daughter—"Papa went off in great good humor this morning." Mother—"My goodness! That reminds me; I forgot to ask him for any money."—Boston Traveler.

Sweat will not discolor goods dyed with Putnam Fadeless Dyes. These dyes are guaranteed to be absolutely fast to sweating and washing. 10c per package.

Why is it that the servant always selects your cut glass goblet to break instead of a five-cent tumbler?—Philadelphia Times.

The cheaper the man the tougher the story he will tell or believe.—Atchison Globe.



I am entirely cured of hemorrhage of lungs by Piso's Cure for Consumption.—Louisa Lindaman, Bethany, Mo., Jan. 8, '94.

The reason why a young pig eats so much is because he wants to be a hog.—Princeton Tiger.

Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is taken Internally. Price 75c.

Don't forget that silence is the mother of truth.—Chicago Daily News.

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.
For sale by all Druggists.—Price 50c. per bottle

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA
TEETHING POWDERS
Aids Digestion, Regulates the Bowels, Makes Teething Easy. TEETHINA Relieves the Bowel Troubles of Children of Any Age.
Costs Only 25 Cents. Ask Your Druggist for It.

Does Your Head Ache?

Are your nerves weak? Can't you sleep well? Pain in your back? Lack energy? Appetite poor? Digestion bad? Boils or pimples? These are sure signs of poisoning.

From what poisons?

From poisons that are always found in constipated bowels.

If the contents of the bowels are not removed from the body each day, as nature intended, these poisonous substances are sure to be absorbed into the blood, always causing suffering and frequently causing severe disease.

There is a common sense cure.

AYER'S PILLS

They daily insure an easy and natural movement of the bowels.

You will find that the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

with the pills will hasten recovery. It cleanses the blood from all impurities and is a great tonic to the nerves.

Write the Doctor.

Our Medical Department has one of the most eminent physicians in the United States. Tell the doctor just how you are suffering. You will receive the best medical advice without cost. Address,
DR. J. C. AYER,
Lowell, Mass.

Biliousness

"I have used your valuable CASCARETS and find them perfect. Couldn't do without them. I have used them for some time for indigestion and biliousness and am now completely cured. Recommend them, to every one. Once tried, you will never be without them in the family." EDW. A. MARX, Albany, N. Y.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c.
CURE CONSTIPATION.
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 301

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

TO THE COOL RESORTS
IN THE MOUNTAINS,
BY THE LAKES, OR AT THE SEA SIDE,
VIA THE
Big Four Route,
FISHING, HUNTING, BOATING, BATHING.
THROUGH SLEEPING CARS
—TO—
NEW YORK & BOSTON
Tourist Tickets now on sale.

J. E. REEVES, Gen'l South. Agt. Cincinnati.
C. C. CLARK, Trav. Pass. Agt. Chattanoo a.
WARREN J. LYNCH, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati.

EDUCATIONAL.

NEW HAMPSHIRE MILITARY ACADEMY
Prepares for Government Academies and Colleges. Full Commercial Course. Major H. F. HYATT, A. M., Principal, WEST LEBANON, N. H.

FRANKLIN COLLEGE New Athens, O. 35th Yr. Sent out U. S. Senators, Governors, and 300 Ministers. $135 a yr.; books free; 3 courses; both sexes; no saloons; catalogue free, with plan to earn funds. W. A. WILLIAMS, D. D., Pres.

BUSINESS EDUCATION FREE. Write for particulars. Home Correspondence School, Springfield, Mass.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

Plantation Chill Cure is Guaranteed
To cure, or money refunded by your merchant, so why not try it? Price 50c.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Beaver.

Mr. Charley Russ and daughter are very sick with malarial fever.—Miss Kittie Moore, who has been confined to her bed for the past few months, we are glad to say, has improved so as to be out buggy riding.—A great many from here attended camp meeting at Big Boue Sunday.—Chief Rolling Bear's show is with us this week, entertaining the crowds. He has a good show, all who attend report.—Mrs. Myra Roter, of Cincinnati is visiting her son H. H. Roter.—I. C. Sleet has a broad smile on his face, the cause of which is the arrival of that pound boy at his home.

Constance.

Threshing has just commenced here. —Garden truck is too cheap to haul to town.—Miss Sadie Zimmer is able to sit up in bed.—The Constance Mission gave a delightful outing at Gum Anderson's pasture, last Saturday. It was well attended, and the ice cream and lemonade was served free of charge. The day was passed in singing and praising our maker.—The Constance team defeated a visiting team by a score of 26 to 19.—Ed Berkshire, of Burlington, was in town last Thursday. —Chas. Richmond, of Blue, Ind., is in town, visiting relatives.

Hume Store.

A nice rain fell here Saturday afternoon.—Crops are looking well.—Mr. Tom Carpenter, of Flatrock, Indiana, was calling on friends at this place one day last week.—Miss Hattie Tauner, of Gaupowder, was the pleasant guest of Mary Houston, the past week.—Miss Lenora Cotton has returned after a pleasant visit among friends at Dry Ridge.—Mr. and Mrs. David Houston were visiting A. J. Utz and family, one day last week.—Omer Macrauder, of Florence, spent Sunday with his parents at this place.—Chas. Macrauder is digging a well. He has concluded to dig one on the hill to prevent the branch from washing it out, as he lost one in that way a few years ago.

Harry Roberts has a lot of good pasture to rent.

William Goodridge was ordained a deacon of the Sand Run Baptist church, last Sunday.

For Sale.—A blacksmith's shop and a set of tools. Apply to John Dye, Hebron, Ky.

The directors of the Burlington Mercantile Company met last Saturday, and leased their store to J. S. Clutterbuck for another year.

Albert Snyder, of Bellevue, was in town yesterday with a load of nutmegs, the first of the season. The first load of watermelons out of the Petersburg bottoms were sold in Aurora Monday, by L. Cox at 15 cents round.

Pith of the Press.

McKinley will find it very difficult to secure as good a decoy duck as Alger again.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

About 1905 Major McKinley may be invited to Washington to consult with President Roosevelt.—Kansas City Journal.

At times it looks as if Secretary Gage might see more prosperity than his party organs can assimilate.—Washington Post.

It looks as if it will soon be necessary for Mark Hanna to come home and get Foraker into the traces.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

While his renomination is assured he does not want to borrow trouble for 1900. Mr. McKinley is a great pacificator.—N. Y. Journal.

General Otis made a big blunder when he adopted at Manila the tactics employed by Weyler and his typewriter at Havana.—Boston Globe.

Impatient citizens should be just and remember that it will take Mr. Root at least a day or two to end the war in the Philippines.—Washington Star.

What a pity it is that there is not a Foraker resolution in the way of Algerian operations in Puerto Rico and the Philippines!—Washington Times.

FROM OWEN COUNTY.

[Herald.]

Large audiences greeted Rev. J. H. Anderson at the Baptist church last Sunday morning and night, it being the close of his very successful pastorate here, as already stated. He and his family left for Watertown, Tenn., the next day.

While Tom Sanders and Walker Fields, both colored, were carelessly handling a pistol belonging to the latter, at Pleasant Home last Sunday morning, the weapon was discharged, the ball taking effect in Sanders' head and causing death.

While a number of persons were standing on the new cistern at the mill last Thursday watching the process of starting the new gasoline engine, all at once the entire top of the cistern gave way, four persons, John Riley, Jesse Baucum and W. R. Proctor and little son, going to the bottom with the debris. The cistern had just been pumped full of water and for a time it was a hard scuffle for the lives of those who had fallen in, but all were rescued without any serious injuries, though considerably bruised and nauseated by the muddy water.

PREMIUM LIST
—OF THE—
Fourteenth Annual Meeting
—OF THE—
BOONE CO. HARVEST HOME ASSOCIATION.

To be held on its Grounds near

LIMABURG, - - KY.,

—ON—

Saturday, Aug. 26, 1899.

GRAIN.

	1st.	2nd.
Wheat, best half bushel	$2	$1,00
White Corn, best 25 ears	2	1,00
Yellow Corn, best 25 ears	2	1,00

The above 3 premiums given by the Kentucky Bureau of Agriculture.

Rye, best peck 1
Oats, best peck 1
Sweet Corn, best 12 ears 1
Tobacco, best 6 stalks 1
Best display of Grain—first premium, 2 hole Gasoline Stove by the W. G. Snyder Co 2,50 1,00

VEGETABLES.

Irish Potatoes, best pk early 1
Irish Potatoes, best pk late 1
Sweet Potatoes, best peck 1
Tomatoes, best peck—premium by Harrison Clore 1
Pumpkins best three 1
Squashes, best three 1
Kershaws, best three 1
Watermelons, best three 1
Nutmegs, best three 1
Turnips, best peck 1
Onions, best peck 1
Green Beans, best peck 1
Best 3 gallon Soup Beans 1
Cabbage, best three heads 1
Celery, best six bunches 1
Carrots, best six 1
Radishes, best six 1
Cucumbers, best six 1
Best display Beets 1
Best display Peppers—25 bu. Coal by the Hatfield Coal Co., Covington, Ky 2
Best display Vegetables $2 1,00

This premium given by the Kentucky Bureau of Agriculture.

FRUITS.

Apples, best display—15 lbs. best coffee by J. H Voss & Bros 2,50
Peaches, best display 1
Plums, best display 1
Pears, best display 1
Quinces, best display 1
Grapes, best display—One case assorted wines given by A. J. Bresch & Co 2,50
Best display Fruit—premium by the Ky. Bureau of Agriculture $3,00 2,00 1,00

PANTRY AND DAIRY.

Sour Pickles, best display—The Lamp given by L. H. Grober & Co 2
Sweet Pickles, best display 2
Corn Bread, best loaf 1
Best loaf Bread, hop yeast—1 set Spoons by E. W. Scales. 2
Best loaf Bread, salt rising—1 bbl. Jackson's Best Patent Flour given by R. Hamilton Grocery Co 4
Best Pound Cake, without icing 1
Best Jelly Cake 1
Best Layer Cake—premium by Gus W. Meuninger 2
Butter, best 3 lbs.—Child's Suit by Rolfes & Wachs 3
Peaches, best single can 1
Pears, best single can 1
Tomatoes, best single can 1
Maple Molasses, best quart 50
Sorghum Molasses, best quart 50
Apple Vinegar, best quart 50
Best 2 lbs. Honey 50
Best Lady Cake—Picture and Frame by Wm. R. Scheifers 1,50
Fruit Butter, best display—Premium by Jamison Bros. Printers, 13 Pike St. Covington, Ky 2
Preserves, best display—First premium by C. T. Davis & Co., Hebron, Ky 2 1,00
Jelly, best display—1st premium by Elmer Beall, Sheriff Boone Co., Ky 3 2,00
Best Fruit Cake—6 doz. Mason Fruit jars by G. W. Hill & Co 3

POULTRY.

Cochins, best pair—Pair Shoes by Amos Tweed, Masonic Temple, Ludlow, Ky. 1,50
Leghorns, best pair 1
Wyandotts, best pair 1
Minorcas, best pair 1
Brahamas, best pair 1
Game, best pair 1
Plymouth Rock, best pair—Umbrella by Coppin's Dry Goods Palace 3
Bantams, best pair 1
Turkeys, best pair—one year's subscription to Ky. Post 3
Geese, best pair—Lapduster by Chas. Mahlmann 1,50
Ducks, best pair—Heavy Copper Boiler by Hesselman & Wahle 2,50
Poultry, best display—1st premium by John Allison 3 2,00
Fuchias, best display 1
Cactus, best display—picture & frame by Grote, Marschal & Co 1
Best Hanging Basket—1 year's subscription to Boone County Recorder 1,50
Best Haud Bouquet—picture and frame by Grote, Marschal & Co 1
Geraniums, best display—premby G. C. Goode 1,50
Best display Flowers in pots—Davis Swing Churn by J. M. Walker & Co 5,00

ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS AND PAINTINGS.

Cut Flowers, best display 1
Wax Flowers, best specimen 1
Feather Flowers, best sp'men 1
Paper Flowers, best specimen Lady's Hat by Mrs. J. Appel 5
Hair Flowers, best specimen 1
Tapestry Paluting, best sp'meu 1
Crayou Drawing, best sp'meu 1
Pencil Drawing, best spc'men 1
Oil Painting, best specimen—Framed picture of W. J. Berry 1 an by Frank Handorf, 23 W. 7th Street Covington, Ky... 2
Best Knit Counterpane 1
Best Calico Patchwork Quilt ... 1
Worsted Patchwork Quilt, p'n 1
Silk Patchwork Quilt, plain ... 2
Fancy Fan Quilt—Chamber Set 12 pieces by Delhi Ferry Company 5
Silk Patchwork Quilt, crazy—Wringer by J. H. Mersman, Jr., & Co 3,50
Worsted Patchwork Quilt, crazy—pair flue Gold Glasses by F. Pieper 4

EMBROIDERY AND NEEDLE WORK.

Linen Embroidery, best 1
Silk Embroidery, best 1
Cotton Embroidery, best 1
Kensington Work, best 1
Arasine Work, best 1
Best Hand-made Shirt 1
" Haud-sewing, new work ... 1
Woolen Knitting, plain ..... .50
Knitting in Cotton, plain ..... .50
Best fancy Woolen Knitting .. .50

HOGS.

Best sow with 6 or more suckling pigs $5
Best pair pigs under 6 months of age 5
Best boar and sow over 6 mo and under 1 year 5

SHEEP.

Best aged buck, long wool 3
Best aged buck, short wool—Pair Men's Shoes by Dan Cohen, Covington 5
Best aged Ewe, long wool 3
Best aged Ewe, short wool 3
Best pair Lambs—Child's Suit by H. F. Blase 5

CATTLE.

Best dairy bull under 2 years—$2.50 of this premium given by Farmers & Traders National Bank 5
Best bull, beef breed, under 2 years 5
Best dairy Heifer, under 2 yrs 3
Best heifer, beef breed 3
Best milch cow 5
Best Jersey Herd, bull and 3 or more cows 10 5 00

HORSES.

Best suckling draft colt regardless of sex—2nd premium by H. H. Thomann 5 2 50
Best suckling harness colt regardless of sex—1st premium by B. B. Allphin, Deputy Sheriff, Boone co —2d premium by J. S. Clutterbuck 5 2.50
Best suckling colt, general purpose, regardless of sex—1st premium by H. Eilerman & Son; 2nd premium by Erustes Bros., Hebron, Ky 5 2.00
Best mare mule colt, get of J. E. Rouse's Jack 5
Best horse mule colt, get of J. E. Rouse Jack 5
The two above premiums given by J E. Rouse, Yarnellton, Ky.
Foot Race, 200 yards dash—Hat by J. J. Geisen 3
Best looking unmarried lady on grounds—Willow Rocker by Calue & Baisley 5

General Admission. 25c.
Children Under 10 years, Free.
Dancing Free.

All Privileges—Will be rented at the Grounds, Saturday, August 19th, 1899, at 1 o'clock p. m.

Those of our Democratic friends who are of the opinion that there will be any of the negro votes cast for the Democratic ticket, we would suggest an early disabusing of their minds of any such hopes. The negro will, as he has always done, vote just as his Republican boss tells him to. You can rest assured of that.—Blue Grass Clipper.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

A. E. Gorman's Adm'r., Plff. against } Equity.
R. A. DeMolsey, &c. Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the April term thereof, 1899, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the court-douse door in Burlington, Boone County, Ky., to the highest bidder at public auction, on

Monday, August 7th, 1899,

at 1 o'clock p. m. or thereabout, being county court day, upon a credit of 6, and 12 months, the following described property, to-wit:

Three small parcels of land lying in the town of Walton, Boone county, Ky., bounded thus: Beginning at a stone on the east side of the Covington & Lexington Turupike road, corner to John Fiuk, and running with said line uorth 40 feet to a stone, corner to John Fink; thence 60 feet with Conner's line to a stone in said line; thence south 40 feet with another line of said Conner to a stone in said Fink's line; thence with said line west 60 feet to the beginning; contaiuing 2400 square feet more or less.

Also, the following tract of land, being 3½ feet front to the Covingtou and Lexington Turnpike road between the premises now owned and occupied by the parties hereto, respectively, being about 30 feet in depth.

Also, the following tract of land: Beginuing at the n. e. corner of said Couer aud DeMolsey, and thence parallel with the line of said Conner and DeMolsey about 45 feet to the railroad; thence along the line of said railroad about 45½ feet; thence along the line of said Couer and John Fink about 45 feet; thence to the place of beginuing.

All of the foregoing described property will be sold subject to the life estate of E. J. Gorman and subject to the homestead right of the said Gorman and the infant children of A. E. Gorman, Eugene DeMolsey, Ernest DeMolsey, Rivolett DeMolsey and Hazel Gorman, respectively, until the youngest of the infants become of age.

For the purchase price the purchaser, with approved security or securities, must execute bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a Judgment, with a lieu retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms Amount to be raised by sale, $806.53.

J. W. DUNCAN, M. C. B. C. C.

J. T. MARSHALL,
SALESMAN FOR
F. W. KASSEBAUM & SON,
Manufacturers and Dealers in
Granite and Marble Monuments.
GRANT P. O., KENTUCKY.

Consign your Stock to
Rabenstein, Harris & Conner,
—Live Stock—
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
COVINGTON STOCK YARDS,
Covington, Ky.,
OR UNION STOCK YARDS,
Cincinnati, Ohio.
When shipping East bill our care privilege selling Central Covington Stock Yards.
We will make it to your advantage and give your stock special personal attention.

Helms' ~ Barber ~ Shop,
PETERSBURG, KY.
Hair cut 15c, on Saturday 20c; Shave 10c; Shampoo 15c; Sea Foam 5c; Hair Singe 5c; Beard Trim 5c, other work proportionally as low in price. Ladies' and childrens' work a specialty. All work guaranteed satisfactory or money refunded. Hair Oils, Tonics, Perfume, etc., for sale. Thanking all for past favors, I remain, &c.
EVERETT HELMS, Prop.

LADIES—To the ladies that have not paid us a call, will say, that Thursday is conceded to be their day. Ladies Shampoo 25c; Sea Foam 15c; Bangs trimmed 10c. Hair dressed for special occasions a specialty, at reasonable rates. Courteous treatment is our motto. Give us a call.

SIXTH YEAR OF
Walton :-: Academy
—OPENS—
First Monday in September.

First-class instruction in all Common School Branches.

Higher Arithmetic, Elementary and Higher Algebra, Book Keeping, Plain and Solid Geometry, History, Rhetoric and Literature, Physiology, Geography, Physics, Astronomy, Logic and Psychology. Latin includes Cesar, Cicero, Nepos, Virgil. Greek including Beginners, Greek and Xenophon.

Terms:—Tuition and Board in the building, five days in the week, under the care of the teacher, $105.75, for nine months; Board the full week or Music $18.50 additional for the full term.

Mrs. S. H. MYERS, Prin.

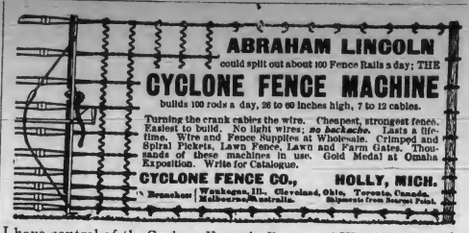
For Rent or Sale.

My farm of 113 acres of well watered, well fenced, good cultivating land. Large dwelling, tenement house and good tobacco barn on place. Seventy-five acres can be sown in wheat in the fall; 12 acres of uncleared woodland. Farm situated on L. & N. Railroad, 1½ miles from Verona, Boone county, Ky. For terms address,

MRS. J. T. BROCK,
416 E. Main St., Lexington, Ky.

"Sweet Bells Jangled Out of Tune and Harsh."

Shakespeare's description fits thousands of women. They are cross, despondent, sickly, nervous—a burden to themselves and their families. Their sweet dispositions are gone, and they, like the bells, seem sadly out of tune. But there is a remedy. They can use



McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

It brings health to the womanly organism, and health there means well poised nerves, calmness, strength. It restores womanly vigor and power. It tones up the nerves which suffering and disease have shattered. It is the most perfect remedy ever devised to restore weak women to perfect health, and to make them attractive and happy. $1.00 at all druggists.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

REV. J. W. SMITH, Camden, S. C., says:—"My wife used Wine of Cardui at home for falling of the womb and it entirely cured her."

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN
could split out about 100 Fence Rails a day; THE
CYCLONE FENCE MACHINE
builds 100 rods a day, 26 to 60 inches high, 7 to 12 cables.

Turning the crank cables the wire. Cheapest, strongest fence. Easiest to build. No light wires; no backache. Lasts a lifetime. Wire and Fence Supplies at Wholesale. Crimped and Spiral Pickets, Lawn Fence, Lawn and Farm Gates. Thousands of these machines in use. Gold Medal at Omaha Exposition. Write for Catalogue.

CYCLONE FENCE CO., HOLLY, MICH.
Branches: Waukegan, Ill., Cleveland, Ohio, Toronto, Canada, Melbourne, Australia. Shipments from Nearest Point.

I have control of the Cyclone Fence in Boone and Woodford counties. I will build the fence or sell machines to farmers that they may build their own fences. It is the cheapest and best fence that can be built.
Address G. CARTER GRADDY, BULLITTSVILLE, KY.

DR. A. P. WALTON,
DENTIST,
CINCINNATI,
The Lancaster Building 22 W. 7th, Bet. Vine and Race.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.

E. H. BLANKENBECKER, President, Florence, Ky.
EDGAR CROPPER, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

CORNER
Drug Store
Rising Sun, Ind.
Is the place for anything in the Drug Line.
WALL PAPER, PAINTS, WINDOW SHADES.
STATIONERY,
PERFUMES,
FANCY GOODS, &c.
B. F. BUCHANAN,
—DRUGGIST,—
Over thirty year's experience.

FARMERS
Take Notice!
If you want good
Fertilizer
PLEASE GIVE
B. F. ZIMMER
A CALL.
He will try to please you. He has the finest line of Fertilizer for 1899 he has ever handled. Write for particulars to
CONSTANCE, KY.

Central Covington Stock Yards,
COVINGTON, KY.
Are located so as to offer special inducements to shippers South of the Ohio river in saving them extra expense and time. In addition to the local buyers there will be Eastern and foreign buyers on the market for all kinds of stock. When shipping East, don't fail to consign our care privilege selling which will be of benefit to you.
Central Covington Stock Yards Co.
Commission firms will give prompt attention to consignments.

FRANK HOSSMAN,
Hebron, Ky.,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
—Also handles all—
KINDS OF ROOFING,
Which is furnished and put on at the Lowest Prices consistent with good work.
I am prepared for moving buildins.
Your Work is Solicited.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.
Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect Dec. 5th, 1898.

P. M.	A. M.		A. M.	P. M.
4.00	8.30	lv Cincinnati ar	10.05	6.00
4.15	7.04	" Ludlow lv	9.55	5.50
4.30	7.18	" Erlanger lv	9.36	5.27
5 18	8.25	Williamstown "	8.45	4.25
5.35	8.49	" Corinth "	8.25	4.03
6.17	10.28	" Georgetwn "	7.50	3.19
6.39	10.50	ar Stamp'g Gro'nd	7.28	1.55
7.10	11.20	" Frankfort "	7.00	1.00

JOS. R. NEWTON, G. P. A.,
Frankfort, Ky.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him. nov22-93.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. K. RILDELL
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,0000
Surplus and undivided profits, 20,0000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN $50,000
SURPLUS, ... $ 8,000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,

DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
Artificial Dentures, Crown and Bridge Work to represent natural organs.
Will be in office at Union every Monday.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

JOHN L. VEST,
SURVEYOR
WALTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of work south of Burlington, Ky. Prompt attention given to all mail orders.

Executor's Notice.

All persons indebted to the estate of L. B. Stephens, deceased, are hereby notified to come forward and settle same; those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned proven according to law.

J. D. FRAIZER,
L. D. SHOUSE, Executors.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 9, 1899. NO. 42.

THERE will be a hot time in the old State from now until next November.

AT Lexington last Wednesday, another link was forged in the chain with which it is proposed to bind Kentucky to the Republican party for years to come; another nail was driven in the casket in which it is proposed to bury Democracy, in November, so far as Kentucky is concerned.

P. P. JOHNSON imagines that he is still chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee and issued anotherc all for a Democratic State Convention. He has just as much right to issue a proclamation in regard to the Philippine war and sign it as President of the United States.

THE Record published in Covington has this to say of the anti-Goebel meeting held there. "The anti-Goebel meeting in this city was called and conducted by sore head politicians who, not only now, have always been enemies of Goebel. They have fought him for every office he ever ran for."

THE highest estimate placed on the vote that John Young Brown will receive if nominated by the anti-Goebel crowd is 50,000, just about enough to insure the election of the Republican State ticket and give that party the next Legislature that it may elect another United States Senator.

AT the reunion of surviving Confederates, members of Capt. J. Lawrence Jones' company, on Wednesday, at Wm. Tarr's woodland, sixteen of the command were present, of whom, the Kentuckian-Citizen is informed, fifteen openly expressed themselves in favor of Goebel. The other one was not asked his preference. —Kentuckian-Citizen.

THE gold bug Democrats in this State are beginning to receive their reward far the services they have rendered the g. o. p. R. H. Elliston, of Grant county, who refused to vote for Joe Blackburn for U. S. Senator, has been appointed Census Supervisor for the Sixth District of Kentucky. Erastus Bainbridge, an Owen county gold bug Democrat, has been appointed to a like position.

HON. J. C. W. BECKHAM, the Democratic nominee addressed a good sized crowd here Monday. He spoke for about an hour, and was given the closest kind of attention throughout his speech and he told the Democrats many things that will make the dissatisfied element in the party think many times before they get their consent to assist in the defeat of the Democratic ticket in November. Mr. Beckham made no effort at oratory,

THE bolters' convention which will meet in Lexington on the 16th inst., does not expect to nominate a ticket that has any chance, whatever, to win in November. All it will seek to do is to place in the field a ticket that will poll votes enough to insure the defeat of the ticket nominated at Louisville, and result in the election of the Republican ticket, which will carry with it a Republican Legislature, securing to that party another United States Senator from Kentucky, and making certain Republican success in this State again next fall. Are Democrats going to permit a few gold bugs and a lot of disgruntled politicians to use them to these ends?

A CORRESPONDENT of the Kentucky Post, an anti-Goebel paper, wrote from Lexington, Thursday, the day after the bolters' meeting: "Their is hidden opposition to Blackburn in the ranks of the bolters." The same correspondent says further, "there is a quiet rumor that John Young Brown will be elected United States Senator if his leadership of the bolt shall result successfully in the effort to defeat Goebel. That is to be Brown's reward from the Republicans provided they control the General Assembly." Coming from the source this does it has very much the flavor of the truth, and the office of United States Senator is already the subject of barter and sale by a set of disgruntled politicians who claim to be immaculate.

POLITICAL.

The Louisville Dispatch howls fraud against the Convention that nominated the Democratic ticket in Louisville. That newspaper charged the State of Kentucky ten cents per copy for each issue of the Dispatch furnished the Legislature when its selling price on the streets in every city did not exceed three cents per copy. Is that fraud or a steal?—Argus.

Ex-Gov. John Young Brown has been a true blue Democrat and justly merited the honor conferred on him by his party. So was John G. Carlisle (have you forgotten him? He used to be in Kentucky.) a good Democrat before he apostatized. If Brown want to commit political suicide let him take the sure course taken by Carlisle. There is no more certain way to political death than bolting the regular nominees of the party.—Nicholasville Democrat,

The Dispatch and Post continue to reitertate the oft-told lie that 316 delegates were turned out of the Louisville convention. The report of the committee on credentials unseated only about 160 delegates, including the Dunlap gang in Louisville, where the Whallen slate was put through without a division or count being allowed in any district. Less than 100 delegates out in the State were unseated, and nearly half of those seated voted against Goebel, notably 16 in Logan, 7½ in McCracken, 10 in Ballard and 4 in Caldwell. When we count such "combine" counties as Crittenden, Simpson, Lyon and Marshall that went to replace the other votes Hardin lost, the Mercer county candidate really gained more than Goebel by the changes outside of Louisville.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

Goebel's opposers in denouncing him forget to tell the people that he introduced and passed a bill reducing the tolls for foot passengers to one cent across the Covington and Cincinnati bridge; a bill repealing the charters of the State lotteries of Kentucky; a bill making gambling a felony; a bill empowering cities of the second class to establish and maintain free public libraries; that through his influence were passed the Chinn School Book Bill, a bill regulating the cost of school books, and the McChord Railroad Bill, a bill requiring the railroads to base their freight charges on the amount of work done, and not on competition they may have. They might also say that he never smoked a cigar, chewed tobacco or took a drink of intoxicating liquor in his life.—Fulton Leader.

Eight years ago, when John Young Brown was nominated for the high and honorable position of Governor of Kentucky over C. M. Clay, jr., in Music Hall, there was a large number of Clay delegates turned out of the convention. The combined strength of Hardin and Brown accomplished this result. To nominate John Young Brown it was necessary to have more votes, To accomplish this the friends of Brown purchased delegates on the floor of that convention. Six thousand dollars was expended by the friends of Brown, and he accepted the nomination, was elected, and served his term without inquiring if the other candidates were dealt with unfairly in securing the result. Whatever John Young Brown may now do he is politically as dead as the other historical wax figures.—Western Argus.

If the purpose of the disaffected Democrats in Kentucky is to defeat the Democratic nominees they might save themselves the trouble of holding a Convention to put out another ticket. The surest way to defeat the Louisville ticket would be to vote for the Republican candidate. In this way they might accomplish directly what they are trying to do in an indirect way. But what would they gain by it? Gen. Hardin, who led the party four years ago, was "rebuked," as some of those who voted against him, put it. Was the party made any better by it? The only result was the putting of the State under Republican control, and the Democrats, who helped to this end, directly or indirectly, will scarcely be willing to admit that any good has come to the State, to themselves, or to the people generally in consequence.—Georgetown Times.

The Democracy of Bourbon send words of good cheer to their brethren throughout the State. The prospects for an old time Democratic victory were never more encouraging. The party is united, determined, enthusiastic. In the Millersburg precinct the Democrats are in line; in Clintonville, there is no defection. In Flat Rock and Centerville, Hutchison and Ruddell's Mills, the reports are altogther encouraging. In North Middletown there may be a few who now declare they will not support a portion of the ticket, but it is hoped that they will all be in line before the election. The Democrats of the county enter the contest full of confidence. They intend to work as they never worked before, and they will be disappointed if they do not in November poll such a vote as will make glad the hearts of every Democrat in Kentucky.—Kentuckian Citizen.

The following is an extract from W. J. Bryan's letter to Mr. Woodson, Kentucky's member of the national committee. As regards objections to Mr. Goebel he says: "I desire to say that Mr. Goebel supported Mr. Hardin and Mr. Blackburn in the campaign of 1896; he supported the Chicago platform and ticket in 1896, and was Chairman of the Reception Committee when I, as a candidate visited Covington during the campaign. He was Chairman of the Democratic State Convention in 1897, when the Chicago platform was reaffirmed and Mr. Shackelford nominated. During his canvass for the Gubernatorial nomination he declared himself in favor of the reaffirmation of the Chicago platform, and announced that he would not accept the nomination unless the Chicago platform was indorsed by the State Convention. He is now a candidate upon a platform unanimously adopted, which gives an emphatic indorsement to all of the Chicago platform.

"In answer to the second objection, permit me to say that it is not a valid objection to Mr. Goebel that he is supported by some who opposed the ticket in 1896. We desire that all gold Democrats shall return, provided they will accept the Democratic platform and support candidates pledged to that platform. We desire to have all gold newspapers return to the party if we can secure their return without surrendering party principles. It is not the policy of the party to drive people away from it, but rather to invite people into the party. The party stands committed to the doctrines set forth at Chicago and while it will not turn its back upon those doctrines to gain the friendship of gold Democrats, yet it does not and should not reject the support of any who are willing to aid in vindicating the principles of the platform by electing candidates who represent those principles."

FROM OWEN COUNTY.
[Herald.]

Procure a bunch of smartweed and bruise it to cause the juice to exude. Rub the animal thoroughly with the bunch of bruised weed, especially on the legs, neck and ears. Neither flies nor insects will trouble him for 24 hours. The process should be repeated every day. A very convenient way of using it is to make a strong infusion by boiling the weeds a few minutes in water. When cold it can be conveniently applied with a sponge or brush. Smartweed is found growing in every section of the country, usually on wet ground near highways.

A second meeting of Democrats who oppose the Goebel ticket was held in the courthouse last Saturday afternoon, at which about a dozen, certainly not exceeding fifteen opposers, and some twenty-five others who were there as spectators, were present.

Mr. J. W. Cobb, of Lusby, says he saw one day last week a belled buzzard and heard the bell very distinctly. Contrary to the general belief, the bell was fastened to the bird's wing instead of around his neck.

The new mill is a grand success, the flour being as good as was ever sold in Owenton.

State News.

An 18 months old child was drowned in a mud puddle at Owensboro.

The fourth Kentucky cavalry will hold a reunion at Cynthiana, October 4.

Jerre Kabler was found dead in bed at Germantown. Heart disease the cause.

Noah Judd was drowned in Hart county while bathing in Little Barren river.

It takes $1,050,000 to pay Kentucky pensioners this quarter, to be distributed this month.

Several large tobacco barns and their contents have been destroyed by fire in the last few weeks.

Miss Annie Wigglesworth, of Cynthiana, died from injuries received by being thrown from a buggy.

E. R. Hibbitt died at Munfordsville from the effect of burns received in a grist mill boiler explosion.

The national fox hunters' association will meet in Lexington Aug. 10th. The fall hunt will be held at Estill Springs.

A witness against a lot of Louisville counterfeiters says one of them learned the "trade" in the Frankfort penitentiary.

As the result of a dispute over land, James Whitlock shot and mortally wounded Daniel Horton at Raywick, Warren county.

Turkeys thrive best when allowed to roost in trees or on fences. They are not subject to colds and roup as chickens are.

Serious trouble is expected between "Chad" Hall and friends and the Jordans at Hammond, Knox county. Both sides are armed, and a clash may occur at any time. An old grudge is said to be the cause.

Jess Adams, of Lawrence county, overheard his wife planning with her paramour to elope. Adams pulled a pistol, killed his wife and shot himself, inflicting wounds from which he died a few hours later.

Miss Mollie Harmon, of the West End, Lincoln county, has in 10 acres of tobacco and other crops in proportion. She sees to it all herself and is considered one of the best farmers of her section.—Interior-Journal.

At Lexington, Joe H. Thayer sold to Roy Miller, of Macon, Ga., the 4-year-old brown horse Ilderim, by Simmons, out of a Cuyler mare, for $2,500. Ilderim has no record but Monday morning he trotted a mile in 2:14.

At Greenup Jude Boston, after being indicted by the grand jury for the murder of Abe Logan, was taken from the jail to the office of the county clerk, where he procured a license and was united in marriage to Miss Minnie Smith, the sweetheart who has clung to him.

While Mrs. Jack Prince, of Montgomery county, was milking a cow, the beast became infuriated and gored her in the stomach, disembowelling her and throwing her against a fence, cutting a long gash in her head. She is 66 years old. There is no hope for her recovery.

Suit has been filed at Versailles by Rev. R. T. Bowman, former pastor of the Baptist church, against Thos. Seller, Vice-President of the Harris-Seller Bank, for $40,000 damages. Bowman charges Seller with saying that Bowman was drunk in his pulpit. Seller is a deacon in the Baptist church and an uncle of Bowman's wife. Both parties are very prominent.

The State Prison Commissioners are preparing, it is said, to bring a mandamus suit to compel the Auditor to pay $25,000 to defray the cost of erecting and equipping a factory in the Eddyville penitentiary to be used for manufacture of furniture. The Commissioners claim that there is this much in the Treasury unexpended of a $300,000 appropriation made by the legislature in 1893 for the prison. The Auditor claims the entire sum has been expended.

The lower Blue Lick Spring has failed to flow. It is the first time in the history of the springs. The owner suspected the water was diverged from its natural course. In excavating above the springs to strike the vein of water the bones of a huge mastodon were found at a depth of twelve feet. The skeleton was perfect except one rib was missing. The thigh bones were five feet long. At the bottom of the excavation a cut stone pavement four feet wide and two earthen vessels and a large kettle were found.

From all reports an old man named Killebrew, of Calloway county, holds the champion belt for large families against all comers in Kentucky. He is eighty eight years of age and has been married twice, his first wife bearing him twenty-two children, all boys; his second wife presenting him with seven children, all girls, making a total of twenty-nine children. Notwithstanding his advanced age, he makes a regular hand during plow time and has no recollection of ever wearing shoes during the summer months.

Many curious things are constantly occcuring, but none more remarkable than this, reported and vouched for from the Floral neighborhood. Mr. Josh Glover is one of the best tobacco raisers in that section, and he avers that a flock of sheep belonging to a neighbor in some way gained entrance to his growing tobacco patch, and before detected had devoured—actually eaten up—more than an acre of tobacco. They would begin at top and eat down. This certainly a remarkable statement, but it can be substantiated by other and good men besides Mr. Glover.—Hawesville Clarion.

CROP AND STOCK.

The large poultry establishment of W. J. Renaker, of Cynthiana, was destroyed by fire, last week.

Several crops of corn and tobacco in the central part of the State have been totaliy destroyed by the drought.

The horse has a smaller stomach proportionately than other animals, because the horse was created for speed. Had he the ruminating stomach of the ox he would be quite unfitted for the labor which he now performs.

Eastern Colorado, Western Nebraska and Kansas, are just now in the throes of a grasshopper plague, the worst on record for 15 years. Crops are being devastated and the farmers are driven to distraction by the inroads of the pest.

About half the Bourbon wheat crop has been sold, though some farmers are holding their wheat for better prices. R. B. Hutchcraft has bought about 75,000 bushels at 66 and 68 cents per bushel, and the Paris Milling Company has bought about 40,000 bushels at 66 to 70 cents. Other buyers have bought smaller amounts at about the same figures. Some of the wheat is yet unthreshed.—Paris News.

Some estimates may be made of the vast amount of farm products required for consumption when the fact is mentioned that in this country alone there is an annual consumption of 5,000,000,000 lbs., of beef 4,000,000,000 pounds of pork. and nearly 1,000,000,000 pounds of mutton. The animals raised for the purpose of supplying this demand are also consumers of farm products and assist in creating a market for such. In addition to this home consumption the amount of meat sent abroad is enormous.

THE FOREIGN WHEAT CROP.

The Agricultural Department's foreign crop report for July states that the commercial authorities estimate the shortage in the Russian wheat crop at from 85,000,000 to 120,000,000 bushels as compared with last year. The deficiency is most serious in the regions favorably situated for export. In the north unseasonably cold weather has unfavorably affected hay, potatoes and all grain except oats. The rye crop is very short.

The Prussian official report on wheat is that the crop is a little above "fair." The Austrian outlook for wheat and rye is good in all but one province, that of Bucowina. Austria, Roumania and Bulgaria are all slightly below their average in wheat, rye and maise,

A French estimate of the wheat crops of Spain and Italy puts it at 14,000,000 bushels below last year. The wheat crop in France is represented as satisfactory, the estimate now being 352,000,000 bushels. In Great Britain cable reports of a servere general storm presage considerable damage to a grain crop that otherwise would have ranked as "fair."

The report from India shows better conditions in Bengal and the Northwest provinces than for several years previous, but this improvement does not extend to Punjab.

Pith of the Press.

Poor old Kruger, he is dead game, but he is overmatched.—Nashville American.

"Am I to stick, or am I not to stick?" is the burning question with Otis.—Kansas City Times.

Mr. Secretary Root has inherited a lot of trouble in remote corners of the earth.—Chicago Record.

Mr. McKinley should shoo the Cabinet hoodoo from beneath his table.—Omaha World Herald.

Roosevelt seems to be getting a reputation as the Administration's one candid friend.—Boston Globe.

It may be stated that Mr. Alger's presence in Detroit this time will have no political significance.—Chicago Tribune.

When Admiral Dewey is quoted as saying an indiscreet thing the presumption always is that he didn't say it.—N. Y. Tribune.

William Waldorf Astor, in the polite language of Georgia, got the wrong sow by the ear, when he grafted his pedigree.—Milwaukee News.

If Mark Hanna has hired any one to do his worrying while away the substitute will have no trouble in earning his money.—Chicago Record.

General Alger says he sent the Spaniards back to Spain as the result of a dream. Was the embalmed beef the result of a nightmare.—New York World.

Mr. Alger is reported as "deeply touched" by the proposed reception at Detroit. Mr. Alger is rich and can stand a pretty deep "touch,"—Minneapolis Journal.

The retirement of Mark Hanna from the mining and transportation business will give him more time to devote to his Administration.—Kansas City Star.

Governor Pingree, of Michigan, has lost his temper again. Considering what an exceedingly bad one it is, he might better let it stay lost. —N. Y. Mail and Express.

General Otis is accused of allowing his work as an editor to interfere with his efficiency as a fighter. Too much versatility is always dangerous.—Washington Post.

It has been the business of McKinley's imperial policy to keep the American people in ignorance of the true state of affairs at Manila. —Hamilton (Ohio) Democrat.

Roosevelt as heir apparent to McKinley's desk in the White House could not accept a Cabinet position. Princes of the realm do not do things that way. — Kansas City Times.

It is believed that Mr. Root will profit by the error which Alger made when he gave lodgment to the notion that he knew more about war than General Miles.—Kansas City Star.

The War Department has issued a "hurry order" for a shipment of mules to Manila, isn't this a case of "coals to Newcastle?" Does Otis need this kind of reinforement?—N. Y. World.

President Cleveland's ex-Comptroller of the Currency, James H. Eckels, still dislikes Col. Bryan very much. That is, as much as it is possible for a dead man to dislike anybody.—Pittsburg Press.

Of course, he may run away from Otis, as he ran away from Shafter, and whip the Tagals before he can be captured and brought back. There is always hope when Wheeler is at the front.—Chicago Journal.

It seems not to have occurred to President McKinley and his advisers that in attempting to fool the American people on the subject of the Philippine campaign they are doing one of the most dangerous things that can be done in this country.—Washington Times.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, : : KENTUCKY.

AUGUST—1899.

Sun.	Mon.	Tue.	Wed.	Thur.	Fri.	Sat.
....	....	1	2	3	4	5
6	7	8	9	10	11	12
13	14	15	16	17	18	19
20	21	22	23	24	25	26
27	28	29	30	31	....	....

THE most northern newspaper in the world is published at Hammerstein, Russia. The editorial work is done in a small wooden house roofed with turf. The paper is called the Nordkap, and is published weekly. The news is frequently a fortnight old before it reaches the subscribers. Most subscriptions are paid in fish.

A MAN with a penchant for computation has calculated that when we are at rest we consume 500 cubic inches of air a minute. If we walk at the rate of one mile an hour we use 800; two miles, 1,000; three miles, 1,600; four miles, 2,300. If we start out and run six miles an hour we consume 3,000 cubic inches of air during every minute of the time.

THE Prussian government is about to start sewing schools for the peasants, not the fancy needlework school familiar in America, but glove sewing schools. It appears that while nearly $1,000,000 worth of gloves are made in Breslau each year, the gloves have to be sent to Austria and Belgium to be sewed, the German girls never having acquired the knack.

T. E. LAWRENCE, a Topeka (Kan.) young man of 20 years, was married a few days ago to Mrs. Anna Hylt, who puts more than 70 candles on her birthday cake. Lawrence is the man who the recruiting officers said last fall was the most perfect man physically they had ever seen in all their experience. Every measurement was what it should be to make a model.

THE authorities of Lille, France, have concluded some exhaustive tests of the efficacy of ozone for purifying water. They find this method applicable on a large scale, and superior to any hitherto used. All pathogenic or saphrophytic microbes inhabiting the waters experimented upon were destroyed. After treatment the water is weakened in organic matter.

HERR KRUPP remains at the head of his great business simply because he feels that he is obliged to. One day he received a letter containing a threat to burn down his factories. He fancied that it came from one of the men. So he called them together, read the letter, and said that he would not rebuild, as he was rich enough to live without work, and would be glad of a rest.

ACCORDING to Dr. Gall, every one is constiuted so that he can not assimilate more than a certain quantity of sugar without the sugar remaining in the blood. Beef gives muscle, but sugar and other hydrocarbons give strength. Sugar is good to take when one has to make an effort for a long time. Alcohol is hydrocarbon, but it depresses after elevating, and it destroys resistance to disease. Sugar does not depress, and is a food.

A WOMAN'S glory is her hair, and that of Mercedes Lopez, a Mexican, is said to be unique. Mercedes' height is five feet, and her hair, which is said to be the longest in the world, trails on the ground four feet eight inches. It is so thick that she can wrap it around herself till she is completely hidden by it. Mercedes is the wife of a poor shepherd, and so fast does her hair grow that she is able to sell large tresses of it to hair dealers every few weeks.

A CLERGYMAN has designed a combination stick that leaves the combination knife a long way behind. It is made of the finest tube steel, and in addition to its use as a walking stick it can be made to serve as a seat, a hook for reaching out-of-the-way objects, a staud for a camera, and a stilt for looking over the heads of a crowd. It contains tweezers, railway key, wire cutter, microscope, telescope, pipe, match box, bottle and several other things.

CONGO FREE STATE Negroes are being Christianized by a hand organ. Capt. Becker, a Free State official, thoughtfully took one with him to his post, and, finding that the natives enjoyed the music, and being also desirous that they should marry in Christian fashion he announced that the organ would be played at every Christian wedding. The result was that weddings took place almost daily, and it was discovered that many couples got married more than once in order to procure the music.

A FARM manager at Fodderty, Dingwall, Scotland, watching a mole catcher at work, saw sea gulls hovering over, and occasionally alighting upon a turnip field, in which the observer and others were at work. A particularly large and handsome bird attracted his attention by the graceful way it floated slowly over the drills, intently scanning the surface of the ground. Suddenly, steadying itself a moment, it dropped, dug its bill into the heaving ground, and rose with a mole for its prey. Resting a few minutes, it gracefully began a further search for prey.

TOWN WIPED OUT

Carrabelle, Fla., Was Practically Destroyed by a Storm.

Only a Couple of Huts Left Standing in Carrabelle—Towns of McIntyre and Curtis Mill Also Completely Demolished—Loss of Live Not Known.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Aug. 4.—The first train since Monday from Carrabelle through the storm-stricken gulf coast section reached here Thursday afternoon, the passengers having been transferred twice from a flat car from Carrabelle to a lever car between Coal creek and the Ochlocknee river, and then to the relief train for Tallahassee.

The train crew and passengers agree in stating that reports sent out of the destruction wrought by the storm have been extremely moderate.

Carrabelle is literally wiped from the map. Her docks and wharves, containing about 400,000 feet of lumber and 50,000 barrels of rosin, were quickly swept away. Thirteen or fourteen large lumber vessels in the bay were swept ashore and are now lying well up on dry land. These vessels contained several million feet of lumber. No information is obtainable as to the loss of life from these vessels or from the large fleet of fishing boats in the neighborhood. Only two or three huts are left standing in Carrabelle and one colored woman is known to have been killed by the falling of a house. Citizens of Carrabelle are in a state of wild confusion and are flocking in every direction for relief. The town is isolated and the wires are still down. The towns of McIntyre and Curtis Mill are completely demolished, and large interests have been destroyed. The coast resorts, Teresa and Lanark, are more seriously wrecked than at first reported and visitors have suffered great hardships, though no loss of life is yet known. Fifteen men said to have been seen fishing on an islet called Dog island, just before the storm broke, can not be found.

NEW MODE OF SUICIDE.

Farmer Wold, of Poskin Lake, Wis., Deliberately Blows His Head Off With Dynamite.

CUMBERLAND, Wis., Aug. 4.—Christ. Wold, a farmer near Poskin lake, this county, committed suicide Thursday by deliberately blowing off his head with dynamite. He placed a quantity of dynamite in a hole in the ground, laid his head over it and touched off the fuse, exclaiming: "Here I go, and the Lord go with me." His head and one arm were completely torn away. Wold was 30 years old and leaves a wife and family who are unable to assign a cause for the deed.

To Compete With the White Lead Trust.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 4.—A corporation to compete with the National Lead and Oil Co., commonly called the white lead trust, has been organized by Pittsburgh capitalists under the name of the Davis Lead Co. Its capital is $400,000, and it is proposed to erect a plant at once, in order to share in the boom in the lead business which is now at its height. A production of 6,000 tons annually is planned.

Baseball Players Changed.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Manager Burns of the Chicago ball team has traded De Montreville for Magoon, of the Baltimore team, and has purchased from the Hartford, Ct., team, Pitcher Fred Klobedanz, formerly of the Boston club.

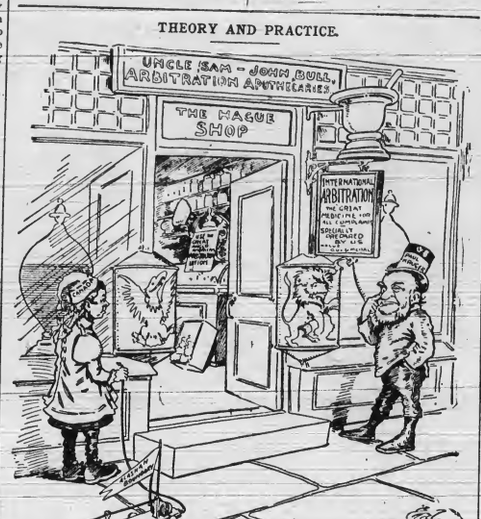
Witnesses Arrive.

RENNES, Aug. 3.—The principal witnesses who are to appear before the Dreyfus court-martial are beginning to arrive in Rennes and the town is taking on an animated appearance.

POWELL'S BICKBONE.

He Enters Vigorous Protest Against a Newspaper Man's Arrest and the Haytien Government Accedes.

PORT AU PRINCE, Hayti, Aug. 3.—The political situation is causing anxiety. Numerous arrests have made. Among those taken into custody are M. Doubillion, a former minister of the interior, and M. Duviver, a newspaper man. Duviver made strong resistance and succeeded in entering the United States legation, dragging with him the officer detailed to take him into custody. The officers, however, were unable to take their prisoner outside the legation doors. The United States minister, Mr. Wm. F. Powell, entered a protest against the action of the officers and demanded the release of the prisoner. The Haytien government gave way to the protest of Mr. Powell and M. Duviver was set at liberty.



AN INFURIATED BULL.

Farmer Dirk Was Killed and Horribly Mangled and His Wife Badly Injured by the Beast in a Pasture.

FORT DODGE, Ia., Aug. 4.—John Dirk went out in a pasture Wednesday when he was attacked by a bull. His cries were heard by his wife, who ran to his assistance, and together they drove the animal away. As they were leaving the bull attacked them again, knocking both down.

Dirk told his wife that he was dying, and she managed to escape and summoned a neighbor, who fired two shots from a shotgun into the animal, driving it away. Dirk was killed, his body being trampled into an almost unrecognizable mass. Mrs. Dirk had two ribs crushed.

THEORY AND PRACTICE.

The Little Folks—I wonder why these doctors don't take their own medicine.

HEUREAUX'S ASSASSINS.

They and Their Friends Are in the Mountainous District About 25 Miles North of Moca.

PUERTO PLATA, Aug. 3.—The assassins of President Heureaux and their friends are in the mountainous district about 25 miles north of Moca. Senor Don Cordero, late minister of the interior, has taken the field against them with 400 men.

The acting president, Wenceslao Figuero, in view of the anxiety of the commercial classes over the depreciated paper currency, has promised to retire much of the issue and asks that the business men be patient. It is suspected that Jiminez is in the neighborhood of Quiebras. News from Moca and Santiago indicated a calmer feeling Tuesday.

CONGRESSMAN ROBBED.

Wm. C. Lovering, of Massachusetts, Relieved of His Pocket Book and Valuable Contents Near Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 4.—William C. Lovering, member of the United States house of representatives from Massachusetts, was robbed on Saturday last while on his way from Ostend to this city. Mr. Lovering, while in the station at Ostend, was jostled by two men, but took little notice of the occurrence at the time. On arriving in the city, however, he discovered that his pocketbook, together with $13,000 worth of valuable papers and notes for £85 sterling, had disappeared.

The matter was placed in the hands of the police.

Boy Drowned Near Muncie.

MUNCIE, Ind., Aug. 3.—Paul, the 10-year-old son of Erwin Sharp, residing eight miles south of Muncie, near Tabor, was drowned Wednesday evening while in swimming with several boys in an old gravel pit.

Tornado at Elizabeth, N. J.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—A tornado with a velocity of 80 miles and a width of three blocks passed through Elizabeth, N. J., Wednesday afternoon doing damage conservatively estimated at $25,000.

THE SLIP BROKE.

Crowd of Excursionists Plunged Into the Water at a Ferry Dock.

The Victims Were About to Take the Ferry at Mount Desert, Near Bar Harbor, Me., on Their Way to See the Assemblage of Warships.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 7.—While a crowd of excursionists were on the way to see the warships, a slip leading from the dock to the boat at Mount Desert ferry broke, precipitating more than 100 into the water. Twenty bodies have been recovered, and it is estimated that the dead will number 30 or more.

Among the bodies identified are those of Mrs. William Murray, of Brewer; Irving Bridges, of West Hancock; Albert Colson, of Levant; Mrs. Alonzo Oakes, of Bangor; Joseph Murphy, of Old Town; Mrs. Hollis Estey, of Ellsworth; Clifford Cushman, of Corinth; Mell McCadd, of Corinth; Miss Lizzie Wood, of Bangor; Charles W. Downes, of Ellsworth; F. E. Sweetzer, traveling salesman, Portland; Ora M. Lank, Danforth; G. R. Bennett, brewer, and a woman believed to be his wife. Four others have not yet been identified.

The Maine Central railroad Sunday ran excursions to Bar Harbor from all sections of its line in Maine, the attraction being the war ships which were expected Sunday. All the morning long trains packed with excursionists were rushing to Bar Harbor. The train which left Bangor at 8:25 consisted of 13 cars jammed with people.

At Mount Desert ferry, the terminus of the line, the train is left for the boat for an eight mile sail to Bar Harbor. From the wharf a slip or gang plank 40 feet long and 10 feet wide led up to the boat. The slip was hinged at the inner end, was raised or lowered to suit the tide.

The wharf extends on both sides of the lush with the end of the wooden gang plank. Five timbers, 4 by 12 inches, set vertically, ran the length of the plank and these were crossed by two inch planking. It is said that there was no support for the plank between the hinges at the outer end.

When the excursion train from Bangor arrived at the ferry there was a rush for the steamer Sapphet. The first few passengers had crossed the gang plank safely, and it is estimated that 200 people were massed on the plank. Suddenly they felt the plank give way beneath them. The long timber supporting the plank broke in the middle. The hinges held up one end and the chain the other, while the broken end of the plank dropped, and a struggling, screaming mass of humanity was plunged into the water, 15 feet below the wharf. A few clung to the inclined sides of the plank, but at least 150 were struggling in the water. The piling of the wharf partially penned them in on three sides and the boat at the wharf closed the outer end of the opening.

A BLACK REPUBLIC.

Leading Havana Merchant Says If Cuba Is Not Annexed to the United States It Will Be a Second Hayti.

HAVANA, Aug. 7.—A leading Havana merchant, a Cuban, having business connections with most of the cities of the island and who claims to be well posted regarding Cuban affairs, said Sunday that universal suffrage in Cuba would mean a black republic in the near future, and that the only means of preventing it will be the incorporation of the island as a possession of the United States as a state, territory or colony, leading to American immigration, inter-marriages, the enrichment of insular blood and the improvement of the population. In his judgment Cuba is otherwise doomed to become another Hayti.

His assertions are based on the fact that in a population not exceeding 1,250,000 with a voting capacity of 400,000, the Spaniards number only 50,000, the white Cubans 125,000, those claiming to be white 25,000, while the blacks number 280,000 in voting strength. His theory is that more than half the Spaniards under a system of universal suffrage would not vote and that the number who would vote must inevitably diminish each year.

The Strike in the Sun Office.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The compositors and stereotypers of the New York Sun, 120 in number, who went on a strike Saturday night were still out Sunday night. The press and composing rooms were in darkness but the editorial room presented the usual appearance. The Sun appeared Sunday morning with only four pages in its news section. In an editorial the Sun of Sunday morning says that it may be impossible for the paper to be published Monday morning.

A Storm in Paris.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—During a severe thunder storm Saturday evening the lightning conductor on the Eiffel tower was struck ten times. A thunderbolt set fire to the Jeanot foundry. The Centure railway was flooded, many buildings were slightly injured, and scores of fine trees were destroyed.

Death of Col. A. S. Marvin.

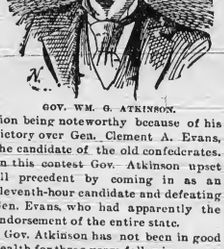
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Col. Azor Smith Marvin, for many years president of the Marvin Safe Co., is dead at his home in Brooklyn, aged 74 years.

THE M'KINLEY COTTAGE.

The President Has Purchased It for a Consideration of $14,500—Will Secure Possession in October.

CANTON, O., Aug. 7.—President McKinley has purchased the famous "McKinley cottage" at the corner of North Market street and Louis avenue. The deal was closed Saturday. The consideration was $14,500. The papers have passed. He will secure possession under the contract and deed October next. The property was not in the market. It was endeared to President and Mrs. McKinley as their first home when they began housekeeping and by tender memories of sorrows there. The lot is 100 feet front on Market street by 244 on Louis avenue. The front veranda shows the most wear from the historic campaign of 1896, when the noted home was the political mecca for nearly a million people.

It is believed to be the president's intention to spend a part of each summer at Canton. The interior of the house has always been roomy and cool and comfortable. It is thought possible that the president may renovate the house and make some improvements.



Many Cantonians have expressed a fear that with the breaking of the home ties by deaths, sorrows and other events, the president might be induced to accept one of the many invitations which the papers have reported to secure the residence elsewhere. The news that the deal is closed whereby he is once more the owner of the home that has always been dearest to him will be received with universal rejoicing.

EX-GOV. ATKINSON.

The Former Executive of Georgia Seriously Ill, and It Is Believed His Recovery Is Impossible.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 7.—Former Gov. W. G. Atkinson is seriously ill at his home in Newnan and it is believed his recovery is impossible. Gov. Atkinson was succeeded in office by the present chief executive of the state, Allan D. Candler.

He served two terms as governor, the campaign preceding his first election being noteworthy because of his victory over Gen. Clement A. Evans, the candidate of the old confederates. In this contest Gov. Atkinson upset all precedent by coming in as an eleventh-hour candidate and defeating Gen. Evans, who had apparently the endorsement of the entire state.

GOV. WM. G. ATKINSON.

Gov. Atkinson has not been in good health for three years following an attack of appendicitis.

A HORRIBLE MURDER.

Pension Examiner Snell Cuts the Throat of a Thirteen-Year-Old Girl Who Had Been in His Employ.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—A horrible murder was committed Sunday in the northern section of the city. The murderer was Benjamin H. Snell, a special examiner in the pension office, a man about 45 year of age. His victim was Liza Weissenberger, a girl 13 years of age, who had been employed in his household until a few months ago when she was taken home by her parents who became suspicious of Snell's conduct towards her. Snell seemed to be infatuated with the child and paid her a great deal of attention, which however, she resented.

Sunday morning Snell went to his victim's house and entered the room where the girl was sleeping, bent over the child and drew her from the bed. Twisting one hand in the girl's hair and throwing back her head, Snell drew a razor from his pocket and swept it across her throat. Twice he slashed her throat and once he missed, cutting a great piece of flesh from her cheek. The head was almost severed from the body and both the murderer and his victim were drenched with blood.

Attracted by the child's screams, the mother ran to the rescue, and was badly slashed on the arm. The murderer was arrested. He refuses to give any explanation of his acts, and says he remembers nothing about them. The murderer is a native of Vermont, and was at one time employed in a bank in Montgomery, Ala. He has a wife and two children.

Held on a Murder Charge.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 7.—Capt. Thomas L. Polly, who was shot by David Anderson at the soldiers' home on Friday last, died Sunday night. Anderson is in jail and will be held on a charge of murder. Capt. Polly served with the 66th Ohio infantry in Company A during the civil war.

Bigamy Charged.

VALPARAISO, Ind., Aug. 7.—Sylvester Smith was arrested on a charge of being a bigamist. He was put under bond.

"Honor is Purchased by Deeds We Do."

Deeds, not words, count in battles of peace as well as in war. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story of its merit. It has won many remarkable victories over the arch enemy of mankind—impure blood. It is the best medicine money can buy. Be sure to get only Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Never Disappoints

POINT IN THE CASE.

Jake Didn't Mind the Charge Against Him, He Wanted to Know Something.

How a greater trouble overshadows a lesser was aptly illustrated in one of the minor courts the other day. The accused was a big, strong, honest German, greatly excited and disposed to do more talking than is permissible under such circumstances. The court distinctly said that the big man was charged with disturbing the peace and asked him whether he was guilty or not guilty.

"Dot vos not'ing, shudge," came the response. "Der prew'ry he hired me ter drive dot vagon. Tony Velters, he say: 'Shake, it vos besser and you yoin der union,' und den he say vhy I don't vait a dleetle an see how vos it. So I vait.

"Purdy gwick der boss he say: 'Shake, you can get your nioneys und give up your deam. We vos a union prewery.' I say I vould see Tony und ask him vot der reason dot him dot he advise me out of a job. When I find Tony he say did I haf some sense, und I told him he vos schmarder und I vos und he didn't know not'ings.

"But they say you argued with a club and that Tony's strongest proposition was a brick."

"Dot vos not der point, shudge. Vot I vant der find out is, how do I stant on der union labor guestion?"—Detroit Free Press.

A Shoppy Announcement.

A Kansas printer in making up the forms one day in a hurry got a marriage and a grocer's notice mixed up so they read as follows: "John Smith and Ida Quay were united in the bonds of holy sauerkraut which will be sold by the quart or barrel. Mr. Smith is an esteemed codfish at ten cents; while the bride has nice pigs' feet to display."—Michigan Lyre.

Big Four Niagara Falls Excursion.

On August 15 the Big Four route will run their annual excursion to Niagara Falls. The rate will be only $7.00 from either Cincinnati or Indianapolis with corresponding low rates from other points. Connecting lines will sell excursion tickets via the Big Four route. For full information call on your local agent or address,

Warren J. Lynch, G. P. A., Big Four route, Cincinnati, O.

Why They Are Nervous.

A correspondent says that those who dine with the queen are usually painfully nervous. Perhaps they are tortured with doubt of the propriety of praising the pie, not knowing whether her majesty or the cook made it.—Denver Post.

Williams—"I understand you moved your family last week." Jackson—"Yes; our servant girl didn't like the location we were in."—Columbus Journal.

Never do to-day any wrong thing you can put off till to-morrow.—L. A. W. Bulletin.

Horses like to be well stalled, but not in a muddy highway.—L. A. W. Bulletin.

A quarrelsome man is always a petty man.—Atchison Globe.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

What does it do?

It causes the oil glands in the skin to become more active, making the hair soft and glossy, precisely as nature intended.

It cleanses the scalp from dandruff and thus removes one of the great causes of baldness.

It makes a better circulation in the scalp and stops the hair from coming out.

It Prevents and It Cures Baldness

Ayer's Hair Vigor will surely make hair grow on bald heads, provided only there is any life remaining in the hair bulbs.

It restores color to gray or white hair. It does not do this in a moment, as will a hair dye; but in a short time the gray color of age gradually disappears and the darker color of youth takes its place.

Would you like a copy of our book on the Hair and Scalp? It is free.

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the use of the Vigor write the Doctor about it.

Address, DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

CARTER'S INK

Is what Uncle Sam uses.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

ELECT OFFICERS.

Second Day's Session of the Young Peoples' Christian Union.

The Membership of the Junior Union is 10,402—Sixty New Societies Organized During the Year—Total Membership 31,077, a Gain of 1,429.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 4.—The second day's session of the Young People's Christian Union convention, which opened at the Duquesne garden Wednesday night, was preceded Thursday morning by a bible study in the Belle field Presbyterian church. Rev. W. G. Moorhead, D. D., of Xenia, O., conducted the services. An hour later when the big choir began the praise service, the Dusquesne garden auditorium was crowded to the doors. Over 8,000 delegates were in their seats and several thousand visitors packed the aisles and entrances.

After prayer by Rev. J. P. Sankey, of Rochester, N. Y., Rev. Addison Alexander read the reports of the committee on nominations as follows:

President Schuyler W. Livingston, of Chicago; secretary, Miss Daisy Stinson, of Chicago, press secretary, Hugh R. Moffatt, of Monmouth, Ill.

President Moffat then asked that the officers be declared elected, and the election was unanimous. President Moffat announced T. C. McKelvey, the incoming chairman of the general committee, had appointed E. K. Marquis, of Indianapolis, as the new secretary.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 4.—The annual reports were then read. The treasurer's report showed $1,594 mission money on hand and a total of $2,725 cash on hand. The total membership of the junior unions is 10,402, an increase of 1,200 over last year. Sixty-one new societies were organized during the year. The membership is 31,077, again of 1,429. The contributions for the year were $36,540.

At the afternoon session Rev. Alex Gilchrist, of Omaha, Neb., the new secretary of the home mission board, made an address on "Men and the Church," and Rev. A. C. Dixon, of Brooklyn, N. Y., spoke on "Is the Young Man Safe?"

SHAMROCK SAILS FOR AMERICA

Captain of the Cup Challenger Expects to Reach New York in Twenty-Eight Days Without Pushing.

GLASGOW, Aug. 4.—The cup challenger Shamrock sailed from Fairlie Thursday morning, accompanied by Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht Erin. As the two yachts proceeded down the river, whose banks were thronged with spectators, they were greeted with enthusiastic cheers, intermingled with singing "Rule Britannia."

The craft in the vicinity of Fairlie displayed flags in honor of the departing challenger.

The sound of the whistles and sirens blowing in honor of the Shamrock was deafening.

As already cabled, the Shamrock will take a southerly course. Capt. Hogarth expects to reach New York within 28 days, and he does not intend to push the yacht to any extent.

FAIRLIE, Scotland, Aug. 4.—The Shamrock had to put back on account of a slight accident to her bowsprit.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.

A New Remedy for Tuberculosis That Has Developed in France Reported to the State Department.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—A new remedy for tuberculosis developed in France has been reported to the state department by United States Commercial Agent Atwood, at Roubaix. It is a treatment called to the attention of the academy of medicine by Dr. Mendel, and consists in the daily injection into the bronchial tubes of essence of eucalyptus, thyme and cinnamon, held in solution in olive oil. The oil in descending slowly comes into contact with the walls of the tube and upper lungs. The gas set free saturates the air in the lungs and acts on the mucous membranes. In 18 cases treated, after one or two weeks there was in all a lessening or complete cessation of the cough or expectoration as well as a return of sleep, appetite and strength.

Chaplain Milburn Stricken.

LINCOLN, Neb. Aug. 4.—Dr. W. H. Milburn, the blind chaplain of the United States senate, was prostrated by sunstroke and fell unconscious Thursday afternoon while delivering a lecture at the Nebraska Epworth assembly at Lincoln park. He was brought to the city and revived under the care of a physician. Thursday night he was much improved and the doctors look for almost complete recovery, in time.

Mrs. Maria M. Gross Dying.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Mrs. Maria M. Gross, in point of practice the oldest woman physician in Chicago and one of the first women in the country to enter the medical profession, is dying here. She was born in Elmira, N. Y., in 1853.

Oklahoma Chosen.

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Aug. 4.—The committee appointed to select a place for holding the reunion of Roosevelt's rough riders next year, has chosen Oklahoma City.

ASTOR, THE TRAITOR.

A Hooting, Jeering Crowd Burned William Waldorf Astor in Effigy in New York City.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Surrounded by a hooting, jeering crowd of several hundred persons, William Waldorf Astor was burned in effigy Friday night in Longacre square. Dr. F. W. Crowe, an elderly physician, who lives in his own handsome brown stone dwelling at No. 228 West 40th street, was the prime mover in the incident. He hired 30 men to assist him. At 8:20 p. m. he carried a big rocking chair from his house to a truck driven by Anthony Kemmer. With it he had an oilsoaked barrel. On the chair he placed a lay figure garbed in a striped suit, a black Fedora hat, kid gloves, tight-fitting trousers and good shoes. Across the chest of the figure was a sign 2x4 feet with this legend:

(Astor, the Traitor.)

The wagon, followed by a crowd, was driven down Broadway. At a point near Thirty-sixth street he tried to make a speech, but the police ordered him on. Up Sixth avenue to Longacre went the wagon. There Dr. Crowe planted the barrel on the asphalt, poured over it two quarts of oil and applied a match.

The flames crackled and licked up the lay figure. A big hole was burned in the asphalt pavement. The police arrived too late to find the doctor. He had disappeared in the crowd. His driver was arrested, but released at the station house. The police are looking for Dr. Crowe.

Dr. Crowe has been much interested in the reports about Mr. Astor taking the oath of allegiance to Queen Victoria. The more he read the madder he grew. For some days he has talked of little else, and his act Friday night was no surprise to his neighbors.

LAWLESSNESS RENEWED.

Cleveland Strikers Again Attack Cars and It is Feared Withdrawal of Troops Will Result in Rioting.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 5.—In addition to the attempt to blow up a Jennings avenue car on the South Side Thursday night, reports received at police headquarters show that cars were stoned in various parts of the city, although so far as learned no one was injured. On Pearl street a shower of heavy stones fell upon a car smashing the windows and otherwise damaging it. The conductor fired five shots in the direction from which the stones were thrown. Three shots were fired through the windows of a Scoville avenue car and later two rocks were sent crashing through the windows of the same car. No arrests.

The troops have been gradually withdrawn, until not to exceed 500 soldiers remain. Fear is expressed that as a result of this the lawless element will again resume the outrages that marked the early stages of the strike.

BY THEIR LEADER'S SIDE.

Remains of Seven Followers of John Brown Removed From Harper's Ferry to Elba, N. Y., for Burial.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Aug. 5.—The remains of the seven followers of John Brown, the abolitionist, who were shot and buried at Harper's Ferry 40 years ago, passed through this village at noon Friday en route to Lake Placid. The bodies were located by Dr. Thomas J. Featherstonhaugh, of Washington, assisted by Capt. Hall, of Washington, and O. G. Libby, of the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Libby has charge of the remains.

The bodies are to be buried by the side of the old liberator in the little plot at North Elba. Arrangements are being made for funeral services and it is expected that President McKinley and many other prominent persons will be present. The time of the services and interment has not yet been settled upon.

MILITARY HONORS.

The Services Over the Remains of Col. Hawkins Were Under the Auspices of Masons and Knights Templar.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—The body of Col. Alexander Hawkins, of the 10th Pennsylvania received the last military honors in this city Saturday afternoon. The services took place under the auspices of the masonic and Knights Templar organizations. The 10th Pennsylvania will occupy the places of chief mourners and Gen. Shafter has ordered a military escort to take part in the funeral. The volunteers now camped at the presidio will also attend out of respect to the memory of the deceased and in sympathy with their comrades in arms.

The body will be sent east Saturday night.

Shipyard Employees Strike.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The boilermakers and iron ship builders at Lewis Nixon's ship yard at Elizabeth, N. J., went out Friday for nine hours on new and eight hours on old work at the same pay they have been receiving for ten hours on new and nine hours on old work.

Hobart Leaves for Lake Champlain.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Vice President Hobart left Long Branch Friday at 3:50 for Lake Champlain for a ten days' visit to President McKinley.

WILL BE ABSENT.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Declines an Invitation to Visit Chicago.

The Harsh Tone of the American Press in Dealing With Him and the Alaska Boundary Question the Cause—He May Reconsider.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Mr. F. W. Fitzpatrick, of the treasury department, has just returned to Washington from Ottawa, where he went at the instance of the committee of citizens of Chicago in charge of the ceremonies of laying the cornerstone of that city's great post office building next October, by President McKinley, to arrange for the formal invitation and expected acceptance from Chicago's citizens to the governor general and cabinet of Canada, to participate in those festivities.

Mr. Fitzpatrick is the assistant United States architect, under Architect Henry Ives Cobb, for the Chicago building.

To a press representative he admitted that his official reception was slightly chilly, Sir Wilfrid Laurier candidly telling him that under the present conditions it would be impossible for him to accept or even consider any social invitations to this side of the border.

Mr. Fitzpatrick says that in substance Sir Wilfrid's voluntary statements and answers to queries were as follows:

"As a friend in whom I am deeply interested I am very glad to see you, but frankly, as a representative of the federal or any local government in the United States, your visit could not have been more untimely. When I received your first letter I took up the matter with his excellency, the governor general, and he expressed a sincere desire to visit Chicago and seemed as anxious to accept the invitation as I was; he would have been delighted to go and was looking forward to the day with much anticipation. But since then the tone of your press has become so harsh in dealing with the Alaskan boundary question, such misrepresentations have been made about our government and particularly about me that it would be undignified for us to visit you, and I can not advise his excellency to go."

Mr. Fitzpatrick said that Sir Wilfrid intimated that in the present state of public feeling in the United States, as indicated in the press, it would not be entirely safe for the governor general and himself to visit Chicago. He feared that they might, in a great gathering of such a character as the Chicago ceremony, be subjected to some unpleasantness or indignity by thoughtless persons.

Sir Wilfrid expressed himself as strongly in favor of arbitrating the Alaskan boundary dispute and concluded the interview as follows:

"No, much as I regret it, I could not go to Chicago under present conditions and shall certainly, however painful a duty it may be, also his excellency, to decline the invitation that I know and feel has so kindly been extended to us by the city of Chicago."

Mr. Fitzpatrick secured Sir Wilfrid's promise, however, to reconsider the matter.

Adm. Dewey Arrives at Naples.

NAPLES, Aug. 5.—The United States cruiser Olympia, with Adm. Dewey on board, arrived here Saturday morning. As the cruiser entered the port salutes were exchanged.

American Killed in Mexico.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug. 5.—News reached here Friday that Walter Hemming, an American from this city, had been killed in a raid by the Yaqui Indians in the mountains east of Guaymas. Hemming left here in April last with two companions to search for gold in the Yaqui country.

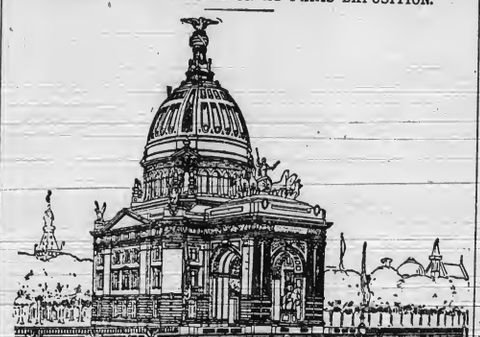
The Canoe Capsized.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 5.—C. B. Hersey, of this city, was drowned Friday in Long Lake, Wis., by the capsizing of a canoe.

SELLING GOATS' MEAT.

Thousands of Them Slaughtered and Placed on the Chicago Market and Sold as Good Mutton.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—The Daily News says: Thousands of goats are bought, slaughtered and placed upon the markets of Chicago and sold as mutton by some packers at the stock yards. This traffic is carried on most extensively during the winter and early spring up to and including the month of April. The goats and kids are principally of the Angora kind and come from the northwest, while a few are shipped in from the south. The latter are of the common goat species and do not find as ready sale as the Angoras.



Besides being very palatable as a food, the Angora goat and kid are used for other purposes. The skins of the goats are used for making floor mats and robes for babies, while the skin of the kid is used for trimming furs.

Dr. W. S. Devoe, of the bureau of animal industry, when asked Friday in regard to goats being sold for mutton, said: "They certainly are quite free from disease, are fat and make excellent eating. Of course the very common "billy" goat would have a tendency to be strong and have a bad odor. There is no law to prevent them being sold, and when we find them in the packing houses they are inspected the same as any other careass."

The records at the yards show that some weeks as high as 8,000 goats have been received.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Referring to the reports that goat meat is being sold in some of the western cities as mutton, Dr. Salmon, chief of the bureau of animal industry, said Friday that the law provided only for the inspection of cattle, sheep and hogs, and that nothing short of congressional action would remedy the defect. Dr. Salmon said, however, that he did not anticipate much danger from the use of goat meat, as goats were generally healthy animals.

UNITED STATES PAVILION AT PARIS EXPOSITION.

This drawing, just from the French capital, gives a new and complete picture of the American national building with its ornamental accessories.

M. DELCASSE'S MISSION.

It Was to Dissuade Emperor Nicholas From Abdicating the Throne of Russia, It is Said.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—M. De Blowitz, the Paris correspondent of the Times, gives an extraordinary explanation of M. Delcasse's present mission. He asserts that it was decided upon quite suddenly for a "reason which admitted of no delay," and then gives the story, which he says he has from "a source to which I am bound to attach importance." This is the explanation:

"Emperor Nicholas is disappointed and tired of the throne. The absence of an heir excites his superstitious feelings, and he connects himself with a Russian legend according to which an heirless czar is to be succeeded by a czar Michael, predestined to occupy Constantinople.

"The death of the czarewitch and the failure of the conference at The Hague led him to decide to abdicate on the occasion of his coming visit to Darmstadt. On this becoming known in Paris, M. Delcasse was sent in hot haste to dissuade him from carrying out this intention."

Insurgents Burn an American Steamer.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Lloyd's agent at Manila cables that insurgents at San Fernando have captured and burned the United States steamer Sapurnus.

Choyinski Given the Decision.

DENVER, Col., Aug. 5.—Choyinski was given the decision over Mexican Pete Everett on a foul in the seventh round Friday night.

Cecil Rhodes' Prediction.

CAPE TOWN, Aug. 5.—In the house of assembly Friday Mr. Cecil Rhodes expressed the belief that the Transvaal difficulty would be "overcome in a few months and without a shot being fired, owing to the mutual moderation being displayed." He predicted that capital would then flow freely.

A Presidential Office.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The post office at Prattsville, Ala., has been taken from the fourth class and made presidential, effective October 1.

OFF A TRESTLE.

A Distressing Accident on a Trolley Line Near Bridgeport, Ct.

Only Two Persons Are Known to Have Escaped—Many of the Victims Were Instantly Killed—Road Was Only Opened Thursday.

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Aug. 7.—Nearly 40 persons were killed by an accident on the Stratford extension of the Shelton Street Railway Co. at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon when a loaded trolley car went off the trestle over Peck's mill pond at Oronoque, about six miles north of Bridgeport, and sank in the flats 40 feet below. Thus far 36 people are known to be dead and several more injured.

Only two persons are known to have escaped unhurt.

It is believed that there were 43 passengers on the car but the indicator was removed by a conductor of another car and spirited away, so that at present it is impossible to state accurately the number aboard.

The scene of the accident is midway between Shelton and Bridgeport. The car was northbound, running toward Shelton. It was in charge of Conductor John Carroll, of Bridgeport, who was among the killed, and Mortorman Hamilton, of Bridgeport, who escaped by jumping. The trestle is 440 feet long, made of iron with stone foundations and was not protected by guard rails.

South of the trestle an incline down which the car ran at a high rate of speed. After it ran onto the trestle for about ten feet the trucks left the rails and then the car continued on the ties for about 75 feet, when it went off the trestle and dropped into the pond below, overturning completely and upending. When the car struck, the four-ton motor and the heavy trucks crushed into it, instantly killing many of the passengers.

Three physicians who were passengers on a car a short distance behind, arrived quickly on the scene and rendered all possible assistance to the injured. Word was sent to Bridgeport and three ambulances and a police wagon were hurried to the scene and the injured were taken to Bridgeport general hospital.

A morgue was improvised in the main room of the town hall at Stratford and in a very short time 23 bodies were laid out awaiting identification.

The accident was witnessed by Miss Francis Peck, who resides about 400 feet from the bridge. She was upstairs at her home as the car was passing and she says that it was running unusually fast. Frank Cramer, who was bathing near the bridge, states that the passengers were all singing and in the most joyful mood as they passed him.

The road, which is practically controlled by the Bridgeport Traction Co., was opened for traffic last Thursday.

Uxoricide and Suicide.

DUNSMUIR, Cal., Aug. 7.—This quiet village was the scene of a double tragedy when Henry Brown, a mill sawyer, shot his wife and then himself, both expiring immediately. Their dead bodies were found lying side by side in the road. Mrs. Brown had left her husband a year ago, and since the separation they had not met till Sunday, when Brown, meeting his wife on the street, after a few reproachful words, murdered her and then killed himself.

The Dreyfus Trial Opens.

RENNES, Aug. 7.—The proceedings of the court-martial before which Capt. Dreyfus is on trial opened at 7:10 o'clock Monday morning. Capt. Dreyfus entered the court room with a firm step, though his features were pallid. He is partly bald, and what hair he has is gray and closecropped. He answered the formal questions of the judge as to his name, age, etc., in a clear, determined voice.

No Deaths or New Cases.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 7.—There were no deaths or new cases of yellow fever at the soldiers' home Sunday and the authorities feel certain that they have succeeded in effectually checking the disease. No other cases of yellow fever have been reported at Phoebus. It is thought now that quarantine restrictions will be modified this week and that they will soon be removed altogether.

Spanish Officers' Fate About Decided.

MADRID, Aug. 6.—The supreme council of war deliberated Saturday over its judgment in regard to the surrender of Santiago de Cuba to the American troops. It is reported the accused officers will be acquitted Monday. It is said the public prosecutor has submitted a report demanding that imprisonment for life be imposed upon the Spanish officers responsible for the surrender of Manila.

Ahead of Schedule Time.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Albert V. Roe, the one-armed postal telegraph messenger, who is riding a bicycle from New York to San Francisco, arrived in Chicago Sunday considerably ahead of his schedule. He resumed his journey west Monday morning.

Leg Artery Broke.

PAINESVILLE, O., Aug. 7.—While preparing dinner Mrs. George Green, of West Painesville, broke an artery in her left leg and died before the arrival of a physician.

NEWS ITEMS.

Leonard Gould, of Chicago, dropped dead on the Spring House piazza, Block Island, R. I., of heart trouble.

The United States cruiser Marblehead, which is on her way to Mare Island, arrived Thursday at Callao from Coquimbo, Chili.

Chief Justice W. L. Chambers, of the Samoan islands, and family arrived in Colorado Springs, Col., Friday. Monday night they will leave for Washington.

The attorneys for Paul Corcoran, convicted of the murder of James Cheyne, during the riots at Wardner, Ida., in April, filed a motion for a new trial.

Richard Croker will be among the passengers on the American line steamer St. Paul, which is scheduled to sail from Southampton Saturday for New York.

Prince Von Hohenlohe was given an audience at the railway station at Aussee, Austria, Sunday by Emperor Francis Joseph, of Austria, who was passing through.

Mrs. L. H. Pickens, relict of South Carolina's war governor, who was at one time minister to Russia, is lying critically ill at her home at Edgewood near Edgefield, S. C. She is suffering from paralysis.

United States revenue officers raided two illicit distilleries, operated within three miles of Chickamauga park. Both establishments did a land office business last year in supplying whisky to soldiers at Chickamauga park.

A dispatch to the National Zeitung from Corea says the government of that country has granted a concession to a German syndicate to build a railroad from Seoul, the capital to Gensan, in Broughton bay on the west coast of Corea.

There were nearly 5,000 Cuban soldiers in Santiago de Cuba Sunday evening, expecting to be paid there Monday. The remainder of the Cuban troops in the province of Santiago will be paid at the towns of San Luis, Cristobal, Songo and El Caney.

The reports of yellow fever and auspicious cases existing in Norfolk, Va., and recently published are without foundation. There has been no yellow fever in Norfolk, Portsmouth or Berkley and a strict quarantine is in force against infected points.

The official investigation into the collision Saturday evening at Juvisy a suburb of Paris, on the southern side, between the Orleans lines Paris and Nantes train and the Paris and Lyons Mediterranean train, show that 17 persons were killed and 73 injured.

Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock will join the president at Lake Champlain about August 18 for a stay of about a week. He will leave Washington in a few days for Marion, Mass., to visit a daughter, and after a brief visit in New Hampshire will proceed to Lake Champlain.

It was decided to have five or ten thousand children at Grant's tomb on the second day of the Dewey celebration. They will be formed into a square and will sing national songs in honor of the admiral. This is a substitute for the children's parade which was at first proposed.

The United States transport Fuford, Capt. Matens, arrived in quarantine at New York Sunday from Cienfuegos and Havana. Among those on board were Maj. I. C. Brown, W. R. Graham and E. Wood. Lieut. Fitzhugh Lee, jr., and 19 other passengers. There were also 60 discharged soldiers.

Two cars collided Sunday on the Sea View electric road running between Wickford and Narragansett pier, R. I., Merritt Lyman Abbey, a motorman, was killed. Of the 40 passengers only one was injured, Miss M. E. Brown, of Providence. Both cars were set on fire by the electric current and totally destroyed.

As the result of a strike of the conductors and motormen the Eau Claire (Wis.) street railway had but two local cars in operation at 6 p. m. Sunday, and but two on the line to Chippewa Falls. Crowds of strike sympathizers Saturday night and Sunday afternoon hampered the progress of cars by placing obstruction on the tracks.

The largest storage warehouse of the Boady & Noakes linseed oil mill, Winnipeg, Minn., was burned Sunday morning. Loss $30,000, insurance $13,000. While going to the fire one of the engines upset and Fireman Devaney was badly crushed. Capt. Walker and R. Dougie were also injured.

Col. J. B. Sanborn, of the 1st regiment of the Illinois national guard, has invited the 10th Pennsylvania regiment on behalf of the Chicago regiments of the Illinois national guard to stop in Chicago on August 30. It is understood the Pennsylvania regiment is willing to parade in Chicago after being mustered out at San Francisco.

The delegates to the jobbing confectioners' convention in session in Buffalo, N. Y., have adopted a resolution urging the government to substitute aluminum for copper in the material used in making pennies. The argument is that copper cents, as used in the candy business, are disease carriers.

A Brooklyn manufacturing company has just shipped 43 hundred-pound anvils to the Chinese Eastern railway at Vladivostock, where the company also shipped 18 large machine shop anvils in November last.

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, Aug., 9, 1899.

Advertising Rates:

One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

We are authorized to announce J. W. KENNEDY, of Union, as a candidate for the Legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

We are authorized to announce BENJAMIN STEPHENS, of Florence, as a candidate for the Legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Democratic State Ticket.

For Governor,
WILLIAM GOEBEL, of Kenton.

For Lieutenant Governor,
J. C. W. BECKHAM, of Nelson.

For Attorney General,
R. J. BRECKINRIDGE, of Boyle.

For Auditor,
G. G. COULTER, of Graves.

For Treasurer,
S. W. HAGER, of Boyd.

For Secretary of State,
C. B. HILL, of Clark.

For Supt. Public Instruction,
H. V. M'CHESNEY, of Livingston.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. B. NALL, of Jefferson.

For Railroad Commissioner,
FLETCHER DEMPSEY, of Hopkins county.—First District.

C. C. M'CHORD, of Washington county.—Second District.

A. W. HAMILTON, of Montgomery county.—Third District.

For State Senator,
Dr. J. G. FURNISH.

Neighborhood News.

Limaburg.

Wheat all threshed in good order.

The nice rains have revived the farmers' spirits.

The mercury reached 100 here a day or two last week.

Don't forget the Sunday school celebration at Harvest Home grounds next Saturday.

Mrs. Florence Newton, of Cincinnati, and Miss Carrie Seemon, of Covington, are visiting friends here.

Henry Rouse and Henry L. Tanner and families, of Gunpowder, were visiting Legrand and James W. Utz, last Sunday.

The 18 months old child of Calvin Tanner and wife, died on the 3d inst. It was buried in the Tanner grave yard near Floreuce.

Francesville.

We had a delightful rain Saturday night.

Mrs. Laura Jasper, of Richmond, is visiting her relatives here.

The large acre of wheat here did not turnout as well as expected.

Harry Killgore is visiting his mother at New Richmond, Ohio.

We are luformed that over 5,000 bus. of wheat have been shipped from Baisly's landing.

Miss Nannie Kyle, of Kenton county, is the pleasant guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Riley, and last Tuesday she visited her old schoolmate, Mrs. Joe. Graves.

The basket meetiug was all we had hoped it would be. Our pastor was present. Bro. Hoover preached in the morning and Bro. Atwood, in the afternoon. A very large crowd was in attendance, and if anybody went away either spiritually unfilled or otherwise, it was their own fault.

Gasburg.

Mrs. Henry Terrill and daughter are visiting friends in Missouri.

A much smaller acreage of wheat than that of last fall will be sowed.

The melon trade is now on in earnest, and they are selling at fair prices.

Joe Fritch and family, of Ohio co. Indiana, visited friends here Sunday.

A couple of handsome young ladies from Cincinnati, are visiting at Frank Hartman's.

Ben Johnson and family, of near Lawrenceburg, visited relatives here last Thursday.

Very little interest is manifested in the race for representative here, and a light vote will be polled.

Rumor has it that a certain young man of this place will shortly wed a young lady of Cincinnati.

Rev. Leslie Early will commence teaching a select school in Petersburg on the first Monday in September.

Doc Rice went on duty Monday as a pilot on the City of Pittsburg now in the Louisville and Cincinnati trade.

Gunpowder.

Aunt Ann Tanner is visiting relatives at Georgetown.

O. C. Rouse, of near Hathaway, was in our burg last Saturday.

A much needed rain fell here last Saturday, just in time to save the corn and tobacco crops.

Enoch Rouse says the recent rains have interfered with his business to such an extent he has lost his job hauling water.

Your correspondent and family and J. C. Hankins and family broke bread with Mr. John Utz, of Limaburg, last Sunday.

Uncle Matt Floyd, after about a month's stay with relatives here, returned to his home in Georgetown, about the first of the month.

L. M. Tanner and son passed through our burg last Friday with a drove of 120 sheep, which they purchased at the Union Stock yards, Cincinnati.

Rev. Lentz, after an absence of about a week, attending the great Lutheran Assembly at Rock River, Ill., has returned and filled his regular appointment at Ebenezer Church Sunday morning.

Bellevue.

Refreshing rains for the last few days.

Jno. McAtee preached at Sand Run on the 6th inst.

A. B. Corbin and his mother have each bought a "Perfect" range.

Sebern Scott and family, of Ind., are visiting relatives in this vicinity.

Zack Bondurant and daughter, of Ohio, are guests of his son, Terry.

Mrs. Jas. Conner and children are guests of Mrs. C's father and mother.

Clore boys shipped, on Sunday eve., last 60 head of hogs weighing 160 lbs. each.

J. E. L. Grant and wife, were the guests of her brothers and sisters, last Sunday.

Joseph Bower and wife were guests of Joseph Birkie and family, on Sunday last.

Mrs. Mildred Lewis, of Rising Sun, has been the guest of Mary Huey the past week.

Robert Green was first on the market at Rising Sun with melons, selling at 14 cents each.

Misses Dora and Delia Cook, of Patriot, Ind., have been guests of relatives here for the past week.

Misses Nannie Counelly and Katie Ryle, of Gallatin, are guests of Misses Artie, Stella and Ora Ryle.

Mrs. Clara Maurer celebrated her 60th birthday by inviting her friends to her home on the evening of the 5th.

Mrs. Laura Wilson and daughter, Alice, of Rabbit Hash, were the guests of C. H. Acra and wife, last Monday.

The order of I. O. O. F., has begun hauling stone for the foundation of the hall which is to be a two story building, and 50x30 feet.

Walton.

Three of section foreman Sullivan's men on the Southern were overcome by the heat, last Wednesday afternoon, and three of Rex's men on the Shortline succumbed to it.

There was also a paluful rumor that Parson Watson had been overpowered while playing an exciting game of checkers with Dr. Jones. Upon being interrogated Bro. Watson stated that Joues raised that on him three or four years ago.

People who bring marketing to this place miss it very often in not telling what they have for sale. For instance a man had cantaloupes and beans in his wagon. He sold beans to my landlady, who also wanted the melons; two doors further west he sold the lady cantaloupes and she wanted beans. When the ladies compared notes both were "put out" as they termed the state of their feelings at not getting all they wanted.

Mr. W. M. Byrd is having the rock hauled for the foundation of the new house (designed by Edward Stamler) to be built opposite his store. The plan shows a very neat structure, as does also the one designed for W. O. Rouse to be erected on his lot between Wm. Tilman's and G. W. Martin's.

Mr. P. D. Cerr and family, of Nashville, Tenn., are the guests of his father-in-law, Mr. G. W. Martin.

Miss Julia Ross and the Misses Shaw, of the Highlands, Campbell county, returned home Saturday, after a joyous visit to their cousins, the Misses Rouse. Come again young ladies, your presence made Walton more charmiug and life like as it were.

Mrs. King has for guests her sister, Mrs. Rosenfeiter and son Charles, of McMicken Ave., Cincinnati.

Hon. Benj. Stephens and Mr. J. W. Kennedy, candidates for the legislature, were here to address the voters, last week, but put it off to some future time on account of the protracted meeting at the Baptist church.

Among the other distinguished visitors to our town, last week, were the Hons. John Robert Whitson and John Stick.

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Northcutt came out Sunday from Covington to spend his vacation at his old home. Both look well and are in good spirits. Manie has a host of friends and they are welcoming him in good style. That German doctor who would not give him medicine, but put him on butter milk only for three days, certainly played a big medical trump.—Manie looks as hearty as any roebuck on the hills.

The series of meetings at the Baptist church resulted in a handsome addition to the membership. Nine were baptized on Sunday afternoon, and there were several admitted by letter.

The Walton nine played a game Saturday afternoon with the L. & N. nine, Saturday, and succeeded in laying them out by a score of 8 to 10.

Richwood.

Clint Blankenbeker was in our midst Sunday.

Mrs. William Lancaster was visiting friends at Crescent, Friday.

Mr. Effie Hogrsfle lost a very nice horse during the warm weather.

Mrs. Sallie Waller, and daughter, of Verona, spent Thursday with Mrs. John Powers.

Miss Anna Marshall Hill, of Covington, accompauied her grand mother Hughes home, and will make her a visit.

The new bridge which is being built across the creek at the Richardson pike and the county road, is being rapidly constructed.

Miss Ida Grubbs has returned from Wyoming, Ohio, where she was one of the noted guests of the young men's athletic concert.

Mr. and Mrs. John Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Gaines Robinson and Mr. and Mr. Woodward enjoyed a very pleasant day at the Big Bone camp meeting Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Carrie Carpeuter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wood Carpenter and Miss Willa Powers, left Saturday for a few days visit at Warsaw.

Miss Lillie Hammond is to be complimented in having passed a very creditable examination at Burlington. She is now spending a part of her vacation in Williamston.

The friends of Mrs. Cary Robinson, of Constance, who is at Christ's hospital, Cincinnati, will be pleased to know that her improvement in such that she will be permitted to return home the latter part of the week.

Union.

Miss Lou Williams was visiting in Walton, last week.

Mrs. Robert Rice, of Florence, was visiting in Union, last week.

Prof. Stephens, of Kenton county, will teach at Union this winter.

Mrs. Rachael Rice has recovered from a serious illness of several days.

Large numbers of our people went to the Big Bone camp meeting, Sunday.

H. G. Blanton has been enjoying a rest and the fresh air in this vicinity for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Collins, of Richwood, were the guests of Mike Kualy and wife, Sunday.

Winston Coffman and wife, of Covington, were the guests of Dr. Crouch and wife, Sunday.

Miss Lillian Corbin has returned home after a pleasant visit in Carrollton for several days.

Mr. Asbury, of Mason county, arrived in Union Friday, with 239 sheep, having lost 7 on the road.

Sam Hicks thinks the wheels of fortune have been turning the wrong way for him lately, as several head of his stock have died very suddenly.

Esq. Bannister has been shoeing horses and doing other blacksmith work, the past week, for exercise.

Mr. Green, of Rising Sun, was looking after his telephone interests here, last week. Prof. Voshell raised $200 of the required $275, and Dr. Cronch will make a hustle for the remaining $75 this week.

Miss Bertha Baker, lost Friday evening, Aug. 4th, on the road between Richwood and Union via Frogtown, a blue silk umbrella with Dresden handle, and will reward any person liberally, who returns it to her.

Mr. Murray, of Florence, who was putting the roof on J. W. Conner's house was surprised to receive the appointment as postmaster at Florence, and has employed Mr. Joseph Whitcom, of Erlanger, to finish the job.

Saw our friend, Dave Hicks, at Walton, last week, and he claims no Boone county farmer can do a successful business without having the RECORDER in in his home. So you will please forward it to Mr. H. at that point that he may prosper and be happy all the days of his life.

We do not know any more about politics than a canary bird does about the beauties of Mammoth Cave, but we do know that the man who votes the straight Democratic ticket in 1899 will be in good position to vote for W. J. Bryan and lots of other good things in 1900 and no questions asked.

Bradford Bros., of Hebron, were in Union recently, and report business booming with them. We also met Uncle John Bradford up on the Lexington pike, last week, with a procession of buggies headed for Florence. So it seems the Bradfords are certainly hustling the buggy business in the county.

Judge Ben Stephens and Mr. J. W. Kennedy spoke at the hall Friday night and the meeting was a very harmonious and pleasant one. National, State and county affairs were intelligently discussed by both gentlemen. They urged the people to support the State ticket to a man, and poluted out the folly of running after bolters.

"Uncle Moses" Lancealed on us one morning recently, and talked politics, among other things. Mr. Lane has been a life long Democrat and takes as much interest in political affairs as ever, only he cannot get out and hustle as he used to. He says no Democrat should listen for a moment to the song of the bolters but instead of doing so should use every effort in his power to up hold and elect the nominees of the party regardless of personal feelings. He also thinks very little of Mr. John Young Brown and the wonderful inspirations he has received to be a deliverer and Moses for Kentucky.

Verona.

Corn is selling at $2 50.

Newton Powers makes a hustling blacksmith.

Last Thursday tobacco was scorched, while growing in the patch.

The people were delighted by a flue shower here on Saturday morning.

The people here are anxious for W. J. Bryan to attend the Florence fair this fall.

A great many of our people are attending the camp meetiug at Big Bone Springs.

W. H. Dickerson and wife and children took their departure for Elwood, Ind., a few days since.

Thursday and Friday were two of the hotest days we have had this summer. The mercury stood at 102.

A supposed mad dog visited our burg some time since and created quite a stir, which has caused about 25 dogs to be slayed.

Hon. J. W. Kennedy and ex-Judge Ben Stephens, two very popular candidates for Represenative, addressed the people here on the second inst.

The Rolling Bear show arrived here Monday, for a two weeks' stay.—Quite a number from here attended the camp meeting at Big Bone, Sunday.—The contract for the new M. E. Church was let to Romer Northcutt, of Dry Ridge, for $1,170. Work on same will begin soon.—For the benefit of the teachers who will attend the institute at Petersburg from this end of the county, we desire to state that a boat will leave Coney Island wharf, Cincinnati, at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning for Louisville and way points, and that a train will leave the Grand Central Depot at same time for Aurora, between which place and Petersburg a boat runs every half hour. By either route it is supposed Petersburg can be reached by noon.

Constance.

Many Burlington people passed through our town, last week.—Wheat is being hauled to town at 67c per bu.—Miss Sadie Zimmer is improving rapidly, and it is hoped she will be out in about soon.—The cold rollers at Cullum's are out on a strike.—102° in the shade at Sim Tanner's, last Thursday.—Wm. North lost his pocket book coming from market with his days receipts.—Mrs. Carey Robinson, who has been very ill, is improving.—Mrs. Macy Wood has typhoid fever.—Wm. Reeves slipped and hurt his leg which he had mashed at Addyston, just one year ago.

Bullittsville.

Since our last report our little corner of the mundane sphere has been visited with both clouds and sunshine, sorrow and joy. Two of our oldest citizens after having lived three score and ten years among us were summoned to the world beyond the grave.

On the 25th of last month Mrs. Mary E. Duncan passed quietly away after an illness lasting several months. She was a devout christian, a devoted wife, an indulgent mother and a zealous advocate and worker in the order of Patrons of Husbandry. The last time I was in her company, and I believe, the last time she was from her home, her whole conversation was devoted to her church and religion. She was one of those christian women that looked upon the bright side of life and sought the sunshine instead of the shadows of a religious life. Her devotion to her husband and children was beautiful. When in health she never tired in extending the hospitality of her home to the friends of both, and especially to the young friends of her children. Possesing a lively and happy disposition herself, she strove to make all who entered her home feel glad they were there and glad that they were permitted to enjoy the sunshine of her bright dispositiou. I knew her intimately and esteemed her one of my best friends, and I can truthfully say that I never heard her speak disparagingly of any one. She was a devoted advocate and zealous worker in the order of Patrons of Husbandry and her chair was never vacant when health would permit her to fill it. She was one of the charter members of Mt. Pleasant Grauge, was elected to the office of Pomona when it was organized, near 25 years ago, and filled that position of honor to her death. She will be missed by her church, missed by her grange, missed by her family and by all her acquaintances who loved her so dearly.

The day following Mrs. Duncan's death Mr. James Howard died at the home of Mr. James Houston in Bullittsville (the husband of his grand daughter.) Mr. Howard came from Virginia when a mere lad and located in our neighborhood. He married a Miss Masters and raised a family of four children. Several years ago he lost his wife and since then three of his children have preceded him. Until within a few years he was a hard working man. For the last ten years his eyesight had gradually failed until he became totally blind. He was strictly an honest man, more indulgent to his family than he could well afford to be, but he was one of those large hearted men that could never say no. He was buried in his own lot in the Bullittsburg cemetery.

Miss Bernice Duncan has returned from a very pleasant and profitable vis it in Richmoud, Va. She visited Miss Pilcher, an intimate friend, and in the mean time joined an excursion to Old Point and Washiugton, D. C. She had the pleasure of shaking hands with and securing the autograph of fighting Bob Evans, the man of national repute. While in Washington she called at the White House and had the pleasure of shaking hands with President McKinley, the Napoleon of America.

Misses Sadie and Lucy Kirtley have returned from a delightful visit to their relatives near Dayton, O.

Miss Zayda Gaines has returned from a two weeks' visit to Miss Florence Robb, of Mason county. Mr. Thornton Snyder accompanied her and they report a royal time. Miss Florence gave what is termed a house party—she invited four couples of her college-mates to spend two weeks in her beautiful home near Mayslick. Miss Zayda and Thoratou came home singing the praises of the father, mother, sisters and brothers, and would languish inadequate to express their love and admiration for Miss Florence as a hostess, friend and schoolmate.

Mr. Wm. C. Watts and Miss Lizzie Stephens, Mr. Temp Graves and Miss Mary Corn visited the Chatauqua at Franklin, Ohio, last week, and report a delightful time, at least our old friend Willie, so reports. But judging from the whisperings of Madam Rumor, it appears that he was the only one that experienced so much pleasure. Miss Lizzie came home very much indisposed, Temp, a foot and Miss Mary had to remain behind for repairs.

Miss Lizzie Stephens is entertaining her cousin, Miss Anna Rice, of Covington. Miss Auna needs no comments on my part to introduce her to the readers of your paper. Her genial disposition and highly cultured and lovely voice has extended her acquaintance and fame beyond the limit to be obtained by anything I might say. I hope in my next report to have the pleasure of paying her singing, during the protracted meeting at Bullittsville, a deserving compliment.

Mrs. Rankin Revill and her sister, Miss Irene, are spending several days with Misses Bernice and Nellie Duncan. Miss Ireue is very bright and witty and posseses a very remarkable talent for music.

Miss Bessie Cropper has as a guest Miss Maud Mitchel, of Fayette county. Miss Mitchel is a beautiful, intelligent and highly cultured young lady. Though but nineteen she fills the responsible and honored position of principal of a high school with an average enrollment of more than 100 pupils.

Beaver.

Born, to Omer Wilson and wife, a 10 pound boy. Omer is all smiles.—The many friends of Miss Katie Moore are glad to see her able to be out driving.—Geo. Ossman and wife come to town every day, notwithstanding the extremely hot weather.—The gold watch at Ky. Frank's show, Saturday night, was awarded to Miss Maud Hume.—After the annual election of the Beaver Mercantile Co. the board of directors declared a 7 per cent. dividend, which shows that their business is in a healthy condition.—Rev. Adams filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church, Suuday.—Quite a number from here attended the camp meeting at Big Boue, Sunday.—Allie Roter and Burl Henry are talking of going in the show business. Success to you, boys.

Edwin Gaines has 106 stock ewes for sale.

Jack Sandford has 12 good stock ewes for sale.

For Sale—One thoroughbred darkred bull calf 10 months old. Price $35,00. CLINTON GAINES, Bullittsville, Ky.

LAWRENCEBURG FAIR

Lawrenceburg, Indiana,

AUG. 22, 23, 24, 25 & 26,

BABY SHOW every day.

A full program of RACES each day.

Will have the best line of LIVESTOCK ever seen on their grounds.

For information address

H. L. NOWLIN, Secretary,
Guilford, Indiana.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,

Grocers, Commission and SEED Merchants.

Tested Field and Garden Seeds.

Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.

Largest and Best Stock of

CROCERIES IN THE CITY.

Sole Agents for the Celebrated

RARUS and CEM Brands of FLOUR.

When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.

27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone 4055) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street,
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

JOHN ALLISON,

UNDER-  EMBAL-

TAKER MER,

—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,—

COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.

INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

Order Spring Suits NOW

H. F. BLASE.

And we will make them up artistically and ready for you promptly on time. We have

Over Five Hundred Styles

Of Spring and Summer Woolens to Select from. They come direct from the looms of foreign and domestic manufacturers, and surpass in elegance and variety anything ever shown in Covington. In the assortment are many exclusive patterns—goods that cannot be duplicated by any other establishment in this city. Keep these facts in mind and place your order for a stylish suit with us. We promise you a faultless fit, the proper cut, and a price that will not be more than you can afford to pay.

H. F. BLASE,
535 Madison Avenue,
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY

A Word to the Public

MY STOCK OF

Dry Goods, Notions,

AND LADIES' AND GENTS'

TOILET ARTICLES

for the Spring Trade has been received, and to be appreciated must be seen. Fresh

DRUGS AND GROCERIES

received daily. A large stock of

PAINTS & OILS

on hand at all times. All Goods New and Clean, and are sold at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.

—GIVE ME A CALL—

J. G. OELSNER, Florence, Ky.

BEAUMONT COLLEGE HARRODSBURG, KY.—Strongest Southern Girls' School Curriculum, perhaps; in essentials, the peer of any elsewhere. Six languages, without extra charge. Piano and Organ Director, Mus. Doct., Oxon. Grounds (35 acres) unsurpassed in America for beauty. Its students have represented more than 30 States. Refined home. Number limited. Terms reasonable. TH. SMITH, A. M., Pres. (Alumnus of Univ. of Va.)

Local News.

The rain was fine for the turnip crop.

Three weeks from to-day the fair begins.

For sale—25 good stock ewes—R. S. Cowen.

Aurora's street fair is billed for the 17, 18 and 19th inst.

The watermelon wagon is a frequent visitor to the town again.

D. E. Castleman's building begins to assume the appearance of a residence.

It is Mike instead of John Dye who has the blacksmith shop for sale at Hebron.

James Smith and James Clore were hauling 35 cent corn from East Bend last week.

Attorneys were taking depositions, last week, in the litigation among W. H. Carpenter's heirs.

Notwithstanding the very hot weather, last week, a great many lambs and sheep were driven to market.

A very hard washing rain fell in the Walton neighborhood, last Saturday afternoon. It was almost a water spout.

The teachers' institute held at Warsaw, last week, was the most profitable of any that has been held in Gallatin county.

The Lawrenceburg fair begins on the 22d inst., and the directory has done a great deal of work to make it a success in every particular.

Several Burlington people were entertained at the hospitable home of James T. Gaines, in the Utzinger neighborhood, last Wednesday.

The uncertain weather of last Saturday reduced the attendance at the Keeley picnic to a small crowd, but those who did attend had a most enjoyable time.

William Green, the telephone man, of Rising Sun, was over here a day or two last week, seeing what had been done in behalf of other lines he desires to put up.

The teachers' institute will begin at Petersburg next Monday. The Petersburg people are preparing to make the teachers' sojourn with them both pleasant and profitable.

A. B. Rouse has bought a big block of the Burlington and Florence turnpike stock, having almost a controling interest in the road. He purchased W. R. Rouse's stock.

It is probable that Mrs. Kirtley, of the Bullittsville neighborhood, will teach the public school in this district. Mrs. Kirtley is a good teacher and an excellent disciplinarian.

The Burlington ball club defeated the Geneva's, of Cincinnati, Monday in a close score—9 to 8, two men out when the winning run was made. A large crowd witnessed the game.

The meeting announced to begin at Hopeful church this week, is postponed to Sept. 9. Meeting will begin tomorrow at Ebenezer church, and is likely to continue two weeks.

There is very little new business on the docket for the term of the Circuit Court which begins next Monday. There are several old cases that will require considerable time if they are tried.

Some of Marce Riddell's friends sent him the carcass of a kissing bug that was captured in Covington. It is a peculiar looking insect, and is equipped for making considerable trouble for a victim.

The rain that fell here last Friday afternoon and that night will complete the corn crop so far as the early planting is concerned, and there will be a great deal of good corn in this county again this year.

From some sections of the State comes favorable reports in regard to the tobacco crop, while from other sections the reports are quite the contrary. It is not possible to estimate the size of the crop that the State will produce.

In another column appears the coal advertisement of the J. P. Lindsay Co., of Erlanger. Mr. J. O. Huey is doing everything in his power to provide the best quality of coal for his customers, and that is what he now has in his yard.

A thousand dollar race horse became unmanageable on the Lawrenceburg, Indiana, race track, one day last week, and after running three miles it ran into the fence and injured itself so badly as to render it worthless. The jockey was badly hurt.

Some of the farmers will hold their wheat in anticipation of better prices. The price generally has a downward tendency at threshing time, and with a short crop in some of the foreign countries there is no doubt but what the price will advance again in a short time.

That quiet, gentle rain that fell last Friday night was worth many thousands of dollars to the farmers in this county, although it was too late to overcome the injury already done the corn and tobacco crops in some neighborhoods by the dry, hot weather of the several days preceding.

Judging from the demand for catalogues the public is taking an unusual interest in the approaching fair, an indication that the exhibition will be good in every department. The fair has grown more popular each year, and this year there is no doubt but what the attendance will be a record breaker.

Mrs. Geo. W. Anderson, of the Point Pleasant neighborhood, died last Wednesday night. Mrs. Anderson had been an intense but patient sufferer with rheumatism for several years, and everything possible had been done for her but of no avail. Her husband has the sympathy of a large circle of friends in his bereavement.

PERSONAL MENTION.

James Carey, of Richwood, was in town, last Thursday.

James Rogers and son, of Richwood, were in town Thursday.

J. M. Conner was in town Monday, taking livestock to a host of friends.

Miss Annie Garrison is making her sister, Mrs. Ella Utz, of Big Bone, a two weeks' visit.

Elder Archie Brown, Old Baptist, preached in the M. E. Church, last Thursday evening.

Joseph Bullock, the popular Hebron tailor, was in town Thursday, and took orders for several suits.

Several Burlington parties visited the springs at Buffington, Sunday, while another party was at Split Rock.

Mr. Burke, of Newport, the Republican nominee for Superintendent of Public Instruction, was mixing with the crowd in town Monday.

Mrs. Sophia Terrill and daughter, Miss Mary, of Covington, and son, Ben, of Union, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Clore, of Hebron, Saturday night and Sunday.

Atty. Orne Rogers, of Erlanger, and his client, John Watson, of the same place, were in town, last Friday. The damage suit of Watson vs. Michaels will be called at the approaching term of the Circuit Court; and they were here in regard to it.

A meeting will be held at Bullittsville Christian church, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock for men only. Subject:—"Playing the Fool." Preaching by Geo. A. Miller.

John Bentz, 52, manufacturer, and living in Covington, and Miss Minnie E. Carothers, 26, claiming her home in West Virginia, were married by Rev. M. J. Hoover, at his residence here, last Thursday. It was the groom's third and the bride's second venture, the groom having been divorced from his second wife only the day before.

The land trade which D. E. Lawell and James Rogers have had under consideration for several months, was consummated last Thursday, Mr. Rogers giving Mr. Lawell his farm of 150 acres near Burlington on the Bellevue pike, and $1,750 for the 70 acres of bottom land Mr. Lawell, some time since got from Mr. Michael Clore, near McVille.

Mack Dulaney, son of Dr B. A. Dulaney, Pie Latham and Chas. Stansifer, on the 3rd inst., passed the required examinations, enlisted as infantrymen in the 37th U. S. Volunteers, and left the next day for Columbus, O., where they will remain a few days and then go to Chicago, thence to San Francisco, where they will take a trauport to the Philippine Islands. Dulany and Latham assisted in licking the Spanish at San Juan Hill and had just recently received their discharg from Uncle Sam.

Primary Election.

The Democratic Executive Committee of Boone county, pursuant to call, met in the office of D. E. Castleman in Burlington, at 2 o'clock p. m., July 22, 1899, and the following resolutions were unanimously carried:

1st. That the nomination of a candidate for the Legislature be determined by a primary election, to be held on August 19th, 1899, under the law, and that said primary election be conducted free to the candidates, except for the expense for ballots, for which expense the Chairman of the Committee, after having contracted for the printing thereof, shall apportion the same among the candidates.

2d. That all known Democrats and those young men who are not of age on the date of said primary, but who will be legal voters at the November election, and will pledge themselves to support the nominee of this primary, shall be entitled to participate therein.

On motion duly seconded and carried, the Committee adjourned to meet at the office of D. E. Castleman, in Burlington, on August 7th, 1899, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of selecting officers for said primary election, at which time each committeeman is requested to recommend a list of primary election officers for his precinct. D. E. Castleman, Ch'm'n

J. C. Bedinger, Sec't'y.

The County Democratic Executive Committee met last Monday pursuant to adjournment, and appointed the following officers to conduct the primary election on the 19th inst.:

Burlington—Willis Grant, Al Rogers, judges; J S Clutterbuck, clerk, Ed Hawes, sheriff.

Bullittsville—Thos Grant, Wash Watts, judges, Walter Crigler, clerk, Chas McAfee, sheriff.

Petersburg—E Kruiz, S S McWethy, judges, J B Tolin, clerk, Thos Hines, sheriff.

Bellevue—Jas Rogers, E L Grant, judges, W B Arnold, clerk, Hubert Brady, sheriff.

Rabbit Hash—Lewis Clore, Don Williamson, judges, Moses Scott, clerk, Fillmore Ryle, sheriff.

Big Bone—W W Grimsley, G L Pitcher, judges, G M Allen, clerk, B H Stephens, sheriff.

Beaver—G W Sleet, Geo Ossman, judges, G S Carroll, clerk, J B Eldridge, sheriff.

Verona—J W Waller, E E Fry, judges, G B Johnson, clerk, W A Vest, sheriff.

Walton—J J Hudson, T F Curley, judges, A R Johnson, clerk, Andrew P Ellis, sheriff.

Union—Wm Taliaferro, J W Conner, judges, J L Frazier, clerk, L J Riley, sheriff.

Florence—R P Houston, Thomas B Aylor, judges, J R Rouse, clerk, D H Brown, sheriff.

Constance—W E Walton, Simeon W Tanner, judges, Jeff Cloud, clerk, Leonard Crigler, clerk.

Ordered by the committee that its proceedings as published in the Recorder be their notice and authority for holding the Democratic primary election on the 19th of August, 1899.

It is ordered by the committee that Dr. J. G. Furnish be and he is appointed chairman of the county democratic campaign committee, and is empowered to select one member for said committee for each voting precinct.

D. E. Castleman, Chairman.

Dr. Adams, of Walton, is now using Gas, Vitalized Air, and Odontunder, in his dental work.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.

DOLLARS DO DOUBLE DUTY HERE.

Standard Granulated Sugar, 18 lbs. $1 00.
Arbuckle Coffee 10 cents per lb.
Daniel Boone Soap, 3 bars for 5 cents.
Pittsburg Wire less than city prices.
Lime, Cement, White Lead, Oils, Varnishes, etc., as cheap as in the city.

Baby Shoes for 10c per pair up.
Misses' Shoes for 50c per pair up.
A full line of Men's, Ladie's and Children's Tan Shoes—Latest Styles, Best Quality, Lowest Prices.
Men's Dress Pants, 75c per pair.
Wonder Overalls, Shirts and Pants, the best made.

COME at ONCE. THESE PRICES are ONLY While Present Stock Lasts.

UNION, KENTUCKY. UNION, KENTUCKY.

McALPIN & THOMSON,

Successors to RIGGS BROS.

Undertakers —AND— Embalmers,

LIVVERY, BOARDING & FEED STABLES.

Special Rates to Traveling Men. Pianos, Organs and Furniture Carefully Removed. First-class Carriages for hire with careful drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, etc.

LEXINGTON PIKE, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

J. M. EDDINS, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

The Sun Shines on both Sides of the Street for the Man, Boy or Child who wear our

CLOTHING

Come in and try on some of the New Styles, if you want a most graceful becoming suit. Our CLOTHING are easily the neatest fitting, finest looking and best wearing in the country. Our experience in the business enables us to sell at

ROCK BOTTOM.

Whether you are ready to buy or not, we want to see you in our store. It will cost you nothing to look at our goods.

ROLFES & WACHS, No. 1 Pike Street, Cor. Madison Ave.

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

When in Burlington Call on

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS

Notions, Boots and Shoes,

Who has just received his stock of

SPRING & SUMMER SHOES,

the nicest stock ever in town. Have old stock which I AM SELLING AT GENUINE BARGAINS.

NICE LINE WALL PAPER,

At Prices to Suit the times.

DEERING - MACHINES

Are the favorites in every land where grass and grain grow. They are adopted to all conditions. They are the "Acme" of strength, durability, simplicity and light draft. We will carry a full line of Repairs. Buy the Machine that is fully guaranteed and handy to obtain repairs for.

Also remember we are headquarters for all kinds of

Farm Machinery

At bottom prices. We handle nothing but the best and fully guarantee all.

Also the Largest and Cheapest

Stock of Shoes

In the county, and a full line of

General -- Merchandise.

CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.

COME AND SEE.

T. J. HUGHES,

BEAVER LICK, KY.

GO TO

C. T. DAVIS & CO., HEBRON AND CONSTANCE, General Merchants,

A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.

Undertaking Given Special Attention,

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron. C. T. DAVIS & CO. Constance

W. H. HOSHAL & COMPANY,

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

Cattle, Hogs and Sheep,

—UNION STOCK YARDS,—

Cincinnati, Ohio.

—Telephone 7346.—

Information Regarding Live Stock Cheerfully Furnished.

Consign Your Stock Direct to Us.

Order of Reference.

Boone Circuit Court.

E. W. Weaver's Adm'r, Pltf.
vs. Order of Reference.
E. W. Weaver's heirs, &c., Defts.

This cause is now referred to J. W. Duncan, Master Commissioner of said court, under section 431, Civil Code of Practice, with the following instructions:

1st. The Master will audit and settle the accounts of the administrator.

2nd. He will ascertain the amount of debts found against decedent's estate, and report same.

3d. He will ascertain the number of acres of land, location and value of same owned by decedent at the time of his death.

4th. He will give due notice of his sittings, and report at the next term of this court.

Witness my hand as clerk of said court, this July 24th, 1899

J. W. Duncan, Clerk B. C. C.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will begin his sittings on the 1st day of August, 1899, at the Circuit Clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., to hear proof in the above styled cause, and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 12th day of Aug., 1899. All persons having claims against said estate will present them to me properly proven according to law.

J. W. Duncan, Master Com'r.

PUBLIC SALE!

I will sell at public sale at my residence on the Covington and Lexington pike, 2 miles north of Walton, and 2 miles south of Richwood, on the C. N. & T. P. R. R., on

Friday, Sept. 8th, 1899,

The following stock:

25 fresh Milch Cows, some have calves by their sides; 15 yearling Jersey heifers; 200 Stock Sheep, in lots to suit purchasers; several Horses and Work Mules.

TERMS OF SALE.

A credit of four months will be given on all sums over $10, purchasers to give note with good security, negotiable and payable in Walton Deposit Bank; $10 and under, cash. No property removed until terms of sale are complied with.

W. L. GAINES.

Sale to begin at 9 a. m.

Benjamin Stephens and J. W. Kennedy, candidates for representative, spoke here Monday, to a large crowd of Democrats. Each concluded his speech by urging upon the Democrats the necessity of turning out and supporting the Democratic ticket next November. The primary election for the purpose of nominating the one or the other of these gentlemen comes off on the 19th inst.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

The taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the following places to receive taxes for 1899:

Verona, Sept. 5th, Oct. 5th.
Walton, Sept. 6th, Oct. 6th.
Bellevue, Sept. 7th, Oct. 9th.
Union, Sept. 8th, Oct. 7th.
Petersburg, Sept. 9th, Oct. 10th.
Bullittsville, Sept. 11th, Oct. 16th.
Big Bone, Sept. 12th, Oct 11th.
Constance, Sept. 13th, Oct. 12th.
Beaver, Sept. 14th, Oct. 13th.
Florence, Sept. 15th, Oct. 14th
Rabbit Hash, Sept 16th, Oct. 17th.
Gunpowder, Oct 18th.
Richwood, Oct 20th.
Hebron, Oct. 21st.

All taxes not paid by Dec 1st, 1899, will have the 6 per cent. penalty added. Meet me at the appointed places and avoid the penalty.

ELMER BEALL, S. B. C.

W. M. RANDALL,

DENTIST.

Will be at

BURLINGTON,	PETERSBURG:
Monday,	Wednesday,
Tuesday,	Thursday,
	Friday,
	Saturday,

OF EACH WEEK.

GIVE HIM A CALL.

The League Institute,

VERONA, KY.

Opens September 18, 1899.

Miss N. E. Hamilton, Principal, teacher of Belle-lettres and Sciences.
Miss Madeline Pfeiffer, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Latin & German.
Miss Lulu Forwood, Mathematics and Elocution.
With those interested, a correspondence with the principal is solicited.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the League Institute, the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, 1st, That we endorse and commend the methods, management and zeal of the faculty.

2d. That we desire to express our appreciation of the steady growth of the Institute; and especially the great interest manifested by pupils and patrons.

3d. That we cordially invite parents seeking a good school for their children to investigate the merits of The League Institute.

Board of Directors,
Verona, Ky.

LUMBER!

LATHS,
SHINGLES,
DOORS,
BLINDS,
SASH.

If you want any kind of Lumber it will be to your advantage to visit our yard at Lawrenceburg, Indiana, before buying. Prices to Suit the Times.

M. E. LEMING & CO.

CHRIST'S TEACHINGS.

Dr. Talmage Depicts Triumphs of the Gospel.

Victories of the Christian Religion —Drunkards Are Reclaimed and Thieves Made Righteous.

(Copyright, 1899, by Louis Klopsch.)

The antagonists of the Christian religion are in this sermon of Dr. Talmage met in a very unusual way, and the triumphs of the Gospel are depicted. The text is Ezekiel 21:21: "He made his arrows bright, he consulted with images, he looked in the liver."

Two modes of divination by which the king of Babylon proposed to find out the will of God. He took a bundle of arrows, put them together, mixed them up, then pulled forth one, and by the inscription on it decided what city he should first assault. Then an animal was slain, and by the lighter or darker color of the liver th brighter or darker prospect of success was inferred. That is the meaning of the text: "He made his arrows bright, he consulted with images, he looked in the liver." Stupid delusion! And yet all the ages have been filled with delusions. It seems as if the world loves to be hoodwinked, the delusion of the text only a specimen of a vast number of deceits practiced upon the human race. In the latter part of the last century Johanna Southcote came forth, pretending to have Divine power, made prophecies, had chapels built in her honor, and 100,000 disciples came forward to follow her. About five years before the birth of Christ Apollonius was born, and he came forth, and after five years being speechless, according to the tradition, he healed the sick, and raised the dead, and preached virtue, and, according to the myth, having deceased, was brought to resurrection.

The Delphic oracle deceived vast multitudes of people; the Pythoness seated in the temple of Apollo uttering a crazy jargon from which the people guessed their individual or national fortunes or misfortunes. The utterances were of such a nature that you could read them any way you wanted to read them.

So the ancient auguries deceived the people. The priests of those auguries by the flight of birds or by the intonation of slain animals told the fortunes or misfortunes of individuals and of nations. The sibyls deceived the people. The sibyls were supposed to be inspired women who lived in caves and who wrote the sibylline books afterward purchased by Tarquin the Proud. So late as the year 1829 a man arose in New York, pretending to be a Divine being, and played his part so well that wealthy merchants became his disciples and threw their fortunes into his keeping. And so in all ages there have been necromancies, incantations, witchcrafts, sorceries, magical arts, enchantments, divinations and delusions. The one of the text was only a specimen of that which has been occurring in all ages of the world. None of these delusions accomplished any good. They deceived, they pauperized the people, they were as cruel as they were absurd. They opened no hospitals, they healed no wounds, they wiped away no tears, they emancipated no serfdom.

But there are those who say that all these delusions combined are as nothing compared with the delusion now abroad in the world—the delusion of the Christian religion. That delusion has to-day 400,000,000 dupes. It proposes to encircle the earth with its girdle. That which has been called a delusion has already overshadowed the Appalachian range on this side of the sea, and it has overshadowed the Balkan and Caucasian ranges on the other side of the sea. It has conquered England and the United States. This champion delusion, this hoax, this swindle of the ages, as it has been called, has gone forth to conquer the islands of the Pacific, and Melanesia and Micronesia and Malayan Polynesia have already surrendered to the delusion. Yea, it has conquered the Indian archipelago, and Borneo and Sumatra and Celebes and Java have fallen under its wiles. In the Fiji islands, where there are 120,000 people, 102,000 have already become the dupes of this Christian religion, and if things go on as they are now going on and if the influence of this great hallucination of the ages cannot be stopped it will swallow the globe. Supposing, then, that Christianity is the delusion of the centuries, as some have pronounced it, I propose to show you what has been accomplished by this chimera, this fallacy, this hoax, this swindle of the ages.

And, in the first place, I remark that this delusion of the Christian religion has made wonderful transformations of human character. I will go down the aisle of any church in Christendom, and I will find on either side that aisle those who were once profligate, profane, unclean of speech and unclean of action, drunken and lost. But by the power of this delusion of the Christian religion they have been completely transformed, and now they are kind and amiable and loving and useful. Everybody sees the change. Under the power of this great hallucination they have quit their former associates, and, whereas they once found their chief delight among those who gambled and swore and raced horses, now they find their chief joy among those who go to prayer meetings and churches, so complete is this delusion. Yea, their own families have noticed it—the wife has noticed it, the children have noticed it. The money that went for rum now goes for books and for clothes and for education. He is a new man. All who know him say there has been a wonderful change. What is the cause of the change? This great hallucination of the Christian religion. There is as much difference between what he is now and what he once was as between a rose and a nettle, as between a dove and a vulture, as between day and night. Tremendous delusion!

Admiral Farragut, one of the most admired men of the American navy, early became a victim of this Christian delusion, and, seated not long before his death at Long Branch, he was giving some friends an account of his early life. He said: "My father went down in behalf of the United States government to put an end to Aaron Burr's rebellion. I was a cabin boy and went along with him. I could swear like an old salt. I could gamble in every style of gambling. I knew all the wickedness there was at that time abroad. One day my father cleared everybody out of the cabin except myself and locked the door. He said: 'David, what are you going to do? What are you going to be?' 'Well,' I said, 'father, I am going to follow the sea.' 'Follow the sea and be a poor, miserable, drunken sailor, kicked and cuffed about the world, and die of a fever in a foreign hospital?' 'Oh, no!' I said. 'Father, I will not be that; I will tread the quarter deck and command, as you do.' 'No, David,' my father said; 'no, David, a person that has your principles and your bad habits will never tread the quarter deck or command.' My father went out and shut the door after him, and I said then: 'I will change. I will never swear again, I will never drink again, I will never gamble again,' and, gentlemen, by the help of God I have kept those three vows to this time. I soon after that became a Christian, and that decided my fate for time and for eternity."

Another captive of this great Christian delusion. There goes Saul of Tarsus on horseback at full gallop. Where is he going? To destroy Christians. He wants no better play spell than to stand and watch the hats and coats of the murderers who are massacring God's children. There goes the same man. This time he is afoot. Where is he going now? Going on the road to Ostia to die for Christ. They tried to whip it out of him, they tried to scare it out of him, they thought they would give him enough of it by putting him on small diet, and denying him a cloak, and condemning him as a criminal, and howling at him through the streets; but they could not freeze it out of him, and they could not sweat it out of him, and they could not pound it out of him, so they tried the surgery of the sword, and one summer day in 66 he was decapitated. Perhaps the mightiest intellect of the 6,000 years of the world's existence hoodwinked, cheated, cajoled, duped by the Christian religion.

Ah, that is the remarkable thing about this delusion of Christianity! It overpowers the strongest intellects. Gather the critics, secular and religious, of this century together and put a vote to them as to which is the greatest book ever written, and by a large majority they will say "Paradise Lost." Who wrote "Paradise Lost?" One of the fools who believed in this Bible, John Milton. Benjamin Franklin surrendered to this delusion, if you may judge from the letter that he wrote to Thomas Paine, begging him to destroy "The Age of Reason" in manuscript and never let it go into type, and writing afterward, in his old days: "Of this Jesus of Nazareth I have to say of the system of morals He left and the religion He has given us are the best things the world has ever seen or is likely to see." Patrick Henry, the electric champion of liberty, enslaved by this delusion, so that he says: "The book worth all other books put together is the Bible." Benjamin Rush, the leading physiologist and anatomist of his day, the great medical scientist —what did he say? "The only true and perfect religion is Christianity." Isaac Newton, the leading philosopher of his time—what did he say? That man surrendering to this delusion of the Christian religion, crying out: "The sublimest philosophy on earth is the philosophy of the Gospel." David Brewster, at the pronunciation of whose name every scientist the world over uncovers his head, David Brewster saying: "Oh, this religion has been a great light to me, a very great light all my days!" President Thiers, the great French statesman, acknowledging that he prayed when he said: "I invoke the Lord God, in whom I am glad to believe." David Livingstone, able to conquer the lion, able to conquer the panther, able to conquer the savage, yet conquered by this delusion, this hallucination, this great swindle of the ages, so when they find him dead they find him on his knees. William E. Gladstone, the strongest intellect in England, unable to resist this chimera, this fallacy, this delusion of the Christian religion, went to the house of God every Sabbath, and often, at the invitation of the rector, read the prayers to the people. If those mighty intellects are overborne by this delusion, what chance is there for you and me?

Besides that, I have noticed that first rate infidels cannot be depended on for steadfastness in the proclamation of their sentiments. Goethe, a leading skeptic, was so wrought upon by this Christianity that in a weak moment he cried out: "My belief in the Bible has saved me in my literary and moral life." Rosseau, one of the most eloquent champions of infidelity, spending his whole life warring against Christianity, cries out: "The majesty of the Scriptures amazes me." Altemont, the notorious infidel, one would think he would have been safe against this delusion of the Christian religion. Oh, no! After talking against Christianity all his days, in his last hours he cried out: "Oh, Thou blasphemed but most indulgent Lord God, hell itself is a refuge if it hide me from Thy frown!" Voltaire, the most talented infidel the world ever saw, writing 250 publications, and the most of them spiteful against Christianity, himself the most notorious libertine of the century—one would have thought he could have been depended upon for steadfastness in the advocacy of infidelity and in the war against this terrible chimera, this delusion of the Gospel. But no; in his last hour he asks for Christian burial and asks that they give him the sacrament of the Lord Jesus Christ. Why, you cannot depend upon these first rate infidels; you cannot depend upon their power to resist this great delusion of Christinnity. Thomas Paine, the god of modern skeptics, his birthday celebrated in New York and Boston with great enthusiasm—Thomas Paine, the paragon of Bible haters—Thomas Paine, about whom his brother infidel, William Carver, wrote in a letter which I have at my house, saying that he drank a quart of rum a day and was too mean and too dishonest to pay for it—Thomas Paine, the adored of modern infidelity—Thomas Paine, who stole another man's wife in England and brought her to this country—Thomas Paine, who was so squalid and so loathsome and so drunken and so profligate and so beastly in his habits, sometimes picked out of the ditch, sometimes too filthy to be picked out—Thomas Paine, one would have thought that he could have been depended on for steadfastness against this great delusion.

But no. In his dying hour he begs the Lord Jesus Christ for mercy. Powerful delusion, all conquering delusion, earthquaking delusion of the Christian religion. Yea, it goes on. It is so impertinent, and it is so overbearing, this chimera of the Gospel, that, having conquered the great picture galleries of the world, the old masters and the young masters, it is not satisfied until it has conquered the music of the world. Look over the programme of any magnificent musical festival and see what are the great performances and learn that the greatest of all the subjects are religious subjects.

Yes, this chimera of the Gospel is not satisfied until it goes on and builds itself into the most permanent architecture, so it seems as if the world is never to get rid of it. What are some of the finest buildings in the world? St. Paul's, St. Peter's and the churches and cathedrals of all Christendom. Yes, this impertinence of the Gospel, this vast delusion, is not satisfied until it projects itself, and in one year gives, contributes, $6,250,000 to foreign missions, the work of which is to make dunces and fools on the other side of the world—people we have never seen. Deluded doctors—220 physicians meeting week by week in London in the Union Medical prayer circle to worship God.

Deluded doctors—Lord Cairns, the highest legal authority in England, the ex-adviser of the throne, spending his vacation in preaching the Gospel of Jesus Christ to the poor people of Scotland. Frederick T. Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey, once secretary of state, an old fashioned Evangelical Christian, an elder in the Reformed church. John Bright, a deluded Quaker. Henry Wilson, the vice president of the United States, dying a deluded Methodist or Congregationalist. Earl of Kintore dying a deluded Presbyterian.

The cannibals in South sea, the bushmen of Tierra del Fuego, the wild men of Australia, putting down the knives of their cruelty and clothing themselves in decent apparel—all under the power of this delusion. Judson and Doty and Abeel and Campbell and Williams and the 3,000 missionaries of the cross turning their backs on home and civilization and comfort and going out amid squalor of heathenism to relieve it, to save it, to help it, toiling until they dropped into their graves, dying with no earthly comfort about them, and going into graves with no appropriate epitaph, when they might have lived in this country and lived for themselves and lived luxuriously and been at last put into brilliant sepulchers. What a delusion!

Yes, this delusion of the Christian religion shows itself in the fact that it goes to those who are in trouble. Now, it is bad enough to cheat a man when he is well and when he is prosperous, but this religion comes to a man when he is sick and says: "You will do well again after awhile. You are going into a land where there are no coughs, and no pleurisies, and no consumptions, and no languishing. Take courage and hear up." Yea, this awful chimera of the Gospel comes to the poor, and it says to them: "You are on your way to vast estates and to dividends always declnrable." This delusion of Christianity comes to the bereft, and it talks of reunion before the throne and of the cessation of all sorrow. And then, to show that this delusion will stop at absolutely nothing, it goes to the dying bed and fills the man with anticipations. How much better it would be to have him die without any more hope than swine and rats and snakes! Shovel him under! That is all. Nothing more left of him. He will never know anything again. Shovel him under! The soul is only a superior part of the body, and when the body disintegrates the soul disintegrates. Annihilation, vacancy, everlasting blank obliteration. Why not present all that beautiful doctrine to the dying instead of coming with this hoax, this swindle of the Christian religion, and filling the dying man with anticipations of another life until some in the last hour have clapped their hands, and some have shouted, and some have sung, and some have been so overwrought with joy that they could only look ecstatic? Palace gates opening, they thought—diamond coronets flashing, hands beckoning, orchestras sounding. Little children dying actually believing they saw their departed parents, so that although the little children had been so weak and feeble and sick for weeks they could not turn on their dying pillow at the last, in a paroxysm of rapture uncontrollable they sprang to their feet and shouted: "Mother, catch me; I am coming."

HANNA FOR 1904.

The Republican Boss May Be the Presidential Candidate Five Years Hence.

It is announced with some appearance of ostentation that Marcus A. Hanna has sold out all his business and commercial interests at Cleveland, his coal mines and his other property, except real estate, and will substantially retire from active business. Mr. Hanna is not a scholar who can occupy his leisure time in studies of science, literature or the arts; he was not built that way nor educated for intellectual pursuits. He has been a money-maker and for the last three years he has been successful in politics.

To be sure, he had not been trained to politics. It might, therefore, be said that there is no reason why he should fail in literature, science and art, which he has never studied, any more than he failed in politics, which he had never studied. But there is a difference. In politics he succeeded by the use of money. He could buy an election for McKinley or for himself. But he cannot buy knowledge. Mental enlightenment and culture are not purchaseable. Even a trip to Europe cannot give him literary inspiration and classical tastes. It is evident that Mr. Hanna is going out of business so that he can go more extensively into politics. There is nothing else that he can go into.

Some time about the close of the campaign of 1896, after the votes had been counted and the result announced, there was a banquet in Chicago attended by large numbers of men who had been active in the successful campaign. Even then it was understood that McKinley would be a candidate for reelection in 1900. But a toast to Hanna was improvised by one of the enthusiastic banqueters, who took time by the forelock. He suggested that they drink to "Marcus A. Hanna, the republican candidate for president in 1904." It was looking eight years ahead. But the politicians at that symposium were capable of parceling out all the political land from Dan to Beersheba for two generations in the future. A little matter of eight years was nothing.

Commencing at that banquet, the succession to McKinley was predetermined. All the recent talk about Roosevelt as the republican candidate for president in 1904 to succeed McKinley was forestalled in 1896. The plans for the campaigns of 1900 and 1904 were outlined in the minds of the Hanna machine, constituted of the managers and assistant managers of that campaign. We may be assured that the sale of Hanna's vessels, docks, tugs, mines and other property means that he is making a further investment in politics to carry out the schemes foreshadowed immediately after the close of the campaign of 1896. Roosevelt will find these to be facts when he runs up against the Hanna campaign of 1904.—Chicago Chronicle.

SCAPEGOAT ALGER.

Made to Bear the Blame for Political Blunders of McKinley, Hanna & Co.

With the removal of Alger—a removal just the same, although cloaked under the guise of a resignation—republican politicians, with McKinley in the lead, hope to disarm criticism of the administration.

Alger has been made the scapegoat and has been burdened with all the sins, mistakes and political blundering of McKinley, Mark Hanna & Co.

But the hope to escape criticism is vain. Measures, not men, are the issues before the people, and a bad policy cannot be bolstered up by securing a new man to conduct it.

That McKinley and his aids are scheming to secure a second term as president for the present occupant of the white house is a patent fact. Alger was ejected from the cabinet to forward this ambition, but a change of policy must be made if success is to be secured.

Either the Filipinos must be conquered quickly or they must be pacified promptly if McKinley's hope to succeed himself as president is to have the slightest excuse for being entertained. Neither contingency seems imminent, and the conclusion is not favorable to the republican scheme.

Doubtless the results flowing from the removal of Alger will disappoint the schemers. For a time the people will restrain criticism and give the new secretary of war a fair chance, but as the policy of the administration is not popular the end will be more criticism and more trouble for the president.—Chicago Democrat.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS.

——Americans want to know, and have a right to know, all that their soldiers are doing and suffering in the Philippines.—Chicago Tribune (Rep.).

——It is useless to pick flaws in the details of Mr. McKinley's administration. The whole thing is covered with a blanket mortgage of error.—St. Paul Globe.

——The leather trust has put up the price of leather, and up will go the price of shoes. It will be remembered that the Dingley law put a tariff on hides.—Utica Observer.

——In Gen. Otis' preference for the blue pencil over the sword there is a suggestion of Weyler which does not tend to endear him to the American people.—St. Louis Republic.

——By his dilly-dallying, by his cowardly fear of political consequences, the president has murdered many men upon both sides; has weakened our hold upon the archipelago, and rendered its future control unnecessarily difficult.—Detroit Tribune (Rep.).

——It is now intimated that Gen. Alger will write a book in vindication of his administration of the war office. Considering the object of the work we should judge that it will be about the size of the Encyclopedia Britannica.—Chicago Chronicle.

FAILURE OF RECIPROCITY.

The Dingley Law Retained Only the Appearance of Reciprocal Relations.

The period of making reciprocity treaties under the provisions of the Dingley tariff act expired July 24, on which date a reciprocity agreement with France was concluded. This treaty is by all odds the most important of those which have been entered into under authority of the Dingley act. There have been but six of them, all told, most of these being with islands in the West Indies. The South American countries, for the encouragement of trade with which the reciprocity policy was especially developed, have seen no advantage to themselves in any treaties that can be formulated under the Dingley law. Nor have they manifested any fear of the so-called retaliatory clubs given to the president for punishing those countries which refuse to enter into reciprocity agreements.

Under the reciprocity clause of the McKinley law of 1890, many treaties of importance were entered into, which soon began to develop trade with other countries of this hemisphere. The Wilson tariff law very foolishly struck down all these reciprocity agreements by repealing the reciprocity clause of the McKinley law. When the Dingley law was framed the appearance of reciprocity was retained, but the substance was sacrificed. It was understood at the time that few important treaties could be made under it, and such has proved to be the case. The treaty with France is the only one of even moderate importance, and the value of that cannot be known until it has been in operation for a time.

South America is a field for trade which ought especially to be cultivated by the United States, and broad reciprocity agreements would have tended materially to that end. By conferring only narrow authority for making reciprocal traffic agreements, and by striking especially at South American industries, as was done, for instance, by putting a duty on hides, congress has shown little appreciation of the trade interests of the United States in other countries of this hemisphere.—Chicago Record (Ind.).

A MOVING ISSUE.

The Anti-Trust Crusade Is a Movement in the People's Behalf.

There is a significant indication of the pronounced trend of public sentiment in the news telegraphed from Chicago of the formation in that city of an anti-trust society to be duly incorporated under the laws of Illinois. The object for which this society has been formed is that of combating the growth of the trust evil by opposing a solid and systematic organization to that ominous movement. Much effective work may unquestionably be done by clubs of this description, affiliated with the national organization of the democratic party, which is leading the fight on the trusts. The alliance is imperatively necessary to secure that compact formation and intelligent direction upon which success so largely depends. The anti-trust crusade is a movement in behalf of the people, of the rights of individual merchants and legitimate commerce and industry, and it is only under the standard of democracy that it may be carried to a victorious termination. The democratic party will be justified in encouraging the formation of anti-trust societies in every state in the union, and these societies will best accomplish their purpose by becoming a part of the democratic line of battle for the campaign of 1900. It is gratifying to see the people voluntarily enlisting in the war upon the trusts. It means the triumph of democracy and the people against republicanism and the trusts next year.—St. Louis Republic.

IT LOOKS SIGNIFICANT.

The President's Political Family in a Flurry Over Their Scaly Policy.

It must be regarded as a fact of much significance that every member of the president's constitutional cabinet, and every representative of what may be described as his kitchen cabinet has felt called on to rush to the defense of the policy of his administration. There is no campaign in progress. There is, so far as we can learn from the administration press, not the slightest occasion for a word of defense of any kind concerning that policy. On the contrary, all the troubles of the country and of the administration are, we are assured, due entirely to the unpatriotic, if not openly treasonable, conduct of the political opposition to that administration.

There has been a vast amount of lying done in administration quarters concerning the attitude of the democracy of the country regarding this war and its prosecution. The time has evidently come in the opinion of the official advocates of the administration to enter upon the most strenuous defense possible of the policy of that administration. But the time has not come as yet for a complete refutation of those falsehoods, nor for a complete exposition of the democratic attitude. When it does come the people will not be easily deceived.—St. Paul Globe.

——"Strange as it may seem, I am almost a pence at any price man. When life and property can be saved it is almost a crime not to follow that rule whatever circumstances be arguing against it. I am a republican, but I am an anti-expansionist, though not a bitter one—more of a mild one. I think the acquisition of Porto Rico and other islands of the West Indies will be valuable in the future development of our country. I think well of the acquisition of the Sandwich islands. I believe they make good outposts; but when we consider the Philippines, I believe it to be a mistake."—Brig. Gen. Funston.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

Italy has only a dozen commercial schools of all grades.

Kinichi Batooka, president of the diet at Japan, is a Presbyterian.

There are 1,298 more scholars on the rolls of the Sunday schools of Ireland than last year.

Charles Darwin's statue, the gift of Prof. Poulton, has been put up in the Oxford university museum next to the statue of Sir Isaac Newton.

It is said that every ton of coal mined in England pays 12 cents as royalty to support the Church of England, whether the owner of the mine or the workers in it ever enter a parish church or not.

Miss Catherine Tuttle, of Columbus, O., has given Hobart college, of Geneva, N. Y., $20,000 for scholarships, and Miss Maria Hopper, of Philadelphia, $10,000 to Bryn Mawr college for a scholarship foundation fund.

Mrs. Fannie Nast Gamble, daughter of the late William Nast, founder of the German Methodist Episcopal church in America, has endowed the "William Nast chair of theology" in the German Wallace college.

The London Y. W. C. A. has recently formed two new departments. These are for the help of blind and deaf girls, to whom the advantages of the association are now secured by means specially adapted to their needs.

The number of Sunday schools in the Reformed church is 932, with a total enrollment of 125,059. These schools during the past year contributed $12,285.15 for foreign missions, $8,135.17 for domestic missions and $172.12 for education, an increase in the gifts of the Sunday schools over last year of $719.12. Eighteen hundred and twenty scholars were received into the full communion of the church.

MAGIC IN THE HORSESHOE.

This Has Been the Tradition from Time Immemorial in All Countries.

Horseshoe magic is a subject which seems to be of perennial interest, mainly because it touches that little substratum of superstitious beliefs which is inherent in most of us, though, being a materialistic people in a materialistic age, and having put away from ourselves childish things, we none of us confess to it. As a matter of fact, however, we are always, either literally or metaphorically, turning over our money when we see a new moon or picking up a rusty horseshoe as a harbinger of luck. But the point that never seems to be reached in these magazine discussions is the circumstance that, initially and intrinsically, horseshoe magic has nothing to do with horseshoes. It existed long before horses were ever shod, and it has left traces of its presence in places where horses have never been known.

In comparatively modern times the horseshoe over the door—nailed to the lintel with the points uppermost, be it noted—has been chiefly regarded as a protection against witchcraft, a belief which has survived in its modified "luck-bringing" form to the present day. But the horseshoe-shaped mark has been a mystic symbol from immemorial days, and all the modern superstition has done has been to fit it to the horseshoe. I have seen the mark, sometimes painted and sometimes cut, on ancient shrines and temples in the interior of China; it has been in use for many centuries in India; it is to be found in the Aztec ruins and on the stonework of buried cities discovered recently by Dr. Schlichter in the region now known as Rhodesia.

It has been found incised on the sacred Churinga stones of the tribes of central Australia and painted on the bodies of such of the tribesmen as have gone through the religious mysteries peculiar to these aboriginal survivors. Messrs. Spencer and Gillen tried last year to induce the tribal priests to expound the horseshoe mystery to them, but it was either too sacred or too obscure, and they learned nothing save that the mark was an indispensable part of their mystic rites. The horseshoe mark is found also in British Guiana, in the region of the Amazon, in Georgia and Illinois, in Zululand, in the temple of the Goddess Mut in upper Egypt and on innumerable dolmens, kists and bowlders in the British isles, but always with the points uppermost. In so far, therefore, as antiquity confers respectability, horseshoe magic is preeminently respectable. The only awkward thing about it is that we do not know what terrible mysteries it may have originally signified, or to what pagan rites we may be unwittingly committing ourselves when we nail the rusty symbol over our lintels.—St. Paul's Magazine.

High Price for Straightness.

One of the difficult problems in practical mechanics is to make a "straight-edge." How difficult it is may be judged from an incident which occurred in the shops of J. A. Brashear, the astronomical instrument-maker. A customer asked Mr. Brashear what would be the price of "a perfect straight-edge of glass 36 inches long." "It can't be made absolutely perfect," said Mr. Brashear, "but it could probably be made with a limit of error amounting to only a fraction of a wave-length of light." "How much would that cost?" "About $40,000!" It turned out that the customer wanted the straight-edge for a scraper, and that an error of one-sixty-fourth of an inch would have been insensible for his purpose.—Youth's Companion.

Two Meanings.

"What a bird-like appetite she has," remarked an admirer to the crusty old bachelor who is helping the family entertain her while she is visiting it.

"Bird-like? I should say so. Anything from turkey to reed birds."—Detroit Free Press.

AGRICULTURAL HINTS.

HANDY COMBINATION.

Description of a Nonpatented, Serviceable and Cheap Hay, Stock and Log Rack.

I saw some time ago a request for a combination wagon ladder, stock rack, etc. I send you a sketch of mine, or part of it, rather. Anyone handy with tools can make it, and it need not cost over two dollars for bolts and iron. I made mine, and would not part with it for several times its cost. Make it any length desired; mine is 16 feet—long enough for two horses, and to haul 15 head of 200-pound hogs. The sills G, Fig. 1, are 2 by 8, red elm, and the uprights A and B, Fig. 2, should be heavy at the bottom and taper to 2 by 2 at the

Fig. 1.

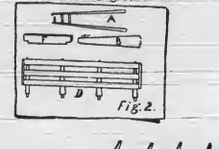

Fig. 2.

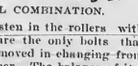

Fig. 3.

USEFUL COMBINATION.

top. They fasten in the rollers with bolts. They are the only bolts that have to be removed in changing from one to the other. The balance of it I made out of linn. It is light; one man can handle it easily. Have the bottom boards to fit snugly, but do not nail them.

By using the main body C, Fig. 1, with two extra bolsters F, Fig. 2, you have a good log rigging. For the stock rack, taper the posts. Use linn boards. Have your blacksmith make eight square sockets, 1½ by 2½ inches, to bolt on sides of sills G. Use one-quarter-inch bolts for these. I used old buggy tires. Make end-gates like the side, D, Fig. 2. Use rods also. Make two light gates for partitions; it makes three pens. Hogs cannot crowd then. Hooks and staples will do for two middle gates, E, Fig. 3, is one side for wagon ladders. Have the arms notched just enough to set square on the sill after the round ends are in the two-inch hole on opposite side. You can also have extra sideboards, tight, for hauling wood, corn, etc. One man can unfold this combination. Store it in a small place. You can surely find a dry place for it. This is my own invention, not patented, and if you use it once you will like it.—Ohio Farmer.

NOT A GOOD RATION.

Oat Straw Diminishes the Flow of Milk and Otherwise Injures Dairy Cows.

Generally right after the threshing machine has pulled out of the barnyard the cattle are turned in to pick up the scattered heads and loose wheat and eat as much as they wish from the straw stack. There is nothing so detrimental to the flow of milk as straw, especially oat straw. I have known milch cows that were giving two and a half to three gallons of milk a day, in two weeks to decrease to less than a gallon a day. Not that they were fed on straw. They had good fresh fall pastures, but they were allowed to eat from the strawstack also.

I know by experience that nothing gives the butter such a cheesy taste and smell, besides making it much harder to churn, as feeding the cows oat straw. It also dries up the flow of milk much faster than any other feed you can give them. Save your straw for your young stock; they will do well on it if you give them some ground corn along with it. Feed your cows middlings, with good clover or timothy hay, or, what is better yet, cornfodder or silage. I know of no better dry feed for milch cows than cornfodder. Feed them that. Keep oat straw away from them and there will be no decrease in the flow of milk in the fall and winter.—Beatrice M. Ebbinghaus, in Ohio Farmer.

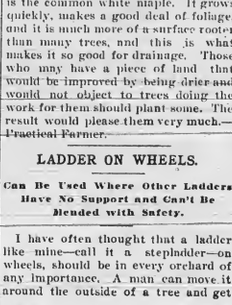
Milking in Fly Time.

The perpetual switching of a cow's tail into the milker's face and eyes is extremely annoying, aside from the liability of getting dirt switched from the tail into the milk pail. Some milkers tie the cow's tail to her leg, but the flies make the cow so uneasy that she will soon switch her tail loose, or else will break into a run. The best way to keep flies from a cow is to rub a little grease over her back and sides, and a very little will be enough. Then spread over her branches cut from the trees, allowing the green leaves to extend down her sides. The milker can then milk in comfort. It will need a fresh branch every two or three days, keeping it in water when not used as a shade for the cow.—American Cultivator.

Corn in the Orchard.

Corn is undoubtedly the most appropriate crop to raise in a young orchard. It makes a wind break, causes trees to grow straight and furnishes food for insects which prefer young corn to trees. And the cultivation given corn is just what the trees need. Those who were fortunate enough to have apples last year have good bank accounts now. Apples at 50 cents a peck have been no dream, but a reality which caused the orchardists to dream of diamonds and other adornments of plutocrats.—Homestead.

TREES FOR DRAINAGE.



Those Who Have Land That Would Be Improved by Being Drier Should Plant Some.

It is a popular belief that trees about a house tend to make it damp. It is true that after heavy rains a dwelling with trees surrounding it takes more time to dry out than one not so surrounded. On the contrary it is just as true that where trees are the soil is very much drier than it would be otherwise. Some years ago the daily papers had much to say of the drainage of a malarious district in Rome by the planting largely of the fast-growing blue gum tree of Australia, Eucalyptus globulus. There is no doubt that this rapid-growing tree would quickly change the character of a half-swamp as it grows fast and has thick foliage. When there is a lot of trees full of foliage there is great call for moisture from the ground. The roots are drawing it in continually, and this in the long run accomplishes as much as a system of drainage would do. I have myself witnessed the great change brought about by the cutting down and clearing of trees from a low piece of land. What was a fairly dry place while the trees stood became almost a swamp. It is not as easy to start evergreens in such a spot as it is deciduous trees; otherwise they would be better for the purpose as there is more evaporation from them in the winter season. But it must not be supposed that there is entire rest on the part of a deciduous tree in winter. The roots are active and especially toward spring an enormous lot of water is taken from the earth by the roots of a large tree. This is why trees near dwellings which are in damp situations are so valuable. The cellar of a house which is surrounded by large trees will be very much drier than before the trees were there. This I have seen many examples of. There is no need to plant trees so close that the branches will reach to the house and it is not at all desirable that the limbs overhang it. Deciduous trees are better than evergreen for planting near a house. An evergreen is not a top spreader and affords but little shade. The deciduous one gives the shade in summer when it is needed, and its roots are drying the soil to a great extent in winter as well as largely in summer. One of the best trees for the purpose is the common white maple. It grows quickly, makes a good deal of foliage, and it is much more of a surface rooter than many trees, and this is what makes it so good for drainage. Those who may have a piece of land that would be improved by being drier and would not object to trees doing the work for them should plant some. The result would please them very much.—Practical Farmer.

LADDER ON WHEELS.

Can Be Used Where Other Ladders Have No Support and Can't Be Blended with Safety.

I have often thought that a ladder like mine—call it a stepladder—on wheels, should be in every orchard of any importance. A man can move it around the outside of a tree and get the large, ripe fruit that is so hard to get with a common ladder. It can be backed into a tree or run sideways to it, or with some tilting and twisting can be worked in among the outer branches. There is no patent on it. I had one 20 years ago and have one now.

STEPLADDER ON WHEELS.

This is really a handy style of ladder, and if properly made is safe to use where another ladder has no support and can't be used with safety.—J. A. Cunningham, in Rural World.

TIMELY GARDEN NOTES.

Watch a sod orchard. It will begin to fall before you know it.

Good drainage, natural or artificial, is essential to success. Trees are impatient of wet feet.

Good tillage increases the available food supply of the soil and also conserves its moisture.

Potash is the chief fertilizer to be applied to fruit trees, particularly after they come into bearing.

Only cultivated crops should be allowed in orchards early in the season. Grain and hay should never be grown.

Nitrogen can be obtained cheapest by means of thorough tillage (to promote nitrification) and nitrogenous green manures.

The remedy for these apple failures is to cut down many of the orchards. For the remainder, the treatment is cultivation, fertilization, spraying — the trinity of orthodox apple growing.

Cultivation may be stopped late in the season, and a crop can then be sown upon the land. This crop may serve as a cover or protection to the soil, and as a green manure.—Prof. Bailey.

ONE OF OUR HEROES.

An Instance of the Splendid Courage and Loyalty of Uncle Sam's Soldiers.

The brightest page in the history of any war is, perhaps, that which records the thoughtfulness of the officers and the faithfulness of their men—qualities which, when conjoined, make a regiment an almost irresistible force. In "The Story of the Rough Riders," Edward Marshall tells how, when Capt. McClintock was wounded, one of his troopers came and lay down beside him.

"You'd better get out of this," said McClintock. "It's too hot."

"Don't worry, captain," the man replied. "I'm between you and the firing line."

McClintock touched as he was by this exhibition of the man's devotion, still wanted him to get away. He urged him to leave. The man refused. Finally McClintock said:

"I'm your captain, and I order you to go. You are doing no good to anyone but me. This is no place for a well man. I order you."

Then the man had to tell.

"I ain't no well man," he slowly admitted. "I'm shot."

"Where?" asked McClintock.

"Oh, it's only a scratch!"

They lay there in silence for a long time. The firing began to come from the left. The soldier worked his painful way around until he was again between McClintock and the line of fire. McClintock was too weak from loss of blood even to speak. Then a hospital man came and lifted McClintock to carry him back.

"Take him, too," McClintock managed to articulate.

"No use," said the hospital man. "He's dead."

A COUNTESS' REVENGE.

She Called Her Hated Rival to Her Deathbed and Disfigured Her for Life.

A tragic story of feminine revenge comes from Vienna. The count and countess Napodano lived happily together until the count fell in love with the daughter of the local doctor, Concetto Devajo by name, a charming young girl of 18 years. The count deserted his wife and eloped with Concetta Devajo. The Countess Napodano obtained a divorce from her husband, who then married Concetta. Two years later Count Napodano and Countess Cuocetta returned to Mattugaeci. The former Countess Napodano was now on her deathbed. She sent a message to the Contess Concetta that she would like to see her before she died. The countess, wishing to humor the wishes of the dying woman, went to see her. The invalid asked her to stoop and kiss her. As the fresh young face of her rival came near her own the dying woman raised herself, and by an almost superhuman effort bit a piece clean out of Concetta's cheek and mouth, then fell back dead, with a contented smile on her features. Concetta was disfigured for life, and her husband, the fickle count, left her for a new love.

A Difference Only in Name.

We call it ice cream. To the English it is known as cream ice. Just when or where it was invented is the question many people have tried to solve. In the beginning of the century it was almost unknown in England, though well known in Naples and Sicily, where the cream was artfully made into copies of peaches, apples, apricots and such dainties, much as we have them to-day made in molds.

The Eye of Genius.

All men of genius are said to have eyes clear, slow moving and bright. This is the eye which indicates mental ability of some kind, it doesn't matter what.

THE MARKETS.

	CINCINNATI		Aug. 7.
LIVESTOCK—Cattle, common	$	1 0	@ $ 4 00
Select butchers		4 85	@ 5 00
CALVES—Fair to good light		6 75	@ 7 50
HOGS—Corn and new		3 80	@ 4 10
Mixed packers		4 70	@ 4 81
Light shippers		4 65	@ 4 85
SHEEP—Choice		4 10	@ 4 35
LAMBS—Spring		5 00	@ 6 25
FLOUR—Winter patent		3 25	@ 3 61
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red			@ 68
No. 3 red			@ 66
Corn—No. 2 mixed			@ 23¼
Oats—No. 2			@ 22
Rye—No. 2			@ 56
HAY—Prime to choice			@10 25
PROVISIONS—Mess Pork			@ 9 75
Lard			@ 5 27½
BUTTER—Choice dairy			@ 12
Choice creamery			@ 19¼
APPLES—Choice to fancy		1 00	@ 1 50
POTATOES—New, per bbl		1 00	@ 1 25
	CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patent		3 50	@ 3 90
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red			@ 70¼
No. 3 Chicago spring		67	@ 67¾
Corn—No. 2		31	@ 31¾
OATS—No. 2		20¼	@ 20¾
PORK—Mess		7 75	@ 8 50
LARD—Steam		5 27½	@ 5 37½
	NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patent		3 60	@ 3 75
WHEAT—No. 2 red			@ 75
CORN—No. 2			@ 37
RYE			@ 56¾
Oats—Mixed			@ 27
PORK—New mess		9 50	@ 9 75
LARD—Western			@ 5 72½
	BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family		3 25	@ 3 50
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		7 5/8	@ 70¾
Southern		62	@ 72
CORN—Mixed		35	@ 35¾
Oats—No. 2 white			@ 40
Rye—No. 2 western			@ 53¾
CATTLE—Fair quality		4 70	@ 4 90
HOGS—Western		5 15	@ 5 20
	INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red			@ 68
Corn—No. 2 mixed			@ 32
Oats—No. 2 mixed			@ 24¾
	LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patent		3 45	@ 3 55
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red			@ 71¾
Corn—Mixed		32	@ 32½
Oats—Mixed		30½	@ 31
PORK—Mess		8 10	@ 8 30
LARD—Steam			@ 5 75

THERE IS A LIMIT.

The Fourth Gentleman Severely Strained the Bounds of Human Credulity.

"You may not believe it, gentlemen," remarked one of an after-dinner group engaged in smoking cigars in front of a hotel, "but I have used a fountain pen constantly for four years, and have never had the least trouble with it."

"That is indeed remarkable," rejoined another. "Nevertheless I am the father of six children and have never had to walk the floor by night with a single one of them."

There was a silence, lasting a minute or so. Then another spoke up: "I don't doubt it in the least," said he, "for I can testify to something stranger still. I have a bright little four-year-old boy at my house, and I've never repeated any of his smart sayings to my most intimate friends."

"Gentlemen," observed a fourth, after a protracted and somewhat painful pause, "I am fond of hearing young women practice their scales on the piano after I have retired to rest. It lulls me to sleep."

One or two other members of the group made more or less feeble attempts to say something, but faiteringly gave it up. It seemed to be generally felt that the extreme limit of human credulity had been reached.—London Telegraph.

NOT ACQUAINTED WITH THEM.

Men Dead Fifty Years Elected to Office by Benighted Aldermen in New York.

A New York alderman indulged in a little fun at the expense of his associates the other day, and through his influence that honorable body elected two men, eminent men, dead these 50 years, to the position of commissioner of deeds. The names of the dead thus honored are: Noah Webster, lexicographer, and Lindley Murray, grammarian. The world says the trick was worked this way:

A slip of paper containing these names, with Brooklyn addresses, was circulated at the meeting of the board. Alderman Okie approached Alderman Bridges and said:

"Say, Jim, I've done favors for you. Here are a couple of men who want to be made commissioners of deeds. That fellow Lindley Murray told me he was a friend of yours."

Alderman Bridges looked at the slip and replied:

"I don't know the gent, and I ain't going to present his name."

Alderman Dooley, another member from Brooklyn, was persuaded to sign the application, and in less than ten minutes the formal vote electing Lindley Murray and Noah Webster commissioners of deeds was passed.—American.

Fee Strangely Earned.

It was on the night of the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons prize fight, and a man reached the West side apartment house in which he lived about two o'clock. A search of all his pockets failed to bring forth his bunch of keys. He rang the bell repeatedly for the janitor, but could get no response. He was exceedingly tired, and there was no hotel in the neighborhood, and, besides, there were family reasons why it was inadvisable for him to spend the rest of the night away from home. The sight of a physician's night bell gave him an idea. He pushed the button hard for 30 seconds or more. In due season a physician came to the door and opened it.

"What is your fee for night calls?" asked the locked out individual.

"Four dollars," was the astonished reply.

"All right, here you are. I was locked out and couldn't get in. Sorry to trouble you," and he began his weary march upstairs, happy in the thought of the evils he had escaped.—N. Y. Tribune.

Taken at Her Word.

"Mrs. F. J. Gillington-Gigge is awfully mad at the newspapers; she says they treated her so shabbily."

"Did they? Such a prominent society woman, too."

"Yes; she told them they must not say anything about her reception, and they didn't."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

A Good-Luck Cross.

A cross recently discovered in the grave of the beautiful Queen Dagmar is supposed to keep away all evil influences. There is no more evil influence than ill health, and there is nothing which has so great a power to keep it away than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is worth a hundred good-luck crosses to the man or woman afflicted with dyspepsia and indigestion. A private Revenue Stamp should cover the neck of the bottle.

Out.

Caller—I have here several bills which are long overdue and—

Hardupp (desperately)—I am sorry to say that our cashier is out to-day.

"Oh, well, it doesn't make much difference; I'll call and pay them at some future date. Good-day, sir."—Philadelphia Record.

Work for All.

Thousands of men are making good wages in the harvest fields of Minnesota, North and South Dakota. There is room for thousands more. Half rates via the Great Northern Railway from St. Paul. Write Max Bass, 220 South Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

It is terribly hard for a boy to believe in the veracity of his father when he hears him declare that no one is truly happy and contented unless he has work to do.—Atchison Globe.

We have often wondered that women do not have their kitchen dresses made as low-necked as their party dresses. It would certainly be cooler in working over a hot stove.—Atchison Globe.

It is a mighty good thing that the Lord does not enforce the law as He did against Ananias.—Washington (Ia.) Democrat.

The man who can give no reasons for his opinions is the hardest to change.—Washington (Ia.) Democrat.

Ladies Can Wear Shoes

One size smaller after using Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It makes tight or new shoes easy. Cures swollen, hot, sweating, aching feet, ingrowing nails, corns and bunions. At all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Trial package FREE by mail. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Porous Plaster.

"What are the holes for?" asked little Edna, looking at the porous plaster that her mother was preparing to adjust on Willie's back. "It's funny you don't know that, sis," interposed Willie. "They're to let the pain out, of course."—Boston Traveler.

The Best Prescription for Chills and Fever is a bottle of Grover's Tasteless Chill Tonic. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price, 50c.

Appreciated.

Wife—John, let me tell you that as surely as you keep on in your present career, just so surely will you pay for your indulgences.

Husband (with air of pride)—Thanks, dear, for that tender tribute to my financial probity.—Boston Courier.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

The Common Pate.

Like everybody else the sea waves arrive at the shore in great style, but they go away broke.—Philadelphia Record.

Rev. (now Bishop) Joseph S. Key, wrote: "We gave your Teethina (Teething Powders) to our little grandchild with the happiest results. The effects were almost magical and certainly more satisfactory than anything we ever used."

Some girls don't seem to think of much but wearing good clothes, and we don't blame them.—Washington (Ia.) Democrat.

Remember these facts; more for your money, less trouble to use and each package colors all fibers. Putnam Fadeless Dyes sold at 10c per package.

High ideals are perhaps responsible for as much pessimism as are torpid livers, on the whole.—Detroit Journal.

Piso's Cure for Consumption relieves the most obstinate coughs.—Rev. D. Bachmueller, Lexington, Mo., Feb. 24, '94.

"How?" Harry—"To show her how little he cared for it, he spent every cent she had."—Answers.

Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is a Constitutional Cure. Price, 75c.

If Love had any sense of humor it would laugh less at jack-smiths and more at girls little brothers.—Detroit Journal.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 93,324]

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—For some time I have thought of writing to you to let you know of the great benefit I have received from the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Soon after the birth of my first child, I commenced to have spells with my spine. Every month I grew worse and at last became so bad that I found I was gradually losing my mind.

Mrs. Johnson Saved from Insanity by Mrs. Pinkham

"The doctors treated me for female troubles, but I got no better. One doctor told me that I would be insane. I was advised by a friend to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and before I had taken all of the first bottle my neighbors noticed the change in me.

"I have now taken five bottles and cannot find words sufficient to praise it. I advise every woman who is suffering from any female weakness to give it a fair trial. I thank you for your good medicine."—MRS. GERTRUDE M. JOHNSON, JONESBORO, TEXAS.

Mrs. Perkins' Letter.

"I had female trouble of all kinds, had three doctors, but only grew worse. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and used the Sanative Wash, and cannot praise your remedies enough."—MRS. EFFIE PERKINS, PEARL, LA.

NO REMEDY EQUALS PERUNA, SO THE WOMEN ALL SAY.

Miss Susan Wymar.

Miss Susan Wymar, teacher in the Richmond school, Chicago, Ill., writes the following letter regarding Pe-ru-na. She says: "Only those who have suffered as I have, can know what a blessing it is to be able to find relief in Pe-ru-na. This has been my experience. A friend in need is a friend indeed, and every bottle of Pe-ru-na I ever bought proved a good friend to me."—Susan Wymar.

Mrs. Margaretha Dauben, 1214 North Superior St., Racine City, Wis., writes: "I feel so well and good and happy now that pen cannot describe it. Pe-ru-na is everything to me. I have taken several bottles of Pe-ru-na for female complaint. I am in the change of life and it does me good." Pe-ru-na has no equal in all of the irregularities and emergencies peculiar to women caused by pelvic catarrh.

Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O., for a free book for women only.

Remember that cholera morbus, cholera infantum, summer complaint, bilious colic, diarrhoea and dysentery are each and all catarrh of the bowels. Catarrh is the only correct name for these affections. Pe-ru-na is an absolute specific for these ailments, which are so common in summer. Dr. Hartman, in a practice of over forty years, never lost a single case of cholera infantum, dysentery, diarrhoea, or cholera morbus, and his only remedy was Pe-ru-na. Those desiring further particulars should send for a free copy of "Summer Catarrh." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O.

Whiskers Dyed
A Natural Black by
Buckingham's Dye.
Price 50 cents of all druggists or R. P. Hall & Co., Nashua, N. H.

EDUCATIONAL.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME,
NOTRE DAME, INDIANA.
Classics, Letters, Economics and History, Journalism, Art, Science, Pharmacy, Law, Civil, Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, Architecture.
Thorough Preparatory and Commercial Courses. Ecclesiastical students at special rates. Room Free. Junior or Senior Year, Collegiate Courses. Rooms to Rent, moderate charge.
St. Edward's hall, for boys under 13.
The 56th Year will open September 9th, 1899.
Catalogues Free. Address
REV. A. MORRISSEY, C. S. C., President.

NEW HAMPSHIRE MILITARY ACADEMY
Prepares for Government Academies and Colleges, Full Commercial Course. Major B. F. HYATT, A. M., Principal, WEST LEBANON, N. H.

BUSINESS EDUCATION FREE. Write for particulars. Home Correspondence School, Springfield, Mass.

A. N. K.—F. 1773

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

WINCHESTER
Factory Loaded Shotgun Shells.
"LEADER" loaded with Smokeless powder and "NEW RIVAL" loaded with Black powder. Superior to all other brands for
UNIFORMITY, RELIABILITY AND STRONG SHOOTING QUALITIES.
Winchester Shells are for sale by all dealers. Insist upon having them when you buy and you will get the best.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children
Bears the Signature Of Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
The Kind You Have Always Bought
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA
TEETHING POWDERS

Aids Digestion, Regulates the Bowels and Makes Teething Easy. TEETHINA Relieves the Bowel Troubles of Children of Any Age and Costs Only 25 Cents. Ask Your Druggist for It.

E. R. L. Vanilo Co., Lakeville, Conn., sends Money-Making Outfit by mail on receipt of 10c. your promise to return money if goods in 30 days. Biggest side line; large profits.

Plantation Chill Cure is Guaranteed
To cure, or money refunded by your merchant, so why not try it? Price 50c.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Berkshire.

Mrs. W. F. Moore is very ill with the flux.

Mr. J. J. Allphin made a business trip to Rising Sun, one day last week.

Mr. Ben Richerson, of Indiana, is visiting relatives in this neighborhood.

John Story got his hand badly cut while threshing at J. G. Finnell's, last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Allphin were in this vicinity attending camp meeting several days last week.

A good many from this vicinity have been attending the camp meeting at Big Bone Springs.

Misses Mamie and Bess Vanness, of Rabbit Hash, were the guests of Miss Sallie Finnell, several days last week.

Mr. James Hume, of this place and Miss Tiny Ryan, of the Beaver neighborhood, were married on the 2nd inst.

Miss Sallie Finnell has returned home after a two weeks' visit at Burlington, at Deputy Sheriff B. B Allphins'.

Pt. Pleasant.

Miss Corda Early, of Petersburg, is the guest of relatives in this neighborhood.

Mr. Isaac Davis and wife, of Taysport, were the guests of H. F. Russell and family Saturday night and Sunday.

Died, August 3rd, at 10 o'clock, a. m. Mrs. Sue Anderson, after being a helpless luvalid for almost seven years with rheumatism. She passed gently out of this life into the great unknown. She leaves a husband and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

The socialgiven by the C. E. Society at Miss Lulu Souther's, was a success in every respect. Mrs. Julia Stansifer, of Covington chaperoned a lot of young folks from that city, 23 in number, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening.

Mrs. John Rucker and daughter, Miss Nora, entertained several of their friends on last Thursday. Those present were Mrs. Geo. Montgomery and daughter, Miss Helen, of Covington; Miss Corda Early, of Petersburg; Mrs. B. W. Vickers; Misses Lulu Souther, Grace Russell, Flora and Maggie Yowell, Abbie Carter and Mrs. Ora Riggs.

Hebron.

The much needed rain was gladly welcomed here Saturday.—Claude Turner, who has been quite sick for several weeks, is some better.—Miss Eva Beall is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Laura Rouse, of Burlington.—Miss Stella Crusy, of Cincinnati, is spending two weeks with Miss Lizzie Clore.—Miss Edna Conner and Mary Riddell spent Saturday night and Sunday with the Misses Hafer.—Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Clore, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Clore leave Tuesday for Niagara Falls.—Great preparations are being made for the celebration in the way of drills, etc.—Miss Daisy Harding has returned from a visit with her sister, Mrs. Nellie Rouse.—Mrs. Frances Clutterbuck has a fine music class which is progressing nicely.—As yet our school has not been given to say one and we hope when it is the fortunate one will have the qualities of at least some of them of our last teacher.—A series of meetings begun at Bullittsville Sunday night. Bro. Miller, of 5th st. Covington, opened the meeting and will continue to hold services through ont the week. Let one and all attend and manifest great interest.

Hume Store.

The storm Friday evening, damaged the corn considerably.—Several from her attended camp meeting at Big Bone, Sunday.—Rolling Bear's show passed through here Sunday, enroute to Verona.—Miss Mary Dempsey, of Walnut Lick, was calling on her parents, Sunday after afternoon.—Miss Mary Pinkett, of the Walton neighborhood, is visiting relatives and friends near this place.—The drawing for the benefit of St. Patrick's choir came off at the school-house, last Saturday evening. Over 600 tickets were sold. Miss Anna Sextou, of Newport, won the handsome gold watch.—Mr. Jas. Hume and Miss Tiny Ryan were quietly married at Verona, last Wednesday afternoon, by the Rev. Cavenaugh. The event was quite a surprise to many of their friends, as the secret had been well kept. Mr. Hume is a son of Sleet Hume, and possesses those qualities that will win for him a bright future.—Miss Ryan is a daughter of "Uncle" Mike Ryan, and is a most worthy and esteemed young lady. We predict for both a bright future, and we all extend our hand of congratulation, wishing the days of sunshine many, and the cloudy few.

SATISFIED WITH THE TEST.

[Owensboro Messenger.]

Maj. Joe Haycraft has not kept up with modern firearms, and when Judge Peyton Basham made the statement that a bullet from a Krag-Jorgensen rifle would go through a tree nine inches thick, Maj. Haycraft scoffed. The Major expressed great doubt that such a weapon was in existence. Judge Basham is a hero of the peaceful and benevolent assimilation of Cuba. One of the relics of his campaign against sand fleas in the Pearl of the Antilles was a rifle of the type described. He offered to prove his assertion, and it was arranged that the Judge and the Major should repair to the woods and let the gun speak for itself.

A gum tree was selected which was full nine inches in diameter. Judge Basham pinned a piece of paper to the tree for a mark, walked off about eighty yards and cracked down with his "benevolent assimilator." He plugged the center of the paper, and the Judge proceeded to investigate. The bullet had gone clear through the tree, leaving a hole as clean as if bored by a gimlet. The hole was there, but the Major was so much surprised that he could not believe his own eyes.

"Just try it yourself, Major," said the Judge.

The Major, after due instruction about handling the gun, fired away and bored another hole through the gum tree. This satisfied him that the Judge had told the truth about the power of the gun, but he remarked:

"If Andy Jackson had come from his grave and told me that there was a rifle you could shoot through a tree with, I would have told him he was a liar."

The story brings to mind one of Tony Cohen's statements about the shooting power of the Krag-Jorgensen gun. Tony was the wit of Company F. Somebody asked Tony how far one could shoot with a Krag-Jorgensen. "Well;" said Tony, "if you have one of those guns, and have an enemy in the county, all you want to know about where he is; is his post-office address. The bullet will reach him if the gun is pointed in the right direction."

OHIO—Tobacco is making a splendid growth in some fields while others are uneven. Topping continues in the earliest fields.

TENNESSEE.—Tobacco on uplands is growing rapidly since the rains—in some places almost too rapidly for healthy condition; in lowlands the crop has been damaged by wet weather and flooding. In some places planters have been induced by the late favorable seasons to try the experiment of setting out young plants, risking the contingencies of late frosts.

VIRGINIA,—Tobacco has made a marked improvement in growth, and is fully abreast of the season. There are some irregular fields reported as a result of damage from insects, but on the whole the outlook is promising.—Topping continues.

NORTH CAROLINA.—The condition of tobacco in the north-central portion of the State has heretofore been reported as late and poor, but a great improvement is noted this week in reports from that important tobacco growing section; topping is under way there; cutting and curing continue, and while the week was not so favorable for that work on account of too sappy a condition of the plants, causing some poor cures, the general results are very satisfactory, especially in eastern counties, where the crop is very fine.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Tobacco is ripening faster than it can be gathered in places. Curing progresses favorably. In places the leaves have "fired," and horn worms are injuring it in Darlington county.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Tobacco is growing rapidly and some topped.

WISCONSIN.—Some early plantings have been topped. The crop is generally considered exceptionally good.

Speaking at a large number of towns in Kentucky, Monday, and as to whether the meetings were a failure or a success depends on what paper's report of the same you read. You can pay your money and take your choice.

J. T. MARSHALL,
SALESMAN FOR
F. W. KASSEBAUM & SON,
Manufacturers and Dealers in
Granite and Marble Monuments.
GRANT P. O., KENTUCKY.

For Rent or Sale.

My farm of 113 acres of well watered, well fenced, good cultivating land. Large dwelling, tenement house and good tobacco barn on place. Seventy-five acres can be sown in wheat in the fall; 12 acres of uncleared woodland. Farm situated on L. & N. Railroad, 1½ miles from Verona, Boone county, Ky. For terms address,

MRS. J. T. BROCK,
416 E. Main St., Lexington, Ky.

Coal! Coal!
Good Raymond City Coal
In the Yard,
9 1-2 Cents a Bushel.
KANAWAH COAL
9 cents a bushel.
J. P. LINDSAY & CO.,
Erlanger, Ky.
J. O. HUEY, Manager.

PREMIUM LIST
—OF THE—
Fourteenth Annual Meeting
—OF THE—
BOONE CO. HARVEST HOME ASSOCIATION.
To be held on its Grounds near
LIMABURG, - - KY.,
—ON—
Saturday, Aug. 26, 1899.

GRAIN.

	1st.	2nd.
Wheat, best half bushel	$2	$1,00
White Corn, best 25 ears	2	1,00
Yellow Corn, best 25 ears	2	1,00

The above 3 premiums given by the Kentucky Bureau of Agriculture.

Rye, best peck 1
Oats, best peck 1
Sweet Corn, best 12 ears 1
Tobacco, best 6 stalks 1
Best display of Grain—first premium, 2 hole Gasoline Stove by the W. G. Snyder Co 2,50 1,00

VEGETABLES.

Irish Potatoes, best pk early 1
Irish Potatoes, best pk late.. 1
Sweet Potatoes, best peck 1
Tomatoes, best peck—premium by Harrison Clore 1
Pumpkins best three 1
Squashes, best three 1
Kershaws, best three 1
Watermelons, best three 1
Nutmegs, best three 1
Turnips, best peck 1
Onions, best peck 1
Green Beans, best peck 1
Best ½ gallon Soup Beans 1
Cabbage, best three heads 1
Celery, best six bunches 1
Carrots, best six 1
Radishes, best six 1
Cucumbers, best six 1
Best display Beets 1
Best display Peppers—25 bx. Coal by the Hatfield Coal Co., Covington, Ky 2
Best display Vegetables 2 1,00

This premium given by the Kentucky Bureau of Agriculture.

FRUITS.

Apples, best display—15 lbs. best coffee by J. H Voss & Bros 2,50
Peaches, best display 1
Plums, best display 1
Pears, best display 1
Quinces, best display 1
Grapes, best display—One case assorted wines given by A. J. Bresch & Co 2,50
Best display Fruit—premium by the Ky. Bureau of Agriculture $3,00 2,00 1,00

PANTRY AND DAIRY.

Sour Pickles, best display—Fine Lamp given by L. H. Grober & Co 2
Sweet Pickles, best display 2
Corn Bread, best loaf 1
Best loaf Bread, hop yeast—1 set Spoons by E. W. Scales. 2
Best loaf Bread, salt rising—1 bbl. Jackson's Best Patent Flour given by R. Hamilton Grocery Co 4
Best Pound Cake, without icing 1
Best Jelly Cake 1
Best Layer Cake—premium by Gus W. Menuinger 2
Butter, best 3 lbs.—Child's Suit by Rolfes & Wachs 3
Peaches, best single can 1
Pears, best single can 1
Tomatoes, best single can 1
Maple Molasses, best quart 50
Sorghum Molasses, best quart 50
Apple Vinegar, best quart 50
Cider, best quart 50
Best Lady Cake—Picture and Frame by Wm. R. Scheifers 1,50
Fruit Butter, best display—Premium by Jameson Bros. Printers, 13 Pike St. Covington, Ky 2
Preserves, best display—First premium by C. T. Davis & Co., Hebron, Ky 2 1,00
Jelly, best display—1st premium by Elmer Beall, Sheriff Boone Co., Ky 3 2,00
Best Fruit Cake—6 doz. Mason Fruit Jars by G. W. Hill & Co 3

POULTRY.

Cochins, best pair—Pair Shoes by Amos Tweed, Masonic Temple, Ludlow, Ky 1,50
Leghorns, best pair 1
Wyandotts, best pair 1
Minorcas, best pair 1
Brahamas, best pair 1
Game, best pair 1
Plymouth Rock, best pair—Umbrella by Coppin's Dry Goods Palace 3
Bantams, best pair 1
Turkeys, best pair—one year's subscription to Ky. Post 3
Geese, best pair—Lapduster by Chas. Mahlmann 1,50
Ducks, best pair—Heavy Copper Boiler by Hesselman & Wahle 2,50
Poultry, best display—1st premium by John Allison 3 2,00
Fuchias, best display 1
Cactus, best display—picture & frame by Grote, Marschal & Co 1
Best Hanging Basket—1 year's subscription to Boone County Recorder 1,50
Best Hand Bouquet—picture and frame by Grote, Marschal & Co 1
Geraniums, best display—premium by G. C. Goode 1,50
Best display Flowers in pots—Davis Swing Churn by J. M. Walker & Co 5,00

ARTIFCIAL FLOWERS AND PAINTINGS.

Cut Flowers, best display 1
Wax Flowers, best specimen 1
Feather Flowers, best sp'men 1
Paper Flowers, best specimen Lady's Hat by Mrs. J. Appel 5
Hair Flowers, best specimen ... 1
Tapestry Paluting, best sp'men 1
Crayon Drawing, best sp'men 1
Pencil Drawing, best spe'men 1
Oil Paluting, best specimen—Framed picture of W. J. Bryan by Frank Handorf, 23 W. 7th Street Covington, Ky... 2
Best Knit Counterpane 1
Best Calico Patchwork Quilt... 1
Worsted Patchwork Quilt, p'n 1
Silk Patchwork Quilt, plain... 2
Fancy Fan Quilt—Chamber Set 12 pieces by Delhi Ferry Company 5
Silk Patchwork Quilt, crazy—Wringer by J. H. Mersman, Jr., & Co 3,50
Worsted Patchwork Quilt, crazy—pair fine Gold Glasses by F. Pieper 4

EMBROIDERY AND NEEDLE WORK.

Linen Embroidery, best 1
Silk Embroidery, best 1
Cotton Embroidery, best 1
Kensington Work, best 1
Arasine Work, best 1
Crochet Work, best 1
Lace Work, best 1
Art Needle Work, best sp'men 1
Knit Lace, best specimen 1
Drawn Thread, best specimen 1
Rag Carpet, best 10 yards 1
Fancy Knitting in Silk 1
Best Hand-made Shirt 1
" Hand-sewing, new work ... 1
Woolen Knitting, plain ..... .50
Knitting in Cotton, plain ..... .50
Best fancy Woolen Knitting.. .50

HOGS.

Best sow with 6 or more sucking pigs $5
Best pair pigs under 6 months of age 5
Best boar and sow over 6 mos. and under 1 year 5

SHEEP.

Best aged buck, long wool 3
Best aged buck, short wool—Pair Men's Shoes by Dan Cohen, Covington 5
Best aged Ewe, long wool 3
Best aged Ewe, short wool 3
Best pair Lambs—Child's Suit by H. F. Blase 5

CATTLE.

Best dairy bull under 2 years—$2.50 of this premium given by Farmers & Traders National Bank 5
Best bull, beef breed, under 2 years 5
Best dairy Heifer, under 2 yrs 3
Best heifer, beef breed 3
Best milch cow 5
Best Jersey Herd, bull and 3 or more cows 10 5 00

HORSES.

Best suckling draft colt regardless of sex—2nd premium by H. H. Thomann 5 2.50
Best suckling harness colt regardless of sex—1st premium by B B. Allphin, Deputy Sheriff, Boone co —2d premium by J. S. Clutterbuck 5 2.50
Best suckling colt, general purpose, regardless of sex—1st premium by H. Eilerman & Son; 2nd premium by Erustes Bros., Hebron, Ky 5 2.00
Best mare mule colt, get of J. E. Rouse's Jack 5
Best horse mule colt, get of J. E. Rouse's Jack 5

The two above premiums given by J E. Rouse, Yarneiltou, Ky.

Foot Race, 200 yards dash—Hat by J. J. Geisen 3
Best looking unmarried lady on ground—Willow Rocker by Caine & Balsley 5

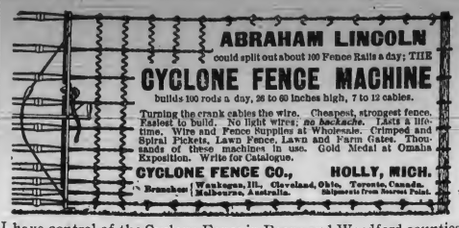
General Admission, 25c.
Children Under 10 years, Free.
Dancing Free.

All Privileges—Will be rented at the Grounds, Saturday, August 19th, 1899, at 1'oclock p. m.

Consign your Stock to
Rabenstein, Harris & Conner,
—Live Stock—
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
COVINGTON STOCK YARDS,
Covington, Ky.,
OR UNION STOCK YARDS,
Cincinnati, Ohio.
When shipping East bill our care privilege selling Central Covington Stock Yards.
We will make it to your advantage and give your stock special personal attention.

Helms' ~ Barber ~ Shop,
PETERSBURG, KY.
Hair cut 15c, on Saturday 20c; Shave 10c; Shampoo 15c; Sea Foam 5c; Hair Singe 5c; Beard Trim 5c, other work proportionally as low in price. Ladies' and childrens' work a specialty. All work guaranteed satisfactory or money refunded. Hair Oils, Tonics, Perfume, etc., for sale. Thanking all for past favors, I remain, &c.,
EVERETT HELMS, Prop.

LADIES—To the ladies that have not paid us a call, will say, that Thursday is conceded to be their day. Ladies Shampoo 25c; Sea Foam 15c; Bangs trimmed 10c. Hair dressed for special occasions a specialty, at reasonable rates. Courteous treatment is our motto. Give us a call.



SIXTH YEAR OF
Walton :-: Academy
—OPENS—
First Monday in September.

First-class instruction in all Common School Branches.

Higher Arithmetic, Elementary and Higher Algebra, Book-Keeping, Plain and Solid Geometry, History, Rhetoric and Literature, Physiology, Geography, Physics, Astronomy, Logic and Psychology. Latin includes Cesar, Cicero, Nepos, Virgil. Greek including Beginners, Greek and Xenophon.

Terms:—Tuition and Board in the building, five days in the week, under the care of the teacher, $105.75, for nine months; Board the full week or Music $18.50 additional for the full term.

Mrs. S. H. MYERS, Prin.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN
could split out about 100 Fence Rails a day; THE
CYCLONE FENCE MACHINE
builds 100 rods a day, 26 to 60 inches high, 7 to 12 cables.
Turning the crank cables the wire. Cheapest, strongest fence. Easiest to build. No light wires; no backache. Lasts a lifetime. Wire and Fence Supplies at Wholesale. Crimped and Spiral Pickets, Lawn Fence, Lawn and Farm Gates. Thousands of these machines in use. Gold Medal at Omaha Exposition. Write for Catalogue.
CYCLONE FENCE CO., HOLLY, MICH.
Branches { Waukegan, Ill., Cleveland, Ohio, Toronto, Canada. Melbourne, Australia. Shipments from Nearest Point.

I have control of the Cyclone Fence in Boone and Woodford counties. I will build the fence or sell machines to farmers that they may build their own fences. It is the cheapest and best fence that can be built. Address G. CARTER GRADDY, BULLITTSVILLE, KY.

DR. A. P. WALTON,
DENTIST,
CINCINNATI,
The Lancaster Building 22 W. 7th, Bet. Vine and Race.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.
E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
EDGAR CROPPER, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

CORNER
Drug Store
Rising Sun, Ind.
Is the place for anything in the Drug Line.
WALL PAPER, PAINTS, WINDOW SHADES.
STATIONERY, PERFUMES,
FANCY GOODS, &c.
B. F. BUCHANAN,
—DRUGGIST,—
Over thirty year's experience.

FARMERS
Take Notice!
If you want good
Fertilizer
PLEASE GIVE
B. F. ZIMMER
A CALL.
He will try to please you. He has the finest line of Fertilizer for 1899 he has ever handled. Write for particulars to
CONSTANCE, KY.

Central Covington Stock Yards,
COVINGTON, KY.
Are located so as to offer special inducements to shippers South of the Ohio river in saving them extra expense and time. In addition to the local buyers there will be Eastern and foreign buyers on the market for all kinds of stock. When shipping East, don't fail to consign our care privilege selling which will be of benefit to you.
Central Covington Stock Yards Co.
Commission firms will give prompt attention to consignments.

FRANK HOSSMAN,
Hebron, Ky.,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
—Also handles all—
KINDS of ROOFING.
Which is furnished and put on at the Lowest Prices consistent with good work.
I am prepared for moving buildins.
Your Work is Solicited.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.

Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect Dec. 5th, 1898.

P. M.	A. M.		A. M.	P. M.
4.00	8.30	lv Cincinnati ar	10.05	6.00
4.15	7.04	" Ludlow lv	9.55	5.50
4.30	7.18	" Erlanger lv	9.36	5.27
5 18	8.25	Williamstown "	8.45	4.25
5.35	8.49	" Corinth "	8.25	4.03
6.17	10.28	" Georgetw'n "	7.50	3.19
6.39	10.50	ar Stamp Gro'nd	7.28	1.55
7.10	11.20	" Frankfort "	7.00	1.00

JOS. B. NEWTON, G. P. A., Frankfort, Ky.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him. mch23-93.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 20,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms account of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN $50,000
SURPLUS, ... $ 3,000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
Artificial Dentures, Crown and Bridge Work to represent natural organs. Will be in office at Union every Monday.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

JOHN L. VEST,
SURVEYOR
WALTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of work south of Burlington, Ky. Prompt attention given to all mail orders.

Executor's Notice.

All persons indebted to the estate of L. B. Stephens, deceased, are hereby notified to come forward and settle same; those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned proven according to law.

J. D. FRAIZER,
L. D. SHOUSE, Executors.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 16, 1899. NO. 43.

ANOTHER card is due from W. J. Stone, of Kuttawa.

BEAT Goebel and elect the Republican ticket is all the nominee of the Lexington ticket expects to accomplish.

JO A. PARKER, the Populist leader in this State, says the Louisville and Nashville railroad is pushing along the bolters' cause in Kentucky.

IN these days very often you hear a fellow whose Democracy has, heretofore, been supposed to be all wool and a yard wide, declare, "I have scratched the ticket before."

COL. MILTON SMITH, president of the L. & N. railroad will retire from politics under certain conditions which he names. This is an admission that the road is in politics.

THE Lawrenceburg Press has notified the Republican party that it does not intend making a $100 contribution for campaign purposes in 1900, as it did on an occasion in the past.

GIVE the anti-Goebelites every vote they claim and all they can do is to insure the election of the Republican State ticket. Do Democrats desire to be made parties to the accomplishing of that result?

SEVERAL sections of the State were visited by severe rain and wind storms, last week, and considerable damage was done the growing crops. In some localities the crops were almost entirely destreyed.

THE bolters' convention will be held in Lexington to-day. No meeting was held in Burlington, last Saturday, to appoint delegates to the Lexington convention, notwithstanding newspaper reports to the contrary.

THE Kentucky Post has had a man scouring the State for the last several weeks, and all that he can figure out as the result of the bolt is the success of the Republican State ticket, and all know that defeat of the Democrats this fall will not stop at that.

IF the opponents of a candidate for an office in Boone county were to engage in a campaign of abuse after the style of that which the Louisville Dispatch is conducting against Goebel, the voters of the county would rebuke such a proceeding by an almost unanimous vote.

NEXT Saturday will occur the primary election for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for representative. The candidates, Messrs. Kennedy and Stephens are both good and true Democrats, and in either the county will have a good, careful representative. Go and vote.

JUDGE TARVIN'S action in setting aside a judgment granting a divorce because the man married the day following the granting of the decree, has been the subject of a great deal of adverse criticism. In no instance has a lawyer, who has expressed his opinion in regard to the matter, endorsed the arbitrary action of the Judge.

SENATOR GOEBEL made a masterly presentation of Democratic doctrine in a speech at Mayfield, last Saturday. In his effort to make the vast audience hear him he was nearly overcome by the heat, and it was some time before he recovered sufficiently to complete his speech. Senator J. C. S. Blackburn spoke from the same stand, and made one of his old time campaign rallying speeches. The crowd that was present was estimated at from 3,000 to 5,000.

THE defeat of Goebel this fall will be a surrender of Kentucky to the Republicans for at least another four years; the giving of another United States Senator from Kentucky to the Republicans, and the securing of Kentucky's electoral vote in 1900 to the Republican party. Can a Democrat afford to make such a series of sacrifices simply because he does not like Mr. Goebel as a man? Does personal dislikes out weigh party principles with Kentucky Democrats?

State News.

Owenton proposes investing $2,500 in an artesian well.

Young wild turkeys are unusually plentiful in the mountains.

Six prisoners sawed out of the Nicholasville jail, one night last week,

A nine year old sleep walker fell in a well at Grayson and was drowned.

In Leslie county Daniel Price shot and killed his cousin, William Price.

Danville has adopted a curfew ordinance. It applies to children under sixteen years of age.

Christian county is considering the question of selling $200,000 of bonds to free her turnpikes.

Mr. John Bronaugh, who was the first mayor of Nicholasville, holding the office for twenty-years is dead.

Thieves have been visiting the farmers in Fulton county, stealing wheat, meat, harness and other articles.

James Sons, aged 20, and Miss Flora Gill, aged 14, both of Robinson county, were married in Maysville last week.

In Henry county, Leola Moss, a seven-year-old girl, was accidentally shot and killed by her brother, who was cleaning a pistol.

J. E. Miles, a flour mill owner at Frankfort, made an assignment. Liabilities amount to about $100,000, with assets about the same.

Marion Wall, a fifteen-year-old youth of Casey county, married Miss Nora Semon, aged 13, at Somerset. The bride lives in Arkansas.

The body of Barlow Prewett, with throat cut from ear to ear, was found floating in Kettle creek, near Tompkinsville, Ky. It is believed he was murdered.

Thomas Harvey, 52 years of age, in order to display his skill as an athlete, jumped from the Big Four bridge into the Ohio river at Louisville and was killed.

A Kentuckian, who claims to be an expert, says moonshine whisky is the cause of the feuds. He recommends that it be left to "age" and then mix mint and sugar with it.—Kansas City Times.

A ten-year-old son of Charles Cook, of Hardin county, met death by falling into a wheat elevator. Five thousand bushels of grain was removed before his body could be recovered.

By his proclamation to the public, Gov. Bradley wishes it to be understood thoroughly, that there are some people in Kentucky who are not engaged in the feud business.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

It is now known that three persons perished in the wreck in tunnel No, 4, near Somerset, Ky., last Monday night,. Two of them were sons of Prof. Spencer, of Burnside, and the other was an unknown tramp. The bodies were recovered.

A new Kentucky bourbon trust is in process of organization. John B. Thompson is back of the scheme, and is said to have options on about all the 'distilling plants in Kentucky which stayed out of the Kentucky Distilleries and Warehouse Company. They would represent about half the business of the State.

GOV. BRADLEY and State Treasurer Long are a house divided against itself. The Governor remembers how, four years ago, the Republicans raised a great howl about officials leaving their offices and devoting their time to politics, and thinks Mr. Long ought to be consistent and not be guilty of that which he was inveighing against four years ago.

THAT immense bolters' meeting which was to be held at Alexandria, last Saturday, was attended by ten person, says a Boone county man who was at Alexandria, that day and who looked in upon the collection.

THE Commonwealth has discontinued its daily edition.

KENTUCKY CROP REPORT.

Condition of Crops and Live Stock August 1, 1899.

Replies were received this month from 150 correspondents, representing 104 counties.

WHEAT—The only feature of importance connected with the wheat crop outside of the State is the damage to spring wheat by dry, hot winds, causing premature ripening and shriveling of the berry. This is especially true of the crops in the States of North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota. The full extent of the injury will not appear until threshing begins, but it is thought will have a marked effect on what was a promising crop a few weeks ago. Frequent mention of injury from rust and smut is also made from those States.

In Kentucky threshing has progressed with very little interruption during July. Replies to question "has yield from thresher equalled expectations?" resulted in 17 answers "yes" and 118 answers "no." Replies to questions "quality good, average or bad?" give 57 answers "good," 45 answers "average" and 26 answers "bad." Reports of bad quality come mainly from counties, containing much river bottom land, where the crop suffered injury from rust.

The questions "are farmers marketing wheat freely as threshed?" elicited 43 answers in the affirmative and 92 in the negative. To the same question on this date of 1898, 18 answered "yes" and 124 "no."

CORN—The drouth during July has disastrously affected the corn crop. The dry period varied considerably in duration, some counties receiving beneficial showers on July 20th and 21st, while in others relieving rains did not fall until 30th and 31st. In these counties the injury to carly corn is probably irreparable. Late corn is wonderfully improved since the rain, and with a continuation of seasonable weather will make a fair crop. The condition for the State August 1st, as compared with average years, is 73, a loss of 10 points since July 1st. The average condition August 1st, 1898, was 97, and on same date of 1897 it was 93. By sections the conditions average, for western section, 77; central, 65 and southeastern, 76.

TOBACCO—Tobacco, like corn has been seriously affected by drouth. The late replant has made no growth, and the stand is very poor and uneven. The hot weather and absence of moisture has caused the plant to grow "spindling," which will materially interfere with quality. However, a number of counties report the crop wonderfully revived by recent rains, and a continuation of seasonable weather may do much to improve what at present is a decidedly poor prospect. Danger from frost may be apprehended for that portion of crop just beginning to grow. Worms do not appear to be troublesome as yet. The average condition August 1st is 69, a falling off of 10 points since July 1st. The condition August 1st for past three years was, 1898, 83; 1897, 62, and 1896, 97. The three sections of the State show following conditions as of this date: Western, 73; central, 67, and southeastern, 67.

A question that all Democrats should consider is, is it reasonable that an editor of a newspaper would be so liberal as to send his paper for weeks or months free of charge broad-cast over the county, amounting, perhaps. to $500 or $600 per week, or is it the gold-bug or money power that orders it done? Can we trust men who are selling themselves for the almighty dollar? Can we trust men who set up a game of chance and kick because they are beaten at their own game? Is it not better to vote the ticket so long as we have such men to honor its head as Hon. W. J. Bryan? Is it not better to scratch all that dirt off the ticket than to follow after a third ticket which is apt to be sprung by the gold bugs and in the interest of the gold standard, which means destruction and slavery to the people? Then it is high time that you were opening your eyes to see that. J. E. H.

POLITICAL.

The Louisville Anzeiger, the only daily German paper in Louisville, and which opposed the Democratic party in '95 and '96, is supporting the entire Democratic ticket.

While the Democrats are trying to discover which is the straight and narrow path, it may be interesting to them to observe that the Kentucky Populists have found the middle of the road again.—Chicago Record.

The Republican candidates and Campaign Committee have decided to open their campaign at London, August 22, by an all-day rally of mountain Republicans, with all the Republican candidates on hand, loaded with speeches.

Now that the Hon. John Young Brown has bolted the action of a convention because the delegates declined to break their instructions and nominate him for Governor, his own opinion of bolters at once becomes a live issue. In 1865 Hon. Burwell C. Ritter, of Christian county, was a member of Congress from this district. He sought a renomination in 1867, but was defeated in convention by John Young Brown. The result of the convention was by no means satisfactory to Ritter. He declared that he was not honestly beaten, and that his defeat was brought about by flagrant frauds. He bolted the convention, and made an independent race against Brown and charged all over the district that Brown had accepted a fraudulent nomination. Joint debates were held and this charge was day after day reiterated and the discussions became exceedingly bitter. Brown was then a young man, only thirty-two years of age, in the height of his power as an orator. Ritter was fifty-seven years old, seven years younger than Brown was when he himself became a bolter—but his youthful opponent showed no respect to Ritter's gray hairs. In the most bitter and scathing language he could command, he denounced him as a bolter, declaring that B. C. Ritter would ever afterward stand for "Bolted Convention Ritter." In a speech in this city, Ritter's own home, he expressed his contempt for bolters in general and Ritter's bolt, in particular. Democrats then, as now, were, as a rule, true to their party, and the candidate regularly nominated was elected. Brown won and Ritter went down in defeat, as Brown will himself do thirty-two years later.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

An editorial, in which Hon. Charles E. Summers, editor of the Elizabethtown News, and a supporter of General Hardin, replies to the attacks upon Senator Goebel's Democracy is as follows:

"Senator Goebel is not a gold bug, nor has he ever been one. He did not help to put silver in the platform, but ever since it was put there he has as loyally supported it as any man in the party. I supported Wat Hardin over him, not because he was a better Democrat, but because he had made the first fight in Kentucky for silver; but when I supported him it was with the determination to do all I could to secure his nomination, and if I failed in that to support the man who defeated him in the convention. I have always been taught that a good Democrat should do this. If Senator Goebel had been a gold bug he would not have fought so hard and so brilliantly to elect Jo Blackburn, the leading silver man in the state, to the United States Senate when the Cleveland Administration was against him, and the Courier-Journal and the gold bugs were doing everything in their power to defeat him.

"In 1896, when I had charge of the campaign in Kentucky, I know of my personal knowledge that Senator Goebel was very solicitons for the election of Mr. Bryan; that he tendered his services to me to do all in his power and raised me more money and contributed himself more money to elect Bryan than any other man in the state. His own county the home of Carlisle, gave an increased Democratic majority, due largely to his personal efforts. In the campaign for the nomination for Governor he declared in every speech he made that he was for Bryan, Blackburn, and that he would not accept the nomination unless the Chicago platform was reaffirmed. With this plain statement of facts I can't see how any one can call Goebel a gold bug. Mr. Bryan believes in him as a bimetallist. Mr. Blackburn believes in him, and I add my belief to theirs."

Squire N. L. Harris, of Mt. Washington, went out to his barn a few evenings since to attend to the feeding of his stock, when he noticed smoke issuing from the mouth of a cave on a hillside near by. On going to investigate the cause of this unusual proceeding he discovered a lot of bones, feathers, etc., scattered all about the mouth of the cavern, but was unwilling to enter the cave to find out who was on the inside. Having his interest aroused, he decided to watch the cave and discover if possible who was living in this strange place. A day or so afterward he went back to the place and succeeded in finding one of the strangest specimens of humanity ever seen in this part of the country—a little dried-up man, who was not over four feet high, weighing about ninety pounds and literally covered with a shaggy coat of unkempt hair. The creature tried to escape to the cave, but Mr. Harris intercepted him and endeavored to find out something about his strange discovery, but succeeded in getting little information. The wild-looking man could only talk in some strange jargon not understood by the Squire, but he finally made out that the man was from South America.

This strange specimen seems to have completely lost all vestige of civilization, and gradually sunk into the wildest state imaginable. He subsists on snakes, lizards of a certain variety, what fish he can secure with his hands or, rather, paws, and is very much excited when approached by a human being.

Hundreds of persons in that locality have been to the cave in an endeavor to see the wild man, but on their approach he seeks the darkest recesses of the cavern, and can not be seen by the curious ones. Mr. Harris describes the man as about sixty years old, and says he had on the barest vestige of clothing. How long he has been in the cave is not known.

And Sweeney! Wm. H. Sweeney, Hardin's defeated candidate for chairman. To the writer this political purist, albeit an old friend of the editor, made this statement on the corner of Fifth and Jefferson streets, Louisville, mark my words: "I did not care for the position. I know by being defeated I lost the prestige of the place, but I also escaped the odium attached to it, for I would have been expected to do as Redwine did, and I would have done as he did!" Now Sweeney is conducting this sanctification meeting, and a lot of good men from over the State are getting inspiration from that source!—C. E. Wood in Richmond Climax.

In 1839 we had a drouth that shortened the corn crop materially. Sold here at $3 50 per barrel. The writer drove 200 hogs to Decatur county, Ind., and fed them for three or four months on corn bought at $1 per barrel. Then I took them to Cincinnati, made them into bacon and sold it at 6 cents per pound. No money in that. Fifteen years later, in 1854, there was another drouth, and corn sold for $1 per bushel. On June 8 of that year there was a railroad barbecue in Cynthiana, and it was the coldest day I ever felt in summer. The corn about June 20 was badly frost bitten, and leaves were cut as with a knife from coffee nut and mulberry trees. Twenty-seven years later, in 1881, there was another drouth, when the corn crop was cut short and there was no grass at all, I cut down trees for feed, but about the middle of August it began to rain, and I never saw a finer lot of grass than there was. From 1881 to 1899 is eighteen years, so you see drouths come on an average about once in twentyyears. In 1881 the thermometer reached 101 or more.—Cynthian Democrat.

Don't call a big strong man a liar; it is cheaper to hire some other fellow to break the news to him.

LITTLE CHIPS.

Stupid persons are never dissatisfied with themselves.

No man who has never been tempted is sure of his honesty.

Bargain sales have parted many a wife and her husband's money.

When we say that silence is golden we mean other people's silence.

Generally the experience is worth most to man when he pays the most for it.

Most of the cyclists who go out for a spin encounter a scorcher these days.

In these days of trusts and combines even the streets are cornered.

Grammatically speaking a kiss is a conjunction, even with the new kissing bug.

Two slender persons may be great friends; though but slight acquaintances.

Girls are braver than men. They will make a match with a man twice their size.

No woman is really in serious earnest until she weeps on her best pocket handkerchief.

When a man is in love he either works himself to death or does not attend to business at all.

The real joys of a pic-nic are in thinking about its pleasures after its annoyances are a week old.

The average woman's idea of prosperity is being able to buy the most expensive scented soap.

The trouble with a great many people who stoop to conquor is that they never straighten up.

Wise mothers keep their children obedient by never asking them to do anything they don't want to.

This is no world for a woman. In town she's afraid of mice and in the country she afraid of snakes.

After a man has to earn bread for a large family he doesn't often notice when his wife wears a pink ribbon.

When it cost absolutely nothing it is strange how few men are liberal even with their religious views.

It is said a St. Louis apiarist tried to cross his bees with fireflies so they could gather honey at night.

A bald-headed bachelor always has an aunt or cousin who tells him that he is just as good looking as he ever was.

Many legislators make an open-handed fight against greedy corporations with their hands behind their backs.

Some men are so self important that they imagine their weight on one side of the globe causes the other side to tip up.

It's a lucky thing for some men who claim to be the architects of their own fortunes that there were no building inspectors around.—Ex.

John Sherman is old and infirm, but not too old nor too infirm to say that the McKinley Administration is running the nation into dangerous complications.—Kansas City Times.

If the criticism of the President for letting Alger out is confined to political enemies seeking for a pretext to embarrass him, Mr. McKinley will have little occasion to worry.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Private John Allen's candidacy for the United States Senatorship in Mississippi appears to have been merely a campaign jest though at one time he seemed to be terribly in earnest.—San Antonio (Tex.) Express.

In his groping after "Duty and Destiny" Mr. McKinley has succeeded in inflicting some severe wounds upon the constitution and hitherto cherished and established institutions of the United States.—Baltimore Sun.

Kansas and Nebraska are going to have a record breaking corn crop and politicians will soon be telling the happy farmers that their prosperity is due to the Dingley bill and Mr. McKinley's war policy.—Minneapolis Times.

It would be good news to hear that Tom Reed had decided to continue to be a power in the nation rather than a cipher in the race after a dollar mark in that graveyard of national reputations—New York.—Chicago Times Herald.

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

Industrial Problem the Theme of Dr. Talmage's Sermon.

Tells How the Continual War Between Them May Be Ended—Lessons Drawn from Recent Strikes.

[Copyright, 1899, by Louis Klopsch.]

In this discourse Dr. Talmage suggests how the everlasting war between capital and labor may be brought to a happy end. The text is I. Corinthians 12:21: "The eye cannot say unto the hand, I have no need of thee."

Fifty thousand workmen in Chicago ceasing work in one day, Brooklyn stunned by the attempt to halt its railroad cars, Cleveland in the throes of a labor agitation and restlessness among toilers all over the land have caused an epidemic of strikes, and somewhat to better things I apply the Pauline thought of my text.

You have seen an elaborate piece of machinery, with a thousand wheels and a thousand bands and a thousand pulleys, all controlled by one great water wheel, the machinery so adjusted that when you jar one part of it you jar all parts of it. Well, human society is a great piece of mechanism controlled by one great and ever revolving force—the wheel of God's providence. You harm one part of the machinery and you harm all parts. All professions, interdependent. All trades interdependent. All classes of people interdependent. Capital and labor interdependent. No such thing as independence. Dives cannot kick Lazarus without hurting his own foot. They who threw Shadrach into the furnace got their own bodies scorched. Or to come back to the figure of the text, what a strange thing it would be if the eye should say: I oversee the entire physical mechanism. I despise the other members of the body. If there is anything I am disgusted with, it is with those miserable, low lived hands. Or what if the hand should say: I am the boss workman of the whole physical economy. I have no respect for the other members of the body. If there is anything I despise, it is the eye, seated under the dome of the forehead, doing nothing but look.

I come in, and I wave the flag of truce between the two contestants, and I say: "The eye cannot say to the hand: 'I have no need of thee.'"

That brings me to the first suggestion, and that is, that labor and capital are to be brought to a better understanding by a complete canvass of the whole subject. They will be brought to peace when they find that they are identical in their interests. When one goes down, they both go down. When one rises, they both rise. There will be an equilibrium after awhile. There never has been an exception to the rule. That which is good for one class of society will be good for all, and that which is bad for one class will eventually and in time be bad for all. Every speech that labor makes against capital postpones the day of permanent adjustment. Every speech that capital makes against labor postpones the day of permanent adjustment. When capital maligns labor, it is the eye cursing the hand. When labor maligns capital, it is the hand cursing the eye. As far as I have observed, the vast majority of capitalists are successful laborers. If the capitalists would draw their glove, you would see the broken finger nail, the scar of an old blister, the stiffened finger joint. The great publishers of the country for the most part were bookbinders or typesetters on small pay. The great carriage manufacturers for the most part sandpapered wagon bodies in wheelwright shops.

While, on the other hand, in all our large manufacturing establishments you will find men working on wages who once employed 100 or 500 hands. The distance between capital and labor is not a great gulf over which is swung a Niagara suspension bridge. It is only a step, and the capitalists are crossing over to become laborers, and the laborers are crossing over to become capitalists. Would God they might shake hands while they cross. On the other hand, laborers are the highest style of capitalists. Where are their investments? In banks? No. In the railroads? No. Their nerve, their muscle, their bone, their mechanical skill, their physical health, are magnificent capital. He who has two eyes, two ears, two feet, two hands, ten fingers, has machinery that puts into nothingness carpet and screw and cotton factory and all the other implements on the planet. The capitalists were laborers, the laborers were capitalists. The sooner we understand that the better.

Again, there is to come relief to the laboring classes of this country through cooperative associations. I am not at this moment speaking of trades unions, but of that plan by which laborers put their surplus together and become their own capitalists. Instead of being dependent upon the beck of this capitalist or that capitalist, they manage their own affairs. In England and Wales there are 813 cooperative associations. They have 340,000 members. They have a capital of $18,000,000, or what corresponds to our dollars, and they do a business annually of $63,000,000. Thomas Brassey, one of the foremost men in the British parliament, on the subject says: "Cooperation is the one and the only relief for the laboring populations. This is the path," he says, "by which they are to come up from the hand to the mouth style of living to reap the rewards and the honors of our advanced civilization." Lord Derby and John Stuart Mill, who gave half their lives to the study of the labor question, believed in cooperative institutions. The cooperative institution formed in Troy, N. Y., stood long enough to illustrate the fact that great good might come of such an institution if it were rightly carried on and mightily developed.

"But," says some one, "haven't these institutions sometimes been a failure?" Yes. Every great movement has been a failure at some time. Application of the steam power a failure, electro-telegraphy a failure, railroading a failure, but now the chief successes of the world.

"But," says some one, "why talk of surplus being put by laborers into cooperative associations, when the vast multitude of toilers in this country are struggling for their daily bread and have no surplus?" I reply: Put into my hand the money spent by the laboring classes of America for rum and tobacco, and I will establish cooperative associations in all parts of the land, some of them mightier than any financial institutions of the country. We spend in this country over $100,000,000 every year for tobacco. We spend over $1,500,000,000 directly or indirectly for rum. The laboring classes spend their share of this money. Now, suppose the laboring man who has been expending his money in those directions should just add up how much he has expended during these past years and then suppose that that money was put into a cooperative association and then suppose he should have all his friends in toll, who had made the same kind of expenditure, do the same thing, and that should be added up and put into a cooperative association. And then take all that money expended for overdress and overstyle and overliving on the part of toiling people in order that they may appear as well as persons who have more income—gather that all up, and you could have cooperative associations all over this land.

I am not saying anything now about trades unions. You want to know what I think of trades unions. I think they are most beneficial in some directions, and they have a specific object and in this day, when there are vast monopolies—a thousand monopolies concentrating the wealth of the people into the possession of a few men, unless the laboring men of this country and all countries band together they will go under. There is a lawful use of a trade union, but then there is an unlawful use of a trade union. If it means sympathy in time of sickness, if it means finding work for people when they are out of work, if it means the improvement of the financial, the moral or the religious condition of the laboring classes, that is all right. Do not artists band together in an art union? Do not singers band together in Handel and Haydn societies? Do not newspaper men band together in press clubs? Do not ministers of religion band together in conferences and associations? There is not in all the land a city where clergymen do not come together, many of them once a week, to talk over affairs. For these reasons you should not blame labor guilds. When they are doing their legitimate work, they are most admirable, but when they come around with drum and fife and flag and drive people off from their toil, from their scaffoldings, from their factories, then they are nihilistic, then they are communistic, then they are barbaric, then they are a curse. If a man wants to stop work, let him stop work, but he cannot stop me from work.

But now suppose that all the laboring classes banded together for beneficient purposes in co-operative association under whatever name they put their means together. Suppose they take the money that they waste in rum and tobacco and use it for the elevation of their families, for the education of their children, for their moral, intellectual and religious improvement, what a different state of things we would have in this country and they would have in Great Britain!

Do you not realize the fact that men work better without stimulant? You say, "Will you deny the laboring men this help which they get from strong drink, borne down as they are with many anxieties and exhausting work?" I would deny them nothing that is good for them. I would deny them strong drink, if I had the power, because it is damaging to them. My father said: "I became a temperance man in early life because I found that in the harvest field, while I was naturally weaker than the other men, I could hold out longer than any of them. They took stimulant and I took none."

I know a gentleman very well who has over 1,000 hands in his employ. I said to him some years ago when there was great trouble in the labor market: "How are you getting on with your men?" "Oh," he said, "I have no trouble." "Why," I said, "have not you had any strikes?" "Oh, no," he said. "I never had any trouble." "What plan do you pursue?" He said: "I will tell you. All my men know every year just how matters stand. Every little while I call them together and say: 'Now, boys, last year I made so much; this year I made less; so you see I cannot pay as much as I did last year. Now, I want to know what you think I ought to have as a percentage out of this establishment and what wages I ought to give you. You know I put all my energy in this business, put all my fortune in it and risked everything. What do you really think I ought to have and you ought to have?' By the time we come out of that consultation we are unanimous. There never has been an exception. When we prosper, we all prosper together; when we suffer, we all suffer together, and my men would die for me." Now, let all employers be frank with their employes. Take them into your confidence. Let them know just how matters stand. There is an immense amount of common sense in the world. It is always safe to appeal to it.

I remark, again, great relief will come to the laboring classes of this country through the religious rectification of it. Labor is honored and rewarded in proportion as a community is Christianized. Why is it that our smallest coin in this country is a penny, while in China it takes a half dozen pieces of coin or a dozen to make one of our pennies in value, so the Chinese carry the cash, as they call it, like a string of beads around the neck? We never want to pay less than a penny for anything in this country. They must pay that which is worth only the sixth part or the twelfth part of a penny. Heathenism and iniquity and infidelity depress everything. The Gospel of Jesus Christ elevates everything. How do I account for this? I account for it with the plainest philosophy. The religion of Jesus Christ is a democratic religion. It tells the employer that he is a brother to all the operatives in the establishment—made by the same God; to lie in the same dust and to be saved by the same supreme mercy. It does not make the slightest difference how much money you have, you cannot buy your way into the kingdom of Heaven. If you have the grace of God in your heart you will enter Heaven. So you see it is a democratic religion. Saturate our populations with this gospel, and labor will be respectful, labor will be rewarded, labor will be honored, capital will be Christian in all its behavior, and there will be higher tides of thrift set in.

Let me say a word to all capitalists: Be your own executors. Make investments for eternity. Do not be like some of those capitalists I know who walk around among their employes with a supercilious air or drive up to the factory in a manner which seems to indicate they are the autocrat of the universe, with the sun and moon in their vest pockets, chiefly anxious when they go among laboring men not to be touched by the greasy or smirched hand and have their broadcloth injured. Be a Christian employer. Remember those who are under your charge are bone of your bone and flesh of your flesh, that Jesus Christ died for them and that they are immortal. Divide up your estates, or portions of them, for the relief of the world before you leave it. Do not get out of the world like that man who died in New York leaving in his will $40,000,000, yet giving how much for the church of God, how much for the alleviation of human suffering? He gave some money a little while before he died. That was well, but in all this will of $40,000,000 how much? One million? No. Five hundred thousand? No. One hundred dollars? No. Two cents? No. One cent? No. These great cities groaning in anguish, nations crying out for the bread of everlasting life. A man in a will giving $40,000,000 and not one cent to God? It is a disgrace to our civilization. Or, as illustrated in a letter which I have concerning a man who departed this life leaving between $5,000,000 and $8,000,000. Not one dollar was left, this writer says, to comfort the aged workmen and workwomen, not one dollar to elevate and instruct the hundreds of pale children who stifled their childish growth in the heat and clamor of his factory. Is it strange that the curse of the children of toil follows such ingratitude? How well could one of his many millions have been disbursed for the present and the future benefit of those whose hands had woven literally the fabric of the dead man's princely fortune. O capitalists of the United States, be your own executors! Be a George Peabody, if need be, on a small scale. God has made you a steward. Discharge your responsibility.

My word is to all laboring men in this country: I congratulate you at your brightening prospects. I congratulate you on the fact that you are getting your representatives at Albany, at Harrisburg and at Washington. I have only to mention such a man of the past as Henry Wilson, the shoemaker; as Andrew Johnson, the tailor; as Abraham Lincoln, the boatman. The living illustrations easily occur to you. This will go on until you have representatives at all the headquarters, and you will have full justice. Mark that. I congratulate you also at the opportunities for your children. I congratulate you that you have to work and that when you are dead your children will have to work.

I congratulate you also on your opportunities for information. Plato paid $1,300 for two books. Jerome ruined himself financially by buying one volume of "Origen." What vast opportunities for intelligence for you and your children! A workingman goes along by the show window of some great publishing house, and he sees a book that costs five dollars. He says: "I wish I could have that information. I wish I could raise five dollars for that costly and beautiful book." A few months pass on, and he gets the value of that book for 25 cents in a pamphlet. There never was such a day for the workingmen of America as this day and the day that is coming.

I also congratulate you because your work is only prefatory and introductory. You want the grace of Jesus Christ, the Carpenter of Nazareth. He toiled Himself, and He knows how to sympathize with all who toil. Get His grace in your heart, and you can sing on the scaffolding amid the storm, in the shop shoving the plane, in the mine plunging the crowbar, on shipboard climbing the rattlines. He will make the drops of sweat on your brow glitter like pearls for the eternal coronet. Are you tired? He will rest you. Are you sick? He will give you help. Are you cold? He will wrap you in the mantle of His love. Who are they before the throne? "Ah," you say, "their hands were never calloused with toil!" Yes, they were. You say: "Their feet were never blistered with the long journey." Yes, they were, but Christ raised them to that high eminence. Who are these? "These are they that came out of great tribulation and had their robes washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb." That for every Christian workingman and for every Christian working woman will be the beginning of eternal holiday.

Hash affords us an example of an end without means.—Chicago Daily News.

WEYLER'S DEADLY RULE.

Six Hundred Thousand Cubans Starved to Death by That Conscienceless Official.

After having served five months in Cuba, during which time he took occasion to investigate the condition of the rural districts of the island, Gen. J. Warren Keifer is convinced of the truth of the statement that 600,000 Cubans were starved to death by Gen. Weyler's reconcentration plan. Gen. Keifer told a Tribune reporter about some of the things he saw in Cuba which bear out the horrible stories of Spanish cruelty that have appeared in the newspapers from time to time.

"Among other things," said the general, "I saw a rough coffin, attached to an ordinary push cart, which, I was informed, had been used to haul to the dumping grounds the bodies of 5,000 reconcentrados. At Guines, a small town southeast of Havana, a cemetery was shown to me where 12,500 bodies are buried. Within an hour's journey of the city of Havana I have traveled for ten miles without seeing a living soul, and this in a section that was once well populated. Three miles from the town of Guines are the Providencia sugar mills, a large concern owned by two brothers—Spaniards.

"One day last February I rode out to the mills. The proprietors and a small force of workmen were inspecting the machinery, preparatory to starting up operations after the long season of idleness. A veritable village of crude little huts surrounded the mills, but I noticed that they were all empty. With a view to finding out what had become of their occupants, I entered into conversation with one of the brothers.

"'I suppose you have no trouble in getting workmen here?' said I, as a starter.

"'Oh, yes!' he replied; 'that is the greatest difficulty we have to contend with!'

"'But what has become of the occupants of all these huts?' I asked.

"He looked at me sharply for a moment, and then answered: 'They have died within the past year—2,500 of them.'

"On another occasion, in company with my chief surgeon, Dr. Kane, of the regular army, I paid a visit to a reconcentrado hospital in Guines. We found probably 250 miserable wrecks, mostly women and children, who had survived their barbarous treatment.

"But Dr. Kane and I agreed that it would have been far better for them if they had died. I did not know before that starvation was capable of distorting the human frame so frightfully. There were children with one leg swollen to twice its natural size and the other shrunken to skin and bones. Women whose bodies were so emaciated that it seemed impossible that life could find a foothold in them lay about the floor. We had brought them some rice and hardtack, and the eagerness with which they devoured it was pitiful to see. Our visit was a short one. I have seen many dreadful sights, but never anything that moved me as did that reconcentrado hospital. It is an actual fact that the thought of it kept me awake all night. Nine-tenths of the reconcentrados who died were rural people, and as a consequence the great, fertile valleys of Cuba have been almost depopulated."—N. Y. Tribune.

A SEA SERPENT DELUSION.

Had It Not Been for a Handy Telescope All Hands Would Have Sworn to It.

Many persons have professed to have seen sea serpents, and, while the general belief is that there are no such creatures, it is quite likely that those who claim to have seen them did not see things which they honestly and very naturally believed to be sea serpents. A striking example of the manner in which persons may be deceived in this matter has just been given by Dr. R. du Bois-Raymond in a paper, in which he describes his experiences on board of the Serapis in October, 1890.

It was rather a foggy morning, and the water was as smooth as glass. The vessel was going through the Magellan straits, and the hours passed monotonously, until suddenly the passengers noticed an extraordinary object in the water some distance away. At once the cry arose that it could be nothing but a sea serpent, and indeed there seemed to be excellent ground for this statement, since the object was certainly alive, and as it moved through the water presented all the appearance of an immense snake. That it had a huge head was clear to everyone, and that it was possessed of an enormous body was manifest from the manner in which it splashed the water on all sides.

A powerful telescope was procured and the uncanny object was studied through it. Then its true character was at once revealed. Instead of being a sea serpent it was simply a herd of sea lions. The animals were clustered close together, and as they gamboled and moved through the water they certainly presented the appearance of a long and bulky snake. If they had been at a greater distance it would have been quite difficult to discover what they really were, and it is not impossible that the passengers would forever have remained convinced that they had actually seen the wonderful sea serpent. — Chicago Times-Herald.

His Distinguishing Mark.

Miss Caustique—So you are engaged to that Mr. Atkinson, are you? Now, tell me honestly, what can you see in him that distinguishes him from all other men in the world whom you have ever met?

Miss Passee (with unlooked-for frankness)—He asked me to be his wife.—Tit-Bits.

NOT THE ONLY ISSUE.

There Is Plenty of Material for the Democrats to Use in the Next Campaign.

Isn't it about time that democratic newspapers and democratic politicians arrived at some sensible understanding as to the democratic rights and privileges of the men who will compose the next national convention? That issues cannot be made by politicians has been said by so many of them in so many different ways that it would seem idle to repeat the assertion were it not for the continued nonsense one reads in gold standard journals about the effort in democratic circles to betray Bryan and silver.

Nobody ever charged that the democratic convention of 1896 was disloyal to the tariff reform idea. That convention declared for the free coinage of silver and for a tariff for revenue at one and the same time, and the very men who were foremost in insisting that a strong free coinage plank be incorporated in the platform had been the most conspicuous advocates of the Wilson law. They were broad enough to understand that a great party must stand for something more than a single idea, and the convention which nominated Mr. Bryan so declared. The same Altgeld who is now leading a faction in Chicago which has put buttons on its followers and labeled them "Bryan —sixteen to one" had as much to do with making the platform of 1896 as any other one man in the democratic party. No one then charged that Altgeld was lukewarm in his advocacy of free silver coinage, and yet Altgeld's sole fight in that convention was to have incorporated in the national platform a plank denouncing government by injunction and the interference of federal troops.

As it was in 1896 so it will be in 1900. The delegates who will speak for the democratic party will be loyal bimetallists. They will be earnest tariff reformers and will be ready to denounce the encroachments of the federal authorities on the liberties of the people. This was democratic doctrine in 1896 and it will be democratic doctrine in 1900. But as the developments in the great Illinois and other strikes caused the national convention of 1896 to declare against federal interference in local affairs and make that question an issue, so far as the democratic party was concerned, so will the overcapitalization and unprecedented formation of trusts cause the democratic party in 1900 to demand their regulation by national legislation. And because the present administration has plunged us into an unholy war of conquest and threatened the stability of the republic with a pernicious policy of imperialism the democratic convention will speak in such language that all the people can understand what the policy of the party will be if intrusted with the reins of government.

There has not been a period approaching a national convention since the war when there was so little friction among democrats regarding the proposed main planks in the national platform. And, just as the republican convention will declare for something else beside the gold standard, so will the democratic party declare for something more than free silver coinage, and the campaign will be fought to a finish on the issues which are of the most concern to the people.—Kansas City Times.

HANNA'S RETIREMENT.

No Likelihood of the Withdrawal of the Rule Boss from Money Making.

The announcements that Mark Hanna is "retiring from business" suggest the inquiry, How is it possible for a man of large fortune to "retire from business" without giving up his fortune?

Time was when a man with all his property in farms could intrust it to the management of agents, and if he had exercised sound judgment in selecting honest agents could be sure of some sort of income. And at present it is possible for a man of moderate means to transact no more business than the signing of dividend checks and looking after an occasional change of investment.

But nowadays the man of great fortune, no matter how it is invested, dares not retire. Honesty is not the only quality essential in the agent of the present day, although it is still and ever will be the prime essential. He must have capacity for delicate and ever-changing and ever more complicated commercial affairs. Such agents soon cease to be agents and become millionaires. So the multi-millionaire must be ever watchful, ever hard at work, ever watching to root out the germs of those wings which riches now more than ever before tend to sprout that they may take flight.

Hanna may be shifting the form of his investments. But neither he nor any other modern multi-millionaire will ever "retire from business" or cease to be a mighty hard-working man so long as he stays above ground and stays rich.—N. Y. World.

——Mr. McKinley may make himself easy about Admiral Dewey. The hero of Cavite is not such a sauitnrian inmate as to forsake the best thing an American citizen ever had in the line of praise or position to essay the doubtful chances of a presidential struggle. He might win it, to be sure, and find Kohlsaats, Algers and Hannas to pay the freight, but the influence and opportunities of the chief magistracy are nothing to a man like Dewey. More power to the likes of him!—Washington Times.

——McKinley is hunting for a general without political aspirations to send to the Philippines. He is afraid that the man who subdues Aguinaldo might become a dangerous candidate against him in the next national republican convention.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

REVILED AT HOME.

Even the Republican Press Has Had a Fling at Its Weak Head.

"The weakest president since Buchanan," the New York Herald (ind.) calls President McKinley. "A hesitating president" is what the republican New York Tribune calls him. "Is there no one else?" asks the republican Portland Oregonian, as it contemplates the apparent mediocrity of Mr. McKinley's renomination, and wonders, "If the republicans think they have a walkover for 1900, do they propose to go out of business in 1904?" The Oregonian goes on to say:

"Now is the time to take into account the certain impression made upon such of our people as are neither office-holders nor office-seekers, by the administration of William McKinley. Is there no one else?

"It is an imperfect world, and we must deal with voters as we find them. It would be of all things most lamentable and to be opposed tooth and nail that a candidate running on the reiterated chicago platform should be elected. But we must reckon with the impulses as well as the reason of the people. It may not be possible to placate all that are enraged at apathy to the gold standard; at betrayal of the civil service; at sacrifice of the army; at neglect of Alaska; at disastrous delays in Luzon; at appointments of unfit men for office. The people like a man that doesn't try to evade, and delay, and equivocate, and try to carry water on both shoulders. They don't like a man that will tell his cabinet officer he wants him to stay, and get two or three go-betweens to tell him he wants him to go. They like a man that has the decision to act and the courage to speak."

The New York Tribune, the foremost republican organ of them all, in similar vein remarks that "if President McKinley has erred, it has been in hesitating to assert his own undoubted prerogatives." The Tribune takes no stock in the assertion that a lawyer was needed for secretary of war, and says:

"Congress has plenty of lawyers in its own membership. If it should not choose to adopt their suggestions, it could readily obtain suggestions from others. Neither congress nor the country is so thoroughly satisfied with the actual work legitimately done by the war department under its recent head as to receive with equanimity the extraordinary statement that a new head has been chosen for it not so much with reference to improving its necessary and imperative services, but expressly with a view to doing something else which primarily belongs to the senate and house of representatives."

So much for the claim, constantly paraded, that President McKinley has no opposition, no critics, within his own party. His very weakness has proved his strength with the patronage-chaffering, nomination-making bosses of the republican party. The Platts, the Quays, and the Hannas of course admire a president who will abdicate his power of appointment in their behalf. But the thinking element of the republican party, although they do not pack primaries, deliver delegates, or control conventions, have taken the measure of President McKinley; and enough of them will vote against him to defeat his reelection, if the democracy is wise.

President McKinley may even find that, so far as the nomination itself is concerned, he has sold his birthright for not even a mess of pottage. The Platts, the Hannas and the Quays would not hesitate to knife him in a minute, should self-interest so dictate.—Albany Argus.

ALGERISM STILL AN ISSUE.

The Administration's Record Cannot Be Cleared of the Black Spot.

Two of Senator McMillan's business partners and avowed friends made liberal contributions to the fund with which the expenses of the "Alger welcome" to Detroit were to be defrayed. One of them accompanied his check with a note expressing "contempt for President McKinley and his cowardly treatment of Gen. Alger." The donator also hoped "the reception will be the biggest thing on record."

Neither President McKinley nor his supporters need have cause to regard this, or the numerous other manifestations in Michigan, seriously. The strange ways of Michigan politics may be past finding out, but there is nothing in this particular kind of ebullition either strange or threatening. It is exactly of a piece with the "sympathy" which Senator McMillan recently expressed for Alger when the latter was forced by the pressure of public opinion to retire from the cabinet.

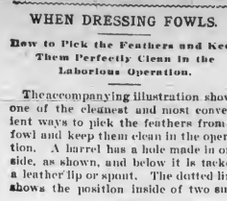
Tactics of this sort cannot divert the issue of Algerism in Michigan any more than in other parts of the country. Alger is gone, but Algerism remains to plague the administration, as witness Eagen. It may be possible that sufficient woe can be worked up in Michigan to send Alger to the senate, but that will not cleanse the administration's record of Algerism.—Washington Times.

POINTS AND OPINIONS.

——If Hanna has really "given up business" he's out of politics.—N. Y. World.

——An "anti-Hanna republican" has been nominated for office in Green county, Ohio. A flock of white crows has also been seen; hens are cutting full sets of teeth, and the democrats expect to carry Vermont.—Albany Argus.

——President McKinley is as responsible for the conduct of the war department as Mr. Alger. He has known how that department was administered and nothing has been done without his sanction. The retirement of Alger, therefore, will in no measure be an expiation of the sins of the administration.—Baltimore Sun.



——If Mr. McKinley had asked the secretary of war to retire a year ago, when the demonstration of his utter unfitness was complete, he would have saved his administration from the odium of Algerism. But by retaining and sustaining him until he voluntarily retires the president has made himself responsible for Alger's offenses and shortcomings.—N. Y. World.

AGRICULTURAL HINTS.

WHEN DRESSING FOWLS.

How to Pick the Feathers and Keep Them Perfectly Clean in the Laborious Operation.

The accompanying illustration shows one of the cleanest and most convenient ways to pick the feathers from a fowl and keep them clean in the operation. A barrel has a hole made in one side, as shown, and below it is tacked a leather lip or spout. The dotted line shows the position inside of two supports, between which the fowl is laid while being picked. The head projects from the opening, and all blood drains into the pail outside the barrel. As the feathers are plucked they fall into the bottom of the barrel, and are thus entirely unstained. The picker sits on a box or stool at one side of the barrel. If more room is desired within the barrel, saw off the top down nearly to the middle, thus giving a larger opening. Hen's feathers do not bring a large sum, but they should always be saved, either for home use or for the sum which they will bring, which is really clear gain.—N. Y. Tribune.

HOW TO SAVE THE FEATHERS.

SORGHUM GOOD FEED.

Sugar Cane Is Pronounced an Almost Perfect Ration for Cows Suckling Calves.

Some are inquiring about sugar cane for feed. We planted about ten acres last year, writes Tom Ponting in Breeders' Gazette, drilling it in with acorn planter. We fixed the plates so it would drop about three seeds in a place and tended it as we do corn. We cut and bound it with a corn-harvester. You must be very careful in putting it in shock as the tops are so heavy it will fall over. We had no trouble in curing ours, but we had to let it stand in the field until we were ready to feed it. It has so very much moisture in it that it cannot be piled together until very late in the season. I think it made six tons to the acre after it was cured. I would like to ask some one who has the most feeding quality, sugar cane or Kaffir corn? We bought a little Kaffir corn at a sale the other day and our herdsman does not think there is as much feeding quality in the corn as there is in the cane. If there is I would like to plant about half Kaffir corn instead of so much sugar cane. The trouble with sugar cane in this black soil is that it gets so tall that the wind blows it over. Kaffir corn will not do this. I think the sugar cane is grand feed for cows suckling calves; it increases the richness and increases the flow of milk. We fed a grade heifer on sugar cane alone to try it and I never ate a better piece of beef than she made.

EXTRACTED HONEY.

In Ordinary Circumstances It Brings More Satisfactory Returns Than Comb Honey.

It is no doubt a fact that extracted honey is most profitable for a large majority of the bee-keepers of the country because they are in a measure at the mercy of dealers who will not pay the price that extra fine comb honey is worth, being obliged to pay a nearly level price for all that comes to them, because they have neither time nor inclination to seek for the best, preferring to sell in lump lots. For the bee-keeper who is near a large town or city there is a place to dispose of extra white comb honey at a price that will make it an object to sell in sections.

The ordinary section contains about 14 ounces of honey, worth, when extracted, not more than seven cents. If the comb is nice and white and the sections neatly filled they may be sold for anywhere from 20 to 30 cents a section. Wherever there are people who can afford to indulge their taste for the best and finest-looking products for their table, there will be found a market for all the first-class comb honey that is offered at a price that will make extracting a losing operation. Where comb honey must be sold for ten cents a pound and extracted brings seven or eight cents, the bee-keeper cannot afford to sell the comb, as it costs too much time to make it, every pound of comb taking as much time to make as ten pounds of honey.—Farmers' Voice.

Why the Bees Swarm.

Bees swarm because they lack room in the hive. The old queen and the workers leave and give up the hive to the younger bees. To prevent swarming add more space at the top, so that the workers can be provided with storage room. It is better to have one strong colony than two weak ones, as the bees can then more easily protect themselves against enemies when they are numerous. At this season the bees can find plenty of honey plants, but later on they are compelled to travel to greater distances, and many are thus destroyed, for which reason the colony should be strong.

SELECTION OF SEED.

How Improved Varieties of Wheat Are Being Bred by the Kansas Agricultural College.

It is common among corn raisers to maintain or improve a given variety by selection of the seed. Ears showing desirable characters are set aside and furnish seed for the succeeding crop. Though not so convenient, this method can be applied with equal success to the selection of seed wheat. The experiment station of the Kansas state agricultural college is endeavoring to breed up improved varieties of wheat. There is no reason why the simple method of selection should not be applied by the individual wheat raiser. We would advise the following procedure: Before harvesting, the grower should go into the wheat field and select a number of the most desirable heads. The basis of selection depends upon the wishes of the individual, but is carried on as in the case of corn. Usually it will be upon the basis of yield and quality. In this case the heads selected should be large, well-formed and with plump uniform grains. The grain derived from these heads should be grown upon a plot of ground under the most favorable conditions. The grain gathered from this plat furnishes the seed for the third year. But before harvesting a selection of suitable heads should be made from this for the next seed plot. In this way the seed is each year improved or at least maintained at its present standard. The size of the seed plot depends upon the total acreage of wheat to be grown. Furthermore the seed plot may be given much more careful treatment than is applicable to the field. It is best to have the seed plot within the main field so as to be entirely surrounded by wheat. This lessens the loss from grasshoppers and other insects, and gives the plants better protection.—Farmers' Review.

CORN FOR FODDER.

It Should Be Cut at the Proper Time If Really Profitable Results Are to Be Secured.

When corn is at its best, the glazing stage, it has a value of say 100 per cent, —45 per cent. of this will be in the ear and 55 per cent. will be in the stock and leaves. Of the 55 per cent. in the stalk and leaves, 60 per cent will be in the stalk below the ear, which will be 33 per cent. of the whole value. The feeding value of the ear is mostly in starch, in the stalk it is in the form of sugar. From the glazing stage to full curing the changes in the stalk are all against the feeder, for while the sugar is all digestible, in the ripening and curing process it gradually changes to starch and woody fiber, and becomes less and less digestible, and thus loses much of its feeding value. While the stalk at its best was filled with sweet juice, that fully cured, found in the rick or shock, has not a trace of sweetness left, but has changed to wood or been washed out; hence we see how important it is that corn fodder be cut at the proper time and handled in the proper way to secure the very best returns. Upon this point experiments conducted at the Oklahoma station showed that corn fodder left in the fields until required for feeding purposes loses much of its feeding value, but how large a proportion is not often considered by a large number of farmers. The results of these tests showed a considerable reduction in the feeding value of the corn stover, equal in the opinion of those who conducted the tests to fully one-fourth of its original worth, with a corresponding increase in the crude fiber which is the least valuable part of the corn.—Prairie Farmer.

HANDY FARM GRANARY.

It Will Cost Not More Than $75, and Can Be Constructed by Any Intelligent Farmer.

I send you a brief sketch and description of a granary I recently constructed. While it is not original with me, yet it may be new in some localities. The frame requires about 1,500 feet of rough lumber and about 1,200 to 1,400 feet of siding, flooring, etc. A fraction less than four squares of roof is required. If anyone may desire it, I can give exact bills of lumber and method of construction, etc. It will cost about $60 to $75, and can be constructed by anyone of ordinary ability, as I built my own. Size, 12x24, height, eight feet to square. The foundation is built of block pillars, eight in number, with floor of granary about on level with ordinary height wagon bed bottom, making it easy to load and unload. All siding, flooring, etc., is good quality southern pine, which is said to be mouse and rat proof. Roof, galvanized steel.—C. R. Wagner, in Ohio Farmer.

WELL-PLANNED GRANARY.

All Extra Work Counts.

It is always the extra work required to produce the best that pays on the farm. In this, however, it is only the rule which holds good everywhere else. The world is full of slipshod, lazy workers—men who really do not want to do any work, but who under compulsion do just as little as they can and still pass. Thousands of farmers object to certain crops, because to work on them is very disagreeable. What they want is the crop that is most easily grown. Such crops are always low in price, precisely because of this habit of human nature to seek the easiest jobs, forgetting that precisely because they are easy jobs they are always overcrowded with applicants.—American Cultivator.

TICKED FIVE CENTURIES.

The Famous Old Town Clock in Rouen Has Kept Time for 510 Years.

Rouen, one of the principal cities of France, and the greatest seat of its cotton manufacture, possesses the oldest public clock in the world. The great Rouen clock has held its place in that city for 510 years and is the pride of its citizens. Placed in 1389, it has been running without interruption from that day to this, requiring nothing except cleaning and a few trifling repairs of its accessory parts. The great clock had so accustomed the citizens to look upon its exactitude as a matter of course that when, in 1572, the breaking of a wire prevented its sounding five o'clock one morning, the population was in a state of consternation.

The magistrates summoned the custodian—Guillaume Petit—and remonstrated gravely with him. Until 1712 the great clock had no pendulum. For 323 years it had no other regulator than a "foliot," an apparatus unknown to the majority of modern clockmakers. The pendulum in clockwork was introduced in 1659, but so well satisfied were the people of Rouen with the time-keeping qualities of their famous old clock that 53 years were allowed to pass before a pendulum was substituted for the "foliot." Equipped with this new apparatus it has continued to this day to strike the hours and chime the quarters.

AMERICAN GIRL'S RETORT.

Her Quick Wit and Knowledge of French Once Stood Her in Good Stead.

As one of our countrywomen was going down the rather narrow stairs that lead from the house to the garden, at the American embassy, she met three or four young attaches of foreign legations, who were entire strangers to her, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Their politeness induced them to stand aside for her to pass, but their courtesy did not prevent their making audible personal comments. They seemed to take it for granted that French was an unknown tongue to Americans.

"Look at her yellow dress; it's very pretty," said No. 1.

"Yes, but she has on white gloves," announced No. 2.

"She has good teeth," said No. 3.

"And an enormous mouth," added No. 4.

"And she understands French perfectly," said the owner of the enormous mouth, turning suddenly upon them, "and would like to say that her ears are even bigger than her mouth." This in French and with such an air of giving personal information to nobody in particular, that it was quite as if she had been kindly helping strangers to information out of a guide book.

The men had just enough presence of mind to flee the premises.

Why Women Fight Seasickness.

"Are women more subject to seasickness than men?" An Atlantic captain replies: "Yes, but, on the other hand, they stand it better. A woman struggles up to the point of despair against the—what I might call the impropriety of the thing. She isn't so much tortured by the pangs as she is worried by the prospect of becoming disheveled, haggard and draggled. She fights against it to the last and keeps up appearances as long as she can hold up her head."

Typhoid from Flies.

Dr. H. O. Howard, the entomologist of the agricultural department, is credited by a Washington correspondent with saying that it is the judgment of the highest authorities that a considerable part of the typhoid in camps during the Spanish war was due to the flies, which carried the contagion.

THE MARKETS.

	CINCINNATI, Aug. 14.
LIVESTOCK—Cattle, common	$ 2 25	@ 4 10
Select butchers	4 10	@ 4 60
CALVES—Fair to good light	6 50	@ 7 50
HOGS—Coarse and heavy	3 85	@ 4 10
Mixed packers	4 35	@ 4 55
Light shippers	4 50	@ 4 70
SHEEP—Choice	4 00	@ 4 15
LAMBS—Spring	5 00	@ 6 50
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 25	@ 3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 66
No. 3 red		@ 60
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 35½
Oats—No. 2		@ 22½
Rye—No. 2		@ 56
HAY—Prime to choice		@10 25
PROVISIONS—Mess pork		@ 9 50
Lard		@ 5 10
BUTTER—Choice dairy		@ 12
Choice creamery		@ 18
APPLES—Choice to fancy	1 25	@ 1 50
POTATOES—New, per bu	1 35	@ 1 50
CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter Patent	$ 45	@ 3 75
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 70½
No. 2 Chicago Spring	67½	@ 69½
CORN—No. 2		@ 31½
OATS—No. 2	21	@ 21½
PORK—Mess	7 50	@ 8 50
LARD—Steam	5 10	@ 5 25
NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 60	@ 3 80
WHEAT—No. 2 red		@ 77
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@ 38
RYE		@ 56½
OATS—Mixed		@ 27
PORK—New Mess	11 00	@12 00
LARD—Western		@ 5 37½
BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	$ 35	@ 3 50
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	71½	@ 71½
Southern	68	@ 72
Corn—Mixed	35½	@ 35½
Oats—No. 2 white	27	@ 27½
Rye—No. 2 western		@ 51½
CATTLE—Prime quality	4 80	@ 5 10
HOGS—Western	4 90	@ 5 10
INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 68½
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 32½
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@ 21
LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patent	$ 40	@ 3 55
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 70
Corn—Mixed	34	@ 34½
Oat—Mixed		@ 31½
PORK—Mess		@ 9 00
LARD—Steam		@ 6 55

LAWYER'S ODD CLIENT.

He Did Not Want Advice, But Paid for the Privilege of Talking for One Hour.

A junior member of a Dearborn street law firm, reports the Chicago Tribune, tells this story of one of his first clients:

"I had just been appointed junior member of the firm and relieved the older members by looking after the minor cases. One day a well-appearing man called at the office and inquired if I could give him an hour of my time and what would be the cost. I told him, and he accepted the terms, but added: "This is not to be a consultation. I do not want advice or assistance. I know perfectly well what I am going to do, but I want to talk. I have no friend to whom I can unburden myself, but if I pay you to listen I shall have a right to talk to you freely for the time agreed upon.'

"I agreed to this strange proposition and appointed an hour at noon the following day. The man came promptly, and I took out cigars and told the office boy we were not to be disturbed for an hour.

"'Mind,' the man said, 'I don't want you to interrupt me. I am paying you to listen.'

"Then he began. For one hour he talked as one who never in his life had unburdened himself to a sympathetic listener. I listened without saying a word. When the clock struck one the man ceased talking, paid his fee, took up his hat and walked out.

"Six months later, looking over the daily paper, the story of a suicide at one of the hotels attracted my attention. The name was that of my talkative client. I have always believed that if he had had some one to talk to again he would not have committed suicide."

HER PENCIL GAVE HER AWAY.

This Girl Betrayed Her Calling by Wearing It in Her Hair.

A girl attired in a white Marseilles suit that had a tailor-made finish walked down the aisle of one of the theaters one night recently with the air of a princess just in from her summer palace. She was accompanied by a young man who had an opulent appearance. The girl sank into an orchestra chair, adjusted her glass, and tried to look bored, while her escort glanced at the boxes, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

The women in the row back of the two imposing young persons seemed to be impressed. They studied the braiding on the girl's white Eton jacket, and furtively admired the scarf on her sailor hat. They whispered approving comments on the summer costume. Then the curtain went up, and the girl removed her headgear.

The leading lady had just appeared when one of the women back of the girl clutched her companion's arm and whispered:

"Cash!"

There was a piercing scorn in her tone that made it carry. The girl in white heard it and spasmodically put her right hand up to the coil of pretty blonde hair. Then she flushed a painful crimson.

Stuck among the shell hairpins was a bit of lead pencil with a piece of soiled rubber in the end. The horrid woman who had envied her as the possible daughter of a millionaire had guessed that she was a clerk in a downtown department store.

WHY HE WEPT.

His Mother Told the Chubby Urchin Where and How He Had Been Hurt.

A very fat little boy with chubby legs that stuck out at right angles from his watermelon-shaped body sat in a Georgetown car one day. His fond mamma was engrossed in "says she-ing"-and "says hein" with her companion, and Master Chunk made up his mind that he'd like to look out of the window. He rolled over and climbed up on the seat, says the Washington Post.

"Now, don't do that," said mamma. "You know you've hnd one awful fall to-day doing that, so sit right down."

"Where did I fall, ma?" he piped, shrilly.

"In the street car."

"Did I hurt myself?" he asked.

"Yes," she answered.

"Where?" and he looked anxious.

"On the hand," his mother replied.

Master Chunk raised one cushion of a hand to his head, and then, without the slightest warning, he let up a roar that would have made the bull of Bashan green with envy. All the way up to High street mamma was busy comforting him. She had recalled a painful circumstance to him and he wept—wept the more loudly since there was no present pain to distract his attention. And the woman across the car said if he was her child he'd stop yelling or she'd know the reason why.

Upset the Actors' Gravity.

A funny incident happened during a performance of "Macbeth" in Dublin. In the sleep-walking scene, when the nurse and the doctor appear on the stage together and confabulate with one another, a loud voice suddenly called out from the gallery, causing a roar of laughter in the middle of a most serious scene: "Well, doctor, is it a boy or a girl?"

A Profane Silence.

A story is going the rounds of a golf match between Rev. Dr. Sterret and Justice Harlan of the United States supreme court. The incident occurred at Chevy Chase Golf club, one of the prominent organizations near Washington, during a meeting between these two ardent golfers. The doctor discovered that his ball teed up in tempting style for a fine brassie shot, and, with the utmost deliberation, he went through with the preliminary "waggles," and with a supreme effort—missed the ball. For fully a minute he gazed at the tantalizing sphere without uttering a word. At length Justice Harlan remarked solemnly: "Doctor, that was the most profane silence I ever listened to."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Brain Work and Exercise.

It has been declared that three hours of brain work will destroy more brain tissue than a whole day of physical exercise. America is filled with men and women who earn their living by their brains. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters makes the mind active and vigorous. This medicine is a tonic, an appetizer, and a sure cure for dyspepsia. It has a fifty years' record of cures. See that a private Revenue Stamp covers the neck of the bottle.

Cut a Swell.

Employer—I suppose you cut quite a swell at the African citizens' ball last night, George?

George Washington—'Deed I did, Mistah Brown. Dey wah a dude niggah waitah who dun tried t' flirt wif my Loo, an' I cut him deep, I did. Mah razah cewt why hab a keen aidge.—Ohio State Journal.

Ladies Can Wear Shoes

One size smaller after using Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It makes tight or new shoes easy. Cures swollen, hot, sweating, aching feet, ingrowing nails, corns and bunions. At all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Trial package FREE by mail. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Wouldn't Take Any Chances.

A certain Nauvoo woman assured her husband that she never told him a lie and never would. He told her that he did not doubt it, but would hereafter cut a notch in the piano when he knew she deceived him. "No you won't!" she screamed; "I'm not going to have my piano ruined."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Best Prescription for Chills

and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price, 50c.

An Explanation.

"It strikes me this ice water is dirty," said a Cincinnati hotel guest.

"Hully gee!" exclaimed the bellboy, as he looked in the pitcher. "I betcher de porter forgot ter wash it."—Chicago Evening News.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Left His Name.

Lady—A gentleman called, you say? Did he leave any name?

Parlor Maid—Oh, yes'm. He said it was Immaterial.—Boston Traveler.

Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is taken internally. Price 75c.

There Now!—She—"If I were to die you would never get another wife like me." He—"What makes you think I'd ever want another like you?"—Wasp.

Do you know how to wash? Well then you know how to dye, that is if you use Putnam Fadeless Dyes. Just boil the goods with the dye, that's all.

Do you want to be unique? Learn to tell the facts in a story without any embellishments.—Atchison Globe.

Piso's Cure is the medicine to break up children's Coughs and Colds.—Mrs. M. G. Blunt, Sprague, Wash., March 8, '94.

A man who can be fooled the same way four times is a fool.—Atchison Globe.

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.
For sale by all Druggists.—Price 50c. per bottle.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 & $3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.

Worth $4 to $5 compared with other makes.

Indorsed by over 1,000,000 Workers.
ALL LEATHERS. ALL STYLES
THE GENUINE have W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on bottom.
Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Largest makers of $3 and $3.50 shoes in the world. Your dealer should keep them—if not, we will send you a pair on receipt of price. State kind of leather, size and width, plain or cap toe. Catalogue FREE.
W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

CONSTIPATION

"I have gone 14 days at a time without a movement of the bowels, not being able to move them except by using hot water injections. Chronic constipation for seven years placed me in this terrible condition; during that time I did everything I heard of but never found any relief; such was my case until I began using CASCARETS. I now have from one to three passages a day, and if I can help it would give RIGHT for no movement; it is such a relief." AYLMER L. HUNT, 1629 Russell St., Detroit, Mich.

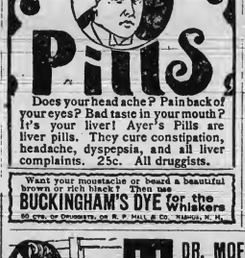
CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c. 25c. 50c.
... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 328

1000s of UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIALS SAY

THE MANSFIELD CAPILLARIS



Permanently cures all Itching, Burning, Scaley, Scab and Skin Diseases, such as Salt Rheum, Eczema, Scald Head, Chilblains, Piles, Burns, Baby Humors, Dandruff, Itching Scalp, Falling Hair (thickening and making it Soft, Silky, and Lustrous). All Face Eruptions producing a Soft, Clear, Beautiful Skin and Complexion. It contains no Lead, Sulphur, Cantharides or anything injurious. A very great seller. Lady canvassers make $4 to $8 a day. Druggists or mail 50c. Capillaris Manufacturing Co., N. Y. Address T. MILL, MANSFIELD, Agt., GLEN RIDGE, N. J.

EDUCATIONAL.

NEW HAMPSHIRE MILITARY ACADEMY
Prepares for Government Academies and Colleges. Full Commercial Course. Mass. H. HYATT, A. M., Principal, WEST LEBANON, N. H.

A. N. K.—E 1774

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

Does your head ache? Pain back of your eyes? Bad taste in your mouth? It's your liver! Ayer's Pills are liver pills. They cure constipation, headache, dyspepsia, and all liver complaints. 25c. All druggists.

Want your moustache or beard a beautiful brown or rich black? Then use
BUCKINGHAM'S DYE for the Whiskers
50 CTS. OF DRUGGISTS, OR R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA, N. H.

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA
TEETHING POWDERS
Aids Digestion, Regulates the Bowels, Makes Teething Easy. TEETHINA Relieves the Bowel Troubles of Children of Any Age.
Costs Only 25 Cents. Ask Your Druggist for It.

TEN DAY RAIL AND LAKE EXCURSION TO MACKINAC ISLAND
LEAVING CINCINNATI AND INDIANAPOLIS
TUESDAY, AUGUST 29
VIA THE C. H. & D. Ry. & D. & C. Steamer
ONLY $5.00 ROUND TRIP.
VIA RAIL TO TOLEDO AND A 810 MILE LAKE TRIP.
Side Trips At Very Low Rates have been arranged to "THE SOO," DULUTH, "THE SNOWS," and HARBOR SPRINGS.
For Stateroom or Berth Reservations and Information of any kind call on your C. H. & D. Agent, or write
D. G. EDWARDS, Passenger Traffic Manager, Cincinnati, O.

Plantation Chill Cure is Guaranteed
To cure, or money refunded by your merchant, so why not try it? Price 50c.

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, Aug., 16, 1899.

Advertising Rates:

One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time..... .25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

We are authorized to announce J. W. KENNEDY, of Union, as a candidate for the Legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

We are authorized to announce BENJAMIN STEPHENS, of Florence, as a candidate for the Legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Democratic State Ticket.

For Governor,
WILLIAM GOEBEL, of Kenton.

For Lieutenant Governor,
J. C. W. BECKHAM, of Nelson.

For Attorney General,
R. J. BRECKINRIDGE, of Boyle.

For Auditor,
G. G. COULTER, of Graves.

For Treasurer,
S. W. HAGER, of Boyd.

For Secretary of State,
C. B. HILL, of Clark.

For Supt. Public Instruction,
H. V. M'CHESNEY, of Livingston.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. B. NALL, of Jefferson.

For Railroad Commissioner,
FLETCHER DEMPSEY, of Hopkins county.—First District.

C. C. M'CHORD, of Washington county.—Second District.

A. W. HAMILTON, of Montgomery county.—Third District.

For State Senator,
Dr. J. G. FURNISH.

Neighborhood News.

Gunpowder.

Uncle Eli Rouse has been on the sick list for about a week.

Rev. Lentz and family dined with J. H. Tanner, last Sunday.

Dave Brown, of Florence, is doing some carpenters work for Daddy Rice.

Uncle Billy Tanner, who has been on the sick list for several days, is improving slowly.

The heaviest rain of the season fell here, last Thursday night, and the creeks were higher than they have been for several years.

Rev. Ezra Keller and wife, of Hillsboro, Ill., are spending their summer vacation here. Mr. Keller left last Monday for Lake Winona, Ind., to attend the Bible Conference which is in session at that place.

Limaburg.

Harvey Baker is feeling some better.

John Aylor is preparing to build an icehouse.

Miss Stella Myers, of Richwood, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. S. J. Rouse.

Mrs. Ida Gouth, of Erlanger, was the guest of Miss Anna Crigler, last Saturday.

William Garrett, wife and child, who have been sick for some time, are some better.

Jacob W. Rouse had a dog to go mad last Saturday and bite some of his stock. The dog, a shepherd, was not killed.

J. W. Rouse and wife were called away, Saturday, to attend the funeral of their uncle, Bird Anderson, of Louisville, who died on the 11th inst. He had many relatives in this county.

Francesville.

Dr. Jewett and wife, of Eminence, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Gordon.

Mr. Benton Murphy, of Carroll county, is visiting friends in this vicinity.

There will be more wheat sown here this fall than there has been for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Holland Goodridge were the pleasant guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kilgour, Sunday.

The wind and rain did considerable damage to the corn, Thursday and Friday, besides washing the ground to some extent.

The protracted meeting at Bullittsville is being well attended by our neighbors. Rev. Miller, of Covington, is in attendance, and they have excellent singing.

Mr. Wm. Smith is tearing down and removing the store-house at Tanner's corner. He bought it last spring, and contemplates erecting a store at his place near Hebron.

Utzinger.

John Jones is cutting tobacco.

Mrs. F. P. Walton is on the sick list.

Mrs. Dr. Jasper is visiting in this neighborhood.

A very interesting meeting is in progress at the Christian church in Bullittsville.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Peno was buried in the cemetery here, Sunday.

Mrs. Dr. John Walton, of Home City, O., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cropper.

Mrs. Lizzie Gaines and daughter, Miss Allie Lee, of Louisville, are visiting friends and relatives here.

The recent storms blew the corn down badly and will cause some damage to that crop which was very promising.

Dr. A. P. Walton and Miss Mayme Phelon, of Walnut Hills, O., have been spending a short time with the doctor's parents, here.

The excursion to the Falls City, last week, on the Str. City of Cincinnati, was enjoyed by a large number of Boone county people. While but a very short time was allowed to see the city, the boat ride up and down the river and the very genial company will make it a trip to be remembered.

Hebron.

The new pews will soon be put in the church.

Miss Clara Hossman leaves this week for Walnut Hills.

Callie Lee Clore, unfortunately, lost her bracelet, last week.

Miss Stella Renaker, of Cynthiana, is visiting relatives here.

Several storms prevailed in this neighborhood, last week.

Prof. G. S. Hann made a short call in this vicinity, last week.

Miss Stella Myers, of Union, attended Sunday-school here, Sunday.

Misses Dora Hafer and Clara Hossman spent Saturday night with Miss Daisy Harding.

Miss Katie Clayton, one of the Hebron pupils, graduated at Petersburg, last Wednesday.

Jack Henry, of Francesville, seems to be very much enchanted with our little village. Whether he is on the lookout for a girl or school, we are unable to say.

The monthly C. E. Social was held at the home of T. A. Crigler, Saturday night. Quite a number were present and a number of entertaining features in the way of songs, select readings, etc., were had.

The annual celebration of the Hebron Sunday School was given, Saturday. An immense crowd was in attendance, notwithstanding the extreme warm weather. The small boys and girls did exceedingly well with their drills and performed their parts admirably. Their instructors deserve great credit for the untiring efforts which they bestowed upon these little ones.

The past week has been one of devoted service to the Master. Rev. G. A. Miller has delivered some of the most beautiful and impressive sermons that have ever sounded through out the church at Bullittsville. He speaks with such force and his words seem to thrill ones heart with such deep emotion that no human heart can fail to understand his meaning. As yet no members have been added to the church, but never theless all have a great interest and it is hoped that some soul may be touched by the tender chords of love and fidelity that this peace messenger of God offers.

Richwood.

Mr. Alfred Mann is quite ill with typhoid fever.

Wm. Riley is in a very critical condition from a stroke of paralysis.

Some of the neighbors are training and fixing up stock for the approaching fair.

Recent rains have greatly improved the condition of the crops and the outlook is much brighter than it was three weeks ago.

The rain that fell, last Thursday night, was almost unprecedented. For four hours the rain fell in torrents. Bridges were washed away, water gaps torn out and some crops destroyed.

There was quite a large gathering at the meeting of the Literary Club held at Dr. H. C. Lassing's, last Friday night. The grounds were beautifully illuminated with Chinese lanters and the club held an open air session.

Constance.

Ed Zimmerson's youngest child fell and dislocated its leg.

B. F. Zimmer received a barge of coal and was unloading it Friday.

R. H. Hood, of Terre Haute, Indiana, is visiting his parents at this place.

Rev. Berrage closed a week's preaching, last Saturday night at the mission.

Eph Anderson, formerly of Constance, and now of Covington, was in town Friday.

Wednesday was a red letter day with the Constance postoffice. Not a letter was mailed at the office that day.

Levi Fox, son of Pete Fox, was bitten by a kissing bug, and his lip and cheek swelled to an enormous size.

The Christian Sunday-school will give their outing, Saturday the 19th, up Dry Creek. Everybody invited.

Hon. Ben Stephens and Mr. Kennedy, candidates for Representative, spoke here Friday night to an appreciative audience.

The boys gave a dance at the barber shop, last Thursday night. It was well attended and everybody enjoyed themselves very much

Andy Smith went to Louisville, last Monday. He formerly lived there, but had not been in that city for 21 years. He found his companions all dead, and the place looked strange to him.

Mrs. Mary Hood is getting better.

The strikers at the rolling mills did not succeed.

Miss Sadie Zimmer is sitting up, and will soon be out again.

Miss Lena Gooddell has been visiting Mrs. W. C. Reeves.

Several storms passed over our burg last week, doing much damage.

Berkshire.

Will Hume is visiting friends in Carrollton.

Born—To Charles Drusier and wife, a 10 pound baby.

Sam Friend's children are da ngerously ill with flux.

The rain that fell here last Thursday night caused considerable damage.

Robt. Noell and Robert Finnell made a flying trip to Warsaw, Friday.

Miss Ernestine Allphine, of Gallatin, was visiting her grandparents in this vicinity last week.

Died, Aug. 6th, at his home near here, Uncle Charles Slater, after being sick for several years. He was in his 89th year, and has been a faithful member of the South Fork church for several years. He will be missed by his church, missed by his family and by all his acquaintances, who loved him dearly. He leaves a wife and eight children.

Flickertown.

Hiram Early's children have the measles.

Ben Hewitt has started his huckster wagon again.

We are having plenty of rain and crops are looking fine.

Bud Acra is able to be out again after several weeks' illness.

Cy Passons, of Tuscola, Ill., is visiting his parents near here.

Edward and Mrs. Fannie Gaines are visiting relatives in Illinois.

John Baldon's voice is heard in the land again since threshing season is over.

John Early and Geo. McCool, of Petersburg, and Kirb Aylor, of Lawrenceburg, are painting Miss Julia Smith's new house.

Tom Nettles gave a dance, last Thursday night. A couple of young gentlemen from Dillsboro, Ind., and Henry Bahn, of Petersburg, furnished the music.

News reached here last week that John Passons, son of Andy Passons, who lives up on Ashby Fork, and Miss Ida Stanley, of Tuscola, Ill., were married on July 17th. May they live a long and happy life is the wish of John's many friends here.

Believue.

Mrs. Mary Corbin is improving rapidly.

Corn good, potatoes fine and cabbage finer.

Cadie Maurer and W. B. Arnold spent Sunday in Pete.

B. H. Pope is delivering his wheat to M. J. Corbin, this week.

We are glad to see Bud Goodridge able to attend church again.

Will Clore and Arch Acra, of Scattersville, were in town Friday.

Al Rogers and wife were visiting their parents here, Saturday and Sunday.

Fred McAtee, of Indiana, was over Sunday to hear brother John preach.

E. L. Grant and wife were the guests of Mrs. Mora Huey, Sunday evening.

Mrs. Fannie Snyder, of Petersburg, was visiting her mother and sister, Sunday.

J. W. McAtee preached at the Baptist church, Sunday, to a large and attentive audience.

Prof. Snyder will turn over his truck field to his son Albert, this week, and will attend the Institute.

Bro. Utz failed to fill his appointment here, last Sunday. We hope he may be able to be with us again soon.

We hope to poll a full vote here Saturday, and would be glad to hear of the other precincts doing likewise.

Harry Rosebury says, "Mike larnt that colt he bought of him to throw a fellow every time he sets on his back."

Minnie Snyder, of Petersburg, and Willie May Corbin, of Lawrenceburg, spent last week with their grandma Corbin.

Mrs. J. Frank Grant and daughter, Mrs. Curry, of Baltimore, arrived here last Thursday, and will visit relatives until about the 20th of September.

Z. T. Roberts passed through on his way to Ben Cason's, last Saturday, after some four or five weeks stay with his brother-in-law, Dr. French in Indiana.

Scott Willett, wife and his mother-in law, of Lexington, arrived here Sunday on a visit to his sister and brother-in-law, J. H. Lawell and wife, for some ten days, when they will leave for Cape May, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Lawell, where they will spend a couple of weeks.

Hathaway.

On the 1st inst., a large number of the people of this and adjoining neighborhoods, assembled at the famous big springs on W. S. White's farm, to be present at the annual fish fry. Numerous well filled baskets were brought, which with 100 pounds of fish and the 15 gallons of fish chowder, furnished a bountiful feast for the very large crowd present. When dinner was announced ready, Rev. J. W. McAtee returned thanks and the feat began. After dinner the Hathaway string band entertained the crowd with excellent music until about 5 p. m., when the crowd dissolved. Mr and Mrs. White receiving many thanks for their unexcelled hospitality during the day.

NOTES.

Joe Riddell A. J. Utz and T. J. Stephens were the oldest men in attendance.

M. W. Neal and G. L. Smith proved to be expert soup eaters.

Those from a distance were William Green, jr., and F. H. Stevenson, of Rising Sun.

The big spring which flows freely, drought or no drought, was a great attraction.

Geo. Smith, C. S. Smith and S. H. Marshall were the cooks, and understood their business.

It was agreed that the fish and soup as prepared for the occasion would be good any mid-time.

About 200 people assembled at Big Bone church, on Tuesday of last week, to participate in the third annual fish fry at that place, some coming from quite a distance. A large number of well filled baskets were brought, the contents of which, with 150 pounds of fish cooked on the ground, made a sumptuous repast. This was one of the most enjoyable occasions spent by the neighborhood during the year.

Petersburg.

Potatoes are rotting in the ground.

Brooks & Snelling threshed 20,000 bushels of grain.

The hot, dry winds nearly ruined some fields of corn

The Aurora Ferry Co., will build a new boat this fall.

Mrs. Huff, 94, and Peter Hartman, 84, are in poor health.

Mrs. Fred McCool is very low at this writing with lung trouble.

The Distilling Co., shipped 10 barrels of whisky to Manila, last Wednesday.

John D. Norris, of Osgood, Ind., is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Berkshire.

Miss Sue McWethy will graduate from a Lexington college, this week.

Miss Gracie Grant has a handsome lady friend from the city visiting her.

Sam Pope and wife, of East Bend, were visiting Mrs. Julia Cox, Sunday.

Will Casey went to Monterey, Owen county, last Wednesday, to sell a boat load of salt.

Albert Gardner, manager of the Blue Grass grocery, is a proud father of a nice little baby.

John H. McWethy, who was in poor health sometime ago, we are glad to say is improving.

Edwin Botts has just returned from a pleasant visit with deputy sheriff Joe Givans, of Sparta, Ind.

The tow-boat, Smoky City, layed up here Sunday night while Capt. Hyatt called on his parents.

Prof. B. W. Nelson, Mrs. Mary Walton and Miss Bettie Dolph will teach the public school here.

James Ahearn, of Florence, and Arthur Pitcher and Sam Shinkle, of Big Bone, were in town Friday.

Wallace McWethy, who has been visiting in Memphis, Tenn., for nearly a year, has returned home.

Carl Grant will teach the Berkshire school, and Prof. D. M. Snyder, the Woolper school this fall and winter.

Dr. W. E. Grant, of Louisville, stopped to see his father, on his return from the National Dental Association, at Niagara, New York.

Dr. Weindel, of Patriot, Ind., came up Thursday night and went back Friday. The doctor has a good practice among the Hoosiers.

Master Albert Knemba, of Cincinnati, is visiting Earl Whiting, and the Gridley boys of the same city are the guests of Will Alden.

J. D. Norris says Indiana Democrats are as anxious about the race for Governor in this state as we are. They want to see Goebel elected.

Prof. D. C. Peck, of Trimble county, will attend the institute this week. There is not a middle aged man ou Woolper or Ashbyfork that don't recollects the Doctor.

Hon. Ben Stephens and J. W. Kennedy, candidates for the legislature, spoke to a small crowd here Wednesday night. They dwelt on county, state and national issues.

The river has been rising very fast in the last few days, and has reached a stage of 16 feet. The current is full of green corn, potatoes, pumpkins and all kinds of farm produce.

Mrs. McCool, wife of Fred McCool, maltster at the distillery, died Sunday morning of consumption, after several months' illness. She leaves a husband and several children to mourn her loss.

A number of Chas. Bahn's friends surprised him last Thursday, it being his birth day, by having a fish fry on the bar below town. Mr. Croxton and family and Mr. Wilson and family of Dillsboro, Ind., came over and mingled with the crowd. About 50 persons were present and all had a good time.

James D. Smith, the 10 year old son of Lyatra Smith, died very suddenly on the 9th, of inflammation of the bowels. His funeral the next day was one of the largest ever seen at the cemetery. Jim was a favorite among the young people and his loss will be deeply felt. The family has the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

Union.

Mrs. Anse Bristow was quite sick Sunday.

Charley Baker has been seriously ill for several days.

Mr. Will Rice, of Gunpowder, is having his house painted.

Mr. Dick Thomason, of New Columbus, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy.

J. S. Houston has been on the sick list for several days. Glad to report him better.

Miss Martha Lassing entertained the Excelsior Literary Club Friday evening, and a delightful meetiug is reported.

Gus Freidman has not recovered from coming in contact with that 200 pound sheep, but continues to nurse a very sore hand.

Dr. Crouch has put in a complete stock of drugs and chemicals and will be pleased to supply all persons in need of such articles at reasonable prices

Rev. Adams preached Saturday and Sunday at the Baptist church. Sunday was a lovely day and a large audience greeted the Doctor and listened to a spleudid sermon.

Latest reports from Thursday nights storm go to show that Uncle Hook Scuiour lost a hen and chickens; Chas. Cleek, 9 pigs; Mott Houston, wash tub, washing machine, &c.

Miss Stella Myers issued 100 invitations to a party given Wednesday evening, but the rain prevented many from going. Some 50 guests were present and spent a most enjoyable evening.

Geo. H. Stephenson has been able to get down to town again, after being sick for ten days. George has lots of corn and honey to sell and lots of beans to eat, so it don't suit him to be sick.

Mrs. Elizabeth Huey entertained her Sunday school class taught years ago at Big Bone. They come up and surprised Mrs. Huey every summer, and spend a grand day. Just as they did last week.

H. Bannister bought out Mr. Lampkin and will engage in blacksmithing again. The Squire has had a good rest and ought to carry a full stock of reserve force and shoe lots of horses inside of ten hours..

Ask Tony Bentler about that queer looking wooden animal that Lemon Buch cut out of a tree on the Hamilton place. He will, doubtless, tell you it beat anything ever seeu by him or any body else. Standing in the yard it bears a striking resemblance to some animal and was cut out of a beach top.

Cyrus Lampkin, who has been engaged with Mr. Sol Long in the blacksmith and wagon business, in our town for some time, moved to Big Bone Springs, last week. Mr. Lampkin sees a better prospect for business at the Springs and acted accordingly. He is a first-class smith and willing to work early and late to keep in the push.

Richwood is a real live, modern town, in many ways—one way is having 4999 trains pass in the night. Not exactly "ships passing in the night," but "double headers," last 46yers, No. 85ers and all sorts of sleep destroyers that makes one start up from a sound sleep and declare the "Elm Hole" had caved in or Tom Burkett was snoring by telephone. We had the pleasure of earning some sheckles by the sweat of our face in Richwood for 8 or 10 days recently and at the same time received our daily bread from the well supplied table of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rice. Mr. Rice and family treated us with great kindness and sent us away with a 10 pound loaf of corn-light bread as a parting gift that would make the Recorder editor's mouth water and his appetite register 210° degrees in the shade.

The rain Thursday night was the heavlest that has fallen in this section for many years. The creek became a raging torrent and swept everything before it. Looking from Rouse's sawmill down the creek it presented the appearance of a broad avenue as the water had taken every water-gap out and mashed the weeds and grass down flat like a paved street for 50 feet on each side. Corn, millet, tobacco and other crops suffered and in some cases totally washed out. About 1:30 a. m., a man came to our house and invited us to go out and look at the creek. Well if you ever saw a time of ethereal midnightness and all things were alike from a stack of black black cats to a ship load of ebony colored Americans, last Thursday night was the time. How on earth the man ever expected us to "see the creek" is a mystery that no one except a Hindoo Jugler could unravel. A 22-inch "Collitas telescope" would not penetrate over 3½ feet into Thursday night's blackness.

LAWRENCEBURG FAIR

Lawrenceburg, Indiana,

AUG. 22, 23, 24, 25 & 26,

BABY SHOW every day.

A full program of

RACES each day.

Will have the best line of

LIVESTOCK

ever seen on their grounds.

For information address

H. L. NOWLIN, Secretary,
Guilford, Indiana.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission and SEED Merchants.
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.
Largest and Best Stock of
GROCERIES IN THE CITY.
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.
27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone 4055.) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street,
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

JOHN ALLISON,

UNDER-  EMBAL-

TAKER MER,

—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,—
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.
INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

Order Spring Suits NOW

And we will make them up artistically and ready for you promptly on time. We have

Over Five Hundred Styles

Of Spring and Summer Woolens to Select from. They come direct from the looms of foreign and domestic manufacturers, and surpass in elegance and variety anything ever shown in Covington. In the assortment are many exclusive patterns—goods that cannot be duplicated by any other establishment in this city. Keep these facts in mind and place your order for a stylish suit with us. We promise you a faultless fit, the proper cut, and a price that will not be more than you can afford to pay.

H. F. BLASE.

H. F. BLASE,
535 Madison Avenue,
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY

A Word to the Public

MY STOCK OF

Dry Goods, Notions,

AND LADIES' AND GENTS'

TOILET ARTICLES

for the Spring Trade has been received, and to be appreciated must be seen. Fresh

DRUGS AND GROCERIES

received daily. A large stock of

PAINTS & OILS

on hand at all times. All Goods New and Clean, and are sold at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.

—GIVE ME A CALL—

J. G. OELSNER, Florence, Ky.

BEAUMONT COLLEGE HARRODSBURG, KY.
Strongest Southern Girls' School Curriculum, perhaps; in essentials, the peer of any elsewhere. Six languages, without extra charge. Piano and Organ Director, Mme. Doct., Oxon. Superb advantages in Art and in Elocution. Grounds (33 acres) unsurpassed in America for beauty. Its students have represented more than 30 States. Refined home. Number limited. Terms reasonable. TH. SMITH, A. M., Pres. (Alumnus of Univ. of Va.)
Stirling Music Director, Grad. Roy. Col. of Music, Munich.

Local News.

Northern lake weather Monday.

Harvest Home next Saturday week.

The rag weed crop is not as large as usual.

A big fair at Lawrenceburg next week.

T. D. Goodridge has 19 stock hogs for sale.

Several visiting attorneys are attending court.

C. H. Acra treated the office to a nice watermelon, last week.

You will have a good time if you attend the Lawrenceburg fair, next week.

Clore Bros., of Clore's Ridge, have a lot of old corn for sale. Price, 40 cents.

Several teachers passed through here Monday enroute to Petersburg to attend the institute,

Elder H. M. Curry will be at Mount Pleasant church on the next regular church meeting day.

Mr. W. T. Smith was kicked by a horse Monday, and narrowly escaped being seriously hurt.

Robt. Taggart, of Union, is the champion tobacco raiser. He is said to have tobacco topped 8 feet from the ground.

The melon wagons are on the move now. No very large watermelons have made their appearance here this season.

Logan Zellers, colored, who was raised here, was run over by a train at Lawrenceburg Junction, Sunday, and both of his legs were cut off.

The repairs on the Presbyterian church not being completed, the Methodists kindly permitted Rev. Davis to use their church, last Sunday.

Tony Bentler run his threshing machine into the shed, last Friday, finishing his campaign over in Kenton county. He threshed 11,000 bus. of grain.

The Burlington and Bellevue ball teams played at Bellevue Saturday and here Monday. The scores were 7 to 3 and 20 to 8, Burlington winning both games.

After this month Jeff Rouse's mill at Union and Rouse Bros. (the Weaver mill) will grind on the 2d and 4th Saturdays in each month until further notice.

The crop of town hogs is a failure by no means this year. Some as fine porcine specimens as one ought to desire to see perambulate the streets and sidewalks with an air of independence that is astonishing.

O. P. Conner claims that he was the first man in the county to discover a genuine kissing bug. The bug was found on his shirt sleve. Chas. Robinson who had seen them in the city pronounced it the genuine article.

The Sunday school celebration at Harvest Home grounds, last Saturday, was attended by about 800 people, and was a complete success in every particular. Several interesting addresses were delivered. The vocal music was excellent.

The Secretary of the Lawrenceburg fair writes us: "Prospects for a grand fair were never better than now. Long lists of entries are already made and lots of applications are now in for stalls. Horsemen are making great preparations for the races."

LOST—A gold watch charm, with M. M. R., on one side and W. & L. on the other. Supposed to have been lost at Hopeful the day of Mrs. Goodridge's funeral, the 27th of June. Any information will be thankfully received.
W. E. GLACKEN, Richwood, Ky.

Jerry Underhill mustered his threshing force out of service, last week, and run his machine under the shed. Since the close of the campaign Jeff Eddins has become very restless, and it is probable that he will enlist and proceed to the Philippines in search of desired excitement.

An Aurora item in Sunday's Enquirer says: "Colonel John Moody of Boone county, Kentucky, who has acted as Marshal for all the fairs in this and adjoining counties for more than 20 years, was presented by the Fair Association yesterday with an elegant Marshal's outfit, consisting of an officer's sash, baton, saddle and bridle. Although 76 years of age the veteran will ride as usual, at the Lawrenceburg Fair next week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Finch announce the marriage of their daughter,
Virginia Corey,
to
Nahum Wright Gilman,
on Wednesday evening, Aug. ninth,
1899.
At home
after September first
169 East Fifty-third St.,
Chicago.

Our young friend Lawrence Phipps, played a part in a couple of accidents, last week. The first occurred one dark, rainy night as he was going home, when in descending a hill the horse attached to his buggy made things lively with his heels. The vehicle was injured some, but Lawrence escaped uninjured. A few days after this he jumped over a fence, lighting on a wire nail that ran nearly through his foot. From the effects of his last experience he was quite lame for several days.

Quite a good crowd was present at the renting of the privileges at the fair grounds, last Saturday afternoon. The four refreshment stands were let separately and were rented to J. F. Blyth as follows: No. 1, $220; No. 2, $180; No. 3, $85; No. 4, $60. The basket and bicycle check room was rented by J. S. Clutterbuck at $55. Tony Beutler got the feed room for $5. The barber shop rented for $11 25. The melon privilege went to Perry Carpenter for $11. The privilege to sell canes and whips brought $10. Total $938.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Jeff Eddins has a sever attack of lampers.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kreylich leave for a trip to Niagara Falls to day.

W. E. Townley and a friend, of Cincinnati, were visitors at W. J. Rice's, Sunday.

Victor Julian and Eldrige Allen, of Newport, were visiting in Burlington, Sunday.

Misses Mary and Branham Roberts, of Verona, are guests of Judge Roberts and family.

G. W. Roberts, of Verona, was the guest of his brother, Judge Roberts, Saturday night,

J. B. Berkshire and wife, of Florence, were guests of J. S. Clutterbuck and wife, Sunday.

Mrs. Hattie Arnold, of Williamstown, is visiting her sister, Mrs. T. W. Finch, of this place.

Walter Lassing and sister, Miss Martha, of Union, were guests at their brother's here Saturday.

Miss Flora Arnold, of Bellevue, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. R. Clutterbuck, a few days last week.

Mrs. Acklin Riggs, of Kenton county, was visiting her aunt, Mrs. G. G. Hughes, of this place, last week.

Mrs. Rouse and daughters, and Misses Metz and Hatmaker, of Cincinnati, are boarding with Mr. and Mrs. George Blyth.

Mrs. W. E. Piper, daughter and son, of Dayton, Ky., and Mrs. Gussie Armstrong, of Covington, are guests of Mrs. Brady.

Mrs. Jas. A. Cowen, of Gallatin county, returned home last Saturday, after a week's visit with her husband's relatives here.

C. G. Riddell, of Rabbit Hash, was in town a few hours, last Wednesday. He made his round trip on the hurricane deck of a mule.

B. W. Campbell, wife and two sons, of Delhi, spent Sunday in Burlington. They have but recently returned from a sojourn at the sea shore.

Esq. J. C. Byland, the hustling agent for the Union Central Life Insurance Co., with headquarters at Walton, was in town one day last week.

James Riggs, of Cedarville, Ohio, was the guest of his cousin, Wm. Hughes, a few days last week. On Thursday they went to Big Bone Springs.

M. F. Morrison and Wm. Toohy, of Rising Sun, were among those attending court Monday. They are among the leading business men in their county.

Rev. Hoover and little son, Hyder, left for Virginia, Monday afternoon, for a three weeks' visit. Mr. Hoover's mother is seriously ill, and he was written to come on at once.

Dr. L. Kirtley, D. D., of Peoria, Ill., was a guest of his Uncle J. A. Kirtley, of the Utzinger neighborhood, a few days last week. Dr. Kirtley is one of the ablest divines in the State of Illinois.

Benton Murphy, of Carroll county, was in Burlington, a day or two last week, the first time for over 20 years. He is a son of the late James Murphy, who was a citizen of the Francesville neighborhood many years ago. Benton is a prosperous citizen of his adopted county.

Nick Oberding, who lives at Lawrenceburg Junction, was in town Wednesday. He was making a tour of this county in the interest of the Lawrenceburg fair, which he says will be the best ever held there. He said: "Tell the Boone county boys that I will be on hand again this year and will insure them a grand time, and they must be sure and come."

COUNTY COURT.

G. W. Roberts was appointed administrator of Nat Hind, deceased. J. G. Kennedy, J. T. Roberts and J. R. Johnson, appointed appraisers.

The will of Orlean Ryle was probated, and W. J. Ryle qualified as administrator with the will annexed.

Mary Buffington was appointed administratrix of the estate of the estate of B. W. Buffington. Orlando Snyder, Joseph McWethy and Frank Smith, appraisers.

H. B. Adams was appointed administrator of the estate of W. W. Garuett, deceased. G. M. Allen, W. W. Grimsley and James Taylor, appraisers.

The will of Ben Quick, deceased, was probated. This will was probated at a special term of the county court held December 17, '96, and as such business can not be transacted at a special term, the will was again probated.

Riddell & Stephens, of Rabbit Hash, were granted license to peddle merchandise.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The August term of the Boone Circuit Court convened Monday morning. Judge Greene was not present, and Attorney S. W. Tolin was elected special judge, and he proceeded to organize the grand jury which is composed of the following gentlemen: J. L. Frazier, foreman; G. B. Powers, J. M. Riggs, Jacob Cook, Charles Hensley, B. F. Crisler, Frank Hodges, B. A. Floyd, W. L. Cropper, J. O. Roberts, B. C. Surface, F. A. Utz.

The jury was given a plain, comprehensive charge by the court, when it went to its room to begin investigating the county's moral record for the last few months.

Judge Green and Commonwealth's Attorney Gray arrived early yesterday morning, and court was begun at once.

Only one petit jury had been organized when we went to press.

Ira Aylor, of Erlanger, who was indicted at the last term for peddling without license, was tried by a jury and acquitted.

The attendance at court is small.

The members of Knights of Pythias Lodge of Burlington, are invited to visit the Rabbit Hash Lodge on the 19th inst. Work in the Second and Third Ranks.

The mornings are nice and cool.

The Lawrenceburg fair begins next Tuesday.

Next Saturday is the primary election for Representative.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.

DOLLARS DO DOUBLE DUTY HERE.

Standard Granulated Sugar, 18 lbs. $1 00.
Arbuckle Coffee 10 cents per lb.
Daniel Boone Soap, 3 bars for 5 cents.
Pittsburg Wire less than city prices.
Lime, Cement, White Lead, Oils, Varnishes, etc., as cheap as in the city.

Baby Shoes for 10c per pair up.
Misses' Shoes for 50c per pair up.
A full line of Men's, Ladie's and Children's Tan Shoes—Latest Styles, Best Quality, Lowest Prices.
Men's Dress Pants, 75c per pair.
Wonder Overalls, Shirts and Pants, the best made.

COME at ONCE. THESE PRICES are ONLY While Present Stock Lasts.

UNION, KENTUCKY. UNION, KENTUCKY.

McALPIN & THOMSON,

Successors to RIGGS BROS.

Undertakers

—AND—

Embalmers,

LIVERY, BOARDING & FEED STABLES.

Special Rates to Traveling Men. Pianos, Organs and Furniture Carefully Removed. First-class Carriages for hire with careful drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, etc.

LEXINGTON PIKE, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

J. M. EDDINS, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

The Sun Shines on both Sides of the Street for the Man, Boy or Child who wear our

CLOTHING

Come in and try on some of the New Styles, if you want a most graceful becoming suit. Our CLOTHING are easily the neatest fitting, finest looking and best wearing in the country. Our experience in the business enables us to sell at

ROCK BOTTOM.

Whether you are ready to buy or not, we want to see you in our store. It will cost you nothing to look at our goods.

ROLFES & WACHS, No. 1 Pike Street, Cor. Madison Ave.

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

When in Burlington Call on

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK

●DEALER IN●

DRY GOODS

Notions, Boots and Shoes,

Who has just received his stock of

SPRING & SUMMER SHOES,

the nicest stock ever in town. Have old stock which I AM SELLING AT GENUINE BARGAINS.

NICE LINE WALL PAPER,

At Prices to Suit the times.

DEERING - MACHINES

Are the favorites in every land where grass and grain grow. They are adopted to all conditions. They are the "Acme" of strength, durability, simplicity and light draft. We will carry a full line of Repairs. Buy the Machine that is fully guaranteed and handy to obtain repairs for.

Also remember we are headquarters for all kinds of

Farm Machinery

At bottom prices. We handle nothing but the best and fully guarantee all.

Also the Largest and Cheapest

Stock of Shoes

In the county, and a full line of

General -- Merchandise.

—CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.—

COME AND SEE.

T. J. HUGHES,

BEAVER LICK, KY.

GO TO C. T. DAVIS & CO., HEBRON AND CONSTANCE, General Merchants,

A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.

Undertaking Given Special Attention,

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron. C. T. DAVIS & CO. Constance

W. H. HOSHAL & COMPANY,

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

Cattle, Hogs and Sheep,

—UNION STOCK YARDS,—

Cincinnati, - Ohio.

—TELEPHONE 7346.—

Information Regarding Live Stock Cheerfully Furnished.

Consign Your Stock Direct to Us.

LUMBER!

LATHS,
SHINGLES,
DOORS,
BLINDS,
SASH.

If you want any kind of Lumber it will be to your advantage to visit our yard at Lawrenceburg, Indiana, before buying. Prices to Suit the Times.

M. E. LEMING & CO.

As chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee for this county, I publish herewith a list of the names of persons appointed on that committee for each precinct, and hereby call a meeting of said committee for Monday, September 4th, 1899, at the court house in Burlington at 1 o'clock p. m. A full attendance is desired, and I urgently request every member of the committee to be present that we may organize and successfully conduct effective campaign work. The names appended have been suggested to me, and if anyone cannot serve, I request that he will suggest someone in his place and get them to attend the meeting called. J. G. FURNIST.

Burlington—J G Furnish, C C Roberts. Bullittsville—C W Riley, John Stephens. Petersburg—M F Wingate, Hank Hoffman. Bellevue—Caddy Maurer, Dr H A Williamson. Hamilton—R Lee Huey, W W Grimsley. Beaver—G E Carroll, G W Sleet. Verona—Geo W Roberts, C W Waller. Walton—J C Byland, S C Johnson. Union—L B Dickerson, L H Voshell. Florence—Ben Stephens, Dr B A Dulaney. Constance—Walter Gordon, John Couner. Rabbit Hash—Dr L C Cowen, Robert Wilson.

PUBLIC SALE!

I will sell at public sale at my residence on the Covington and Lexington pike, 2 miles north of Walton, and 2 miles south of Richwood, on the C. N. & T. P. R. R., on

Friday, Sept. 8th, 1899,

The following stock:

25 fresh Milch Cows, some have calves by their sides; 15 yearling Jersey heifers; 200 Stock Sheep, in lots to suit purchasers; several Horses and Work Mules.

TERMS OF SALE.

A credit of four months will be given on all sums over $10, purchasers to give note with good security, negotiable and payable in Walton Deposit Bank; $10 and under, cash. No property removed until terms of sale are compiled with.

W. L. GAINES.

Sale to begin at 9 a. m.

J. T. MARSHALL,

SALESMAN FOR

F. W. KASSEBAUM & SON,

Manufacturers and Dealers in

Granite and Marble Monuments.

GRANT P. O., KENTUCKY.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

The taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the following places to receive taxes for 1899:

Verona, Sept. 5th, Oct. 5th.
Walton, Sept. 6th, Oct. 6th.
Bellevue, Sept. 7th, Oct. 9th.
Union, Sept. 8th, Oct. 7th.
Petersburg, Sept. 9th, Oct. 10th.
Bullittsville, Sept. 11th, Oct. 16th.
Big Bone, Sept. 12th, Oct. 11th.
Constance, Sept. 13th, Oct. 12th.
Beaver, Sept. 14th, Oct. 13th.
Florence, Sept. 15th, Oct. 14th.
Rabbit Hash, Sept 16th, Oct. 17th.
Gunpowder, Oct. 18th.
Richwood, Oct. 20th.
Hebron, Oct. 21st.

All taxes not paid by Dec. 1st, 1899, will have the 6 per cent. penalty added. Meet me at the appointed places and avoid the penalty.

ELMER BEALL, S. B. C.

W. M. RANDALL,

DENTIST.

Will be at

BURLINGTON,	PETERSBURG:
Monday,	Wednesday,
Tuesday,	Thursday,
	Friday,
	Saturday,

OF EACH WEEK.

GIVE HIM A CALL.

The League Institute,

VERONA, KY.

Opens September 18, 1899,

Miss N. E. Hamilton, Principal, teacher of Belle-lettres and Sciences.
Miss Madeline Pfeiffer, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Latin & German.
Miss Lulu Forwood, Mathematics and Elocution.
With those interested, a correspondence with the principal is solicited.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the League Institute, the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, 1st, That we endorse and commend the methods, management and zeal of the faculty.

2d. That we desire to express our appreciation of the steady growth of the Institute; and especially the great interest manifested by pupils and patrons.

3d. That we cordially invite parents seeking a good school for their children to investigate the merits of The League Institute.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS,
Verona, Ky.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, : : KENTUCKY.

FRANCE is trying to surpass Germany in the matter of red tape. Advertising posters must bear revenue stamps varying in value according to the size of the poster. A man who affixed a fifteen-centime stamp to a poster which should have had only a six-centime stamp has just been fined 125 francs, or $25, for the offense.

A SCOTTISH paper says that between 150,000 and 200,000 kilts are made every year. The kilted regiments of regulars, militia and volunteers number some 17 battalions. To these may be added the pipers belonging to Lowland regiments, making in all about 14,000 men. As the military kilt is only provided biennially this represents a supply of 7,000 each year.

STATISTICS show that the medical profession is more prone to suicide than any other. During the last three years the number of suicides occurring among physicians has been, respectively, 43, 49 and 47 per annum, an average of nearly one to 2,000; or, as the death rate among the physicians is about 25 to 1,000, nearly one-fiftieth of all the deaths in the profession have been by suicide.

MISS ADELAIDE EVERHART, who was commissioned by the Georgia legislature to paint a picture of the late Charles F. Crisp, at one time speaker of the national house of representatives, has completed her work and the portrait has been accepted. The figure is life size and Mr. Crisp is painted standing at the speaker's desk with a gavel in hand. The work will be hung the state capitol in a few days.

COL. CHARLES E. JONES, the Georgia historian, has compiled a list of the surviving confederate generals, which show that out of the original 19 lieutenant generals, seven survive: of the 81 major generals, 16 are living, and of 365 brigadier generals, 92 survive. The living lieutenant generals are James Longstreet, Alexander P. Stewart, Stephen D. Lee, Simon B. Buckner, Wade Hampton, John B. Gordon and Joseph Wheeler

A MONUMENT recently placed in a cemetery in Louisville, Ky., bears inscriptions to the memory of John Austin, a soldier of the revolution; James Allen Austin, his son, a soldier of the war of 1812; James Grigsby Austin, his grandson, a soldier of the war with Mexico, and James Richard Gaibright, his great-grandson, a confederate soldier, who was killed at Murfreesboro, Tenn., January 1, 1863. All were privates.

FRANCIS RYCHNOWSKI, a mechanical engineer of Lemberg, Austria, has discovered a strange and very subtle matter, which he has called "electroid," because of a certain affinity with electricity. Electroid, produced by a special appartus built by the inventor, is obtained by the dissolution of certain matter under the influence of the electric current. It makes noise and at the same time a refreshing scent and cool breeze are experienced.

A VIENNA engineer named Pollack has made a discovery which seems to have solved the question of the rapid transmission of telegraph messages. By a process only requiring the use of a simple appara us Herr Pollak is able on the same telegraphic line to wire 60,000 words an hour. The details of this remarkable invention have been bought up by a stock company, which states that up to the present they have met with great success.

E. N. DINGLEY, of Kalamazoo, Mich., who is preparing a biography of his father, the late Representative Dingley, reports that President McKinley, in a recent conversation with him, said: "When you come to write of my relations to Congressman Dingley say in the strongest and most emphatic terms that I offered him the position of secretary of the treasury, and that he declined on the ground that he could help me more in the house than in the treasury."

THE map of the United States may be radically changed in a few years. After all the natural gas has been taken from the bowels of the earth, there is a probability that the crust of the earth above the space once occupied by the gas will cave in to the depth of thousands of feet in some places. In that event the great lakes would drain into this immense abyss and the bottom of the lakes would become dry land. What is now known as the gas belt in Indiana, Ohio and Pensylvania would then be a desert of water.

COMPARATIVELY little notice has been taken of the death of Senator Albert Grevy, a brother of the former president of the Grench republic. He is chiefly remembered as having been governor general of Algeria at a period of great ferment in the African colony. He was appointed to the post in 1879, and had to repress the rising of the Kabyles. Soon afterward his administration was hotly attacked by several deputies and journalists, and in 1881 he resigned under compulsion. He has been little heard of since the period of the Panama revelations.

KENT county, Md., has a peach tree that is believed by State Entomologist W. G. Johnson to be the largest tree in the Uni ed States. The tree is on the farm of Allen Harris, on Eastern Neck Island, and is of the Crawford variety. It has a full crop of peaches this year, and has never failed to bear a crop since it began growing. It measures 67 inches in circumference and 22 inches in diameter. Three of the limbs are 23 inches, 29 inches and 30 inches in circumference, respectively. It is seldom that the large trees are the best bearers, but the case of this giant proves to be an exception.

TERRIBLE TALE.

Thirty Survivors of the Edmonton Trail Have Arrived at Wrangel.

Trading and Transportation Companies, Canadian Officials and Newspapers That Advertised the Trail as Feasible to Klondike Gold Fields Denounced.

WRANGEL, Alaska, Aug. 6, via Seattle, Wash., Aug. 11.—The Stickeen river steamer Strathcona arrived here Thursday with 30 survivors of the Edmonton trail.

These men came in with the pack train sent out from Telegraph Creek and Laketon by the various trading companies last spring.

The unfortunates tell heartrending stories of hardships endured, comrades lost and abandoned, and strongly denounce the trading and transportation companies, as well as the Canadian officials and newspapers that so profusely advertised this route as a feasible one to the Klondike gold fields. To outward appearances these men certainly give evidence of the awful suffering undergone since leaving Edmonton 18 months ago. Most of them are sickly looking, with unkempt beards and greasy clothes—pictures of physical and financial wrecks. Several are gray and bear marks of scurvy.

A few have just enough money to reach Seattle or Victoria but the majority are without funds. The citizens of Wrangel have applied to the United States government at Washington but up to this date no aid has been received. There are about 25 destitute miners here. Many have narrow escapes from starvation along the trail from Fort Simpson to Mud river and Fort Laird. A. H. Tigar and party lived on squirrels and bacon for nearly two weeks.

M. Ostig. C. Stiefel and M. W. Weisen, three of a party of five from Chicago, owe their lives to a bear that they killed just as they had run out of provisions about 20 miles from Laird Post. Wm. Schmidt and Fred Swift, of the same party, left the camp at Laird Post last spring to trap and have never been heard from since.

M. Randlemann, of Chicago, was lost in the woods above Fort Laird last fall and was compelled to live on bacon for three weeks.

Perry Wells, brother of W. H. Wells, who was one of the passengers on the Strathcona, died of scurvy at Telegraph Creek.

It is admitted that there are more than 100 men scattered along the trail between Laird Post and Pelly Banks, and relief parties have been sent out by the Hudson Bay company. The last report brought to Laird Post was that many were dying of scurvy and hunger.

It is estimated that there are thirty or forty sufferers at Telegraph Creek, awaiting the next trip of the boat. The sick that had to be carried on stretchers had not yet reached Glenora, when the Strathcona sailed.

Several starvation cases are reported. About 20 miles above Devils Portage, two unknown men were found frozen to death last winter. A man bearing the name of Johnson, from New York, was found dead in a tent near the source of the Mud river, last fall. This poor fellow had as covering only half of a blanket and in a diary still open in his hand, were these words opposite the date, February 15, 1897: "I died of hunger."

All along the route from Fort Simpson, on the McKenzie river, to Fort Laird men with frozen limbs were assisted, while some, too weak to help themselves, were necessarily left behind by those more fortunate and able to struggle along. Scurvy raged in all the camps more or less, but there are few deaths from this disease reported.

Provisions were scarce and high at all the military posts last winter and at several, including Laird Post and Fort Francis, even the postmen were put on short rations during the months of April and May of this year. Flour sold at $33 per sack, bacon at 75 cents per pound and beans 25 cents per quart.

QUARANTINE RAISED.

The Yellow Fever Epidemic at the Soldiers' Home, Hampton, Practically at an End—Record of the Scourge.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 11.—The yellow fellow epidemic is practically at an end. The quarantine established by this city against Hampton and vicinity was raised Thursday night.

The local quarantine against Norfolk will be raised Saturday evening. The record of the scourge to this date show a total of 43 cases, of which 11 resulted fatally. Twelve cases were discharged as cured and 20 convalescents remain in the hospital at the soldiers home.

Seven People Injured in a Wreck.

BRINKLEY, Ark., Aug. 11.—A collision between a passenger train on the Choctaw & Memphis and a freight on the Cotton Belt at the crossing at this place Thursday resulted in the injury to seven people, two of whom are probably fatally hurt.

Sailed for Manila.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—The United States transport Morgan City sailed for Manila Thursday night with 60 recruits and "casuals" aboard. The departure of the vessel was uneventful.

THOUSANDS ARE DESTITUTE.

War Department Appeals to the People to Send Supplies to the Sufferers of Storm-stricken Porto Rico.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The war department Friday took prompt measures for the relief of the hurricane sufferers in Porto Rico. When the press dispatches and Gen. Davis' advices made known the extent of the disaster steps were immediately taken to send supplies and the transport McPherson was ordered put in readiness to sail from New York on Monday next. She will carry rations and other necessaries. Secretary of War Root Friday afternoon sent the following appeal to the mayors of all cities of more than 150,000 population:

"Sir—The governor general of Porto Rico confirms the report that upon the 8th instant a hurricane swept over that island, entirely demolishing many of the towns, destroying many lives and reducing, so far as he can estimate, not less than 100,000 of the inhabitants to the condition of absolute destitution, without homes or food. Unless immediate and effective relief is given these unfortunates will perish of famine.

"Under these conditions, the president deems that an appeal should be made to the humanity of the American people. It is an appeal to their patriotism, for the inhabitants of Porto Rico have freely and gladly submitted themselves to the guardianship of the United States and have voluntarily surrendered the protection of Spain, to which they were formerly entitled, confidently relying upon more generous and beneficent treatment at our hands. The highest considerations of honor and good faith unite with the promptings of humanity to require from the United States a generous response to the demand of Porto Rican distress.

"This department has directed the immediate distribution of rations to the sufferers by the army in Porto Rico, so far as it is within the power of the executive, but in the absence of any appropriation we must rely largely upon private contributions.

"I beg that you will call upon the public-spirited and humane people of your city to take active and immediate measures in this exigency. The government transport McPherson will be sent directly from the port of New York to Porto Rico on Monday, the 14th instant, to carry all supplies of food which can be obtained. Further transports will be sent at future dates, of which public notice will be given.

"Any committee charged with the raising of funds will receive full information and advice upon communicating with this department.

Very respectfully,
"ELIHU ROOT,
Secretary of War."

A report has been received at the war department from an officer at San Juan, Porto Rico, estimating that the number of killed amounts to 500. The same officer says a very serious condition of affairs exists at Ponce.

WINDOW GLASS WORKERS.

They Have Entered Into a Compact With the Independent Companies and Will Fight the Combine.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 12.—Word is brought from Philadelphia, where the window glass workers have just closed their convention, that because of their failure to arrange for a conference with the combine manufacturers, they have entered into a compact with the independents. The agreement is that the workers shall receive the advance of 7½ per cent. which they have been contending for, they in return to work hand in hand with the independent manufacturers. More than 25,000 glass workers will be affected by the new arrangement, which practically means a fight against the combine.

West Virginia Oil Boom.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 12.—The Harrison county oil field is causing an influx of oil men. There are 50 producing wells, one flowing 500 barrels, 20 flowing 100 to 200 barrels, 25 or 30 ranging 30 to 65 barrels. Twenty new locations were made this week in South Penn. It is reported that there are ordered 200 riggings for the Jarvisville and Wolf Summit fields. It is rumored that the Standard and Eureka Pipe Line Co. will move their shops here from Mannington.

Arresting Prominent Reformers.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "I learn from a prominent ex-reformer that the Transvaal government has prepared warrants for the arrest of prominent reformers whenever the condition of affairs at Johannesburg provides an excuse. The presumption is that President Kruger means to secure the leading Uitlanders as hostages the moment trouble arises."

Weighs 500 Pounds.

HAGERSTOWN, Ind., Aug. 12.—Miss Lucy Havens, an Indiana girl living in Laporte county, has received a great deal of attention lately because of her refusal of an offer of $25 per week from a circus manager to travel with them as the fat girl. Miss Havens is but 18 years old and weighs 500 pounds. She lives with her parents on a farm and assists in all the work, being especially expert in milking. She is active in movement and quite good looking. Her parents are wealthy and amply able to take care of her.

THE HURRICANE.

Ponce, P. R., Almost Destroyed, Nearly All Frame Houses Down.

Damage to the Port Estimated at $250,000—There Was Awful Destruction of Property on the Eastern Coast—Large Number of Lives Lost.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The weather bureau issues the following hurricane bulletin: "Hurricane centers apparently approaching Nassau, Bahama. Storm will increase in intensity upon reaching the Gulf stream, and will probably reach the South Atlantic coast towns of the United States Friday night.

SAN JUAN DE PORTO RICO, Aug. 12.—A hurricane broke over the south coast at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning and swept northwest. There was no abatement for nine hours, the greatest damage being done between 8 and 10 a. m. The wires were down and communication with the interior was impossible. It is now chiefly carried on by couriers.

It is now said that 500 persons lost their lives at Ponce during the hurricane. Terrible distress prevails there.

Arreyo, on the south coast has been destroyed, sixteen lives were lost there and the town is still submerged in water.

At Guayamo the houses are still standing. Seven persons were killed there. A number of houses were pillaged, squads of soldiers were unable to maintain order and starvation threatens the population.

At Abonita very little remains standing except the cathedral and barracks. Four natives perished, and three United States soldiers were badly injured. As the town is without food, government relief has been dispatched thither.

El Cayey was leveled to the ground, 200 houses being demolished. Two United States soldiers were injured there and many cavalry horses killed.

At Catano the entire plant of the Standard Oil Co. was ruined. The loss on the property is $200,000.

At Bayamo a majority of the houses were destroyed and the rest were flooded. Two hundred cattle were killed and the railway was seriously damaged.

The village of Carolina was literally razed. At Caguas four persons were killed.

A message by courier from Humacao, Porto Rico, a town of 8,000 inhabitants, reports the complete destruction of that place by the storm. Sixty-four persons lost their lives and the injured number over 200. The loss to property is estimated at $2,000,000. Yabucoa, another Porto Rican town, shared a like fate. Twenty persons were killed.

Three persons were killed at Las Piedras and five at Junio.

Courlers from the other districts are anxiously expected at the palace. The steamer Slocum, Capt. Thomas, en route from Mayaguez to San Juan, was caught in the storm, but her passengers and crew were saved through the heroism of Mr., Single, the first officer. The coffee crop is ruined, and the loss will reach millions. Very great injury has been done also to the orange crop. No definite returns have yet been received from the southern section of the island apart from Ponce. It is certain, however, that the food supplies in the stricken districts have been destroyed, and in these quarters the quantity of government stores is small. Relief wagons will be sent out Friday in various directions.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The West Indian hurricane appears to be gradually decreasing in strength and the chances are that it will spend itself before making much further progress. This was the welcome news given out by the officials of the weather bureau Sunday night. It is based on the fact that there has not been any decided fall in the barometer in the localities that should feel its effects, and by the presence of an area of high pressure in the northern part of the United States, which tends to keep the storm from continuing its onward march.

It is now south of Jacksonville, indicating a slow northward movement since Saturday night. The bureau has no wire reports south of Titusville, Fla., some distance below Jacksonville, since Saturday night, and nothing from Nassau, Bahama islands, since Friday afternoon. The following message has been sent to the Philadelphia and New York maritime exchanges and to other shipping points:

"Storm still central in Florida, but with decreased strength. Conditions safe for vessels sailing north at all points from Wilmington, N. C., northward."

Monte Christi Besieged.

CAPE HAYTIEN, Aug. 14.—Monte Christi is now besieged by the insurgents and the town is without provisions.

A Dramatic Suicide.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 14.—Ernest L. Grubb, committed suicide here Sunday. He came to this city to visit his daughter, who had been adopted by an aunt. He asked the daughter to play for him on the piano. While listening to the music and talking to the aunt, he suddenly whipped out a revolver and dramatically placing it to his head, exclaimed: "This ends it all," fired and immediately fell dead. No cause is given for his self-destruction. Grubb leaves a large family at Nashville.

FOR SAFE-KEEPING.

Lewis Williams, Tramp Negro, Escorted by the Capital Guards From Jackson, Ga., to the Jail in Atlanta, Ga.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 13.—A company of the Capital City guards, under command of Capt. Barker, arrived here late Friday night from Jackson, Ga., escorting Lewis Williams, a tramp Negro, to the Atlanta jail for safe keeping. The Negro appeared at the farmhouse of McKinney Watkins, a quarter of a mile from Jackson Friday morning for some food. He was refused and left the house. Soon after Mrs. Watkins saw him returning, but before he reached the door, she picked up her baby and ran screaming from the house.

Her husband, supposing that she was about to be assaulted, chased the Negro half a mile, being joined by several of his neighbors. The Negro was wounded by a pistol shot and easily captured. He was taken to jail, but a large crowd assembling, the sheriff wired Gov. Candler for assistance. The governor quickly summoned the Capital City guards and dispatched them to Jackson.

STORM AT SANTIAGO.

The Heaviest in Fifteen Years—Severe Weather Experienced by Vessels in the Windward Passage.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Aug. 12.—The heaviest storm experienced here in 15 years struck this city Thursday. Rain and wind were almost incessant for several hours. Several houses on streets in the lower portion of the city were undermined and a good deal of damage, though nothing very serious, was done elsewhere.

In the American camp nearly half the tents were blown down.

The Ward liner Santiago, Capt. Leighton, from New York, August 3, via Nassau, where she arrived August 7, reached here Friday morning, having met with severe weather in the Windward passage. The heavy seas damaged the bridge somewhat.

No new cases of yellow fever were developed Friday according to the official reports.

BILL WILSON LYNCHED.

He Was Charged With Attempted Criminal Assault—He Was Hanged on the County Gallows by a Mob.

PORT GIBSON, Miss., Aug. 12.—Bill Wilson, colored, was lynched under peculiar circumstances. Last Tuesday Wilson was arrested in the Hermanville district on a charge of attempted criminal assault. Friday afternoon the jailer, upon entering Wilson's cell, discovered the prisoner hanging to the county gallows with several bullet wounds in his neck and shoulders. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of death by hanging and shooting by unknown parties. The execution took place so quietly that none of the officials knew what was going on.

FLOATING DRY DOCK.

The Advisability of Building One for Cavite, Philippine Islands, Being Discussed—It Will Cost $1,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The advisability of building a floating dry dock at Cavite, Philippine islands, is being generally discussed by the officials of the navy department, and it is not improbable that a recommendation for such a dock may be made by Secretary Long in his annual report. All our ships on the Asiatic station must now go to Hong Kong, six hundred miles away, to be docked.

It is believed that a floating dock could be built in this country, taken apart and transported to Manila in a sailing ship. Such a dock could be built for about $1,000,000.

HEAVY CLAIMS.

American Miners, Who Were Driven Out of the Atlin Mining District, British Columbia, Preparing Cases.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Ex-Representative Jas. H. Lewis, of Washington, was at the state department Friday preparing the case of the American miners who were driven out of the Atlin mining district of British Columbia, for formal submission to Secretary Hay upon his return to the city. Mining claims estimated at $10,000,000 were taken from these miners, and together with their claims for improvements and personal damage raised the total of the claims to about $25,000,000.

Barn and Contents Burned By Lightning

NEW HAVEN, W. Va., Aug. 12.—During a violent electrical storm Friday morning lightning struck and set fire to a large barn belonging to Mrs Adam Roush, of Bechtel. Together with ten tons of hay a number of farming implements and three head of horses were totally destroyed.

An account of the blue rose has been given by the German gardeners in Slavonia, Chwoika and Bitz, who are cultivating it. Reports came of blue roses that grew wild in Servia, and a specimen was sent to them two years ago with beautiful violet-blue flowers. They have been experimenting to see whether the color is retained under cultivation or whether it is due to the soil of the moors where it is found. If the roses retain their blue the plants will be for sale in 1901.

The sun at its center is three times as heavy as mercury.

"One Year's Seeding, Nine Years' Weeding."

Neglected impurities in your blood will sow seeds of disease of which you may never get rid. If your blood is even the least bit impure, do not delay, but take Hood's Sarsaparilla at once. In so doing there is safety; in delay there is danger. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla and only Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Never Disappoints.

PLIGHT OF A BASHFUL MAN.

He Would Have Gone If He Could Have Summoned Up Courage to Ask for His Hat.

"I always was a bashful sort of a fellow when I was young," said Ammias Fisher, as he passed his plate for the third piece of pie. He was dining out with friends and wished them to understand his temperament.

"But I was broken of that habit before I was 25. It was either a case of get over it or stay all night, and I got over it," he said, as his plate was returned with a good sized piece of pie such as Topeka housekeepers make. "I was calling, out on Fillmore street, and when I went in I forgot all about putting my hat on the rack in the hall, and carried it into the parlor with me. I put it on a sofa, and when the lady of the house came in she said 'how-dy-do' and sat her 200 pounds down on that hat.

"'I beg your pardon,' I said.

"'Why, what's the matter?' she asked, for I guess I looked kind of bewildered.

"'O, nothing,' I answered. 'I just got a stitch in my heart.'

"We went on talking, and I thought that when she got up I could sneak that hat, but she talked and talked.

"It got along to nine o'clock, and I knew I ought to go, but I was too bashful to say anything, so I just waited. Then the clock struck ten, and I knew I was staying too long, but I could not get that hat.

"'Is it moonlight?' asked the 280-pound lady.

"I said it was, and knew she wanted me to go, but I did not have the nerve to ask for that hat. Just as the clock struck 12 she blurted out: 'Why don't you go?'

"'I will if you will give me that hat,' I said.

"'What hat?'

"'My hat.'

"'Where is it?'

"'You are sitting on it.'

"'Me?' and she jumped up.

"There was my hat, and it looked much sat upon, but no more than that woman. I have never been bashful since then."—Burlington Hawkeye.

A FAIR DEMONSTRATION.

They Were Satisfied the Thing Could Be Done, But by Some One Else.

Mark Twain and his friend, Rev. Joseph H. Twitchell, once rode a bicycle ride from Hartford, Conn. (their home), to Boston, and wrote beforehand to an acquaintance in the latter city, telling him their line of route and what time he might expect to see them arrive. The appointed time was an ideal one for a long run, and the two friends started quite early in the morning. But neither of them was accustomed to long rides, so after 12 or 15 miles had been ridden, it became apparent that each of the riders was waiting for the other to say something. Finally Twain said, as they came in sight of the railway station in a small town they had entered: "Let's take the train the rest of the way."

Of course Mr. Twitchell agreed, and so the acquaintance in Boston was surprised by seeing the two friends walk up to his door about one o'clock in the afternoon. He had not expected them till evening, but he greeted them warmly, and addressing Mr. Twitchell, said: "Well, you made pretty good time, didn't you?"

"Oh, fairly good time for novices," was the reply.

"What time did you leave Hartford?" he asked of Mr. Clemens.

"About seven a. m."

"What, you don't mean to say that you have ridden all the way from Hartford to Boston on your bicycles!"

"No," replied Mark Twain, "but we rode far enough to demonstrate that it could be done."—Detroit Free Press.

Big Four Niagara Falls Excursion.

On August 15 the Big Four route will run their annual excursion to Niagara Falls. The rate will be only $7.00 from either Cincinnati or Indianapolis with corresponding low rates from other points. Connecting lines will sell excursion tickets via the Big Four route. For full information call on your local agent or address,
Warren J. Lynch, G. P. A., Big Four route,
Cincinnati, O.

If you have your own way see that your way is right.—Atchison Globe.

Pain Conquered; Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 92,549]

"I feel it my duty to write and thank you for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. It is the only medicine I have found that has done me any good. Before taking your medicine, I was all run down, tired all the time, no appetite, pains in my back and bearing down pains and a great sufferer during menstruation. After taking two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman. I am now on my fourth bottle and all my pains have left me. I feel better than I have felt for three years and would recommend your Compound to every suffering woman. I hope this letter will help others to find a cure for their troubles."—MRS. DELLA REMICKER, KENSSELAER, IND.

The serious ills of women develop from neglect of early symptoms. Every pain and ache has a cause, and the warning they give should not be disregarded.

Mrs. Pinkham understands these troubles better than any local physician and will give every woman free advice who is puzzled about her health. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass. Don't put off writing until health is completely broken down. Write at the first indication of trouble.

CARTER'S INK
Is what all the great railways use.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

THE CAMPAIGN.

Standard-Bearer William Goebel Sounds the Keynote.

The Position of Kentucky Democracy in the Present Contest Outlined—Opening Address Delivered at Mayfield, Ky., on Saturday, August 13.

The democratic campaign was formally opened at Mayfield, Ky., Saturday, with speeches from Senator Goebel, candidate for governor, and ex-United States Senator Blackburn.

Senator Goebel, in his speech, said:

We are entering upon the initial battle of the great national conflict of 1900. Now, as in 1896, the corrupt and corrupting forces that seek to perpetuate their control of government, to enrich themselves at the expense of the masses of the people, are engaged in an effort fraudulently to take Kentucky's electoral vote from Bryan and transfer it to McKinley; to prevent the election to the federal senate of Blackburn, Kentucky's foremost champion of bimetallism, and to subject Kentucky permanently to the domination of Hannaism and Hunterism, and all that they imply.

In 1896 the most effective instrument that aided in fraudulently taking Kentucky's vote from Bryan and giving it to McKinley was the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. To-day the chief influence that is endeavoring to repeat the foul work of 1896 is the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. Now, as in 1896, the means employed to this end are the subsidizing of newspapers, the coercion and intimidation of employes and dependents, and an attempt to divide the democratic party.

The reason for this course of the most powerful monopoly of the commonwealth is found not so much in the pretended apprehension of hostile state legislation—for no such legislation is or has been proposed—but in the fact that those who own and control that corporation have a greater interest than any other persons on earth in the maintaining of the single gold standard.

I do not believe that the people of Kentucky are ready to abandon government of, by and for the people, and to substitute therefor government by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co., for the benefit of the Rothschilds and the Belmonts. But that question must be determined in this contest.

There is no fact better establish d than that during the canvass preceding the recent democratic state convention, and during that convention, the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company left undone nothing within its power to control the action of that convention. That that attempt failed is sufficiently attested by the platform adopted and ticket nominated by the convention and the open letter of Mr. Milton H. Smith. And when this corporation failed to control the democratic state convention, then its agents attempted to break up that convention, in order to prevent the nomination of candidates upon the platform that had been adopted.

The platform adopted by the democracy of Kentucky this year is as clear and unequivocal a defiance of all the forces of monopoly and concentrated wealth as the national platform of 1896 itself. It reaffirms without qualification that national platform, and especially insists upon the independent free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. Money is a measure of value, a medium of exchange. It is an established economic principle that as the volume of primary money, which is the basis of all business exchanges, decreases the value of all property measured in the medium of exchange decreases. And as the volume of primary money increases, the value of property measured in or by it increases. Also, as the amount of primary money is lessened, the purchasing power of the dollar is increased. From the foundation of the government until 1873 both gold and silver constituted primary money of this country—being freely received at the mints without discrimination against either metal, and without charge for mintage. In 1873, without demand therefor from any political party, without discussion of the matter, without open or public demand from any business interest, but secretly and surreptitiously, silver was demonetized and gold was made the sole primary money. The volume of primary money was thus cut in half; the value of all things measured in money was likewise cut in half, and the value of purchasing power of all credits was doubled. This act was done in the interest of the holders of bonds and other securities of the American people.

It doubled the value or purchasing power of all debts the American people owed; it depreciated at least one-half the value of all property the American people possessed or might produce. The great creditor nation of the world in 1873 was England, and there the great bulk of American securities was owned. The United States was the great debtor nation. The act of 1873 imposed upon this country the monometallic system of the greatest creditor of this country, England. That system is as much a British system now as it was in 1873. An American policy should replace this British policy. This can only be done by restoring silver to its constitutional place as a money metal. The bimetallist asks nothing from government upon this subject except to undo the wrong it has done. He proposes no mere experiment. He insists upon a return to the wise conservatism of the founders of the republic. The struggle for the return to this system has now continued for a quarter of a century. That struggle must succeed. The demonetization of silver was a fraud upon every solvent man—a theft from every honest debtor, a robbery from every laborer and producer. It was done by avarice, and will be undone by justice. The democracy of Kentucky, now as in the past, in this contest sides with the struggling masses who produce the wealth and pay the taxes. The republican party, now as in the past, ranges itself with the idle holders of idle capital, with the bondholder and the money changer. The democrats of Kentucky declare that their faith in bimetallism has been vindicated by events; that the necessity for the restoration of the double standard was acknowledged by President McKinley and the congress when, in 1897, a commission was sent to Europe to entreat other nations to aid us in re-establishing bimetallism; that the failure of this commission to secure European co-operation establishes the fact that the free coinage of silver can come only through the independent action o the United States, and that the present legal ratio of 16 to 1 is the only ratio at which bimetallism can be restored, and that opposition to that ratio is confined to those who oppose bimetallism at any ratio, and to those who ignore the reasons which led three national conventions to adopt it.

And, in order to emphasize as nothing else could emphasize, their conviction and purpose with reference to this great question, the democracy of Kentucky have in their platform nominated as their candidate for the presidency next year William Jennings Bryan, and as their candidate to succeed William Lindsay in the federal senate Joseph C. S. Blackburn.

The democratic platform pledges the party to renewed efforts to suppress trusts. It declares in favor of an amendment to the anti-trust statute now on the statute books making non-enforceible any contract made by any trust, or any member of any trust, with a view to fix or regulate prices or control production. In other words, no trusts, and no member of any trust or combination, shall be permitted to recover in the courts of the commonwealth the price of any article that is the product of any trust.

The trust is among the greatest of the evils of the time. Trusts are formed and operated through corporations. The corporation is a creature of the government. Theoretically all corporations are created for the public good. When they abuse their privileges and menace the public welfare laws should be enacted to prevent the abuses or to revoke the privileges abused.

The tendency of the trusts of this day is to produce a condition like that which was produced by what was known as the feudal system in Europe 400 and 500 years ago. Our histories teach us that in that time and under that system nearly all wealth—which then consisted largely in land—was owned by a select class known as the nobility. The great body of the people were tenants and servitors upon the land, many passing with the land like the cattle upon it. With the development of constitutional liberty the feudal system disappeared. The trust of this day tends to impoverishment of the many to enrich the few. It means corruption of government, the purchase of special privileges and use of the power thus acquired to plunder the masses of the people. It enables its operators to control both production and consumption. It robs producer, consumer and employe alike. It means what the concentration of great wealth in the hands of the few has meant in all ages and in all countries—the making of mere dependents of the great body of people, depriving them of all hope of progress or independence. It is founded in heartless greed, and is at war with fundamental principles of republican institutions and the dearest rights of mankind. Republican government can not coexist with complete domination of the trust. Carried to its logical conclusion, the trust is more destructive of individual independence than a monarchical form of government. Either the people must control the trusts or the trusts will rule the people.

The chief means through which trusts are establish d and maintained are the single gold standard and a high protective tariff. The democratic party is and has always been unalterably opposed to both; the republican party is responsible for both.

At the last session of the Kentucky general assembly the democratic majority of the house of representatives passed an anti-trust bill, offered by Mr. Bradburn, of Bowling Green, which, in my judgment, would have proved effective to crush the operations of the trust in this state. In both the house of representatives and senate every republican vote was cast against this bill. It failed of passage in the senate solely because there two members, elected as democrats, joined with the entire republican membership of that body in voting against it. Notwithstanding this record of the republican party in both nation and state, the republican platform in Kentucky declares, "We pledge the republican party to the enactment of all such laws as may be necessary to prevent trusts, pools, etc.

And Mark Hanna—the real head of the republican party in this nation, the gatherer and disburser of the immense corruption fund used to make McKinley president, which included $1,000,000 contributed by the sugar trust; Hanna, the agent through whom the powers of government sworn by the republican party bartered to the contributors of this fund, in order that they might not only reimburse but magnificently compensate themselves by levying tribute, through unequal laws, upon the people; Hanna, himself one of the foremost manipulators and greatest beneficiaries of trusts, actually had the recent republican state convention in Ohio to denounce the trusts.

The democratic platform approves of, and the republican platform demands the repeal of, the statute amending the election law enacted by the last general assembly. The gist of that statute is that it takes from the county judges and confers upon three commissioners in each county the power to appoint each year the precinct election officers that are to conduct elections, the county commissioners being appointed by a state board of three commissioners chosen by the general assembly.

This statute was rendered necessary by the frauds by which the vote of Kentucky was in 1896 taken from Bryan and given to McKinley. By what means were these frauds in the election of 1895 committed? By the deliberate and systematic violation of the most important provision of the secret ballot election law, designed to prevent frauds, namely, that provision which directed that at each voting precinct there shall be a division of the election officers among the political parties contesting in the election. There never was a secret ballot election law enacted anywhere that did not contain that safeguard against fraud. Why is that provision so important? Because by other provisions of the law it is directed that immediately upon the closing of the polls the ballots shall be counted, and immediately upon conclusion of the counting the ballots shall be destroyed, and then the voter is prohibited from testifying in any proceeding, civil or criminal, how he voted. It is obvious that under such a system, if election officers act corruptly they can with impunity make the result of an election what they choose without reference to how the votes were cast. The ballots being destroyed and the voter prohibited from testifying how he voted, it is impossible to prove the fraud. When the officers are divided among the political parties, the representatives of each party can see to it—and, if they are honest, they will see to it—that no false count in the ballots is made, and they will refuse to join in certifying any other than the honest result.

In only one way could indefinite repetition of these frauds be prevented. That way was by changing the appointing power so as to render it certain that at every voting precinct in the commonwealth the democratic party would be represented by two real democrats, as well as the republican party by two republicans and this the new law does.

Many misrepresentations were uttered and published about this law. It was asserted that no penalty for offenses committed by election officers was provided by the new law, and consequently there was no law providing punishment for such offenses. But in the suit to test the validity of the law the appellate court adjudged, as the advocates of the law had contended, that the penalties provided by the original secret ballot election law remained in force and were applicable to every wrong done after enactment of the new law. It was claimed that because the anti-trust statute did not provide for appeals to the courts from decisions of election contest boards in election contests, therefore that right was destroyed. But the court of appeals decided, as the democrats contended, that the right of appeal to the courts remained unaffected in every case in which there was such right before the new law was enacted.

The republican platform declares that the democratic broad power to irresponsible commissioners not chosen by or accountable to the people for their acts." To whom is a county judge in any of the mountain counties having large republican majorities responsible? And what would such a judge care for criticism because he had not, in appointing election officers, divided them among the political parties? Under the old law the action of the county judge in appointing election officers could not be reviewed, nor could he be removed from office nor be in any wise punished for disregarding the law governing the appointment of election officers. There can scarcely be imagined a more irresponsible power than that conferred by the old law upon the county judge.

But the new law empowers the state commissioners to remove from office at any time any county commissioner, so that whenever any county commissioner violates the law there is an immediate remedy by bringing the matter to the attention of the state board.

It was said this law was without precedent, but in Ohio the republican party has for years had in operation a law which exists in one man, the secretary of state, the power to appoint county election commissioners for all counties in the state save those containing the large republican cities, and in these excepted counties, which usually go republican even when the state goes democratic, the power to appoint the election commissioners is vested in the mayors. The republican press of Ohio, of course, continues to denounce the "infamous" Kentucky election law.

In Virginia, the home of Jefferson, the father of the democratic party, the general assembly at every session, by joint resolution, appoints a board of three election commissioners for every county in the commonwealth, who in turn appoint the registration and election officers. Mahoneism has given the people of Virginia a proper appreciation of the importance of this subject, and they have therefore placed it upon the same plane with the highest function of government—the exercise of the sovereign legislative power.

In Tennessee, the home of Jackson, than whom there was no greater democrat, nor truer man, the governor annually appoints three election commissioners for each county, who in turn appoint the election officers. The people of Tennessee have had a longer experience with republican frauds under a secret ballot system than have the people of Kentucky, and that experience has taught them what is necessary to prevent these frauds.

The best test of any law is its practical operation. In November of last year we had an election under this law. It is conceded that the election was as fairly conducted as any election ever held in the commonwealth. Two contests for seats in congress grew out of that election, both contests being made by the republican candidates, but in neither case was there any claim of wrong under or by reason of this law. Judge Jones, the republican candidate for judge of the court of appeals last year, made opposition to this law the basis of his canvass. He was defeated. Neither he nor any one else has even pretended that wrong of any kind contributed to the result. This is a complete answer to every objection that has been made to this law.

Gov. Bradley, in his message to the general assembly that enacted this law, recommended the enactment of a new election law to prevent election frauds. The bill for the new law did not meet his views and he vetoed it, but even he has declared that the new law is better than the old law, to which the republican platform demands a return.

No well-informed, fair-minded man doubts that but for this law Judge Hobson would not be judge of the court of appeals. No well-informed, fair-minded man doubts that but for this law—without reference to how the votes may be cast—the results of the elections this year and next year would have been determined now in favor of the republican party.

Their real objection to this law its opponents do not state; that objection is that this law insures honest elections. This law takes the vote of Kentucky out of the vote market which Hanna established in Kentucky in 1896. It destroys the assumed infallible right of the republican party to steal elections. It is the barricade which the democracy of Kentucky have erected to repel the invasions of Hannaism, and it will prove effective to prevent a repetition of the theft of 1896.

The democratic platform indorses and the republican platform condemns the bill offered by Senator McChord and passed at the last session of the general assembly, which was vetoed by the governor.

If that bill had become a law the railroad commission would have been empowered by it to fix maximum rates for the carrying of freights on railroads in this commonwealth, in order to prevent discrimination and extortion.

The democratic platform favors, and the republican platform opposes, the enactment of a law reducing the prices of school books used in the common schools of the state. At the last session there was passed by the house of representative a bill upon this subject, offered by Mr. Chinn, of Mercer county. This bill fixes a maximum of prices for school books, on an average, one-third less than the price now fixed by the school book trust, but that maximum was still ten per cent. above the average maximum price fixed by a similar law that has been in successful operation in Indiana for ten years. In the house of representatives and in the senate every republican vote was cast against the bill.

What good reason can there be why the same school books, manufactured and sold by the same corporation, should in Kentucky cost 45 per cent., or nearly one-half, more than they cost in the adjoining state of Indiana? Such is the fact, solely because the law permits it, and because the representatives of the republican party in the last general assembly did the bidding of the lobbyists of the book trust. If there be anything that ought to be made as nearly free as air as the law can make it, it is the opportunity of every child in the commonwealth to get an education.

The democracy of Kentucky affirms that it is as true now as it was when Jefferson wrote it into the Declaration of Independence, that "governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed," and that this applies to all peoples everywhere. They affirm that this nation should no more have a British colonial policy than it should have a British financial policy; that what would have been "criminal aggression" in Cuba is "criminal aggression" in the Philippines, and therefore they denounce the policy of the present national administration in these islands. The only redeeming features of the republican policy of imperialism are the bravery and heroism of the American soldiers.

DUEL TO THE DEATH.

Both of the Participants Are Dead—Eight or Nine Shots Were Fired From Forty-Five Caliber Revolvers.

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 14.—A sensational duel to the death occurred here Sunday morning between Policeman A. P. Rawlins and Charles A. Daniels. Forty-five caliber single action six-shooters were the weapons, the distance three paces, and both of the principals are dead. Eight or nine shots were fired, and plate glass windows for a block around were shattered. Rawlins lived ten minutes and Daniels lived exactly an hour. The former was shot three times and the latter once.

Rawlins was under the influence of liquor at the time and a friend was trying to induce him to go home when Daniels crossed the street and sat down in front of a drugstore. Rawlins pointed his finger at Daniels and said: "There sits a cowardly ——." This was repeated three times before Daniels got up from his chair and approached. There was not a half dozen words spoken before the shooting began. Rawlins died in the street. Daniels staggered into the drugstore where he expired.

The Agrarian Riot at Guadaloupe.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 14.—A dispatch from the island of Guadaloupe reports a trial there of the ringleaders of an Agrarian riot, involving the wrecking of a plantation and a murderous attack on three Englishmen by 600 men, in which the correctional tribunal attributed the outrage to "the prevailing unwholesome excitement fomented by socialistic propaganda."

ANOTHER FIGHT.

San Mateo Taken, With an American Loss of Three Killed.

The Filipinos Were Routed After Forty Minutes' Fighting—Twenty-Three of the Enemy Are Known to Have Been Killed—Colored Troops.

MANILA, Aug. 14.—A reconnoisance Saturday by troops of Gen. Samuel B. M. Young's brigade with the object of discovering the whereabouts of the enemy near San Mateo, northeast of the San Juan reservoir, about ten miles from Manila, resulted in the occupation of San Mateo.

The American loss was three killed and 13 wounded, including a lieutenant of the 21st infantry.

The Americans approached San Mateo in three columns. Maj. Cronin, with 15 men of the 25th infantry, advanced from Novaliches, five miles west of San Mateo. Capt. Rivers, with 100 men of the 4th cavalry, and Capt. Parker, formerly lieutenant colonel of the 12th New York Volunteer regiment, with 280 men of the 21st and 24th infantry and the 4th cavalry, approached in two columns from the south.

Maj. Cronin experienced many difficulties arising from the condition of the country and failed to effect a junction with Capt. Rivers west of San Mateo, as had been planned.

Capt. Rivers advancing, took an outpost of the enemy two miles southwest of the San Mateo. He then encountered strong resistance among the hills, the enemy firing from excellent positions. Having failed to connect with Maj. Cronin, and seeing that the town was already occupied by the Americans Capt. Rivers withdrew, covering his withdrawal by a heavy volley. He lost a sergeant killed.

Capt. Parker, on advancing, found the enemy strongly entrenched on the far side of some rice fields, about a mile wide and covered with deep mud. Pushing forward rapidly, he routed the Filipinos after 40 minutes' fighting, and then continued the march upon San Mateo, which he entered without serious resistance about half-past one in the afternoon.

Maj. Cronin entered the town about half-past four. The Americans still occupy the place. Our men were exhausted by the heavy marching.

Twenty-three of the enemy are known to have been killed.

This is the first action in which Col. Hurt's colored troops participated. They behaved well, their leaders having difficulty in holding them back.

Gen. Young accompanied Capt. Parker's column and was under fire through out the engagement. It is estimated that the enemy numbered between 300 and 400 men.

The insurgents have taken the aggressive in the neighborhood of the railroad. On Saturday night they unsuccessfully attacked San Luis, on the Rio Grande, near Calumpit, which is garrisoned by two companies of the 22d infantry. The Americans had one man, a sergeant, killed and two privates wounded.

Sunday morning a similar affair took place at Gringua, four miles west of Malolos where another small garrison is stationed as a safeguard against a possible attack upon the railway. A special train took reinforcements to Malolos and Guiguinto, just north of Bulacan.

THE RELIEF OF DERRY.

The Protestant Celebration of the Anniversary at Londonderry Led to Riotous Scenes Sunday.

LONDONDERRY, Aug. 14.—The Protestant celebration of the anniversary of the relief of Derry, besieged by James II.'s army in 1689, led to riotous scenes here Sunday. An excursion party, composed of 400 members of a '98 club, arrived from Belfast, but the police refused to allow the excursionists to enter the city. The appearance of a nationalist band to meet the party caused disorders and stone throwing. Both mobs attacked the police. Finally the riot act was read and the mayor of Londonderry called out the garrison. Eight constables were seriously injured.

The rioting was renewed Sunday evening on the departure of the excursionists in the vicinity of the railway station. The police made repeated baton charges and several persons were injured.

German Celebration in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—One hundred thousand German-American citizens participated Sunday in the celebration incident to the opening of the fourteenth annual convention of the Kreigerbund and the twenty-fifth annual reunion in America of the Deuscher Kreigerverein.

Robbery of a Mail Pouch.

DETROIT, Aug. 14.—Discovery of a bold robbery of a mail pouch en route from Chicago with northwestern mail for Canadian points was made Sunday afternoon by a Grand Trunk railway porter. The pouch, with a quantity of opened letters, was found under a platform at the railroad station. The bag was stolen, it appears, Friday night while en route in a mail wagon from the Michigan Central to the Grand Trunk station. No clew has been discovered by the detectives employed on the case.

MAITRE LABORI.

Capt. Dreyfus' Counsel Ambushed by Two Men and Shot—His Recovery is Doubtful.

RENNES, Aug. 14.—Two men ambushed Maitre Labori, counsel for Dreyfus, and one shot was fired, hitting Labori in the back. M. Labori fell in the roadway. He is still alive.

Maitre Labori left his house alone for the court at about 6 o'clock Monday morning. His residence is situated in the suburbs of the town about a quarter of an hour's walk from the Lycee, the route being along a solitary road beside the river Vilaine.

He had reached a point half way on his journey when two men, who had evidently been lying in wait for him, rushed out of a narrow lane and one of them fired a single shot from a revolver. The murderers were only a couple of yards behind their victim and the bullet struck Maitre Labori in the back. The wounded man uttered an agonized cry and fell on his face. The murderers immediately fled through the lane from which they had emerged and both escaped.

At 7:30 o'clock it was announced that the bullet had entered the stomach; that there was no outward bleeding and that the physicians believe that M. Labori will die from the wound.

A later story has it that M. Labori was shot in the temple by a man who fired a revolver at him outside the court and that the miscreant was arrested.

Only two or three laborers going to work witnessed the shooting of Maitre Labori. The spot was well chosen, as the murderers could not be seen by M. Labori until they rushed out upon their victim, the entrance to the lane being hidden by bushes. Moreover they were afforded an easy means of escape by passing back through the lane, which led to the country.

WARRANTS ISSUED.

M. Godefrey, President of the Committee of the Jeunesse Royalists, and Others Arrested—A Demonstration.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—Demonstrations occurred Sunday evening outside the offices of the anti-semitic league where Jules Guerin, president of the league and Max Reis, the former Jew baiting mayor of Algiers, against whom orders of arrest were issued Saturday on a charge of conspiring to bring about a change of government, are still besieged by the police.

Fifty anti-Semites took up a position in a restaurant opposite and M. Guerin harangued them from a window. Finally the police closed the thoroughfare to prevent the demonstration becoming serious.

In the course of the evening M. Godefrey, president of the committee of the Jeunesse royalists, was arrested, and a dispatch from Saint Lo, capital of the department of Manche, announces the arrest of M. Le Menuet, secretary of the League of Patriots.

It appears that the report of the arrest of M. Mariel-Habert, member of the chamber of deputies for Rambouillet and a high official of the League of Patriots, was incorrect. He is still at large. Out of 37 warrants issued, some 27 have been executed.

SENATOR BEVERIDGE.

He and Lieut. Commander Percy St. John Are Taking Waters in the Canadian Park, at Banff, N. W. T.

BANFF, N. W. T., Aug. 14.—The friends of Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, who is taking the waters in the Canadian National park, are crowding him with dispatches of inquiry concerning his health. To all the senator has answered that he is well.

Lieutenant Commander Percy St. John, of her majesty's ship Peacock, is also here, and can scarcely contain himself with indignation on account of his reputed criticism of Gen. Otis and the Filipino campaign. American papers containing the reported interviews at Victoria have made the commander furious. He denies the correctness of his interviews, and has through his attorney demanded to be set right.

SHIP CANAL FINISHED.

Port Arthur, Tex., is Now a Seaport—The Steamship St. Oswald Royally Welcomed by the Populace Sunday.

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Aug. 14.—Port Arthur is now a seaport. The magnificent steamship St. Oswald, beautifully decorated with flags and streamers, entered the ship canal at 1 o'clock Sunday and steamed through at a speed of eight knots an hour. She was royally welcomed by almost the entire population of the city. For two years past assertions have been freely made that the canal would never be finished, that it was not practicable and was only a town site. There is much rejoicing at the completion of the work.

Monster Tooth and Jawbone.

BOURBON, Ind., Aug. 14.—While the dredge was working on the Hoffman lake drainage ditch a monster tooth and jawbone was found. The tooth weighs nearly eight pounds, is eight inches in length, and is six inches in width. The tooth is fresh, as if highly polished, but the jawbone is much decayed. It was found at a depth of six feet in the marsh land, and is pronounced the remains of a monster prehistoric animal. Other portions of the skeleton were found, but in handling them they crumbled to dust.

Pith of the Press.

Less Otis or more troops is the demand in the Philippines.—Kansas City Times.

We should not be surprised to hear that John Sherman is studying to be a Democrat.—Atlanta Constitution.

Alger's role of martyr may yet land him in the Senate. It has already strengthened him.—Nashville American.

The rainy season is at hand, and General Otis is strongly committed to the "more rain, more rest," idea. —Washington Post.

The American people cannot be convinced that Admiral Dewey is ever guilty of talking nonsense.—Baltimore American.

No doubt Otis is blissfully unconscious of the space he occupies next to pure reading matter.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

It is disappointing to learn that the valiant Roosevelt applied the masterful knife to General Alger's back.—Detroit Free Press.

Vice President Hobart is not a talkative man, but what he says goes. And what he says goes goes likewise.—Chicago Tribune.

There will be some curiosity as to the identity of the next man to engender the cordial support of Mr. Pingree.—Washington Post.

Kohlsaat and Grosvenor have not been heard from for several days. They must be taking a vacation.—Fremont (Ohio) Messenger.

So far as the infernal newspapers are concerned, my dear Sir Wilfred, you are everlastingly right. Blank 'em!—Grover Cleveland.—Chicago Tribune.

President McKinley might take a hint from France and begin a judicious weeding out among the Generals of the army.—Ft. Worth (Tex.) Register.

Alger received a magnificent welcome on his return to Detroit. Perhaps Uncle Charley Grosvenor can figure out what that means.—Omaha World-Herald.

McKinley expresses his entire confidence in Otis, but Otis need not get gay over it. McKinley also expressed his entire confidence in Alger.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

General Miles is not going to ask the new Secretary of War for his rights until he finds that they are denied to him. And therein he is eminently wise.—Columbus Dispatch.

Alger's welcome at Detroit makes Senator McMillan keep up as vigorous a thinking as the man who finds his neighbor's cow getting her breakfast on his lawn.—Minneapolis Journal.

It is a fortunate thing for Admiral Sampson that he will not be obliged to make a personal identification of the ships he sent to the bottom at Santiago.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Don't forget the primary election which will be held next Saturday.

Two or three communications came in too late for use this week —all of them that can be used will appear next.

The floods, last week, did an immense amount of damage to crops in the lower part of the county. Some stock was drowned.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Florence

Mrs. Ann Osborn has been quite sick for the past two weeks.

M. J. Castleman, of Glencoe, was a visitor here, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. T. L. Swetnam, of Covington, was the guest of Mrs. Dr. Sayer, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Drogie, of Covington, are the guests of her father, Fred Rich.

Mrs. Caroline Senlour, of Erlanger, was the guest of Jacob Rice and family, Sunday.

Martin Cahill and family were the guests of Mrs. Cahill's father, Henry Oelaner, Sunday.

Andy Grogan has been a very sick man for the past ten days, and is not any better at this writing.

Dr. Charles Souther, of Cincinnati, was here Sunday on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Souther.

Miss Annie Carpenter, of Chicago, who has been visiting relatives here, the past three weeks, returned home last Thursday.

A. J. DeFord, of the Enquirer staff, spent Sunday here with his family, who are spending a few weeks with A. M. Thomas and family.

There is to be a meeting of the citizens of this county at Erlanger Thursday night to see what can be done in way of getting a street car line out here. Let everybody go and help the cause along.

Mr. Marion Stephens is very low and not expected to live. The speaking which was to have taken place here Saturday night by the candidates for Representative was postponed on account of Mr. Stephens' illness.

Primary Election.

The Democratic Executive Committee of Boone county, pursuant to call, met in the office of D. E. Castleman in Burlington, at 2 o'clock p. m., July 22, 1899, and the following resolutions were unanimously carried:

1st. That the nomination of a candidate for the Legislature be determined by a primary election, to be held on August 19th, 1899, under the law, and that said primary election be conducted free to the candidates, except for the expense for ballots, for which expense the Chairman of the Committee, after having contracted for the printing thereof, shall apportion the same among the candidates.

2d. That all known Democrats and those young men who are not of age on the date of said primary, but who will be legal voters at the November election, and will pledge themselves to support the nominee of this primary, shall be entitled to participate therein.

On motion duly seconded and carried, the Committee adjourned to meet at the office of D. E. Castleman, in Burlington, on August 7th, 1899, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of selecting officers for said primary election, at which time each committeeman is requested to recommend a list of primary election officers for his precinct. D. E. CASTLEMAN, Ch'm'n

J. C. BENNINGER, Sec'ty.

The County Democratic Executive Committee met last Monday pursuant to adjournment, and appointed the following officers to conduct the primary election on the 19th inst.:

Burlington—Willis Grant, Al Rogers, Judges; J. S. Clutterbuck, clerk, Ed Hawes, sheriff.

Bullittsville—Thos Grant, Wash Watts, judges, Walter Crigler, clerk, Chas McAfee, sheriff.

Petersburg—E Krulz, S S McWethy, Judges, J B Tolin, clerk, Thos Hines, sheriff.

Bellevne—Jas Rogers, E L Grant, judges, W B Arnold, clerk, Hubert Brady, sheriff.

Rabbit Hash—Lewis Clore, Don Williamson, judges, Moses Scott, clerk, Fillmore Kyle, sheriff.

Big Bone—W W Grimsley, G L Pitcher, judges, G M Allen, clerk, B H Stephens, sheriff.

Beaver—G W Sleet, Geo Ossman, judges, G S Carroll, clerk, J B Eldridge, sheriff.

Verona—J W Waller, E E Fry, judges, G B Johnson, clerk, W A Vest, sheriff.

Walton—J J Hudson, T F Curley, judges, A R Johnson, clerk, Andrew P Ellis, sheriff.

Union—Wm Taliaferro, J W Conner, judges, J L Frazier, clerk, L J Riley, sheriff.

Florence—R P Houston, Thomas B Aylor, judges, J R Rouse, clerk, D H Brown, sheriff.

Constance—W E Walton, Simeon W Tanner, judges, Jell Cloud, clerk, Leonard Crigler, clerk.

Ordered by the committee that its proceedings as published in the Recorder be their notice and authority for holding the Democratic primary election on the 19th of August, 1899.

It is ordered by the committee that Dr. J. G. Furnish be and he is appointed chairman of the county democratic campaign committee, and is empowered to select one member for said committee for each voting precinct.

D. E. CASTLEMAN, Chairman.

As a farewell to Mr. Astor the band might be requested to play that touching popular ballad, "Take your clothes and go."—Washington Star.

The Coming of Baby

brings joy or pain. It's for the mother to decide. With good health and a strong womanly organism, motherhood but adds to a woman's attractiveness.

McELREE'S

Wine of Cardui

takes away all terrors by strengthening the vital organs. It fits a mother for baby's coming. By revitalizing the nerve centres it has brought chubby, crowing youngsters to thousands of weak women who feared they were barren. It purifies, heals, regulates and strengthens, and is good for all women at all times. No druggist would be without it. $1 co.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

MRS. LOUISA HALE, of Jefferson, Ga., says:—"When I first took Wine of Cardui we had been married three years, but could not have any children. Nine months later I had a fine girl baby."

Coal! Coal!

Good Raymond City Coal

In the Yard,

9 1-2 Cents a Bushel.

KANAWAH COAL

9 cents a bushel.

J. P. LINDSAY & CO.,

Erlanger, Ky.

J. O. HUEY, Manager.

PREMIUM LIST

—OF THE—

Fourteenth Annual Meeting

—OF THE—

BOONE CO. HARVEST HOME ASSOCIATION.

To be held on its Grounds near

LIMABURG, - - KY.,

—ON—

Saturday, Aug. 26, 1899.

GRAIN.

	1st.	2nd.
Wheat, best half bushel.....	$2	$1,00
White Corn, best 25 ears.....	2	1,00
Yellow Corn, best 25 ears.....	2	1,00

The above 3 premiums given by the Kentucky Bureau of Agriculture.

Rye, best peck..... 1
Oats, best peck..... 1
Sweet Corn, best 12 ears..... 1
Tobacco, best 6 stalks..... 1
Best display of Grain—first premium, 2 hole Gasoline Stove by the W. G. Snyder Co..... 2,50 1,00

VEGETABLES.

Irish Potatoes, best pk early 1
Irish Potatoes, best pk late.. 1
Sweet Potatoes, best peck.... 1
Tomatoes, best peck—premium by Harrison Clore..... 1
Pumpkins best three..... 1
Squashes, best three..... 1
Kershaws, best three..... 1
Watermelons, best three..... 1
Nutmegs, best three..... 1
Turnips, best peck..... 1
Onions, best peck..... 1
Green Beans, best peck..... 1
Best 3 gallon Soup Beans..... 1
Cabbage, best three heads... 1
Celery, best six bunches..... 1
Carrots, best six..... 1
Radishes, best six..... 1
Cucumbers, best six..... 1
Best display Beets..... 1
Best display Peppers—25 bu.
Coal by the Hatfield Coal Co., Covington, Ky..... 2
Best dispiay Vegetables. $2 1,00

This premium given by the Kentucky Bureau of Agriculture.

FRUITS.

Apples, best display—15 lbs. best coffee by J. H Voss & Bros..... 2,50
Peaches, best display..... 1
Plums, best display..... 1
Pears, best display..... 1
Quinces, best display..... 1
Grapes, best display—One case assorted wines given by A. J. Bresch & Co..... 2,50
Best display Fruit—premium by the Ky. Bureau of Agriculture..... $3,00 2,00 1,00

PANTRY AND DAIRY.

Sour Pickles, best display—Fine Lamp given by L. H. Grober & Co..... 2
Sweet Pickles, best display.... 2
Corn Bread, best loaf..... 1
Best loaf Bread, hop yeast—1 set Spoons by E. W. Scales.. 2
Best loaf Bread, salt rising—1 bbl. Jackson's Best Patent Flour given by R. Hamilton Grocery Co..... 4
Best Pound Cake, without icing..... 1
Best Jelly Cake..... 1
Best Layer Cake—premium by Gus W. Mauinger..... 2
Butter, best 3 lbs.—Child's Suit by Rolfes & Wachs..... 3
Peaches, best single can..... 1
Pears, best single can..... 1
Tomatoes, best single can..... 1
Maple Molasses, best quart.... 50
Sorghum Molasses, best quart 50
Apple Vinegar, best quart..... 50
Best 2 lbs. Honey..... 50
Best Lady Cake—Picture and Frame by Wm. R. Scheifers 1,50
Fruit Butter, best display—Premium by Jameson Bros. Printers, 13 Pike St. Covington, Ky..... 2
Preserves, best display—First premium by C. T. Davis & Co., Hebron, Ky..... 2 1,00
Jelly, best display—1st premium by Elmer Beall, Sheriff Boone Co., Ky..... 3 2,00
Best Fruit Cake—6 doz. Mason Fruit jars by G. W. Hill & Co 3

POULTRY.

Cochins, best pair—Pair Shoes by Amos Tweed, Masonic Temple, Ludlow, Ky..... 1,50
Leghorns, best pair..... 1
Wyandotts, best pair..... 1
Minorcas, best pair..... 1
Brahamas, best pair..... 1
Game, best pair..... 1
Plymouth Rock, best pair—Umbrella by Coppin's Dry Goods Palace..... 3
Bantams, best pair..... 1
Turkeys, best pair—one year's subscription to Ky. Post.... 3
Geese, best pair—Lapduster by Chas. Mathmann..... 1,50
Ducks, best pair—Heavy Copper Boiler by Hesselman & Wahle..... 2,50
Poultry, best display—1st premium by John Aillson..... 3 2,00
Fuchias, best display..... 1
Cactus, best display—picture & frame by Grote, Marschal & Co..... 1
Best Hanging Basket—1 year's subscription to Boone County Recorder..... 1,50
Best Hand Bouquet—picture and frame by Grote, Marschal & Co..... 1
Geraniums, best display—premby G. C. Goode..... 1,50
Best display Flowers in pots—Davis Swing Churn by J. M. Walker & Co..... 5,00

ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS AND PAINTINGS.

Cut Flowers, best display..... 1
Wax Flowers, best specimen.. 1
Feather Flowers, best specimen 1
Paper Flowers, best specimen Lady's Hat by Mrs. J. Appel 5
Hair Flowers, best specimen... 1
Tapestry Painting, best sp'men 1
Crayon Drawing, best sp'men 1
Pencil Drawing, best spe'men 1
Oil Painting, best specimen—Framed picture of W. J. Bryan by Frank Handorf, 23 W. 7th Street Covington, Ky... 2
Best Knit Counterpane..... 1
Best Calico Patchwork Quilt... 1
Worsted Patchwork Quilt, p'n 1
Silk Patchwork Quilt, plain... 2
Fancy Fan Quilt—Chamber Set 12 pieces by Delbi Ferry Company..... 5
Silk Patchwork Quilt, crazy—Wringer by J. H. Mersman, Jr., & Co..... 3,50
Worsted Patchwork Quilt, crazy—pair fine Gold Glasses by F. Pieper..... 4

EMBROIDERY AND NEEDLE WORK.

Linen Embroidery, best..... 1
Silk Embroidery, best..... 1
Cotton Embroidery, best..... 1
Kensington Work, best..... 1
Arasine Work, best..... 1
Crochet Work, best..... 1
Lace Work, best..... 1
Art Needle Work, best sp'men 1
Knit Lace, best specimen..... 1
Drawn Thread, best specimen 1
Rag Carpet, best 10 yards..... 1
Fancy Knitting in Silk..... 1
Best Hand-made Shirt..... 1
" Hand-sewing, new work... 1
Woolen Knitting, plain..... .50
Knitting in Cotton, plain..... .50
Best fancy Woolen Knitting.. .50

HOGS.

Best sow with 6 or more sucking pigs..... $5
Best pair pigs under 6 months of age..... 5
Best boar and sow over 6 mos. and under 1 year..... 5

SHEEP.

Best aged buck, long wool..... 3
Best aged buck, short wool—Pair Men's Shoes by Dan Cohen, Covington..... 5
Best aged Ewe, long wool..... 3
Best aged Ewe, short wool..... 3
Best pair Lambs—Child's Suit by H. F. Blase..... 5

CATTLE.

Best dairy bull under 2 years—$2.50 of this premium given by Farmers & Traders National Bank..... 5
Best bull, beef breed, under 2 years..... 5
Best dairy Heifer, under 2 yrs 3
Best heifer, beef breed..... 3
Best milch cow..... 5
Best Jersey Herd, bull and 3 or more cows..... 10 5,00

HORSES.

Best suckling draft colt regardless of sex—2nd premium by H. H. Thomann..... 5 2,50
Best suckling harness colt regardless of sex—1st premium by B. B. Allphin, Deputy Sheriff, Boone co —2d premium by J. S. Clutterbuck.... 5 2,50
Best suckling colt, general purpose, regardless of sex—1st premium by H. Eilerman & Son; 2nd premium by Ernstes Bros., Hebron, Ky..... 5 2,00
Best mare mule colt, get of J. E. House's Jack..... 5
Best horse mule colt, get of J. E. House's Jack..... 5
The two above premiums given by J E. House, Yarnellton, Ky.
Foot Race, 200 yards dash—Hat by J. J. Gelken..... 3
Best looking unmarried lady on grounds—Willow Rocker by Calne & Baisley..... 5

General Admission. 25c.
Children Under 10 years, Free.
Dancing Free.

All Privileges—Will be rented at the Grounds, Saturday, August 19th, 1899, at 1 o'clock p. m.

Consign your Stock to

Rabenstein, Harris & Conner,

—Live Stock—

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

COVINGTON STOCK YARDS,
Covington, Ky.,

OR UNION STOCK YARDS,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

When shipping East bill our care privilege selling Central Covington Stock Yards.

We will make it to your advantage and give your stock special personal attention.

Helms' ~ Barber ~ Shop,

PETERSBURG, KY.

Hair cut 15c, on Saturday 20c; Shave 10c; Shampoo 15c; Sea Foam 5c; Hair Singe 5c; Beard Trim 5c, other work proportionally as low in price. Ladies' and childrens' work a specialty. ☞All work guaranteed satisfactory or money refunded. Hair Oils, Tonics, Perfume, etc., for sale. Thanking all for past favors, I remain, &c,

EVERETT HELMS, Prop.

LADIES—To the ladies that have not paid us a call, will say, that Thursday is conceded to be their day. Ladies Shampoo 25c; Sea Foam 15c; Bangs trimmed 10c. Hair dressed for special occasions a specialty, at reasonable rates. Courteous treatment is our motto. Give us a call.

SIXTH YEAR OF

Walton :-: Academy

—OPENS—

First Monday in September.

First-class Instruction in all Common School Branches.

Higher Arithmetic, Elementary and Higher Algebra, Book-Keeping, Plain and Solid Geometry, History, Rhetoric and Literature, Physiology, Geography, Physics, Astronomy, Logic and Psychology. Latin includes Cesar, Cicero, Nepos, Virgil. Greek including Beginners, Greek and Xenophon.

Terms:—Tuition and Board in the building, five days in the week, under the care of the teacher, $105.75, for nine months; Board the full week or Music $18.50 additional for the full term.

Mrs. S. H. MYERS, Prin.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

could split out about 100 Fence Rails a day; THE

CYCLONE FENCE MACHINE

builds 100 rods a day, 26 to 60 inches high, 7 to 12 cables.

Turning the crank cables the wire. Cheapest, strongest fence. Easiest to build. No light wires; no backache. Lasts a lifetime. Wire and Fence Supplies at Wholesale. Crimped and Spiral Pickets, Lawn Fence, Lawn and Farm Gates. Thousands of these machines in use. Gold Medal at Omaha Exposition. Write for Catalogue.

CYCLONE FENCE CO., HOLLY, MICH.

Branches { Waukegan, Ill. Cleveland, Ohio. Toronto, Canada. Melbourne, Australia. } Shipments from Nearest Point.

I have control of the Cyclone Fence in Boone and Woodford counties. I will build the fence or sell machines to farmers that they may build their own fences. It is the cheapest and best fence that can be built. Address G. CARTER GRADDY, BULLITTSVILLE, KY.

DR. A. P. WALTON,

DENTIST,

CINCINNATI,

The Lancaster Building 22 W. 7th, Bet. Vine and Race.

INSURE AT HOME

The Farmers' Mutual Fire INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF BOONE COUNTY,

Is now completely organized and receiving applications for Insurance.

Its Rates are Lower

Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County

HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE

In keeping their property insured.

EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.

E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
EDGAR CROPPER, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky

CORNER

Drug Store

Rising Sun, Ind.

Is the place for anything in the Drug Line.

WALL PAPER, PAINTS, WINDOW SHADES, STATIONERY, PERFUMES, FANCY GOODS, &c.

B. F. BUCHANAN,

— DRUGGIST, —

Over thirty year's experience.

FARMERS

Take Notice!

If you want good

Fertilizer

PLEASE GIVE

B. F. ZIMMER

A CALL.

He will try to please you. He has the finest line of Fertilizer for 1899 he has ever handled. Write for particulars to☞

CONSTANCE, KY.

Central Covington Stock Yards,

COVINGTON, KY.

Are located so as to offer special inducements to shippers South of the Ohio river in saving them extra expense and time. In addition to the local buyers there will be Eastern and foreign buyers on the market for all kinds of stock. When shipping East, don't fail to consign our care privilege selling which will be of benefit to you.

Central Covington Stock Yards Co.

Commission firms will give prompt attention to consignments.

FRANK HOSSMAN,

Hebron, Ky.,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

—Also handles all—

KINDS of ROOFING,

Which is furnished and put on at the Lowest Prices consistent with good work.

I am prepared for moving buildins.

Your Work is Solicited.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.

Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect Dec. 5th, 1898.

P. M.	A. M.		A. M.	P. M.
4.00	8.30	lv Cincinnati ar	10.05	6.00
4.15	7.04	" Ludlow lv	9.55	5.50
4.30	7.18	" Erlanger lv	9.36	5.27
5 18	8.25	Williamstown "	8.46	4.25
5.35	8.49	" Corinth "	8.25	4.03
6.17	10.28	" Georgetow'n "	7.50	3.10
6.39	10.50	ar Stam'g Gro'nd	7.28	1.55
7.10	11.20	" Frankfort "	7.00	1.00

JOS. R. NEWTON, G. P. A., Frankfort, Ky.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,

ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.

BURLINGTON, KY.

Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

BURLINGTON, KY.

Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,

ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.

BURLINGTON, KY,

Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,

ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.

WALTON, KENTUCKY.

Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him. wchs2-93.

W. E. VEST,

County Surveyor,

BURLINGTON, KY.

Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL

LASSING & RIDDELL,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW.

BURLINGTON, KY.

Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

BURLINGTON, KY.

Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

S. W. ADAMS,

ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.

ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.

Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST,

Real Estate Agent.

Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. ☞All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.

(Incorporated 1886.)

CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 20,000

Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.

(INCORPORATED 1893.)

ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY

CAPITAL PAID IN..... $50,000
SURPLUS..... $ 8,000

Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,

DENTIST,

Walton, Kentucky.

Artificial Dentures, Crown and Bridge Work to represent natural organs. Gas, Vitalized Air, Odontunder for extraction.

☞Will be in office at Union every Monday.

Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

JOHN L. VEST,

SURVEYOR

WALTON, KY.

Is prepared to do all kinds of work south of Burlington, Ky. Prompt attention given to all mail orders.

Executor's Notice.

All persons indebted to the estate of L. B. Stephens, deceased, are hereby notified to come forward and settle same; those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned proven according to law.

J. D. FRAIZER,
L. D. STOUSE, Executors.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 23, 1899. NO. 44.

HAS Croker Judge Tarvin's permission to support Bryan in 1900?

IT looks very much like John R. McLean will be the Democratic nominee for Governor in Ohio.

THE politician who is carrying water on both shoulders would better stay away from telephones.

SOME of those fellows who bolted the Democratic ticket to prevent Blackburn's defeat for the U. S. Senate are now threatening to defeat him.

BROWN made a grand stand play at Lexington, Wednesday, when he declared that he would withdraw from the race for Governor if Goebel would.

MORE men are to be mustered as targets for the Filipinos. It will never be known how many American soldiers lost their lives in the war with the islanders.

WHEN John Young Brown said the Lexington convention "must nominate a full ticket," that put an end to the quibbling in regard to that question. He was boss.

THE "gag rule" that Sweeney fought in the Louisville convention, he favored at Lexington, viz: That all resolutions should be submitted to the committee on resolutions without debate. About the next thing heard from Sweney he will have bolted the bolters' convention.

THE RECORDER is for the regular Democratic ticket, but in maintaining its position it will not apply such epithets as "yellow dog," "scalawag," "fools" and "thieves" to the opponents of the regular Democratic ticket, that kind of abuse, at which some of them appear to be adepts, beining left to them. Nothing is ever gained by abusing people, but very often considerable is lost. Keep your temper and you will feel better after the campaign is over.

FOR at least two reasons the Lexington convention ignored Joe Blackburn's candidacy for United States Senator: First, because the convention was manipulated by the bone and sinew of the Democratic gold bug element in Kentucky, and it hates Blackburn worse than a rattle snake because he is an uncompromising free silver man. Second, because the man the convention was called to nominate for Governor is a candidate for United States Senator, expecting to be elected by the aid of the Republican members in the next General Assembly.

THE free silver Democrats in Kentucky will regard with suspicion any political move the principal leaders of which are such prominent gold bugs as Basil W. Duke, of Louisville; W. H. McCoy, of Covington; W. C. P. Breckinridge, of Lexington; W. C. Owens, of Georgetown; W. M. Beckner, of Winchester, while Simon Bolivar Buckner, of Palmer and Buckner fame, is indorsing the move and the Louisville and Nashville railroad is furnishing the sinews of war. The nominees of the Lexington convention are the offspring of a combination of the above named elements and can but be objectionable to the free silver men of Kentucky.

THE following is the ticket nominated by the bolting Democrats, in their convention held in Lexington, last Wednesday;

For Governor, John Young Brown, of Louisville.

For Lieutenant Governor—P. P. Johnson, of Lexington.

For Attorney General—Lawrence P. Tanner, of Daviess.

For Auditor—F. A. Pasteur, of Caldwell.

For Treasurer—John C. Droege, of Covington.

For Secretary of State—Ed L. Hines, of Warren.

For Superintendent of Public Instructions—Dr. Edward O. Geurrant, of Woodford.

For Commissioner of Agriculture—B. W. Vandiveer, of Lincoln.

The platform denounces the Louisville Democratic convention; denounces the Goebel election law; wants common carriers regulated by legislation; and favors free competition in the sale of school books.

POLITICAL.

Goebel is gaining ground in Carroll. We have seen several men the past week who were dead against him that are now for him.—Carrollton News.

Senator Blackburn, during his speech at Mayfield, turned and pointed to Goebel, and said to the immense gathering of Democrats: "If you want a candidate to lead you against corporate greed, there sits the man."

John Herndon, who travels for a Louisville House, says he was in the office of ex-Gov. Brown on Monday of the Louisville Convention and told Brown he thought there would be a deadlock and that he, Brown, told him to not get him slaughtered, but to say to his friends he would accept the nomination.

Some people say that they are against William Goebel for Governor, because he is a "Dutchman." Well, we have some pretty good citizens in this country who are descendants of German ancestors. This is the first time we have heard the question raised that a man was not fit for office because of his nationality. Goebel will make the best Governor the State has ever had. "Dutchman or no Dutchman."—Williamstown Courier.

Senator Goebel has done as much, if not more, than any other man in Kentucky, to suppress lotteries in this State, he has fought them in season and out of season, and has thereby become a benefactor to the State. If mainly through his efforts lotteries have been suppressed in Kentucky, what hundred men of his traducers, take the very pick and choice of them, have done a hundredth part as much for the benefit of the State as Senator William Goebel?

The three newspapers which are fighting the Democratic ticket hardest are the Louisville Dispatch, the Lexington Morning Herald and the Louisville Evening Post. They all claim to be Democratic papers. President Carter, of the Dispatch, voted for Bradley against Hardin in 1895 and helped to send to Frankfort from Louisville the notorious Republican delegation which defeated Senator Blackburn. The political policy of the Lexington Herald is controlled by Col. Breckinridge who ran for Congress under the log cabin in 1896 and took away from the Democratic party in the Seventh District enough votes to give the State to McKinley against Bryan and give Judge Burnam the Appellate Judgeship over Judge Pryor. Dick Knott, the editor of the Louisville Post, was the first editor in the State to pull down the name of Gen. P. W. Hardin from the head of the ticket in 1895, and his paper fought Bryan in 1896, and has already announced its purpose to fight him in 1900. Will the Democrats of Kentucky be led by such cattle?—Winchester Democrat.

At whom does the Williamstown Courier aim this hot one?

"A politician who tries to carry water on both shoulders, who is for Goebel and the Democratic ticket when in a Goebel crowd, and against the ticket when in a crowd of Republicans and bolters hasn't the respect of either side. Such a man ought to be smoked out. He ought to get up on the fence and say who he is for. The Conrier believes a man has the right to vote as he wants to; he has a right to vote for any party at any time he sees fit. But a Democrat has no right to vote the Republican or bolters' ticket and call himself a Democrat. He has no right to give aid and comfort to the enemy, and draw a good salary at the hands of the Democratic party. The world respects a man who has convictions. The man who, if he is against the Democratic ticket, has the courage and manhood to come out and say, 'I am aginst it, and you can call me a bolter, if you want to.' Don't call a good Democrat out behind a bar-room and whisper in his ear, 'I have to vote the Democratic ticket, because I am going to run for office again; but the whole ticket ought to be beaten, and no self-respecting man can afford to be for it, and you ought not be for it." Praise the Lord there are but few such men in the Democratic party, and they will be smoked out of their holes between now and November."

One of the planks in the Democratic platform is an endorsement of the Chinn School Book bill, the purpose of which is to give the children of this Commonweath their school books at a much less cost than now paid. We have heard that bill discussed upon the streets of Owenton by some of the opponents of the Goebel ticket as being in the interest of Goebel and the Courier-Journal. We presume their arguments are those of W. H. Sweeney, who recently referred to the bill in the following language:

"The State is to furnish to the children of this State school books at cost price. Who is to fix the cost price? Who is to do the printing? Your State officials. Elect their ticket and I will ask you who do you think will do it? The Courier-Journal, of course, and what will be behind—a million dollars steal that the honest Democracy of this State will have to pay."

We have read the bill with some care and must say that Mr. Sweeney could not well have misrepresented it more had he devoted a column to it than he did in this paragraph. The Governor is to appoint seven Commissioners, chosen with special reference to their scholarly and business qualifications, by and with the consent of the Senate, no more than three of whom shall belong to the same political party, who are to procure books from the lowest bidders. The bill provides the maximum price to be paid for each book, which is nearly fifty per cent less than that now paid. Each Commissioner is to be subject to indictment for a violation of any of the provisions of the act.—Owenton Herald.

State News.

A locust tree near Marksburg is in full bloom.

A gang of pickpockets got in their work at the Lexington fair, last week.

Eight Mormon churches have been destroyed by mobs in Kentucky within a year.

The writing desk of Stonewall Jackson has been purchased by citizens of Fairmount.

An old, abandoned shaft at Frenchburg has begun sending forth a heavy flow of oil.

Lightning killed four mules belonging to David Mimms, of Hadensville. They were standing under a tree.

Bourbon county corn and hemp crops will not amount to more than one-half of what they would have done had the weather been propitious.

Vice President Edson Bradley, of the Distilling Company of America, announces that the Kentucky plants will make 14,000,000 gallons.

John and George Reeves, who escaped from the Frankfort penitentiary two years ago, were captured near Tyrone, in Anderson county a few days ago.

A gentleman who lives in the Paynes Depot district told the Times a few days ago that he had eighty acres in corn that he didn't believe would yield forty barrels.—Georgetown Times.

A small caterpillar or worm is playing havoc with the foliage of the English elm in and about Springfield, and some of the prettiest shade trees are almost denuded of leaves by the little pest.

Mrs. Lottie Williams, of Vienna, Estill county, who has just celebrated her one hundredth birthday, has in her possession some valuable pioneer relics in the shape of a set of cups and saucers, which were used in the old fort at Boonesborough, the first settlement of Kentucky. They were given her by her father, who was one of the original occupants of the fort and a friend of Boone, Kenton, Callaway and other contemporary pioneers.

IF under the Goebel election law the result of an election can be changed as easily as the Republicans claim, it is dollars to dougnuts that it will not be repealed if they control the legislature next winter.

THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

There were 52 teachers enrolled in the institute this week, four being excused on account of sickness. The following list shows the places where each will teach:

Burlington — Mrs. Kirtley and Sadie Kirtley; Bellevue—Katie Craig; Bullittsburg—G. S. Hann; Willoughby—Anna Schwartz; Locust Grove—Viola Walker; Florence—Marie Korn and Ethel Conner; Pleasant Ridge—Olive Orem; Yancy Clore—Lillian Corbin; Garrison—Ethel Terrill; Limaburg—Flora Youell; Petersburg—B. W. Nelson, Mrs. Walton and Herbert Grant; Woolper—D. M. Snyder; Francisville—Omer Henry; Bullittsville—Bernice Duncan; Rabbit Hash—Maud Ryle; East Bend—S. J. Orem; Grange Hall—Nannie Bristow; Big Bone Church—D. I. Tanner; Hathaway—Edna McElroy; Hamilton—Laura Wolfe; Allphin—Miss Flynn; Constance—Lulu Souther; Pt. Pleasant—Mrs. G. W. Watkins; Hebron—T. Z. Roberts; Union—Neander Stephens; Frogtown—Lucy Clayton; Verona—J. H. Craven; Ryle—John Elliott; Robinson—Jeanette Chambers; Mt. Zion—Ella Norman; Walton—Mrs. Alice Coffman and Lizzie Kipp; White—Ella Cason; Rucker—A. M. Yealey; Bedinger—Lottie Fall; Berkshire—Carl Grant; McVille—Bessie VanNess; Crisler—Marietta Riley.

Beech Grove, Terrill, Balsly, Taylorsport, West, Big Bone Lick, Beaver, Johnson and Craven have not yet employed teachers; neither have the assistants at Verona been selected at present.

The following teachers were also enrolled: Anna Wolfe, Allie Weaver, Sallie Vaughn, Katie Smith, Mary Rouse, Lizzie Parker, E. S. Mathews, Margaret Marble, Lacy Kirtley, Wm. Gaines, Mary Gaines, Bettie Dolph and Lottie Burnett.

MONDAY.—MINUTES.

Institute was not organized until afternoon, as all of the teachers did not arrive in the morning. After enrollment, singing and prayer, Prof. Early delivered the welcome address. Prof. A. C. Fleshman, the instructor, was introduced by the Superintendent, and after outlining the work for the week, Miss Lillie Rouse, the primary instructor, began the discussion of primary reading, followed by A. C. Fleshman.

TUESDAY.

After the various committees were appointed, the discussion of Primary Reading was resumed by Miss Rouse, followed by Misses Bristow and Lottie Burnett. Intermediate Reading was ably discussed by Mrs. Kirtley and Lizzie Kipp, followed by Supplementary Reading by D. M. Snyder. School Library, by Miss Bristow, after which a model lesson in reading was given by Prof. Fleshman. He showed very plainly the difference between mechanical reading and getting the thought of what is read, and recommended that pupils be kept on one lesson a week if necessary in order to understand thoroughly what is read.

Prof. E. C. McDougle, of the National Normal University, was present and gave interesting talks on the different subjects.

Advanced Reading was introduced by Supt. Voshell; spelling, by Anna Wolfe; Diacritical Marks and Penmanship, by Miss Rouse, followed by Miss Norman. After the noon recess Language Lessons were thoroughly discussed by Misses Burnett, Corbin, Rouse and Prof. Fleshman. Prof. Fleshman next explained School Exhibit and presented a large number of specimens of the work of his former pupils, of Winchester, Ky., which were much appreciated.

School management was introduced by Mrs. Coffman, and School Tactics, by Miss Rouse. School mangement continued, by Prof. Fleshman. Adjournment.

WEDNESDAY.

After song, prayer and roll call, Miss Rouse conducted a model class in reading and numbers. Mrs. Walton had previously secured a class of 18 pupils between the ages of 5 and 7. Only three or four of this number knew their letters. Miss Rouse satisfactorily demonstrated how to teach reading without first knowing the alphabet. Grammar was then taken up and fully discussed by Misses Duncan, Bristow and the Superintendent. Prof. Fleshman then gave a very interesting talk on the "Teaching Process." In the afternoon the graduating exercises of the Boone county graduates were held. Visitors began to arrive early and by 2 o'clock Gordon Hall was filled to its utmost capacity. The following is the program:

Music.
Invocation.....Prof. Early
Music.
Address.....Sup't. Voshell
A Modern Telemanchus.....
Susie McWethey
The Game of Life.....Anna Johnson
Music.
The Evils of War.....H. B. McNeal
Lady Maud's Oath.....Katie Clayton
Music.
Is Ambition a Crime?.....Lizzie Vest
The Enlargement of Woman's Sphere
Lillie Hammond
Napoleon Bonapart.....Ura McElroy
The Rise and Fall of Slavery.....
Bernice Johnson
Music.
Presentation of Diplomas.
Address.....Prof. E. C. McDougle

Those of the graduates who were unable to be present were Misses Lizzie Hammon, Ura McElroy and Bernice Johnson.

THURSDAY.

After devotional exercises Psychology was introduced and very ably discussed by Prof. Fleshman. Lillie Rouse then took up the subject of Primary Geography and presented it in such a clear and logical manner that it received the hearty approval of every teacher. She followed the order laid down in the course of study furnished by the State, and showed the importance of so doing. In this discussion she used maps and blackboards made by herself, proving that at a very small cost teachers can make their own apparatus if the trustees will not furnish it. In the afternoon History was introduced by David Snyder and discussed at length by Profs. Henry, Fleshman, Voshell and Lottie Burnett. Primary Arithmetic, Lillie Rouse. Written Arithmetic, Prof. Early.

FRIDAY.

Supintendent Voshell announced on Thursday that he would present mental arithmetic this morning, and all came prepared to take part, even some outsiders joining in the discussion. The Superintendent formed a class composed of the teachers and held their closest attention for an hour and a half. W. T. Stott was present and at the conclusion of the Superintendent's remarks gave some model solutions, and urged upon the teachers the importance of giving more prominence to mental arithmetic in the schools. Prof. Fleshman then took up the study of Physiology and gave some valuable hints on the method of teaching same.

In the afternoon Prof. Early presented a plan how to learn names of the Kings and Queens of England in 20 minutes. The Instructor then gave a talk on Civics, after which the reports of the various committees were heard. Prof. Fleshman made a brief talk, thanking the teachers for their kindly interest shown him and the citizens of the town for assisting in making the work here so very agreeable. After some other miscellaneous business the institute adjourned.

The committee on resolutions reported the following preamble and resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

1. Whereas much complaint is heard from different parts of the county in regard to the exclusion of Intellectual Arithmetic from the course of study in the public schools; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, as teachers, do all within our ability to enforce the study of said branch, and also petition the State Board of Education to make said part of the mathematical course prominent in the arrangement of questions for applicants for teachers' certificates.

2. That, If the Superintendent be able to secure the services of an Instructor, we recommend that the Institute be held during the first week in October, 1900, instead of in August.

3. That, Feeling greatly benefitted by their efficient work, we extend thanks to our Instructors, Miss Lillie Rouse and Prof. Fleshman, who have patiently, and with untiring energy, presented the most practical and best methods of pedagogy.

4. That, We thank Prof. E. C. McDougle, of Lebanon, O., for the helpful talks given us during the session, and especially for the lecture on "The Schoolmaster in the Republic," and the inspiring address to the graduates.

5. That, We express our hearty appreciation of the manner in which our worthy Superintendent, L. H. Voshell, has conducted our Institute; of the interest he is manifesting in securing better teachers; of his encouraging the graduation of pupils from the public schools, and of the general interest he is taking in the upbuilding of the schools of this county.

6. That, The committees on music and the entertainment, deserve great credit for their work in securing such willing and talented musicians and elocutionists.

7. That, We are under great obligations to Prof. Gardiner and others for their kindly assistance in the entertainment, and to Mr. W. J. Hon for the use of the excellent piano furnished by the John Church Co.

8. That, We heartily thank the town of Petersburg for the comfortable and spacious hall donated for our use through the officers of the town.

9. That, We extend thanks to the citizens of the town for their persistent efforts to secure the comfort and pleasure of the teachers, throughout the entire session, and we wish to especially express our appreciation of the delightful ride given us on Wednesday evening upon "La Belle Riviere."

DISTRICT ASSOCIATIONS.

1. Hamilton and Rabbit Hash, at East Bend, Sept. 23.
2. Union and Beaver, at Grange Hall, October 7.
3. Petersburg and Bellevue, at McVille, October 28.
4. Florence and Constance, Pleasant Ridge. November 4.
5. Burlington and Bullittsville, at Burlington, November 25.
6. Walton and Verona, at Walton, December 2.

NOTES

Prof. Early took an active part in the work.

Gordon Hall was an ideal place to hold the Institute.

The Crisler House was popular with teachers during the session.

The first day flags were displayed all over town in honor of the occasion.

Prof. E. C. McDougle, of the National Normal University, lectured Wednesday evening on "the Schoolmaster in the Republic."

There were 40 female teachers enrolled and only 12 male. The whole number was about equal to the number of schools in the county.

There were five applicants for teachers' certificates on Friday and Saturday. The examination was held in the public school building.

There were eight teachers enrolled who have never taught, but judging by the active part they took in the discussions, they will make good teachers.

About 100 went on the excursion to Aurora and Lawrenceburg. This was provided for by the town, with Hon. T. B. Mathews and Dr. Grant, managers.

The vote on place for holding the next Institute will be taken at the various district associations by secret ballot. It looks now like Petersburg will get it again.

Prof. A. C. Collins, who will teach at West Covington next term, was excused from the Kenton County Institute, Thursday and Friday, and was with us on those days.

The teachers express their thanks for the valuable assistance rendered by the young ladies and gentlemen of the town in making the entertainment on Wednesday night a success.

W. J. Hon and wife, representing the John Church Co., furnished a piano for the occasion, and rendered valuable assistance in furnishing good music. Prof. Gardner, of Lawrence, Ky., was also a good assistant in the musical line.

THE following is taken from the Kentucky Post, which is opposing the Democratic ticket. It demonstrates by figures that all the Brown ticket expects or hopes to accomplish is the defeat of the Democratic ticket:

"The delegates to the Lexington bolting convention of Bryan Democrats reported great disaffection from every county represented. In no case was the bolting vote in a county placed below 200. In some cases the disaffection in counties was reported to be as high as 1000. The total disaffection vote is figured at 22,000. In 1897 Shackleford, Democrat, for Clerk of the Court of Appeals received 187,482 votes. On the same basis Goebel's vote would be reduced to 165,482, if Brown would receive 22,000 votes. By giving Taylor the vote recorded for Bailey, Republican for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, 169,678, his plurality over Goebel would be 4286."

If Democrats desire to assist in fastening Republican rule on the State of Kentucky, now is their time to avail themselves of that opportunity. The above figures afford a plain declaration of the intent of the ticket put in the field at Lexington, and it expects to accomplish its purpose by a small margin—4,196.

THE Commissioner of pensions has made some rulings that are stirring up the members of the G. A. R. who are threatening what they will do politically if the wrong of which they complain is not righted.

Politics are getting hotter in Kentucky day by day.

The Republicans opened their campaign at London, yesterday.

Gov. Brown will open his campaign at Bowling Green next Saturday.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, : : KENTUCKY.

HIGH heels, it is said, owe their origin to Persia, where they were introduced to raise the feet from the burning sands of the country.

ON Nov. 6 a school of journalism is to be opened in Paris with Jean Crupi, Henri Fouquirer and MM. Seigrobos and Cornely as instructors.

PRINCETON university continues to be the envy of most other institutions of learning. She received about $300,000 in gifts during the last collegiate year, including $100,000 for a new dormitory, $100,000 for a new professorship in English, $100,000 for a new chair in politics and $85,000 toward a chair in history.

ICED chloroform has been used as an anæsthetic in Prof. Shorburg's clinic, in the Julius hospital, at Wurzburg, Bavaria, in over 14,000 cases, without a single unpleasant result. The advantages claimed for this preparation of chloroform are the quickness of its action, its comparative freedom from danger and the absence of nausea and depression so common with other anæsthetics.

W. H. FARR, of Osborne county, Kan., though weighing but 135 pounds, is a prodigy of strength. Recently, on a wager of $80, he carried 150 pounds of flour on his back three miles without setting it down or resting and then offered to bet $100 that he could carry it back over the same route. On a wager of $5 he shouldered a 300-pound barrel of salt and carried it 100 feet with apparent ease.

IN Essex, Eng., the unwonted spectacle of monks riding bicycles may be daily witnessed. The Franciscan Fathers, who have charge of the mission at Braintree, have also to attend to the spiritual needs of two other missions at long distances, and, in order that they may accomplish this work, they have, with the permission of Cardinal Vaughan, invested in cycles, on which they ride from one mission to another.

AN Austrian gunmaker, who has devoted great attention to revolvers and repeating rifles, has patented a new form of revolver. In the present type of weapon the gas generated in the discharge is made use of for reloading and resetting the revolver, but in the new one these functions are performed by mechanism. Climatic conditions affect the gases and render the weapon less effective; this state of things is avoided by the new patent.

A NOVEL method of detecting the sound of a steamship's propellers has been invented by an Italian. He has made an apparatus which is a variation of the telephone. Several transmitters are submerged and arranged on land, or to point in different directions, all being connected with a receiver on board another ship. The direction in which the sound is loudest indicates the point of the compass in which the distant ship is to be looked for.

PUERTO RICO, says the scientists, was originally an immense forest, from the seashore to the mountain summits. It is doubtful if there is a single foot of its land area which was not at one time covered with tree growth, from the diminutive mangrove bushes on the coast to the giant trees of the mountain sides and tops. Although still wooded in the sense that it is dotted by many beautiful trees, the island is now largely defor-sted from a commercial point of view.

THE sultan of Turkey's favorite color is dark red. The German emperor likes his uniforms blue and red and covered with gold embroideries. The king of Greece, who dons his uniforms as seldom as possible, has a marked preference for light colors. The emperor of Austria has a preference for gray, while the emperor of Russia likes dark green uniforms, and the king of Italy, excepting the rare occasions when he appears in a general's uniform, generally wears black.

AMONG the historical relics preserved at old Carpenter's hall, Philadelphia, none are more carefully and jealously guarded than ten or 12 hard wood chairs which occupy a railed-off corner of the Congress room on the first floor, near the southern doorway. They are some of the original chairs that were used during the session of the continental congress by Patrick Henry and his patriotic colleagues. Three or four of the chairs have high arms and are the identical ones used by the officers of the congress.

DR. CARILLANO DUTRA of the state of Matto Grosso, Brazil, has sent a sworn statement to the Academy of Medicine at Rio de Janeiro, affirming that he has invariably cured almost immediately the bites of the rattlesnake and other more venomous reptiles, even after the poison has entered the blood in circulation, by administering two tablespoonfuls of soup containing two grammes of calomel and 30 grammes of strong lemon juice, and repeating the dose within two hours. After the third dose the patient is free from danger.

EMILE ZOLA has written a letter to the editor of L'Ami des Betes, in which he declares that during his exile nothing gave him more pain than the news of the death of his dog. His wife wrote to him that the dog searched for him everywhere, became melancholy, and died suddenly. "It seemed to me as if my departure had killed him," writes Zola, "and I wept like a child. Even now I can not think of him without being moved to tears. When I resided a large part of my house seemed deserted and lonely. And of all the [illegible] I have had to bear this one

NEW REGIMENTS.

No Delay Will Be Allowed in Enlisting and Equipping Them.

The New Regiments Will Increase the Strength of the Army to 93,045 Men, Being Only 4,893 Short of Authorized Number.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—"The policy of the war department" said Secretary Root Thursday "is to furnish Gen. Otis with all the troops and supplies that he can use and which are necessary to wind up the insurrection in the Philippines in shortest possible time."

The secretary was speaking of the 10 regiments which were called out Thursday by order of the president. He said that no delay would be allowed in enlisting, equipping and supplying the new regiments, nor in transporting them as well as the other regiments already organized to the Philippines as soon as they were needed for active operations. If the present number of transports are insufficient more will be procured.

The men already enlisted for the Philippine service will be sent at once and the new regiments will be forwarded as fast as they are organized and needed. While there has been some suggestion that the new regiments will be used as a reserve force, it may be stated positively that these regiments as well as more if they can be used will be sent to reinforce Gen. Otis.

Secretary Root sent a copy of the order of Thursday to the various departments of the army, and they at once began preparations for supplying the new organizations.

Within half an hour the ordnance bureau had sent orders to the different arsenals directing that complete outfits of arms and ordnance supplies for each regiment be sent to rendezvous where they are to be organized. The quartermaster's department gave orders for supplying tents, clothing and other equipments furnished by that department, while the commissary department ordered a sufficient supply of rations to be on hand to feed the troops as fast as they arrive. The medical department was also directed to see that supplies were sent. The regiments will be recruited with the same care exercised in enlisting the first ten regiments.

The districts which were not very thoroughly covered in recruiting for the first regiments will be visited by the officers in the new organizations. It is the intention of the department to have the regiments give more attention to firing than any other feature of the drill. The men will be armed as are the regular infantry regiments, with the magazine army rifle.

The selection of the majors and company officers for the regiments is now occupying the attention of the secretary and the men are being chosen from among the volunteers who were called out in the Spanish war. The officers will be distributed as equitably as possible among the different states, but the efficiency and records of the men will govern to a great extent in their selection.

It appears from Thursday's orders that the ten new regiments are to be mainly recruited in New England and the middle and central western states. Kansas and Pennsylvania have apparently been selected as the best field for recruits. It is said that no special effort is to be made to secure recruits in the southern states.

Thursday's action will add 13,090 men to the enlisted strength of the army and increases the total strength of the army to 95,045 men, being only 4,893 men short of the total authorized volunteer establishment of 35,000. It is stated at the department that the number of volunteers already called into service is regarded as amply sufficient to meet all possible needs of the army, and that there is no possibility that the remaining 4,893 volunteers will be called for.

BABE WAS UNHURT.

"The Hogs Are Eating My Child" Cried Mrs. Fred Lawyer, Near Washington, Ind., and Dropped Dead.

WASHINGTON, Ind., Aug. 18.—Mrs. Fred Lawyer, who resides six miles from here, left her two and three-year-old children at home alone Thursday morning, while she visited a neighbor. Suddenly she heard the cries of a child.

"The hogs are eating my baby," she cried, as she sprang to her feet, and started on a run toward her home. Mrs. Lawyer had gone but a short distance when she fell to the ground unconscious, and in 20 minutes died. Heart disease was brought on by fright, the doctors say.

The child whose cries had caused its mother's death was merely crying because angry at its little brother.

The Port Reopened.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—United States Minister Bradley has informed the state department that the port of Iquitol, Peru, which has been closed by decree since June 2 last, on account of a seditious movement there, has been formally declared reopened.

Jiminez Expedition Formed.

PUERTA PLATA, Aug. 18.—President Figuero, of Santo Domingo, has received a dispatch informing him that a Jiminez expedition has been organized at Baracoa, Cuba.

BACILLUS ICTEROIDES.

The Commission Appointed by the President to Investigate Cause of Yellow Fever Reports.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The report of the commission appointed by the president in 1897 from the marine hospital service staff to investigate the nature of yellow fever was Friday made public by Surgeon General Wyman. The commission was composed of Surgeon Eugene Wasdin and Past Assistant Surgeon Geddings, both yellow fever experts.

The conclusions of the commission are summarized as follows:

First, That the micro organism discovered by Prof. Guiseppe Sanarelli, of the university of Bologna, Italy, and by him named "Bacillus icteroides," is the cause of yellow fever.

Second, That yellow fever is naturally infectious to certain animals, the degree varying with the species; that in some rodents local infection is very quickly followed by blood infection; and that, while in dogs and rabbits there is no evidence of this subsequent invasion of the blood, monkeys react to the infection the same as man.

Third, That infection takes place by way of the respiratory tract, the primary colonization in this tract giving rise to the earlier manifestations of the disease.

Fourth, That in many cases of the disease, probably a majority, the primary infection or colonization in the lungs is followed by a "secondary infection" or a secondary colonization of this organism in the blood of the patient. This secondary infection may be complicated by the coinstantaneous passage of other organisms into the blood, or this complication may arise during the last hours of life.

Fifth, That there is no evidence to support the theory advanced by Prof. Sanarelli that this disease is primarily a septicaemia, inasmuch as cases do occur in which the bacillus icteroides can not be found in the blood or organs in which it might be deposited therefrom.

Sixth, That there exists no casual relationship between the bacillus "X," of Sternberg, and this highly infectious disease, and that the bacillus "X" is frequently found in the intestinal contents or normal animals and of man, as well as in the urine and the bronchial section.

Seventh, That so far as your commission is aware, the bacillus icteroides has never been found in any body other than one infected with yellow fever, and that whatever may be the cultural similarities between this and other micro-organisms, it is characterized by a specificity which is distinctive.

Eighth, That the bacillus icteroides is very susceptible to the influences injurious to bacterial life; and that its ready control by the processes of disinfection, chemical and mechanical, is assured.

Ninth, That the bacillus icteroides produces in vitro as well as in vata, a toxin of the most marked potency, and that, from our present knowledge, there exists a reasonable possibility for the ultimate production of an antiserum more potent than that of Prof. Sanarelli.

PATROLLING THE COAST.

The Santo Domingo Government Apprehensive of the Arrival of Jiminez, the Leader of the Revolution.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 19.—Advices from Santo Domingo say the government there is growing desperately apprehensive of the arrival of Jiminez, leader of the revolution, who is momentarily expected. His arrival, it was added, will completely turn popular opinion, which has been partly undecided. Consequently the chief object of the government is to intercept Jiminez, and a number of armed vessels are patrolling the coast with orders to search every strange vessel and capture Jiminez under any flag, armed or not.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Aug. 19.—The Dominican agents are rapidly recruiting expeditions in this part of the island, particularly on the north coast.

Orders were received from Havana Friday to hold the men recently captured at Baracoa pending an investigation.

All trading schooners are closely watched. Thursday the tug Adonis was armed and sent to Guanatanamo to patrol the coast. It is certain that several expeditions have been able to get away without any interference, but Gen. Leonard Wood, the military governor, is determined to do all in his power to enforce neutrality.

Prices of Meats Raised.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Prices for all meats for the consumers were raised from two to three cents per pound at a mass meeting of the Retail Butchers' association of this city Friday night. These advanced prices will go into effect Saturday.

The Forty-Second Regiment.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 19.—A telegram was received Friday night by Congressman Alexander from Secretary of War Root to the effect that one of the new volunteer regiments, the 42d, will be organized and stationed at Fort Porter, in this city.

No Hope for Judge Hilton's Recovery.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Judge Hilton at a late hour Friday night was still in a comatose state and believed to be gradually sinking. There is no hope of his recovery.

CAME TOGETHER.

Two Trolley Cars on the Norristown Line Collide.

The Railway Is a Single Track Road—It Is Said the Motorman Failed to Wait at the Switch for the Arrival of the Other Car.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—A head-on collision between two trolley cars occurred Sunday on the Norristown, Chestnut Hill and Foxborough railway, in Plymouth township, Marion county, a few miles north of this city. Thirty persons were injured. The following are believed to be fatally hurt and in the Charity hospital at Norristown.

John Parson, Philadelphia, internal injuries and several ribs broken.

William Hartstine, West Point, Pa., internal injuries and ribs broken.

Mrs. Bridget Nunan, seriously injured about the body.

Others badly hurt, but not fatally injured, are:

Mrs. Julia Moeslin, Norristown, and Miss Alice McGuigan, Philadelphia, who are also in the hospital.

The railway is a single track road with switches. The passengers of the south bound car assert that the motorman failed to wait at the switch for the arrival of the car going north, and the accident resulted.

PHILIPPINE QUESTION.

Adm. Dewey Believes It Will Be Solved Soon—The Inhabitants Are Capable of Self-Government.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The Naples correspondent of the Daily News telegraphs the substance of an interview he had with Adm. Dewey there during the admiral's visit. Adm. Dewey said he believed the Philippine question would shortly be solved. In his judgment the inhabitants were capable of self-government, and the only way to settle insurrection and to insure prosperity was to concede it to them. He delared that he was never in favor of violence toward the Filipinos, and remarked that after autonomy had been conceded annexation might be talked of. When asked whether a conflict between Germany and the United States over the Philippines were possible, Admiral Dewey replied, according to the correspondent: "It is impossible to forsee the unforseeable."

INSURGENTS ROUTED.

One Hundred of Them Driven From Their Intrenchments by Lieut. Cole and 80 Men of the Sixth Infantry.

MANILA, Aug. 21.—One lieutenant of the 12th infantry was killed and another was seriously wounded while reconnoitering Saturday evening north of Angeles. The Americans encountered a large force of insurgents and drove them from their positions.

Lieut. Cole, of the 6th infantry, with 80 men encountered 100 insurgents intrenched in the mountains of the island of Negros and routed them after an hour and a half of severe fighting.

The Americans had three men slightly hurt. Nineteen dead insurgents were counted in the trenches.

Six rifles and a quantity of reserve ammunition were captured.

The insurgents recently cut the cable in Laguna bay, leading to Calamba, on the south shore of the lake, but the break has been repaired.

MAJ. HARRISON ILL.

He Has Yellow Fever and Is in a Bad Condition—His Case Is the First to Occur at Cristo, Cuba.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Aug. 21.—Maj. Russell B. Harrison, inspector general, is critically ill with yellow fever. The disease has progressed for three days although not pronounced yellow fever until Sunday afternoon. The case is the first to occur at Cristo whither headquarters was removed last month to escape infection.

Of late the quarantine rules have been relaxed, owing to the fact that there have been no new cases in the city and officers from headquarters have been in the habit of coming to Santiago daily, returning to headquarters at night. Maj. Harrison has been isolated but not brought to the fever hospital.

Mysterious Shooting in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—While driving with his family through Holmesburg, a suburb of this city, Frank Radcliffe was killed by a bullet fired by a me unknown person about 7 o'clock Sunday night. The ball struck him in the breast and he fell dead in his wife's arms. The occupants of the carriage heard no report nor could they see any one in the vicinity. The police are investigating the case.

Gov. Tanner Ill.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 21.—Sunday night Dr. George N. Kreider, the attending physician, said that Gov. Tanner is suffering with malarial and his fever is high. He will probably be unable to attend to the duties of his office for a week.

Epidemic Spreading.

MADRID, Aug. 21.—It is reported here that a case of the plague has developed at Figuera, Portugal, and there is rumor of a death from the disease at Barcelona.

THE RACE PROBLEM.

Bishop L. H. Holsey, of Texas, Has a Scheme to Colonize Them and Erect Negro States.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—At the meeting of the colored men's convention Friday, Bishop L. H. Holsey, of Texas, proposed to the members an entirely new scheme for the solution of the race problem. His idea is to have the Negroes build up a separate government of their own, but instead of deporting them to Africa, as advocated by Bishop Turner, of Georgia, he would have this nucleus of the colored man located within the United States.

Bishop Holsey explains his proposition as follows:

There is but one way to solve this problem and that is separation and segregation. That is, the Negro race must occupy a state or states and hold territory to themselves. To make this movement effective 1,500,000 voters should sign a petition to congress to set apart a sufficient amount of the public domain with proper legislative restrictions by which a state or states may be erected which will be distinctly Negro states, having all the rights, powers, privileges, functions and political facilities given other states in the union.

If this can be accomplished the black man would derive all the benefits and advantages for development that make a people intelligent, thoughtful and noble.

The removal of the Negro to such a state or states would settle the great problem as far as the Negro is concerned, and would relieve the south of many a side issue in the social and political world.

When asked what portion of the United States had been selected by the advocates of the scheme, Bishop Holsey replied: "Oklahoma and New Mexico have been mention, but we have not got so far with the project that we feel in a position to select any particular territory."

ON CONDITION.

M. Guerin Will Surrender on His Own Conditions and Refuses to Accept Those Proposed by Gen. Jacquey.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—M. Guerin decided Friday night to energetically maintain his own propositions and refused to accept those proposed by Gen. Jacquey.

M. Guerin's decision not to surrender was delivered after a deputation of the national defense group had waited on him and informed him of the contents of the semi-official note.

Gen. Jacquey and M. Firmin Faure, revisionist and anti-Semite, a deputy from Oran, Algeria, had numerous interviews during the day with members of the chamber of deputies and also with Premier Waldeck-Rousseau, whereupon Gen. Jacquey submitted his proposition for surrender.

It is now said M. Lasies, deputy from the Condon district of the Geers, has decided to discontinue further negotiations with M. Guerin. Gen. Jacquey, who is a republican member of the chamber of deputies, is also discouraged and has left Paris.

A semi-official note issued Friday night says:

"Having consideration for humanity above all other things, the government from the beginning discarded the idea of storming M. Guerin's house or the seizure of the accused by mere force. Measures for preventing M. Guerin from communicating with the outside world, as well as preveuting or dispersing all assemblages, will be maintained, however, as long as possible."

PARIS, Aug. 19.—A strict blockade has been established in the Rue De Chabrol and the authorities Saturday morning begun a regular siege of the house in which M. Guerin and his anti-Semite colleagues have entrenched themselves.

HORRIBLE MURDER.

Boy Swung Up From a Barn Rafter at Murray City—Two Men Arrested and Held on Suspicion.

MURRAY CITY, O., Aug. 19.—George Simko, 14, was found dead in a barn by his sister Friday. Saloonist John Namet, his stepfather, sent him out to feed the horses.

The young man being at the barn so long, his sister went out to see what was wrong, finding him dead in the haymow. Foul play was suspected. Search was made and a rope was found, which showed that the boy had been hanged and cut down.

At the coroner's inquest it was found that the boy's neck was broken. Marks around the neck also show prints of the rope. Two men were seen at the barn just before the boy was found.

Two arrests have been made, Rube and Mohlon Lanning, from New Pittsburg, O. They were seen to go through the saloon toward the barn. Marshal Wm. Channell, a Surtos City deputy, made the arrests.

Business Portion Destroyed.

BOISE, Ida., Aug. 19.—The town of Placerville, in Boise county, was wiped out by fire. The business portion of the place was destroyed and most of the residences. The loss is estimated at $250,000.

First Ten Regiments Full.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The number of enlisted men Thursday was 309, making a total of 14,429. Even with the discharges that have been made there are a sufficient number to fill the first ten regiments.

"For the Sake of Fun Mischief is Done."

A vast amount of mischief is done, too, because people neglect to keep their blood pure. It appears in eruptions, dyspepsia, indigestion, nervousness, kidney diseases, and other ailments. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures all diseases promoted by impure blood or low state of the system. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Never Disappoints

SUNKHAZER FLIES OF MAINE.

Worse Than Jersey Mosquitoes and Kissing Bugs Have No Chance with Them.

Since reading in the newspapers of the kissing bug and his doings all the people in rural Maine have taken to capturing bugs and insects of all sorts and bringing the specimens to town for examination by newspaper men and naturalists. Countless are the kinds of bugs that have been taken to Bangor in bottles, boxes and preserve jars, and the captors all seem to be sorely disappointed when told that instead of the genuine kisser they have a moth killer, a face-winged fly, or something quite common and harmless.

A man came from Veazie to Bangor the other day with a ferocious-looking bug corked up in a preserve jar and claimed the credit of having captured the first kissing bug in that part of the country. It was not the famous kissing bug that he had, but a native bug somewhat resembling a small lobster with wings.

"I don't care a hang," declared the Veazie man, when told that he must try again. "These fellers kin lick the stuffin' out of Sunkhazers, and that's what none of your common bugs kin do."

Not many people living far away from Bangor know what a "Sunkhazer" is like. It is a ferocious big fly that infests the flats and meadows about Sunkhaze deadwater, a place in the Penobscot river where the water is slack and where millions of logs are rafted. The Sunkhazers are the pest of the loggers, upon whom they feast to their heart's content, and nothing can drive them away. They are four times the size of the famed mosquitoes of Jersey, and any Maine man will back one of them against a dozen kissing bugs in a fair stand-up fight. Maine folks have, probably, no kissing bugs, but so long as the Sunkhazers survive they will not feel lonesome.—N. Y. Sun.

Fooling the Public.

"I'm about hushed in the matter of curiosities," mused the owner of a small store. "It's a bad habit—this idea of drawing trade by making a museum of the window, but I can't stop now—business won't allow it."

A few hours later the soda water trade was rushing. The crowd outside the window gazed until it was thirsty at the remarkable bird that hung in a big cage. The card attached bore a handful of the alphabet hysterically put together and designed for a scientific name. After it were the words: "From Samoa."

A few days later the "curiosity" was feeling in the best way with the rest of the bantam hens.—Detroit Free Press.

Cody Called for a Cut.

Col. Cody, the eminent scout, helped to build a church at North Platte, and was persuaded by his wife and daughter to accompany them to the opening. The minister gave out the hymn, which commenced with the words: "Oh, for ten thousand tongues to sing," etc. The organist, who played by ear, started the tune in too high a key and had to try again. A second attempt ended like the first in failure. "Oh, for ten thousand tongues to sing my great—" came the opening words for the third time, followed by a squeak from the organ and a relapse into painful silence. Cody could contain himself no longer, and blurted out: "Start it at five thousand, and mebbe some of the rest of us can get in."—San Francisco Wave.

Doctor and Patient.

Dr. Brown—Aren't you rather inconsistent? You told me the other day that you are ten per cent. better than you were when you first consulted me, and now you have come here and want me to take 20 per cent. off my bill.

Convalescent—But I am not here this time for my health.—Boston Transcript.

Wronged.

"Every man," shouted the orator, "has his price!"

"You're a darn liar," said the member from Wahpanga, in an undertone. "My price is only $300, and I ain't got it yit."—Chicago Times-Herald.

It takes a woman to be unhappy thinking how unhappy she would be if she were not as happy as she is.—N. Y. Press.

Hewitt—"Every rose has its thorn." Jewett—"Yes; the thorn is the bill."—Town Topics.

Is your breath bad? Then your best friends turn their heads aside. A bad breath means a bad liver. Ayer's Pills are liver pills. They cure constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, sick headache. 25c. All druggists.

Want your mustache or beard a beautiful brown or rich black? Then use

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE for the Whiskers

50 CTS. OF DRUGGISTS, OR R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA, N. H.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE. A true and official copy. A Facsimile of the Historical Document, together with General Washington's commission as Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Army. Its authenticity duly certified to by James G. Blaine, Sec. of State. Lithographed on fine bond paper in two colors and showing the great seal of the United States. Suitable for framing and as ornament to any home. Securely mailed to any address for 50 cents, postpaid. Remit by registered letter, money order, draft or P.O. postage stamps to WILSON & DALY, 83 Adams Street, Chicago, Ill. Agents Wanted.

A Natural Black is Produced by Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers. 50 cts. of druggists or R. P. Hall & Co., Nashua, N. H.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

DREYFUS TRIAL.

Gen. Mercier Says the Prisoner Will Be Condemned.

M. Labori is Anxious to Return to Court Even if He Has to Be Carried in An Ambulance—Is Dissatisfied with M. Demange's.

RENNES, Aug. 21.—Gen. Mercier, who was minister of war when Capt. Dreyfus was condemned and who in the present trial is the virtual prosecutor, was called upon Sunday by the correspondent of the Associated Press, who invited him to make a statement of the position of the anti-Dreyfusards.

Although unable to receive the correspondent in person Gen. Mercier sent his oldest son to convey the following expression of his views:

"Gen. Mercier considers it useless to attempt to convert foreign opinion regarding the Dreyfus question, in which, moreover, foreigners have no right to intervene. Foreign people have been misled by their press, which is violently Dreyfusard, for the very good reason that a majority of the foreign newspapers have been bribed by the Jewish syndicate. Gen Mercier considers anything he might say explaining his position, which is that of a majority of the French people, would be useless. The best reply to Dreyfusard statements abroad will be the condemnation of Dreyfus.

"This condemnation is only a matter of ten days or a fortnight, for condemned Dreyfus certainly will be. Foreigners will then see that their journals have deceived them, for they will recognize that the mass of the French nation, who will receive the news of the conviction of Dreyfus as joyful things, is composed of officials and that the majority of the French applaud the condemnation. It will be because it is just and merited."

The Associated Press correspondent then called upon Maitre Labori, who lives within 200 yards of Gen. Mercier, the houses of both being guarded by gendarmes and detectives, who sit in chairs in the roadway in front of the houses.

M. Labori was taking the air in the garden. He has been suffering severely from insomnia, and Sunday was feverish and excited. The wound itself has not made the progress the doctors hoped for, although there had been no relapse. In view of this general condition his medical advisers oppose his going to court Monday, as he had desired. They predict that the exertion would so overtax his strength as to compel him to take to his bed, which he would probably not leave, in that event, for a month.

Tuesday or Wednesday, therefore, will more probably see his reappearance in court. He will be provided with a specially constructed chair that will enable him to conduct the cross-examination at the outset without rising from his seat.

M. Labori is intensely anxious to return to court even if he has to be carried there in an ambulance. He is dissatisfied with M. Demange's conduct of the case thus far, and on his return he intends to have Gen. Mercier and the other generals back on the witness stand. After reading their evidence he is confident of his ability to crush Mercier, and he expects to use the Schneider and Panizzardi telegrams also to confound Mercier.

RENNES, Aug. 21.—The Dreyfus court-martial reconvened Monday morning at the usual hour. Maitre Labori was not present. His doctors considered that it would be inadvisable for him to attempt to take part in Monday's proceedings in view of the danger of a relapse.

The witness was Col. Fabre, who deposed that he had discovered the similarity between the hand writing of the accused and that of the bordereau. He reiterated his conviction of the guilt of Dreyfus, saying: "I am sure he wrote the bordereau."

Looks Like Murder.

PAINESVILLE, O., Aug. 21.—Myron Metcalf, of Willoughby, was found dead at the side of the Cleveland & Painesville suburban car track, a short distance west of that place Sunday night. Railroad officials say he was not struck by any of the cars. There were a number of severe bruises on the head and it is generally believed that he met with foul play.

Schooner Sinks.

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 21.—The four-masted schooner Augustus Palmer, Capt. Haskell, loaded with 2,125 tons of coal from Newport News to Bangor, Me., went ashore Saturday near Thimble light. The sea was running very high, and she immediately sank in four fathoms of water. Capt. Haskell and crew were rescued and brought to Norfolk Sunday afternoon. The Palmer is a total loss.

Asleep on the Track.

FT. WAYNE, Ind., Aug. 21.—John Van Horn, while under the influence of liquor, laid down on the Nickel Plate railroad track at Argos, using the rail for a pillar, and went sound to sleep. The regular freight train ran over him, crushing his head to a pulp. The engineer of the train said that it was impossible for him to stop, and when he noticed the man he blew the whistle, but Van Horn, being in a drunken stupor, did not awaken. Van Horn was single man and about 32 years of age.

GEN. JIMINEZ ARRESTED.

Just as He Was About to Sail From Cienfuegos Capt. Stamper Apprehended Him—Says it Is an Outrage.

HAVANA, Aug. 19.—In view of the fact that Col. Bacallao, chief of the secret police, persisted in his declaration that Gen. Juan Isidor Jiminez, the aspirant to the presidency of Santo Domingo, was in Havana, either not having left or having returned the military authorities telegraphed to Cienfuegos instructing Capt. Stamper, collector of customs there, to ascertain whether Jiminez was on the Menendez steamer and to take him under arrest if that should be the case.

Just as the steamer was about leaving Cienfuegos, Capt. Stamper located Jiminez and arrested him. Jiminez denounced the arrest as an outrage. He said he had broken no law and would not yield except to force. Capt. Stamper replied that he was ready to use force if necessary and Jiminez then yielded, remarking that he did so only because he could not help himself.

Senor Frias, mayor of Cienfuegos, refused to make the arrest, claiming that Gen. Jiminez was an old personal friend, whom he had known intimately for years. When Jiminez was taken into custody, Senor Frias was found with a police inspector in close conversation with Jiminez and the latter's secretary; it is believed the mayor was urging him to leave the steamer, to conceal himself and to wait for a better opportunity. Capt. Stamper informed Jiminez that he would make him as comfortable as possible, and after Jiminez and his secretary had packed their trunks they were driven, accompanied by the chief of police and Capt. Stamper, to the Union hotel, where two bedrooms and a diningroom were placed at their disposal.

Gen. Jiminez will be kept under police charge until further advices are received from the governor general. There is much excitement among the people of Cienfuegos over the affair. The sentiment is generally expressed that the authorities had no right to arrest Jiminez, an unarmed citizen, going apparently to Santiago de Cuba, and the point is even made that if he were going to San Domingo, he would only be returning to his native country.

Senor Aybor, a representative of Jiminez, left Cienfuegos for Santiago de Cuba last Tuesday, after remaining at the former place ten days. It is believed he tried to fit out an expedition, as a small schooner was found lying outside the harbor, supposed to be awaiting a cargo of ammunition. Aybor had taken out clearance papers for Key West several days before.

OFF THE BRIDGE.

Portion of a Passenger Train on the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf Railroad Goes Into Little River.

TEXARKANA, Tex., Aug. 19.—A message has just been received here to the effect that a north-bound passenger train on the Kansas City, Pittsburg & Gulf railroad went into Little river, 50 miles north of here. A switch engine, with crew, has left for the scene. The wreck is between stations, and it is not known how much of the train went off the bridge. It is known, however, that the baggage, express and mail cars went in

The Shamrock at New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The Shamrock, the British yacht that is to compete for the American cup, arrived at New York Friday. After the yachts had anchored in the upper bay Capt. Archie Hogarth, of the Shamrock, said: "The Shamrock behaved beautifully. I am more than satisfied with her. In fact, I am delighted, because my most sanguine anticipations have been more than realized. But I will say this, that gleeful as I am with the behavior of the boat, I was more surprised with the generous reception which she got from the time that we were abreast of Sandy Hook."

Glorot Not the Assassin.

RENNES, Aug. 19.—Glorot, who claims to have been the man who attempted to assassinate M. Labori, was brought to Rennes Friday evening. Col. Picquart, M. Gast and others who saw the would-be assassin, declare Glorot was not the man. The prisoner has written a letter to the police making an alleged confession and glorifying in the crime. The doctors say he is insane.

Yellow Jack at Port Limon, Costa Rica.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Surgeon General Wyman was Friday notified by Surgeon Carson, stationed at Port Limon, Costa Rica, of the appearance of one case of yellow fever at that place. This is one of the eight American ports, at which the marine hospital service has an official stationed to report promptly on the appearance of yellow fever. This is the first that has been reported at any of the fruit ports this season.

The Children Safe.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 19.—Mrs. Susan Cutter, living in the outskirts of the city, Friday afternoon attached the family horse to a road wagon, and with her three little children started to drive down town. Within a short distance the horse started on a runaway. Mrs. Cutter was thrown out and fatally hurt internally, besides which she suffered a broken arm. The little children clung to the wagon, and after a long run the horse finally turned homeward, where he arrived safely with the little ones unhurt.

RIOTS IN PARIS.

Serious Disturbances Occurred Recalling Some Aspects of the Commune.

Church of St. Joseph Almost Completely Gutted and Valuable Paintings Destroyed—Many Were Hurt Fighting the Police.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Paris was Sunday the scence of most serious disturbances, recalling some aspects of the commune. In response to an appeal of the journals Le Peuple and La Petite Republique, groups of anarchists and socialists gathered about 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the Place de la Republique. The police had taken precautions and there seemed no danger of disorders.

Sebastian Faure and Faberot, well know revolutionary anarchists, were the ringleaders, Faure, standing on the pedestal of the statue which rises in the center of the Place de la Republique, addressed the crowd. Among other things he said that the anarchists should be masters of the streets. The police then interfered and dislodged Faure and Faberot, making three arrests. The crowd at this point dispersed, but a column of demonstrators, headed by Faure and Henri D'Horr, made for the Place de la Nation.

The police broke through the column and a struggle for the mastery followed. Shots were fired and M. Goullier, commissary of police, was twice stabbed with a knife.

This threw the police into momentary confusion. The mob reassembled and ran toward the Place de la Nation.

In the meantime the anarchist mob retraced its course to the Place de la Republique, smashing the windows of religious edifices on the way.

Suddenly, either at the word of command or in obeyance to impulse, the column made a loop and curved toward the Church of St. Ambroise, where the rioters smashed the windows.

Proceeding thence toward the Faubourg Du Temple, at the corner of the Rue Darboy and the Rue St. Maur-Popincourt, they formed up into a compact body. Hatchets were suddenly produced, with long knives stolen from the counters of shops, and a concerted rush was made upon the church of St. Joseph. The aged sacristan, seeing the mob hastily closed the outer gates, but these were soon forced with hatchets and bars of iron. The massive oaken doors were then attacked.

According to the first account the wild horde burst into the church, which instantly became a scene of pillage and sacrilege. Altars and statues were hurled to the floor, and smashed; pictures were rent, candlesticks, ornaments and hosts from high altars were thrown down and trampled under foot. The crucifix above was made the target for missiles, and the figure of the Saviour was fractured in several places.

Then, while rancorous voices sang the "Carmagnole" the chairs were carried outside, piled up and set on fire in the center of the square fronting the church.

When this stage was reached the crucifix was pulled down and thrown into the flames. Suddenly the cry was raised that the statue of the Virgin had been forgotten, and the crowd returned and tore this down also.

Meanwhile the sacristan, who had been captured by the anarchists, escaped and called the police and republican guards, who promptly arrived with many constables. They were compelled to fall back in order to form up into line of defense, as the anarchists attacked them fearfully with knives. At length the officers began to gain the mastery. A score of anarchists took refuge in an adjacent house. Others entrenched themselves in the belfry and fiercely defended themselves by showering missiles on the republican guards, but finally these were dislodged. Twenty anarchists were arrested, taken to the police station, searched and found to be carrying revolvers, loaded sticks and knives.

When the police entered the church the anarchists had just set fire to the pulpit. The interior of the edifice was a complete wreck. Several valuable old pictures that can never be replaced were ruined.

About 10 o'clock disorders occurred on the Boulevard de Magneta, Boulevard de Strasbourg. Several revolver shots were fired, but nobody was injured.

Up to 1 o'clock Monday morning 380 persons have been reported injured, including several policemen. No one as far as known was injured by firearms. Nearly all were hurt by being crushed or trodden under foot. A body of rioters who had taken refuge in the court yard of Gare de l'Est was expelled by the police, who made 95 arrests. Quiet has now been restored.

Reed's Resignation.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 21.—Reed's resignation will be sent to the governor of Maine this week to take effect September 4. The special election to elect a successor to Mr. Reed in this district will be held about the middle of October.

Hensley Won Out.

MARION, O., Aug. 21.—After a close fight Dr. J. L. Hensley received the indorsement of the republican central committee for representative for the Marion-Morrow district.

BROWN NOMINATED.

One of the Most Remarkable Gatherings Ever Assembled in the Interest of Politics in the State.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 17.—Every county of the 119 composing the state but nine were represented at one of the most remarkable gatherings of Kentucky citizens ever assembled in the interest of any political cause within the borders of the state. They assembled Wednesday in accordance with the call of Chairman P. P. Johnston, of the state central democratic committee, for the purpose of nominating a full ticket to oppose the ticket nominated at Louisville in June and headed by William Goebel.

Over 3,000 were in their seats in the convention hall of whom over 900 were delegates, all seated at 1:55 p. m., when Hon. Phil Thompson, sr., called the convention to order. Jno. W. Greene, of Owens county, temporary chairman and subsequently permanent chairman, made a strong speech on taking the chair.

While the committees were out ex-Congressman Owens, of Scott, Capt. Sweeney, of Marion, Theodore Hallam, of Kenton, made addresses. Resolutions adopted declare the Louisville nominee is not the nominee; of the democratic party and demands the enactment of a law giving force and effect to Section 151 of the state constitution, which provides for deprivation of office of any person who, to secure his nomination or election, has been guilty of the unlawful use of money or other things of value, or has been guilty of fraud or intimidation, bribery or corrupt practices, etc., etc.

It indorses the principles and platform of the Chicago convention in 1896 and Bryan for president in 1900; denounces the Goebel election law; favors a regulation of railroads so as to prevent extortion; demands the abolishment of the Chinn book bill; condemns McKinley for the alleged advancement of the interest of trusts.

Hon. Theodore Hallam, of Kenton, nominated John Young Brown for governor, and the nomination was made by acclamation.

After the nomination of Brown the convention adjourned until 8 p. m., when Brown accepted the nomination in a lengthy and impressive speech. The entire ticket was nominated by acclamation.

In the race, however, for superintendent of public instruction, Revs. A. W. Overstreet, of Spencer, and E. O. Guerrant, of Jessamine, were nominated. The former withdrew and the latter was chosen by acclamation. The ticket is:

John Young Brown, Jefferson, governor.

Maj. P. P. Johnston, Fayette, lieutenant governor.

Lawrence P. Tanner, Owensboro, attorney general.

Frank A. Pasteur, Caldwell, auditor.

John C. Droege, Kenton, treasurer.

Edward L. Hines, Warren, secretary of state.

E. O. Guerrant, of Jessamine, superintendent public instruction.

G. W. Vandeveer, of Lincoln, commissioner of Agriculture.

An interesting party question arose soon after the nomination.

The committee on organization brought in a report in which it claimed the democratic emblem. The Goebel following will also claim it and the matter may have to be settled in court.

Anti-Goebel men claim that as the Louisville convention did not claim it their party may do so with legal propriety. A formal claim will be made to the secretary of state, perhaps Thursday, and as he is a republican, will likely grant it. The convention adjourned sine dine at 11:20 p. m.

Snake In a Coffee Pot.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., Aug. 17.—A queer story of the death of three lodgers comes from Buchanan county, Virginia. According to the report Sam and Malcolm Hill and Will Shafer were at breakfast, when Shafer fell over dead. Immediately the other two men were taken violently sick. In less than an hour they were dead. An investigation was made, and it was found that a copperhead snake had crawled into the coffee pot from which they had all partaken.

Her Lover Slain.

PINEVILLE, Ky., Aug. 17.—Floyd Parkey, colored, was shot and killed here Wednesday afternoon by Frank Sopher, a mulatto. Sopher was arrested. They quarreled over dice. Parkey was to have been married Wednesday night and the bride was preparing her wedding dress when the fatal shot was fired.

Big Louisville Barbecue.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 17.—A grand democratic barbecue is being planned for Louisville, to be held the second week in October.

Threw an Explosive Drug in Her Face.

LANCASTER, Ky., Aug. 17.—Three burglars attempted to enter the residence of Charles Blanks, residing near here, by raising a window. Mrs. Blanks heard the noise and went to the window. They threw an explosive drug in her face. She is in a critical condition. There is no clew to the assailants.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 17.—Gov. Dyer Wednesday issued a proclamation appealing for aid for the Porto Rico sufferers.

MCKINLEY'S MODESTY.

The Height of Absurdity Reached by Our Self-Effacing Executive.

Great are courage, sobriety, industry, love, charity, modesty, but the greatest of these is modesty. Our noble executive has of these qualities a plenty, but of modesty he has enough to go around his entire cabinet if he could only induce the members to take some of it.

In the old days, when bashfully admitting that he was really the author of the tariff measure which bore his name; in aftertimes, when, hailed as the shining exemplar of protection, he stood on the floor of congress, clad in light gray "Prince Albert," a red rose in his lapel, his right hand thrust into his bosom; still later, when he deprecated the ardor of worshipers who likened him to the great Napoleon, agreeing blushingly that he resembled the Corsican in brain, but averring that physically he was of larger and slimmer build; still later, when, as governor of Ohio, he granted only under extreme pressure that he was the dominant unity of the republican party, and subsequently, when he shrinkingly permitted a bunch of enthusiastic idolaters to pay his debts—modesty has been his chiefest, most charming characteristic. It is as much a part of our heaven-born ruler as are his gold-rimmed eyeglasses and patent-leather shoes.

The other day we were informed that he would not attend the New York ceremonies of welcome to Admiral Dewey. Men of prominence have besought him, committees have called upon him, the wires have tingled with messages of pleading from Gotham's highest and best, but all to no purpose. Why? Because he is not willing to rob Dewey of the glory that belongs to him; because he is not willing to draw the eyes of the multitude from Dewey and center them on himself; because he will not have the people to split their throats and deafen him with cheers that should be reserved for Dewey; because he believes that, for this occasion only, Dewey is entitled to the center of the stage. It is like him—like our modest, altruistic, self-abnegating, cheaty, imperial chief.

"His own judgment," we are told by the dispatches, "his own sense of justice and propriety, his natural inclination to give Dewey all of the credit that is coming to him weighed more heavily in the balance than all of the pleadings, arguments and inducements. So it was that he finally decided to remain quietly in Washington during the hubbub and turmoil of the Dewey reception. The original plan of the Dewey committee was for the president, accompanied by Vice President Hobart and the cabinet, to meet the admiral at quarantine. The idea was that there the president should extend to the admiral the thanks and greetings of a grateful public. For a time the president looked upon this plan with favor and he came near to giving it his sanction. But the more he thought over it the more he became convinced that he should do nothing that might dim the luster of Dewey's star."

We ask a common-sense public: "Isn't that delicious?" and await an affirmative reply in confidence. George Dewey, commanding an American squadron not especially powerful in weight or numbers, sailed at nighttime through a narrow passage, over water which he believed to harbor mines, and dared death in so doing. Beginning action of daylight, he achieved one of the most complete naval victories of the ages, without the loss of a man, crushed Spain's strength in Asiatic waters, knelled the downfall of that kingdom and heralded to a watching world that the spirit of dead Decatur lived in American seamen. William McKinley, a republican politician, a congressman of no marked force, an average Ohio governor, was made president of this republic by the mistakes of his opponents. In more than two years of incumbency he has given a steady and unrelieved exhibition of vacillation, weakness, petty politics, subservience to bosses, deference to incompetent subordinates and an incexensable desire to harbor, defend and protect rascals. Yet he fears that his presence will "Dim the luster of Dewey's star!" The absurd could no further go.—Chicago Chronicle.

PARAGRAPHIC POINTERS.

——It is not exactly known what McKinley and Hobart are doing in the woods together, but it is suspected that they are celebrating their escape from Alger.—Chicago Record.

——The Chicago platform, like the inaugural address of Thomas Jefferson, was built for all time. We need not repudiate a syllable or idea of it. But when new and important issues arise we can take them into the family and make the campaign upon them without apologizing for any past fight.—W. J. Bryan.

——Imperialism is unpopular among the American people and militarism has not yet gained a foothold. When men like ex-Senator Edmunds and Senator Hoar definitely take up the cudgel against the administration's policy it may be too much to say they will win, but it is only natural to expect that the fur will fly if the exigencies of an approaching national campaign do not render them speechless.—Denver Post.

——Our exports to Brazil, which have always been small, are reported to be declining still further owing to the action of the Brazilian government in imposing a new duty of 50 cents a barrel on flour. Inasmuch as flour has been one of our principal articles of export to that country, the amount sent there annually being valued at about $3,000,000, the balance of trade against us will be larger than ever. It is not strange, therefore, that our flour exporters are urging upon the administration the advisability of retaliatory measures.—Minneapolis Sentinel.

OPPORTUNITY OF DEMOCRATS.

A Time for Wisdom and Counsel and the Consolidation of the Party.

That hope which beats eternal in the human breast is a concomitant of democratic faith. A long lease of power, ably and discreetly exercised through the formative period of our national existence, and until long after the experimental stage of our institutions was passed, gave way to a series of reverses no less remarkable. Democracy has had a comparatively small part in the direction of public affairs since 1860, yet it has never thought of abandoning organization, has never failed to make a stubborn fight for supremacy, and has never relinquished the underlying principles of its political creed. The inherent vitality of a party that can thus rise confident and defiant from continued defeats is such as to insure success if its wisdom will not prevent a dissipation of such splendid courage and strength.

The reliance of the republican party upon some fatal blunder on the part of the opposition has too often been verified. There has been want of leadership and of generalship. Instead of massing strength forces have been scattered and divided against themselves. There is a lack of tolerance within the party, a failure to bear and forbear, to modify individual and factional opinions so as to reach such an avowal of principles as will receive loyal and conscientious support from all. With this concessionary spirit prevailing the democrats have one of the finest fighting opportunities presented them in half a century.

Merely for the sake of presenting this view of the case in its strongest light, assume that it would be right to bring our financial system under the dominion of those favoring free silver. It is the evidence of one attempt and the conviction of the shrewdest political prophets that the thing cannot be done. Nothing is more certain than that the forcing of this issue in the campaign would lose the support of many who are antagonistic to the republican party in its present attitude. Why, then, commit the folly of making it an instrument of party defeat? Why alienate an element of strength that might insure a victory in the next national contest? As has been said by an ex-United States senator, who supported Bryan: "The silver question is not the only issue which confronts the American people. It is not even the most important one," and the statement is truer now than when he made it.

The imperial policy of the administration, the unprecedented reign of trusts and the underlying principles of democracy as bearing upon the problem of the best popular government, should inspire a platform particularly acceptable to the masses, and if it is not provided therein without the financial plank to which they cannot subscribe, the onus of defeat and the continuance of current misrule will be charged to the platform makers. It is a time for wisdom in council, and the men of the party should address themselves seriously to this question of securing an army that will give triumph to their cause. It is clearly a choice between sacrificing everything or gaining the much that seems attainable.—Detroit Free Press.

MATERIAL ENOUGH.

Plenty of Issues for Democrats in the Next Presidential Campaign.

Democrats should not now determine what issues shall be emphasized and what subordinated in 1900. Wisdom today may be madness to-morrow. Let democrats everywhere be wiser than serpents and more harmless even than doves. Let them wait and possess their souls in patience. Political history is making rapidly nowadays. Men are weighed each hour in the balance and their value accurately appraised. Heroes rise and fall in the popular mind, come and go on the great stage stretched out before us. The republican party has in its three years of power done all it could contrive to do to drag down the name of the republic and make it a ruin and a shame to every beholder. They have broken the records for political infamy since 1896. Now, let them go on with their congenial work. Give them all the rope they would like. Let them multiply their infidelities one hundredfold. Let them monopolize that field. Let them continue to worship the shrines of Hannaism, Algerism and Otisism. Let them revel in fraud, force, dishonor and incompetency. Let no democrats emulate these vices of the republican party!

Let us get the whole political situation squarely before the American people next year. Let us keep conspicuously in view the crowning glories of republican rule, the ripe fruits of the McKinley administration—Hannaism, Otisism and Algerism. The party leaders may drive out certain individuals. They cannot get rid of the disease. The whole republican organization is inoculated. There has been no quarantine. The epidemic of incompetency and dishonor is as wide as the continent.

Democrats must stamp this political leprosy out of the body politic of the nation. To do so they must keep it in sight as one of the issues of 1900. Let nothing obscure it! Hold it up before the eyes of the people. Let every hamlet ring with it. Shout it from the housetops! Write it on the sand hills! —Washington Times.

——Roosevelt's prating about clean politics is like Satan's quoting Scripture for selfish purposes. New York's governor, in the brief time that he has served as the state's chief executive, has capitulated, body, boots and breeches, to the Platt republican machine, and now loses no occasion to do the dirty work of the easy boss and to advance his interests at every opportunity.—Syracuse Telegram

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, Aug., 23, 1899.

Advertising Rates:

One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

Democratic State Ticket.

For Governor,
WILLIAM GOEBEL, of Kenton.

For Lieutenant Governor,
J. C. W. BECKHAM, of Nelson.

For Attorney General,
R. J. BRECKINRIDGE, of Boyle.

For Auditor,
G. G. COULTER, of Graves.

For Treasurer,
S. W. HAGER, of Boyd.

For Secretary of State,
C. B. HILL, of Clark.

For Supt. Public Instruction,
H. V. McCHESNEY, of Livingston.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. B. NALL, of Jefferson.

For Railroad Commissioner,
FLETCHER DEMPSEY, of Hopkins county.—First District.

C. C. McCHORD, of Washington county.—Second District.

A. W. HAMILTON, of Montgomery county.—Third District.

For State Senator,
Dr. J. G. FURNISH.

Neighborhood News.

Limaburg.

Attend the Harvest Home next Saturday.

William Utz killed a spreading adder, last week.

W. R. and J. L. Rouse had 7 sheep killed by dogs, last week.

Only a few went from here to the primary election, Saturday.

M. C. Giaddy put up a wire yard fence for Jerry Beemon, last week.

Mrs. Seamon and daughter, of Covington, were visiting here last week.

All the privileges except the refreshment stand were rented by Harvest Home Co., last Saturday.

Francesville.

Dan Koons is spending a few weeks with his sister, Mrs. Bruce Henry.

Bro. Atwood, of Erlanger, preached at Sand Run last Sunday mornig and evening.

Mrs. George McGlasson's mother is spending the summer months with her, hoping to benefit her health.

Mr. Wash Tanner gave a musical social last Thursday evening. It was enjoyed by 25 or 30 of his neighbors and friends.

Charley Scothorn has purchased the McCortuey place, of W. H. Hayes. He expects to erect a dwelling on it in the near future.

The game of ball between the Francesville boys and the Pt. Pleasantites was won by the former. Harry Kilgour umpired the game and Holly Goodridge kept the score.

Hathaway.

Nathan Clements is on the sick list.

Sweet cider is on the bill of fare now.

Henry McNeely, of Gallatin county, was visiting here, last week.

S. H. Marshall went to the city, last week, and purchased a nice bunch of beep.

Clay White has purchased a Graphaphone and will give exhibitions at different places.

J. M. Setters is on Gunpowder, this week, threshing. He has threshed 16,000 bushels this season.

Gunpowder creek was on a boom last Thursday night a week, and the water destroyed much corn in the bottoms.

The most enjoyable event of the season was the musicale giveu by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rue on the evening of the 17th inst. About 75 guests answered to invitations and all enjoyed a pleasant evenlug listeiug to the sweet strains of music furnished by the Hathaway string band until a late hour, when the guests returned to their several homes, wishing to meet again in the near future.

Rabbit Hash.

Miss Ella Craig, of near Walton, visited friends here, last week.

Hubert Ryle's child has been very sick for a week, but is some better.

Thos. Hankerson, of Grant county, Ind., visited friends and relatives here, last week.

Mrs. Dessie Ryle has been very sick at her father's, L. L. Stepheus, but is improving.

Miss Maud Matson, of Rising Sun, was visiting her sister, Mrs. Etta Stephens, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wilson, of Lawreuceburg, Ind., buried their youngest child here, last Mouday.

Elbert Ryle, son of Richard Ryle, of Cincinnati, was visiting his uncle John P. Ryle and family, last week.

Mrs. E. P. Stephens, of Osborn, Mo., arrived here, two weeks ago, to spend a month or two visiting relatives.

Bro. Harris assisted by the Rev. Bedinger, held a meeting at the Methodist church here from Saturday the 12th inst., to the following Friday evening. Thursday and Friday was their Quarterly meeting, the Presidlug Elder was present.

Gunpowder.

James Dubbins, of Richwood, is confined to his bed with typhoid fever.

Mr. Harry Hicks, of Cincinnati, was the guest of J. H. Tanner last Sunday night.

J. M. Conner, of the Covington Stock Yards, passed through our burg last Sunday.

Misses Dalsie Hardiu and Edith Rouse, of Hebron, were guests of Miss Lellee Floyd, last Friday.

The joint council of the Boone county charge, will meet at Hebron church next Saturday at 10 o'clock a. m.

J. C. Hankins and family, Eli Surface and family, Mrs. Lizzie Bartell, and your correspondent and family, spent last Sunday with J. S. Surface.

Miss Olive Orem and sister, Delpha, of Bennington, Ind., called on your correspondent last Saturday, to complete the arrangements for the fall term of school, which will be taught by Miss Orem.

The meetings at Ebenezer are still in progress, being conducted by the pastor, Rev. Lentz, and will probably continue throughout the present week. May the earnest efforts which are being put forth by him be richly rewarded by many souls being brought to the Saviour.

Petersburg.

Joe Ferris is feeding one hundred 200 pouud hogs for the fall market.

The bonded warehouses hold fifty thousand barrels of whisky and are two-thirds full.

Hon. N. S. Walton is preparing for dry weather by building an immeuse pond near his stock barn.

The loss, by leakage in the bonded warehouses at the distillery every year amounts to several thousand dollars.

The Rolling Bear Medicine Co. need not be afraid to visit our town, as the hen that layed the bad eggs has flown.

M. E. Wingate says his purchase of lambs this year did not weigh as much by ten pounds per head as his last year's purchase.

It is said that T. E. Randall, of Utzinger, will move to his farm in the bottoms this fall; it is also said that Ras will shy his castor in the ring for Assessor.

M. F. Wingate has 100 acres of corn that will make 40 bushels to the acre. Joe Ferris has 75 acres, and Col. Appletou 75 acres that will average 75 bushels to the acre.

Hebron.

Claud Tauner is able to be out again.

Miss Daisey Harding is visiting at Floreuce.

T. Z. Roberts will teach the fall and winter school here.

Mrs. Laura Shannon is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Clore.

Several of our people attended the Carthage fair, last week.

Madge Crusey, of Sycamore Hill, Cincinnati, is visiting Lizzie Clore.

J. C Clore, of Cincinnati, was the guest of his father Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. J. H. Mannin spent last Thursday with her niece, Mrs. Wayman, of Covington.

G. Sheridan Hann spent several nights, last week, with friends in this neighborhood.

Quite a number of our youug people visited what is known as the Middle creek cliffs, last Saturday.

Misses Mary and Alice Bullock came out from the city Saturday and remained over Sunday with their cousin.

We suppose our young friend, Edgar Graves, is well acquainted now with the town of Petersburg, as he was seen driving in a circle around the town at the Institute, one day last week with one of Boone county's fair teachers.

The series of meetings at the Bullittsville Christian church, is booked to close Tuesday night. Night after night has Rev. Miller plead with those who are out of Christ, but it seems that Satan has them within his grasp. Rev. Miller's texts during the meetiug were excellent selections.

Constance.

Mrs. Dolwick is quite sick.

The Constance Sunday school outing was a grand success.

The small boy and the hoop raise an awful dust these days.

Wm. Tanner spent last Tuesday with relatives at Dayton, Ohio.

Fred Moore was installed as clerk for Davis' store this week.

Fred Moore has accepted a position at Davis' store. Success to you, Fred.

Rev. Peno preached an eloquent sermon at the Christian church, Sunday night.

Rev. Robt. McGowen is conducting a camp meeting here. Good speakers are in attendance.

A large audience attended the camp meeting which is being conducted by Rev. McCowen at the missiou.

Constance has a fine prospect for a coal famine, as their is no coal in the yard here, and little prospects for any.

Miss Celia Winters left for the city, last week, where she has secured employment in a large manufacturing establishment.

Last Thursday was Boone county's turnout at Carthage, O., fair. More buggies and wagons were in Constance that day than ever before.

Work has commenced on the Aurora and Lawreuceburg electric road. The power house will be located at North Bend. It will be completed by Jany., 1st, 1899.

Union.

F. F. Adams was in town Saturday.

Mrs. Martha Allen, of Erlanger, was visiting relatives here, last week.

Mrs. Smith, of Elizabethtown, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Lane.

Lee Cleek has been on the sick list for two months with nervous troubles.

Jack Berkshire will put a new roof on Miss Lizzie Aylor's residence this week.

James Bristow attended a meeting of the K. P.'s at Rabbit Hash, Saturday night.

Mrs. Tom Brown and daughter, of Newport, are the guests of Miss Lillie Corbin.

J. T. Hughes, of Beaver, was in town Saturday with Mr. Green, the telephone hustler.

Mr. Parker, of Cincinnati, spent Sunday in our village, the guest of Miss Lou Williams.

Mr. Dick Thompson, after a pleasant visit of two weeks in Union, has returned to New Columbus.

J. L. Frazier started out with a prospect for no corn, but now reports a prospect for 12 barrels per acre.

The telephone committee made arrangements with Mr. Green Saturday to build the line from Union and Florence, and work will begin at once.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith, of Covington, are the guests of S. S. Smith and wife. Mr. Smith's health has improved since coming to the country.

Sam Hicks purchased of L. W. Lasing six bullocks weighing 1,800 pounds each at 5c, which is said to be the highest price paid for cattle in this county for ten years.

Mrs. Mary Carpenter has a peach tree with nine peaches on it. Jas. Smith reports one with two on it. Mr. Smith thinks Boone county cannot furnish a peck of peaches for the fair.

Wm. Surface, of Gunpowder, has a clever and original way of entertaining customers. He has a band of musicians play every evening in front of his store and sets up the cigars to visitors. "Buut" is in the push.

Theodore Green was fixing the lightning rods on Mr. Kennedy's house, recently, and a cloud came up, the lightning flashed across the clouds a few times and Mr. Green slipped quietly down, went the house around, and no more was seen of Theodore Green.

Pink Lunsford, after a party colored experience of one year in Newport and Cincinnati, such as wrestling with malaria, getting out of the backwater's way, &c., has come back to the pleasant valleys and fertile hills of Boone to stay. He will help Lawrence Kenney hustle on the Matson place.

Supt. Voshell was "doiug the sights" of Aurora with a delegation of Union citizens, recently, and visited the Fire Departmeut. The chief was asked by Professor to show the youug ladies how quick the "hitch up" could be made. The bell tapped, horses came with a rush into position and men came sliding from above—results, young ladies yelled, rushed out of position and Professor made a slide for the river.

When you see three young men at the still hour of midnight digging a horse out of the ditch with a shovel and three earnest determinations to keep the "Boss" from hearing them it's 5 to 1 they don't want anything said about the matter. Well we woul! but we object to the manner of dress adopted by these midnight horse extractors. Holy Moses! suppose the man in the moou had asked the goddess of night to come to the wiudow and look down upon the scene and she had looked and seen one fellow with necktie on; another with one sock on and the other posing as a model in altogether art. Is likely the moon would have changed right there and then.

Some 200 people were in town Saturday and politics were discussed from all sides. Nothing but good humor prevailed and no one seemed disposed to start a "rough time." Under the present voting system no draggiug and hauling of voters is seeu and everything runs like a piece of well oiled machinery. Jas. A. Smith, J. L. Rouse and Beu Crisler reported Long Brauch all o. k and crops fine. Thos. Garrison and Samuel Stephens say Pleasant Hill couutry was disfigured by the storms, but is still in the push; Neal Bros., Lon Utz and Uncle Ras Stepheus were telling how the Hathaway section was flourishing; John Hickory Bradford, Elsie Garrison and Elbert Rice reported peaches scarce, apples plentiful, beans abuudant and corn fine in their country; John Cleek, Henry Ross and John Hogan told how the creek had washed out its mouth, run out of its head, torn up its sides, changed its bed and performed many antics, but left their corn and tobacco all right.

Walton.

Miss Addie Counelly, of Dry Ridge, is visiting Miss Alice Laws.

The post-office has been moved to Edwards Bros., hardware store.

Mrs Sleet and niece, Lucille, of Dayton St., Cincinnati, are visiting relatives at Beaver.

C. C. Metcalfe's drug store has been closed out, he having decided to abandon the business.

Mrs. Agnes Schleuker, of Wapkoneta, Ohio, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Fred Shafer.

Miss Lizzie Vest and Mr. Samuel Bonar, of Dry Ridge, are the guests of Miss Blanche Dyas.

Mrs. Dr. Bagby gave a sumptuous dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bristow, last Thursday.

Miss Effie Lermond attended the Kenton County Teachers' Institute at Independence, last week.

The many friends of Miss Lou Edwards were rejoiced to see her out again after her long illness.

Mrs. Alice Fisk and son, Harley, of Falmouth, have been visiting their old neighbor, Mrs. J. A. Sanders.

Misses Alle Wilson and Adah Lermond returned Sunday from a protracted visit to Mrs. Allie Lermond, of Sliverville, Ind.

Mrs. Alice Coffman, Misses Lizzie Kipp and Mary Rouse attended the Boone County Teachers' Institute at Petersburg, last week.

T. J. Stephens and D. T. Haley, two of our enterprising citizens managed to secure "The nigger baby privilege" at the coming Floreuce fair.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Myers, of Hamilton, O., and Miss Bettie Palmer are the guests of Jno. Palmer. Mr. M. is the chief stenographer of the Niles Works at that place.

Miss Lulu Jones has returned from making a number of visits to West Va., Bracken and Mason counties, this State. Torrid weather traveling seems to have agreed with Miss Lulu.

Miss Leona Rouse made a long visit to her father in Andersou, Indiana, and during the time had a very pleasant excursion to Michigan. Before returning she made a visit to her grand-mother at Morning View.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hoppe, of Foster's Crossing, O., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kipp, last Sunday. Mrs. Hoppe, nee Miss Lizzie Deffendahl, is well known and highly esteemed by many of our citizens.

The Walton base ball club gained the fourth consecutive victory at Sherman over its nine on the 12th. Capt. John Fink of the Walton team carrying off the honors on the occasion. Rah for Fink. They also met and defeated the L. & N. bridge builder's nine at the park the following day, and tumbled them by a score of 26 to 14.

A flying corps of seven young ladies from Independence, on bicycles, made a dash into town Saturday evening, and before any one realized it Robt. Jones' grocery store was in a state of siege and almost carried by assault. Jones surrendered unconditionally and the storming party made him mount his wheel, and under a strong guard he was taken to Independence. The following were noted for conspicuous heroism in the assault and are recommended for immediate promotion: Misses Nellie Rankin, Belle Hume, Edith Scales, Clora Rankin, Iva Hume, Clara Jones and Marie Dunlap.

Everything looks like a speedy termination of hostilities.

The storms here on the nights of 10th and 11th inst., were terrific. Such downpouring of rain was never before known by the oldest inhabitants. Fences, crops and bridges were swept away in all directions. Stone fences along the banks of insignificant streams were carried by the force of the rushing waters. On Mrs. Ruth Hind's place many rods of stone fencing were washed completely away—the rock being distributed the Lord only knows where. Arthur Stephenson living on Walton branch came in from Verona and turned out his horse. He had been in the house only a few minutes when he said to Sam Houston (who is building a house for him,) "Good God, look at that creek. I'm afraid my horse will be carried away." Next mornlug he was found at John S. Johnsou's a mile below, very stiff and barely able to move. About one hundred yards above the old Stephenson mill a stone 10 feet wide, 14 feet long and 8 inches thick was heaved from the bed of the brauch agaiust a tree.

The primary election, Saturday, developed much greater interest than was anticipated. The Democracy of the country seems to be arousing to the danger of the situation. The unmistakable action of the L. & N. officials has wakened them as nothing else would have doue. Both Stephens and Kennedy were Hardin men. At the Burlington convention Stephens voted for Harulu while Mr. Kenuedy did not vote at all. To this circumstance many attribute his overwhelming defeat. It is more than probable that Judge Stephens would have won in any event as he is one of the most popular men in the county, and his coming out so strong for the ticket nominated at Louisville, shows him to be what he really is, an all around, every day, and Suuday too, Democrat that is up and doing from the word go. The crowd that went from here to the Republican Ad Convention at Lexington, and whose R. R. fare was paid by some mysterious person as was also their expeuses in Lexington, was a mighty factor in openlug the people's eyes, and the Goebel men are more active and determined since that event.

Richwood.

Mrs. Ed Stephens has been quite ill.

Mr. Herbert Barnes was visiting in Constance, Sunday.

Mrs. John McCollum, of Texas, is visiting Mrs. M. Grubbs.

Miss Carpenter, of Indianapolis, Ind., is visiting Miss Hattie Tanner.

Mr. James Dobyns is quite ill. He has symptoms of typhoid fever.

Miss Anna Herue has returned from a visit to relatives in Cincinnati.

Rev. Lentz is holding a very interesting meeting at Ebenezer church.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Surface, of Gunpowder, were visiting friends in this vicinity, Sunday.

Master Charles Dendee entertained a number of his little friends, Saturday, in honor of his birthday.

Irvin Kyle, of Floreuce, passed here Sunday with a friend. They were in one of the nicest turnouts of the season.

Friends and relatives met at the family cemetery on the Glacken homestead and put the cemetery in order.

Mrs. Jno. Carpenter, Mrs. Jno. Powers and Mrs. M. Grubbs speut a very pleasant day in Verona, Wednesday week.

Miss Mary Thompson is visiting friends in this neighborhood. She is remembered by many with the kindliest of feelings.

Miss Lillie Hammond returned from Williamstown. She brought with her Miss Benta Snow, who will remain until September.

Among the youug people from this place who attended the Carthage, O., fair, were Miss Lucy Robiuson and Mr. Ben Northcutt.

Willie Glacken was hurt Saturday evening by falling from his horse. His injuries will confine him to the house for only a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Len Tanner celebrated their silver wedding by entertaining in royal style, one day last week. Many people from a distance were present.

The singing at Dr. Menifee's was one of the pleasantest affairs ever held. The genial doctor knows how to mix other than medicine, and a great part of the success of the affair was due to the fact that his wife is a lovely hostess.

Prof. Will E. Cook, formerly of Beaver Lick, has been confined to his bed in Cincinnati with fever for several weeks, but is getting some better. Prof. C., was on a visit to his mother who lives in Dayton where he was taken. He still holds a responsible position with the C. & O. R. R. at Newport News, Va.

Mrs. Harvey entertained the following guests, last Sunday week: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. White and daughter, Annie Francis, of Williamstown; Mr. and Mrs. Broaddus, of Nicholson; Mrs. Annie Sparks, of Danville; Mrs. Marel Parks and daughter, Lizzie, of Richmond, Ky. Eight of this party were deaf and dumb, but for all that were well educated and very entertaining.

North Bend.

The fruit on the river is very fine this year.

Mrs. Lucinda Clore spent last Thursday with Mrs. Columbus Kirtley.

Mrs. W. O. Kirtley has been visiting her father, Rev. Jas. A. Kirtley.

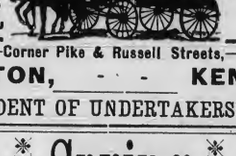
Miss Bessie Cropper spent several very pleasant days at the Lexington fair, last week.

Miss Isabel Sparks, who was visiting Mrs. T. W. Baisley, has returned to her home at Walnut Hills, O.

Several boys of the Bullittsville neighborhood spent the day with Master Earl and Raymond Cropper Saturday.

It has been several weeks since there was any letter from North Bend, and in the meantime quite a good deal has happened.

Mrs. G. M. Riley returned from Dayton two weeks ago, and brought her daughter, who was quite sick with typhoid fever there. Miss Annabel is improving and we hope before long to have her up and among us.



NOTICE.—I hereby notify the public that my wife Katheriny, has left my bed and board, and that I will not be responsible for any debts she may contract. ADAM BAUER.

Aug. 16t, 1899.

A good rain is needed.

LAWRENCEBURG FAIR
Lawrenceburg, Indiana,
AUG. 22, 23, 24, 25 & 26,
BABY SHOW every day.
A full program of
RACES each day.
Will have the best line of
LIVE STOCK
ever seen on their grounds.
For information address
H. L. NOWLIN, Secretary,
Guilford, Indiana.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission and SEED Merchants.
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.
Largest and Best Stock of
CROCERIES IN THE CITY.
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.
27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone 4055) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street,
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

JOHN ALLISON,
UNDER-TAKER  EMBALMER,
Corner Pike & Russell Streets,
COVINCTON, - - - KENTUCKY.
INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

Order Spring Suits NOW
And we will make them up artistically and ready for you promptly on time. We have
Over Five Hundred Styles
Of Spring and Summer Woolens to Select from. They come direct from the looms of foreign and domestic manufacturers, and surpass in elegance and variety anything ever shown in Covington. In the assortment are many exclusive patterns—goods that cannot be duplicated by any other establishment in this city. Keep these facts in mind and place your order for a stylish suit with us. We promise you a faultless fit, the proper cut, and a price that will not be more than you can afford to pay.
H. F. BLASE,
535 Madison Avenue,
COVINCTON, - - KENTUCKY
H. F. BLASE

A Word to the Public
MY STOCK OF
Dry Goods, Notions,
AND LADIES' AND GENTS'
TOILET ARTICLES
for the Spring Trade has been received, and to be appreciated must be seen. Fresh
DRUGS AND GROCERIES
received daily. A large stock of
PAINTS & OILS
on hand at all times. All Goods New and Clean, and are sold at the
LOWEST CASH PRICES.
—GIVE ME A CALL—
J. G. OELSNER, Florence, Ky.

BEAUMONT COLLEGE HARRODSBURG, KY.
—Strongest Southern Girls' School Curriculum, perhaps; in essentials, the peer of any elsewhere. Six languages, without extra charge. Piano and Organ Director, Mus. Doct., Oxon. String Music Director, Grad. Roy. Col. of Music, Munich. Superb advantages in Art and in Elocution. Grounds (28 acres) unsurpassed in America for beauty. Its students have represented more than 30 States. Refined home. Number limited. Terms reasonable. TH. SMITH, A. M., Pres. (Alumnus of Univ. of Va.)

Local News.

A light vote was polled at the primary Saturday.

Business in the circuit court was brisk Tuesday morning.

For Sale.—Two yearling bucks. O. W. Gaines, Bullittsville.

James Clore spent a day or two last week on the hay market in the city.

A great many watermelons are being hauled from the Bellevue bottoms.

Bentler will sell corn and other feed at reasonable prices at the fair next week.

It will be but a few weeks until Burlington and Union can "hello" at each other.

Quite a large delegation of Burlington people attended the Carthage, O., fair, last Thursday.

W. J. Rice had a force of hands at work on the public roads in his bailiwick, several days last week.

The petit jurors were finally discharged Monday, and all but two drew pay for five days. Total, $240.

It is hoped that the fair, next week, will not collide with a block of as torrid weather as that of last year.

Florence people are getting ready for the big fair there next week. The old town will be a lively place next week.

Several colts about here are being prepared for exhibition at the Harvest Home next Saturday and at the fair next week.

Bert and Oule Rouse's grist mill will grind on the 4th Tuesday in each month, instead of the 4th Saturday as heretofore stated.

The Lawrenceburg fair is booming this week, with Col. Moody with his new regalia in command. The girls will watch the Colonel closely this week.

Blyth & Clore, who will have the refreshment stands at the fair next week, say it will be unnecessary to bring your dinner, as they will have plenty of everything to eat.

Miss Mary Riddell, of Hebron, took three premiums at the Carthage, Ohio, fair, last week. Two for driving and one for riding. One was the third premium for lady driver.

The Big Four base ball club that played here last Saturday afternoon, put up a very poor game, the local team defeating the visitors from the city in a score of 20 to 8.

Elders Cornell and Currey will preach at the usual hour on Saturday at the regular monthly meeting at Mt. Pleasant. On Sunday there will be two services. Basket dinner on Sunday.

Week before last the type made our Bellevue correspondent say Mrs. Clara Maurer celebrated her 60th birthday, &c, when it should have read "Miss Clara Maurer celebrated her 16th birthday."

A long procession of movers passed through town, last Friday afternoon. They said they were from Scott county and were going to Rising Sun. They looked like a small army on the move.

The Cincinnati reds will play the Aurora ball team next Thursday afternoon on the old Hoosier grounds. Harry Bahn, of Petersburg, will play second base for Aurora. Game called at 2:30 p. m.

The fair at Floreuce begins next week, and it will be equal to or better than any of the past. The list of premiums that will be given away is larger and more liberal than those of any other fair in this part of the country.

The following is a list of the members of the Burliugton Turtle Club: J. F. Blyth, D. E. Castleman, J. M. Lassing, J. L. Clore, J. S. Clutterbuck, Jeff Eddius, A. B. Rouse, Harry Blyth, J. G. Furnish, Ed Hawes, Bert Gaines, Edwin Gaines, Geo. Blyth, N. E. Riddell, Chas. Westbay, Gordon McKim, Herbert McKim, Wat Brown. The next meeting of the club will be at the court house, on which occasion Hon. John S. Gaunt has accepted an invitation to deliver a speech.

The last Quarterly Conferecue for the year was held by the Presiding Elder, J. R. Deering, last Friday at East Bend Methodist church. Rev. D. E. Bedinger had been preaching for that congregation for several days. His sermons were good and much appreciated by the members. The Methodist Annual Conference meets on the 30th at Carlisle. Bishop Key presides. The preacher for the new Conference year will preach his first sermon at Burlington on the 3d Sunday in September.

A copy of the following letter was mailed to the clerk of each church in the North Bend Association:—The North Bend Association of Baptists meets with the Burlington church, September 6th, 1899. The committee on entertainment will be glad to receive as early as possible the list of delegates from your church so that they may be assigned homes. Please send list, as soon as appointed, to the chairman of that Committee at Burlington, Ky., and oblige,

Yours fraternally, JAS. W. KELLY,
Chairman of Committee on entertainment.

The following which occurred some time since in this county illustrates how easily a man's vote is sometimes changed, and how he repents of his action afterwards: A prominent politician in one of the precincts of this county, just previous to a Congressional election, wrote to the district's representative, who was a candidate for reelection, to send him certain public documents from Washington. The books failed to show up in a reasonable time, and the voter got angry and voted against the nominee of his party, for which act he repented when he received the desired books in a week or two after the election. The application for the documents had been properly filed, and when its turn came it received attention and the books were forwarded. It is best not to be too hasty in politics as well as in other matters.

PERSONAL MENTION.

James Mitchell has typoid fever.

Chas. Wilson moved out to William Pope's, Monday.

Mrs. Westbay and Mrs. Castleman are on the sick list.

H. C. Diers, of Walton, called on us Monday.

W. W. Dickerson, B. F. Menifee and C. C. Crain, of the Grant county bar, have been attending circuit court.

Mrs. Lou Utz, of the Union neighborhood, was the guest of O. J. Ryle and family, several days last week.

Mr. Lucas, of Dry Ridge, Grant county, moved to town, last week, and is operating Mrs. Kirkpatrick's blacksmith shop.

Mrs. F. E. Kirtley has rented a portion of F. P. Walton's house here, and will occupy it while she teaches in Burlington.

Messrs. David H. Platt and Reese Parry, of Lawrenceburg, were in town Friday on business. Mr. Platt made us a pleasant call.

W. Lee Cropper, of the Utzinger neighborhood, presented us, last week, with a basket of as fine grapes as this section of country can produce

Quite a number of persons from the Limsburg neighborhood, passed through town Saturday morning enroute to the Roberts reunion down on Middle creek.

Judge O'Hara, of Covington, attended court several days during the present term, the first time he has appeared at this bar since he was taken sick here several terms since.

Miss Lillie Johnson, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Charles Clore and other relatives in this county, left for her home in Stafford, Kansas, last Monday, after a pleasant visit of several months.

Henry McNeely, of Gallatin county, attended court here a few days last week. Many years ago he was a citizen of the Bellevue neighborhood. He has the appearance of a man who is in good condition both physically and financially.

Logan Zellers, colored carriage driver for J. H. Burkam, was run over by a freight train near the Hardentown school house on Saturday night and both legs cut off. He had been to this city Saturday evening on an errand for Mr. Burkham. Shortly before midnight he started home afoot over the Big Four Road. When he got opposite the Hardentown school house a west bound freight which was switching struck him, knocking him down and cutting off one leg. The noise of the train drowned his cries for help, and he lay there by the track unable to drag himself away. The train back in a few minutes and cut off the other leg. He claimed the train had no light out and he did not see it until it was too near to get out of the way, and that some men came up shortly after the accident and laid him to one side and left. About one o'clock a. m. Chat Hays, who was returning from a party, heard the poor man's cries and notified the family of Col. Burkam. He was taken into a cab of another freight engine just passing and brought to town. Medical aid was summoned and both limbs were amputated. He revived notwithstanding the severity of his injuries, and the physicians expressed a hope of his recovery, but the great loss of blood and shock proved too great, and the unfortunate man died about five o'clock on Monday day morning. Logan was well known about town, and was polite and inoffensive. It was charged that he was intoxicated, but Theo. Burkam informs us there was no evidence of such being the case. He had been coachman for the Burkam family for a number of years, and was well thought of by them. He was aged 52 years and single. The funeral took place from the residence of his sister, Mrs. Betty Thomas, in the New Additiou, Tuesday afteruoon—services conducted by Rev. Simms Dudley.—Lawrenceburg Register.

On Middle creek, three miles east of Bellevue, there is a deep, shady valley, enclosed by lofty, rugged cliffs, and traversed by a gushing, limpid brook. From under the hugh cliffs issue numerous springs of wonderful clearness and purity. Here, summer after summer, Thomas Roberts' children and their families meet in reunion, accompanied, usually, by many neighbors and distant friends. Last Saturday, August 19th, the gathering numbered near 150 persons—from Indiana, from Hebron, and from the immediate neighborhood. Some of the distinguished visitors present were Drs. Furnish and Rouse, Ad Baker and wife, of Indiana, &c. Cecil and Clyde Hafer, and Chas. Kelly and others gave entertaining proof of their skill as musicians, and with a bountiful repast, swinging and cliff-climbing, it was a most delightful day.

The primary election poll books were not all in Monday, and the committee postpoued the count until next county court day. The following is the unofficial report of the vote as cast by precincts. All the members of the committees are requested to be present at the count:

	Stephens.	Keunedy.
Burlington	97	25
Walton	92	29
Florence	155	8
Petersburg	59	83
Union	50	72
Constance	22	6
Bellevue	26	20
Rabbit Hash	62	49
Big Bone	19	103
Bullittsville	75	25
Beaver	30	52
Verona	48	50
	725	502

The Annual State Convention of the Kentucky Sunday School Association will be held in the First Presbyterian Church, Louisville, July 29, 30, 31. A most excellent program has been arranged. Every Sunday School in the State is entitled to one delegate for each hundred members or fraction thereof. Entertainment will be provided for all accredited delegates on condition that their names are sent in as soon as appointed. The railroads will give one and one-third fare for the round trip on the certificate plan.

Pat Diggins, inmate at the County Infirmary, died suddenly yesterday morning.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.

DOLLARS DO DOUBLE DUTY HERE.

Standard Granulated Sugar, 18 lbs. $1 00.
Arbuckle Coffee 10 cents per lb.
Daniel Boone Soap, 3 bars for 5 cents.
Pittsburg Wire less than city prices.
Lime, Cement, White Lead, Oils, Varnishes, etc., as cheap as in the city.

Baby Shoes for 10c per pair up.
Misses' Shoes for 50c per pair up.
A full line of Men's, Ladie's and Children's Tan Shoes—Latest Styles, Best Quality, Lowest Prices.
Men's Dress Pants, 75c per pair.
Wonder Overalls, Shirts and Pants, the best made.

COME at ONCE. THESE PRICES are ONLY While Present Stock Lasts.
UNION, KENTUCKY. UNION, KENTUCKY.

McALPIN & BLANTON,

Successors to RIGGS BROS.

Undertakers
—AND—
Embalmers,

LIVERY, BOARDING & FEED STABLES.

Special Rates to Traveling Men. Pianos, Organs and Furniture Carefully Removed. First-class Carriages for hire with careful drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, etc.

LEXINGTON PIKE, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
J. M. EDDINS, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

?Are You Ready to Buy?

CLOTHING?

If you want WELL MADE, PERFECT FITTING CLOTHING At Rock Bottom Prices, we've got them. You wont be satisfied unless you see our line.

All Neat, New Patterns. No Shop Worn Goods.

Men's Pants from $1.00 up.
Men's Suits from $2.50 up.
Children's Suits from $1.00 up.

Satisfaction Guaranteed or Money Refunded.

ROLFES & WACHS, No. 1 Pike Street, Cor. Madison Ave.
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

A question all Democrats should consider: Do you believe Gov. Bradley would appoint a true Democrat or a true silver man to represent the State at a confereuce of trusts and combinations? Do you believe he would appoint men who would not uphold trusts and combines? Do you believe they would allow a true silver man in their conference? Don't you believe Gov. Bradley kuew whom to appoint in the interest of trusts and combinations? The following are the names of those whom the Governor has appointed, says the Commercial Tribune: Senator William Lindsay, Frankfort; Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, Gen. P. Wat Hardin, Harrodsburg; ex-Congressman John W. Lewis, of Springfield; Hon. John W. Yerkes, Louisville; Judge W. Holt, Frankfort; Hon. W. P. Kimball, Lexington. Do you believe Gov. Bradley would appoint any man who he thought would try to breakup trusts and combines?

J. E. H.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Pt. Pleasant.

Miss Abbie Carter has returned to her home in St. Louis, Mo.

Miss Lillie Richie, of Ludlow, is the guest of Mrs. Harry Scott.

Born, on the 4th inst., to Mr. and Mrs. Burton Scott, a daughter.

Miss Emma Herndon, of Covington, is the guest of Mrs. James Riley.

Quite a number from this vicinity attended fair at Carthage, last Thursday.

Miss Edith Goins will attend school at the Midway, Ky., Orphan's School, this winter.

Mrs. Mark Weakly and daughter, Miss Mary, are the guests of relatives in this county.

Misses Nora Rucker and Grace Russell attended the Institute at Petersburg several days last week.

Mr. Sherman Hedges, of Los Augeles, Cal., has recently been the guest of his brother, of this neighborhood.

Mrs. Homer Riggs and Miss Eva Riggs, of Erlanger, were the guests of Mrs. Stella Clore, last Thursday.

J. W. Riggs and family, and Mrs. Weakly and daughter spent Sunday with James Beall and family, at Hebron.

Mrs. John Rucker entertained several of her friends, last Thursday. Those present were Mrs. N. S. Walton, Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Walton, of Utzinger; Mrs. Lizzie Gaines and daughter, of Louisville; Mrs. Herndon, of Covington, and Miss Grace Russell.

Flickertown.

Miss Julia Smith has moved into her new house.

Henry Smith was visiting over on Gunpowder, Sunday.

Cy, Ben and Henry Passons went to Indianapolis, Sunday.

Joe Vincent has been quite poorly of rheumatism for a week past.

Very few from this neighborhood attended the Institute at Petersburg.

Few if any from this neighborhood attended the Aurora fair, last week.

James D. Smith died on the 24 instead of the 9th inst. as your Petersburg correspondent reported

Mr. and Mrs. L. Nichols were visiting Harry Acra and wife, of the Scattersville neighborhood, a couple of days last week.

Dogs made a raid on Steve Gaines' sheep, one day last week, but, fortunately, they were discovered before they did any damage.

Jim Snyder awoke three times, one night last week, and found himself and the feather bed on the floor. Jim does not know how they got there.

Your correspondent went on the teachers' moonlight excursion to Aurora and Lawrenceburg, last Wednesday night. The boat left Petersburg for Aurora about 8 p. m. From Aurora it went to Lawrenceburg, thence back to Petersburg, where it arrived at 10:30.

W. M. RANDALL,
DENTIST.
Will be at

BURLINGTON,	PETERSBURG:
Monday,	Wednesday,
Tuesday,	Thursday,
	Friday,
	Saturday,

OF EACH WEEK.
GIVE HIM A CALL.

The League Institute,
VERONA, KY.
Opens September 18, 1899.

Miss N. E. Hamilton, Principal, teacher of Belle-lettres and Sciences.
Miss Madeline Pfeiffer, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Latin & German.
Miss Lulu Forwood, Mathematics and Elocution.
With those interested, a correspondence with the principal is solicited.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the League Institute, the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, 1st, That we endorse and commend the methods, management and zeal of the faculty.

2d. That we desire to express our appreciation of the steady growth of the Institute; and especially the great interest manifested by pupils and patrons.

3d. That we cordially invite parents seeking a good school for their children to investigate the merits of The League Institute.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS,
Verona, Ky.

When in Burlington Call on

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS
Notions, Boots and Shoes,

Who has just received his stock of
SPRING & SUMMER SHOES,
the nicest stock ever in town. Have old stock which
I AM SELLING AT GENUINE BARGAINS.
NICE LINE WALL PAPER,
At Prices to Suit the times.

DEERING - MACHINES

Are the favorites in every land where grass and grain grow. They are adopted to all conditions. They are the "Acme" of strength, durability, simplicity and light draft. We will carry a full line of Repairs. Buy the Machine that is fully guaranteed and handy to obtain repairs for.

Also remember we are headquarters for all kinds of
Farm Machinery
At bottom prices. We handle nothing but the best and fully guarantee all.

Also the Largest and Cheapest
Stock of Shoes
In the county, and a full line of
General -- Merchandise.
—CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.—
COME AND SEE.

T. J. HUGHES,
BEAVER LICK, KY.

GO TO
C. T. DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,
HEBRON AND CONSTANCE,
A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.
GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.
Undertaking Given Special Attention,
A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.
Hebron. C. T. DAVIS & CO. Constance

W. H. HOSHAL & COMPANY,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
Cattle, Hogs and Sheep,
—UNION STOCK YARDS,—
Cincinnati, - Ohio.
—TELEPHONE 7346.—
Information Regarding Live Stock Cheerfully Furnished.
Consign Your Stock Direct to Us.

LUMBER!

LATHS,
SHINGLES,
DOORS,
BLINDS,
SASH.

If you want any kind of Lumber it will be to your advantage to visit our yard at Lawrenceburg, Indiana, before buying. Prices to Suit the Times.

M. E. LEMING & CO.

SUMMER VACATIONS.

Dr. Talmage Draws Some Lessons from Our Annual Outings.

Dangers and Temptations That Surround Our Watering Places—Necessity of a Period of Inoccupation.

[Copyright, 1899, by Louis Klopsch.]

At this season of the year, when all who can get a vacation are taking it, this discourse of Dr. Talmage is suggestive and appropriate. The text is John 5:2, 3: "A pool, which is called in the Hebrew tongue Bethesda, having five porches. In these lay a great multitude of impotent folk, of blind, halt, withered, waiting for the moving of the water."

Outside the city of Jerusalem there was a sanative watering place, the popular resort for invalids. To this day there is a dry basin of rock which shows that there may have been a pool there 360 feet long, 130 feet wide and 75 feet deep. This pool was surrounded by five piazzas, or porches, or bathing houses, where the patients tarried until the time when they were to step into the water. So far as reinvigorating was concerned, it must have been a Saratoga and a Long Branch on a small scale; a Leamington and a Brighton combined—medical and therapeutic. Tradition says that at a certain season of the year there was an officer of the government who would go down to that water and pour in it some healing quality, and after that the people would come and get the medication. But I prefer the plain statement of Scripture, that at a certain season an angel came down and stirred up or troubled the water, and then the people came and got the healing. That angel of God that stirred up the Judaean watering place had his counterpart in the angel of healing who, in our day, steps into the mineral waters of Congress or Sharon or Sulphur Springs, or into the salt sea at Cape May and Nahant, where multitudes who are worn out with commercial and professional anxieties, as well as those who are afflicted with rheumatic, neuralgic and splenetic diseases, go and are cured by the thousands. These blessed Bethesdas are scattered all up and down our country.

We are at a season of the year when rail trains are laden with passengers and baggage on their way to the mountains and the lakes and the seashore. Males of our citizens are away for a restorative absence. The city hosts are pursuing the people with torch and fear of sunstroke. The long, silent halls of sumptuous hotels are all abuzz with excited arrivals. The antlers of Adirondack deer rattle under the shot of city sportsmen, the trout make fatal snap at the hook of adroit sportsmen, who toss their spotted brilliants into the game basket; the baton of the orchestral leader taps the music stand on the hotel green, and American life has put on festal array, and the rumbling of the tenpin alley, and the crack of the ivory balls on the green-baized billiard tables, and the jolting of the barroom goblets, and the explosive uncorking of the champagne bottles, and the whirl and the rustle of the ballroom dance, and the clattering hoofs of the race courses, and other signs of social dissipation attest that the season for the great American watering places is in full play. Music! Flute and drum and cornet-a-piston and clapping cymbals wake the echoes of the mountains. Glad am I that fagged-out American life for the most part has an opportunity to rest and that nerves racked and destroyed will find a Bethesda. I believe in watering places. They recuperate for active service many who were worn out with trouble or overwork. They are national restoratives.

Let not the commercial firm begrudge the clerk, or the employer the journeyman, or the patient the physician, or the church its pastor a season of inoccupation. Luther used to sport with his children; Edmund Burke used to caress his favorite horse; Thomas Chalmers, in the dark hour of the church's disruption, played kite for recreation—so I was told by his own daughter—and the busy Christ said to the busy apostles: "Come ye apart awhile into the desert and rest yourselves." And I have observed that they who do not know how to rest do not know how to work. But I have to declare this truth to-day—that some of our fashionable watering places are the temporal and eternal destruction of "a multitude that no man can number," and amid the congratulations of this season and the prospects of the departure of many of you for the country I must utter a warning, plain, earnest and unmistakable.

The first emptation that is apt to lover in this direction is to leave your piety at home. You will send the dog and cat and canary bird to be well cared for somewhere else, but the temptation will be to leave your religion in the room with the blinds down and the doors bolted, and then you will come back in the autumn to find that it is starved and suffocated, lying stretched on the rug, stark dead. There is no surplus of piety at the watering places. I never knew anyone to grow very rapidly in grace at the Catskill Mountain house or Sharon Springs or the Falls of Montmorency. It is generally the case that the Sabbath is more of a carousal than any other day, and there are Sunday walks, and Sunday rides, and Sunday excursions. Elders and deacons and ministers of religion who are entirely consistent at home, sometimes when the Sabbath dawns on them at Niagara falls or the White mountains take a day to themselves. If they go to the church, it is apt to be a sacred parade, and the discourse, instead of being a plain talk about the soul, is apt to be what is called a crack sermon—that is, some discourse picked out of the effusions of the year as the one most adaped to excite admiration, and in those churches, from the way the ladies hold their fans, you know that they are not so much impressed with the heat as with the picturesqueness of half disclosed features. Four puny souls stand in the organ loft and squall a tune that nobody knows, and worshipers, with $2,000 worth of diamonds on the right hand, drop a cent into the poor box, and then the benediction is pronounced, and the farce is ended. The toughest thing I ever tried to do was to be good at a watering place. The air is bewitched with the "world, the flesh and the devil." There are Christians who, in three or four weeks in such a place, have had such terrible rents made in their Christian robe that they had to keep darning it until Christmas to get it mended.

The health of a great many people makes an annual visit to some mineral spring an absolute necessity, but take your Bible along with you, and take an hour for secret prayer every day, though you be surrounded by guffaw and saturnalia. Keep holy the Sabbath, though they deride you as a bigoted Puritan. Stand off from gambling hells and those other institutions which propose to imitate on this side the water the iniquities of Baden-Baden. Let your moral and your immoral health keep pace with your physical recuperation, and remember that all the sulphur and chalybeate springs cannot do you so much good as The healing, perennial flood, that breaks forth from the "Rock of Ages." This may be your last summer. If so, make it a fit vestibule of Heaven.

Another temptation hovering around nearly all our watering places is the horse racing business. We all admire the horse, but we do not think that its beauty or speed ought to be cultured at the expense of human degradation. The horse race is not of such importance as the human race. The Bible intimates that a man is better than a sheep, and I suppose he is better than a horse, though, like Job's stallion, his neck be clothed with thunder. Horse races in olden times were under the ban of Christian people, and in our day the same institution has come up under fictitious names. And it is called a "summer meeting," almost suggestive of positive religious exercises. And it is called an "agricultural fair," suggestive of everything that is improving in the art of farming, but under these deceptive titles are the same cheating, and the same betting, and the same drunkenness, and the same vagabondage, and the same abomination that were to be found under the old horse racing system.

I never knew a man yet who could give himself to the pleasures of the turf for a long reach of time and not be bettered in morals. They hook up their spanking team and put on their sporting cap and light their cigar and take the reins and dash down on the road to perdition! The great day at Saratoga and Brighton Beach and Cape May and nearly all the other watering places is the day of the races. The hotels are thronged, every kind of equipage is taken up at an almost fabulous price, and there are many respectable people mingling with jockeys and gamblers and libertines and foul-mouthed men and flashy women. The bartender stirs up the brandy smash. The bets run high. The greenhorns, supposing all is fair, put in their money soon enough to lose it. Three weeks before the race takes place the struggle is decided, and the men in the secret know on which steed to bet their money. The men on the horses riding around long ago arranged who shall win. Leaning from the stand or from the carriages are men and women so absorbed in the struggle of bone and muscle and mettle that they make a grand harvest for the pickpockets, who carry off the pocketbooks and the portemonnaies. Men looking on see only a string of horses with their riders flying around the ring. But there is many a man on that stand whose honor and domestic happiness and fortune—white mane, white foot, white flank—are in the ring, racing with inebriety and with fraud and with profanity and with ruin—black neck, black foot, black flank. Neck and neck go the horses in that moral Epsom. White horse of honor; black horse of ruin. Death says: "I will bet on the black horse." Spectator says: "I will bet on the white horse." The white horse of honor a little way ahead. The black horse of ruin, Satan mounted, all the time gaining on him. Spectator breathless. They put on the lash, dig in the spurs. There! They are past the stand. Sure. Just as I expected. The black horse of ruin has won the race, and all the galleries of darkness "huzza! huzza!" and the devils come in to pick up their wagers. Ah, my friends, have nothing to do with horse racing dissipations this summer.

Another temptation hovering around the watering place is the formation of hasty and lifelong alliances. The watering places are responsible for more of the domestic infelicities of the country than nearly all other things combined. Society is so artificial there that no sure judgment of character can be formed. They who form companionships amid such circumstances go into a lottery where there are 20 blanks to one prize. In the severe tug of life you want more than glitter and splash. Life is not a ballroom where the music decides the step, and bow and prance and graceful swing of long train can make up for strong common sense. You might as well go among the gayly-painted yachts of a summer regatta to find a war vessel as to go among the light spray of the summer watering place to find character that can stand the test of the great struggle of human life. In the battle of life you want a stronger weapon than a lace fan or a croquet mallet. The load of life is so heavy that in order to draw it you want a team stronger than that made up of a masculine grasshopper and a feminine butterfly. If there is any man in the community who excites my contempt and who ought to excite the contempt of every man and woman, it is the soft-handed, soft-headed dude, who, perfumed until the air is actually sick, spends the summer in striking killing attitudes, and waving sentimental adieux, and talking infinitesimal nothings, and finding his heaven in the set of a lavender kid glove. Boots as tight as an inquisition. Two hours of consummate skill exhibited in the tie of a flashing cravat. His conversation made up of "Ahs!" and "Ohs!" and "He hes!"

There is only one counterpart to such a man as that, and that is the frothy young woman at the watering places; her conversation made up of French moonshine; what she has in her head only equaled by what she has on her back; useless ever since she was born, and to be useless until she is dead, unless she becomes an intelligent Christian. We may admire music and fair faces and graceful step; but amid the heartlessness and the inflation and the fantastic influences of our modern watering places beware how you make lifelong covenants.

Another temptation hovering all around our watering places is intoxicating beverages. I am told that it is becoming more and more fashionable for women to drink. I care not how well a woman may dress, if she has taken enough of wine to flush her cheek and put a glassiness on her eye, she is drunk. She may be handed into a $2,500 carriage and have diamonds enough to astound the Tiffanys—she is drunk. She may be a graduate of the best young ladies' seminary and the daughter of some man in danger of being nominated for the presidency—she is drunk. You may have a larger vocabulary than I have, and you may say in regard to her that she is "convivial" or she is "merry" or she is "festive" or she is "exhilarated," but you cannot with all your garlands of verbiage cover up the plain fact that it is an old-fashioned case of drunk.

Now, the watering places are full of temptations to men and women to tipple. At the close of the tenpin or billiard game they tipple. At the close of the cotillion they tipple. Seated on the piazza cooling themselves off they tipple. The tinged glasses come around with bright straws and they tipple. First they take "light wines," as they call them, but "light wines" are heavy enough to debase the appetite. There is not a very long road between champagne at five dollars a bottle and whiskey at ten cents a glass. Satan has three or four grades down which he takes men to destruction. One man he takes up and through one spree pitches him into eternal darkness. That is a rare case. Very seldom indeed can you find a man who will be such a fool as that. Satan will take another man to a grade, to a descent at an angle about like the Pennsylvania coal shoot or the Mount Washington rail track, and shove him off. But this is very rare. When a man goes down to destruction, Satan brings him to a plane. It is almost a level. The depression is so slight that you can hardly see it. The man does not actually know that he is on the down grade, and it tips only a little toward darkness—just a little. And the first mile it is claret and the second mile it is sherry and the third mile it is punch and the fourth mile it is ale and the fifth mile it is whisky and the sixth mile it is brandy, and then it gets steeper and steeper and steeper, until it is impossible to stop. "Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth its color in the cup, when it moveth itself aright. At the last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder."

Whether you tarry at home—which will be quite as safe and perhaps quite as comfortable—or go into the country, arm yourself against temptation. The grace of God is the only safe shelter, whether in town or country. There are watering places accessible to all of us. You cannot open a book of the Bible without finding out some such watering place. Fountains open for sin and uncleanliness. Wells of salvation. Streams from Lebanon. A flood struck out of the rock by Moses. Fountains in the wilderness discovered by Hagar. Water to drink and water to bathe in. The river of God, which is full of water. Water of which if a man drink he shall never thirst. Wells of water in the valley of Baca. Living fountains of water. A pure river of water as clear as crystal from under the throne of God. These are watering places accessible to all of us. We do not have a laborious packing up before we start—only the throwing away of our transgressions. No expensive hotel bills to pay; it is "without money and without price." No long and dusty travel before we get there; it is only one step away.

In California, in five minutes, I walked around and saw ten fountains all bubbling up, and they were all different, and in five minutes I can go through this Bible parterre and find you 50 bright, sparkling fountains bubbling up into eternal life—healing and therapeutic. A chemist will go to one of those summer watering places and take the water and analyze it and tell you that it contains so much of iron and so much of soda and so much of lime and so much of magnesia. I come to this Gospel well, this living fountain, and analyze the water; and I find that its ingredients are peace, pardon, forgiveness, hope, comfort, life, Heaven. "Ho, everyone that thirsteth, come ye" to this watering place. Crowd around this Bethesda. O you sick, you lame, you troubled, you dying—crowd around this Bethesda! Step in it, oh, step in it! The angel of the covenant to-day stirs the water. Why do you not step in it? Some of you are too weak to take a step in that direction. Then we take you up in the arms of prayer and plunge you clear under the wave, hoping that the cure may be as sudden and as radical as with Capt. Naaman, who, blotched and carbuncled, stepped into the Jordan, and after the seventh dive came up, his skin roseate complexioned as the flesh of a little child.

A BUSINESSLIKE WOMAN.

One Who Easily Proved Her Sex Capable of a Practical Turn of Mind.

Dr. Nathan Wood told a good story of woman's capability for business at the annual meeting of the Woman's Suffrage Association of New England. He said:

"I happen to be a trustee of Vassar college. At first I shared with all my fellows the old-time feeling about its not being quite possible for women to be dignified and intelligent in business matters of a corporation charged with the management of a great institution. I well remember when the alumna of Vassar finally persuaded the trustees to let them nominate three women to be fellow trustees with us. There were 27 of us on that board of trustees, and all of them except the present speaker were very distinguished gentlemen.

"We had before us a grave problem, as the city of Poughkeepsie had determined that we must do something about the sewerage of the college. We had spent money and money and money in endeavoring to remedy its defects, but the city still followed us up and threatened us with suits. The matter was brought up in the board of trustees, and we were at our wits' end, when a woman got up in the board, and, in a very simple and modest fashion, she said: "Gentlemen, I think if you would follow this plan you would succeed.' And she went on and outlined a plan in detail, giving us specifications, probable cost, probable amount of time, just what would need to be done, all in the most methodical and businesslike and clear fashion that you can imagine. We all gasped. We saw at once that she knew what she was doing and that she was talking from actual knowledge of the facts, and we adopted her plan. That woman was Mrs. Ellen H. Richards, of the Massachusetts institute of technology."

Oom Paul's Modesty.

President Kruger recently refused an interview to a celebrated Englishman, who thereupon sent back word that he must see him, that he was no ordinary person, that, in fact, he was a member of the house of lords. The servant went away and returned with the message, "The president says he cannot see you, and adds that he is a cattle herder."

Penny Postage Success.

As a result of the penny postage scheme between the British colonies it has become necessary to extend the facilities of the general post office in London. The volume of Canadian business alone has doubled since the first of the year.

HAT OF SPUN GLASS.

Odd Headgear the Cost of Which Will Prevent Frequent Imitation.

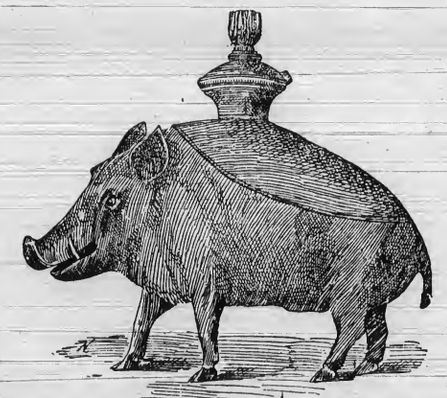
A guest at one of the leading New Orleans hotels put in an appearance in the office wearing a very peculiar looking hat. At first glance it seemed to be of finely woven brown straw, but closer scrutiny showed that the material was evidently something else. It was passed around among a group of friends, and they all took a guess. One thought it was prepared silk, and another thought it was asbestos, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat.

"You are all wrong," said the gentleman; "it is made of spun glass. You can see it has considerable elasticity, and I fancy it would be about as hard to break as an ordinary Panama. I value the hat chiefly as a curio," he continued, "for it is too hot to be worn with much comfort. It was made several years ago by an old Austrian at Pittsburgh, Pa., who invented a process for spinning and weaving glass, his idea being to produce a noninflammable fabric for window curtains and other draperies. It was found, however, that the stuff couldn't be made attractive to the eye. It was too stiff and ungraceful and the expense was prohibitive for theatrical drop curtains—the only purpose to which it might have been adapted. Anyhow, he gave up the undertaking, and this hat was one of the last things he made. I had backed the enterprise to a small extent, so the hat stands me in about $1,100. It is the most expensive article of attire that I possess. I don't know anything about its acoustic properties, but I presume one might talk through it the same as through any other hat."

Retort from the Witness Stand.

A certain doctor had occasion, when only a beginner in the medical profession, to attend a trial as a witness. The opposing counsel in cross-examining the young physician made several sarcastic remarks, doubting the ability of so young a man to understand his business. Finally, he asked: "Do you know the symptoms of concussion of the brain?" "I do," replied the doctor. "Well," continued the attorney, "suppose my learned friend, Mr. Baging, and myself were to bang our heads together, should we get concussion of the brain?" "Your learned friend, Mr Baging, might," said the doctor.

Trade with Argentina.



Argentina buys most of her goods from Britain. Italy is second, Germany third and the United States a close fourth, with the prospect of soon being second.

MGR. DIOMEDE FALCONIO, O. S. F.

This noted churchman has just been appointed apostolic delegate to the dominion of Canada—the same position held by Mgr. Martinelli in this country. In spite of his Italian name, Mgr. Falconio is an American citizen, having for years served as professor and president of St. Bonaventure's, the college of his order, at Allegany, N. Y. Subsequently he did parish work in St. Anthony's church, New York city. He was born in 1842, in Italy; in 1860 he joined the Franciscan order, and five years later was sent to the United States. He was naturalized at Allegany in 1872. After his recall to Italy he was created archbishop of Acrenza.

REMARKABLE HINDOO LAMP.

This strange spirit lamp has been found in the workshop of a Hindoo watchmaker. It is in the shape of a boar and has the burner on its back. The design is not inartistic, nor is it badly executed, but the most striking feature of it all is that its owner regards it as a household god. It is sacred to the memory of the watchmaker's father, by whom it was made, and some hold that there is a suggestion of the transmigration of souls of men into animals in the reverence with which this image is regarded. It is used, nevertheless, for the purpose for which it was designed—as a spirit lamp by which the watchmaker heats metal or solder.

HUMOROUS.

Bacon—"Did you ever go on a deer hunt?" Egbert—"Well, yes; I went with my wife shopping for bargains, one day."—Yonkers Statesman.

Spoiling the Fun.—Jimmie—"Won't yer maw let yer go swimmin'?" Tommy—"Yes, but she wants me to take a cake o' soap an' a towel along."—N. Y. Journal.

Tommy Wagg—"Pa, what does 'M. D.' after a doctor's name mean?" Mr. Wagg—"Perhaps it refers to his patients, my boy, and stands for 'many dead.'"—Pun.

She—"He said he would do anything in the world I wanted him to." He—"An' what did yer tell him?" She—"I tole him to go chase himself."—Philadelphia North American.

"You shafe yourself?" asked the barber. "Yes." "I thought so. You cut your chin. I neffer cut my chin." "So I see," returned the victim. "I wish you would, because it isn't particularly interesting."—Harlem Life.

A Boy's Query.—"You have only had half of the poodle clipped, mamma," said little Tommy. "Yes, Tommy." Tommy thought a moment and asked: "Is it so that the warm end of the dog can enjoy the coolness of the other end all the more?"—Detroit Free Press.

Kate—"There seems to be a coolness between Harry and Hetty." Bertha—"Yes; they had a little tiff, and she said she had about made up her mind to enter a convent and take the veil, and Harry said he thought it would become her style of beauty wonderfully. And now they won't even look at one another."—Boston Transcript.

BLACK MEN TASTE THE BEST.

An Ex-Cannibal Who Had Eaten Both Gives a Critical Opinion.

"I don't suppose that there are many men in Chicago, if any, who can say they have seen and talked to a cannibal on his native heath.' Yet I have done so, and the occasion was one of interest to me and one I will never forget."

The speaker was Father Galligan, the well-known pastor of St. Patrick's church on the West side, and he was talking to a few of his friends on the subject of his travels in lands strange to the ordinary run of tourists.

"At Levuka," resumed Father Galligan, "lived on one of the islands of the Tonga group, down in the South Pacific. I had been making a tour of that little-known section of the world, and while on one of the larger islands of the group stopped at the house of a priest, a simple, noble-hearted man, who had devoted his entire life to mission work among the natives.

"After I had been there a few days, I said to him: 'I understand these people practice cannibalism, and I have always had a strong curiosity to see and talk to a man who has eaten human flesh. Can you arrange it for me?'

"He smiled in answer to my question and then told me that he had lived there 40 years; that all the natives were civilized and Christians, and that there had not been a case of cannibalism on the islands in half a century. 'However,' he continued, 'there are a few old men here who practiced cannibalism in their younger days, and I will send for one of them.'

"In a few minutes a tall and stately looking old man entered the house and saluted us. 'This is a former cannibal,' said my host, 'but he only talks his native language.'

"'Ask him if he has ever eaten human flesh,' I said.

"'Yes, frequently, when I was a young man,' was the reply.

"'Did you ever eat white men?'

"'Yes, several times.'

"'And people of your own color?'

"'Yes, when we made war we ate our captives if we were victorious. If not, they ate us.'

"'Which tasted the best, white man or black?'

"'Black man much the nicest; white man too salty.'

"I had learned something, and that was the relative taste of black and white men's flesh," said Father Galligan. "Whether it holds good generally, though, I don't know. The few white men whom the old native had eaten had all been sailors, living for months and years on salted meats, and that probably accounted for the difference. But those days have passed in these islands, and when you read tales of cannibalism from those sections now you may set it down as sheer romance."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Universal Lingo.

The English language is a globe trotter; newspapers are published in that cosmopolitan vehicle of communication in almost every large city and great port of the world, in places as remoteas Singapore and Buenos Ayres, Hong-Kong and Bombay, Cairo and Valparaiso, while it is being studied in Chinese cities and the big towns of Burmah. It has become the world language, indispensable to all business men and statesmen.—N. Y. Sun

A Retort Conjugal.

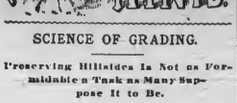
Mr. Methodical (in great irritation)—We've lost the train again. Your unpunctual habits will drive me out of my mind.

Mrs. Methodical (sweetly)—At least, dear, such a ride would not fatigue on account of its length, would it?—N. Y. World.

Where He Landed.

Griggs—What became of that son-in-law of yours who failed in business about a year ago? Has he got on his feet again?

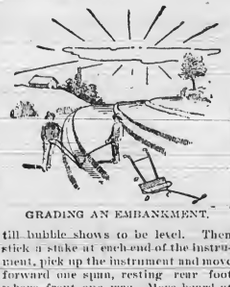
Briggs—No; he is still on my hands.—Columbus (O.) State Journal.



AGRICULTURAL HINTS.

SCIENCE OF GRADING.

Preserving Hillsides Is Not as Formidable a Task as Many Suppose It to Be.



The grading of undulating lands, and in fact any soil that washes badly, is not a difficult task. Various preventive measures have been adopted, such as horizontal embankment, liberal fertilizing, deep plowing, flat culture, binding crops and rotation, which prevent washing. The graded embankment has given good satisfaction in the south. By this method, as illustrated, the embankment must be large enough and strong enough to carry off all water during the heaviest rains; must be of uniform grade with equal fall in all places, about one inch to a rod. Where to locate embankments, the grade to give them, construction as to shape and strength and distance apart must all be considered by each man doing the work.

Before lines can be run an instrument must be secured that is strictly accurate and perfectly reliable, one that can be run up grade or down. Set the spirit level, b (see illustration), at one inch drop. The side boards, a, a, are fastened so as to be just one rod apart on the ground. The crosspiece on which the level rests must be perfectly horizontal. With the level at one-inch drop, go to a point half way the length of the intended embankment. This point should be three or four feet lower, vertical, than the highest part of the field. In setting up the instrument two boards 18 inches long and four inches wide will be required to set under each foot of the instrument in operating and each must rest perfectly level. The raised end of the spirit level will always be the down-grade end. Set the level at one-inch drop and the raised end of the level always to the left hand as the instrument is faced; smooth the ground where each foot of the instrument will rest, put down the boards and set the instrument on them and see how the bubble in spirit level is. If not level, then move foremost foot of the instrument up or down hill, till bubble shows to be level. Then stick a stake at each end of the instrument, pick up the instrument and move forward one span, resting rear foot where front one was. Move board at front to opposite side of stake. See how the spirit level shows, and move front foot up or down till level, and proceed to the end of the line.

HOME-MADE SURVEYOR'S LEVEL.

GRADING AN EMBANKMENT.

Return to where you began half way and finish the other end of the line going up grade, if the whole line is not more than 250 yards; but if more than that, finish the line by running down grade from that place. The water will then go both ways from the middle. No line should be more than 250 yards with grade all in one direction. Always begin at middle of line, even if you intend the water to go only one way. It is best to always divide it, letting one-half go in each direction. Then go down the slope, or incline, from 15 to 60 yards (three or four-foot vertical drop) and lay off another line, just as was the first; and so on until the field is finished.

To build the embankments plow out a space three to five feet in width, beginning right inches from the line of stakes on the upper side. A steel-shod, b, handscrape as portrayed in the larger cut is the thing to make them with. One or two men pull the scrape by handle c, and one manages the handles at a. Leave stakes in embankment until finished, raising if necessary to prevent covering. The line of stakes should be exactly in the center of the embankment. Sometimes plowing will be necessary a second time to get loose soil to build the embankment strong enough. Low places, gullies or old roads should be filled six to ten inches higher than the general height of the embankment.—H. J. Dunton, in Farm and Home.

Black Teeth in Pigs.

Frequently young pigs come into the world with teeth so long that they reach out over the tongue, lacerate the teats of the dam, make her angry, and raise Cain generally. Frequently these teeth are black. The thing to do when you find this kind of trouble brewing in the pig lot is to get a pair of pinchers, get the little fellow under your left arm, and with the pinchers in your right, break every one of these teeth off short, says Wallace's Farmer. It is a short, easy job, and should not be neglected. This will restore peace and prevent the young fellow from getting a backset at the time of life when any backset is a serious matter.

COLD STORAGE PAYS.

In Present Conditions City Merchants Reap a Big Profit Which Fruit Growers Should Save.

The fruit farm is the proper place for the cold storage of fruit. This is acknowledged now by the best authorities on cold storage. The reason for this is that the fruit must of necessity be injured and wasted in handling before it reaches the cold storage in the cities. In order to keep fruits for a long time in cold storage they must be raised and packed especially for this. Dealers who receive a surplus of fruit in hot weather send part of it in cold storage for a few days to prevent its rotting in their hands, but this is very different from the cold storage of fruits for a long period until all of the other fruit is off the market. Thus grapes, pears, apples and similar fruits are put away in cold storage until long past middle winter. Then they are brought out and sold for fancy prices. The loss which the dealers suffer in handling this fruit is due to the deterioration of the fruits while in transit to the city. In the great lake grape districts in western New York the growers have their own cold storage, and they have found that the grapes picked from the vines and carried direct to the cold storage house keep much better and longer than any put in cold storage in the cities. These grapes can be marketed in the middle of winter without much loss from waste.

The possibilities of cold storage on the farm will be appreciated by another generation, and every large fruit farm will have its cold storage house. The ordinary ice house is used on some farms where ice can be easily obtained in the winter season. But the farmer situated inland from any body of fresh water is not rendered helpless. The ammonia and dry air process of freezing and making cold storage is even cheaper than using ice. It costs more at the beginning to start an ammonia cold-storage plant, but after it has once been erected the cost of maintaining it is cheaper than using ice. The dry cold air that comes from one of these cold-storage plants is better for the fruits than the damp air that prevails in an icehouse. The construction of such a cold-storage house by a number of farmers in one locality would prove a feasible plan, and in the end the cooperative work would pay. The lack of cold-storage facilities has caused thousands of dollars' worth of loss on nearly every fruit farm of any size in the country. Not only would such a storage place be of inestimable value in keeping the fruits a few weeks to take advantage of the markets, but it would serve as a place to keep certain fruits for out of season markets when prices always rule high. At present the merchants in the cities reap all this profit.—S. W. Chambers, in American Cultivator.

THE WEANING PROBLEM.

In Order to Make a Good Calf the Youngster Should Be Weaned Almost Instanter.

A lady in Mississippi has a fine calf from a heifer only 17 months old; a grade between the Jersey and the Friesian breeds. She does not need the milk and queries whether it be best to turn heifer and calf into pasture or to let the calf draw the milk twice a day. Either way would spoil both dam and calf.

In order to make a good cow of the heifer and a well-behaved youngster of the calf, the best time to wean a calf is instanter. No matter what the object, a calf, if healthy, can be taught to drink from the bucket in three days. We are not unmindful of the fact that the natural way for the calf to look for nourishment is to look up, but we also know that to drink any drinkable substance, either water or milk, the calf must hold its head down; hence, sooner or later, it must look down in order to drink.

We are also mindful of the fact that the first milk is a physic, but that fact has never given us any trouble; the first milk drawn from the dam does not lose all of that property. Another season for the "instanter" is that a heifer is easier to handle and to gentle or break to milking. The process is agreeable to the animal to have relief from a distended udder. When the calf is placed in a pen or stall near the dam and she sees it doing well, she will mew a little, but will soon quiet down and be content, especially when she notices the contentment of her young and it chewing the cud.

There is always more or less danger of a young cow learning to suck herself, a vice when once learned she will never forget. There is no end of trouble with such an animal. There is a beautiful young jersey cow that practices it. All manner of contrivances have been applied with very indifferent results. Of course, in a very valuable animal it may be endured, but can never be entirely cured.—C. W. Murtfeldt, in St. Louis Republic.

Roads of the Future.

This nation must sooner or later turn its thought seriously to the problem of road building. The antiquated and stupid methods which now prevail will no longer do. Those who undertake to build our roads must have the necessary understanding of the work before them. The primitive plan of having the farmer work out his tax by doing his share of work for which he has as little fitness as he has for doing any other form of skilled labor outside of his own calling must give way.—St. Paul Globe.

Generally slow growing grape vines like the Delaware should not be cut back. It will suffice to rub off some of the buds, when just starting. But vigorous growers should have the ends of the runners pinched off.—St. Louis Republic.

PICTURED HORSES.

Artists' Conceptions of the Noble Steed of the Present Are Not Always Natural.

The artists' horse of to-day is an altogether different creature from the artists' horse of a century ago. In years gone by his neck was arched, his rump well rounded and his whole bearing pompous and melodramatic. Frequently in the good old days he raised one foreleg like a setter dog or reared on both hind legs after the fashion of a grizzly bear. But things have changed now, and the pictorial, or marble, steed has altered his quondam poses for brisker and more businesslike attitudes. While the modern metamorphosis may lack the heroic features which formerly characterized our good old friend, we believe the artistic horse of the present day is much more accurate. They say the change is due almost entirely to the revelations of the instantaneous camera. This infallible portrait maker has caught the steed in action and shown us exactly how he looks. It has always shown us that when he runs he doubles up like a jackknife and throws grace to the winds. It has likewise demonstrated the fact that old-time artists had erroneous ideas as to how the brute handled his feet and used his legs. Indeed, photography has shown us so many things about moving horses that strict accuracy in their portraiture is almost ridiculous.

SAVING SILVER AT THE MINT.

Iron Tools Eaten Away by Acid to Preserve Their Precious Coating.

Perhaps the most interesting scheme for the recovery of waste silver at the mint is that applied to the utensils of the melting gang, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The big iron stirring rods, the dippers, the strainers and the ladles that come in contact with the molten metal are laid aside at intervals and sent downstairs. They are covered with what looks like brown rust, but is really oxidized silver.

Suppose, to digress a moment, one desired to get a coat of paint off the outside of a house. In such an event the plan of scraping away the house and leaving the shell of paint standing would be regarded as somewhat eccentric, yet that is substantially the method adopted at the mint.

The implements are placed in tubs of sulphuric acid, which attacks the iron or steel, but leaves the silver untouched.

They are very curious, these fragile casts. Their surface is a sort of natural filigree, honeycombed with innumerable fantastic perforations. The reproduction of a bolt or screw is oftentimes as perfect as an electrotype, but they are hurried remorselessly back to the crucible and thus pursue their cycle until at last they find their Karma in a minted coin.

Oom Paul's Modesty.

President Kruger recently refused an interview to a celebrated Englishman, who thereupon sent back word that he must see him, that he was no ordinary person, that, in fact, he was a member of the house of lords. The servant went away and returned with the message: "The president says he cannot see you, and adds that he is a cattle herder."

Penny Postage Success.

As a result of the penny postage scheme between the British colonies it has become necessary to extend the facilities of the general post office in London. The volume of Canadian business alone has doubled since the first of the year.

Area of Klondike Gold Fields.

The productive area of the Klondike gold field covers from 1,000 to 1,300 square miles.

THE MARKETS.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 21.
LIVESTOCK—Cattle, common	$ 3 25	@	$ 4 25
Select butchers	5 00	@	5 10
CALVES—Fair to good light	6 25	@	6 75
HOGS—Common and heavy	3 70	@	4 00
Mixed packers	4 05	@	4 75
Light shipping	4 05	@	4 80
SHEEP—Native	3 80	@	4 10
LAMBS—Spring	5 40	@	6 35
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 25	@	3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	72
No. 3 red		@	68
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	32½
Oats—No. 2		@	22
Rye—No. 2		@	52
HAY—Prime to choice		@	12 75
PROVISIONS—Mess Pork		@	9 50
Lard		@	5 15
BUTTER—Choice dairy	12	@	12½
Choice creamery		@	22
APPLES—Choice to fancy	1 25	@	1 40
POTATOES—New, per bbl	1 15	@	1 25
CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 50	@	3 90
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	74½	@	74
No. 2 Chicago spring	69	@	72½
CORN—No. 2	66	@	66½
OATS—No. 2	21½	@	21¾
PORK—Mess	7 65	@	8 25
LARD—Steam	5 1½	@	5 20
NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 60	@	3 90
WHEAT—No. 2 red		@	76
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@	41
RYE		@	60
OATS—Mixed	26½	@	27
PORK—New Mess	8 75	@	9 40
LARD—Western		@	5 60
BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	3 25	@	3 80
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	74½	@	75¾
Southern	69½	@	72
Corn—Mixed	36½	@	36¾
Oats—No. 2 white	26	@	26¾
Rye—No. 2 western		@	52½
CATTLE—Fair to quality	5 00	@	5 25
HOGS—Western	5 30	@	5 40
INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	68½
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	32
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@	21
LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 45	@	3 85
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	70	@	71
Corn—Mixed	34	@	34½
Oats—Mixed	22	@	22½
PORK—Mess		@	9 00
LARD—Steam		@	5 25

BARGAINS IN TOMBSTONES.

Advanced Methods in the Funeral Business Adopted Near a City Cemetery.

The approaches to all the cemeteries about New York are lined with stoneyards, where headpieces may be had on short notice and in a great variety of styles to suit the varying tastes and degrees of grief or sentiment on the part of the survivors. Tombstones are such cumbersome and heavy ware that they are displayed at the very gates of the graveyards for convenience in making prompt deliveries. The demand for them is reasonably steady, and it would not strike the casual observer that there was much stimulation to an eager competition in the business of supplying them.

It is the more surprising, therefore, says the New York Sun, to come across a job lot of headstones at bargain prices. Out in an eastern suburb of the city on Long Island a wheeling tonrist came upon an odd spectacle of a markdown sale of tombstones the other day. All goods were marked in plain figures in the regular and much approved manner of the great department stores. The prices were attractive and the manner of their exhibition was enough to tempt one to lay in a supply against the time when in the course of nature he might need something in this line.

Lettered in white paint were all styles, shapes and sizes in granite monuments—plain, polished and ornate. "This style, $20;" "Very fine at $48;" "A beauty, only $14.50," and "Reduced to $30," were some of the legends. The stonecutter stood, like a floorwalker, among his wares, wearing an inviting smile, while a rival dealer across the way looked on with scorn all over his grimy face at the advanced business methods of his neighbor.

WANTED ST. PAUL'S ADDRESS.

A Turkish Censor Who Was After the Author of Epistles to the Galatians.

The Athens Asty reports that a Greek benevolent society in the Turkish capital recently issued a printed appeal to the Hellenic community in Stamboul for some special charitable object. The appeal contained a citation from one of the epistles of St. Paul to the Galatians. Two days after the publication of the circular a commissary of police from the censor's department called upon the printer and demanded the address of St. Paul, who was to be charged with the public utterance of seditious and politically provocative language.

The printer at first was inclined to laugh outright at the absurdity of the request and indictment, but as it is always a little risky to venture upon a pleasantry with a Turkish official he sedately replied that St. Paul, the author of the objectionable citation, had been dead for more than 18 centuries. This ruffled the gravity of the police commissary, who angrily exclaimed: "How dare you attempt such impudent gaolery with me?" and forthwith arrested the printer. Extraordinary as it may appear, the reiteration of the same simple explanation to the censor had an equally exasperating effect on that intelligent official, and the unfortunate typographer was locked up for his "perverse continuacy." It was only after the lapse of three days and on the urgent intervention of the Greek patriarch that the printer was released.

RATHER EMBARRASSING.

How a Philadelphia Boy's Impromptu Amen Caused a Sensation in Court.

Attorney John A. Ward, one of the popular members of the Philadelphia bar, says the Inquirer, of that city, recalls at times an incident in one of the courts which happened shortly after he had been admitted to practice law, and which he tells with scarcely the shadow of a smile. It was when court was just opening for the morning session that a boy, sitting by his side, heard the usual prayer made by the crier. The lad seemed surprised, until, as the last words were uttered by the official, Ward, without a thought as to the result, punched the boy in the side with his elbow and told him to say Amen. Quick as a flash came the response from the boy in a tone of voice that at first startled lawyers and spectators and disturbed the equilibrium of the presiding judge.

When the instant of astonishment had passed men and women who were present laughed lightly as all eyes were directed toward the lad and Ward. "I was too confused to do anything," says the latter, "except to look in any direction but at the south, as seemed to be appealing to me to know why everybody was looking at us. I still say 'amen' myself when prayer requires it, but I have never told anyone else to do so since the occurrence in court, and I never will."

Lived Without a Stomach.

"Some time ago," says the Scientific American, "we described the remarkable operation of Doctor Schlatter, in which he extirpated the stomnch of a female patient. It is interesting to know that she lived 14 months after the operation, and that there was no difficulty in keeping up the nutrition of the patient. The food taken passed directly from the aesophagus to the intestines, and the intestinal digestion was sufficient to satisfy her wants. This was shown by the long continuance of her life after the operation."

CHRONIC WEATHER KICKERS.

The Lunchroom Philosopher Gives His Views on Mankind in General.

"D'je ever notice," said the lunchroom philosopher, "what a never-contented lot o' pinheads we are? Now, it seems no time at all since I was a-rarin' around and kickin' like blazes because the leaves and crocuses didn't appear on schedule time. I believe I blamed my wife for it. I was so dead sick and tired of chilly blasts and my olive green top-coat that I sort o' held her personally responsible for the backwardness of the lilacs and daisies and pansies. I told her that I wanted red-hot, sizzling weather, and lots of it—that for all I cared a dog the sun could go on sizzling forever. Now I find that I'm sick of the summer. I find myself longing to hear the leaves swirling in the ditches and to have the fire lighted in the latrobe. I find that I want to take brisk walks in the sharp, chilly air. I find that I'm hungry for buckwheat cakes and sausage. I'm tired o' beer. I'm weary of car riding out in the country. Durn it all—I want snow three feet high, blizzards of it, and I want the thermometer and the hot Scotches! And along toward the end of next February I'll be chewing the rag, in the same old way, about moving to some tropical country, where I can get warmed up and be fanned by balmy zephyrs, and all that kind o' bleat. We don't know what we want. We even get sick of seasons that we long for, much as kids get sick of their painted Noah's arks or tin soldiers."—Washington Post.

Still More Counterfeiting.

The Secret Service has just unearthed another band of counterfeiters and secured a large quantity of bogus bills, which are so cleverly executed that the average person would never suspect them of being spurious. Things of great value are always selected for imitation, notably Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has many imitators but no equals for disorders like indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and general debility. Always go to reliable druggists who have the reputation of giving what you ask for.

An Ounce of Prevention.

"Doctor, a friend of mine has assured me that sucking lemons will prevent sea sickness. Is that true?"

"Yes, provided you sit in the shade of a tall tree while you suck the lemon."—Standard and Catholic Times.

Ladies Can Wear Shoes

One size smaller after using Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It makes tight or new shoes easy. Cures swollen, hot, sweating, aching feet, ingrowing nails, corns and bunions. At all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Trial package FREE by mail. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Traces.

Sorrow had left its marks on her face, but she still showed traces of her former beauty.

In fact, the bitter tears had washed off only a couple of streaks.—Indianapolis Journal.

Its Equivalent.

Pedagogue (severely)—Now, sir, for the last time, what's the angle of the hypothenuse of a right-angled triangle equivalent to?

Boy (desperate)—It's equivalent to a lickin' for me, sir. Go ahead.—Boston Traveler.

The Best Prescription for Chills

and Fever is a bottle of Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price, 50c.

Liked Him.

Jaggles—I see there's a new keeper in the menagerie. Didn't the animals like the old one?

Waggles—I guess so; they ate him up.—Judge.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Just So.

"You big dod-gasted duffer!" cried the star centerfielder, "did you say I was out?"

"Precisely," replied the umpire. "You are just $25 out." And he carefully noted the fine in his little book.—Philadelphia North American.

You likely do not want to undertake dyeing your old garments, because you have made failures, but this was with the old fashioned package dyes, that one package colored wool and another cotton. Putnam Faddless Dyes colors all kinds of fibers at once. You simply boil the goods with the dye and they are made new. You cannot fail in this.

A man repents oftener of what he says than of what he doesn't say.—Chicago Daily News.

After six years' suffering I was cured by Piso's Cure.—Mary Thomson, 224 Ohio Ave., Allegheny, Pa., March 10, '94.

A man has to be very much in love with a woman to willingly carry her parasol over her.—Philadelphia Times.

Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is a Constitutional Cure. Price, 75c.

Don't go to extremes—especially in your dealings with bees and wasps.—Chicago Daily News.

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA TEETHING POWDERS

Aids Digestion, Regulates the Bowels, Makes Teething Easy. TEETHINA Relieves the Bowel Troubles of Children of Any Age.

Costs Only 25 Cents. Ask Your Druggist for It.

SUCCESSFUL SHOOTERS SHOOT WINCHESTER

Rifles, Repeating Shotguns, Ammunition and Loaded Shotgun Shells. Winchester guns and ammunition are the standard of the world, but they do not cost any more than poorer makes. All reliable dealers sell Winchester goods.

FREE: Send name and address on a postal for 156 page illustrated Catalogue describing all the guns and ammunition made by the WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., 180 WINCHESTER AVE., NEW HAVEN, CONN.

ROBERT DOWNING

Tells the Secret of His Great Endurance.

Robert Downing, the Tragedian.

Robert Downing was recently interviewed by the press on the subject of his splendid physical health. Mr. Downing promptly and emphatically gave the whole credit of his splendid physical condition to Pe-ru-na, saying:

"I find it a preventive against all sudden summer ills that swoop upon one in changing climates and water.

"It is the finest traveling companion and safeguard against malarial influences.

"To sum it up, Pe-ru-na has done me more good than any tonic I have ever taken."

Healthy mucous membranes protect the body against the heat of summer and the cold of winter. Pe-ru-na is sure to bring health to the mucous membranes of the whole body.

Write for a copy of Dr. Hartman's latest book entitled "Summer Catarrh." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O.

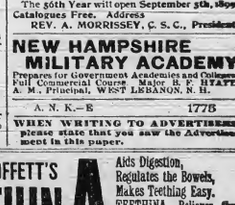
Remember that cholera morbus, cholera infantum, summer complaint, bilious colic, diarrhoea and dysentery are each and all catarrh of the bowels. Catarrh is the only correct name for these affections. Pe-ru-na is an absolute specific for these ailments, which are so common in summer. Dr. Hartman, in a practice of over forty years, never lost a single case of cholera infantum, dysentery, diarrhoea, or cholera morbus, and his only remedy was Pe-ru-na. Those desiring further particulars should send for a free copy of "Summer Catarrh." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 & $3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.

Worth $4 to $5 compared with other makes.

Indorsed by over 1,000,000 wearers.

ALL LEATHERS. ALL STYLES THE GENUINE have W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on bottom.



Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Largest makers of $3 and $3.50 shoes in the world. Your dealer should keep them—if not, we will send you a pair on receipt of price. State kind of leather, size and width, plain or cap toe. Catalogue H Free.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

CARTER'S INK Is what the largest and best school systems use.

FITS Permanently Cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. Dr R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

EDUCATIONAL.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME,

NOTRE DAME, INDIANA.

Classics, Letters, Economics and History, Journalism, Art, Science, Pharmacy, Law, Civil, Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, Architecture.

Thorough Preparatory and Commercial Courses. Ecclesiastical students at special rates. Room Free. Junior or Senior Year, Collegiate Courses, Rooms to Rent, moderate charge.

St. Edward's hall, for boys under 13.

The 50th Year will open September 5th, 1895. Catalogues Free. Address

REV. A. MORRISSEY, C. S. C., President.

NEW HAMPSHIRE MILITARY ACADEMY

Prepares for Government Academies and Colleges. Full Commercial Course. Maj. W. F. HYATT, A. M., Principal, WEST LEBANON, N. H.

A. N. K.—E 1775

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

Plantation Chill Cure is Guaranteed

To cure, or money refunded by your merchant, so why not try it? Price 50c.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The following prosecutions against the following persons were filed away: Burt Staley, T. D. Ross, Sam Ingram, Mike Teeters, John Leopold, Mike Cahill, Charles Ertel, The Great China Tea Co., Elzie Gorman, Robert Finnell, Thomas Maloney, Henry Osborn.

Ira Aylor was found not guilty of peddling without license.

Kite Story was fined $25 and ten days for carrying a pistol. Robert Kite, for assault, was fined $5 and A. M. Acra for shooting a hog belonging to another person was fined $10.

Prosecutions against the following persons were continued: Martin Bailey, Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., Jacob Cohen.

The following persons were each fined $50 for peddling without license: J. L. Riley, C. W. Myers, Imperial Tea Co.

Prosecutions against the following persons were continued and alias processes ordered issued therein: Sherman Ross and two others, Robert England, John Hilker, Ed Clore and Fred Sutton, Claud McGuire, Frank and Dick McNeal.

Role Robinson and Harmon Polly were adjudged not guilty of gaming for which they were indicted at the last April term.

Prosecution against Simon Jacobs was dismissed.

The case of John Acra against G. T. Gaines was decided in favor of Acra. This was an appeal by Acra from a judgment finding him guilty of a forcible detainer.

The trial of the damage suit of Perry L. Aylor vs. E. Mannin, both of the Hebron neighborhood, was begun Friday before noon. Each side had a small army of witnesses on hand to testify, but the defendant only testified on his side, while only three or four of the plaintiff's witnesses were heard. At the conclusion of the testimony the court admonished the jury and postponed further hearing of the case until Monday morning. This was a suit for slander, and grew out of the trouble that has prevailed in the Hebron public school for some time. The plaintiff asked for $2,000 damages for the defamation of his character. The jury found $60 in favor of the plaintiff, Perry Aylor.

Following is the list of petit jurors at this term: Wm. Kinney, John Black, R. L. Howlett, C. M. Allen, J. L. Rouse, H. G. Cropper, Marion McMullen, O. W. Gaines, James Hogan, Thos. Garrison, Ezra Wilhoit, Lawrence Farrell, William Goodridge, Kirby Crisler, Israel Flick, J. M. Long, Geo. Hoard, J. Q. Elstun, Ed Taylor, J. F. Blyth, Wm. Ryle, Joe Graves, John Clore, Mike Clore, J. D. McNeely.

COURT NOTES.

Several ladies were in attendance upon court every day last week.

This was the first term at which the County Surveyor had no reports of land divisions to file.

Jailer Adams has been annoyed with a boil on one of his hands since the beginning of court.

In the prosecution of Prof. Hahn for assaulting Clyde Hafer, the jury found the defendant not guilty.

The court adjourned Friday evening until Monday morning on account of the primary election Saturday.

The grand jury adjourned Friday afternoon. It was a body of young men, Charles Hensley being the youngest.

Of the indictments found at this term of the court none are of a serious nature, be it said to the credit of the county.

Our young friend, John Vest, of Walton, stood a splendid examination, and was granted a license to was practice law, and admitted to the bar.

J. L. Frazier made a good foreman of the grand jury. He did not believe in wasting time investigating trivial offenses of which Justices of the Peace ought to take cognizance.

Ex-Sheriff D. Beall was doorkeeper for the grand jury. He has a voice like a caliope, and had no trouble in making the witnesses hear if they were in town.

When the witnesses in the Aylor-Mannin damage suit were lined up around the bar to be sworn they were two deep. It looked like swearing in a company to go to the Philippine war.

On Monday of last week Judge Greene made a speech in Williamstown in opposition to the Democratic ticket, and on Wednesday he attended the bolters' convention at Lexington, Mr. Tolin holding court in his absence.

Twenty-two of the Burlington "Turtle Hunting Club" were indicted for violating the fish law by seining down on Gunpowder during the past month. The club had two meetings this summer and it caught several more indictments than turtles. The club contemplates making an assignment.

The grand jury's report is one of the shortest on record. It is as follows:

To the Hon. J. W. Greene Judge of the Boone Circuit Court: We, the grand jury, have been in session since Monday the 14th inst., being five days, have examined thirty-four witnesses and found ten indictments. The county buildings have been inspected and the repairs needed are so small that we pass them without recommending an appropriation for it.

J. L. FRAZIER, Foreman.

Another branch of the Edwards divorce suit was introduced at this term. It is a motion to modify the judgment rendered at last term.

Pith of the Press.

An army put under the command of Otis is an army sacrificed. —N. Y. Journal.

It will be known in history as McKinley's war, and will not be remembered to his credit.—Atlanta Journal.

In the case of General Mercier, flaring announcements were all there was to the show.—Detroit Free Press.

Root is in the Cabinet, but Algerism was not rooted out of the McKinley Administration.—Hamilton (Ohio) Democrat.

Whenever the Administration finds a man who is almost persuaded, it turns him over to Vice President Hobart.—Washington Post.

Mr. McKinley will find driving the double team, Philippine War and Presidential Election, not a very easy task.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

General Alger's wounds are said to be heading nicely. There is nothing more solacing to a hurt than a potato poultice.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Pingree is delighted at the report that President McKinley is angry with him. He says this is almost too much honor for a plain shoemaker.—Atlanta Journal.

The only question is whether Governor Roosevelt can possibly be induced to commit political suicide to please McKinley or anybody else.—Pittsburg Press.

Admiral Sampson seems to be within grappling distance of the prize money. This is about 10 miles nearer than he was to earning it.—Omaha World-Herald.

The suggestion that Mr. Reed may at the same time be a Maine lawyer and a New York Congressman will strike terror to the hearts of some people.—Boston Globe.

The decision of John J. Ingalls to reappear in Kansas politics tends to confirm the report that Mrs. Lease means to devote her entire time to Spiritualism.—Washington Star.

The Administration will be better prepared to meet the attacks of its enemies when it is sure that Mr. Gage has retired from the explanation department.—Washington Post.

Mr. Dick, of Ohio, has been made a Colonel. Mr. Dick is the gentleman who can check any kind of an advance as long as Mr. Hanna's bank deposit holds out.—Omaha World Herald.

President McKinley never settled upon anything but Mark Hanna's bosom. Such a thing as conviction upon any subject or question, he never knew or experienced.—Youngstown (Ohio) Vindicator.

The funny things which Speaker Reed refused to say to the reporters when he returned from Europe are much more funny than the funny things which Senator Depew said upon his arrival at home.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Report comes from Washington that Mr. McKinley has summoned Mark Hanna home to look after the fence in Ohio. There has been an awful slump down that way of late, and something must be done at once.—Minneapolis Times.

Now it is Hanna who is homeward bound ahead of schedule time. Matters must be in a pretty bad way when 70,000,000 Americans cannot get along for more than a fortnight without the protectorate of a political boss.—Akron (Ohio) Democrat.

CROP AND STOCK.

W. B. Hatchet, of Mercer county, sold 100 stock ewes at $2 25 per head.

In Bourbon county O. W. Rankin sold to Jonas Weil 36 cattle, averaging 1,405 pounds, at 5 cents.

Cook & Co., of Fayette county, sold to Warren Rogers, of Bourbon county, 300 sheep at $3 60 per head.

Allie Jones, of North Middletwon, sold to Mr. Wolf, of Chicago, his fine saddle mare Ruby, for $500.

Sidney G. Clay, of Bourbon county, sold to James Weil sixty-eight 1,450 pounds cattle at five cents.

It is claimed that clover hay may be baled in the field, but the experiments made are not sufficient to show the benefits derived compared with storing clover in the mow. The clover is cut in the morning, after it is free from dew or rain, and when well wilted the hay tedder is used, so as to give it every chance to cure. In the afternoon the hay is baled and hauled to the barn. If this method is practiced care must be exercised in having the hay properly cured and in just the proper condition for baling, as baled clover is more liable to heat than timothy or other kinds.

The corn crop of this country is usually about four times that of wheat and three times that of oats. While much importance is attached to our wheat crop, yet it is far behind corn in value No crop is more useful than corn, for from it the larger proportion of the meat and other products from animal is obtained, while its fodder nearly equals the value of grain. It is really the corn crop that gives this country its advantages in agriculture, instead of wheat. Although wheat is a prominent article of export, yet it does not enter very largely into the production of meat milk, cheese and butter, hence the exports of corn in the forms of products on the farm from its use, largely exceed wheat, while the consumption of corn on the farms is enormous. The corn plant is also becoming a source from which paper is manufactured, while the government utilizes it from which to derive articles for use in the navy. The amount of corn used in the manufacture of glucose is large, and corn oil is a valuble product. One of the advantages of the corn crop is that it can be grown on nearly all soils, and its cultivation assists in clearing the land of weeds. The average per acre of corn is much lower than it should be, but improved methods are raising the average every year.

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier.]

The Crittenden Association met with the Gardnersville church on Aug. 9th and 10th, and to the credit of the church be it said that one of the most delightful sessions was held in the history of the association. There were immense congregations present each day. The order was splendid and all business was transacted with dispatch. Bro. W. H. H. McMillian together with his faithful flock at Gardnersville had every thing beautifully arranged and the music was delightful indeed. W. R. Elliston was again chosen moderator as was also Bro. J. N. Eckler to be the clerk. The good people at Gardnersville will long be remembered for their great kindness and generous hospitality.

As mentioned last week in the Courier, Lieutenant Dillion with his orderly Sergeant, reopened the recruiting station at this place Monday. All day long a stream of young men who wanted to fight for "Uncle Sam" kept pouring into the office to be examined. While a large number were unable to pass the examination required, fourteen were secured who passed. The boys were taken to Ft. Thomas Monday morning and will go to McPherson, Ga., where they will become members of the 29th Infantry, and it is by no means improbable that some of them will yet see service in the Phillipines. The enlistment is for a term of 22 months. Following are the names of those who passed the examination and signed enlistment papers: Tom E. Jones, Serch Ashcraft, John Hutton, June Harvie, J. M. Rankin, John N. Williams, George O. Work, Charles Bradley, Charles Jenkins, Will H. Work, W. N. Brown, Claude Page and Russell O'Bannon. Claude Page had the distinction of being placed in charge of the boys to Ft. Thomas. At the depot a very affective scene took place, more than a hundred persons had gathered, to see them off, among them many of the boys mothers and sisters, who bade them goodbye as if they never expected to see their loved ones again.

THE RACE PROBLEM.

Gov. Chandler, of Georgia, since the series of lynchings that have recently occurred in that State, has been asked by newspapers in various parts of the country to give his opinion of the race question in the South, and in reply to one of them the Governor has fully and freely expressed his views as to the cause of the conflicts and the remedy therefor. The Governor believes the present day cause of the uprisings is the intermeddling with the relations of the whites and blacks in the South by "fools and fanatics who know nothing about the situation," but thinks the whole trouble dates from the day of emancipation. Gov. Candler believes a restricted suffrage will remedy the evils; that the ballot be given only the intelligent negro. As to the disposition to be made of the large percentage of illiterate negroes the Governor makes no suggestion. The Governor in referring to the emancipation contrasts the treatment of negroes by the white people of the South before the war with that of the carpet-baggers immediately after.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

The taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the following places to receive taxes for 1899:

Verona, Sept. 5th, Oct. 5th.
Walton, Sept. 6th, Oct. 6th.
Bellevue, Sept. 7th, Oct. 9th.
Union, Sept. 8th, Oct. 7th.
Petersburg, Sept. 9th, Oct. 10th.
Bullittsville, Sept. 11th, Oct. 10th.
Big Bone, Sept. 12th, Oct. 11th.
Constance, Sept. 13th, Oct. 12th.
Beaver, Sept. 14th, Oct. 13th.
Florence, Sept. 15th, Oct. 14th.
Rabbit Hash, Sept. 16th, Oct. 17th.
Gunpowder, Oct. 18th.
Richwood, Oct. 20th.
Hebron, Oct. 21st.

All taxes not paid by Dec. 1st, 1899, will have the 6 per cent. penalty added. Meet me at the appointed places and avoid the penalty.

ELMER BEALL, S. B. C.

PUBLIC SALE!

I will sell at public sale at my residence on the Covington and Lexington pike, 2 miles north of Walton, and 2 miles south of Richwood, on the C. N. & T. P. R. R., on

Friday, Sept. 8th, 1899,

The following stock:

25 fresh Milch Cows, some have calves by their sides; 15 yearling Jersey heifers; 200 Stock Sheep, in lots to suit purchasers; several Horses and Work Mules.

TERMS OF SALE.

A credit of four months will be given on all sums over $10, purchasers to give note with good security, negotiable and payable in Walton Deposit Bank; $10 and under, cash. No property removed until terms of sale are complied with.

W. L. GAINES.

Sale to begin at 9 a. m.

J. T. MARSHALL,
SALESMAN FOR
F. W. KASSEBAUM & SON,
Manufacturers and Dealers in
Granite and Marble Monuments.
GRANT P. O., KENTUCKY.

JONH TANEOUS,
Hebron, Boone County, Ky..
CARPENTER, CONTRACTOR & .....BUILDER.....
Also does Roofing and Tin Work.
Your Work Solicited.

Consign your Stock to
Rabenstein, Harris & Conner,
—Live Stock—
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
COVINGTON STOCK YARDS,
Covington, Ky.,
OR UNION STOCK YARDS,
Cincinnati, Ohio.
When shipping East bill our care privilege selling Central Covington Stock Yards.
We will make it to your advantage and give your stock special personal attention.

Helms' - Barber - Shop,
PETERSBURG, KY.
Hair cut 15c, on Saturday 20c; Shave 10c; Shampoo 15c; Sea Foam 5c; Hair Singe 5c; Beard Trim 5c, other work proportionally as low in price. Ladies' and childrens' work a specialty. ☞All work guaranteed satisfactory or money refunded. Hair Oils, Tonics, Perfume, etc., for sale. Thanking all for past favors, I remain, &c.

EVERETT HELMS, Prop.

LADIES—To the ladies that have not paid us a call, will say, that Thursday is conceded to be their day. Ladies Shampoo 25c; Sea Foam 15c; Bangs trimmed 10c. Hair dressed for special occasions a specialty, at reasonable rates. Courteous treatment is our motto. Give us a call.

SIXTH YEAR OF
Walton :-: Academy
—OPENS—
First Monday in September.

First-class instruction in all Common School Branches.

Higher Arithmetic, Elementary and Higher Algebra, Book-Keeping, Plain and Solid Geometry, History, Rhetoric and Literature, Physiology, Geography, Physics, Astronomy, Logic and Phychology. Latin includes Cesar, Cicero, Nepos, Virgil. Greek including Beginners, Greek and Xenophon.

Terms:—Tuition and Board in the building, five days in the week, under the care of the teacher, $105.75, for nine months; Board the full week or Music $18.50 additional for the full term.

Mrs. S. H. MYERS, Prin.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN could split out about 100 Fence Rails a day; THE CYCLONE FENCE MACHINE builds 100 rods a day, 36 to 60 inches high, 7 to 12 cables. Turning the crank cables the wire. Cheapest, strongest fence. Easiest to build. No light wires; no backache. Lasts a lifetime. Wire and Fence Supplies at Wholesale. Crimped and Spiral Pickets, Lawn Fence, Lawn and Farm Gates. Thousands of these machines in use. Gold Medal at Omaha Exposition. Write for Catalogue.
CYCLONE FENCE CO., HOLLY, MICH.
Branches { Waukegan, Ill. Cleveland, Ohio. Toronto, Canada. Melbourne, Australia. } Shipments from Nearest Point.

I have control of the Cyclone Fence in Boone and Woodford counties. I will build the fence or sell machines to farmers that they may build their own fences. It is the cheapest and best fence that can be built.
Address G. CARTER GRADDY, BULLITTSVILLE, KY.

DR. A. P. WALTON,
DENTIST,
CINCINNATI,
The Lancaster Building 22 W. 7th, Bet. Vine and Race.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.
E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
EDGAR CROPPER, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

CORNER
Drug Store
Rising Sun, Ind.
Is the place for anything in the Drug Line.
WALL PAPER, PAINTS, WINDOW SHADES.
STATIONERY, PERFUMES, FANCY GOODS, &c.
B. F. BUCHANAN,
—DRUGGIST,—
Over thirty year's experience.

FARMERS
Take Notice!
If you want good
Fertilizer
PLEASE GIVE
B. F. ZIMMER
A CALL.
He will try to please you. He has the finest line of Fertilizer for 1899 he has ever handled. Write for particulars to
CONSTANCE, KY.

Central Covington Stock Yards,
COVINGTON, KY.
Are located so as to offer special inducements to shippers South of the Ohio river in saving them extra expense and time. In addition to the local buyers there will be Eastern and foreign buyers on the market for all kinds of stock. When shipping East, don't fail to consign our care privilege selling which will be of benefit to you.
Central Covington Stock Yards Co.
Commission firms will give prompt attention to consignments.

FRANK HOSSMAN.
Hebron, Ky..
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
—Also handles all—
KINDS OF ROOFING.
Which is furnished and put on at the Lowest Prices consistent with good work.
I am prepared for moving buildins.
Your Work is Solicited.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.
Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect Dec. 5th, 1898.

P. M.	A. M.		A. M.	P. M.
4.00	8.30	lv Cincinnati ar	10.05	6.00
4.15	7.04	" Ludlow lv	9.55	5.50
4.30	7.18	" Erlanger lv	9.36	5.27
5 18	8.25	Williamstown "	8.45	4.25
5.35	8.49	" Corinth "	8.25	4.03
6.17	10.28	" Georgetw'n "	7.50	3.19
6.30	10.50	ar Stamp'g Gro'nd	7.28	1.55
7.10	11.20	" Frankfort "	7.00	1.00

JOS. R. NEWTON, G. P. A., Frankfort, Ky.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given Collections entrusted to him. mch27-yr.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
☞All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1856.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 20,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN..... $50,000
SURPLUS,..... $ 5.000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
Artificial Dentures, Crown and Bridge Work to represent natural organs. Gas, Vitalized Air, Odontunder for extraction.
☞Will be in office at Union every Monday.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

Coal! Coal!
Good Raymond City Coal
In the Yard,
9 1-2 Cents a Bushel.
KANAWAH COAL
9 cents a bushel.
J. P. LINDSAY & CO.,
Erlanger, Ky.
J. O. HUEY, Manager.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 30, 1899. NO. 45.

A BURLINGTON jury would acquit Dreyfus on the first ballot.

GOV. BRADLEY is giving the Republican ticket neither aid nor comfort.

THE First Volunteer Infantry, stationed at Ft. Thomas, Campbell county, started for Manila, last Saturday morning.

REV. COLEMAN, of Louisville, is receiving hot shot from some of the ministers in the State, whom he has catechised politically.

ROBERT CLARK, founder of the large Fourth street book concern, in Cincinnati, died at his home, Glendale, Ohio, last Saturday, in his 71st year.

WHILE the Republicans are rejoicing over the trouble in the Democratic ranks, the kicking element in their own party is not growing weaker.

GOV. TAYLOV'S London speech was not as substantial a presentation of his party's position in regards to the issues of the day as he was expected to make.

BRYAN Democrats are not lead by such men as W. C. P. Breckinridge, Basil W. Duke, W. M. Beckner, W. H. McCoy, Will Owens, Simon Bolivar Buckner, and others of the gold standard idea. These are the ring-leaders in the Brown move.

REV. KERFOOT, Baptist, went to Shelbyville and gave Goebel a roast, and the next mail from that place carried a letter from a resident Baptist minister-lawyer to the Democratic Campaign Committee, offering to take the stump for the Democratic ticket.

IF that Louisville convention could not make a nomination that was binding, why was John Young Brown doing all in his power to secure a nomination by it? That convention was regularly organized, but as much can not be said for the Lexington convention.

IN a few days nearly all the schools in the county, will begin the fall and winter terms. The teachers and pupils have had several months vacation, and should begin the fall and winter's work with a vim calculated to accomplish something. The teachers are nearly all experienced instructors.

THE Colored Baptist Association of Kentucky, which met at Paris, last week, adopted resolutions denouncing the Separate Coach Law, and virtually pledged the members of the Association to vote for no candidate who does not favor its repeal. These resolutions are causing the Republicans some uneasiness.

THE editor of the Shelbyville Sentinel was too savage in his response to Rev. Kerfoot's attack on Mr. Goebel. The editor of the Sentinel is certainly aware that the Louisville Dispatch is the only paper in Kentucky that has the unquestioned right to abuse people, and the Sentinel ought not to have invaded its field; besides it is painful to a Democrat to see a Democratic paper display any of the attributes of the Dispatch.

THE Republican platform declares in favor of cheaper school books, but makes no suggestion as to how they are to be obtained, while, on the other hand, the Democratic platform indorses a law that was drafted with that end in view but was defeated in the legislature; it gives you something by which you can ascertain exactly what the Democratic party will do for the benefit of the poor class, along that line.

IT is claimed that there will be very large exports of wheat to meet the demands of Western Europe. If this be true there will be an increase in the price of that cereal.

WHEN Mr. Brown begins his speech by admitting that he would have accepted the nomination for Governor at the hands of the Louisville convention, and then proceeds to declare Goebel a fraudulent nominee he places himself in a position so ridiculous as to render him an object of pity.

IN his speech at Bowling Green, last Saturday, Gov. Brown admits that he was willing to accept the nomination at the hands of the Louisville convention. That is he was willing to accept what he claims was a fraudulent nomination. It seems that Mr. Brown is looking both ways at once in this matter.

HON. W. O. ROHDES, of Bowling Green, was willing to bolt the Louisville ticket that Democracy might be purified, but when John Young Brown is presented to him as a purificationist, he goes over to the Goebel camp without delay, and gives out a long interview stating his reasons for his action. He says a look at the leaders in the Lexington convention satisfied him as to their purpose.

REV. COLEMAN, of Louisville, pretends to think he is assisting in a move that is calculated to purify politics. Now, if Rev. Coleman, and all the ministers who are of his way of thinking in regard to this matter, will turn their attention to the moral reformation of one or two of the leaders of the anti-Goebel move in the Sixth Congressional District, they will find enough work along that line to require their entire time until long after the November election.

COMMENCING with next issue the RECORDER will be printed one day later in the week than heretofore. This change will be made that the neighborhood news may receive more attention than it has been possible to give it in the past. Correspondents will continue to mail their contributions as early in the week as heretofore, as all communications must reach this office not later than Tuesday at noon. Correspondents are requested to write as regularly as they can.

MR. DOERHOEFER, of Louisville, the Kentucky representative of the American Tobacco Trust, is a member of the State Executive Committee of the anti-Goebel Democrats. How does a crowd who believes in putting a member of one of the greatest trusts in the land in the lead in their organization, suit the Democrats of this county? Think about this. Only a few months since farmers were holding meetings in this State with a view to downing the trust that Mr. Doerhoefer represents in Kentucky, and what these same farmers will do next November for these politicicans that Mr. Doerhoefer is representidg in this campaigh, will be a plenty.

The sale of the Alexander herd of export cattle, which is always an event in stock circles in Kentucky, occurred last week. There were five hundred fine cattle in the herd this year and Mr. C. Alexander sold them to Louis Feltzer & Son, of Chicago, Western agents of Schwartzchild & Sulzberger, of New York, for a private price. The cattle will be shipped in November to London to be used for Christmas beef. This is the largest sale of export cattle made in Kentucky this year.—Paris News.

State News.

Owen county is experiencing a drought.

Harrodsburg girls have formed an anti-gossip society.

A Morehead woman gave birth to triplets, last week.

There are five cases of smallpox in one family in Robertson county.

At Hayden A. B. Napier was shot and killed by deputy sheriff A. B. Morgan.

E. Renick Graham, of Owensboro, died of overindulgence in alcohol and cigarettes.

The Shelby county fair, last week was the most successful in the history of the association.

A man was kicked in the temple by a horse at Brooksville fair, last week, and he died instantly.

Near Owensboro, last Friday, three people were killed by lightning while at work in the field.

James Hasson has sued a Maysville policeman for $1,000, for hitting him with his club and destroying his eye.

Dr. Hood, of Columbia, who has been faithful in attending smallpox patients at Columbia, has contracted the disease.

One of the features of the Bullitt county fair, last week, was a wedding that was solemnized in the Judges' stand.

An epidemic of diphtheria has broken out near Red House, Madison county, and the public schools have suspended.

The Rev. Dr. F. H. Kerfoot, of Louisville, has sued the Shelbyville Sentinel for $25,000 on account of a recent editorial concerning him.

Not less than 300 dogs, 50 hogs, 10 cows and 4 horses have been killed in Greenup county in the last few weeks on account of hydrophobia.

Miss Sarah Rice, of Leitchfield, discovered a small pimple on her chin and opened it. Inflammation set in and she died in a few days of acute cellulitis.

The revival at East Eagle closed last week. There were 194 additions to the church, of which 106 were baptised. It was a grand meeting and much good was accomplished. —Owen News.

J. S. Croucher, of Cartorville, Garrard county, fell into a threshing machine and his foot was cut to pieces. Medical aid was not easily secured, and he died from the shock and loss of blood.

Gov. Bradley has appointed Dr. J. B. Ely, a Frankfort Democrat, Superintendent of the State Institute for the education of feeble minded children. The salary is $1,500 a year, with board and washing for himself and family.

The rural free delivery mail service recently established in Fayette county is a pronounced success. Postmaster Elkin reports that during the first ten days of August a total of 2,244 pieces were delivered and collected on the four routes.

A band of whitecaps, numbering about 50 members, have taken the law into their hands in the Polin neighborhood, Washington county. They first went to the homes of J. L. Chesser and Joe Scott and gave them warning that to remain in the vicinity later than the 15th of next month would be attended with danger to themselve.

A fatal disease, resembling bloody murrain, has broken out among young cattle in Madison county. The victims are mostly calves, and about 30 have died in the last few weeks around Speedwell. The symptoms are swelling under the throat, and then giving way in the back and loins. They rarely live twelve hours after being stricken with disease.

Junius B. Clay, of Paris, has raised from one male and three female pheasants nearly one hundred of the birds. He is raising them to stock his big farms in Nicholas and Fleming counties. The grown males weigh two and one half pounds and the females two pounds, and for stocking parks, etc., they are quoted at $36 per dozen. As they are larger, hardier and more palatable than quails, they are likely to be plentiful in that section.—Paris Kentuckian-Citizens.

In Madison county, Maggie Hudson, 16, met death accidently at the hands of her elder brother, William. The children had been romping, when William decided to go hunting and went upstairs for his rifle, coming downstairs the weapon in some manner was discharged, the ball taking effect in the neck of his sister, Maggie, who had followed him. She died in twenty minutes. The boy was arrested, but subsequently released on evidence adduced at the Cornorer's inquest.

Wm. Henderson, father of Jefferson Davis Henderson, a Middleborough school teacher, died at his home, at the head of Clear creek, Bell county, at the extreme age of 94 years. Mr. Henderson had passed a remarkable life. From a youth he had drank, chewed, and smoked, for forty years of his life drinking half a gallon of whisky a day. He was born in the same house in which he died, and was never farther than 18 miles from his home in his life. He never saw a train in his life, although living within three miles of the L. & N. railroad.

Mr. A. T. Murphy, who lives two and a half miles from the city on the Illinois Central railroad, while plowing a few days ago unearthed a relic of the war. It was a cannon ball weighing three and a half lbs. It is evidently a relic of the war of 1861-65, and was doubtless shot from the fort here during the battle with Forrest's men on March 25, 1864. The land on which the war relic was found has been under cultivation for many years. It is nearly four miles from the fort. A number of shells and grapeshot have been found at various places in the city since the war, but this is the only one, so far as memory serves, found so far from the scene of conflict.—Paducah Visitor.

Lexington's weather prophet. Prof. Asa Martin, furnishes the Leader with his forecast for the incoming winter. He says: "As Christmas comes this year on Monday, we can look for perilous times such as war, famines, earthquakes, pestilence and terrific storms on sea and land, and great distress among nations. There will be during the winter twenty-five snows. The first one will November 11, 1900. There will be two ice spells, one in December, the other in January. Ice will be three and one half inches and five inches thick. There will be ten days of zero weather. The coldest day will be ten below zero. The people can lay in coal and be ready as I warn you all in time."

Last Monday evening, while Mr. John Merritt's little boy Roy and Mr. James Knight's little boy Marshall, both aged three years, were playing in Mrs. Greenwell's yard, they lifted a trapdoor which covers a drive well, three feet square and fifteen feet deep, and which was filled with water to within twelve to fourteen inches of the top. With a tin cup Marshall was trying to dip water, when he tumbled in headforemost. As he rose to the surface of the water Roy laid down on the platform and reached with his hand for the other boy, grasped his hand and pulled him up until he could reach the platform, when, with the strength of both, the boy was brought to the top. Several lady callers were at Mrs. Merritt's when Roy ran in to tell his mother that Marshall had fallen into the well. They all ran in a fright to find the "ducked" boy standing, wringing wet and too scared to move and hardly able to talk. It was a very narrow escape from death, and showed the remarkable presence of mind of Roy, a child three years of age.—Uniontown Telegram.

Dr. H. C. Duvall, of Milwood, Grayson county, was in town the other day attending the meeting of the Medical Society. While here he told the following remarkable incident of the life of the smallpox germ. He said that in 1872, after he had been practicing medicine about 5 years he was called to see the child of a man named Fraise living near Leitchfield. He saw that the child was very sick, but was unable to tell what was the matter with it. He called in Dr. Heston, and both of them then called in Dr. Cleaver. After a long consultation they decided that the child had smallpox. They told the parents what they thought was the matter. None of the family had been off the place for some time, and none of them had been exposed in any way to smallpox. Finally the mother of the child said that her father had died with the smallpox more than fifty years ago, and that she had the week before gotten a sponge out of a trunk that had been used in her father's illness and had bathed the child's eyes with it. Dr. Duvall said he was satisfied that in that way the child had contracted the smallpox. The germ had lain dormant for fifty years in that sponge, but when it was put in warm water and applied to the child's eyes it became inoculated with the dread disease. The child and both its parents died with the disease.—Elizabethtown News.

Binder Twine.

For some years the Agricultural Department has been trying to find an American substitute for the sisal hemp, from which "binder twine" is made.

This strong cord, with which the harvesting-machines tie up the bundles of wheat, is indispensable to the Western farmers. Its manufacture has reached such proportions that "binder twine" plays an important part in each new tariff schedule, and has absorbed the attention of politicians as well as of the farmers.

The United States has depended upon foreign countries for the new material, and a powerful trust controls its manufacture. The facts give peculiar significance to the successful outcome of the experiments of the Agricultural Department.

The material which has now proved its commercial importance is the strong wire-grass of the slough lands of Wisconsin, Minnesota and other Western States. The plant, known to botanists as carex stricta, is very abundant, but has always been considered valueless.

The process of manufacture consists of washing the grass, combing to separate the fibres, and spinning in a specially devised machine which twists a fine protecting yarn in with the fibres, thereby insuring the evenness necessary to use in harvesting machines. The waste is made into bottle covers, and a cheap and very durable floor matting is also woven from the grass. The new twine will sell for one-third less than that now on the market, and is said to do its work equally well.

Achievements like this, which turn useless material into valuable commodities and increase the worker's efficiency by lessening his expenses, are a credit to any country and no nation has more of them than the United States.

With the exception of flour, which sells to-day at about $1 less than a year ago, the cost of living generally has increased in the last 12 months. The price of metal and textile materials has advanced nearly 100 per cent, and such staples as print cloths are higher by 30 or 40 per cent than this time last year. There has been a general increase in the price of dyestuffs and starch. The pine boards from which the boxes for packing the goods are made are about 15 per cent more expensive than formerly; the nails and woven wire bands used in fastening the packages are from 15 to 10 per cent dearer, and labor is fully 10 per cent higher than two years ago. There have been advances in all classes of hardware, while house furnishing goods cost 10 to 15 per cent more. Carpets are about 20 per cent higher, while stoves and kitchen utensils, owing to advance in iron and other metals, are from 35 to 50 per cent above the prices quoted 12 months ago.

Last year table salt was 80 and 90 cents a barrel; now it is $1 50. This high rate is excessive, and the result of trade combinations. There has been a little rise in the prices for refined sugar, while some important changes have occurred in the prices for spices which housekeepers most frequently use. Peppers are from one and one half to two cents a pound higher, while other spices cost about four cents a lb., more.

These are only some of the increases on supplies bought daily by the house-keeper, but the superintendent of a large department store said yesterday that every branch of the establishment was selling goods at prices considerably above those of a year ago. The change, however he said, had been so gradual and had been so marked by retailers that the average housewife does not realize that she is paying more for any given article of dress or food.—New York Tribune.

THE Rising Sun people are living in hope of the electric railway reaching their town in the near future.

THE low water in the river has put a stop to the steamboats war that has been so spirited between Louisville and Cincinnati for several weeks.

CROP AND STOCK.

W. E. Hatchet, of Mercer county, sold 1,000 stock ewes at $2 25 per head.

A Bath county farmer claims to have pulled a large wagon load of onions from a bed 6 by 30 feet in size.

Will Broadwell, of Cynthiana, was at Harrodsburg buying mule colts which were selling at from $10 to $32.

There's nothing small about the corn crop out in Kansas. It is estimated that this year's yield in that State will amount to 362,000,000 bushels, 100,000,000 bushels greater than the previous banner year 1889.

There is the finest crop of corn and tobacco in Breckinridge county we ever saw. The corn is simply out of sight and while the tobacco is not as large in acreage as it was last year it will make up in quality. —Breckinridge News.

M. J. Farris sold to Simon Weid agent, 235 export cattle for October and November delivery, at 5 cents per pound. These cattle are expected to weigh about 1,450 pounds at shipment. Mr. Farris has 200 more good ones to be ready later.—Danville Advocate.

Roger R. Early has leased for 3 years to Wigglesworth Bros., his "Graham farm" of 367 acres, eight miles from Lexington on the Russell's Cave pike, at $6,000 per year; and to Frank Thompson his "Woodward farm," 400 acres, in Fayette, at $4,000 per year. Mr. Early retaining the dwelling and contiguous buildings on this farm. This arrangement gives Mr. Early a fine home and $10,000 a year for the next three years.

Mr. Buck Park, livestock dealer of Hasdin county, purchased last week for the United States Government two car loads of Kentucky horses. One car load was bought in Hardin county averaging weight from 900 to 1,000 pounds, from 4 to 6 years of age, and cost from $80 to $100. They were shipped by rail to New York, and from that city the horses will be shipped at once to Gen. Otis, in Manila, to be used as cavalry horses in the command under Gen. Joe Wheeler.

Chicago has nearly 30 per cent. of all the eggs in storage in the United States, according to the statements of the managers of the various cold-storage plants in this city. The following are the quantities of eggs now in the coolers: Western Refrigerator Company, State and Michigan streets, 290,000 cases; Produce Refrigerator Company, West Lake street, 150,000 cases; Monarch Refrigerator Co., Michigan street, 125,000 cases; Union Cold Storage and Warehouse Co., State street, 100,000 cases; John Drucker, Canal street, 20,000 cases; A. H. Barber & Co. and P. H. Bolton & Co., South Water street, 15,000 cases. This total of 700,000 cases, or 168,000,000 eggs, is 280,000 cases more than were in cold storage last year. The total cost was $2,677,5000. Storage and insurance will increase the price to an average of 14 cents a dozen, 4 cents a dozen more than last year.—Chicago telegram to the New York Times.

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier.]

Three of the oldest men of Grant county have paid the debt of nature during the past week and have gone to their reward: Judge Heil Childers, George W. Beasley and J. Brown.

The Williamstown telephone system will be in operation before another issue of the Courier reaches its readers. There will then remain just two more things the people of Williamstown need to make this one of the best towns in the State of Kentucky and they are water works and electric lights.

Tobacco cutting has begun in Grant county and unless it should rain within a few days cutting will be general within the next week. The intensely dry and hot weather is ripening the crop very fast. It will be an inferior crop at best much of it being small and of poor quality. Corn cutting has also begun and will continue until the crop is in the shock even should it rain. Grant county has the poorest corn crop it has raised in many years.

IF you want to see everybody and his cousins, go to the fair this week.

THE Times is the name of a new candidate for legislatic favor in Covington.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The following prosecutions against the following persons were filed away: Burt Staley, T. D. Ross, Sam Ingram, Mike Teeters, John Leopold, Mike Cahill, Charles Ertel, The Great China Tea Co., Elzie Gorman, Robert Finnell, Thomas Maloney, Henry Osborn.

Ira Aylor was found not guilty of peddling without license.

Kite Story was fined $25 and ten days for carrying a pistol. Robert Kite, for assault, was fined $5 and A. M. Acra for shooting a hog belonging to another person was fined $10.

Prosecutions against the following persons were continued: Martin Bailey, Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., Jacob Cohen.

The following persons were each fined $50 for peddling without license: J. L. Riley, C. W. Myers, Imperial Tea Co.

Prosecutions against the following persons were continued and alias processes ordered issued therein: Sherman Ross and two others, Robert England, John Hilker, Ed Clore and Fred Sutton, Claud McGuire, Frank and Dick McNeal.

Role Robinson and Harmon Polly were adjudged not guilty of gaming for which they were indicted at the last April term.

Prosecution against Simon Jacobs was dismissed.

The case of John Acra against G. T. Gaines was decided in favor of Acra. This was an appeal by Acra from a judgment finding him guilty of a forcible detainer.

The trial of the damage suit of Perry L. Aylor vs. E. Mannin, both of the Hebron neighborhood, was begun Friday before noon. Each side had a small army of witnesses on hand to testify, but the defendant only testified on his side, while only three or four of the plaintiff's witnesses were heard. At the conclusion of the testimony the court admonished the jury and postponed further hearing of the case until Monday morning. This was a suit for slander, and grew out of the trouble that has prevailed in the Hebron public school for some time. The plaintiff asked for $2,000 damages for the defamation of his character. The jury found $60 in favor of the plaintiff, Perry Aylor.

Following is the list of petit jurors at this term: Wm. Kinney, John Black, R. L. Howlett, C. M. Allen, J. L. Rouse, H. G. Cropper, Marion McMullen, O. W. Gaines, James Hogan, Thos. Garrison, Ezra Wilhoit, Lawrence Farrell, William Goodridge, Kirby Crisler, Israel Flick, J. M. Long, Geo. Hoard, J. Q. Elstun, Ed Taylor, J. F. Blyth, Wm. Ryle, Joe Graves, John Clore, Mike Clore, J. D. McNeely.

COURT NOTES.

Several ladies were in attendance upon court every day last week.

This was the first term at which the County Surveyor had no reports of land divisions to file.

Jailer Adams has been annoyed with a boil on one of his hands since the beginning of court.

In the prosecution of Prof. Hahn for assaulting Clyde Hafer, the jury found the defendant not guilty.

The court adjourned Friday evening until Monday morning on account of the primary election Saturday.

The grand jury adjourned Friday afternoon. It was a body of young men, Charles Hensley being the youngest.

Of the indictments found at this term of the court none are of a serious nature, be it said to the credit of the county.

Our young friend, John Vest, of Walton, stood a splendid examination, and was granted a license to was practice law, and admitted to the bar.

J. L. Frazier made a good foreman of the grand jury. He did not believe in wasting time investigating trivial offenses of which Justices of the Peace ought to take cognizance.

Ex-Sheriff D. Beall was doorkeeper for the grand jury. He has a voice like a caliope, and had no trouble in making the witnesses hear if they were in town.

When the witnesses in the Aylor-Mannin damage suit were lined up around the bar to be sworn they were two deep. It looked like swearing in a company to go to the Philippine war.

On Monday of last week Judge Greene made a speech in Williamstown in opposition to the Democratic ticket, and on Wednesday he attended the bolters' convention at Lexington, Mr. Tolin holding court in his absence.

Twenty-two of the Burlington "Turtle Hunting Club" were indicted for violating the fish law by seining down on Gunpowder during the past month. The club had two meetings this summer and it caught several more indictments than turtles. The club contemplates making an assignment.

The grand jury's report is one of the shortest on record. It is as follows:

To the Hon. J. W. Greene Judge of the Boone Circuit Court: We, the grand jury, have been in session since Monday the 14th inst., being five days, have examined thirty-four witnesses and found ten indictments. The county buildings have been inspected and the repairs needed are so small that we pass them without recommending an appropriation for it.

J. L. FRAZIER, Foreman.

Another branch of the Edwards divorce suit was introduced at this term. It is a motion to modify the judgment rendered at last term.

Pith of the Press.

An army put under the command of Otis is an army sacrificed. —N. Y. Journal.

It will be known in history as McKinley's war, and will not be remembered to his credit.—Atlanta Journal.

In the case of General Mercier, flaring announcements were all there was to the show.—Detroit Free Press.

Root is in the Cabinet, but Algerism was not rooted out of the McKinley Administration.—Hamilton (Ohio) Democrat.

Whenever the Administration finds a man who is almost persuaded, it turns him over to Vice President Hobart.—Washington Post.

Mr. McKinley will find driving the double team, Phillippine War and Presidential Election, not a very easy task.—Memphis Commerciai-Appeal.

General Alger's wounds are said to be heading nicely. There is nothing more solacing to a hurt than a potato poultice.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Pingree is delighted at the report that President McKinley is angry with him. He says this is almost too much honor for a plain shoemaker.—Atlanta Journal.

The only question is whether Governor Roosevelt can possibly be induced to commit political suicide to please McKinley or anybody else.—Pittsburg Press.

Admiral Sampson seems to be within grappling distance of the prize money. This is about 10 miles nearer than he was to earning it.—Omaha World-Herald.

The suggestion that Mr. Reed may at the same time be a Maine lawyer and a New York Congressman will strike terror to the hearts of some people.—Boston Globe.

The decision of John J. Ingalls to reappear in Kansas politics tends to confirm the report that Mrs. Lease means to devote her entire time to Spiritualism.—Washington Star.

The Administration will be better prepared to meet the attacks of its enemies when it is sure that Mr. Gage has retired from the explanation department.—Washington Post.

Mr. Dick, of Ohio, has been made a Colonel. Mr. Dick is the gentleman who can check any kind of an advance as long as Mr. Hanna's bank deposit holds out.—Omaha World Herald.

President McKinley never settled upon anything but Mark Hanna's bosom. Such a thing as conviction upon any subject or question, he never knew or experienced.—Youngstown (Ohio) Vindicator.

The funny things which Speaker Reed refused to say to the reporters when he returned from Europe are much more funny than the funny things which Senator Depew said upon his arrival at home.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Report comes from Washington that Mr. McKinley has summoned Mark Hanna home to look after the fence in Ohio. There has been an awful slump down that way of late, and something must be done at once.—Minneapolis Times.

Now it is Hanna who is homeward bound ahead of schedule time. Matters must be in a pretty bad way when 70,000,000 Americans cannot get along for more than a fortnight without the protectorate of a political boss.—Akron (Ohio) Democrat.

CROP AND STOCK.

W. B. Hatchet, of Mercer county, sold 100 stock ewes at $2 25 per head.

In Bourbon county O. W. Rankin sold to Jonas Weil 36 cattle, averaging 1,405 pounds, at 5 cents.

Cook & Co., of Fayette county, sold to Warren Rogers, of Bourbon county, 300 sheep at $3 60 per head.

Allie Jones, of North Middletwon, sold to Mr. Wolf, of Chicago, his fine saddle mare Ruby, for $500.

Sidney G. Clay, of Bourbon county, sold to James Weil sixty-eight 1,450 pounds cattle at five cents.

It is claimed that clover hay may be baled in the field, but the experiments made are not sufficient to show the benefits derived compared with storing clover in the mow. The clover is cut in the morning, after it is free from dew or rain, and when well wilted the hay tedder is used, so as to give it every chance to cure. In the afternoon the hay is baled and hauled to the barn. If this method is practiced care must be exercised in having the hay properly cured and in just the proper condition for baling, as baled clover is more liable to heat than timothy or other kinds.

The corn crop of this country is usually about four times that of wheat and three times that of oats. While much importance is attached to our wheat crop, yet it is far behind corn in value. No crop is more useful than corn, for from it the larger proportion of the meat and other products from animal is obtained, while its fodder nearly equals the value of grain. It is really the corn crop that gives this country its advantages in agriculture, instead of wheat. Although wheat is a prominent article of export, yet it does not enter very largely into the production of meat milk, cheese and butter, hence the exports of corn in the forms of products on the farm from its use, largely exceed wheat, while the consumption of corn on the farms is enormous. The corn plant is also becoming a source from which paper is manufactured, while the government utilizes it from which to derive articles for use in the navy. The amount of corn used in the manufacture of glucose is large, and corn oil is a valuble product. One of the advantages of the corn crop is that it can be grown on nearly all soils, and its cultivation assists in clearing the land of weeds. The average per acre of corn is much lower than it should be, but improved methods are raising the average every year.

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier.]

The Crittenden Association met with the Gardnersville church on Aug. 9th and 10th, and to the credit of the church be it said that one of the most delightful sessions was held in the history of the association. There were immense congregations present each day. The order was splendid and all business was transacted with dispatch. Bro. W. H. H. McMillian together with his faithful flock at Gardnersville had every thing beautifully arranged and the music was delightful indeed. W. R. Elliston was again chosen moderator as was also Bro. J. N. Eckler to be the clerk. The good people at Gardnersville will long be remembered for their great kindness and generous hospitality.

As mentioned last week in the Courier, Lieutenant Dillion with his orderly Sergeant, reopened the recruiting station at this place Monday. All day long a stream of young men who wanted to fight for "Uncle Sam" kept pouring into the office to be examined. While a large number were unable to pass the examination required, fourteen were secured who passed. The boys were taken to Ft. Thomas Monday morning and will go to McPherson, Ga., where they will become members of the 29th Infantry, and it is by no means improbable that some of them will yet see service in the Phillipines. The enlistment is for a term of 22 months. Following are the names of those who passed the examination and signed enlistment papers: Tom E. Jones, Serch Ashcraft, John Hutton, June Harvie, J. M. Rankin, John N. Williams, George O. Work, Charles Bradley, Charles Jenkins, Will H. Work, W. N. Brown, Claude Page and Russell O'Bannon. Claude Page had the distinction of being placed in charge of the boys to Ft. Thomas. At the depot a very affective scene took place, more than a hundred persons had gathered, to see them off, among them many of the boys mothers and sisters, who bade them goodbye as if they never expected to see their loved ones again.

THE RACE PROBLEM.

Gov. Chandler, of Georgia, since the series of lynchings that have recently occurred in that State, has been asked by newspapers in various parts of the country to give his opinion of the race question in the South, and in reply to one of them the Governor has fully and freely expressed his views as to the cause of the conflicts and the remedy therefor. The Governor believes the present day cause of the uprisings is the intermeddling with the relations of the whites and blacks in the South by "fools and fanatics who know nothing about the situation," but thinks the whole trouble dates from the day of emancipation. Gov. Candler believes a restricted suffrage will remedy the evils; that the ballot be given only the intelligent negro. As to the disposition to be made of the large percentage of illiterate negroes the Governor makes no suggestion. The Governor in referring to the emancipation contrasts the treatment of negroes by the white people of the South before the war with that of the carpet-baggers immediately after.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

The taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the following places to receive taxes for 1899:

Verona, Sept. 5th, Oct. 5th.
Walton, Sept. 6th, Oct. 6th.
Bellevue, Sept. 7th, Oct. 9th.
Union, Sept. 8th, Oct. 7th.
Petersburg, Sept. 9th, Oct. 10th.
Bullittsville, Sept. 11th, Oct. 16th.
Big Bone, Sept. 12th, Oct. 11th.
Constance, Sept. 13th, Oct. 12th.
Beaver, Sept. 14th, Oct. 13th.
Florence, Sept. 15th, Oct. 14th.
Rabbit Hash, Sept. 16th, Oct. 17th.
Gunpowder, Oct 18th.
Richwood, Oct. 20th.
Hebron, Oct. 21st.

All taxes not paid by Dec. 1st, 1899, will have the 6 per cent. penalty added. Meet me at the appointed places and avoid the penalty.

ELMER BEALL, S. B. C.

PUBLIC SALE!

I will sell at public sale at my residence on the Covington and Lexington pike, 2 miles north of Walton, and 2 miles south of Richwood, on the C. N. & T. P. R. R., on

Friday, Sept. 8th, 1899,

The following stock:

25 fresh Milch Cows, some have calves by their sides; 15 yearling Jersey heifers; 200 Stock Sheep, in lots to suit purchasers; several Horses and Work Mules.

TERMS OF SALE.

A credit of four months will be given on all sums over $10, purchasers to give note with good security, negotiable and payable in Walton Deposit Bank; $10 and under, cash. No property removed until terms of sale are complied with.

W. L. GAINES.

Sale to begin at 9 a. m.

J. T. MARSHALL,
SALESMAN FOR
F. W. KASSEBAUM & SON,
Manufacturers and Dealers in
Granite and Marble Monuments.
GRANT P. O., KENTUCKY.

JONH TANEOUS,
Hebron, Boone County, Ky..
CARPENTER, CONTRACTOR & BUILDER.....
Also does Roofing and Tin Work.
Your Work Solicited.

Consign your Stock to
Rabenstein, Harris & Conner,
—Live Stock—
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
COVINGTON STOCK YARDS, Covington, Ky.,
OR UNION STOCK YARDS, Cincinnati, Ohio.
When shipping East bill our care privilege selling Central Covington Stock Yards.
We will make it to your advantage and give your stock special personal attention.

Helms' - Barber - Shop,
PETERSBURG, KY.
Hair cut 15c, on Saturday 20c; Shave 10c; Shampoo 15c; Sea Foam 5c; Hair Stage 5c; Beard Trim 5c, other work proportionally as low in price. Ladies' and childrens' work a specialty. All work guaranteed satisfactory or money refunded. Hair Oils, Tonics, Perfume, etc., for sale. Thanking all for past favors, I remain, &c.,
EVERETT HELMS, Prop.
LADIES—To the ladies that have not paid us a call, will say, that Thursday is conceded to be their day. Ladies Shampoo 25c; Sea Foam 15c; Bangs trimmed 10c. Hair dressed for special occasions a specialty, at reasonable rates. Courteous treatment is our motto. Give us a call.

SIXTH YEAR OF
Walton :-: Academy
—OPENS—
First Monday in September.
First-class instruction in all Common School Branches.
Higher Arithmetic, Elementary and Higher Algebra, Book-Keeping, Plain and Solid Geometry, History, Rhetoric and Literature, Physiology, Geography, Physics, Astronomy, Logic and Psychology. Latin includes Cesar, Cicero, Nepos, Virgil. Greek including Beginners, Greek and Xenophon.
Terms:—Tuition and Board in the building, five days in the week, under the care of the teacher, $105.75, for nine months; Board the full week or Music $18.50 additional for the full term.
Mrs. S. H. MYERS, Prin.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

I have control of the Cyclone Fence in Boone and Woodford counties. I will build the fence or sell machines to farmers that they may build their own fences. It is the cheapest and best fence that can be built. Address G. CARTER GRADDY, BULLITTSVILLE, KY.

DR. A. P. WALTON,
DENTIST,
CINCINNATI,
The Lancaster Building 22 W. 7th, Bet. Vine and Race.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.
E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
EDGAR CROPPER, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

CORNER
Drug Store
Rising Sun, Ind.
Is the place for anything in the Drug Line.
WALL PAPER, PAINTS,
WINDOW SHADES.
STATIONERY,
PERFUMES,
FANCY GOODS, &c.
B. F. BUCHANAN,
—DRUGGIST,—
Over thirty year's experience.

FARMERS
Take Notice!
If you want good
Fertilizer
PLEASE GIVE
B. F. ZIMMER
A CALL.
He will try to please you. He has the finest line of Fertilizer for 1899 he has ever handled. Write for particulars to
CONSTANCE, KY.

Central Covington Stock Yards,
COVINGTON, KY.
Are located so as to offer special inducements to shippers South of the Ohio river in saving them extra expense and time. In addition to the local buyers there will be Eastern and foreign buyers on the market for all kinds of stock. When shipping East, don't fail to consign our care privilege selling which will be of benefit to you.
Central Covington Stock Yards Co.
Commission firms will give prompt attention to consignments.

FRANK HOSSMAN,
Hebron, Ky.,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
—Also handles all—
KINDS of ROOFING.
Which is furnished and put on at the Lowest Prices consistent with good work.
I am prepared for moving buildins.
Your Work is Solicited.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.
Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect Dec. 5th, 1898.

P. M.	A. M.		A. M.	P. M.
4.00	8.30	lv Cincinnati ar	10.05	6.00
4.15	7.04	" Ludlow lv	9.55	5.50
4.30	7.18	" Erlanger lv	9.36	5.27
5 18	8.25	Williamstown "	8.45	4.25
5.35	8.49	" Corinth "	8.25	4.03
6.17	10.28	" Georgetw'n "	7.50	3.19
6.30	10.50	ar Stam'g Gr'nd	7.28	1.55
7.10	11.20	" Frankfort "	7.00	1.00

JOS. R. NEWTON, G. P. A., Frankfort, Ky.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given Collections entrusted to him. mch22-y3.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 20,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN $50,000
SURPLUS, ... $ 5.000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
Artificial Dentures, Crown and Bridge Work to represent natural organs. Gas, Vitalized Air, Odontunder for extraction.
Will be in office at Union every Monday.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

Coal! Coal!
Good Raymond City Coal
In the Yard,
9 1-2 Cents a Bushel.
KANAWAH COAL
9 cents a bushel.
J. P. LINDSAY & CO.,
Erlanger, Ky.
J. O. HUEY, Manager.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 30, 1899. NO. 45.

A BURLINGTON jury would acquit Dreyfus on the first ballot.

GOV. BRADLEY is giving the Republican ticket neither aid nor comfort.

THE First Volunteer Infantry, stationed at Ft. Thomas, Campbell county, started for Manila, last Saturday morning.

REV. COLEMAN, of Louisville, is receiving hot shot from some of the ministers in the State, whom he has catechised politically.

ROBERT CLARK, founder of the large Fourth street book concern, in Cincinnati, died at his home, Glendale, Ohio, last Saturday, in his 71st year.

WHILE the Republicans are rejoicing over the trouble in the Democratic ranks, the kicking element in their own party is not growing weaker.

GOV. TAYLOV'S London speech was not as substantial a presentation of his party's position in regards to the issues of the day as he was expected to make.

BRYAN Democrats are not lead by such men as W. C. P. Breckinridge, Basil W. Duke, W. M. Beckner, W. H. McCoy, Will Owens, Simon Bolivar Buckner, and others of the gold standard idea. These are the ring-leaders in the Brown move.

REV. KERFOOT, Baptist, went to Shelbyville and gave Goebel a roast, and the next mail from that place carried a letter from a resident Baptist minister-lawyer to the Democratic Campaign Committee, offering to take the stump for the Democratic ticket.

IF that Louisville convention could not make a nomination that was binding, why was John Young Brown doing all in his power to secure a nomination by it? That convention was regularly organized, but as much can not be said for the Lexington convention.

IN a few days nearly all the schools in the county, will begin the fall and winter terms. The teachers and pupils have had several months vacation, and should begin the fall and winter's work with a vim calculated to accomplish something. The teachers are nearly all experienced instructors.

THE Colored Baptist Association of Kentucky, which met at Paris, last week, adopted resolutions denouncing the Separate Coach Law, and virtually pledged the members of the Association to vote for no candidate who does not favor its repeal. These resolutions are causing the Republicans some uneasiness.

THE editor of the Shelbyville Sentinel was too savage in his response to Rev. Kerfoot's attack on Mr. Goebel. The editor of the Sentinel is certainly aware that the Louisville Dispatch is the only paper in Kentucky that has the unquestioned right to abuse people, and the Sentinel ought not to have invaded its field; besides it is painful to a Democrat to see a Democratic paper display any of the attributes of the Dispatch.

THE Republican platform declares in favor of cheaper school books, but makes no suggestion as to how they are to be obtained, while, on the other hand, the Democratic platform indorses a law that was drafted with that end in view but was defeated in the legislature; it gives you something by which you can ascertain exactly what the Democratic party will do for the benefit of the poor class, along that line.

IT is claimed that there will be very large exports of wheat to meet the demands of Western Europe. If this be true there will be an increase in the price of that cereal.

WHEN Mr. Brown begins his speech by admitting that he would have accepted the nomination for Governor at the hands of the Louisville convention, and then proceeds to declare Goebel a fraudulent nominee he places himself in a position so ridiculous as to render him an object of pity.

IN his speech at Bowling Green, last Saturday, Gov. Brown admits that he was willing to accept the nomination at the hands of the Louisville convention. That is he was willing to accept what he claims was a fraudulent nomination. It seems that Mr. Brown is looking both ways at once in this matter.

HON. W. O. ROHDES, of Bowling Green, was willing to bolt the Louisville ticket that Democracy might be purified, but when John Young Brown is presented to him as a purificationist, he goes over to the Goebel camp without delay, and gives out a long interview stating his reasons for his action. He says a look at the leaders in the Lexington convention satisfied him as to their purpose.

REV. COLEMAN, of Louisville, pretends to think he is assisting in a move that is calculated to purify politics. Now, if Rev. Coleman, and all the ministers who are of his way of thinking in regard to this matter, will turn their attention to the moral reformation of one or two of the leaders of the anti-Goebel move in the Sixth Congressional District, they will find enough work along that line to require their entire time until long after the November election.

COMMENCING with next issue the RECORDER will be printed one day later in the week than heretofore. This change will be made that the neighborhood news may receive more attention than it has been possible to give it in the past. Correspondents will continue to mail their contributions as early in the week as heretofore, as all communications must reach this office not later than Tuesday at noon. Correspondents are requested to write as regularly as they can.

MR. DOERHOEFER, of Louisville, the Kentucky representative of the American Tobacco Trust, is a member of the State Executive Committee of the anti-Goebel Democrats. How does a crowd who believes in putting a member of one of the greatest trusts in the land in the lead in their organization, suit the Democrats of this county? Think about this. Only a few months since farmers were holding meetings in this State with a view to downing the trust that Mr. Doerhoefer represents in Kentucky, and what these same farmers will do next November for these politicicans that Mr. Doerhoefer is representidg in this campaigh, will be a plenty.

The sale of the Alexander herd of export cattle, which is always an event in stock circles in Kentucky, occurred last week. There were five hundred fine cattle in the herd this year and Mr. C. Alexander sold them to Louis Feltzer & Son, of Chicago, Western agents of Schwartzchild & Sulzberger, of New York, for a private price. The cattle will be shipped in November to London to be used for Christmas beef. This is the largest sale of export cattle made in Kentucky this year.—Paris News.

State News.

Owen county is experiencing a drought.

Harrodsburg girls have formed an anti-gossip society.

A Morehead woman gave birth to triplets, last week.

There are five cases of smallpox in one family in Robertson county.

At Hayden A. B. Napier was shot and killed by deputy sheriff A. B. Morgan.

E. Renick Graham, of Owensboro, died of overindulgence in alcohol and cigarettes.

The Shelby county fair, last week was the most successful in the history of the association.

A man was kicked in the temple by a horse at Brooksville fair, last week, and he died instantly.

Near Owensboro, last Friday, three people were killed by lightning while at work in the field.

James Hasson has sued a Maysville policeman for $1,000, for hitting him with his club and destroying his eye.

Dr. Hood, of Columbia, who has been faithful in attending smallpox patients at Columbia, has contracted the disease.

One of the features of the Bullitt county fair, last week, was a wedding that was solemnized in the Judges' stand.

An epidemic of diphtheria has broken out near Red House, Madison county, and the public schools have suspended.

The Rev. Dr. F. H. Kerfoot, of Louisville, has sued the Shelbyville Sentinel for $25,000 on account of a recent editorial concerning him.

Not less than 300 dogs, 50 hogs, 10 cows and 4 horses have been killed in Greenup county in the last few weeks on account of hydrophobia.

Miss Sarah Rice, of Leitchfield, discovered a small pimple on her chin and opened it. Inflammation set in and she died in a few days of acute cellulitis.

The revival at East Eagle closed last week. There were 194 additions to the church, of which 106 were baptised. It was a grand meeting and much good was accomplished. —Owen News.

J. S. Croucher, of Cartorville, Garrard county, fell into a threshing machine and his foot was cut to pieces. Medical aid was not easily secured, and he died from the shock and loss of blood.

Gov. Bradley has appointed Dr. J. B. Ely, a Frankfort Democrat, Superintendent of the State Institute for the education of feeble minded children. The salary is $1,500 a year, with board and washing for himself and family.

The rural free delivery mail service recently established in Fayette county is a pronounced success. Postmaster Elkin reports that during the first ten days of August a total of 2,244 pieces were delivered and collected on the four routes.

A band of whitecaps, numbering about 50 members, have taken the law into their hands in the Polin neighborhood, Washington county. They first went to the homes of J. L. Chesser and Joe Scott and gave them warning that to remain in the vicinity later than the 15th of next month would be attended with danger to themselve.

A fatal disease, resembling bloody murrain, has broken out among young cattle in Madison county. The victims are mostly calves, and about 30 have died in the last few weeks around Speedwell. The symptoms are swelling under the throat, and then giving way in the back and loins. They rarely live twelve hours after being stricken with disease.

Junius B. Clay, of Paris, has raised from one male and three female pheasants nearly one hundred of the birds. He is raising them to stock his big farms in Nicholas and Fleming counties. The grown males weigh two and one half pounds and the females two pounds, and for stocking parks, etc., they are quoted at $36 per dozen. As they are larger, hardier and more palatable than quails, they are likely to be plentiful in that section.—Paris Kentuckian-Citizens.

In Madison county, Maggie Hudson, 16, met death accidently at the hands of her elder brother, William. The children had been romping, when William decided to go hunting and went upstairs for his rifle, coming downstairs the weapon in some manner was discharged, the ball taking effect in the neck of his sister, Maggie, who had followed him. She died in twenty minutes. The boy was arrested, but subsequently released on evidence adduced at the Cornorer's inquest.

Wm. Henderson, father of Jefferson Davis Henderson, a Middleborough school teacher, died at his home, at the head of Clear creek, Bell county, at the extreme age of 94 years. Mr. Henderson had passed a remarkable life. From a youth he had drank, chewed, and smoked, for forty years of his life drinking half a gallon of whisky a day. He was born in the same house in which he died, and was never farther than 18 miles from his home in his life. He never saw a train in his life, although living within three miles of the L. & N. railroad.

Mr. A. T. Murphy, who lives two and a half miles from the city on the Illinois Central railroad, while plowing a few days ago unearthed a relic of the war. It was a cannon ball weighing three and a half lbs. It is evidently a relic of the war of 1861-65, and was doubtless shot from the fort here during the battle with Forrest's men on March 25, 1864. The land on which the war relic was found has been under cultivation for many years. It is nearly four miles from the fort. A number of shells and grapeshot have been found at various places in the city since the war, but this is the only one, so far as memory serves, found so far from the scene of conflict.—Paducah Visitor.

Lexington's weather prophet, Prof. Asa Martin, furnishes the Leader with his forecast for the incoming winter. He says: "As Christmas comes this year on Monday, we can look for perilous times such as war, famines, earthquakes, pestilence and terrific storms on sea and land, and great distress among nations. There will be during the winter twenty-five snows. The first one will November 11, 1900. There will be two ice spells, one in December, the other in January. Ice will be three and one half inches and five inches thick. There will be ten days of zero weather. The coldest day will be ten below zero. The people can lay in coal and be ready as I warn you all in time."

Last Monday evening, while Mr. John Merritt's little boy Roy and Mr. James Knight's little boy Marshall, both aged three years, were playing in Mrs. Greenwell's yard, they lifted a trapdoor which covers a drive well, three feet square and fifteen feet deep, and which was filled with water to within twelve to fourteen inches of the top. With a tin cup Marshall was trying to dip water, when he tumbled in headforemost. As he rose to the surface of the water Roy laid down on the platform and reached with his hand for the other boy, grasped his hand and pulled him up until he could reach the platform, when, with the strength of both, the boy was brought to the top. Several lady callers were at Mrs. Merritt's when Roy ran in to tell his mother that Marshall had fallen into the well. They all ran in a fright to find the "ducked" boy standing, wringing wet and too scared to move and hardly able to talk. It was a very narrow escape from death, and showed the remarkable presence of mind of Roy, a child three years of age.—Uniontown Telegram.

Dr. H. C. Duvall, of Milwood, Grayson county, was in town the other day attending the meeting of the Medical Society. While here he told the following remarkable incident of the life of the smallpox germ. He said that in 1872, after he had been practicing medicine about 5 years he was called to see the child of a man named Fraise living near Leitchfield. He saw that the child was very sick, but was unable to tell what was the matter with it. He called in Dr. Heston, and both of them then called in Dr. Cleaver. After a long consultation they decided that the child had smallpox. They told the parents what they thought was the matter. None of the family had been off the place for some time, and none of them had been exposed in any way to smallpox. Finally the mother of the child said that her father had died with the smallpox more than fifty years ago, and that she had the week before gotten a sponge out of a trunk that had been used in her father's illness and had bathed the child's eyes with it. Dr. Duvall said he was satisfied that in that way the child had contracted the smallpox. The germ had lain dormant for fifty years in that sponge, but when it was put in warm water and applied to the child's eyes it became inoculated with the dread disease. The child and both its parents died with the disease.—Elizabethtown News.

Binder Twine.

For some years the Agricultural Department has been trying to find an American substitute for the sisal hemp, from which "binder twine" is made.

This strong cord, with which the harvesting-machines tie up the bundles of wheat, is indispensable to the Western farmers. Its manufacture has reached such proportions that "binder twine" plays an important part in each new tariff schedule, and has absorbed the attention of politicians as well as of the farmers.

The United States has depended upon foreign countries for the new material, and a powerful trust controls its manufacture. The facts give peculiar significance to the successful outcome of the experiments of the Agricultural Department.

The material which has now proved its commercial importance is the strong wire-grass of the slough lands of Wisconsin, Minnesota and other Western States. The plant, known to botanists as carex stricta, is very abundant, but has always been considered valueless.

The process of manufacture consists of washing the grass, combing to separate the fibres, and spinning in a specially devised machine which twists a fine protecting yarn in with the fibres, thereby insuring the evenness necessary to use in harvesting machines. The waste is made into bottle covers, and a cheap and very durable floor matting is also woven from the grass. The new twine will sell for one-third less than that now on the market, and is said to do its work equally well.

Achievements like this, which turn useless material into valuable commodities and increase the worker's efficiency by lessening his expenses, are a credit to any country and no nation has more of them than the United States.

With the exception of flour, which sells to-day at about $1 less than a year ago, the cost of living generally has increased in the last 12 months. The price of metal and textile materials has advanced nearly 100 per cent, and such staples as print cloths are higher by 30 or 40 per cent than this time last year. There has been a general increase in the price of dyestuffs and starch. The pine boards from which the boxes for packing the goods are made are about 15 per cent more expensive than formerly; the nails and woven wire bands used in fastening the packages are from 15 to 10 per cent dearer, and labor is fully 10 per cent higher than two years ago. There have been advances in all classes of hardware, while house furnishing goods cost 10 to 15 per cent more. Carpets are about 20 per cent higher, while stoves and kitchen utensils, owing to advance in iron and other metals, are from 35 to 50 per cent above the prices quoted 12 months ago.

Last year table salt was 30 and 90 cents a barrel; now it is $1 50. This high rate is excessive, and the result of trade combinations. There has been a little rise in the prices for refined sugar, while some important changes have occurred in the prices for spices which housekeepers most frequently use. Peppers are from one and one half to two cents a pound higher, while other spices cost about four cents a lb., more.

These are only some of the increases on supplies bought daily by the house-keeper. but the superintendent of a large department store said yesterday that every branch of the establishment was selling goods at prices considerably above those of a year ago. The change, however he said, had been so gradual and had been so marked by retailers that the average housewife does not realize that she is paying more for any given article of dress or food.—New York Tribune.

THE Rising Sun people are living in hope of the electric railway reaching their town in the near future.

THE low water in the river has put a stop to the steamboats war that has been so spirited between Louisville and Cincinnati for several weeks.

CROP AND STOCK.

W. B. Hatchet, of Mercer county, sold 1,000 stock ewes at $2 25 per head.

A Bath county farmer claims to have pulled a large wagon load of onions from a bed 6 by 30 feet in size.

Will Broadwell, of Cynthiana, was at Harrodsburg buying mule colts which were selling at from $10 to $32.

There's nothing small about the corn crop out in Kansas. It is estimated that this year's yield in that State will amount to 362,000,000 bushels, 100,000,000 bushels greater than the previous banner year 1889.

There is the finest crop of corn and tobacco in Breckinridge county we ever saw. The corn is simply out of sight and while the tobacco is not as large in acreage as it was last year it will make up in quality. —Breckinridge News.

M. J. Farris sold to Simon Weid agent, 235 export cattle for October and November delivery. at 5 cents per pound. These cattle are expected to weigh about 1,450 pounds at shipment. Mr. Farris has 200 more good ones to be ready later.—Danville Advocate.

Roger R. Early has leased for 3 years to Wigglesworth Bros., his "Graham farm" of 367 acres, eight miles from Lexington on the Russell's Cave pike, at $6,000 per year: and to Frank Thompson his "Woodward farm," 400 acres, in Fayette, at $4,000 per year, Mr. Early retaining the dwelling and contiguous buildings on this farm. This arrangement gives Mr. Early a fine home and $10,000 a year for the next three years.

Mr. Buck Park, livestock dealer of Hasdin county, purchased last week for the United States Government two car loads of Kentucky horses. One car load was bought in Hardin county averaging weight from 900 to 1,000 pounds, from 4 to 6 years of age, and cost from $80 to $100. They were shipped by rail to New York, and from that city the horses will be shipped at once to Gen. Otis, in Manila, to be used as cavalry horses in the command under Gen. Joe Wheeler.

Chicago has nearly 30 per cent. of all the eggs in storage in the United States, according to the statements of the managers of the various cold-storage plants in this city. The following are the quantities of eggs now in the coolers: Western Refrigerator Company, State and Michigan streets, 290,000 cases; Produce Refrigerator Company, West Lake street, 150,000 cases; Monarch Refrigerator Co., Michigan street, 125,000 cases; Union Cold Storage and Warehouse Co., State street, 100,000 cases; John Drueker, Canal street, 20,000 cases; A. H. Barber & Co. and P. H. Bolton & Co., South Water street, 15,000 cases. This total of 700,000 cases, or 168,000,000 eggs is 280,000 cases more than were in cold storage last year. The total cost was $2,677,5000. Storage and insurance will increase the price to an average of 14 cents a dozen, the cents a dozen more than last year's Chicago telegram to the New York Times.

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier.]

Three of the oldest men of Grant county have paid the debt of nature during the past week and have gone to their reward: Judge Hezekiah Childers, George W. Beasley and Asa Brown.

The Williamstown telephone system will be in operation before another issue of the Courier reaches its readers. There will then remain just two more things the people of Williamstown need to make this one of the best towns in the State of Kentucky and they are water works and electric lights.

Tobacco cutting has begun in Grant county and unless it should rain within a few days cutting will be general within the next week. The intensely dry and hot weather is ripening the crop very fast. It will be an inferior crop at best much of it being small and of poor quality. Corn cutting has also begun and will continue until the crop in the shock even should it rain. Grant county has the poorest corn crop it has raised in many years.

IF you want to see everybody and his cousins, go to the fair this week.

THE Times is the name of a new candidate for [illegible] favor in Co[illegible]

...ESS TRIALS.

...Shows How They Re... the Spirit.

...e Trade—The Merchant's ...School of Industry, Pa., ...ience, Integrity and Up... right Living.

(Copyright, 1899, by Louis Klopsch.)

In this discourse Dr. Talmage argues that religion may be taken into all the affairs and instead of being a hindrance, as many think, is a requirement. The text is Romans 12: 11, "Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord."

Industry, decisiveness and Christian principle—all commended in that short text. What, is it possible that they can be conjoined? Oh, yes. There is no war between religion and business, between ledgers and Bibles, between counters and counting houses. On the contrary, religion accelerates business, sharpens men's wits, sweetens acerbity of disposition, fills the blood of phlegmatics and throws more velocity into the wheels of hard work. It gives the balancing to the judgment, more breadth to the will, more muscles to industry and throws into enthusiasm a consecrated fire. You cannot in the circle of the world show me a man whose honest business has been ruined by religion.

The industrial classes are divided into two groups—producers and manufacturers. Producers, such as farmers and miners. Manufacturers, such as those who turn corn into food and wool and flax into apparel. Traders, as make profit out of the transfer or exchange of all that which is produced and manufactured. A business man may belong to any one or all of these classes, and not one is independent of any other.

When the prince imperial of France died on the Zulu battlefield because the fastening of the stirrup to the saddle girth gave as he clung to it, his comrades escaping, but he falling under the spears of the savages, a great many people blamed the empress for allowing her son to go forth into that battle, and others blamed the English government for accepting the service, and others blamed the Zulus for their barbarism. The one most to blame was the harness maker who fashioned the strap of the stirrup out of shoddy and imperfect material, as it was found to have been afterward. If the strap had held, the prince imperial would probably have been alive to-day. But the strap broke. No prince independent of a harness maker! High, low, learned, ignorant, you in one occupation, and another, all bound together.

Now that there must be one continuous line of sympathy with each other's success. But whatever your vocation, you have a multiplicity of engagements into your life there come losses and annoyances and perturbations as well as percentages and dividends, if you are pursued from Monday morning to Saturday night, and from January to January by inexorable obligation every day, then you are a business woman, and the subject is appropriate to your case.

You are under the impression that the wear and tug of business life are a prison, into which a man is thrust, or it is an unequal strife, where unless a man goes forth to contend. I show you this morning that business was intended of God for grand and glorious education and discipline, and I shall be helped to say what I have to say I shall rub some of the dust of care out of your brow and smooth some of the burdens from your soul. I am not talking of an abstraction through never having been in active life. I know all about business. In my first parish at Belleville, ten miles from New York, a large portion of my audience was made up of New York merchants. Then in Syracuse, a place of immense commercial activity, and then I went to Philadelphia and lived long among the merchants of that city, than whom no better men on earth, and then I stood at my Brooklyn pulpit Sabbath by Sabbath, preaching to the majority of whom were business men and business women. It is the abstraction of which I speak, and only with which I am well acquainted.

In the first place, I remark that business life was intended as a school of piety. God gives us a certain amount of raw material out of which we are to grow our character. Our faculties to be reset, rounded and sharpened. Our young folks having graduated from school or college need a further education, that which the rasping and filing of every-day life alone can give. Energy is wrought out only by friction. After a man has been in active business activity 10, 20, 30 years, his character is not to be measured by weights and rules or ladders. There is no standard scale, and there is no line that we can fathom, and there is no chaff that we cannot thrash.

My brother, why did God put you to the school of energy? Was it that you might be a yardstick merchant, or cloth, or a steelyard tobacconist? Was it merely that you might be better qualified to chaffer and bargain? God placed you in that sphere of energy that you might be developed in Christian work. If the unused talents in the Christian Church to-day were brought out and harnessed, I believe the world would be converted to God. There are so many people turning no mill [illegible] to no factory [illegible] stand out [illegible] cellent of every harvest. He demands the best men of every generation. A cause in which Newton and Locke and Mansfield toiled you and I can afford to join in. Oh, for fewer idlers in the cause of Christ and for more Christian workers, men who shall take the same energy that from Monday morning to Saturday night they put forth for the achievement of a livelihood or the gathering of a fortune, and on Sabbath days put it forth to the advantage of Christ's kingdom and the bringing of men to the Lord.

Dr. Duff visited a man who had inherited a great fortune. The man said to him: "I had to be very busy for many years of my life getting my livelihood. After awhile this fortune came to me, and there has been no necessity that I toil since. There came a time when I said to myself 'Shall I now retire from business or shall I go on and serve the Lord in my worldly occupation?'" He said: "I resolved on the latter, and I have been more industrious in commercial circles than I ever was before, and since that hour I have never kept a farthing for myself. I have thought it to be a great shame if I couldn't toil as hard for the Lord as I had toiled for myself, and all the products of my factories and my commercial establishments, to the last farthing, have gone for the building of Christian institutions and supporting the church of God." Would that the same energy put forth for the world could be put forth for God. Would that a thousand men in these great cities who have achieved a fortune could see it their duty now to do all business for Christ and the alleviation of the world's suffering!

Again, I remark that business life is a school of patience. In your every-day life how many things to annoy and to disquiet! Bargains will rub. Commercial men will sometimes fail to meet their engagements. Cashbooks and money drawer will sometimes quarrel. Goods ordered for a special emergency will come too late or be damaged in the transportation. People intending no harm will go shopping without any intention of purchase, overturning great stocks of goods and insisting that you break the dozen. More bad debts on the ledger. More counterfeit bills in the drawer. More debts to pay for other people. More meannesses on the part of partners in business. Annoyance after annoyance, vexation after vexation, and loss after loss.

All that process will either break you down or brighten you up. It is a school of patience. You have known men under the process to become petulant, and choleric, and angry, and pugnacious, and cross, and sour, and queer, and they lost their customers, and their name became a detestation. Other men have been brightened up under the process. They were toughened by the exposure. They were like rocks, all the more valuable for being blasted. At first they had to choke down their wrath, at first they had to bite their lip, at first they thought of some stinging retort they would like to make, but they conquered their impatience. They have kind words now for sarcastic flings. They have gentle behavior now for unmannerly customers. They are patient now with unfortunate debtors. They have Christian reflections now for sudden reverses. Where did they get that patience? By hearing a minister preach concerning it on Sabbath? Oh, no. They got it just where you will get it—if you ever get it at all—selling hats, discounting notes, turning banisters, plowing corn, tinning roofs, pleading causes. Oh, that amid the turmoil and anxiety and exasperation of everyday life you might hear the voice of God saying: "In patience possess your soul. Let patience have her perfect work."

A remark again that business life is a school of useful knowledge. Merchants do not read many books and do not study lexicons. They do not dive into profounds of learning, and yet nearly all through their occupations come to understand questions of finance, and politics, and geography, and jurisprudence, and ethics. Business is a severe schoolmistress. If pupils will not learn, she strikes them over the head and the heart with severe losses. You put $5,000 into an enterprise. It is all gone. You say: "That is a dead loss." Oh, no. You are paying the schooling. That was only tuition, very large tuition—I told you it was a severe schoolmistress—but it was worth it. You learned things under that process you would not have learned in any other way.

Traders in grain come to know something about foreign harvests; traders in fruit come to know something about the prospects of tropical production; manufacturers of American goods come to understand the tariff on imported articles; publishers of books must come to understand the new law of copyright; owners of ships must come to know winds and shoals and navigation, and every bale of cotton and every raisin cask and every tea box and every cluster of bananas is so much literature for a business man. Now, my brother, what are you going to do with the intelligence? Do you suppose God put you in this school of information merely that you might be sharper in a trade, that you might be more successful as a worldling? Oh, no. It was that you might take that useful information and use it for Jesus Christ.

Can it be that you have been dealing with foreign lands and never had the missionary spirit, wishing the salvation of foreign people? Can it be that you have become acquainted with all the outrages inflicted in business life and that you have never tried to bring to bear that Gospel which is to extirpate all evil and correct all wrongs and illuminate all and save men for this world and the world darkness and lift up all wretchedness to come? Can it be that understanding all the intricacies of business you know nothing about those things which will last after all bills of exchange and consignments and invoices and rent rolls shall have crumbled up and been consumed in the fires of the last great day? Can it be that a man will be wise for time and a fool for eternity?

I remark also that business life is a school for integrity. No man knows what he will do until he is tempted. There are thousands of men who have kept their integrity merely because they never have been tested. A man was elected treasurer of the state of Maine some years ago. He was distinguished for his honesty, usefulness and uprightness, but before one year had passed he had taken of the public funds for his own private use and was hurled out of office in disgrace. Distinguished for virtue before. Distinguished for crimeafter. You can call over the names of men just like that, in whose honesty you had complete confidence, but placed in certain crises of temptation they went overboard.

Never so many temptations to scoundrelism as now. Not a law on the statute book but has some back door through which a miscreant can escape. Ah, how many deceptions in the fabric of the goods! So much plundering in commercial life that if a man talk about living a life of complete commercial integrity there are those who ascribe it to greenness and lack of tact.

How many men do you suppose there are in commercial life who could say truthfully: "In all the sales I have ever made I have never overstated the value of goods; in all the sales I have ever made I have never covered up an imperfection in the fabric; in all the thousands of dollars I have ever made I have not taken one dishonest farthing?" There are men, however, who can say it, hundreds who can say it, thousands who can say it. They are more honest than when they sold their first tierce of rice, or their first firkin of butter, because their honesty and integrity have been tested, tried and come out triumphant. But they remember a time when they could have robbed a partner, or have absconded with the funds of a bank, or made a false assignment, or borrowed illimitably without any efforts at payment, or got a man into a sharp corner and fleeced him. But they never took one step on that pathway of hell fire. They can say their prayers without hearing the chink of dishonest dollars. They can read their Bible without thinking of the time when with a lie on their soul in the custom house they kissed the Book. They can think of death and the judgment that comes after it without any blushing—that day when all charlatans and cheats, and jockeys and frauds shall be doubly damned. It does not make their knees knock together, and it does not make their teeth chatter to read "as the partridge sitteth on eggs and hatcheth them not, so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at his end shall be a fool."

What a school of integrity business life is! If you ever have been tempted to let your integrity cringe before present advantage, if you have ever quickened up in some embarrassment and said: "Now, I will step a little aside from the right path and no one will know it, and I will come all right again. It is only once." That only once has ruined tens of thousands of men for this life and blasted their souls for eternity.

A man arose in Fulton street prayer meeting and said: "I wish publicly to acknowledge the goodness of God. I was in business a trouble. I had money to pay, and I had no means to pay it, and I was in utter despair of all human help, and I laid this matter before the Lord, and this morning I went down among some old business friends I had not seen in many years just to make a call, and one said to me: 'Why, I am so glad to see you! Walk in. We have some money on our books due you a good while, but we didn't know where you were, and therefore not having your address, we could not send it. We are very glad you have come.'" And the man standing in Fulton street prayer meeting said: "The amount they paid me was six times what I owed." You say it only happened so? You are unbelieving. God answered that man's prayer.

Oh, you want business grace. Commercial ethics, business honor, laws of trade, are all very good in their place, but there are times when you want something more than this world will give you. You want God. For lack of Him some that you have known have consented to forge, and to maltreat their friends, and to curse their enemies, and their names have been bulletined among scoundrels, and they have been ground to powder, while other men you have known have gone through the very same stress of circumstances triumphantly. There are men here to-day who fought the battle and gained the victory. People come out of that man's store, and they say: "Well, if there ever was a Christian trader, that is one." Integrity kept the books and waited on the customers. Light from the eternal world flashed through the show windows. Love to God and love to man presided in that storehouse. Some day people going through the street notice that the shutters of the window are not down. The bar of that store door has not been removed. People say: "What is the matter?" You go up a little closer, and you see written on the card of that window: "Closed on account of the death of one of the firm." That day all through the circles of business there is talk about how a good man has gone. Boards of trade pass resolutions of sympathy, and churches of Christ pray: "Help, Lord, for the godly man ceaseth." He has made his last bargain, he has suffered his last loss, he has ached with the last fatigue. His children will get the result of his industry, or, if through misfortune there be no dollars left, they will have an estate of prayer and Christian example which will be everlasting. Heavenly rewards for earthly discipline. There "the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest."

MAN OF THE MACHINES.

McKinley Is Wanted by the Professional Politicians and Pap Suckers.

We know whom the politicians want. They want McKinley. He has given them their heart's desire to its full measure. In every state their machine is his. They have been given the offices and in return they will give him delegations at the national convention. Pretty much everything the administration could lay its hands on has been turned into provender for the bosses and put into their crib for them to munch at their leisure.

The first scramble was for Alaska. Its slender yield of patronage was snapped up in the twinkling of an eye, and the result is a national scandal.

Then the wolves howled for more. The Spanish war was their opportunity. Did they overlook it? Not they. They redoubled their cries. And they were heard. The army was turned over to them. Algers, Eagans, Heckers, Duffields, Blaines, Brices, Quays, Mitchells, Platts had their sway, and had it as long as the offices held out.

Next there was the census. Politicians demanded these places, and to ask was to receive. No sooner said than done. The necessary qualification, Merriam candidly said, was "pull."

So there is no doubt whom the politicians want. They want McKinley. Theirs he is now, theirs he will be next time, if elected. For him delegates are already selected in many states. For him the "federal brigade" everywhere is girding on its armor, preparing to raise assessments and pack conventions as in the good old days of "pernicious activity."

But how about the people? They ought to be stronger to-day than they were four years ago. Then they forced McKinley on unwilling bosses, because they believed in him. His identification with high tariff had persuaded them he was a fighter. They loved him for the free trade enemies he had made. Powerful enough then to prevail over the bosses who opposed him, are they powerless now to prevail over the bosses who have combined with him? Then they loved him for a fighter, now they distrust him for a shifty opportunist. If the head of the American people has not been sobered by the world-wide responsibilities into which the Spanish war has thrust us, if its heart has not been ennobled at the sight of its best blood freely and heroically shed on foreign soil, then it is to be despaired of.

The indirection of McKinley's treatment of Alger, the iniquitous consequences of his equivocal course in making war in the Philippines, have undeceived many who have been believers in the president. They show his weakness of conviction, his desire to placate populism and "anti-imperialism," his want of conception of statesmanship except in the terms of political intrigues.

No one need delude himself with the false hope that these incontestable truths can be kept from general knowledge or successfully denied before the people. They can be resisted, and, we believe, successfully resisted, if Bryan is nominated against him. But there is time now to escape the necessity of an unenviable and difficult position.

Will the people take heart, or will they remain supine under the administration's alliance with the apolisman? Of one thing they may be assured—they need not be deterred through fear of the compact's irrefragability. Rats do not desert the sinking ship with half the celerity the bosses will show in desertion of their whilom ally once they are convinced of his unpopularity.

Will a senator or a collector forsake the man who has given him his every demand, once he is persuaded he can ally himself with a stronger candidate? Ha! Will a duck swim? Will a cat eat cream?—Portland Oregonian (Rep.).

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS.

——A contemporary wants to "unload Otis and end the war." Otis isn't the only feature of the Philippine war business that has a didn't-know-it-was-loaded aspect.—Albany Argus.

——Mr. Bryan's latest definition of what we got from Spain in the Philippines for $20,000,000 is about the best yet. We got "an option on the fight" which she had waged for 300 years.—N. Y. World.

——Many republican papers are predicting good prices for wheat as the result of famine abroad. Without intending it they are stabbing protection and depriving McKinley of credit.—St. Louis Republic.

——Already Root is mentioned as McKinley's running mate next year. With Hanna running the head by proxy and the trusts running the tail by their attorney, things ought to come the monopolies' way.—Kansas City Times.

——The campaign of next year will turn not upon the currency question, but upon the unfaithful, unpatriotic and dishonest administration of William McKinley. No amount of lying about the attitude of Mr. Bryan will avail to change the situation.—Chicago Chronicle.

——Not content with his station as the lightning calculator of the administration, Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, has essayed a new role in the character of glorifier for Marcus Alonzo Hanna. Mr. Hanna's character and record are no doubt of interest to the American people, but his friends will not be doing him any great service in inviting their public investigation. — Washington Times.

——It is reported that Kansas and Nebraska will have tremendous corn crops, and republican journals are getting ready to exploit the yield as one of the beneficent results of electing William McKinley president of the United States. It will be remembered, though, that in the hardest times western farmers were burning corn and feeding wheat to the hogs.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

DECIDEDLY UNAMERICAN.

The President's Attitude on the Philippine Question Is Against All Fairness.

According to a correspondent for Harper's Weekly, who recently interviewed the president at Lake Champlain, Mr. McKinley favors the permanent holding of the Philippines as a means toward securing the trade of China for this country.

It is the president's idea to retain the islands as a colonial possession, under a form of government to be directed from Washington. He would garrison the seacoast of the larger islands with American troops, taking care that the colonial service of no one organization exceeded 12 months, owing to the deadly effect of the tropical climate. "Such a dream as this," it is asserted, "appeals very strongly to the republican mind."

It is doubtful, however, whether the appeal is equally strong to the minds of Americans more loyal to American principles. The extension of American trade is earnestly to be desired, and is favored by all Americans concerned in the prosperity of their country. But there is a fixed conviction in the minds of many persons that an extension of American trade at the expense of American principles and to the menace of American institutions would be a deplorable thing.

England, Germany and other great land-grabbing powers never fail to preface the conquest of new territory with the argument that such conquest is demanded by a due consideration for the extension of trade. Under the magnetism of the cry that "Trade follows the flag" they justify the planting of the flag wherever a people is found too weak to resist aggression. So far in the history of this government the American flag has not been used as a cloak for such practices, successive American administrations having remained faithful to the principles upon which this government was founded.

It seems now, under President McKinley's leadership, that the United States government has arrived at the point where a decision must be made between remaining a consistent republic, free in itself and refusing to imperil the freedom of other peoples, or becoming an empire in effect, reaching out for the conquest of any unprotected territory offering sufficient booty to justify conquest. The decision must be made by the people of the United States when the time comes to vote on the administration's policy of imperialism as inaugurated in the Philippines. It should be safe to say that the American people will unqualifiedly condemn the president's un-American policy.—St. Louis Republic.

ORGANIZATION OF PARTIES.

It Is Not Everything But It Is Essential to the Achievement of Success.

It is alleged by high authority that it is a wise precaution for a nation in times of peace to prepare for war. In the same proportion it is eminently wise for political parties to take advantage of a lapse in activity to prepare for a prospective campaign.

Confidence in the justness of the democratic cause will aid much in bringing success, but this confidence must be supplemented with perfect organization.

In this connection the attention of the democrats of the nation is called to the wise words spoken by William J. Bryan in his Des Moines speech.

Among other words of wisdom, the great champion of the people spoke the following:

"Organization is by no means everything to a party. But still a party cannot do much without organization. Organization requires sacrifices. In time of war there are plenty of men who are willing to leave their homes, say goodby to wife and mother and children, and go to the front to fight the battles of their country. The sacrifices to be made for principle's sake in times of peace are just as important.

"The trouble is we have been lacking in campaign funds. In the case of the democratic party, these funds must come from the masses of the party. When the republicans want to raise money they go to the bankers, the heads of corporations, the trust managers, and they furnish the supply. And when the ticket is elected, the bankers dictate the policy of the party. It is just as much the duty of the people to furnish campaign funds as to vote."

There is always more or less of disagreement among the leaders in any party. To harmonize these differences is one of the most important points in preparing for a successful campaign.

It is noted with much satisfaction that there is a marked tendency toward harmony now made manifest among the democrats.

Evidences are accumulating that common ground is being sought and that before the struggle of 1900 opens the democratic party will be able to line up in solid phalanx, ready for the combat.—Chicago Democrat.

——Ten more regiments of soldiers are to be enlisted for service in subjugating an inoffensive people 10,000 miles away who want to govern themselves. This additional levy of troops will bring the army in numbers to about 100,000 men. The taxpayers will soon begin to groan more audibly at the cost of imperialism. But the "yellow-bellies" must be subjugated if it cost every man and every dollar in the country!—Illinois State Register.

——We should not only give the Filipino independence, but also protection. We should protect him from his enemies. We should establish a government and then tell him it is his, and then we should tell the rest of the world: "Hands off!" That would be a declaration of American principles.—William J. Bryan.

BRYAN ENTERS A DENIAL.

Asserts That He Never Agreed to Put the Silver Issue in the Rear.

At a meeting of Nebraska democrats at Omaha on Friday, August 18, William J. Bryan made the following declaration:

"My attention has been called to the report sent out from Des Moines to the effect that I was willing to subordinate the silver question to other questions, and I have been asked whether I was correctly reported.

"I never said at Des Moines or anywhere else that the money question should be sent to the rear. I have insisted at all times and in all places that the money question will be before the country until bimetallism is restored. I have repeated over and over again that this nation must act alone, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation, and that sixteen to one is the only ratio at which the mints can be opened. There is no possible excuse for the constant effort of a section of the press to misrepresent the views of free silver men.

"I have never for one moment thought a compromise desirable or possible. In 1896 7,000,000 persons voted for candidates pledged to international bimetallism and 6,500,000 voted for candidates pledged to independent bimetallism. Every vote for bimetallism, whether international or independent, is a protest against the single gold standard. We have the gold standard to-day, not because the people want it, but because a handful of English financiers defeated President McKinley's effort to secure foreign aid in the restoration of bimetallism.

"The republicans are now preparing to make all contracts payable in gold. This will increase the quantity of legal tender money and make the scramble for gold more intense. The republicans also contemplate retiring the greenbacks in the interest of national bank notes. Can the money question be forgotten while the money changers are (to quote the language used by Mr. McKinley in 1891) trying 'to make money scarcer and therefore dearer—money is the master and all things else the servant?' The gold men know that our abandonment of the ratio of sixteen to one would be equivalent to an abandonment of the money question and they know that an abandonment of the money question would lead to the surrender of all that the party gained by the Chicago convention. The republicans fear the money question, and, therefore, the republican papers are ready to praise the wisdom and magnify the promises of any democrat who will give out an interview against sixteen to one."

A PLANK READY-MADE.

One That Is Already Sawed and Trimmed for the Republican Platform.

The republican record on trusts is already made up. The plank has been sawed, planed, mortised and fitted for their platform. The plan of their managers to anticipate the democratic convention in "denouncing trusts" is rendered futile by these facts:

1. It is a republican tariff (averaging 52 per cent.) which has promoted and now protects the most pervasive and powerful organization of trusts that this or any other country has ever known.

2. It is a republican attorney-general who wrote on March 20, in reply to an appeal from a citizen of Philadelphia to enforce the federal anti-trust laws, that "If amenable to any law, the trusts are amenable to the laws of their respective states," and added: "I would be superofficious to attempt a crusade against affairs with which I have no business."

3. It is under a republican administration that industrial trusts have so enormously increased that the Financial Chronicle estimates the output of their "securities" for this year alone at $6,000,000,000. They cover pretty nearly the whole field of industrial activity, and have raised prices, closed mills and manufactories, "regulated production" and restrained trade at will without attempt at interference by the federal department of justice.

If this is not a record to which the republican convention will be disposed to "point with pride" as indicating the attitude of its party toward trusts, it is a record which can neither be hidden nor impeached. It is made up of facts which speak louder than words as to the influences and forces which control the republican party. To "denounce trusts" in view of this record would simply be to add impudence to insincerity.—N. Y. World.

An Inhuman War.

The truth is that the war in the Philippines is one for conquest, for a clear title to the islands for which the country paid so goodly a price to Spain. The war is conducted for the purpose of perfecting that title; it is a war for acquisition, for the expansion of our territory, the increase of our commerce, for strategical advantages in the far east. That which the country has paid duly for with money the country contends, with force of arms, that it shall have. If the government has not that cause for the war it has none. Certainly it cannot be truly said that the war is one for liberty and humanity, as it is in restraint of the liberty of the Filipinos to govern themselves; it is against humanity, as it kills, devastates and desolates the homes and lands of those who are contending for "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," and to secure for themselves and their posterity the rights of such a government as derives its "just powers from the consent of the governed."—Philadelphia Ledger (Rep.).

——For every act and deed of Alger during his official career, up to his affiliation with Pingree, the McKinley-Hanna administration is morally and politically responsible, whether these acts be good, bad or indifferent. It was an infamy that he should ever have come into any president's cabinet. His remaining as long as he did was a still greater infamy. Neither the one nor the other can be lessened or avoided at this time.—St. Paul Globe.

——We lost the last campaign because we lacked the foreign vote. They didn't understand the silver issue. But they well understand what a standing army means. They know what expansion and imperialism mean, and will vote against them. They will understand these things better than the native Americans themselves, and on such issues we can [illegible]—W. J. Bryan.

STICK TO BRYAN.

Nebraska Democrats Stand by the Silver Leader.

Democratic Sentiments Uttered by Temporary Chairman W. H. Tompson Before the State Convention at Omaha.

In his speech before the democratic state convention at Omaha on Tuesday, August 22, Temporary Chairman W. H. Tompson said:

"In the coming battle of 1900 we will reaffirm the platform of 1896 and renominate the same leader of democracy. We will be true to the pledge of our fathers. We will, as loyal sons reared in reverence their teachings, swear anew eternal allegiance and fidelity to the Declaration of Independence, worship its every line and maintain its every precept, sacred as the memories of our heroes dead and loyal as the patriots living. To tear therefrom one of its sacred principles is to invite the beginning of an endless ruin and decay.

"Party, party, what sins have been committed for the perpetuity thereof in the years gone by, but it was left to the nineteenth century, republican, to announce from the rostrum and through the press that this nation has outgrown the principles enunciated in the sacred declaration. Yet the distance is only from a martyred Lincoln to the wobbling policy of the present administration. 'Who will pull down the flag?' No man or nation. But every patriot, every believer in the Declaration of Independence should join in lifting it up into the sunlight of its own beauty, and let every star and every stripe glitter with truth resplendent. Peace upon earth and good will unto men. If to be a son of America is to be nobler than to have been a son of Rome, then America's sons must be kept out of the Roman business. If by greed and conquest Rome fell, then we should heed that lesson.

"We should treat the Filipino with the frankness that begometh a great nation, and with the charity inspired by a victorious army, as if sitting in the president's mansion, and not as a member of a board of trade. Do you say I am wrong? Then let the returning heroes answer. I appeal to the lips of the living and the writings of the dead, who knew and know. If 'no man is good enough to govern another without his consent,' by and with what authority is our president acting? If the reason for not announcing a policy is because congress is not in session, why does not the president make more calls for congress, as provided in the constitution, and less calls for arms and soldiers, not strictly in accordance with the constitution? Are we to decry a Russian czar and welcome an American usurper? Or is he too afraid of 'having a congress on his hands,' and thereby to ignore the constitution and to deprive the people (through their agents, the members of congress), of a right to order what shall and what shall not be done? Does the president fear what all know—that imperialism and militarism are Siamese twins and that each is, and must be, a stranger to a republican form of government?

"However much we may feel for the oppressed elsewhere, we to-day plead for our own institutions, for the home and the fireside. Tear down the flag? No, but let it not be the emblem of oppression.

"What Cleveland tried to do by way of running, or rather ruining, the finance of the country McKinley is trying by way of war and colonization to ruin and undermine the established policy of our government: each attempted not to advise congress, but to run congress, or arbitrarily do without it. The one caused the wreck of the democratic party, the other is causing, and will cause, the wreck and ruin of the republican party. Each has polluted our politics with officials and appointees.

"The commission or one wrong, like the obtaining of one luxury, demands another. Once imperialism is adopted, its demands and must have as its support militarism; and those once obtained must have confederates, and in order to have them we must have an alliance with some other nation, and our most natural alliance is with England. So here we have the annual American alliance. And again we turn away from the teachings of all our history from Washington to McKinley. Democracy, ever true to the teachings of its founders, answers no.

"The trust under McKinley has outstripped all rivals and to-day stands with gunin hand, the drum major of his prosperity. The gun is in the hand of the laborer seeking the employment he lost by the absorpment of the establishment of his employer, and to amuse the traveling man while he reads his 'no longer want ads.'

"We hear the question asked as to what you are going to do about trusts. I would remove from them first the fostering care of the government. They are, to a great extent, in this country at least, the direct offspring of a protective tariff and the gold standard. The protective tariff makes the way easy and the gold standard makes it in numerous cases, a business necessity. I would first remove the protection on every article, and when a trust whose competition was formed on any article of necessity I would make such organization a crime, with imprisonment, and not a small crime, as the punishment, and provide for the government taking charge of the cargo and winding up its affairs. With plenty of money in the hands of the people new enterprises will spring up instantly and business will move as it should move.

"If the interstate commerce commission cannot regulate transportation, I would assist them by requiring the government of the drainage canal to the Mississippi: by canal shorten the trip through the lakes, and assume absolute control of and construct a ship canal across the Isthmus of Panama, and then throw open the water-carrying trade to all and any who wish to engage therein.

"Instead of fooling away our money in the far-off Philippines, if it is land we want I would spend the millions in constructing new lines to the west coast.

"With the $20,000,000 spent in that investment for an 'option on a war' these western plains and valleys would wave with their golden harvest as fields never waved before.

"A law should be enacted providing for a board of arbitration between capital and labor that would and could arbitrate, and thus stop the destruction of property, loss of lives, stagnation of business, and, worse than all, loss of respect for our laws and institutions. Compel an equitable adjustment of differences.

"You ask what the leading issue of 1900 will be. My answer is, good, old-fashioned democracy all along the line, and our new Andrew Jackson leading the fight into every state in the union. Let every soldier enlisted in our new cause select such guns from the many as may be best adapted to its use; then aim at the enemy and not at our own people. The war is not ended; it has just begun."

HEALTH HINTS.

Do not throw paper, circulars or fruit skins on the street.

Do not put garbage in unsightly vessels.

Do not put ashes in anything but sound barrels or cans.

Do not fill them higher than four inches below the top.

Do not expose waste longer than necessary.

Do not place garbage, ashes or any kind of refuse on the sidewalks; keep it within your fence line until called for.

ELECTRIC LIGHT BATH.

Patients Are Treated by Radiant Heat Where a High Temperature Is Needed.

The vogue enjoyed in England by the "Dowsing radiant heat bath," which has led to the establishment of several sanitariums for the treatment of patients by radiant heat, has caused the English medical papers to pay considerable attention to the discussion of the therapeutics of heat and light baths. In most of these appliances incandescent baths are used for generating the heat, as it is claimed there is a special advantage in the fact that the heat emitted is from a source at a very high temperature, is radiated rather than conducted, and that the light itself has a beneficial effect. The baths are wooden boxes or cabinets arranged for the reception of a patient's body or limbs, and studded thickly inside with incandescent electric lamps and reflectors; so that the patient is subjected to light and heat at the same time. The diseases in which the treatment is said to have been found useful are rheumatism, asthma, anemia, neurasthenia and obesity. Winternitz states that the patients perspire profusely while in the cabinets, and the rapidity with which the perspiration sets in is specially insisted on by him. He says that after five minutes' exposure to the electric lamps this profuse perspiration begins, although the temperature of the air in the cabinet is not more than 81 degrees Fahrenheit. His results are very much in line with those of Kellogg in this country, who, for many years, has been active in this field of electro-therapeutic work. Kellogg attributes the effects noticed to radiant heat, the action of which, from a source at a high temperature, he compares with that of the heat of lower grade, which is employed in the hot room of a Turkish bath. Thus, he states that the degree of perspiration obtained with a air temperature of 85 degrees Fahrenheit in the electric cabinet is equal to that produced in a Turkish bath at 106 degrees Fahrenheit. It must be said, however, that in the absence of data as to the degree of humidity of the atmosphere surrounding the patient in the two cases, this comparison is not perfectly convincing. The atmosphere of a small closed box differs essentially from that of the hot room of a Turkish bath, which is properly ventilated and supplied with volumes of hot, dry air. The main points which seem to be established by the discussion are that the radiant heat penetrates the tissues more deeply; that the effect is more stimulating; that perspiration is more quickly induced, and, also, that the comparative coolness of the air about the patient is an advantage. But whether the light emitted by the lamps plays an important part or not is a question which is still in doubt.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Fine Specimen of Cheek.

Here is the latest one in street car stories. A Detroit railway car was running swiftly along Porter street the other night when a man hailed it as it drew near a corner. The car stopped and the man stepped onto the rear platform. He rode several blocks before the conductor came out and then he pulled out his watch and asked him:

"I just wanted to see if I could find out the time from you?"

The conductor took out his watch and told him the time. Then the other thanked him, motioned to him to stop the car and dropped off just five blocks from where he had got on, not a cent the worse for his ride.—Detroit Free Press.

The Confidence of Youth.

"And now that you are through college what are you going to do?" asked a friend of the youthful graduate.

"I shall study medicine," was the grave reply of the ambitious young man.

"But isn't that profession already overcrowded?" asked the friend.

"Possibly it is," answered the knowing youth, "but I propose to study medicine just the same, and those who are already in the profession will have to take their chances."—Chicago Evening Journal.

THE MARKETS.

	CINCINNATI, Aug. 28.
LIVESTOCK—Cattle, common,	$ 25 @	4 15
Select butchers	4 90 @	5 00
CALVES—Fair to good light	6 75 @	7 05
HOGS—Choice and heavy	4 90 @	4 90
Mixed packers	4 80 @	4 70
Butchers and shippers	4 60 @	4 83
SHEEP—Choice	3 40 @	3 75
LAMBS—Spring	4 00 @	5 00
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 25 @	3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	@	71
No. 3 red	@	68
Corn—No. 2 mixed	@	23¼
Oats—No. 2	@	2 3¼
Rye—No. 2	@	57
HAY—Prime choice	@	10 50
PROVISIONS—Mess Pork	@	9 50
Lard	@	5 05
BUTTER—Choice dairy	12 @	12½
Choice creamery	@	18
APPLES—Choice to fancy	1 25 @	1 50
POTATOES—per brl	1 15 @	1 25
CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 80 @	3 90
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	@	72½
No. 3 Chicago spring	70¾ @	71¾
CORN—No. 2	31½ @	32¾
OATS—No. 2	21¼ @	21¾
PORK—Mess	7 95 @	8 30
LARD—Steam	5 07½ @	5 10
NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 80 @	3 90
WHEAT—No. 2 r'd	76¾ @	76¾
CORN—No. 2 mixed	@	36¾
RYE	@	56
OATS—Mixed	@	28¼
PORK—New Mess	8 75 @	9 00
LARD—Western	@	5 50
BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	3 25 @	3 80
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	74¾ @	75¾
So. them	60 @	72
Corn—Mixed	37 @	37¼
Oats—No. 2 white	27 @	27¾
Rye—No. 2 western	@	53¾
CATTLE—First quality	5 00 @	5 20
HOGS—Western	5 30 @	5 40
INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	@	69
Corn—No. 2 mixed	@	32
Oats—No. 2 mixed	@	21¼
LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 45 @	3 55
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	@	70
Corn—Mixed	@	34
Oats—Mixed	22 @	23
PORK—Mess	@	9 00
LARD—Steam	@	5 35

THIS CAT REFUSED TO DIE.

How an Intelligent Pussy Put a Stop to a University Professor's Demonstration.

Students of one of the big universities in this city have a cat that has utterly refused to become a martyr to science. Its history is another instance of the refining and elevating influence of science, says the Chicago Times-Herald.

Prof. Blank asked J. P. Morgan, the janitor to get a cat for him, as he wished to illustrate his lecture on "Respiration" by experiments upon the animal. Mr. Morgan succeeded in getting one with the aid of some small boys. When his students had assembled the professor put the cat into the glass receiver of the air pump and began to pump out the air. Before the piston had time to move more than once or twice the cat began to feel very uncomfortable, and, discovering the aperture through which the air was escaping, put her foot on it and thus corked the pipe and stopped the removal of the air.

Several subsequent attempts to carry on the experiments were alike ineffectual, for as soon as the glass cover was put over her and she felt the removal of the air the cat would put her feet over the pipe and keep them pressed there.

The students, struck by the remarkable intelligence shown by the cat, asked the professor to liberate the animal and loudly cheered her self-possession when the cat, after coolly cleaning herself and smoothing her ruffled fur, jumped down and rubbed against the legs of the students sitting on the front bench. She is now permanently annexed to the college and an object of interest to all visitors.

PLEA FOR THE CODFISH.

A Chief Cook Says This Fish Is Not Appreciated at Its Real Worth.

"If codfish cost a dollar a pound," said the chef, "it would be more universally beloved. I tell you, it is the best dinner fish known. I have tried the whitefish all over the world, but the codfish is king of them all and is not appreciated at his real worth. Cook him in any way you like and he is delicious. Even the dried codfish, picked up and served in cream for breakfast, is a fine dish. Put him in a bag, sew him up tightly and let him boil, or bake him carefully, well stuffed, and he is delicious.

"Let me tell you that when you make fishcakes you should not drown out the fish with potato. Put as little potato or other substance in the cakes as possible, and, if you want them as fine as they can be made, wrap them in a blanket of eggs and do not be sparing of the egg. You can make a tasty dish of codfish cakes if you will follow my advice. Fish cakes are considered a very democratic dish, of course, but my patron, who pays me a large salary, is a democrat as he used to be in his younger days. When he sends down to me an order for fish cakes for the next morning's breakfast he says he wants Meschutt's fish cakes, with egg. That is the order, and he is thinking of his younger life, when, as he once told me, in a basement on Broadway he used to get the finest butter cakes and fish cakes he ever tasted, 'excepting yours, chef,' he adds always. But I know that dimes in those days were as thousand-dollar bills to him now, and his appetite was keener and more appreciative."

SHEEP FOUND IN ALASKA.

Flesh Said to Be the Most Delicious of All Wild Game and Is Much Sought.

This rare wild white sheep is found nowhere in the world but Alaska, and few specimens for mounting whole have ever been obtained, says a writer in Outing. This species, named ovis dalli by Prof. Dall, differs from its cousin, the Rocky mountain big horn (ovis montana) in color, ovis montana being a dull brown in midsummer, changing to a grayish drab in winter, with a slight ashy-colored patch over the rump all the year, while the ovis dalli is snow-white at all seasons; in fact, there is not a colored hair on any part of its body. He is not quite so stockily built as the "big horn," yet more trim and shapely. Two of my specimens stood 42 inches at the shoulder. His limbs are not quite so heavy, and his horns will not average as large at the base, although quite as long. The horns of my largest specimen of 1897 measured 41½ inches in length and 12¾ inches in circumference at the base.

The flesh is the most delicious of all wild game. In the summer this sheep lives chiefly on the rich, succulent growth of the saplenium septentrionale, which grows in the crevices of the rock on the sunny slopes of this ragged range. This beautiful animal must endure great hardships to survive the winters of this icy north.

Charitable People.

The Spanish are among the most charitable people on earth. Without a poor tax Spanish communities of 50,000 self-supporters feed a pauper population of 5,000 or more.

A Harem Car.

Central Asian railroad managers try to meet the desires of their public. A harem car with latticed windows has been constructed for the emir of Bokhara.

RATTLESNAKE EATER.

A Georgia Negro Who Captures and Sells the Reptiles Sometimes Makes a Meal of Them.

Moses Henderson is a sable son of Africa and lives two miles from Americus in a rocky field where rattlesnakes are most plentiful, says the Savannah News. Moses makes a living by capturing snakes and selling them. This is the truth, strange as it may seem. One day lately he killed a large one with 11 rattles on it. This was a fat snake and Moses ate it. The other day he brought a very large snake to the city, trying to sell its hide. There were 23 rattles on it. The snake was very poor, and Moses said it would not do to eat, and he stuffed its hide and sold it for a good price. Every year Moses makes a good deal of money selling snake oil. He says right down the vertebrae of a rattlesnake is a fatty streak of flesh that makes an oil, when fried, that will cure any case or rheumatism. It is strange to how many people he sells this rheumatic snake oil. He has a long list of certificates from people he has cured. Some of them are from intelligent whites, who declare that the oil has cured them when all other remedies have failed. He sells a vial of the oil for one dollar and guarantees a lasting cure.

Moses says his father was an African voodoo doctor and taught him how to cure all aches and pains with snake oil. The negroes of Sumter county venerate and fear him as a mysterious doctor who can cure when all else fails, and look upon his snake oil as something enchanted.

THE INDIAN TERRITORY.

A Missouri Woman Suggests That When It Becomes a State It Shall Be Called Jefferson.

Mrs. Robert H. True, of Clinton, Mo., writes to the St. Louis Republic suggesting that when the Indian territory shall become a state it be admitted to the union under the name of Jefferson. She says:

"I have made the suggestion to several prominent citizens of the territory in my recent rip through that important section, and they view the proposed name of Jefferson with enthusiasm. They think it would be acceptable to the entire territory thus to honor the memory of Thomas Jefferson, under whose direction the Louisiana purchase was made. Jefferson's name is forever associated with the history of the central state.

"Since the purchase of the original territory of Louisiana in 1803, many states have been formed, numbers of which have been named for individuals who have achieved greatness. No state has been named in honor of Jefferson, who opened and closed the negotiations for the purchase. The only remaining portion of the purchase in the union is the part known as the Indian territory. Progress will demand that a state be formed of this territory.

"The only opportunity of honoring Jefferson by naming a part of the original purchase for him is in naming Indian territory 'Jefferson' when it is made a state."

ROCKING BEAUTIFIES WOMEN.

How an English Scientist Accounts for the Symmetry of American Limbs.

The rocking chair, according to an English scientist over here for the purpose of writing a book of travels, deserves even a higher place in American esteem than it now holds, for it is responsible, this eagle-eyed observer claims, for one of the greatest beauties of the American women, the beauty of her lower limbs, says the Philadelphia Record. "If you will think," he said at a dinner party the other night at Atlantic City, "if you will think of the exercise one gets on a rocking chair, you will see that I am right. How many times, on these broad, wind-blown piazzas, does a young woman rock herself in her chair in the course of a morning? In fancy it would take a calculating barber to tell you that. At any rate, the exercise she gets is excellent and ample. That push which the toes gives to keep the chair in motion, repeated and repeated, makes the instep high, the calf round and full, and it keeps misshapening flesh off the ankle, keeping the ankle delicate and slender. Such delicate ankles under such robust calves made me fear, when I first came down and saw your women in their bathing dresses that the pneumatic stocking, so popular in my own land, had gotten a foothold here. I am convinced now that it is not so."

Where It Rains Forever.

You can expect a shower at Panama, says a correspondent in the Chicago Record, about three o'clock every afternoon during the rainy season. The rest of the day and evening after six o'clock is delightful, and no one thinks of carrying an umbrella, but at Colon it rains all the time, and, according to the old proverb, it never rains but it pours. It is the real thing by the bucketful. It seems as if the bottom had dropped out of the sky. Colon and Panama are 47 miles apart. The rainfall at Panama is about 92 inches annually, or about eight feet. The rainfall at Colon is 250 inches annually, or about 21 feet, and the people get it all in five months, an average of four feet a month precipitation, while in Arizona they only have a few inches. It takes all the rest of the year for the people to get dry.

Modern Fable.

A general who was conducting a war on a distant island wrote to the agricultural department of his government to ship him a ton of acorns. When asked what he intended to do with them he replied:

"There is no shade in our trenches, and the troops suffer from heat. A growth of large oaks will add much to the comfort of the men in the firing line."

He would have said more, but his attention was arrested by a burst of song from a neighboring jungle.

"Ah," he sighed, "that is a round robin!"

And he walked sadly away.—San Francisco Examiner.

The New Torpedo.

A young Swede has invented a torpedo operated solely by invisible rays of light, which enables it to explode at will beneath the enemy's fleet, in a like subtle manner Hostetter's Stomach Bitters attacks and conquers all stomach troubles. When a sufferer from constipation or dyspepsia or liver complaint takes the Bitters he is sure of one thing, sooner or later, and that is cure. See that a private Revenue Stamp covers the neck of the bottle.

Rule That Works Both Ways.

"I have frequently observed," said the vegetarian, "that when a man lives on beef he becomes something like an ox; if he eats mutton he looks sheepish, and if he eats pork the chances are he will grow swinish."

"Perhaps you are right," said the turtle-fed alderman. "I have also observed that when a man lives on nothing but vegetables he is apt to be pretty small potatoes."—Chicago Evening News.

The Druggist's Work.

There is a druggist in one of the suburban districts who advertises:

"The doctor prescribes; we execute."

Such advertising cannot fail to appeal to those who desire to be executed.—Boston Journal.

Do Your Feet Ache and Burn?

Shake into your shoes Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It makes tight or New Shoes feel Easy. Cures Corns, Bunions, Swollen, Smarting, Hot, Callous, Sore, and Sweating Feet. All Druggists and Shoe Stores sell it, 25c. Sample sent FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Crushing the Old Man.

Purse-Proud Father—Can you support my daughter in the style to which she has been accustomed?

Complacent Young Man—I could if I were contented with it, but I hope to give her something better.—Somerville Journal.

The Best Prescription for Chills

and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

The Noble Animal.

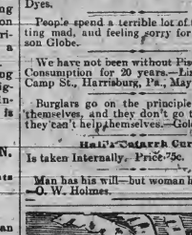
Trader—Don't you want to sell that horse?

Farmer—Naw. I keep him extra to haul broken-down automobiles back to town.—Indianapolis Journal.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Tommy Tompkins—"I bet my pup kin lick your kitten." Willie Wilkins—"Well, I bet if he does he'll wish he hadn't when my kitty grows up."—Ohio State Journal.



Do not allow dealers to sell you something just as good as Putnam Fadeless Dyes. There is no such a thing on the market. Insist on having Putnam Fadeless Dyes.

People spend a terrible lot of time in getting mad, and feeling sorry for it.—Atchison Globe.

Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is taken internally. Price 75c.

Man has his will—but woman has her way. —O. W. Holmes.

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the best laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.
For sale by all Druggists.—Price 50c. per bottle.

A Letter to Mrs. Pinkham Brings Health to Mrs. Archambo.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 4,282]

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For two years I felt tired and so weak and dizzy that some days I could hardly go around the house. Backache and headache all the time and my food would not digest and had such pains in the womb and troubled with leucorrhœa and kidneys were affected.

"After birth of each child I grew weaker, and hearing so much of the good you had done I wrote to you and have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one box of Lozenges, one box of Liver Pills, one package of Sanative Wash, and to-day I am feeling as well as I ever did. When I get up in the morning I feel as fresh as I did when a girl and can eat and sleep well and do all of my work. If ever I feel weak again shall know where to get my strength. I know your medicine cured me."—MRS. SABINA ARCHAMBO, CHARLEMONT, MASS.

"The present Mrs. Pinkham's experience in treating female ills is unparalleled; for years she worked side by side with Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, and for sometime past has had sole charge of the correspondence department of her great business, treating by letter as many as a hundred thousand ailing women a year. All women who suffer are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice, which will be promptly given without charge.

DYSPEPSIA

"For six years I was a victim of dyspepsia in its worst form. I could eat nothing but milk toast, and at times my stomach would not retain and digest even that. Last March I began taking CASCARETS and since then have steadily improved, until I am as well as I ever was in my life."
DAVID H. MURPHY, Newark, O.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good, Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c., 25c., 50c. per box.

... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York.

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to cure Tobacco Habit. 50c. or $1.00. Book free. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

ATTENTION!
COMRADES, are You Ready to Attend
33d ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT
G. A. R.
—AT—PHILADELPHIA,
September 4-9, 1899
CHEAP RATES VIA
"BIG FOUR ROUTE"
AND CONNECTIONS.

Tickets will be on sale September 1, 2, 3, 4, 1899, good to return to and including September 10, 1899, with privilege of extension upon deposit of ticket with Joint Agent, Big Four Route, not later than September 9, 1899, and payment of a fee of 50 cents per ticket. Upon deposit of ticket with Joint Agent, Big Four Route, at Philadelphia on or after September 4th, 1899, and payment of a fee of 50 cents per ticket, a certificate will be issued entitling the holder to a ticket reading via Baltimore & Ohio R. R. from Philadelphia to any point on the Big Four Route, at which ticket will be delivered upon presentation of certificate and payment of a fee of 50 cents. Tickets via Baltimore & Ohio may be stopped over at Washington, D. C., within limit of ticket, on deposit of ticket with Joint Agent, Big Four Route, at Washington, D. C., and payment of a fee of 50 cents per ticket.

For full information regarding tickets, routes, time of trains, sleeping car service, etc., call on nearest Big Four Route ticket agent, or address the undersigned.

WARREN J. LYNCH, Gen. Pass. & Ticket Agt. CINCINNATI, O. W. P. DEPPE, A. G. P. A.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 & $3.50 SHOES
Worth $4 to $6 compared with other makes.
Endorsed by over 1,000,000 persons as the best in the world.
ALL LEATHERS. ALL STYLES.
THE GENUINE have W. L. Douglas name and price stamped on bottom.
Take no substitute. If dealer cannot supply you, write direct to factory.
Your dealer should have them—if not, we will furnish you. Sold by shoe dealers everywhere. kind of leather, size and width, plain or cap toe. Catalogue free.
Established over 20 years.
W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.
NOTICE OF UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIALS.

CAPILLAR
Permanently cures all Itching, Scaly, Scabby Humors, Dandruff, Ichthyosis, Eczema, Scald Head, Chilblains, Piles, Rashes, Remove Dandruff, Ichthyosis and making it Soft, Silky and Lustrous. All Face Eruptions Prevented. Beautiful Skin and Complexion. Try one bottle. Delighted. Impossible to Lose Hair. A rare, great seller. Lady canvassers wanted. $72 a week. Sample bottle 25c. Manufacturing Co., N. Y. Address, T. HILL MANSFIELD, Agt., 1133 B'way, N.Y.

CARTER'S INK
—None so good but it costs more than the poorest.

$75 Month easily outfit free; we want a man in every county to introduce Poultry Specialties. Reference. Send Market Pl., Philadelphia.

FITS Permanently Cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. Dr. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

A. N. K.—B 1776

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

Plantation Chill Cure is Guaranteed

To cure, or money refunded by your merchant, so why not try it?

WILL MAKE BABY FAT AS A PIG.

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA (Teething Powders.)
Costs only 25 Cents. Ask your Druggist for it. Must keep by all druggists.
C. J. MOFFETT, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

Rev. (now Bishop) Joseph S. ... Wrote: "We gave your TEETHINA to our children during the teething period with the best results. The children were all healthy and cheerful and certainly were relieved from anything we ever used."

...RECORDER.
...Aug. 28, 1895.
...time.....$1.00
...time.....
...Tributes of Respects or ...
...of a like nature, per inch .50

A. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

Democratic State Ticket.

For Governor,
WILLIAM GOEBEL, of Kenton.

For Lieutenant Governor,
J. C. W. BECKHAM, of Nelson.

For Attorney General,
R. J. BRECKINRIDGE, of Boyle.

For Auditor,
G. G. COULTER, of Graves.

For Treasurer,
S. W. HAGER, of Boyd.

For Secretary of State,
C. B. HILL, of Clark.

For Supt. Public Instruction,
H. V. M'CHESNEY, of Livingston.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. B. NALL, of Jefferson.

For Railroad Commissioner,
FLETCHER DEMPSEY, of Hopkins county.—First District.
C. C. M'CHORD, of Washington county.—Second District.
A. W. HAMILTON, of Montgomery county.—Third District.

For State Senator,
Dr. J. G. FURNISH.

Neighborhood News.

Limaburg.

James M. Utz killed a spreading adder Monday. It was two feet long.

Miss Flora Yoxell will begin teaching the public school here next Monday.

J. E. Rouse and family, of Yarnelltown are guests of Mr. George E. Rouse and family.

Dr. Rouse has raised enough money to put new seats in the church at Hebron. The old seats will be sold.

James W. Utz and wife gave an ice cream supper Saturday night. A large number of young people were present.

Last Friday Richard Popham was thrown out of his wagon and hurt considerably. His left ear was cut in two and Dr. Rouse stuck it together.

Maple Grove.

Jake Stahl has purchased a fine horse.

Miss Katie Smith, of Burlington, will teach our school this winter.

Quitman & Co., of Cincinnati, were in this vicinity, last Saturday, buying horses.

The Constance, jr., ball team was defeated by a picked nine from Erlanger by a score of 18 to 14.

Irvin Hood and Henry Gerjin attended the Alexandria fair, last Saturday. They report an immense crowd there.

Blaine Robinson was badly frighten ed by a runaway horse, which he contrived to stop in time to prevent the buggy from being wrecked.

Will Smith is pushing to completion the store which he is building at the corner of the Bullittsville and Dry Creek pike and Elijah's creek avenue.

Bellevue.

This locality is suffering for rain.

Mrs. Emma Pate, of Burlington, is visiting her parents here, this week.

Oscar Beemon has purchased a house and lot from Gillie Weisele and wife, and Miss Jane Glore.

Quite a number of Odd Fellows went from here to Rising Sun, Sunday afternoon, to attend the funeral of W. R. Seward.

Bro. Utz did not attempt to preach, Sunday, but he made one of those excellent talks of which he is capable at any time.

Misses Mary Huey and Flora Arnold left Monday morning for Illinois, where they will spend a month or more visiting relatives.

Some few are asking when the primary election for the nomination of a Democratic candidate for the legislature come off.

Our old friend, John McConnell, of East Bend, who passed through here Saturday, reported a good rain in his neighborhood that morning.

Francesville.

Mrs. Mary Waits' quilting was largely attended by friends and relatives.

Quite a large crowd from this place attended the Harvest Home, Saturday.

Mrs. M. M. Gaines, of Richmond, was visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. T. Gaines, last week.

Your humble servant had the pleasure of a trip down to the cliffs near Middle creek, to the Roberts reunion. A more delightful spot for an outing could not have been selected; it being so shady and such clear, cold water to drink. After climbing over the rocks and steep hills, of course we were ready to partake of the bountiful dinner which was spread. At a late hour in the afternoon the crowd began to disperse, the many friends and relatives wishing each other many such happy reunions.

Our fair Hebron correspondent seems inclined to take a material interest in some of the young men of this place. So much so, in fact, that some say it is prompted by jealousy, others by a deeper interest, but we know it is but the work of a loving heart and purely motherly interest she feels. She went over to Petersburg, last week, to see that they were not kidnapped and attended strictly to business, as can be done by one of her items. By way of relieving her curiosity, we will say it is our opinion that "Jack" Henry was not the girl at Hebron. Whether she was handicapped by parental ties, we are unable, as yet, to inform, but we feel certain if he was, especially, she will extend her heartfelt sympathy.

Petersburg.

Miss E. Rhea Helms is visiting in Cincinnati.

Prof. Early's and the public school will begin Sept. 4.

Policeman Cloak, of Cincinnati, is the guest of Geo. Ruth.

Miss Maud Ruth has returned from a six weeks' visit in Cincinnati.

M. C. Cave is selling melons at Warsaw, Patriot and all way landings.

Mrs. Davis, of Paris, Ky., mother of Mrs. E. T. Krutz, is here on a visit.

Mrs. J. I. McWethy and Miss Bessie Berkshire are visiting in Owensboro.

Rev. Finley, pastor of the Christian church, held services, every night last week.

A. M. Lynch, wife and children, of Louisville, are visiting Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Tilly.

Mrs. B. B. Berkshire, of Louisville, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sebree, last week.

Fishing in the river is fine now. Uncle Andy Helms caught a 48 pound catfish Thursday morning.

Mrs. Andy Leonard and her beautiful daughters, Misses May and Jennie, are visiting Billy Casey.

"Hank" Hoffman is proving to be one of the best politicians in this end of the county. Hurrah for Hank!

Elvin Earl Helms won first prize at the Lawrenceburg fair, last Thursday. He is the son of our popular tonsorial artist.

We feel lonesome since the teachers left us. We hope they will be with us again next year, at any rate we extend the welcome hand.

The blue grass store has quit business. Mr. Gardner, the gentlemanly clerk will go to the central part of the State to run a store.

J. W. Early has embarked in the feather renovating and upholstering business with a Mr. Aylor, of Lawrenceburg. They are at Bellevue, now.

Prof. Chas. Gardner will start a conservatory of music here. He has purchased a $1,200 piano and will place it in the elegant room owned by B. R. Smith.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sebree, last Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. The contracting parties being Mr. Wm. Price, one of the nicest young men the little city of Constance affords, and Miss Leota Ryle, the beautiful and accomplished sister of Mrs. Sebree. They were united in the holy and most sacred bonds of matrimony by Rev. Watkins, of Bullittsville. The bride was attired in pearl gray broadcloth trimmed with blue satin, white overlace and pearl pasementry, while the groom wore the conventional black. It was quite a surprise to the many friends of Miss Leota, as she had kept it a profound secret, hence the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Sebree was not filled—only the immediate relatives to the contracting parties being present. Mr. and Mrs. Price have the best wishes of a host of friends for a long life full of happiness and prosperity.

Richwood.

Meridith Conner returned from the city, Saturday.

Rev. Lents closed a very successful meeting on Saturday.

Mr. John Glackin, who has been ill is able to be about again.

Mr. Jno. Rice is the proud owner of a very pretty new buggy.

Mr. Jas. Dobyns is getting along as nicely as can be expected.

Mr. Baxter and family attended church at Mt. Zion, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robinson carried out Sunday in a very handsome new rig.

Mr. Worth Dixon was passed through here on his way to Burlington Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hollingwood, of Covington, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Grubbs.

Miss Artie Green, of Covington, who has won many admirers deservedly is visiting Mrs. Jno. Tanner.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Surface had the misfortune to fall and strike on a sharp point, cutting quite an ugly gash. Dr. Moffitt took four stiches to close the wound.

Mrs. Scott ann two daughters from Lexington, are visiting Mr. Joe Scott. Mrs. Scott always attends the Lexington fair, but she prizes the Florence fair very highly and is a regular attendant.

Rev. Cram preached his farewell sermon at Mt. Zion, Sunday. The congregation are hoping for the best and that he will be reappointed, for his earnest efforts have been very much appreciated. He has made quite a good impression among all.

Union.

Will Garnett has a cherry tree in full bloom after bearing one crop.

J. J. Childress has been roofing a barn for his brother Jeff, in Kenton county.

Rev. Spears, of Washington, Ky., preached at the Presbyterian church, Sunday.

Lightning struck a peach tree within ten feet of James Smith's residence, Saturday morning.

J. M. Wilson cannot understand how a man can have an expression on his face like a cucumber patch.

Marshall Hedges has a fortune in his grasp, that is if he can get Harry Cronel to go partners with him and get it.

James A. Huey and wife entertained the Excelsior Literary Club, last week. A large and enthusiastic meeting is reported.

B. L. Rice, general manager of the Covington Coal Co., was in Union, recently, talking railroad, telephone and politics.

Mr. and Mrs. Poindexter, of Cynthiana, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, Sunday, and Mr. Poindexter returned home Sunday evening, to return during the fair.

H. G. Blanton has engaged in the livery stable and undertaking business at Erlanger with Mr. McAlpin, and will be pleased to have his friends call on him when in need of anything in their line.

J. W. Kennedy accepts his defeat without any noise or disturbance about it. Mr. Kennedy comes out of the race with a clear conscience and claims to have made the canvass on high-toned principles and fairness of methods.

Here's hoping every man, woman and child in the county who desires to go, may have the "wherewith" to go and enjoy the first four days of the fair. We hope the bonds of friendship may all be renewed and a two-cent stamp put on them according to law.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Huey entertained, Tuesday evening, a large number of friends at their home near Union. As usual, all present had a grand time—four musicians discoursing sweet music during the evening to which the fantastic toe was tripped. Refreshments were served, consisting of ice cream, watermelon ice, &c.

Mrs. John McConnell and daughter, of East Bend, were the guests of C. F. Baker, last week. During their stay Miss Bertha invited a number of little folks to meet her cousin, Wednesday afternoon. The evening was passed in a lovely round of innocent amusements, and supper was served at 7 o'clock, after which the usual courtecies were exchanged and the little folks returned to their homes wishing Miss Angee much happiness.

Geo. H. Stephenson and James A. Huey went fishing Saturday, on Gunpowder. They ate dinner with the tall Sycamore of Long Branch and had a fine time generally. George caught 8 nice bass and hung several others, while Jim had the usual luck, "never got a nibble." He is reported as fishing with a pole that Hercules could hardly have held out 15 minutes without getting a sunstroke. Anyway, he gave up fishing and went to stringing the bass as George caught them, so when night came he was too busy to notice it and would have been there string yet if George had stayed.

Verona.

Cutting of tobacco has begun. The crop is of fine quality.

K. Kennedy gave the youngsters a social one evening last week.

Rev. Hughes, the Methodist minister, preached last Sunday at New Bethel.

Russell Hume attended the Lexington fair and reports a splendid exhibition.

We learn that our friend, John Robison, will move to Elwood, Ind., in the near future.

Dr. B. K. Menefee will shortly move to Crittenden, where he will resume the practice of medicine.

There will be very little wheat sown in this neighborhood, this fall, on account of the corn being blown down.

Misses Anna L. Woods, of Lexington, and Carrie Fling, of Flingsville, are the pleasant guests of relatives here.

Bro. Adams and members of New Bethel church met, last Saturday, to make arrangements for the approaching revival.

A protracted meeting will begin at New Bethel church, Sept. 3d, conducted by Revs .E. N. Dickens, formerly of Bellevue, and S. M. Adams.

The Sabbath has been broken at this place by base ball players, and it is more than probable they will be presented to the next grand jury.

We were glad to meet our young friend, Hodge Hudson, who has just returned home from Willmore College, where he has been fitting himself for the ministry.

Here is a list of persons who took premiums at the Alexandria fair: Chas. Griffith, on span of mules; J. T. Griffith, on mare and colt; W. M. Whitson, on two-year old mule.

Arthur Stephenson had the misfortune to lose two fine mules a few days since. Mr. S. tied the two mules together and turned them in the pasture, and when found they were choked to death.

Prof. J. H. Craven has been employed as principal teacher of the public school at this place. The assistants have not been employed, owing to the lack of sufficient public money to hire good teachers. The trustees are doing their best to secure good teachers, and $200 will have to be made up.

Gunpowder.

Miss Lillie Rouse, of Lexington, is visiting relatives here.

W. A. Carpenter and mother, of Covington, were guests of W. A. Tanner, Sunday.

Orin Phipps, our genial friend, was on our streets, last Sunday, with his best girl.

Some tobacco has been cut and the crop is the best that has been raised for several years.

The school at Pleasant Ridge will begin the second Monday in September, with Miss Olive Orem as teacher.

The meeting at Ebenezer closed last Saturday night. A series of meetings will begin at Hopeful church Sept. 9.

Albert Beemon, of Walton, was in the neighborhood, last Thursday, looking after some of his business interests.

Rev. and Mrs. H. Max Lentz expect to attend the Sunday-School Convention in Louisville, this week: Mrs. Lentz was chosen a delegate and will represent Hopeful Sunday School at that meeting.

Rev. Dr. Bell, editor of the Lutheran World, has resigned his position, and accepted a call to the First Lutheran Church of Baltimore, Md., and it will not longer be convenient for him to serve as editor. Rev. H. Max Lentz has been chosen to fill the place of Dr. Bell in addition to the duties of office editor. He will continue to reside at Florence, and his relation to the church as he serves will not be changed for the present at least.

At the joint council at Hebron last Saturday E. H. Surface was elected delegate to attend the next meeting of Synod.

Hebron.

Death came in all his power and cast his wand in our midst, last Friday, calling Miss Pauline Bagenbogen to her reward. Seventeen years had she spent in this life, and the last three years of that time she had given to her Savior, having professed His name August 30th, 1892. Bright and intelligent, she worked with a zeal and an ambition to accomplish whatever she undertook. When, in old age, the angel of death comes, it is sad, but sadder, indeed, when he knocks at the door of a youthful soul. This young lady graduated in the common school course of study two years ago, and one of the graduates having gone before, two diplomas are now only reminders of the loved ones; but God, in His infinite wisdom, doeth all things well. Rev. Lents preached the funeral, taking the following scripture as his text: "In My Father's house are many mansions; I go to prepare a place for you, that where you may be, there may I be also; if it were not so I would have told you." How comforting are these words of the Son of God. A star dropped in the crew of time, now, as the past would call, cause ripples to beat against the shores of eternity, who, indeed, is aware, none of us can realize what the feelings are when resting on the pillow of death, but may the remainder of our little band live on in loving service of our heavenly Father.

Constance.

The river is getting very low.

Harvey McGlamon is quite sick.

Wm. Myers is happy—it is a bouncing boy.

Mr. Alfred Cason, of Burlington, was here last Thursday.

The Constance Mission is holding a very interesting meeting.

A supper party spent the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Haberly, the other evening.

Mrs. Anna Richmond has returned to her home at Blue Ind., after a visit of several weeks with her parents, B. F. Zimmer and wife.

Rev. Watkins went to the Petersburg neighborhood, last Wednesday evening, to marry a couple, and on his return trip he got lost, and drove nearly all night, finally landing at the Poor House, near Burlington.

Berkshire.

Mrs. Rosie Black is on the sick list.

W. F. Moore's family is very ill of flux.

Bennie Richerson, of Indiana, is visiting relatives here.

C. C. Roberts, the clever Verona druggist, was visiting his uncle, E. L. Roberts, last week.

Mrs. A. A. Allphin and children, of Gallatin county, were visiting her father, last Thursday.

T. A. Stewart is suffering greatly with a bruised hand. The doctor thinks it will have to be amputated.

While threshing at J. G. Finnell's one day last week, John Story got one of his hands cut nearly off while feeding the machine.

Tom West has gone to Chicago to get rich, but one thing is certain, he will not find pretty girls as numerous there as they are in Kentucky.

Died—On the 26th inst., Tom Dud Friend, son of Samuel and Ada Friend, aged two and half years. He was sick about three weeks. He had flux.

The protracted meeting at the Beaver Christian church, closed on the 26th inst., and had seven additions, viz: Misses Bertha Wilson, Bertha Gordon, Messrs. Jesse Wilson, Jordan Harris, Willy Lilley, Claud Moore and Mrs. T. M. Black.

Walton.

T. F. Cuiley and family visited the city, last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Stephens have returned from a week's visit to relatives and friends in Dayton, Ohio. Both were delighted with the trip to the beautiful city.

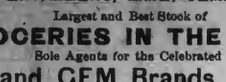
Charley Stansifer took down 91 new recruits for some of the new regiments one day last week. Charley's success in recruiting will secure a Captain's or a First Lieutenant's commission in the new regiment.

The Walton Academy will open in regular session next Monday. The prospect for a large attendance is very flattering, and patrons can rest assured that the high standing that the institution has reached in efficient and thore training will be maintained.

Miss Ada Lermond while visiting in Indiana, came across a book entitled, "Betsy Gaskins' Dimicrat." It should be in the hands of every voter in the land. Written in dialect it portrays most admirably the trials of "Betsy Dimicrat, and Jobe, her husband, Republican. There is abundance of humor throughout, and it deals with the errors of both parties, and suggests in plain and forcible language the remedies for many of our troubles.

Cyrus Coffman, who has been traversing Grant, Pendleton, Campbell and Bracken counties, selling fruit trees and sprayers, says that Goebel is gaining every day; that the loudest voiced opposition to him comes from the gold standard crowd, who, shielded by the L. & N.'s Lexington ticket, will vote for Taylor. Esq. J. C. Byland, the Central Union Life Insurance Company's agant for the Sixth Congressional District, confirms every word Mr. Coffman said. Both men say that Hon. A. S. Berry's henchmen are the most inveterate in their denunciation of Goebel. And it is so here. Such men as Sam C. Johnson, Jas. Stapleton, Wm. Lee Johnson, Larry Farrell and other staunch and tried leaders of this county, are confident that we will gain more than three for everyone that leaves the Democratic ranks. The most persistent electioneering ever done in Walton is being now done by a German Republican; and he is meeting with great success. Mr. Lawrence Ferrell may develop into a speaker of note. His brief but striking remarks about the delegation that went to the Republican Aid Convention were greeted with the heartiest applause, and none of the delegates who were present had aught to say.

NOTICE.—I have never authorized any person to sign my name to a receipt, or note, or a paper of any kind, and any person signing my name will be punished to the full extent of the law, by me, for forgery.
JOHN S. MASON, Hathaway, Ky.



It looks now like this will be a dry, dusty week, which will detract very much from the pleasure that attending the fair should afford. The dust on the grounds will be controlled, but going to and from the fair is where the discomfort will come in.

Chas. White passed through town yesterday with a fine sheep he bought of J. J. Bucker. The farmers of this county are taking great interest in the upbuilding of their flocks, which are a source of considerable revenue.

For Rent or Sale.

My farm of 118 acres of well watered, well fenced, good cultivating land. Large dwelling, tenement house and good tobacco barn on place. Seventy-five acres can be sown in wheat in the fall; 12 acres of uncleared woodland. Farm situated on L. & N. Railroad, 1½ miles from Verona, Boone county, Ky. For terms address,
Mrs. J. T. BROCK,
416 E. Main St., Lexington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission and SEED Merchants.
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.
Largest and Best Stock of
GROCERIES IN THE CITY.
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.
27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone 4055.) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street,
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

JOHN ALLISON,
UNDER-  EMBAL-
TAKER MER,
—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,—
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.
INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

Order Fall Suits
NOW
And we will make them up artistically and ready for you promptly on time. We have
Over Five Hundred Styles
Of Spring and Summer Woolens to Select from. They come direct from the looms of foreign and domestic manufacturers, and surpass in elegance and variety anything ever shown in Covington. In the assortment are many exclusive patterns—goods that cannot be duplicated by any other establishment in this city. Keep these facts in mind and place your order for a stylish suit with us. We promise you a faultless fit, the proper cut, and a price that will not be more than you can afford to pay.
H. F. BLASE.
H. F. BLASE,
535 Madison Avenue,
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY

A Word to the Public
MY STOCK OF
Dry Goods, Notions,
AND LADIES' AND GENTS'
TOILET ARTICLES
for the Spring Trade has been received, and to be appreciated must be seen. Fresh
DRUGS AND GROCERIES
received daily. A large stock of
PAINTS & OILS
on hand at all times. All Goods New and Clean, and are sold at the
LOWEST CASH PRICES.
—GIVE ME A CALL—
J. G. OELSNER, Florence, Ky.

?Are You Ready to Buy?
CLOTHING?
If you want WELL MADE, PERFECT FITTING CLOTHING At Rock Bottom Prices, we've got them. You wont be satisfied unless you see our line.
All Neat, New Patterns.
No Shop Worn Goods.
Men's Pants from $1.00 up.
Men's Suits from $2.50 up.
Children's Suits from $1.00 up.
Satisfaction Guaranteed or Money Refunded.
ROLFES & WACHS, No. 1 Pike Street, Cor. Madison Ave.
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

Local News.

A good rain is needed badly.

Next Monday is county court day.

Ho for the fair is the cry this week.

Several persons in this county began cutting tobacco, last week.

Measles in Burlington. They were introduced by a colored boy.

Edgar Berkshire has a young Jersey cow and calf for sale at a bargain.

Take your best girl and spend three or four days at the fair this week.

Next Monday is Labor Day. Gov. Bradley has proclaimed it a holiday.

The fair board will spare no efforts to have the best of order maintained

Everything is ready for the opening of the big fair at Florence, this morning.

It has been very quiet about the court house since the adjournment of circuit court.

The threatening weather Saturday, reduced the attendance at the Harvest Home.

A strong force of police will be on hand all week to keep good order at the fair.

There is not much of a stir among the farmers in the direction of another wheat crop.

None of the boys have found time to go seining since the adjournment of circuit court.

From the way the boys talk they had an immense time at the Lawrenceburg fair, last week.

But one divorce granted by the circuit court at its last term, Ida D. Kelly from Jesse C. Kelly.

Mrs. Gene Kelly's baby took the premium at the baby show at the Lawrenceburg fair, last week.

It took Bruce Clore several hours, Tuesday morning to get his freight train for Florence, made up.

Herbert Kirkpatrick has been doing a goodseal of roof painting over in the Gunpowder neighborhood.

B. W. Adams was out a day or two last week buying posts for the Union and Florence telephone line.

Blyth & Clore have secured the services of the best "fish frier" in the world, for this week at the fair.

The Burlington ball team has not been defeated this year. The boys begin to think they are "undefeatable."

The business over the telephone line increases day by day, and it will soon be so useful that it could not be dispensed with.

Farmers! buy The J. & F. Schroths & Co,, special Wheat Grower, only $20 per ton. B. F. Zimmer, agent, Constance, Ky.

Miss Katie Smith will teach the fall and winter school at the Rucker school house out on the Bullittsville and Dry Creek pike.

All roads lead to the fair at Florence, this week, and many a quarter that has been laid up for the occasion will find investment.

Mr. Joseph Kennedy requests us to announce that the colts of his horse, Dexter, will be shown on Friday of this week at the fair.

Dr. Metcalfe, of Boone county, a nephew of Rev. Dr. Evans, has located here and opened an office over Branham's grocery.—Carrollton News.

The Catholic church iat South Erlanger was destroyed by fire, last Sunday afternoon. How the fire originated is not known. Loss, $3,000; insurance, $1,000.

The Standard Oil Co., was fined $60 last week, for peddling oil without a license. That Company has been indicted in a great many counties in the State.

Quite a crowd of Burlington men are camped on the fair grounds for this week. They are in pursuit of the surplus dimes that will be among the crowd this week.

Everybody, and the cook, will attend the fair a few days this week. It is hoped the weather clerk will furnish less torrid weather than that which he had on tap during the fair last year.

The Licking Association of Particular Baptist will be held at Sardis, Boone county, Ky., beginning, Providence permitting, on Friday before the second Saturday in September, and continue three days.

We neglected, last week, to mention that Mrs. Patterson had received a fall by which she was considerably injured, but, fortunately, no bones were broken nor joints dislocated, and she will be about again soon.

Rev. J. F. Carsey, Universalist, will preach in Burlington, next Sunday morning and evening at the usual hours. He will, thereafter, preach for the congregation here regularly on the first Sunday in each month.

The North Bend Association of Baptist will begin its annual session, with the church at Burlington, next Wednesday morning. The several committees have been busy for a week getting everything ready for the occasion.

NOTICE.—I hereby notify the public that my wife Katherine, has left my bed and board, and that I will not be responsible for any debts she may contract. ADAM BAURER.
Aug. 16t, 1899.

The circuit court refused to modify the judgment rendered at the last April term in the Edwards divorce suit, and give the custody of the two boys to their father, A. M. Edwards, who is making a hard fight to recover his children.

PERSONAL MENTION.

D. E. Castleman is entertaining his mother.

Master Henry Adams is still confined to his bed with his knee.

Mrs. Emma Brown spent last week down on Middle creek with her parents.

Miss Grace Green, of Walnut Hills, Ohio, is the guest of Misses Ines and Kittie Gaines.

Chas. Allen and wife, of Big Bone, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Adams, Friday.

Miss Mary Riddell took premiums for riding and driving at Alexandria fair, last week.

Dr. Furnish was called to Fincastle, Ohio, Monday, to see his sister, Mrs. Parish, who is very ill.

Leonard Kite and wife, of Waterloo, were guests of Mrs. Kite's father and sister, of this place, Sunday.

Daniel Dobbins, of the Richwood neighborhood, was transacting business in Burlington, Thursday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gaines and little daughter, of Louisville, have been visiting friends in Burlington, the past week.

Nathaniel Carpenter, of Gallatin county, will attend the fair this week, and meet a host of his old acquaintances.

J. E. Rouse and family, of Yarnellton, Fayette county, are visiting friends in this county and attending the fair this week.

Mrs. H. C. Presser, of Hathaway, was visiting her father, Mr. O. J. Ryle, and family at this place, two or three days last week.

Miss Lottie Hall returned home, Friday, after a week's visit with her aunt, Mrs. Julia Elstun, of the Hathaway neighborhood.

H. G. Blanton is now apartner of Cal McAlpin, at Erianger, having purchased Mr. Thompson's interest in the livery business

Mr. Henry Barlow, one of the several prosperous citizens of the Gunpowder neighborhood, was in town a short time, last Thursday.

Reuben Hager, of East Bend, was in town Saturday moruing. He remained only long enough to learn that he had gained his land suit.

The Misses Hogan, daughters of Jno. Hogan, of the Mt. Zion neighborhood, were the guests of Mrs. Addie Westbay, at this place, last Friday.

Miss Mary Thompson returned home last Friday, after a pleasant visit of several weeks with friends at Erlanger and in the Mt. Zion neighborhood.

Messrs. B. E. Bryan, Howard Shaft, and Misses Mamie Cocklin and Edna Flinn, of Cincinnati, were the guests of Mrs. Cowen, last Saturday night.

Atty. Tolin took his summer outing assisting Capt. Hartman operate the Lawrenceburg ferry, last Friday and Saturday. They handled a large crowd of fair goers.

Mrs. Geo. F. Piper and children, of Louisville, will be the guests of Mrs. Piper's mother of this place, until after the session of the North Bend Association of Baptists.

Robt. Bradford, of Hebron, was in this part of the county a day or two last week, trying to convince some of the young men that they ought to buy a new buggy and initiate it at the fair this week.

A. B. Rouse left Monday morning for Madison, Indiana, to attend the wedding of two couples of his schoolmates. One to-day at noon, the other, tomorrow evening. He will be the groom's best man in the wedding today.

Mrs. F. E. Kirtley and daughters are now citizens of Burlington, and will be valuable acquisitions to society. Mrs. Kirtley will teach the fall and winter school here. She has had considerable experience in the school room, and will give the patrons a good school if they will cooperate with her in her efforts in that direction.

A large barn belonging to Bennett Harris, who lives in Indiana, just across the river from Bellevue, burnt about 10 a. m., on the 22d inst., together with 1,400 bushels of wheat and 20 bushels of clover seed. No insurance. It is supposed the fire resulted from spontaneous combustion.

We dropped in at the county clerk's office, last Thursday, and found Dudley Finnell and deputy clerk Garnett searching some antiquated records to ascertain the original width of a road that was established shortly after the flood. The road passes Mr. Dobbins' farm near Frogtown.

The county clerk issued a marriage license on the 23d, for Geo. W. Price, of Constance, and Mrs Leola Ryle, of the Petersburg neighborhood. Each aged 22. Mr. Price is one of the Recorder's contributors at Constance, and it wishes for him and his wife a journey along the pleasantest paths of this life.

The suit of Kirtley &c., against Hager, &c., involving about 100 acres of land in East Bend bottom, this county, and about $14,000 in money, was decided at the last term of the circuit court The court held that Hager and wife and B. C. Stephens are entitled to the land, and that the plaintiffs take nothing by their suit. An appeal was taken to the court of appeals by plaintiffs. S. W. Tolin and John S. Gaunt were attorneys for the successful parties, Hager and wife and Stephens.

According to the North American Practitioner, Dr. True, of Philadelphia, has made quite extensive experiments with the juice of the tomato for the purpose of discovering its virtues as a medicine. Dr. True's investigations have led him to adopt the juice of the tomato in cases in which the blood needs toning up. The United States Government and the German Government have also made experiments and many facts of interest have been discovered. During the recent war with Spain the juice of the tomato was utilized extensively as a health preservative among certain bodies of troops, with results which were eminently satisfactory.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.

DOLLARS DO DOUBLE DUTY HERE.

Standard Granulated Sugar, 18 lbs. $1 00.
Arbuckle Coffee 10 cents per lb.
Daniel Boone Soap, 3 bars for 5 cents.
Pittsburg Wire less than city prices.
Lime, Cement, White Lead, Oils, Varnishes, etc., as cheap as in the city.

Baby Shoes for 10c per pair up.
Misses' Shoes for 50c per pair up.
A full line of Men's, Ladie's and Children's Tan Shoes—Latest Styles, Best Quality, Lowest Prices.
Men's Dress Pants, 75c per pair.
Wonder Overalls, Shirts and Pants, the best made.

COME at ONCE. THESE PRICES are ONLY While Present Stock Lasts.

UNION, KENTUCKY. UNION, KENTUCKY.

McALPIN & BLANTON,

Successors to RIGGS BROS.

Undertakers —AND— Embalmers,

LIVERY, BOARDING & FEED STABLES.

Special Rates to Traveling Men. Pianos, Organs and Furniture Carefully Removed. First-class Carriages for hire with careful drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, etc.

LEXINGTON PIKE, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

J. M. EDDINS, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

THE HARVEST HOME.

Between 800 and 1,000 people assembled at the Harvest Home grounds, last Saturday, to witness the annual exhibition of that popular association. The display of farm, garden and dairy products was large and very fine, while many of the good cooks of the county displayed large quantities of bread, preserves, jellies, cakes, &c. The quilt show, only, was not as large as usual. The fancy needle work was splendid. The shows of colts and cattle were uncommonly good. The foot race was the first thing afternoon, and created great interest. There were two entries, Walter Hafer and Charles Goodridge, the distance covered being 100 yards. The contest was very close, Hafer winning by a nose. The contest in which several young men took a very great interest was that to decide who was the best looking unmarried lady in attendance. There were three entries:—Misses Lillie Goodridge, Sidney White and Martha Lassing. The friends of each of the young ladies hustled at a lively gait, but Miss Goodridge won out by a large vote. Miss Lillie is the daughter of Allen Goodridge, of the Hebron neighborhood.

The following is a list of the successful competitors:

GRAIN.

Half bushel wheat, Thos. Hafer, 1st premium, $2; 2d premium, same, $1.

25 ears white corn, 1st premium, A. M. Yaley, $2; second, G. E. Rouse, $1.

25 ears yellow corn, first premium, Jerry Tanner, $2; 2nd J. E. Smith, $1.

The premium on each of the following articles was $1.

Rye, Walter Hafer.
Oats, David Snyder.
Sweet corn, Jake Lodge.
Tobacco, Robt. Snyder.
Display grain, 1st, Thos. Hafer, $2.50; second, Walter Hafer, $1.

VEGETABLES.

The following premiums are $1 each:
Irish potatoes, early, Joe Giger.
Irish potatoes, late, same.
Sweet potatoes, Albert Beemon.
Tomatoes, Perry Aylor.
Pumpkins, Chas. Garnett.
Squashes, Jameson Aylor.
Watermelons, Huey Aylor.
Nutmegs, same.
Turnips, W. C. Rouse.
Onions, G. B. Powers.
Green beans, J. W. Dixon.
Soup beans, Perry Aylor.
Cabbage, Frank Rouse.
Cellery, Dora Baker.
Carrots, W. C. Rouse.
Radishes, Wm. Criven.
Cucumbers, Wm. Kirkpatrick.
Beets, W. C. Rouse.
Peppers, Tom Hafer, $2.
Display vegetables, 1st, Perry Aylor, $3; 2d, Tom Hafer, $2; 3d, S. W. Aylor, $1.

FRUIT.

Display apples, Ed Berkshire, $2.50; Plums, same, $1; Pears, same, $1.
Quinces, J W Utz, $1.
Grapes, W H Clayton, $2.50.
Display fruit, 1st, Ed Berkshire, $3; second, John Aylor, $2.

PANTRY AND DAIRY.

Sour pickles, Nannie Baker, $2.
Sweet pickles, Mrs W P Beemon, $2.
Corn bread, Mrs J E Smith, $1.
Loaf bread, hop yeast, Mrs W F McKim, $2.
Loaf bread, salt rising, Mrs Sheilie Tanner, $4.
Pound cake, Mrs R W Rouse, $1.
Jelly cake, Kate Walton, $1; Layer cake, same, $2.
Three lbs. butter, Emma Farrell, $3,
Can peaches, Mrs Jane Crigler, $1
Can pears, Mrs Mamie Eroste, $1.
Can tomatoes, Mrs Robt Rouse, $1.
Quart maple molasses, Emma Farrell, 50c.
Quart sorghum molasses, Nannie Baker, 50c.
Apple vinegar, Owen Aylor, 50c
2 pounds honey, Jas Kendall, 50cts.
Lady cake, Mrs B T Kelly, $1.50
Fruit butter, Mamie Tanner, $2
Display preserves, 1st, Mamie Tanner; $2; 2d, Laura Conner, $1
Display jelly, 1st, Mrs E O Rouse, $3; 2nd, Grace Conner, $2
Fruit cake, Mamie Tanner, $3

POULTRY.

Cochins, A M Acra, $1.50
Leghorns, John Aylor, $1
Wyandotts, J H Aylor, $1
Minoras, John Aylor, $1
Brahmas, W C Rouse, $1
Game, A M Acra, $1
Plymouth Rock, Jerry Tanner, $3
Bantams, Bell Baker, $1
Turkeys, B H Segner, $3
Geese, W C Rouse, $1.50
Ducks, same, $2.50
Display poultry, 1st, A M Acra, $3; 2nd, W C Rouse, $2

FLOWERS.

Fuchias, Eva Quigly, $1
Cactus, Nannie Baker, $1
Hanging basket, Henry Hafer, $1.50
Hand bouquet, Emma Acra, $1
Geraniums, Eva Quigley, $1.50
Display flowers, Eva Quigley, $5

ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS AND PAINTINGS.

Cut flowers, Nannie Baker, $1
Wax flowers, Ada Allen, $1; Feather flowers, same; Paper flowers, same, $5
Hair flowers, Ora Ross, $1
Tapestry painting, Mrs Huey Aylor, $3
Crayon drawing, Scott Smith, $1
Pencil drawing, G B Powers, $1
Oil painting, Mrs J C Souther, $2
Counterpane, Mamie Tanner, $1
Calico quilt, Mrs A E Clore, $1
Worsted quilt, Mrs F Riddell, $1
Silk quilt, Mrs Dr Delaney, $2
Fancy fan quilt, Mrs N W Carpenter, $5.
Silk quilt, crazy, Mrs F Riddell, $3.50
Worsted quilt, crazy, Etta Beemon, $4

EMBROIDERY AND NEEDLE WORK.

The premium on each of the following articles was $1:
Linen embroidery, Inez Gaines
Silk embroidery, Emma Clore
Cotton embroidery, A E Crigler
Kensington work, Mrs Yaley
Araseue work, Mamie Tanner
Crochet work, Jennie Dixon
Lace work, Mrs E O Rouse
Art needle work, same
Knit lace, Katie White
Drawn thread, same
Rag carpet, Ora Ross
Fancy knitting, silk, Mrs E A Snyder.
Hand-made shirt, Mrs J E Smith
Hand sewing, Jennie Dixon
Woolen knitting, Miss Permelia Corbin, 50c
Fancy woolen knitting, Mrs A E Crigler, 50c

HOGS.

Sow and 6 or more pigs, Ben Snyder, $5.
Pair of pigs under 6 months, Milton Souther, $5.
Boar and sow over 6 months, Will Garnett, $5.

SHEEP.

Aged buck, long wool, J. H. Aylor, $3; aged buck, short wool, same $5; aged ewe, long wool, same, $3; aged ewe, short wool, same, $3; pair lambs, same, $5.

CATTLE.

Dairy bull under 2 years, Joe Scott, $5.
Bull, beef breed, under 2 years, J. H. Aylor, $5.
Dairy heifer, under 2 years, Charles Youell, $3.
Heifer, beef breed, Oney Rouse, $3.
Milch cow, Joe Scott, $5.
Jersey herd, Joe Scott, 1st, $10; Chas. Youell, 2d, $5.

HORSES.

Suckling draft colt, regardless of sex, James Code, 1st, $5; Russell Smith, 2d, $2 50.
Suckling harness colt, regardless of sex, Noah Clore, 1st, $5; Ben Snyder, 2nd, $2 50.
Suckling colt, all purposes, regardless of sex, Jerry Blyth, 1st, $5; Russell Smith, 2d, $2.
Mules the get of J. E. Rouse's jack: Mare mule colt, Geo. Anderson, $5.
Horse mule colt, Bennie Kelly, $5.
Foot race, 100 yards, Walter Hafer, $3.
Best looking unmarried lady, Lillie Goodridge, $3.

NOTES.

The usual very excellent order prevailed.

Twenty-four nice colts were shown in the all-purpose ring.

The day was a financial success, but not a money maker for the association.

Carl Cason put to sleep the fellow at whose head they were throwing balls.

The premiums given were not very large but competition was none the less spirited.

The young people put in the time dancing. They had no time to spare to look at the pumpkins.

The poultry show was considerably larger than usual. The poultry business is on the increase in this county.

Hubert Conner is an efficient and accommodating secretary. The other officers attend closely to their duties.

The successful exhibitors lost no time in applying to Secretary Conner for their orders for the payment of premiums.

The rain Saturday morning killed off a crop of dust that would have been very annoying, and it also reduced the attendance considerably.

When in Burlington Call on

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS

Notions, Boots and Shoes,

Who has just received his stock of

SPRING & SUMMER SHOES,

the nicest stock ever in town. Have old stock which I AM SELLING AT GENUINE BARGAINS.

NICE LINE WALL PAPER,

At Prices to Suit the times.

DEERING - MACHINES

Are the favorites in every land where grass and grain grow. They are adopted to all conditions. They are the "Acme" of strength, durability, simplicity and light draft. We will carry a full line of Repairs. Buy the Machine that is fully guaranteed and handy to obtain repairs for.

Also remember we are headquarters for all kinds of

Farm Machinery

At bottom prices. We handle nothing but the best and fully guarantee all.

Also the Largest and Cheapest

Stock of Shoes

In the county, and a full line of

General -- Merchandise.

—CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.—

COME AND SEE.

T. J. HUGHES,

BEAVER LICK, KY.

GO TO

C. T. DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,

HEBRON AND CONSTANCE,

A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.

Undertaking Given Special Attention,

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron. C. T. DAVIS & CO. Constance

W. H. HOSHAL & COMPANY,

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

Cattle, Hogs and Sheep,

—UNION STOCK YARDS,—

Cincinnati, - Ohio.

—TELEPHONE 1346.—

Information Regarding Live Stock Cheerfully Furnished.

Consign Your Stock Direct to Us.

LUMBER!

LATHS,
SHINGLES,
DOORS,
BLINDS,
SASH.

If you want any kind of Lumber it will be to your advantage to visit our yard at Lawrenceburg, Indiana, before buying. Prices to Suit the Times.

M. E. LEMING & CO.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, : : KENTUCKY.

CONGRESSMAN CHARLES CURTIS, of Kansas, is an Indian of the Kaw tribe. He is a republican from the district embracing Topeka, and has now served three terms in Congress, and holds a certificate for a fourth. He is a lawyer by profession and an earnest and accomplished speaker, and the most conspicuous "friend at court" of the red men.

A DEFAULTING bank cashier who had eluded the police for three years by staying in a seaside village was discovered by a strange accident. While strolling on the beach with a young woman, watching the warships, a sailor on board a cruiser, who happened to come from the town whence the defaulter had absconded, in looking through a telescope recognised him and informed the police.

A MEMBER of the Heine family, in commenting on the unveiling of the Heine monument in New York in the Frankfurter Zeitung, declares that there can be no nephew of the poet in America, as was alleged to be the case. Heine had two brothers and one sister. One of the brothers had no children. The other had three, of whom only one survives—Baron Max Heine. The sister has one son—Baron Embden.

SECRETARY OF WAR ROOT and Mrs. Root have had no easy time house-hunting in Washington. Mrs. Root has devoted most of her days in the capital trying to find an acceptable abiding place and has not yet been able to get one. It is said the Roots may take the mansion once occupied by Mr. De Lome, who was Spanish minister at the beginning of the war. It is on Connecticut avenue, above Du Pont circle, and is owned by "Ben" Cable.

CORNELIUS VANDERBILT, JR., has proved to be a genius, and, although at odds with his father over marrying Miss Grace Wilson, he is the smartest member of the Vanderbilt family. He always has been of a mechanical turn of mind, and has designed a sailboat and electric launch, both turning out fast and with lines of beauty. For several years young Vanderbilt has been in the drafting room of the New York Central railroad, and has worked up, until to-day he has charge of that department.

AN interesting commission has been given by the French government to a lady art worker in gold for a necklace designed as a gift to the empress of Russia. It consists of 12 medallions in gold, each bearing the portrait of a French woman celebrated in political, literary or social history. The series begins with the first Christian queen of France and ends prior to the great revolution. The art work of the goldsmith was declared at the recent woman's congress in London to be peculiarly suitable for women.

CAPT. DREYFUS has unusual knowledge in military affairs. He was the first Hebrew ever appointed on the general staff. October 15, 1894, he was arrested and put in prison, but left in ignorance of the charges against him. Gen. Mercier declared that he had overwhelming evidence that Dreyfus was guilty of high treason, it being claimed that he had told army secrets to the Germans. He was tried, convicted and condemned to solitary imprisonment on Devil's Island, off the coast of French Guiana.

THE revolutionary war cost $135,193,703 and 30,000 human lives; the war of 1812, $107,159,000 and 2,000 lives; the Mexican war $74,000,000 and 2,000 lives; the Indian wars and other minor wars, $1,000,000,000 and 46,000 lives; the civil war $8,500,000,000 and 544,000 lives, and the Spanish war, $150,000,000, being the liabilities incurred, although $360,000,000 was appropriated by congress on account of this war. The total number of men and officers who were killed and died from disease and wounds during the war was 3,910.

MISS JANE L. BUCHAN, a young woman of Southern Pines, N. C., has discovered a new field of industry for women in grape-packing. As the grape season lasts only a few weeks, in order to make it pay, she contracts with various vineyards and has a corps of experienced girl workers trained by herself. The careful selecting of the fruit and the trimming and lining of baskets with paper lace is particularly adapted to the deft fingers of women, and one has a record of 113 baskets packed in six hours.

A NEW and unique industry has been established at Wabash, Ind., by Nathan Meyer, a prominent local manufacturer, and his associates. The concern is regularly incorporated under the title of the Wabash Belgian Hare Breeding and Importing Co. The company will undertake to import large numbers of the animals from Europe, and will propagate them on an 80-acre farm south of the city leased for the express purpose. A ten-acre tract has been set apart for the breeding grounds and range, and a well built rabbit house has been erected to shelter the hares in bad weather.

THE Court of Cassation of France is one of the most august and able judicial tribunals in the civilized world. The honesty of its judgments is always above suspicion. Its decisions have always commanded the respect of the bar and the judiciary of every civilized country. France has had many of her institutions rudely shaken by the frequent revolutionary convulsions by which she has been afflicted, but this court has survived all revolutions and changes of government, and has stood like a pillar of granite, unaffected by popular excitements and unaffected by political prejudice.

THE HURRICANE.

One Hundred Lives Lost in the Albemarle and Pimlico Sounds.

Many Schooners, Pungies, Sloops and Fishing Craft Wrecked, Ashore, Broken Up, Sunk or Turned Over—Sounds Strewn With the Wreckage.

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 23.—It is now thought that the number of people who lost their lives by shipwreck and disaster attending the West Indian hurricane which passed up the coast about ten days ago will reach 100. Accounts in many respects conflicting continue to come in from the Albemarle and Pamlico sound region, and the coast from Hatteras to Boyds is not, in which section the greater number of casualties occurred. As this section of water is the artery for small craft from the region tributary to Chesapeake bay and as far north as Philadelphia and south to Georgia, the number of vessels traversing these inland seas is always great.

Masters of craft in from that region state that all schooners, pungies, sloops and fishing craft wrecked, ashore, broken up, sunk or turned over are to be seen almost hourly in a trip through the sounds and it thought that the total drowned will run close to one hundred if it does not even reach it.

One Swan, Hog and other islands in the vicinity of Portsmouth, Big and Little Kinnaket, Ocracoke and smaller points, fully 60 to 70 houses, four or five churches and numerous stores, barns and warehouses were either washed away or damaged beyond repair. As a result numbers are homeless and destitute and many others have lost crops and flocks. Stocks and implements and the fishing interests have suffered greatly. In a few days a fairly complete report can be made, but at present rumors outweighing true statements and an accurate footing of the damage can not be reached.

EX-JUDGE HILTON DEAD.

The Principal Funeral Services Will Be Held in Saratoga and the Remains Buried in Greenwood Cemetery.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Ex-Judge Henry Hilton, of New York, died at 5:35 o'clock Thursday afternoon, at Wood lawn park, his Saratoga country seat. He had been in an unconscious state several hours, and his last moments were without pain.

At his bedside were Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Hilton, Mrs. Horace Russell, a daughter of the attending physician.

Although no definite arrangements have yet been made in regard to the funeral, it is understood that the principal services will be held in Saratoga. The judge's body will be buried in the family plot in Greenwood.

FIVE MINERS KILLED.

Dynamite Exploded at the Margaret Mining Co.'s Mine Near Carterville, Mo.—Victims Blown to Atoms.

JOPLIN, Mo., Aug. 25.—Five miners were killed by an explosion of dynamite Thursday evening at the Margaret Mining company's mine near Carterville.

While Gilbert was engaged in the preparation of a blast a stick of dynamite which he held in his hand exploded and the concussion exploded a box of dynamite which stood near by. The big concentrating plant was demolished and the five men at work there were blown to bits. The shock of the explosion was felt at Oronogo, three miles away.

DU PATY DE CLAM ILL.

Too Sick to Testify in the Dreyfus Court-Martial Case—Jonaust Refuses to Allow Medical Examination.

RENNES, Aug. 25.—At the opening of the session of the Dreyfus court-martial Friday morning a medical certificate, signed by doctors unknown here, was read, declaring that it was impossible for Col. Du Paty De Clam to leave his bed and come to Rennes to testify.

M. Labori asked that two well known medical men should be instructed to examine him, but Col. Jonaust refused.

Rowland Strong, the English newspaper man, then deposed to the circumstances in which Esterhazy confessed to him that he wrote the bordereau.

A Millionaire's Daughter.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Juanita Teresete Terry, aged 13, who was killed, with her half sister and nephew, by a train at Seabright, N. J., was the only daughter of the late Juan Pedro Terry, the Cuban millionaire, and would have inherited between six and seven millions from his estate. Her next of kin is Mrs. Charles W. Tripp, her half sister, who was badly injured in the railroad accident.

Threw a Dynamite Bomb.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—A dispatch from Rome reports the throwing of a dynamite bomb into the villa of the archbishop of Gallipoli, province of Lecce, seriously damaging the walls of the building. The motive for the outrage is believed to have been political.

Philadelphia Porto Rican Fund.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—The Porto Rican fund now amounts to $24,489. The relief committee will send another ship load of supplies if the government will provide the vessel.

CUBAN CAPITAL.

Smuggling in Havana Almost Stamped Out by Collector Bliss.

An American Woman Writes to Gen. Gomez—She Says She Hopes She May Live to See Him President—The General Replies.

HAVANA, Aug. 26.—A Filipino, who had lived some years in Cuba and amassed a considerable fortune, recently died, and the question arose as to who should take charge of the estate. As the man died under American sovereignty—the United States controlling the Philippines—the courts of Cuba could not deal with the matter and the military authorities refused to act. The responsibility therefore devolved upon the British consul general, Mr. Lionel Carden, who represents the interests of American citizens here, and Mr. Carden, will be in in charge of the estate until the the return of the son of the deceased from Mexico.

Owing to the activity of Collector Bliss, smuggling, which used to be rampant in the city of Havana, is now stamped out here. Cuba is a kind of Paradise for smugglers, owing to the long, broken coast, and it will take some time to eradicate smuggling altogether. But Collector Bliss is determined to do all in his power to put an end to it. He offers 25 per cent. of the value of the confiscated goods to any custom house inspector capturing a smuggler.

The strike of masons continues, though the masters have to agree to pay from $2.50 to $3.80 to masons, and from $1 to $1.40 to laborers for a day of nine and a half hours. It is said the carpenters will strike next Monday if the strike of the masons has not been arranged by that time.

Gen. Maximo Gomez recently received a letter from Madame Teodora Lanier, who says she has been watching and praying for him 30 years, and that the Cubans ought to bless him, "strewing with flowers the path of the man who has sacrificed most of his life on their behalf." She hopes she may live to see him president of Cuba, and asks him to write to her, subscribing herself, "A devoted American friend."

He replied in part as follows:

"The sweet and beneficent spirit that inspired the sentiments of your letter and the spontaneous sympathy of soul which it shows move all my gratitude."

Gen. Gomez was so much impressed by the assurance that he gave the correspondence to the local papers.

Veterans' Union Convention Closes.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 26.—The Union Veterans' union closed its annual convention here Friday. The final reports showed the order prosperous financially and increasing rapidly in membership. The next meeting will be held at Washington in October, 1900.

Maj. Harrison Out of Danger.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—A cable dispatch received at the war department Friday from Maj. Gen. Wood says Maj. Russell B. Harrison, who is ill at Santiago of yellow fever, appears to be out of danger. Ex-President Harrison, who is in Paris, is being kept daily informed of his son's condition.

A Strange Affliction.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 26.—Because of a nervous affliction, Tom Booth, aged 60 years, can not walk, but if some one will start him he can run pell-mell ahead until somebody stops him.

The Plague at Astrahkan.

VIENNA, Aug. 26.—Although according to the latest reports, the plague at Astrahkan, Russia, is not bubonic, but milder and pneumonic, the Roumanian government has issued an order closing the Russo-Roumanian frontier.

IDLE NEGROES.

The Crusade Against Them in Little Rock is Being Pushed Vigorously—A Large Number Leaving the City.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 26.—The crusade against idle Negroes, which began shortly after the atrocious assaults committed on white women in this city last week, is being pushed vigorously.

Of the 50 Negroes jailed as suspects, a large number have been sentenced to jail for 60 days on bread and water on the charge of vagrancy.

The bread and water sentences are given under authority of an old law that had not been invoked in many years. Large numbers of Negroes have fled from Little Rock to escape arrest. Three who have been identified as those who assaulted white women have been removed to another county to avoid possible lynching. Officers are still searching for the other two culprits and are arresting every idle Negro they find on a charge of vagrancy.

Gov. Jones Friday received a letter from the "National Anti-Mob and Lynch Law association," of Springfield, O., requesting him "in the name of humanity, law and order, to prevent the lynching of those 40 men in Little Rock."

THE CORDON AT OPORTO.

It is Asserted That it Established It Will Produce a Famine More Injurious Than the Plague Itself.

OPORTO, Aug. 26.—There has been a great exodus of the population since the government announced its intention to establish a sanitary cordon around Oporto with the view of restricting the spread of the plague. The proposal meets with much opposition. Dr. Pina Callado, the governor of Oporto, has resigned as a protest. It is asserted that the cordon if established, will produce a famine more injurious than the plague. Both railways are now closed and the only exit is by the sea.

At a largely attended meeting of the Mercantile club Friday resolutions were adopted protesting against the old fashioned and exaggerated methods of isolation.

It is announced that the cordon will not affect Lecca or Gaya so that the wine export will continue.

OLYMPIA BATTALION.

It Landed From the Cruiser at Villefranche for Drill—The Entire Population Viewed the Parade.

NICE, Aug. 26.—The Olympia battalion landed from the cruiser Friday morning at Villefranche, near here, for drill purposes, the entire population of the town viewing the parade from the surrounding heights. The men presented a splendid appearance. Adm. Dewey received a visit shortly before noon from Edward Andre, Belgian consul at Manila. He passed a quiet day on board, and seemed in perfect health and greatly benefitted by the rest he is taking.

Rough Rider Appointed Lieutenant.

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 26.—Geo. Curry, sheriff of Otero county, N. M., who was a captain in Roosevelt's rough riders, has been appointed a lieutenant in the 11th cavalry now being formed in the Philippines. He has tendered his resignation as sheriff.

Fatally Injured in an Elevator.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 26.—Ernest W. Burbank, salesman for the wholesale druggists, Walding, Kinnen & Marvin Co., got his head caught between a descending elevator and the floor Friday evening and received probably fatal injuries.

Typhoid Fever Epidemic.

LITCHFIELD, Ill., Aug. 26.—An epidemic of typhoid fever is raging in this city. There were three deaths Friday and in several other cases the patients are very low.

DREYFUS GOING TO THE LYCEE.

The hour is a quarter past six. He is attended by military warders. On his way to the Lycee he has to pass through a double row of soldiers, who are drawn up as shown in the sketch, with their backs turned toward him.

MAYORS IN JAIL.

Two New Municipal Governments in the Philippine Islands Collapse.

The Trend of Affairs Tends to Make the Policy of Leniency Unpopular Among Americans—Morong Was Burned After its Abandonment.

MANILA, Aug. 23, via Hong Kong, Aug. 28.—Recent events have proved somewhat discouraging to officials who are trying to accompany war with a policy of conciliation. Two new municipal governments have collapsed through the treachery of the mayors. Sunday the mayor of San Pedro Macati, who was elected by the people, under the direction of Prof. Dean Worcester, of the United States advisory committee for the Philippines, was brought to Manila and lodged in jail. The United States officers at San Pedro Macati found that he was using his office as a recruiting station for the Philippine army. Four disguised insurgent officers were helping him.

The mayor of Baliug was also arrested and confined in the same prison. The Americans caught him passing between the line of the two armies with incriminating documents, which the authorities secured. Another prominent native mayor is under surveillance.

When the result of the election at Imus, which Gen. Lawton and Prof. Worcester engineered, was announced the Americans inquired as to the whereabouts of the people's choice and were informed that he was in prison at Bilibid, where the authorities had placed him on suspicion of being a revolutionist. He was released and installed as mayor.

Such events and conditions tend to give color to the assertions of foreign residents acquainted with the native character who insist that a great majority of the natives sympathize with the insurgents and elect officials whom they know to be revolutionists.

For two weeks Manila has been policed at night with unusual vigilance. Apparently the authorities are expecting trouble.

The trend of affairs tends to make the policy of leniency unpopular among the Americans. When they abandoned Morong they burned the whole town.

Col. Smith, of the 12th infantry, who is in command at Angeles, is skeptical regarding Filipino friendliness. Instead of allowing the natives to return to the town as heretofore he has ordered his troops to shoot all men trying to pass the lines and to turn back the women and children. He recently gave the Amigos in the town an opportunity to prove their professed friendship, putting them to work at digging trenches and cleaning streets, but this only displeased them.

The foremost citizen of Angeles, a lawyer who had welcomed the Americans with a great show of cordiality, was found communicating with the insurgents. The Americans promptly marched him off to San Fernando to stand trial.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Flames Did an Immense Amount of Damage to the Standard Oil Refineries at Chicago Sunday Night.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—One of the most destructive fires that has ever occurred at the Standard oil refineries broke out at Whiting Sunday night. It was caused by a leak at the bottom of one of the stills. A few minutes after the fire broke out there was a terrific explosion and the flames spread rapidly to the two immense tanks containing 2,200 barrels of partially refined oil. At the present time it looks as though the eight remaining will be consumed. The loss so far is estimated at $100,000. There are over 30 streams of water playing on the fire, and the supposition is it will be impossible to do more than confine it to the present limits. Stephen Wilkens, a fireman, Harry Bonney, engineer at the works, and Jesse Cunningham, a still man, were seriously burned by the blazing oil.

Philippine Island Finances.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—A statement of the receipts of the Philippine islands from the date from occupation by the United States government to July 31 last, shows that the total receipts from all sources for the period named was $5,249,411. The receipts from all sources by ports for the above named period are: Manila $3,848,248; Iloilo $265,360; Cebu $156,136.

Train Hit Them.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 28.—A Michigan Central passenger train struck one of D. J. O'Hara's garbage wagons, killing the horses, demolishing the wagon and fatally injuring the driver, Martin Setello.

Everything Quiet in Samoa.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—J. G. Leigh, special correspondent of the London Times, who has just arrived from Samoa, says that while everything at present is quiet in the islands, the powers should act at once upon the proposed treaty, otherwise the disturbances that have but just subsided may be be renewed. Commissioner Eliot, who is also here, does not anticipate a renewal of hostilities, though he says that local conflicts between the opposing factions can not, for the present, be prevented.

"You Never Miss the Water Till the Well Runs Dry."

We never realise the value of health until it is gone. When old time strength and vigor are wanting, purify the blood by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla; soon restored appetite, perfect digestion, steady nerves and even temper will prove it is bringing back the glow of perfect health.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Never Disappoints

A PHILANTHROPIST.

He Was Going to Get Rich and Get Up Something to Cool the People Off.

"Yes, sir," exclaimed the man with a linen duster and a high-crowned straw hat, "I'm going to do it."

"What are you going to do?" asked the policeman to whom the stranger had addressed himself.

"You know," he went on, without heeding the question, "that the summer months are invariably marked by increased outbreaks of all kinds. Men's angry passions seem to rise with the thermometer."

"Who were you threatening just now?" asked the policeman, sternly.

"Threatening?"

"Yes. You said you were going to do something. What are you going to do?"

"I'm going to get rich. I'm going to get some steady employment and save up my money and start it judiciously and get rich. There's no end of good you can do with riches. Rich men are doing a great deal of good now. They establish schools and colleges and libraries and let the people get acquainted with the soothing thoughts of philosophy and the sublimities of science. But in the months of July and August you, as a practical criminologist, have doubtless observed philosophy and science don't work. By the time I have got rich there will be all the colleges and libraries that there will be need of, and I will cap the summit of our civilization with a bequest for a mammoth marble refrigerator in each town, so that when anybody feels his indignation rising he can go there and wander up and down the stately corridors and cool off."—Washington Star.

HE SOON GOT WELL.

Landing with the Bootjack on the Leader's Nose Had a Beneficial Effect.

It was a sad scene. The old man lay on his bed, and by him sat the faithful wife, holding his worn hand in hers and forcing back the tears to greet his wandering look with a smile. She spoke words of comfort and of hope. But he felt the cold hand falling on him, and he turned his weary eyes up to her pale, wan face.

"Jennie, dear wife, I am going."

"Oh, no, John—not yet—not yet."

"Yes, dear wife," and he closed his eyes; "the end is near. The world grows dark about me. There is a mist around me gathering thicker and thicker, and there, as through a cloud, I hear the music of angels—sweet and sad."

"No, no, John, dear; that isn't angels; that's the brass band at the corner."

"What!" said the dying man. "Have those scoundrels dared to come here when they know I'm dying? Give me my bootjack. I'll let 'em see."

And in a towering rage the old man jumped from his bed, and before his wife could think he had opened the window and shied the bootjack at the band.

"I've hit that fat leader in the nose!" And he went back to bed and got well.—Tit-Bits.

To California via the Midland Route.

Every Friday night, at 10:35 p. m., a through Tourist Car for San Francisco, carrying first and second-class passengers, leaves the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Union Passenger Station, Chicago, via Omaha, Colorado Springs and Salt Lake City (with stop-over privileges at Salt Lake City), for all points in Colorado, Utah, Nevada and California.

The Tourist Car berth rate from Chicago to San Francisco is only $6.00, and the sleeping car berths should be reserved a few days in advance of departure of train.

Through tickets and sleeping car accommodations can be secured from any agent in the east, or by applying at the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Depot or City Ticket Offices in Chicago.

Send for our free illustrated California folders. Address Geo. H. Heafford, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, Ill.

In Technical Terms.

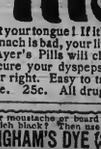
A reporter fell on a slippery pavement the other day. He did not use "unparliamentary language," as some would have done, but bit his lips, rubbed down the bruises, and, with a benevolent smile radiating his countenance, remarked:

"We don't cherish any ill will, but for entertaining reading matter commend us to the obituary notice of the man who ought to sweep this pavement."—Tit-Bits.

Her Suggestion.

A five-year-old girl lost her pet spaniel, but regained it by means of an advertisement. Her Sunday school lesson was about the lost sheep, and she was very attentive. When her teacher finished speaking she said:

"Miss May, why didn't the shepherd advertise in the paper for the sheep?"—Philadelphia Times.



Safe.

She—I think Dewey can be trusted to select a new admiral's uniform that suits him, don't you?

He—Oh, yes! It isn't as if he were a married man.—Puck.

Lying's a certain mark of cowardice.—Southern.

Ayer's Pills

Look at your tongue! If it's coated, your stomach is bad, your liver out of order. Ayer's Pills will clean your tongue, cure your dyspepsia, make your liver right. Easy to take, easy to operate. 25c. All druggists.

Want your moustache or beard a beautiful brown or rich black? Then use

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE for the Whiskers

50 cts. of Druggists, or R. P. Hall & Co., Nashua, N. H.

PISO'S CURE FOR

CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

CONSUMPTION

SENATOR GOEBEL

Addresses a Vast and Enthusiastic Audience at Mt. Sterling.

An Eloquent and Powerful Argument on the Issues of the Campaign.—The L & N and the Trusts Aim to Control the State.

MT. STERLING, Ky., Aug. 21.—Fully 3,500 people, packed as close as they could stand, to-day heard Senator Goebel and nominee Goebel upon the issues of the campaign.

The speeches undoubtedly had excellent effect. Senator Goebel was never in better voice, and the evident sympathy of the crowd with all he said fairly inspired him. It was by far the best speech he ever made, and the audience was held spell bound. He said:

"Fellow Democrats: The most active opponents of the Democratic ticket today, my fellow citizens, are the L. & N. Railroad, the American Book Trust and the American Tobacco Trust. They are engaged in an effort to control the state government of Kentucky. Your platform adopted at Louisville is a defiance of the efforts of these corporations. (Applause.)

"You are now to determine whether you, by your duly executed servants, or the L. & N. railroad, the American Book Trust and the American Tobacco Trust are to govern Kentucky. (Applause.)

"The L. & N. Co. entered the campaign early. They failed to dominate the Louisville Democratic convention, and in the letter of President Smith, of that company, they have entered the campaign, and will only desist upon the making of a pledge that the Legislature of Kentucky will do nothing that they object to. Now, the first time in years, corporate greed has thrown off the mask and entered upon an open effort to manage the affairs of a free people.

"Hon. John Young Brown, the alleged nominee of an allege l convention at Lexington (applause), said in accepting his alleged nominauon: 'Go home and tell your neighbors what you heard here.' Did he expect the delegates to that convention to go home and tell what they really heard—the rumbling of the Louisville & Nashville pay train? (Applause and cheers.) Or, they heard the music of the Louisville Buckingham Theatre band?

"Did he expect them to tell their neighbors that they saw as one of the chief actors there Wilbur F. Browder, the head lobbyist of the L. & N. Railroad. (Applause.) That they saw there William H. Mackoy, enairman of the Palmer and Buckner committee in my county? Did he expect them to tell their neighbors that Basil Duke, of the L. & N. Railroad Company, was managing that convention, with the assistance of John H. Whallen, of Lou sville, who helped the Republican County Judge of Jefferson county to so name the Louisville election officers in 40 precincts that not a single election officer was for W. J. Bryan? (Applause.)

"Of all men it doesn't lie in the mouth of John Young Brown to say aught against the Democratic ticket of Louisville. (Applause.) He attempted, six days after what he ob'ected to had been done at Louisville. to get for himself the same nomination which was given to me." (Prolonged cheers.)

Senator Goebel then read an extract from a Louisville paper which was published upon the personal application of Mr. Brown, who hoped that the convention might thereby be stampeded to him.

He told how Mr. Brown had asked Mr. Charles C. McChord to go up to the Courier-Journal office and request the publication of an anonymous article stating that there was "much talk about John Young Brown as a compromise candidate."

"He did everything he cou'd," said Mr. Goebel, "to secure the nomination which was given to me. The cause of his discontent is much plainer than the motive for his bolt. (Cheers). Now, my fellow citizens, the fight before you is no more and no less than a repetition of the fight of 1899." (Cries of "That's right.")

Senator Goebel then reviewed the effort of the L. & N. to defeat the Democratic ticket now as in '96 by the free circulation of subsidized newspapers. "We won't read them," shouted a man in the audience, and the crowd cheered.

Senator Goebel said that the whole purpose of anti-Democratic effort was to divide the Democratic vote and secure the election of the Republican ticket, the continuation of pro-corporation rule and the defeat of Bryan. There was much cheering and applause when Bryan's name was spoken.

The Republican party, said Senator Goebel, is the political agent of the money power and trusts. It hopes to carry Kentucky this year as well as next year solely by the use of tremendous corruption funds. (A yell of "that's no lie.")

THE SCHOOL BOOK TRUST.

"Now, my friends," said Senator Goebel, "I want to say a few words to you about the School Book Trust. I observe that Mr. Grinstead, the chief lobbyist of the School Book, took part in this bolting convention. (Cheers.) Now I want to tell you a simple fact. Certain school books are in use in Kentucky and in Indiana. They are exactly the same in both states. There is not the difference of a dot or punctuation mark on them, yet they are sold for 25 per cent. more in Kentucky than in Indiana. The reason for this difference in price is that Kentucky has not passed a law regulating the price of school books and Indiana has. In Indiana such a law has been on the statute books for ten years, and it has been a satisfactory law in every respect. In my opinion, if anything should be made as free as possible it should be the opportunity of every poor child in Kentucky to get an education. (Applause.)

"Fellow Democrats, the Republican party should be judged not by what it says but what it does." (Applause.)

Senator Goebel recalled the introduction of the Chinn school book bill. He said it had been opposed by Moquet who participated in the "bastard convention," at Lexington (laughter and applause), by George Alexander and by James C. Gillespie. (Cheers.) "That bill," continued Senator Goebel, "would have saved the parents of school children in Kentucky the enormous sum of $700,000 per year." (Applause.)

The speaker then took up the McChord railroad bill, classifying it as a Democratic measure, denounced by the Republican convention and ignored by the railroad convention at Lexington He explained the provisions of the McChord bill and cited the fact that Geo. Alexander and James C. Gillespie, who attended the bolters' convention, had voted on this bill. "Not with the decree of the Democratic caucus, but with the veto of the Republican Governor." (Cheers.

Senator Goebel went into details in explaining the railroad exaction which the McChord bill will correct. The crowd listened with much interest, especially to the explanation as it applied to local freight rates.

Senator Goebel concluded with a clear statement of the issues confronting Democrats. "You are to decide," said he, "if Republican rule shall be continued indefinitely, if Kentucky's vote shall go to McKinley or to Bryan, if J. C. S. Blackburn shall go to the senate or some Republican or Democratic renegade if imperialism shall take the place of Democracy."

MOSQUITOES OF THE WORLD.

An Extensive Collection of the Pests Is Now Being Made by the British Museum.

"We are at present busy making a collection of mosquitoes from all parts of the world for the purpose of investigating the theory of malaria being solely contracted from mosquito bites, and out of a box of 50 from Malta only about seven or eight were true mosquitoes. That shows how widespread error is," said Ernest Austen, of the natural history department of the British museum —who knows more about mosquitoes than ordinary people ever imagined there was to learn, says the London Leader.

"And have you come to any conclusion regarding the malarial theory?"

"Well, of course, that's rather out of my province. But I may say that it has been proved that it is undoubtedly contracted from mosquito bites at times, and we expect to find that it is always so. We have proved that bird diseases in India are spread by the bite of parasites peculiar to them, and it is likely we shall learn that malaria is the result of mosquitoes. If that is so, the next thing to do will be to stamp out mosquitoes."

"Easier said than done, isn't it?" queried the Leader representative.

"The pools where they breed must be filled up—they cannot exist without water—and ere long the mosquito will take its place with the great auk and the dodo. And, by the way," added Mr. Austen, "if any of your readers will be kind enough to send me on any mosquitoes I shall be glad to see them."

BUGS ON THEIR COLLARS.

Fashionable Men Now Wearing Queer Devices in Jewelry on Their Neckwear.

When somebody starts a new idea in wearing apparel or any other matter which interests humanity, the idea is seized upon with avidity. This is especially true of man, for the only changes he can encompass are with reference to the cut of coat or trousers. He must appear in a suit of sables in the evening with the same robbery of the skirts of the coat which marked the dawn of 1812. So when anything new does come up it is apt to receive fervent hail.

When the much-touted kissing bug came before the lime lights some man became possessed of an idea. That idea consisted of drawing an outline sketch of some bug or bettle upon the white collars of mankind. Bugs of the most horrible and fear-inspiring appearance were drawn with forceps-like beaks, apparently casually lingerfing on the collar with intent to sample the life fluid of the wearer.

The great advantage this device possessed was that it inspired the friends of the wearer to make vain efforts to remove the bug. First the rescuer would make wild waves of his hands with a view to scaring the bug. But this failing he would make a frantic grab and encounter merely the glossy stiffness of the collar. Then he would set up the drinks. The device is being worn to a considerable extent, but its efficacy in reducing thirst is on the wane.

PAY FOR THE SOCIETY NEWS.

Those Whose Names Get in Print in London Must Pay Big Prices for the Notice.

All the personal paragraphs and society news that appear in the London papers are paid for except that which relates to the royal family, the nobility and the diplomatic corps, says the Philadelphia Times. If an ordinary citizen gives a ball or marries off his daughter or entertains the prince of Wales at dinner he is compelled to pay for his glory. Mrs. John W. Mackay, Mr. William Waldorf Astor and other ordinary persons, native or foreign, in London society pay for every notice they receive in the newspapers. Sometimes the report of a ball or a wedding costs $300 or $400 for every newspaper it appears in. The following standing announcement concerning what is known as the "agony column" will be found in the London papers:

"All society, personal and fashionable paragraphs, except those relating to royalty and official incidents, will be charged for at a minimum rate of one guinea for two lines, each succeeding line ten shillings and sixpence additional."

Therefore when any of your friends in London send you a copy of an English newspaper containing a personal notice you may understand it has been paid for.

All the advertising in English newspapers is on outside pages. The news and other reading matter is on the inside.

HE MAY RESIGN.

The Burghers May Demand Resignation of President Kruger.

The Governor of Natal Refuses to Allow Transit of Empty Cartridge Cases Intended for the Transvaal—London Paper Comments.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—There is little fresh news from South Africa, but it is announced that the governor of Natal has refused to allow the transit of empty cartridge cases intended for the Transvaal. The Pretoria correspondent to the Daily Chronicle declares that President Kruger's concessions are so far-reaching that it is doubtful whether the Burghers will ratify them. He thinks it more likely that they will demand Mr. Kruger's resignation and the appointment of a younger man probably Schalk W. Burger, a non-official member of the executive council of the Transvaal.

All the morning papers comment upon the seriousness of the situation as revealed on Saturday at Birmingham by the speech of Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies.

The Daily Telegraph calls the speech "an informal ultimatum." The Standard says it marks the most critical stage yet reached. The Daily News observes: "We can not but suppose that such grave words were well weighed beforehand."

The Times says: Such a delicate situation can not be protracted. We believe that within the last few days the final arrangements for the general direction of the expedition which will be necessary in the event of a rupture have been completed at the war office.

"It is scarcely necessary to point out the extreme danger of allowing entrance into South Africa of arms which would be likely to fall into the hands of the black population, exceeding the white fourfold."

ANOTHER STORM COMING.

The Weather Bureau is Not Able to Predict the Exact Course of the Reported Cyclone off Martinique.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Officials of the weather bureau are not yet able to predict the extent to which the cyclone reported south of Martinique will develop. At present the information received here indicates only a slight disturbance south of San Domingo. The locality affected now, however, is entirely outside of the scope of the reporting station and until the storm moves further north it will be impossible to determine its extent.

By Monday morning it is expected that the storm may reach the vicinity of Santiago when more definite data may be obtained. Careful watch is being kept by the weather bureau of its progress and should a severe blow come prompt warning will be given by the service.

Inasmuch as the weather bureau officials are on the lookout constantly and report promptly the approach of any unusual and sudden change in the meteorological conditions, Chief Moore is of the opinion that the cable company operators should be restrained from disseminating reports which may cause unnecessary alarm. With this object in view he Sunday sent the following dispatches to the Halifax and Bermuda Cable Co., the United States and Haytien Cable Co. and the International Oceanic Cable Co:

"For the good of humanity and in the interest of commerce will you please not cable any West Indian hurricane forecasts unless emanating from the United States weather bureau. A baseless forecast may be the cause of much unnecessary consternation, as instanced in the dispatches made public Sunday morning."

INSPECTED THE TROOPS.

Secretary Root and Adjt. Gen. Corbin Paid a Flying Visit to the Army Camp at Camp Meade.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Secretary Root and Adjt. Gen. Corbin paid a flying visit to the army camp at Camp Meade, Pa., Sunday. They left here Saturday at midnight, and returned to the city late Sunday afternoon. Their object was to inspect the two new regiments of volunteer infantry, the 27th and 28th, which have just been recruited and are now rendezvoused at that camp preparatory to their departure for the Philippines. Both the secretary and the adjutant general are enthusiastic over the fine appearance of the men of the regiments.

The 27th regiment, under Col. Bell, is now under orders to proceed to San Francisco, and probably will leave Camp Meade on the train which is bringing home from that city the Pennsylvania organization which has been doing duty in the Philippines.

Valuable Timber Burned.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 28.—Immense forests fires are raging about Laramie peak, in the northern part of Laramie county. The fires have been burning for the past ten days, and have destroyed a large quantity of valuable timber.

Lady Yarde-Buller Insane.

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 28.—Lady Yarde Buller, daughter of the late Gen. Kirkham, has been declared mentally incompetent by Judge Hall, and a guardian appointed for her.

RACE WAR IN GEORGIA.

Gov. Candler Sends Troops to Darien—The Negroes, With Arms, Are Encamped in a Swamp.

DARIEN, Ga., Aug. 26.—While all was quiet here Friday night, the day was one of great anxiety and intense excitement among the white people. An outbreak by the Negroes has been momentarily expected since the killing by John Delagell, a Negro, of Jos. Townsend, a prominent citizen and deputy sheriff of this county.

Friday Sheriff Blount sent the following to Gov. Candler:

"Please order Liberty independent troops to report to me mounted at once. Situation critical. One deputy killed; another wounded."

Col. A. R. Lawton, late commander of the 3d Georgia regiment, U. S. V., also wired the governor to send a quantity of carbines and supply of ammunition for the soldiers. Col. Lawton was here Friday morning to investigate the situation. After a conference with the officials, he returned to Savannah. When the governor received the message from Sheriff Blount he ordered Col. Lawton to return if necessary and take command of the militia. He is now here in that capacity and has enough men, it is believed, to easily handle the situation.

The sheriff and his deputies continue to make arrests of the rioting Negroes, and the jail has a large number in it, notwithstanding that the tow boat left here Friday morning for Savannah with 25 rioters who had been arrested. This was a precautionary measure to prevent an attack on the jail by the Negro friends of the prisoner and to make room for those who have been arrested since the removal.

The situation here is regarded as critical, although with determined military control it is thought further trouble can be prevented. It is estimated that the Negroes outnumber the white people in this part of Georgia five to one, and the whites are consequently apprehensive.

John Delagell, the Negro who killed Deputy Sheriff Joseph Townsend and wounded Deputy Hopkins, while trying to arrest him, can not be found. He is the son of Henry Delagell, whose arrest for assault started the trouble. The county officials have offered $100 reward for John Delagell, and Gov. Candler will be asked to increase this amount.

DARIEN, Ga., Aug. 26.—The 75 members of the 1st Georgia who were left here two days ago, when old man Delagell was taken to Savannah were patrolling the town Friday night. All saloons are closed and the strictest order is maintained. Nearly every Negro left town Friday morning, and Friday night word came that they were massed in Delagell's swamp 12 miles from town. They are known to be armed and a posse of citizens left on a special train for the place at 8 o'clock. They will maintain a guard over the Negroes and prevent them from doing any damage during the night. A telegram was sent to Brunswick urging all white citizens to come to Darien. A boat was dispatched to bring them to this city and a special train will be ready in case more want to come. The presence of the whites is wanted to overawe the Negroes who are well aware of their superiority in numbers. One hundred men of the First Georgia are under orders in Savannah to be in readiness to move and if more militia is wanted the Liberty Rifles will be sent. The ordering out of these troops is within the discretion of Col. Lawton.

DARIEN, Ga., Aug. 26.—A conference was held at 11 o'clock Friday night between Sheriff Blount, militia officials and a citizens committee and it was decided to take decisive action at day light against the Negroes who are massed and armed in Delagell's swamp, 13 miles from the city.

The sheriff wired Col. Lawton, who is in Savannah, Friday night, to send the militia at once, and he received a reply that the men are ready and that the Liberty county troops will start from Hinesville for Darien at 2 o'clock.

The McIntosh dragoons are at their armory here with horses ready. The citizens moved from Darien on a special train for the swamp at 3 o'clock Saturday morning, and the militia, about 150 in number, one hour later. The Negroes are armed in defiance of law, and the purpose from it is to surround the swamp and relieve the blacks of their firearms and arrest them.

Two special trains are being prepared.

Third Attempt Futile.

UNION CITY, Ind., Aug. 26.—Mrs. Elizabeth Hindsley, aged 87 years, living at Deerfield, Ind., attempted suicide Friday by slashing her throat with a case knife. This failed, and she was tearing at the wound with her fingers when found. This is her third attempt.

New Amateur World Records.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—More world amateur records fell in the 15 miles championship race Friday night. H. Y. Bedell of New York, and Everett Ryan, of Waltham, competed, both being paced by motor tandems. Bedell led on the first mile, and then Ryan went to the front and his tandem crew cut a terrific gait. At four miles the record commenced to go down, and when the race was finished new figures were credited. Bedell's time for 15 miles was made in 37 minutes, 19 1-5 seconds.

A CONVENT FIRE.

Many Children Burned and Suffocated by Flame and Smoke.

Fire Engines Were Dispatched From Piedmont and Nyack—Eight Physicians Also Sent From the Latter Place to Give Relief.

SPARKILL, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Fire Monday morning destroyed St. Ann's convent, and it is reported that many children have been burned to death. There were upwards of 1,000 occupants in the building when the fire broke out.

The exact number of the dead could not be told at 3:15 a. m.

George A. Martine, of Sparkill, one of those who first discovered the fire, telephoned to Nyack for assistance. Mazeppa engine company responded from that place. Eight doctors also went to the asylum from Nyack.

A request for aid was also telephoned to Piedmont.

Empire Engine Co. was dispatched from Piedmont to the scene of the fire.

Piedmont is this side of Nyack, and both engines, with their compliments of fire fighters, arrived at about the same time.

Eight doctors also went to the fire from Nyack to give relief to the injured.

The asylum, which is conducted by the Sisters of Charity, held about 1,000 children. It was a long, frame building, three stories high.

The flames were not discovered until the whole building was one mass of fire. The children had scant chance of escape.

The scenes at the conflagration were heartrending. The children, clad in their night robes, could be seen falling backward into the furnace of flame and smoke, while the shrieks of the dying could be heard above the crackle of the devouring flames.

Some of the children were crippled for life by jumping from the windows. Many of the sisters also were injured, while others lost their lives heroically while trying to rescue their charges.

Although the services of the fire apparatus from neighboring places had been promptly rendered, the engines arrived too late to be effective in saving life or property.

The fire started on the upper floor of the three-story building. Nearly 300 of the occupants of the convent occupied rooms on this floor, and all the dormitories were lighted with kerosene lamps.

There is little doubt that the fire was caused by the explosion of one of these lamps. The fire spread rapidly upward and burned through the shingle roof of the building in two places.

At the time of discovery the fire had made such progress that the sisters could not awake the hundreds of children under their charge, marshal them in order and march them from the building, as was their practice at fire drills.

Many of the little victims were suffocated in their sleep.

CANAILLE DE D— DOCUMENT.

The Eclair is to Be Prosecuted By the Government for Publishing It—Gen. Mercier to Be Arrested.

RENNES, Aug. 28.—The government has decided to prosecute the Eclair for the publication of the "Canaille de D——" document, one of the four documents secretly communicated to the Dreyfus court martial of 1894, and which has been shown not to refer to Capt. Dreyfus at all. But the object of the government is to discover who communicated it to the Eclair. The assumption is that the communication was made by Col. Du Paty De Clam or possibly by Gen. Gonse. The publication occurred three years ago, but under the law prosecution can be maintained at any time during the following five years.

Sunday evening it was rumored that the government has also decided to arrest Gen. Mercier, but the rumor is not confirmed.

Saturday evening a report was in circulation that Gen. Mercier had fled to the Island of Jersey, but this story proved to be without foundation. Early Sunday morning the gendarmes were still posted outside the residence of Gen. St. Germain, military commander of this district, with whom Gen. Mercier has been staying during the trial. Their presence indicated that he was still there and in reply to questions they declared that they had not seen him leave the grounds. Sunday afternoon he was undoubtedly at home, although he declined to receive callers. No one who has studied his character and methods believes that Gen. Mercier would flee at the prospect of arrest. He has altogether too much doggedness in his composition. Gen. St. Germain's house is in one of the suburbs of Rennes.

Fatal Bicycle Accident.

OTTAWA, O., Aug. 28.—Mrs. W. S. P. Gill was riding her wheel Sunday night when she slid down an embankment, bruising her face and body and breaking the hip joint. Drs. Light and Reed are in attendance. There are small hopes of her recovery.

Finns Leaving Their Country.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 28.—Messrs. Borgstroem and Zilliacs, prominent Finlanders here, declared that 100,000 Finlanders have decided to leave their country owing to Russian oppression.

NEWS ITEMS.

It is reported in Madrid that a case of bubonic plague has developed in the Oporto prison.

A dispatch received by the navy department from the commander of the Wilmington at Montevideo states that she has lost a flange of one propeller.

G. Turina, a prominent sculptor, who had been employed for some days on the Dewey triumphal arch, now under construction in New York, died suddenly at his home Sunday.

A fire at Armona, Cal., Sunday, the cause of which is unknown, destroyed $30,000 worth of property, including a large quantity of this season's crop of raisins.

The 26th regiment will leave Plattsburg, N. Y., for San Francisco on their way to the Philippines on or about September 5. Orders have been received to that effect Friday.

The Politische Correspondenz of Vienna, says that a deputation of American merchants from Manila has gone to Washington to promote a scheme for ceding the Philippines to Great Britain.

Sixteen men from L. battery, 5th United States heavy artillery, have arrived at Seattle, Wash., from Sandy Hook en route to Manila, where they will join the 3d cavalry. They will sail on the transport Victoria.

Adm. Dewey passed Sunday on his flagship, the United States cruiser Olympia, at Nice. More than a thousand residents of Nice visited the war ship, expressing the greatest admiration and pleasure.

The government, according to a Calcutta newspaper usually well informed, has asked the British India Navigation Co. what transports would be available for government use in the event of war in the Transvaal.

The governors of twenty-one states are announced as having appointed delegations to attend the conference on trusts, by the Civic Federation of Chicago, and called to meet in that city September 13 to 16.

The anti-Semites assert they are carrying food supplies by an undergrondd passage to Jules Gnerin, the anti-Semite agitator, and his beleaguered companions at the headquarters of the anti-Semite league in the Rue De Chabrol, Paris.

At Los Angeles, Cal., Ex-Gov. Samuel Merrill, of Iowa, who has resided there for some time, suffered a stroke of paralysis Friday, and is thought to be dying. He was injured severely in an electric car accident several months ago, and has never entirely recovered from that injury.

The Lokal Anzeiger publishes the following from Constantinople: "A financial crisis is imminent. The Ottoman exchequer is empty. The finance minister has fled from those seeking payments and taken refuge in a private residence, which is now under the protection of the police."

Dr. Calpos Salles, president of Brazil, Sunday morning declared that Brazil would take part in the Pan-American exhibition in Buffalo. He also said that Gen. Roca, president of the Argentine republic, would pay a visit to the United States on the same occasion.

Julius Alexander, colored, was privately hanged at Charlotte, N. C., Thursday, for assaulting a white woman. He confessed the crime and said the penalty was just. A colored preacher in a talk on the scaffold said Alexander's crime was "one in which we are glad to see the law carried out."

Suspicious cases of fever have occurred at Orizaba, Mex., and it is believed to be yellow fever. The matter is being thoroughly investigated by the superior board of health. In the meantime Orizaba has been declared under sanitary suspicion and all rules applicable to infected towns has been applied.

At Marshfield, Wis., Wm. Moran, fireman on the Chicago & Nortwestern road, shot and killed his wife and afterward killed himself Sunday morning. Family trouble caused separation and it was this that led to the deed. Four children are left orphans. Moran was thought to be temporarily insane.

Rev. Father Elward J. Fink, S. J., has been appointed president of Gonzaga college, Washington by Father Martin, provincial of the Jesuit order, who resides in Rome. Father Fink will fill the position made vacant by the death of Father Calligan last July. His incumbency will continue for three years.

It is reported that Gen. Juan Isidor Jiminez, the revolutionary aspirant to the presidency of Santo Domingo, who is now in Manzanillo, has received during the last three days more than 800 applications to join any expedition he may intend to send to Santo Domingo. The applications include many Cuban officers who served under the late Gen. Garcia.

At Des Moines, Ia., the National Veterans' union Thursday afternoon adopted resolutions denouncing Gov. Shaw for appointing J. Rush Lincoln, an ex-confederate, as brigadier general of Iowa troops when they were called into service at the opening of the Spanish war.

The minister of war, Gen. Marquis De Gallifet, has transmitted the dossier of the Tavernier inquiry into the conduct of Col. Du Paty De Clam to the court-martial at Rennes as requested by Maitre Labori, leading counsel for the defense, on Wednesday last.

Pith of the Press.

That "prolonged push" for Otis is growing too prolonged.—Boston Traveler.

Aguinaldo is said to walk in his sleep. When he is awake he runs.—San Francisco Chronicle.

It is suspected in some quarters that the Sultan of Sulu must have been born in Ohio.—Chicago Times Herald.

The chances are that McKinley will return to Canton and leave that Philippine job unfinished.—Kansas City Times.

Now that Lawyer Root has a war map, he can see how much of the Philippines we are not occupying.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

General Otis is said to be a man of few words. Hence his disposition to cut down everything sent over the cable.—Philadelphia Times.

Mr. McKinley has now ascertained that he needs more money. There is a whole lot to learn in the war business.—Chicago Journal.

The Administration hopes to see Lawyer Tom Reed, of New York, take an early plunge into his private business.—Washington Post.

Governor Roosevelt has reached the chronic stage of the speech-making malady, and where it will lead to nobody can guess.—Pittsburg Times.

Captain Carter stole only $1,600,000. Perhaps the sum is so small that the President does not care to bother with the case.—Kansas City Times.

If this country were France we should know that Captain Carter's sentence was suspended to vindicate the honor of the army.—Chicago Record.

It is plainly the purpose of Secretary Root to send a sufficient force to the Philippines to compel General Otis to move on.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Otis has been instructed to "get Aguinaldo." The returning volunteers appear to think Otis has already got almost enough of him.—N. Y. World.

Senator Tillman seems to be in a position to negotiate for any unused vocabulary General Egan may happen to have on hand.—Washington Star.

There is a small but growing list of men who were too great to be President. The names of Thomas B. Reed is likely to be added to it.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Otis had mighty little trouble excluding the Chinese from the Philippines, but putting Aguinaldo out seems to be a job for a bigger man.—St. Louis Republic.

Of course, if Captain Carter's attorney decides to prolong his European outing, Attorney General Griggs will grant an extension of time.—Washington Post.

When the customs officers search Mr. Grovenor's baggage they will be very likely to find a large invoice of fine opinions of Mr. Hanna.—Washington Post.

The vigorous mentality and great executive ability of General Miles are already having their effect in the operation of the War Department.—Minneapolis Tribune.

As soon as Tom Reed unpacks his trunks and gets the creases out of his clothing he should rush around the corner and join an anti-expansion club.—Washington Post.

An ignorant typhoon met General Joe Wheeler on his arrival at Manila and tried to keep him from going ashore. That typhoon only wasted its wind.—St. Louis Republic.

Tom Reed is going out of politics to make money. In this respect he is reversing the methods pursued by other distinguished members of the Republican party.—St. Louis Republic.

Admiral George Dewey used to be called a "dude" in Washington. Upon his return from Manila, however, nobody at the capital will be likely to fling the name at him.—St. Paul Globe.

Croker sized up the Van Wyck boom and solemnly pronounced it a "dead one." But we must credit a certain Mr. Hogg with furnishing the facts upon which he based his estimate.—Minneapolis Times.

Mr. McKinley's censor is still lying to the American people. And the people are lying in wait for Mr. McKinley's Presidential boomlet. It is one of those cases where one lie deserves another.—Milwaukee News.

It is of the greatest importance to Mr. McKinley's Presidential chances that the war shall be brought to a close at the earliest possible moment. Why doesn't he send Hanna to see Aguinaldo?—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

The Ohio Republican managers may have a few intricate problems on their hands, but they have not invited Mr. Gage to come out and take charge of the explanation department.—Washington Post.

It will cost the trusts more to conduct another campaign for McKinley than it would for any other man in the United States. But should he be elected he would be worth a great deal more to the trusts than any other man.—St. Paul Globe.

Governor Roosevelt refuses to play second fiddle to McKinley or anybody else. Covered up under the emphatic denial that he will run for the Vice Presidency next year, is the intimation that it must be the White House or nothing.—Savannah News.

POLITICAL.

It looks very much like John R. McClean will be the Democratic nominee for Governor of Ohio.

In a few weeks every stump in Kentucky will be occupied by a political orator, and people will have but little time to devote to anything but politics.

The Brown people claim that there was great enthusiasm manifested at the opening of their campaign at Bowling Green, last Saturday, while the other fellows say it was a frost.

Mr. McKinley's prospects for renomination rests largely on the result in Ohio's election, this fall. A close call for the Republican ticket over there means trouble for the President.

Republican Governor Bradley, of Kentucky, is speechless with delight over the nomination of his dearest foe, Taylor. Words can not express his gratification. This, no doubt, is why he is declining all invitations to stump.—Albany Argus.

All indications point to a red-hot campaign this year. Politics is almost the sole topic of conversation on the streets during these sultry dog days. Voters are rapidly lining up, and the Democrats are being stirred up as they have not been stirred for nine years in Christian. If hard work will accomplish results, Christian county will be redeemed.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

If the signs of the times point correctly, John Young Brown is making the race for Governor with no earthly hope of election, but for the purpose of drawing support from Mr. Goebel and thus aiding in the election of Gen. Taylor, the Republican candidate. For this "labor of love" Mr. Brown has doubtless had it whispered into his ear that the g. o. p. will elevate him to the United States Senate to succeed Lindsay. The ex-Governor is in the attitude of a drowning man grabbing at a straw, without the slightest hope of obtaining it.—Falmouth Pendletonian.

"Yes," said a Brown delegate after returning from Lexington. "I have nothing to conceal. Our fare was paid all the way from Cadiz to Lexington and back. Our bill of expense included hack fare, railroad fare, hotel accommodations, and, in not a few instances, cigars, tobacco, beer and champagne." This is what caught some of the 2,000 "delegates" that went to the Brown convention. It is no wonder that there were 2,000 purificationists "on hand," when it is considered that the railroad monopolists for two weeks before the burlesque convention was to be held had their minions out in the woods whooping up the "honest farmers."—Cadiz Record.

The anti-Goebel men are making a great fuss about some of the delegates to the Louisville convention being unseated and others put in their places. That was not the first time such things have been done. In the convention that nominated Hardin in 1895, the delegation headed by Senator Goebel was turned down and another delegation was seated. Goebel went back home and went to work, and the Democratic vote of his county was largely increased. In the National Convention of 1896 the sitting delegation from Nebraska was unseated and one headed by W. J. Bryan was seated in its stead.—Winchester Democrat.

The most disreputable feature of the present campaign is the attempt to make an issue of the unfortunate affair between Senator Goebel and John L. Sandford. During the heat of the canvass prior to the convention a scurrilous sheet, published in Covington, containing a highly-colored article on the occurrence was scattered broadcast through the State, and a number of copies reached this office. While we were opposing Senator Goebel's nomination, we branded that method of campaigning as infamous and refused to have anything to do with it. If it was infamous then it is ten times more infamous now, and the men who are using it seem lost to every sense of shame.—Cynthiana Democrat.

W. M. RANDALL,
DENTIST.
Will be at
BURLINGTON, Monday, Tuesday,
PETERSBURG: Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday,
OF EACH WEEK.
GIVE HIM A CALL.

PUBLIC SALE!

I will sell at public sale at my residence on the Covington and Lexington pike, 2 miles north of Walton, and 2 miles south of Rich wood, on the C. N. & T. P. R. R., on

Friday, Sept. 8th, 1899,

The following stock:
25 fresh Milch Cows, some have calves by their sides; 15 yearling Jersey heifers; 200 Stock Sheep, in lots to suit purchasers; several Horses and Work Mules.

TERMS OF SALE.

A credit of four months will be given on all sums over $10, purchasers to give note with good security, negotiable and payable in Walton Deposit Bank; $10 and under, cash. No property removed until terms of sale are complied with.
W. L. GAINES.
Sale to begin at 9 a. m.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

The taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the following places to receive taxes for 1899:
Verona, Sept. 5th, Oct. 5th.
Walton, Sept. 6th, Oct. 6th.
Bellevue, Sept. 7th, Oct. 9th.
Union, Sept. 8th, Oct. 7th.
Petersburg, Sept. 9th, Oct. 10th.
Bullittsville, Sept. 11th, Oct. 16th.
Big Bone, Sept. 12th, Oct. 11th.
Constance, Sept. 13th, Oct. 12th.
Beaver, Sept. 14th, Oct. 13th.
Florence, Sept. 15th, Oct. 14th.
Rabbit Hash, Sept. 16th, Oct. 17th.
Gunpowder, Oct. 18th.
Richwood, Oct. 20th.
Hebron, Oct. 21st.
All taxes not paid by Dec 1st, 1899, will have the 5 per cent. penalty added Meet me at the appointed places and avoid the penalty.
ELMER BEALL, S. B. C.

The League Institute,
VERONA, KY.
Opens September 18, 1899.

Miss N. E Hamilton, Principal, teacher of Belle-lettres and Sciences
Miss Madeline Pfeiffer, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Latin & German.
Miss Lulu Forwood, Mathematics and Elocution.
With those interested, a correspondence with the principal is solicited.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the League Institute, the following resolutions were passed:
Resolved, 1st, That we endorse and commend the methods, management and zeal of the faculty.
2d. That we desire to express our appreciation of the steady growth of the Institute; and especially the great interest manifested by pupils and patrons.
3d That we cordially invite parents seeking a good school for their children to investigate the merits of The League Institute.
BOARD OF DIRECTORS,
Verona, Ky.

For Sale or Rent.

A farm on the Ohio river, on the Ky., side, 18 miles below Covington, containing 350 acres. Address
Mrs. N. P. CHAMBERS,
432 Greenup St., Covington, Ky.

Look in Your Mirror

Do you see sparkling eyes, a healthy, tinted skin, a sweet expression and a graceful form? These attractions are the result of good health. If they are absent, there is nearly always some disorder of the distinctly feminine organs present. Healthy menstrual organs mean health and beauty everywhere.

McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui

makes women beautiful and healthy. It strikes at the root of all their trouble. There is no menstrual disorder, ache or pain which it will not cure. It is for the budding girl, the busy wife and the matron approaching the change of life. At every trying crisis in a woman's life it brings health, strength and happiness. It costs $1.00 of medicine dealers.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

MRS. ROZENA LEWIS, of Comsville, Texas, says:—"I was troubled at monthly intervals with terrible pains in my head and back, but have been entirely relieved by Wine of Cardui."

STATE DIRECTORY.

Governor—W. O. Bradley.
Lieutenant Governor—W. J. Worthington.
Secretary of State—Charles Finley.
Assistant Secretary of State—E. D. Guffy.
Attorney General—W. S. Taylor.
Auditor—Samuel H. Stone.
Assistant Auditor—Frank Johnson.
Treasurer—George M. Long.
Sup't of Public Instruction—Geo. M. Davidson.
Register Land Office—Charles O. Reynolds.
Deputies—Stanley D. Brown, Sam S. Shepherd.
Insurance Commissioner—Sam Stone.
Adjutant General—D. R. Collier.
Assistant—Walter Forrester.
Supt. Arsenal—Capt. David O'Connell.
State Inspector—C. M. Lester.
Commissioner Agriculture—Lucas Meese.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Chief Justice—Joseph Lewis. Judges—Geo. Du-relle, J. R. Grace, T. H. Paynter, B. L. D. Guffy, J. H. Haselrigg, J. H. Lewis.
Reporter—E. W. Hines. Clerk—A. Addams.
Sergeant—W. S. B. Hill. Tipstaff—C. C. Turner.
Librarian—Miss Pauline Hardin.
Inspector of Mines—C. J. Norwood.

STATE PRISON OFFICIALS.

Frankfort Prison—Warden, Henry George; Deputy Warden, M. A. Rooney.
Eddyville Prison—Warden, L. C. Curry; Deputy Warden, Ward Linn.

RAILROAD COMMISSION.

John C. Wood, Chairman; J. F. Dempsey, H. S. Irwin. Secretary—Samuel Brown.

COUNTY DIRECTORY.

County Judge—C. C. Roberts.
County Clerk—E. W. Adams.
County Attorney—J. M. Lassing.
Sheriff—Elmer Beall.
Deputy Sheriff—R. B. Ailphin, jr.
Jailer—T. A. Adams.
Assessor—T. G. Willis.
Coroner—A. A. Munsi.
Superintendent Schools—L. H. Voshell.
Surveyor—W. E. Vest.
Fiscal Court meets Tuesday after first Monday in January, April, July and October.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge—John W. Green.
Clerk—J. W. Duncan.
Commonwealth's Attorney—M. D. Gray.
Master Commissioner—J. B. Berkshire.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

Courts are held in the months of March, June, September and December, as follows:
District No 1.—Clinton Gaines, fourth Saturday; J. T. Grant, Constable.
District No. 2.—M. B. Green, first Saturday; Constable.
District No. 3.—B. H. Ryle, Wednesday after third Monday; J. W. Aylor, Constable.
District No. 4.—John S. Noell, Thursday after second Monday; Constable.
District No. 5.—J. C. Byland, Third Monday; J. H. Watson, Constable.
District No. 6.—J. H. Walton, third Saturday; T. I. Brown, jr., Constable.

JONH TANEOUS,
Hebron, Boone County, Ky..
CARPENTER, CONTRACTOR & BUILDER.
Also does Roofing and Tin Work.
Your Work Solicited.

J. T. MARSHALL,
SALESMAN FOR
F. W. KASSEBAUM & SON,
Manufacturers and Dealers in
Granite and Marble Monuments.
GRANT P. O., KENTUCKY.

Consign your Stock to
Rabenstein, Harris & Conner,
—Live Stock—
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
COVINGTON STOCK YARDS,
Covington, Ky.,
OR UNION STOCK YARDS,
Cincinnati, Ohio.
When shipping East bill our care privilege selling Central Covington Stock Yards.
We will make it to your advantage and give your stock special personal attention.

Helms' ~ Barber ~ Shop,
PETERSBURG, KY.

Hair cut 15c, on Saturday 20c; Shave 10c; Shampoo 15c; Sea Foam 5c; Hair Singe 5c; Beard Trim 5c, other work proportionally as low in price. Ladies' and children's work a specialty. All work guaranteed satisfactory or money refunded. Hair Oils, Tonics, Perfume, etc., for sale. Thanking all for past favors, I remain, &c.,
EVERETT HELMS, Prop.

LADIES—To the ladies that have not paid us a call, will say, that Thursday is conceded to be their day. Ladies Shampoo 25c; Sea Foam 15c; Bangs trimmed 10c. Hair dressed for special occasions a specialty, at reasonable rates. Courteous treatment is our motto. Give us a call.

SIXTH YEAR OF
Walton :-: Academy
—OPENS—
First Monday in September.

First-class instruction in all Common School Branches.

Higher Arithmetic, Elementary and Higher Algebra, Book-Keeping, Plain and Solid Geometry, History, Rhetoric and Literature, Physiology, Geography, Physics, Astronomy, Logic and Psychology. Latin includes Cæsar, Cicero, Nepos, Virgil. Greek including Beginners, Greek and Xenophon.

Terms:—Tuition and Board in the building, five days in the week, under the care of the teacher, $105.75, for nine months; Board the full week or Music $18.50 additional for the full term.

Mrs. S. H. MYERS, Prin.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

I have control of the Cyclone Fence in Boone and Woodford counties. I will build the fence or sell machines to farmers that they may build their own fences. It is the cheapest and best fence that can be built. Address G. CARTER GRADDY, BULLITTSVILLE, KY.

DR. A. P. WALTON,
DENTIST,
CINCINNATI,
The Lancaster Building 22 W. 7th, Bet. Vine and Race.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.

E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
EDGAR CROPPER, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

CORNER
Drug Store
Rising Sun, Ind.
Is the place for anything in the Drug Line.
WALL PAPER, PAINTS, WINDOW SHADES.
STATIONERY, PERFUMES, FANCY GOODS, &c.
B. F. BUCHANAN,
—DRUGGIST,—
Over thirty year's experience.

FARMERS
Take Notice!
If you want good
Fertilizer
PLEASE GIVE
B. F. ZIMMER
A CALL.
He will try to please you. He has the finest line of Fertilizer for 1899 he has ever handled. Write for particulars to
CONSTANCE, KY.

Central Covington Stock Yards,
COVINGTON, KY.
Are located so as to offer special inducements to shippers South of the Ohio river in saving them extra expense and time. In addition to the local buyers there will be Eastern and foreign buyers on the market for all kinds of stock. When shipping East, don't fail to consign our care privilege selling which will be of benefit to you.
Central Covington Stock Yards Co.
Commission firms will give prompt attention to consignments.

FRANK HOSSMAN,
Hebron, Ky..
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
—Also handles all—
KINDS of ROOFING.
Which is furnished and put on at the Lowest Prices consistent with good work.
I am prepared for moving buildings.
Your Work is Solicited.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.
Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect Dec. 5th, 1898.

P. M.	A. M.		A. M.	P. M.
4.00	8.30	lv Cincinnati ar	10.05	6.00
4.15	7.04	" Ludlow lv	9.55	5.50
4.30	7.18	" Erlanger lv	9.36	5.27
5 18	8.25	Williamstown "	8.45	4.25
5.35	8.49	" Corinth "	8.25	4.08
6.17	10.28	" Georgetw'n "	7.50	3.19
6.39	10.50	ar Stamp Ground	7.28	1.55
7.10	11.20	" Frankfort "	7.00	1.00

JOS. R. NEWTON, G. P. A., Frankfort, Ky.
Subscribe for the Recorder.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him. mch22-93.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL.
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1856.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 20,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN $50,000
SURPLUS, ... $ 5,000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
Artificial Dentures, Crown and Bridge Work to represent natural organs. Gas, Vitalized Air, Odontunder for extraction.
Will be in office at Union every Monday.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

Coal! Coal!
Good Raymond City Coal
In the Yard,
9 1-2 Cents a Bushel.
KANAWAH COAL
9 cents a bushel.
J. P. LINDSAY & CO.,
Erlanger, Ky.
J. O. HUEY, Manager.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1899. NO. 46.

THE ELECTION LAW.

AN ACT to Further Regulate Elections.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

§ 1. The General Assembly shall at its present session elect three Commissioners who shall be styled "The State Board of Election Commissioners." They shall hold office for a term of four years, and until their successors are elected and qualified; they shall be citizens and electors of Kentucky, and not less than twenty-five years old; in the year one thousand nine hundred and two, and every fourth year thereafter the General Assembly shall elect such Commissioners. Said Commissioners shall qualify by taking before the clerk of the Court of Appeals an oath faithfully to perform their duties according to law. Of such qualifications said clerk shall make a certificate, which shall be noted upon the record of the proceedings of said Board and preserved among the records. Said board shall elect one of its members chairman who shall it shall appoint a Secretary who shall hold office during the pleasure of the Board. The Board shall prescribe the duties of the Secretary and fix his compensation, which shall not exceed two hundred and fifty dollars per annum. The Board shall keep a record of its acts, orders, findings, judgments and all of its proceedings. A majority of said Board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of all business of the Board, and a majority of said board may make any order, finding, judgment, or do any act or thing that the Board is authorized or empowered to make or do. If a vacancy occurs in said Board whilst the General Assembly is in session, said vacancy shall be filled by election by the General Assembly. If a vacancy or vacancies occur in said Board whilst the General Assembly is in vacation, the same shall be filled by appointment by the remaining member or members of said Board. Resignations from said Board shall be in writing, directed to the Board and filed among the records thereof.

§ 2. Said State Board of Election Commissioners shall annually, not later than the month of September, appoint three election commissioners for each county in this Commonwealth, who shall be styled the "County Board of Election Commissioners;" such County Election Commissioners shall be citizens and electors of the county for which they are appointed, and shall not be less than twenty-five years old. Before entering upon the duties of their office, they shall qualify by taking before some officer authorized by law to administer oaths, an oath faithfully to discharge their duties as such Commissioners according to law. The officer administering such oath shall make a certificate thereof, which shall be filed in the office of the County Court Clerk of the county. Said Board shall elect one of its members chairman, who shall preside at its meetings. A majority of such Board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of all business of the Board, for the doing of any act or thing that the Board may do, and the making of any order, finding, or judgment of the Board. Any member of such County Board may be at any time removed from office by the State Board of Election Commissioners. All vacancies in such county Boards shall be filled by said State Board, but until such vacancy or vacancies be filled by appointment by said State Board any vacancy or vacancies in any such county Board may be temporarily filled by appointment by the remaining members, or member of such county Board. Said county Board shall keep a record of its proceedings, which shall be a public record, and be kept in the office of the county court clerk.

§ 3. Said County Board shall annually not later than the month of October, appoint for each election precinct in the county, two judges, one clerk, and one sheriff of election, to act as such in their precinct, all of whom shall be discreet, qualified voters of the precinct for which they are appointed, and shall hold their offices until their successors are appointed and qualified; and so long as there are two distinct political parties in this Commonwealth, the judges, clerk and sheriff of election, in all elections by the people, under the Constitution and laws of the United States and under the Constitution and laws of this Commonwealth, shall be selected and appointed as that one of the judges at each place of voting shall be of one political party, and the other judge of a different party; and there shall be the like difference at each voting place between the sheriff and clerk of election: Provided, That there be a sufficient number of qualified persons of each political party resident in the precinct with which to fill said offices. No person shall be eligible as an officer of election who has not been a resident house-holder in the precinct for which he is appointed for not less than one year next preceding his appointment, or who has anything of value bet or wagered on the result of such election, or who is a candidate to be voted for at such election, or who is not capable of reading the Constitution of the Commonwealth in English, and of writing a plain and legible hand. It shall be the duty of said County Board of Election Commissioners to test all such election officers as to their qualifications before appointment. If at any time before an election it shall be made to appear to the County Board of Election Commissioners by the affidavit of two or more qualified voters of the precinct, or other evidence, that any election officer is disqualified under the provisions of this Act then said County Board shall investigate said matter and determine whether such officer is disqualified, (and such a decision shall be final); and if he be found disqualified such officer shall be removed from office and a qualified person of the same political party as the officer removed shall thereupon be appointed in his stead. Said County Board of Election Commissioners may at any time remove from office any election officer and fill the vacancy thus occasioned. And said County Board may at any time fill any vacancy in the office of election officer. The County Board of election Commissioners shall give due notice of said appointment of election officers to the sheriff of the county, who shall, at least ten days before the next ensuing election, give each judge, clerk and sheriff written notice of his appointment.

§ 4. Should the County Board of Election Commissioners fail to appoint such officers of election, or either of said officers fail to attend for thirty minutes after the time for commencing the election, or refuse to act, the officers in attendance shall appoint a suitable person or persons to act in his or their stead for that election. If none of said officers shall appear, as herein required, the qualified voters present shall elect the officers of election viva voce, as nearly as possible in conformity with the provisions of this Act, who shall serve as such officers. Each officer of election shall before entering upon the duties of his office, take an oath faithfully to discharge his duties, as such officer, before some person authorized to administer an oath, or if no such officer be present, it may be administered by the clerk of the election, who in turn shall be sworn by one of the judges of election.

§ 5. Said County Board of Election Commissioners shall constitute a Board for examining and canvassing the election returns of each county, and awarding and issuing certificates of election. Any two of the members of said Board may constitute the Board, but if either be a candidate, he shall have no voice in the decision of his own case. If from any cause, two of the members of the Board can not act, in whole or in part, in examining and canvassing the returns, their places shall be supplied as in case of vacancies in such Board. Within two days next after an election, the sheriff shall deposit with the clerk of the county court, the returns from the different precincts. On the next day the said County Board of Election Commissioners shall meet in the clerk's office, between ten and twelve o'clock in the morning, open and canvass the returns of such election, and give a triplicate or more written certificates of election, over the signatures, of those who have received the highest number of votes for any office exclusively, within the gift of the voters of the county, one copy of the certificate to be retained in the clerk's office, another delivered to each of the persons elected, and the other forwarded by the county clerk to the Secretary of State at the seat of government. For offices not within such gift, they shall give duplicate or more written certificates, over their signatures, of the number of votes given in the county, city, town, district or precinct, particularizing therein the precinct at which the votes were given, one copy to be retained in the clerk's office, one delivered to the sheriff, and one, in case of municipal or district election, to the common council of said municipality or governing authority of such district. The poll books shall thereafter remain in the clerk's office as parts of its records; so, also shall the certificates of any precinct judges which may have been used in the absence of the poll book of that precinct.

§ 6. Where two or more counties vote together in the choice of a Representative or Senator, the canvassing Boards of election of the respective counties, shall make duplicate written certificates over their signature of the number of votes given in the counties for such Representative or Senator, one copy to be retained in the clerk's office of such county, and the other to be sent immediately by mail by said Board to the canvassing Board of the county in such district having the largest population, which last named Board shall between ten and twelve o'clock in the morning of the second Monday after the election meet in the clerk's office of their county, compare the certificates of the canvassing Boards of the several counties, and therefrom give triplicate certificates of election in writing over their signatures, of the persons who appear to have received the largest number of votes one copy of the certificate to be retained in the clerk's office, another delivered to the person elected, and the other forwarded to the Secretary of State at the seat of government.

The certificate of election of a county officer shall be in substance in the following form: "Commonwealth of Kentucky, Ret. We, A. B, and C, duly authorized to canvass the returns of the county of ——, do certify, that at an election held in said county, on the —— day of——, E. F. was duly elected to fill the office of ——." The certificate of election of a Justice of the Peace, or constable, shall be altered to show that the election was held in a named district.

§ 8. When the election of a Governor or Lieutenant-Governor is contested, a board for determining the contest shall be formed in the manner following: First. On the third day after the organization of the General Assembly which meets next after the election, the Senate shall select, by lot, three of its members, and the House of Representatives shall select, by lot, eight of its members, and the eleven so selected shall constitute a board, seven of whom shall have power to act. Second. In making the selection by lot the name of each member present shall be written on a piece of paper, every such piece being as nearly similar to the other as may be. Each piece shall be rolled up, so that the name thereon can not be seen, nor any particular piece be ascertained or selected by feeling. The whole so prepared, shall be placed by the clerk in a box on his table and after it has been well shaken, and the papers therein well intermixed, the clerk shall draw out one paper, which shall be opened and read aloud by the presiding officer and so on until the required number is obtained. The persons whose names are so drawn shall be members of the board. Third. The members of the board so chosen by the two Houses shall be sworn by the Speaker of the House of Representatives to try the contested election, and give true judgment thereon, according to the evidence, unless dissolved before rendering judgment. Fourth. The board, shall within twenty-four hours after its election, meet, appoint its chairman, and assign a day for hearing the contest, and adjourn from day to day as its business may require. Fifth. If any person so selected shall swear that he can not, without great personal inconvenience, serve on the board, or that he feels an undue bias for or against either of the parties, he may be excused by the House from which he was chosen, from serving on the board, and if it appears that a person so selected is related to either party, or is liable to any other proper objection on the score of its partiality, he shall be excused. Sixth. Any deficiency in the proper number so created shall be supplied by another draw from the box. Seventh. The board shall have power to send for persons, papers, and records, to issue attachments therefor, signed by its chairman or clerk, and issue commissions for taking proof. Eighth. Where it shall appear that the candidates receiving the highest number of votes given, have received an equal number the right to the office shall be determined by lot, under the direction of the board. Where the person returned is found not to have been legally qualified to receive the office at the time of his election, a new election shall be ordered to fill the vacancy; Provided, The first two years of his term shall not have expired. Where another than the person returned shall be found to have received the highest number of legal votes given such other shall be adjudged to be the person elected and entitled to the office. Ninth. No decision shall be made but by the vote of six members. The decision of the board shall not be final nor conclusive. Such decision shall be reported to the two Houses of the General Assembly, for the further action of the General Assembly. And the General Assembly shall then determine such contest. Tenth. If a new election is required it shall be immediately ordered by proclamation of the Speaker of the House of Representatives to take place within six weeks thereafter, and on a day not sooner than thirty days thereafter. Eleventh. When a new election is ordered or the incumbent adjudged not to be entitled, his power shall immediately cease, and, if the office is not adjudged to another it shall be deemed to be vacant. Twelth. If any member of the board wilfully fails to attend its session, he shall be reported to the House to which he belongs, and thereupon, such House shall in its discretion, punish him by fine and imprisonment or both. Thirteenth. If no decision of the board is given during the then session of the General Assembly, it shall be dissolved, unless by joint resolution of the two Houses, it is empowered to continue longer.

§ 9. After an election for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, or other office elective by the votes of the whole State, or more than one county, or for a Judge of the Court of Appeals, Clerk of that Court, Circuit Judge, Commonwealth's Attorney, Representatives in the Congress or electors of President or Vice-President, or for or upon questions or constitutional amendments submitted to a vote of the people, it shall be the duty of the board of canvassers of returns for each county, immediately after the examination of such returns, to make out two or more certificates in writing, over their signatures, of the number of votes given in the county for each of the candidates for any of said offices, and the number of votes for or against such questions or constitutional amendments. One of the certificates shall be retained in the clerk's office, another the clerk shall send by mail, under cover, to the Secretary of State at the seat of government.

§ 10. Said State Board of Election Commissioners, and in the absence of either, the other two, shall be a board for examining and canvassing the returns of election for any offices named in the last section of this Act. First. It shall be the duty of said board, when the returns are all in, or on the fourth Monday after the election, whether they are in or not, to make out in the office of the Secretary of State, from the returns made, duplicate certificates, in writing, over their signatures, of the election of those having the highest number of votes, one certificate to be retained in the office and the other sent by mail to the person elected. If all the returns are not made, the right to contest an election shall not be impaired. Second. In the case of the election of a Representative in the Congress, there shall be three certificates, one to be retained in the office, another sent by mail to the clerk of the House of Representatives at the seat of Federal government. Third. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State, immediately after the comparison of the returns, to cause a statement therefrom of the votes given in every county for each candidate, to be published in two newspapers. Fourth. If two or more persons shall be found to have received the highest and an equal number of votes for the same office so that the election cannot be determined among the candidates by a plurality of the votes, it shall be determined by lot in such manner as the board may direct, and in the presence of not less than three other persons. Fifth. If one or more of the persons voted for as electors of President is elected, then he or they, when convened to vote for President, shall determine which of the candidates having an equal number of votes shall be deemed to be elected without casting any lot therefor. But if none is elected, then the board shall determine the election by lot between those having the highest and equal number of votes, except that they shall be arranged and drawn for in classes according to their known pledges to vote for the different candidates so that the whole vote of the State may be given to the same person.

§ 11. Where the canvassing board of two or more counties on comparison of the returns, or the board of canvassers for a county, find that two or more have received the highest and equal number of votes for the same office they shall, by lot, determine which of the candidates is elected.

§ 12. Said State Board of Election Commissioners, or any two of them, shall be a board for determining the contested election of any officer other than Governor or Lieutenant-Governor, elected by the voters of the whole State, or of a judge or clerk of the Court of Appeals, Circuit Judge or Commonwealth's Attorney. First. Each member of the board, before entering on his duties as such, shall be sworn by some Judge or Justice to try the contested election, and give true judgment thereon, according to the evidence. Second. A majority of the board shall be necessary to a decision, which shall be in writing, and signed in duplicate by the members concurring therein, one copy to be retained in the office of the Secretary of State, and the other delivered to the successful party, or sent to him by mail. 3d. The board shall have power to send for persons, papers, and records, to issue attachments therefor, signed by its chairman, swear witnesses by its chairman or Secretary, and issue commissions for taking proof. 4th. Where it shall appear that the candidates receiving the highest number of votes given have received an equal number the right to the office shall be determined by lot, under the direction of the board; where the person returned is found not to have been legally qualified to receive the office at the time of his election, a new election shall be ordered to fill the vacancy; Provided, The first two years of his term shall not have expired. Where another than the person returned shall be found to have received the highest number of legal votes cast, such other shall be adjudged to be the person elected and entitled to the office. Fifth. The Governor shall immediately after such decision issue the proper commission, or order a new election, as the case may require.

§ 13. The County Board of Election Commissioners, or any two of them, shall be a board in each county, with like powers as those mentioned in the next preceding section, for determining the contested election of any officer elective by the voters of the county, or any district therein, excepting members of the General Assembly, and also of any Police Judge, clerk, marshal or other elective municipal officer, where there is no other provision of law for determining the contested election of such municipal officer. The board shall be governed by the rules mentioned in the next preceding section, where the same are applicable to its duties. The decision of the board shall be given in writing, and signed in triplicate, one copy to be entered on the minutes of the board, another delivered to the successful party, and the other, when necessary for obtaining a commission, sent by mail to the Secretary of State. When the decision so requires, a writ for a new election shall immediately be issued.

§ 14. Said State Board of Election Commissioners, shall hold its sessions at the seat of government, at Frankfort, where a suitable room for them shall be provided in some of the state buildings. The members of the board shall be paid for all their services under this act, $5 per day, while so in session; Provided, That no member of said board shall be paid more than $100 for his services in any year. Said board shall provide itself with necessary books, papers, material and postage, to enable it to perform the duties with which it is charged by this act. The chairman of said board shall certify to the Auditor of Public Accounts the money so expended by said board, and the sums that the members of said board and its Secretary are entitled to be paid under this act, and thereupon the Auditor shall draw his warrant upon the Treasurer for the sums so certified, to the end that the same may be paid out of the treasurer.

§ 15. The County Board of Election Commissioners shall be paid for all services they may render under this act, $2 per day while actually in session; but no member of such board shall be paid more than $20 for his services during any year. Said board may provide itself with necessary books and stationery to enable it to perform its duties under this act, the amount of such expenditure, and the number of days the members of said board were actually in session, shall be certified by the chairman of the board to the Fiscal Court of the county and paid out of the county funds.

§ 16. All acts and parts of acts in conflict with this act are, to the extent of such conflict, repealed.

§ 17. Because of the frauds that are now perpetrated in elections in this Commonwealth, there is an emergency that this act take immediate effect, and this act shall take effect upon its approval by the Governor or its passage.

There is a movement in a village not far from here to exterminate the whole tribe of lawyers and to establish peace on earth and good will toward men all the year round instead of at Christmastide.

And if one were asked to invent a fitting name for the village in which such altruistic experiment is being tried he could not come closer to it than by guessing the veritable name, which is Amityville.

In the effort to promote brotherly love and confound the legal profession, the inhabitants at Amityville have banded themselves into what they have named the Mutual Protective Association, and issued a prospectus containing these passages, which are practically a proclamation of boycott against lawyers:

"The average citizen has neither the time nor the opportunity to become learned in the law. He is therefore impelled at times to seek counsel of those who are supposed to be skilled in this profession. Here he confronts a danger that he little knows of till he leaves it at great cost and trouble, to wit: The extortionate demands of attorneys who are frequently not only expensive, but wholly incompetent and untrustworthy.

"To avoid as far as possible the dangers and difficulties above suggested we mutually and solemnly agree to treat with confidence and concern any matter that any member hereof may broach to this compact, or to any member of it, respecting his lawful rights, and to advise so as to secure them if possible without litigation.

"And in the event of any member hereof becoming involved in or threatened with a suit at law he shall have the sympathy and moral support of the combined membership, by way of assisting to procure honest and efficient counsel for fair compensation, and to avoid the irresponsible trickster whose services are dear at any price at all.

"No professional lawyer shall be eligible to membership in this league

"Any imposition by faithless counsel upon any member hereof will be regarded as an insult to all, and the perpetrator held as an enemy and treated accordingly."

Altruists will watch with profound attention the outcome of little Amityville's crusade against all the brood of lawyers.—N. Y. Journal.

As We Are Seen In Missouri.

[St. Joe Gazette.]

Man born in the wilds of Kentucky is of feud days and easy virtue. He fisheth, fiddleth, fusseth and fighteth all the days of his life.

He shunneth water as a mad dog and drinketh much whisky.

When he desireth to raise h—l he planteth a neighbor, and lo! He reapeth twenty fold.

He riseth even from his cradle to seek the scalp of his grandsire's enemy and bringeth home in his carcass the ammunition of his neighbor's wife's cousin's uncle's father-in law who avengeth the deed.

Yea, verily, his life is uncertain and he knows not the hour he may be jerked hence.

He goeth forth on a journey "half shot" and cometh back on a shutter, shot.

He riseth in the night to let the cat out and it taketh nine doctors three days to pick the buckshot from his person.

He goeth forth in joy and gladness and cometh back in scraps and fragments.

He calleth his fellowman a liar and getteth himself filled with scrap iron even to the fourth generation.

A cyclone bloweth him into the bosom of his neighbor's wife and his neighbor's wife's husband bloweth him into the bosom of Father Abraham before he hath time to explain.

He emptieth a demijohn into himself and a shotgun into his enemy, and his enemy's son lieth in wait on election day, and lo! The coroner ploweth up a forty acre field to bury the remains of that man.

THE Boone County Insurance Company made an assessment of four per cent. of its premium notes, Monday, to pay the Dickey and Marshall losses, which, in the aggregate, amount to about eighteen hundred dollars.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

SUBLINGTON, : : KENTUCKY.

SEPTEMBER—1899.

Sun.	Mon.	Tue.	Wed.	Thur.	Fri.	Sat.
....	....	....	....	....	1	2
3	4	5	6	7	8	9
10	11	12	13	14	15	16
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
24	25	26	27	28	29	30

LILIUOKALANI, former queen of Hawaii, is keeping house in Washington. She has abandoned all hope of regaining her throne, and says she is a thorough American.

THE people of Beverly Farms, Mass., are discussing a proposition to buy the residence formerly occupied by Oliver Wendell Holmes during the summer. The plan contemplates laying out a park about the house, which is now occupied by the autocrat's son, Chief Justice Holmes.

A GREAT national movement has been started for the observance of the one hundredth anniversary of the death of George Washington on December 14. The Sons of the Revolution and other similar organizations have the matter in hand, and are arranging the details of the plan.

AN electric vehicle manufacturing house in Toronto, Ont., has constructed a motor-driven invalid's chair which is claimed as being the smallest motor carriage in the world, the width over all being only about two feet. It is equipped with three cells of storage battery, weighing three pounds, and a small motor capable of driving it at a maximum speed of four and one-half miles per hour.

THE cheapest postal service in the world is that of Japan, where for two sen—about seven-tenths of a penny—letters are conveyed all over the empire. This is the more remarkable when one considers the difficulties of transit over the mountainous and irregular country, where the railway is still in its infancy and where wagons can only pass over some of the principal roads and only a few of the coast stations are connected by steamers.

ISAAC MCLELLAN, who was widely known as "the Poet of the Rod and the Gun," died a few days ago at his home in Greenport, L. I., at the age of ninety-three years. McLellan numbered among the friends of his youth, Henry Wadsworth, N. P. Willis, the novelist Hawthorne, and the theologian Cheever. He was associate editor of the Daily Patriot in Boston, and subsequently started a magazine of his own, known as the Pearl.

IN the fruiting season the banyan is an arbor for the feathered creation and a rude temple is often set up under or close to its shade, at which the wayfarer stops to cook a meal more frequently than to offer a prayer. These sacred trees, with their grateful shade, are common in every part of India and are confined to the tropical zone. As timber they are of no value, but gumlac is obtained from their juice and the bark is used by the Hindus medicinally.

DISCUSSION already prevails in naval circles as to what duty Adm. Dewey will be assigned to when he shall reach this country. Secretary Long intimates that the question will be determined entirely in accordance with the admiral's wishes in the matter. He may be stationed in Washington at the head of a board—possibly the board of inspection and survey, the duties of which may be enlarged to take in questions of policy relating to ship construction.

EX-GOVERNOR HOGG, of Texas, says regarding the stories about his children's names: "The truthof the matter is that my girl's name is Ima Hogg. She was named by her mother. Her mother was reading a book somewhere in which one of the characters which interested her exceptionally was named Ima. About that time the little girl came along, and she was named Ima. We never noticed the play of the name until it was called to our attention. The boys have all rational names. They are Tom, Mike and Will."

THE lengths of some of the longest bridges in the world are as follows: Montreal, 8,701 feet; Brooklyn, 5,989 feet; Dnieper, 4,213 feet; the new Havre de Grace bridge, 6,000 feet; bridge at Homestead, near Pittsburgh, 5,300 feet. China has the longest bridge in the world; it is 23,000 feet long; its roadway is 70 feet wide and 70 feet high; there are 300 arches and each of the pillars, which are 75 feet apart, bears a pedestal, on which is the figure of a lion twenty-one feet long, and made of one block of marble.

MUZAFFER-ED-DIN MIRZA, who reigns over the Kingdom of Persia, owns the most expensive pipe in the world. The meerschaum or pipe of state, which he owns and smokes on high imperial occasions, is valued at $400,000 and is set with diamonds, rubies and emeralds of the brilliest kind. Not only are the mouthpiece and the upper and lower portions of the snake-like shank of pure gold, enameled and set with the most gems, but the water bowl and the bowl are equally splendid and show lavish jewel work. The Shah's own years ago presented the Sultan of Turkey with a $1,500 pipe.

OLD VETERANS.

Thirty-Third Annual Encampment Opened in the Quaker City.

The Avenue of Fame, Which Extends for Five Blocks, Is the Most Magnificent Piece of Decoration Ever Attempted in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—The thirty-third annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic began Monday. The vanguard of the veterans has reached this city and found the people with outstretched hands. Never again, perhaps, will Philadelphia be the scene of a national encampment of the G. A. R. Of the valiant men who defended the cause of the union there remains but a remnant, and with the depletion of the ranks the welcome is the more heartfelt and enthusiastic.

Adm. Sampson, with his fleet of fighting ships, arrived here Sunday, and this event marks the beginning of the week's celebration.

The route of the veterans' parade, which takes place on Tuesday, is one solid blaze of color and light. Not a building but has its front incased in the red, white and blue. The avenue of fame, which extends from Walnut to Cherry street, on Broad, a distance of five blocks, with the city hall as the center, is the most magnificent piece of decoration ever attempted in this city. There are two classes of columns. The larger and more ornate are about 50 feet in height and are placed at the street corners. The smaller columns, about 25 feet high stand on each side of Broad street between the larger columns. The corner pillars are massive, but graceful, and at the base of each are, alternately, heroic size, two soldiers and two sailors. Numerous circles of electric lights decorate the piles from the base to the golden eagles at the top. The columns are connected by festoons of bunting and laurel, and strings of incandescent lamps give a brilliant effect at night.

The north and south fronts of the city hall will be illuminated with massive electric light pieces 30 feet in length, representing the G. A. R. badge. Rows of incandescent lights extend from the top of Penn's statue, 55 feet above the street level, to the roof and around the structure, giving the effect of an immense column of brilliant light.

The big parade of Tuesday will be in twelve divisions. Post No. 1, from Rockford, Ill., the oldest post in the Grand Army, will head the line. As the veterans pass around the City Hall they will be reviewed by President McKinley, who is expected to arrive here Monday night, accompanied by Secretaries Root and Gage and Postmaster General Smith. There will be over 42,000 men in line. A feature of Tuesday's events will be the chorus of 3,000 school children, who will occupy a portion of the grand stand on the north side of the city hall. As the parade passes this point the children will sing patriotic airs.

A question of absorbing interest to G. A. R. veterans which will be decided during the encampment is the election of a commander-in-chief and other officers. Two candidates in the field are Albert D. Shaw, of Joe Spratt post, Watertown, N. Y., and Judge George Rasieur, of St. Louis. "Private" James L. Dalzell, of Company H. 116th Ohio, is also a candidate. Others urged by their friends are Col. W. C. Johnson, of Cincinnati, acting commander-in-chief, and Brig. Gen. Charles Miller, of Venango, Pa.

A DISASTROUS FIRE.

Thirty-two Frame Buildings With Their Contents Destroyed at Pinconning, Mich.—Loss About $75,000.

BAY CITY, Mich., Sept. 4.—Pinconning village, 20 miles north of Bay City, was visited by a disastrous fire Sunday afternoon. Thirty-two frame buildings, including the Michigan Central passenger station, Macabee hall, 13 business houses and 25 dwellings were totally destroyed with their contents in nearly every case. A heavy north wind prevailed and the firemen were unable to cope with the flames. The fire stopped when it had burned itself out. The loss is roughly estimated at $75,000, with small insurance.

Will Be Wedded September 25.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 4.—Mrs. Potter Palmer has issued the invitations for the marriage of her niece, Miss Julia Dent Grant, which are in the following form: "Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Julia to Prince Michael Cantacuzene, Count Speransky, on Monday, September 25, 1899, at 12 o'clock, at All Saints Chapel, Newport, R. I."

Brakeman's Horrible Discovery.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 4.—The body of Samuel L. Brown, one of the old freight conductors on the Big Four railway, was brought here Sunday night. Just before the train reached Sunman Sunday the brakeman missed the conductor, and upon running back he found him lying dead on the roof of a car with his neck broken. It is the supposition that he was struck by one of the overhanging bridges spanning Tanner's creek. Brown was 42 years old, and leaves a widow. His home was in this city.

SHAMROCK IN RACING TRIM.

Sir Thomas Lipton, Owner of the Boat, Arrives in New York—He Met With a Most Hearty Reception.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Capt. Archie Hogarth, the Shamrock's sailing master and his assistant, Capt. Wringe, have timed their work so well that the yacht, which arrived here August 18, after an ocean passage of some 14 days from the Clyde was ready Friday in her racing rig and in a new coat of green paint to receive her owner Sir Thomas Lipton and her designer, William Fife, who arrived by the steamer Campania.

The Cunard line steamer Campania arrived at quarantine Friday night at 7:30 o'clock and was met in the Narrows by a flotilla of tugs and the steam yacht Erin to greet Sir Thomas Lipton, who was a passenger on the liner. The quarantine commissioners' boat, the State of New York, also appeared on the scene with a large party under the guidance of Commissioner Palmer. The party consisted of Col. Tredwell, Gov. Roosevelt's military secretary, who was sent by the governor to receive Sir Thomas Lipton, a number of officials and members of the New York Yacht club, a number of members from the New England society and other similar organizations. All boarded the steamer and came up to the dock.

Sir Thomas Lipton when seen at quarantine said that he had a pleasant trip, but was glad to arrive at his destination. He said his party was small, consisting of Mr. William Fife, jr., Mr. Ratsey, the sail maker, and Sir Thomas' secretary. Sir Thomas, in his welcome down the bay, received an invitation, extending the courtesies of 56 clubs while in this country, and an invitation to lead the marine division of Dewey day celebration with his yacht Erin. Both were accepted.

One of the first questions Sir Thomas asked after the first greeting was: "How is the Columbia?" He then expressed the belief that the best boat would win, saying: "We felt it a waste of time to come here with anything but the best boat in England. She is here now. We are going to do our best. The Shamrock will do her best and we will try to do better than some people who have been here before. Whatever the outcome of the race may be, I am sure if I am defeated, it will be because I have not the best boat. I feel that I am among friends."

There was a large crowd at the Cunard dock when the Campania arrived. As the big vessel loomed up a tug bearing a big Shamrock flag came ahead and this caused great cheering on the part of the crowd on the dock. Cheers were given for the Shamrock and her owner.

When Sir Thomas came over the gang plank he was received with another great cheer. He took off his cap and bowed, and there was a smile on his face. He was pushed and jostled about in the great throng like a countryman in line for a ticket at a circus, but he took it all in good nature.

THE GUNBOAT MARIETTA.

Gov. Bushnell, on Behalf of Citizens of Marietta, O., Presents the Vessel With a Fine Silver Service.

BOSTON, Sept. 2.—Gov. Bushnell, of Ohio, in behalf of the citizens of Marietta, presented a silver service to the gunboat Marietta at the Charlestown navy yard Friday. Gov. Bushnell was accompanied by a delegation of Marietta citizens. On reaching the navy yard the governor was received with a salute of 17 guns and under escort of marines proceeded to the dry dock in which the vessel lay decorated with flags and bunting.

The crew of the Marietta, officers of the navy yard, and the invited guests were assembled on the deck. After Gov. Bushnell had presented the gift, Commander Gleen, of the Marietta, responded, and short addresses were made by Rr. Adm. Pickering, commandant of the navy yard; Col. J. Payson Bradley, representing Gov. Wolcott, and Mayor Quincy, of Boston.

Preparing for War.

JOHANNESBURG, Sept. 2.—The town is preparing for the eventualities of war. The inmates of the childrens home are going to Natal. The town council is providing a three months supply of food for the men and animals connected with the scavenging department. All the outgoing trains are crowded, and most of the prominent men have already left Johannesburg.

The R. & O. in Control.

WESTON, W. Va., Sept. 2.—The West Virginia & Pittsburgh railroad passed into the control of the management of the Baltimore & Ohio Co. Friday. A. M. Lane has been appointed division superintendent and S. A. Steele foreman. All the present train men will be retained.

Stone-Thrower Bound Over.

GREENSBURG, Ind., Sept. 2.—For some time past the Big Four Railroad Co. has been annoyed by someone throwing stones through the car windows as the trains passed through Westport, a station ten miles south of this city. Mrs. Grant Plummer was struck and seriously injured by one of the flying missiles. Detective Grady arrested Edward Turaska, 17 years old, and brought him to this city. He was arraigned before Mayor Willoughby Friday morning and bound over in the sum of $500.

SHORT RATIONS.

Filipinos Trying Every Scheme to Get Food and Ammunition.

They Are Using Homemade Black Powder—A Force of Native Police Has Begun to Patrol Manila, Co-Operating With Provost.

MANILA, Sept. 4.—Many Spanish prisoners are escaping from the Filipinos and bringing into the American lines stories of hard treatment. They agree that the Filipinos are exceedingly short of rations, and that a large section of their troops is reduced to the use of home-made black powder. The natives are trying every scheme to get food and munitions from Manila. Daily arrests are made for attempts to smuggle contraband of war through the American lines. In one case a casco with a cargo of bamboo poles was overhauled, and the poles were found full of rice.

The insurgents have a wholesome respect for the British, on account of several threats of British warships to bombard their towns unless the rights of British subjects are respected. Two British vessels, the Lacson and the Nero, were driven by stress of weather into the harbor of Dagupan, the northern terminus of the Dagupan railway. The crews were imprisoned, but on their protests that they were British subjects the insurgents permitted one man named Edwards to come to Manila, promising to release the crew of the Lacson if Edwards secured from the British consul at Manila a statement establishing the nationality of the crew. A similar concesion was made to the crew of the Nero.

Edwards says he saw several American prisoners who were better fed than the Spaniards or the Filipino soldiers. Moreover they were not compelled to work as the Spanish prisoners are.

A force of native police has begun to patrol the city of Manila co-operating with the provost guards whose lack of knowledge of the language and the resorts of native criminals had given many opportunities for burglary, an industry which has been flourishing of late. The new force includes many members of the old force and some insurgents who have grown tired of fighting.

It has already done good work in running down native criminals.

The American secret service recently found a Filipino spy in Calamba. He is supposed to have been the man who stole four guns belonging to the Washington regiment. He offered desperate resistance to the soldier who was sent to capture him and tried to run away with revolver shots in his head. Finally he was brought down with a rifle bullet in the hip. He died after jumping from the stretcher and trying to run.

General Bates, it is expected, will establish posts at Zamboanga and in the islands of Tamthani, Jolo and Bongao.

Late Sunday afternoon the Kansas regiment embarked in big barges in the river and were towed to the United States transport Tartar, the regimental flag flying and the men cheering and singing. The Tartar sailed for home Sunday evening.

INDIANA MONUMENTS.

They Will Be Dedicated in Chickamauga Park September 20—Prominent Indianans Will Be Present.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The Chickamauga and Chattanooga park commission has received notice that the state of Indiana will dedicate its battlefield monuments September 20. The governor and his staff, the state commission, state officers, prominent members of the legislature and of the state delegation in congress, together with a large company of veterans, will attend.

The Wilder brigade association, made up of Indiana and Illinois veterans, will dedicate its monument at the same time, an attendance of 1,500 from the two states interested being assured on the part of this organization alone.

Policeman Killed by an Italian.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Policeman Patrick O'Keefe, attached to East 126th street station, was shot through the head and chest Sunday by Michael Farrelli in Farrelli's saloon, a notorious dive in Second avenue. O'Keefe will die. Farrelli was placed under arrest after a long chase and a desperate fight, in which he made further efforts to do murder. A mob of several thousand people gathered after the shooting and made determined effort to lynch the Italian.

Injured in a Saloon Brawl.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—As a result of a saloon brawl here Sunday in which a score of men participated several were injured by flying bullets and the establishment wrecked.

Will Serve a Life Term.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Thomas McVeigh will not be shot to death but will serve a life term in the military prison at Alcatraz island, by the order of President McKinley. He recently arrived here from Manila on the Grant and was sentenced to be shot to death by musketry for making a murderous assault on his superior officer, Capt. D. C. Wright, of Company G, 1st Wyoming volunteers. He stabbed his companion, William Ferris, at the presidio before leaving for the Philippines.

THE DEBT STATEMENT.

There Was a Decrease for the Month of August of $4,281,116—The Total National Debt Was $1,147,306,555.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business August 31, 1899, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $1,157,309,555, a decrease, as compared with last month, of $4,281,116. This decrease is accounted for by a corresponding increase in the cash on hand.

The debt is recapitulated as follows:

Interest bearing debt, $1,046,048,850; debt on which interest has ceased since maturity, $1,215,150; debt bearing no interest, $389,393,427; total, $1,436,659,427.

This amount, however, does not include $601,443,303 in certificates and treasury notes outstanding, which are offset by an equal amount of cash on hand.

The cash in the treasury is classified as follows:

Gold $317,446,960; silver $503,059,814; paper $58,484,240; bonds, deposits in national bank depositories, disbursing officers balances, etc., $81,388,867, making a total of $960,379,882 against which there are demand liabilities outstanding amounting to $668,027,010, leaving a net cash balance on hand of $279,352,872. The net gold in the treasury Friday was $248,757,971, the largest amount in the history of the government, an increased of $877,371 over Thursday.

COMPARATIVE STATEMENT.

Government Receipts and Expenditures for August—An Increase in Receipts Over August of Last Year.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The comparative statement of the government receipts and expenditures shows that during the month of August, 1899, the receipts from all sources amounted to $49,978,173, an increase over August, 1898, of about $8,750,000.

The disbursements during last month amounted to $45,522,711 as against $36,260,717 for last August. This leaves a surplus for the month of $4,455,802.

The receipts from customs during the last month amounted to $20,546,697, against $16,249,699 for August, 1898; from internal revenue, $24,237,039, against $24,015,934 for August, 1898.

From miscellaneous sources, $5,194,436, against $1,517,973 for August of last year.

The disbursements charged to the war department during August amounted to $14,981,593, against $25,163,235 for the corresponding month of last year.

The disbursements charged to the navy department were $4,597,905 against $6,856,277 for August, 1898.

Since July 1, 1899, the receipts have aggregated $98,032,431, as compared with $25,629,816 during the same period last year.

The expenditures during the last two months have amounted to $102,083,402, against $130,524,193 for the corresponding period last year.

THE BOILER EXPLODED.

Three Men Were Killed and Four Others Fatally Injured—The Bowl Factory Was Completely Wrecked.

MANISTEE, Mich., Sept. 2.—The boiler in Chapman & Sargents' bowl factory in Copemish, 30 miles north of here, exploded Friday afternoon, killing three men and fatally injuring four others.

George Rice was severely, but not fatally scalded. The building was totally wrecked, debris being scattered for 80 rods around. Water was immediately thrown on the ruins and fire prevented. Handy, who was the foreman, was found with his head blown completely off. The other men were working at the machines in the mill when the explosion occurred. All but three of them leave families. The loss to the factory will be $5,000.

Stogie Makers Meet.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 2.—The fourth annual convention of the National Stogie Makers League began Friday in Arch hall. Delegates were present from Columbus and Cincinnati, O., Wheeling, W. Va., and Pittsburgh, Clarion and Uniontown, Pa. The session was secret. Resolutions were adopted encouraging the Cleveland street railroad strikers in all lawful attempts to better their condition.

The Parnell Monument.

BOSTON, Sept. 2.—A cablegram was received here Friday from Lord Mayor Daniel Tallon, of Dublin, and Hon. John E. Remond, M. P., signifying their acceptance of an invitation to visit the United States to inaugurate the movement for a monument for Charles Stuart Parnell. The cablegram states that they will leave Ireland about the middle of October.

Unusual Freshet in Porto Rico.

PONCE, Porto Rico., Sept. 2.—Heavy rains have caused an unusual freshet and the people, frightened on account of the recent hurricane, are leaving their houses and are being quartered in the public buildings. The soldiers, police and firemen worked all night.

Gans Defeats Bezenah.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Joe Gans, of Baltimore, whipped Eugene Bezenah, of Cincinnati, at the Broadway Athletic club Friday night. The men met for a 25-round go at 133 pounds.

"He Laughs Best Who Laughs Last."

A hearty laugh indicates a degree of good health obtainable through pure blood. As but one person in ten has pure blood, the other nine should purify the blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Then they can laugh first, last and all the time, for

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Never Disappoints

STORY SOUNDED WELL.

But There Was Reason to Believe That It Was Not Wholly True.

"When I first went west," tells a retired business man, who now does nothing in the way of work except mow the lawn and see that the cat is in the barn at night, "this maimed hand saved my life."

"Is that so?" asked the visiting neighbor, who knew that this form of invitation would be sufficient to insure the story.

"Yes, that's right. If I hadn't lost that first finger when I was a boy I wouldn't be here now. Jim Dixon and me were tradin' with the Indians. We exchanged beads, fake jewelry and bright calico for furs. All the buffalo were not gone then and we did a good business. One time we happened to strike a wandering band of savages that held us up on sight and it was plain from the way the red devils danced around us that we were to be put to death after the Indian fashion. All at once I recalled that a good many of the Indians knew me as the 'four-fingered' trader who was always on the level with those wild merchants, so I held up the hand and kept it up till one of the young bucks let out a significant grunt and then hurried to the chief in command. He came to me in a dignified manner, examined the hand, grunted about 16 times while deliberating, said 'How,' and released me as well as my partner. We were treated right up to the handle and permitted to depart when we wanted to. It was the closest squeak and the worst scare I had out in that country when near calls and heart-failure frights were the rule."

"Brave man," said one neighbor to another, as they walked away.

"Yes, regular big injun, if you accept all he tells. Between me and you he lost that finger two years ago while examining a bay cutter."—Detroit Free Press.

VERY OBLIGING.

He Was Willing to Give the Volcanic Vocalist a Good Hard Shove.

The young man, who sings loud and long was interrupted by a tap at the door of his apartment.

"Excuse me," said the tall, thin stranger, "I am sorry to intrude. I occupy the flat under you, and I have come up to inquire if you are the gentleman who sings ballads."

"Yes," was the answer, with the air of a man who is modest, but cannot deny the truth. "Are you fond of music?"

"I don't know that I am what you would call fond of it. At the same time I haven't anything particular against it. I am very much affected by some things I hear."

"That amounts to the same thing as being fond of it," was the answer, in a tone of soothing encouragement.

"I have been wondering if I caught the words of your favorite song correctly. Let me see:

"'How often, oh, how often,
Have I wished that the ebbing tide
Would bear me away on its bosom
To the ocean wild and wide.'

Is that right?"

"Yes; it's all right, according to my recollection. Is that one of the pieces you are affected by?"

"Yes. I have been affected by that for hours at a time. It has drawn me irresistibly to you. It has filled me with a yearning to do something that would make you happier. And I called up to say that if you'll come down to the river with me any evening I'll buy your canoe and hire a boat and give you a good start on the first ebbing tide scheduled. And I don't mind saying that the further out it bears you the better I'll be satisfied."—Washington Star.

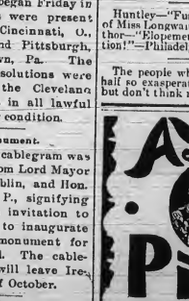
Not So Bad.

"How did the family come out in the matter of settling the estate?" was asked of one of the brothers.

"Might have been worse, but we finally succeeded in effecting a compromise with our lawyer by which he agreed to let us have half."—Detroit Free Press.

Family Pride.

The Husband—But we can't afford to keep a carriage.



The Wife—I know we can't, but I want to show that stuck-up Mrs. Brown that we can have things we can't afford just as well as they can.—N. Y. Journal.

Knew His Capacity.—"Poor Bilkins is dead. He drank 14 gallons of straight whisky, 14 high balls and a half-a keg of beer night before last." "Is that so? What was the cause of his death?"—Chicago Times-Herald.

Fact in Physiology.—"They say a man who turns pale when he gets mad is the most dangerous." "I guess that is so. A man who is scared nearly out of his boots will put up an awful fight."—Indianapolis Journal.

Huntley—"Funny thing, that elopement of Miss Longwaite and young Snipper." Author—"Elopement? That was an abduction!"—Philadelphia North American.

The people who can't see a joke are not half so exasperating as those who do see it but don't think much of it.—Puck.

Sick headache. Food doesn't digest well, appetite poor, bowels constipated, tongue coated. It's your liver! Ayer's Pills are liver pills, easy and safe. They cure dyspepsia, biliousness. 25c. All Druggists.

Want your moustache or beard a beautiful brown or rich black? Then use

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE for the Whiskers

50 cts. of Druggists, or R. P. HALL & CO., Nashua, N. H.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

A GREAT THRONG

Entertained By Senator Goebel and Mr. Blackburn at Bowling Green.

The Hostile Attitude of Certain Railroads and Bolters Explained—Malicious Antagonists of Kenton Arraigned and Records Read.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Aug. 28.—The banner meeting of the present campaign in Kentucky was held in this city this afternoon when between 4,000 and 5,000 people attended the speaking of Senator Goebel and Mr. Blackburn.

Senator Goebel was introduced by Judge Robert Rodes and spoke as follows:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.—I believe this place was picked out by Hon. John Young Brown to launch the campaign of the bolters against the Democratic party. I wish Hon. John Young Brown were here today. There was not a single free railroad train; there was not a single free ticket; there was not a single free lunch to help swell the crowd to such enormous proportions, but every man paid his way to come here.

MALIGNERS ARRAIGNED.

"Before I go into the body of what I have to say I want to say something about certain statements that were made in this community some weeks since. I never assault a man in my life unless he first assaulted me. But I ask no quarter; I fear no one."

Referring to one of his Kenton county foes, Goebel pointed out that he had beaten him in one election in every precinct and on a total vote of 7 to 1. "This man," remarked Goebel, "says I have not changed a particle in 20 years."

"If I had been a drunkard and debauchee," said the speaker, "I, too, would have changed, and would carry with me a face as similar as that of cancerous beefsteak. He may talk about my brother, but I never had one in the penitentiary [applause], and that is more than he can say for himself."

Another opponent from the mouth of the Licking he charged with having demanded money while in the legislature from the Lottery Co., "and I have the original copy of the letter at home," he added. Myers grew a stipend from the lottery company, and his present stand was due to the fact that he (Goebel) had a bill passed taking away that stipend. This man had been defeated two years ago in Kenton county by 2,000 votes. He referred to the fact that John C. Droege, bolters' candidate for treasurer, had charged this man with attempted bribery, and the latter escaped the grand jury on a technicality. The opposition of other individuals, he showed, was due to legislation affecting their financial interests which he had aided in passing.

Along with these scorching remarks on purificationists, Hallam, Myers and Droege, he said:

"There is also W. H. Mackoy, of Covington. He was chairman of the Palmer and Buckner and the Blindman committees of Kentucky in 1896 and 1897; he was a member of the board of directors of a turnpike company when I secured the passage of a law which resulted in cutting its tolls in half and I thereby interfered with his business somewhat. I think you ought to know the reasons that animate these assaults upon me."

As to the Louisville Dispatch and Post Senator Goebel said:

"The Dispatch is owned by the L. & N. Railroad Co. and every free copy of that paper and the Louisville Post is paid for out of the coffers of the L. & N."

RAILROADS AND BILLS.

He dwelt at some length on public acts of his which had aroused the hostility of the railway corporations.

Senator Goebel discussed his fellow-senate's bills. He said in explanation that the liability of the railroad corporation to its employes for injuries in the service should be the same as it is to the traveler. If through the neglect of an employe a stranger is injured the company is responsible, but if one employe is injured by another in many cases the company is not responsible. The liability of the company should be the same to the employe who hazards his life every day as it is to the ordinary traveler.

"I have had several letters," said Senator Goebel, "asking me what was my position with reference to double headers and whether I would recommend to the legislature, if elected governor, the passage of a law prohibiting the running of double headers. I want to state that I am for a law against double headers on freight trains. Let me explain what is meant by double headers.

"It is double the number of cars in one train, to which there are two engines and one crew of men. The employes on the second engine have no chance to escape in case of a wreck. They are boxed up as in a box car and that is why the employes oppose it. They think their safety outweighs the saving to the railroad company by dispensing with an extra crew. This is the law in some other states and should be here. If any citizens deserve protection, it is the railroad employes. Now, if this is unjustifiable hostility, I want to confess my guilt."

Senator Goebel said that during the strike in 1894 some railroad men were thrown into jail, and he was called upon by the representatives of the railway order to defend them at Covington. He not only did this, but also went on their bonds, got them acquitted and without charging them a fee. He was glad he had done that and would do it again. If that was unjustifiable hostility to the railroads, then he was ready to confess his guilt.

The federal government has an eight-hour employment law, and in the general assembly he made an effort to secure the passage of a law limiting the hours they would be required to serve. "And I am for such a law now," he added. "If I get to be governor I shall continue to favor legislation of the same character, because I believe it is right. If there are any railroad employes in this audience, I hope they clearly understand my position in these matters."

AS TO BROWN.

Speaking of John Young Brown Senator Goebel said:

"I charged several days since that a few hours before I was nominated John Young Brown procured the publication of an article in the Louisville Times suggesting to the state convention his own nomination by the very delegates that nominated me. I don't care to add anything to what I said except that I didn't get the information from Senator McChord, who refused to answer a letter which I wrote to him upon the subject. When Gov. Brown tried to get the nomination from the same delegates that nominated me, he estopped himself from complaint. If that convention had nominated Brown, Stone or Hardin, I would have been the first to march up [loud applause] to the footlights in Music hall and call upon my friends to support the nominee.

"The contortions of certain candidates make me smile. They seem to think I was running for amusement. Each one thought I ought to have given the nomination to him. [Laughter.]

"Brown seems to think I sent McChord and Woodson to his office to offer him the nomination, but Brown can not find a man in Kentucky who will say I didn't try my very best to get that nomination, and if anybody thinks I will not try to win they are very much mistaken."

HIS SILVER RECORD.

The speaker said Brown had referred to his (Goebel's) record on the silver question. The senator did not like to parade his own acts, but since Brown had referred to them he would call their attention to some facts. He reviewed his record as a party man, showing his support of Bryan in 1896, and showing his record in the state senate at Frankfort.

In the democratic caucus to nominate a senator in 1896, without solicitation, he had voted for John Young Brown, and in view of this, the particular regretted Gov. Brown's present course.

Mr. Goebel said he was chairman of the Kenton county campaign committee in 1896, and there, in the home of John G. Carlisle, there was tunneled out for Bryan a majority that was 500 votes greater than that which the county gave to Cleveland in 1892.

The speaker said that during the 1896 campaign, when asked for a contribution to the campaign fund, he gave $700 in cash.

"I don't know whether any other person in Kentucky gave $700 for Bryan," said Mr. Goebel, "but if there is one his name is not John Young Brown." [Applause and laughter.]

The speaker proceeded into an arraignment of republican principals and republican methods.

Senator Goebel said, addressing himself to any discontented persons who might be present, that if they found any good reason in the proceedings of the Louisville convention to cause them to oppose any one, for them not to vote for him, but to vote for the rest of the ticket. "Charge it all up to me," he said.

Senator Blackburn in a ringing speech electrified his hearers. He said:

"Goebel had told them that the fight was whether the Democratic or the Republican party would control for the next four years in Kentucky, but he asserted that it was a question of control for the next 40 years. He declared that let the railroads bring out as many bolting tickets as they might, the mind of the public could not be diverted from the fact that the fight was between Goebel and Taylor and not between Goebel and Brown or Brown and Taylor."

CAR-RIDING MAKES HER SAD.

It Is Because Mothers Ill-Treat Their Small Boys by Pulling Them About.

"I am always made sorry when I ride in the cars, through the shopping districts particularly," says the Chicago Chronicle of a woman, "to see the way mothers ill-treat small boys. It is an ethical cruelty, but quite as disastrous as physical ill treatment might be, it seems to me. I see poor little fellows of seven and eight, nice little men, who would be manly if they were allowed to be, pulled around in the cars, out of the cars, pushed into that seat and out of it into another as if they were so many little dummies.

"They usually are very nearly that, for seven or eight years of such pushing and pulling are enough to take all the spirit out of a small boy unless he has unusual vigor of character. A boy of that age ought to be beginning to look out for his mother and finding seats for her. Occasionally a sensible mother, who treats her boy like a human being, is to be found, and it is a pleasure to see the two together. The boy who is dragged around like a little muff during the early part of his life is apt to come to himself after a time if he is not entirely ruined and then he goes to an opposite extreme, is rude and self-asserting while he is trying to establish an equilibrium, and the mother can't imagine what the trouble is."

French Romance of To-Day.

People in England are constantly complaining that French novels are not what they were, says a writer in the Contemporary. And this is true; the crop is slighter, and the quality has abruptly varied. "We cannot gather grapes of thistles." A few months ago one of the first of French novelists told me how impossible he found it to lose himself in an imaginary world while such ominous rumors fill the streets of Paris. The intricate Chinese puzzle of fashionable psychology seems, after all, a trivial thing compared to the tremendous issues of reality. And if the author feels this, judge of the sentiments of the reader! The effect of the affaire Dreyfus on literature has been the sudden disappearance of the romance-motif—the old provincial theme of the married lady, her husband and her lover. After a brilliant renaissance, after occupying almost the whole area of fiction, this theme has subsided, and if people read and write novels still, to a certain extent, these novels, or at any rate the best of them, have a wholly different motive, interest, and intent.

A GRAND RALLY.

Senator Goebel Addressed the Democracy at Danville, Ky.

He Explained the New Election Law and the Fellow-servant Bill—The Speaker Analyzed the Key-Note of Attorney General Taylor.

DANVILLE, Ky., Sept. 2.—In no town in central Kentucky has the opening meeting of the Democratic campaign aroused more enthusiasm than in this, the county seat of Boyle, where Democracy is of the truest and bolters are unknown.

The Fair Commissioners had made a special change in their programme in order to give the crowd a chance to hear the two Democratic leaders, and at noon, the hour for the speaking, the grand stand, seating 2,500 persons, was crowded to its fullest capacity, while fully 500 persons who could not find places in the stand surrounded the speakers' platform.

On the platform with Senator Goebel and Senator Blackburn were Hon. C. C. McChord, ex-Gov. McCreary, Col. R. J. Breckinridge, "Daddy" Brooks, of Harrodsburg; Judge R. D. Williams, of Mt. Vernon; John B. Brenault, of Lincoln county; Capt. Will Curd, of Pulaski county, and "Bush" Cash, of Nicholasville. The speakers were cheered very enthusiastically when they appeared on the platform. It was a county fair crowd, composed presumably by men of all parties, but it was a most attentive audience, quick to applaud every point in in the democratic arguments.

Senator Goebel was introduced by Col. Breckenride in a telling speech giving a sketch of the nominee's courageous struggle to win for himself a high place among men. He said: "Mr. Goebel is a friend of the poor, he remembers the sorrows and privations of poverty; the protector of the laboring man, the fearless defenders of his rights, he knows the wants of those who daily toil bring their daily bread, the implacable foe of all who would oppress the poor or deprive the laborer of fair and just wages.

"The author of the laws now on our statutes abolishing lotteries, making gambling a felony, and punishing by confinement in the penitentiary. Now in the meridian of his life, in moral character, in strength of intellect, in his chosen profession he stands peer of the peerless of Kentucky jurists and statesmen. He bears the commission of the Democratic party as nominee for the office of Governor of Kentucky. He is the fearless, unconquered leader of that invincible host of free men who se shibboleth is equal rights to all, exclusive privileges to none."

There was prolonged cheering and shouts of "Goebel" when Col. Breckinridge concluded. Senator Goebel said:

"MR. CHAIRMAN, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: If ever a man was confronted by an audience of the beauty, manhood and intelligence which are characteristic of the people of Kentucky I am that man. I wish I had the capability to do justice to this occasion.

"Mr. Bryan told the Democracy of Kentucky that this contest was one between plutocracy and democracy. As the campaign progresses the truth of Mr. Bryan's statement becomes daily more manifest. The great question this year is whether the corporations shall make, constrne, execute your laws, or whether the people of Kentucky shall govern. [Applause.]

Senator Goebel asserted that in 1896 the result of the national election was determined in advance by the influences of corporate wealth. He said that the same result was sought the next year by the same influences, and that they had begun their fight already in Kentucky. He pointed to the fact that Mr. Belmont, the executive head of the Louisville and Nashville railroad company, had notified the people of Kentucky that his corporation proposes to contest the result in the state this year.

"Before this campaign is closed," said he, "you will see the railroad employes of the state marched through the streets of your cities for political effect as they were in '96. I want to say a word right here to the railroad men. In 1896 the cars of the workingmen were reached through the public press, in the shop and in any way they could be reached and workmen were told if you vote other than the Republican ticket the fact will be known to your employer and that is a threat.

BALLOT WILL BE SECRET.

"The ballot ought to be secret under our present system. I want to say to you that under the provisions of the election law and under the administration of democrats, no railroad lobbyist, corporation agent shall know how the vote of any railroad employe is recorded, and the democratic party of Kentucky will stand by its own. No lobbyits shall be permitted to make any railroad man's ticket and thus learn how he voted. I can only repeat to railroad men the advice Bryan gave them in '96. He said: 'Do whatever may be necessary during the campaign to protect your wife and children from privation, but when you go into the voting booth vote your true sentiments.' [Cheers and applause.]

CORRUPTION FUND.

Senator Goebel said that Democracy would be called upon to battle tremendous corruption fund. "We know," said he, "that tremendous sums were contributed in '96 by corporations, and the contributions were reimbursed by having delegated to them power of government conferred by the people upon unworthy officials."

Senator Goebel's prediction of the certain readoption of the Chicago platform and the renomination of Bryan was loudly cheered.

"Neither in the nation or the state can any man strike monopoly in the pocketbook without incurring its deadly enmity. The mendacious and vicious attacks upon Bryan in '96 were due to this and I feel justified in saying that in some degree my case in the present campaign is similar. I will tell you some of my acts which certainly struck monopoly in the pocketbook. You shall judge whether these acts constituted unjustifiable hostility on my part or whether they were the proper acts of a public servant having the interests of the people in view."

THE FELLOW-SERVANT BILL.

Senator Goebel reviewed his long fight against the railroad corporations at Frankfort. When he told modestly but forcibly, how he had exhibited unjustifiable hostility in securing the release of railroad employes thrown into jail in Covington for technical violation of federal injunctions during the Pullman strike the applause which had been frequent and literal reached a perfect storm of sound. In reference to his "fellow-servant" bill he said: "The railroad employe who risks his little for a small reward should stand on at least as good a footing before the law as the tramp upon the highway." [Applause.]

Senator Goebel analyzed the "key-note" of Attorney General Taylor, showing that its statements concerning state finances were a web of pettifogging deceit, and that the Republicans had violated every specific promise made during the campaign of 1895. He assailed the hypocrisy of the Republican anti-trust declarations, and contrasted it with the abso ute refusal of the Republican officials to enforce anti-trust laws or enforce anti-trust legislation.

IT IMPLIED TOO MUCH.

The Young Man Was Aroused at the Suggestion of Previous Engagements.

He told the shop assistant that he wanted to purchase something that would be a suitable present for a young lady, says Tit-Bits.

The clerk brought out albums, books, gold pens and pencils and card cases, but nothing seemed to suit. As the last resort he showed the young man an engagement calendar—a beautiful little tablet on which to record the engagements for each day of the week.

"Quite the fad now," he explained, as he displayed the calendar. "All the young ladies feel the need of them, especially during the season."

"What is it?" asked the young man.

"An engagement calendar," replied the shop assistant. "She'll find it invaluable—"

"You think she would like one?" asked the young man, with forced calmness.

"I'm sure she would, if she hasn't one already," said the assistant.

"Well, I want to say to you that she wouldn't," exclaimed the young man, losing control of his temper. "I know her and you don't, and I want you to understand, sir, that she has no use for any such calendar. She doesn't have to keep any record of her engagements. This is the only time that she has ever been engaged, and any man who says that she will ever be engaged to anyone else or that she has to put it down on a tablet to remember has got to fight. That's all there is to that."

He had left the shop before the assistant had sufficiently recovered from his surprise to explain.

HOW TO HAVE A PICNIC.

Those Who Follow This Advice Will Be Sure to Enjoy the Occasion.

Before many weeks we will wake up some fine morning to find out that the leaves on the trees have begun to blush with pride just before their fall and that summer has gone. Then we will hear from all sides: "Oh, why didn't I do this or that? I intended to all summer—but didn't get around to it, and now it is too late!" says the Detroit Free Press.

One of the things to be deplored will be that more time was not spent in the open air—at the parks, on the river and at near-by country places. It is so easy to set out the summer doing nothing. But it is a bad habit, for when winter comes again it seems like an old story and isn't half so welcome as if the summer had been spent in complete change. This is genuine old-fashioned picnic season, and the picnic ought not to be despised. Nothing is so delightfully unconventional; and relaxation, of course, is the basis of rest.

But it is a great mistake to think that a picnic is not a success unless the entire party is roused out of bed at sunrise and the lunch big enough to feed a regiment. Quantity there must be, of course, for everybody expects to eat too much, but more than anything else, have the lunch a dainty one. One doesn't mind a grasshopper or two in the lemonade or a family reunion of ants on the cake—but if the sandwiches are thick and the cake is dry and other things are in the same black list not even a picnic appetite will be satisfied.

WISE ANIMALS.

Some That Seem to Do Some Thinking When They Get Into Trouble.

A naturalist found black ants were devouring the skins of some bird specimens on a table, so he made tar circles on four pieces of paper and put one under each leg of the table. Ants will not cross tar. Pretty soon he found the ants busily at work again, and, looking at the tar circles, found each one was bridged by bits of sand which the clever ants had brought in from the street.

On one occasion, owing to excessive heat, one of the combs of a beehive became detached and was in great danger of falling. The bees at once set to work and erected a shoring pillar between the endangered comb and the one next to it. The pillar braced the comb and kept it from falling. Then they rebuilt the wax cells, fastening the comb to the wall, and afterward removed the pillar.

A Capuchin monkey was given some walnuts, which he tried to crack with his teeth, but found he was not strong enough. He then seized a stone which was near by, held the nuts on the ground with one hand and used his stone hammer with the other, with excellent results. Other monkeys have been seen to utilize nutpicks.

Dogs Growing Weaker.

Experts agree that the life of a dog is shortened by close breeding and exhibition, and that we are gradually raising dogs that will not be so long-lived as the semiwild mongrel types.

Rest of Telegraph Wires.

Scientists say that telegraph wires are better conductors on Monday than on Saturday, on account of their Sunday rest.

GLOOMY PICTURE

Business in Johannesburg Paralyzed and Prices of Breadstuffs Rising.

Bankruptcy and Starvation Is Staring the People in the Face—Transvaal Government Will No Doubt Reject Chamberlain's Last Proposal.

LONDON, Sept. 4. — The Johannesburg correspondent of the Daily Mail, who paints a gloomy and pitiable picture of the condition of things there, says:

"It is almost a case of absolute exodus and panic. Business is paralyzed, the prices of foodstuffs are rapidly rising, half the houses are empty and the others are tenanted by people who do not pay rent, the landlords being glad enough to have them as occupants in order to insure some sort of protection to the property.

"The tension has reached the snapping point. Bankruptcy and starvation are staring the people in the face. Another fortnight of suspense will result in a complete commercial collapse. The banks are thronged with people anxious to withdraw their gold, and the railways are besieged by those who wish to get away."

The Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Mail says: The Transvaal authorities are forwarding huge quantities of Mauser ammunition from Pretoria to Bloemfontein. On Friday 1,500,000 rounds arrived at the Orange Free state capital.

All the special dispatches to the London morning papers from South Africa indicate that the correspondents have got the impression that the reply of the Transvaal government to Mr. Chamberlain's latest note will be an impertinent rejection of the suggested conference at Cape Town and a threat to withdraw the five year franchise offer.

The correspondent of the Times at Newcastle, Natal, confirms the belief of its Johannesburg correspondent, Mr. Moneypenny, that aggressive action is imminent.

A special dispatch from Johannesburg says it is understood that the charges against Mr. Pakeman, editor of the Transvaal Leader, who was arrested on Saturday, will be reduced from sedition to contravention of the press laws.

DEAD IN THE WOODS.

Remains of a Cincinnati Man Found Near St. Louis—Dogs Had Torn the Flesh From the Face.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 4.—The body of a man supposed to be L. L. Applegate, of Cincinnati, was found in the woods near Blandon, St. Louis county, Sunday. It was badly decomposed and had probably been lying where found for the past week. A half emptied bottle of morphine seemed to indicate that Applegate had committed suicide. The deceased, who had been at work with a local typewriter company, has a mother in Cincinnati. The body was identified through papers found in the clothing.

Dogs had torn the flesh from the face of the dead man until it was unrecognizable. Both arms had also been torn from the body and lay several feet away.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

A Chicago Carpenter Killed His Wife and Five-Year-Old Daughter, and Takes His Own Life by Hanging.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—While mentally unbalanced Sunday Henry Ende, a carpenter, shot and killed his wife Emma and fatally wounded his 5-year-old daughter. He then committed suicide by hanging himself in the kitchen of their home, 358 West Belmont avenue. The little girl, Hilda, died shortly after being removed to the hospital. Two other children, aged 11 and 9, who slept with their mother, did not wake up until several hours after the tragedy occurred. Trouble with tenants, who occupied a house which Ende owned, is supposed to have aggravated his mental condition.

Senator Morgan's Prophecy.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—A special to the Times-Herald from Washington says: "Senator Morgan, of Alabama, prophesies that expansion will be the salvation of cotton and is about to start a crusade in the south to spread the new gospel. In his prophetic vision he sees Manila the great cotton market of the world, instead of Liverpool.

The Receipts of Gold at Boise.

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 4.—The receipts of gold at the United States assay office here during August was larger than for any other month in the history of the office, the total being $243,830. For the first eight months of the year the receipts were $1,120,583 against $883,706 for the corresponding period of last year.

The Lynchers Were Foiled.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 4.—Sheriff Thomas, of Posey county, arrived here Sunday evening with Dan Powell, colored, whom he saved from a mob by escaping in a buggy. Sunday William Carr, a prominent citizen of that place, was fatally shot by Webb Thomas, a Negro, who escaped and is now being hunted by infuriated citizens. A mob then turned to the jail to lynch Powell, who shot an officer a week ago, and is under penitentiary sentence. Feeling against Negroes is running high at Mt. Vernon.

KEY WEST QUARANTINED.

Two Deaths From Yellow Fever and Several Cases Diagnosed—The Yellow Jack at New Orleans.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 2.—Communication with Key West by the rest of the world has been cut off by orders of Dr. J. Y. Porter, executive officer of the Florida state board of health, on account of two deaths and several cases which have been diagnosed as yellow fever. The order was issued Thursday night by Dr. Porter on the report of the existence of the disease in Key West from Dr. Charles B. Sweeting, agent of the board at Key West, and sanitary inspector of the port. Dr. Porter, who left Key West one week ago on a brief vacation, was reached in Virginia and left immediately for Florida, wiring his orders to quarantine the island city. He will reach Jacksonville at noon Saturday and will immediately leave for the south, arriving at Key West Sunday afternoon. Meantime no one will be allowed to leave the island until Dr. Porter arrives.

The dead are Dennis Eagan, jr., deputy collector of customs at Key West, who was taken sick early in the week, and a boy named Cosgrove. Both were buried Friday. Five additional cases have been diagnosed as yellow fever, and seven suspicious cases are under surveillance. Those who have been declared to have the fever were named by Dr. Sweeting Friday afternoon as follows: Oakley, Stockin, Norris, Browder and Pate, all supposed to be white men. The suspicious cases are Taylor, Burgis, Cockran, Rosenthal, Shomshield, Dr. McCallahan and Mrs. E. Sudlow.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 2.—A special to the Constitution from New Orleans says:

An autopsy held Friday on the body of Young F. Udolph, who died Thursday, revealed the fact that death was caused by yellow fever. The case was reported to the authorities four days ago but Dr. Murphy, of the marine hospital service, did not think the case was one of yellow fever.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 2.—The state health department Friday night received information of one death from yellow fever at New Orleans Friday afternoon. State Health Officer Blunt at once ordered a rigid quarantine against New Orleans on passenger and freight business, to continue indefinitely, and all border stations were notified to refuse admission to any person or freight from that port.

MURDER IN TEXAS.

Capt. R. E. Boyle Shot and Killed His Brother-in-Law, A. L. Culberson, a Citizen of Atlanta, Tex.

TEXARKANA, Tex., Sept. 2.—News has reached here of a shocking killing at Atlanta, Tex., 30 miles south of here. Capt. R. E. Boyle shot and killed A. L. Culberson, his brother-in-law. The men had up to a few days ago been on the best of terms. Culberson was a prominent attorney, a nephew of Congressman David Culberson and a cousin to United States Senator Charles A. Culberson, and Boyle is mayor of the town. They met Thursday and had a few hot words and began fighting, but were separated. Friday they met again in front of the post office and the killing occurred. After the shooting Capt. Boyle surrendered to the officers and refused to discuss the affair.

GEN. R. A. ALGER.

The Ex-Secretary Declines to Become a Candidate for Mayor of Detroit—His Senatorial Candidacy.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 2.—Gen. R. A. Alger, ex-secretary of war, responding Friday to an inquiry as to whether he would be willing to accept the republican nomination for mayor of Detroit this fall said:

"It would unquestionably be a great honor for any one to be mayor of Detroit. However, I positively could not think of it. I would not think of taking a nomination for mayor any more than I could think of taking a nomination for governor."

As to other political matters including his own candidacy for senator, the general declined to talk.

ORDERED HOME.

Commander Taussigh, of the Gunboat Bennington, Differed With Adm. Watson and Relieved of Command.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Commander T. Taussigh has been relieved of the command of the gunboat Bennington by orders of Adm. Watson and ordered home from Manila. He is said to have differed with the admiral as to the management of the fleet and his criticism led to the action above noted. Unless the officer, upon his arrival in the United States, should seek to pursue the matter and ask for a court of inquiry, it is likely there will be no further steps in the matter.

Fire in a Packing Plant.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 2.—Fire broke out at 1 o'clock Saturday morning in the big plant of the Jacob Dold Packing Co., which covered several acres of ground on the West river bottoms, between Ninth street and Missouri river. At 2:30 o'clock the fire was under control. The fertilizing department, the engine rooms, the ice plant, the sausage department and the lard room were destroyed with much costly machinery, and other parts of the plant were more or less damaged. The loss is estimated at $250,000.

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, Sept., 6, 1899.

Advertising Rates:
One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

Democratic State Ticket.

For Governor,
WILLIAM GOEBEL, of Kenton.

For Lieutenant Governor,
J. C. W. BECKHAM, of Nelson.

For Attorney General,
R. J. BRECKINRIDGE, of Boyle.

For Auditor,
G. G. COULTER, of Graves.

For Treasurer,
S. W. HAGER, of Boyd.

For Secretary of State,
C. B. HILL, of Clark.

For Supt. Public Instruction,
H. V. M'CHESNEY, of Livingston.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. B. NALL, of Jefferson.

For Railroad Commissioner,
FLETCHER DEMPSEY, of Hopkins county.—First District.
C. C. M'CHORD, of Washington county.—Second District.
A. W. HAMILTON, of Montgomery county.—Third District.

For State Senator,
Dr. J. G. FURNISH.

Neighborhood News.

Limaburg.

We are having very dry weather.

The thermometer registered 96° here, last Sunday.

Miss Flora Youell's school started off with a good roll of scholars, Mouday.

Harry Hicks, of Cincinnati, was visiting his uncle, Geo. Baker, Sunday.

A baby shoe was found on the pike. Owner can have same by calling at Roue's store.

S. J. Rouse has lost a Southdown buck, and any information as to it will be thankfully received.

Henry Quick, of Hebron, and Miss Ross Utz, of this place, were married on the 30th ult., by Rev Lentz. After the ceremony they left for Louisville. We congratulate them and wish them a happy and prosperous life.

Gunpowder.

R. O. Beemon is arranging to build a large barn in the near future.

Ben Houston, of Verona, was visiting relatives here last week.

Rev. Watkins and family were guests of W. H. Rice, last Sunday.

J. H. Aylor took over $100 in premiums on his fine stock at the fair last week.

Jas. A. Rouse is doing some carpenters work for his father-in-law in Grant county.

Theodore Cornell and wife, of Covington, were guests of J. C. Hankins last Sunday.

Uncle Early Rouse, who has been on the sick list for quite a while, is still confined to his room, and his condition has not improved any for the better.

Richwood.

Mr. Lewis Rice's horse was found at his home.

Rev. Lentz and family spent Suuday with Mr. Lute Tanner.

Miss Jennie Mardis, of Covington, is visiting Mrs. John Conner.

Miss Edith Lancaster will continue her studies next week in Coviugton.

Mr. William Carpenter captured the $50 premium on his horse at the Boone fair.

Mr. Park Gilmour and Miss Elsie Neely have been the guests of Mrs. Willie Wolfe.

Mrs. Merrill Parks and daughter, Elizabeth, returned to their home in Richmond Monday.

Some one had ridden Frank Glackin's horse away from the fair grounds and returned it, thus saving a search and a long walk.

The friends of Mr. Hal Blantou will be pleased to know that he in connection with Mr. McAlpin, have succeeded Riggs Bro., in the livery and undertaking business in Erlauger. Mr. Blanton has many friends here and of course will accommodate any who may call to see him.

Walton.

There would not be a letter from Walton to day if it had not have been for an unwarrantable outrage committed by a chuckleheaded and more than probably a drunken, bush-whacking policeman at the Boone county fair grounds on Saturday. Johnnie Crowe, an 18 year old boy and one of the most respectable youths of the place, took his best girl, a belle of the town, to the fair on Saturday. After driving in the grounds the young lady got out and said she would wait there for him until he had hitched his horse. After he had hitched his horse, and while on his way back to the young lady, one of the police arrested him, claiming he had got over the fence, refused to take him by the place where he had left the young lady and would not allow him to speak to any one of his friends as he was being hustled before "The Board" When there, Mr. Owen Utz, who was acting as "Big Mogul," asked John if he had any money." Certainly I have, said the youth. "Do you think I would come to the fair without money? But what business is that of yours? Utz made John give him a quarter of a dollar and then let him go. It was as clear a case of hold up as ever was. Before Crowe left the grounds the policeman hunted him up and again took him before "the Board," when Crowe was given back his quarter. If the policeman or for that matter, Owen Utz, either had have had any sense and had taken a good look at Johnnie they would have seen that he was not one of the kind to sneak over the fence, and the father of the young lady, are very indignant, and the matter will be looked into by the court.

There is great indignation here and Crowe may bring suit in the U. S. Court.

Hebron.

Our school begins the 18th inst.

Hebron was well represented at the fair, last Saturday.

Spencer Aylor went to work Monday after a week's vacation.

Miss Lucy Clayton begins her school at Frogtown next Monday.

Harry Hicks and mother, of Cincinnati, are guests of Mrs. C. E. Clore.

Frank Jackson, of Cincinnati, visited friends here, Saturday and Sunday.

Charles Hann, of Harrison, O., made a short call in this vicinity, last week.

Miss Stella Reuaker was called home Sunday, on account of the illness of her mother.

Mrs. Clutterbuck resumed her duties as music teacher, Monday, after giving her pupils a week's vacation.

The Christian Endeavor Social will be held Saturday night at the home of Ab Quick. Everyone is invited.

A number from here attended the harvest home at Cheviot, Ohio, last Thursday. All report a good time.

Miss Clara Hossman aud Ione Campbell, of Walnut Hills, O., spent several days with the former's parents, at this place, last week.

The semi-monthly meeting of the C. E. Society met Sunday with Mrs. Dr. Rouse. Topics—Holding up our pastor's hands by our prayers, service, sympathy and appreciation. Several remarks were made on all these.

The to be Francesville teacher, we are sorry to say is to remember that we are too far indeed, above controversy in our worthy paper. We know who he is and we are known also, and inform Mr. Henry that there exists in our heart nothing but friendship as a fellow teacher aud sympathy for his ignorance ou our behalf. We don't exhibit such kindness for young men at 16 or any other time, and further still, if he minds other people's affairs when he is teaching as he did ours, he is certain to be dancing with fewer friends.

Union.

Joe Weaver is an expert bicycle rider.

Rev. Moore preached Saturday aud Sunday, at Sardis.

Tobacco cutting is the principal business on hand now.

Our public school will begin the second Monday in September.

Miss May Norman narrowly escaped being blown up with powder, last week.

John W. Kenney, of Covington, passed through town Sunday evening.

Mrs. Mott Houston has been suffering very much this summer with asthma.

Mrs. R. A. Riley, of Bracken county, is visiting relatives in Union and vicinity.

Dogs killed and wounded several sheep for Jimmie Huey, one morning last week.

Bristow Bros., received two premiums on a dairy cow and are very much pleased over it.

Miss Mamie Gaines, of Washington, Ky., was the guest of Miss Lillie Corbin, last week.

There have been more people hauling rock aud gravel, lately, than we have seen for many a day.

Mr. and Mrs. Bicker entertained a number of relatives and friends from Cincinnati Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. O. M. Huey, wife and children, of Carrollton, were the guests of Mr. aud Mrs. Kennedy, last week, and attended the fair.

James Utz has put in new bridges on his pike and added a large quantity of rock and gravel, and the Beaver and Union pike have done the same.

James Bristow employed Gran Rouse to build a substantial woven wire fence in front of his home and it certainly adds very much to its appearance.

An epidemic of colds is raging here. Mrs. Garrison, Mrs. Rachael Rice, Mrs. Bettie Smith, Mrs. Fail, Joseph Huey, James A. Huey and several others have them.

Mrs. John Garrison and Mrs. Wallace Garrison have the kindest sympathy of a large circle of friends in the death of their mother at her home in Gallatin county, last week.

Uncle Moses Lane returned, Saturday morning, from a two weeks visit in Franklin and Anderson counties. He reports the political situation in that section as boiling hot.

The residence of F. Dickey on the Beaver & Union pike was destroyed by fire, Saturday evening. F. Dickey, jr., lost everything but a piano. Insurance on house, $1,509, none on contents.

Wm. Kenny, one of the popular and efficient employees of the Covington & Cincinnati Street R. R., was the guest of his parents, last week, and attended the fair. He believes the electric road to Hamilton will finally be built.

We hoped that every man, woman and child in Boone county might go to the fair if they wanted to and had the money. It looks now as if they all went A great many people went to enjoy themselves and regardless of dust, heat and crowd, went in "Galligee" and had a large time. A large per cent. of the people liked the cake walk and thought it a great hit for the Fair Co.

Monday morning we met J. W. Taliaferro with what might be called a regular ice wagon expression on his face and inquired the cause of his cold storage appearance. Oh! said he, I am rich this morning, as I have an acher of ivory to sell. Dr. Adams, the popular and efficient dentist, bought him out a 9 45 and sent him home looking as happy and pleasant as an ice-dealer in hot weather.

Henry Conner exhibited a mule colt for J. S. Houston at the fair Wednesday. Sumner was in town that day and comiug out met a man who said, "Your mule got the string," and it was hard work to keep him from dancing, but, later, another man met him and said, "Your mule did not get the string," and it was hard to keep him from having a sunstroke. All coons will look alike to him from now on and mules too.

Esq. Banuister and John Taggart, sr. engaged in a deadly combat with a "spreading serpent" of the viper variety, Friday morning. His snakeship crawled into the Squire's shop and proposed to run it, but he made a mistake for Messrs. B. & T., set in on him with iron bars, hammers, &c., with such force and effect as to demolish him in five minutes. The snake was not 12 feet long, 44 inches in diameter, with eyes like balls of fire and a tail that flashed forked lightning from every joint, but was simply 6 inches long and had all the fighting properties of a first-class battle ship.

Union was given a cake walk that was a cake walk and no mistake Saturday evening, at 4 o'clock. The band did not play "rag time," and everything was favorable for trouble, two horses came dashing up Main street without riders or bridles. It was evident that one of the horses was crazy and everybody got out of the way. He made a break for Mr. Clement's grocery and would have gone in only for the railing in front. At the corner of High street he turned up, but a second later changed his course and struck for Rachal's dry goods store, and, perhaps, would have entered, only your humble scribe was in the door. As it was he smashed over the high rock wall into Main St., again and went up the street, first over rock piles then against fences, &c., finally landing at the toll-gate where he got a glance at Uncle Mott and was restored to perfect sanity.

Supt. Voshell and your correspondent called on Dr. Loug as the sun was gilding the western hills with golden tints, lighting up the woodlands and fields, making the birds warble songs of beauty, mosquitoes hunt their holes, &c., Wednesday morning. We found the doctor ready to go fishing on Gunpowder and we went. By noon 5 beautiful bass and several other nice fish had been caught for dinner—dinner was served at 1 o'clock and the menu consisted of roasting ears a la-shuck-ou, coffee, fried bacon, bass, perch aud catfish ou well browned corn bread. After this appetizing food had been discussed Prof. Voshell went to the land of nod and sawed gourds for two hours, during which time Mr. Long entertained your scribe with a description of life in the Cumberland mountains. He says people up there are annoyed very much by gold and silver hunters from all parts of the United States who get a crazy notiou that the mountains are filled with these precious metals, and all they have to do is dig and find. He says one peculiar phase of "mountain life is having the moon shine" all the time.

Florence

Robert Walker, of Richmond, Ky., attended the fair here, last week.

George Crouch has opened up a grocery here kuown as the cheap cash grocery.

Dr. Wm. Corey, of Covington, is spending a couple of weeks among old friends here.

Misses B. and Sennie Taylor, of Gallatin county, spent Sunday with Mrs. A. M. Thomas.

Misses Ethel and Ada Ryle have returned home from a pleasant visit with relatives at Rising Sun, Ind.

Misses Leua and Ada Latham, of Oak Park, Ill., is spending a few weeks here with their mother, Mrs. Mary Latham.

The public school will begin next Monday, the 11th inst., with Miss Mary Korn as principal and Miss Ella Weaver, assistant.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark and sister, Miss Carrie, of Cincinnati, spent from Friday till Monday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clark.

Miss Elizabeth Kenyon, who has been visiting her cousins, the Misses Latham, the past three weeks, returned to her home at Cincinnati, Monday.

The fair is over and everybody is glad, except those who failed to get any premiums. Taking everything into consideration, the fair, as usual, was a success.

Lost, at the fair grounds, on Thursday, a small Masouic pin. Any one finding it will be rewarded by the owner if left at the Florence postoffice or returned to Miss Della Grogan.

Sunday evening, Sept. 3rd, about 3 o'clock, death visited our town again and claimed for its victim Mrs. Angeline Osborn, aged 63 years, who has been suffering for the past three or four months with malarial fever. Mrs. Osborn's maiden name was Augeline Offutt and was married to Joseph Osborn Sept. 17th, 1854, who preceded her to the grave 14 years ago, during which time she has resided at this place, with the burden of her afflicted daughter, who was buried just one week ago, having died at Lakeland asylum. Mrs. Osborn was a lady of noble character, loved and esteemed by all; always ready to assist those in need—her life has been one of christian sacrifice. A faithful woman has been called to her reward. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. G. N. Buffington at the house, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Florence cemetery at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Constance.

Mrs. Harvey McGlasson is improving.

Dr. Murat has commenced work on his new residence.

Rev. Peno preached at the Christian church Sunday night.

C. W. Wood, of Cincinnati, spent Sunday with relatives here.

The steamer Pauline of Petersburg, landed at our port Sunday.

Miss Pheobe Price, of Price Hill, O., was visiting your scribe, Sunday.

Fred Moore is now a resident of our town, having moved here, Saturday.

W. B. Reeves and wife, and George W. Price and wife spent Sunday at the home of D. C. Reeves.

The Fairview Christian Sunday-School will hold its annual outing Saturday, Sept. 9th, on the Dry Creek base ball grounds. All schools are invited.

While returning from market last Saturday, Mr. Rusk's wagon was struck by the B. O. & S. W. express at the ferry crossing, knocking him out of the wagon and seriously hurting his head.

Bullittsville.

Since our last communication Bullittsville has met with a loss that I fear she will never be able to regain. She has not only lost her institution of learning, but has lost her center of attraction, the hospitable home of Mrs. Kirtley. The bright faces of her two lovely daughters will be sadly missed, both in Bullittsville and the society surrounding it. We commend them to the Burlington society circle, and congratulate it in being so fortunate as to gain what we have lost.

Bullittsville has lately enjoyed a highly appreciated intellectual and musical feast. Three weeks ago last Sunday night, Rev. G. A. Miller, of the Fifth Street Christian Church, Covington, began a series of meetings in the Christian Church at this place. He brought with him two members of his choir, Mr. Alvin Ranshaw and Miss Emma Herndon. Mr. Miller is one of those magnetic pulpit orators who draws around him not only of the world but of every Christian denomination. He is too high toned and refined to repel by word or thought any member of his audience. He is an earnest, forcible speaker, studiously avoiding the bigotry of sectarian denominations, confining his discourses to a liberal and intelligent enunciation of the truths contained in the Bible. His sermons are at once elegant and sublime, forcible and ornamented gem-illuminated thoughts, gathered from the teachings of the inspired writings. Mr. Ranshaw, as a leader in singing is a success. He has a deep, melodious bass voice that lends grandeur to his singing. He is an energetic leader and imparts his energy to those who sing with him. Miss Emma Herndon favored the audience with several beautiful, soul-inspiring solos. Miss Emma has a clear, sweet, pathetic voice, while her articulation is so distinct that every word can be heard, and those who hear her sing are not only moved by the pathos of her voice, but the words which express the sentiment of the song. There were a great many good singers who assisted in the musical feast we have been enjoying, but time and space will not permit me to do justice to their liberal contribution.

Last Wednesday evening it was our privilege and pleasure to be present at the Schuster-Ransom Co. entertainment at Erlanger. A very select audience, something over 100, greeted the bright young artists heartily in their humorous and refined presentations of the three comedy sketches selected for the entertainment of the evening. The versatile capacity of both Miss Schuster and Mr. Ransom in readily applying themselves to the new tasks and new scenes, their thorough mastery of the art of elocution and the beauty, grace and bright intelligent face of Miss Schuster, and the wit and humor and graceful figure of Mr. Ransom form a most happy combination that promises and insures them a happy success in their most refined and praiseworthy ambition. They were assisted by three rising young artists, Miss Hull, Miss Ludwig and Mr. Harry Steward. The evening's entertainment was opened with the representation of the very amusing comedy, "The Mouse Trap," by Miss Schuster as Pretty Pet, and Mr. Ransom as Mr. Briefbag The audience manifested their appreciation of the efforts of the young artists by their rapt attention and hearty applause. The next representation was a "Proposal Under Difficulties," by Miss Hull as Mrs. Dorothy Andrews, Miss Ludwig as Jennie, the Maid, Mr. Ransom as Mr. Yardley and Mr. Steward as Mr. Barlow. This was a very amusing presentation, and each of the young artists acquitted themselves most admirably. Miss Ludwig's distress in discovering the duplicity of Mr. Yardly, and Miss Hull's indignation was, in each case, most natural and artistic. The discomfeiture of Mr. Ransom, when the discovery of his duplicity in flirting with the mistress and the maid was highly appreciated by the audience. Mr. Steward, as the injured suitor, was presented in a natural and most heart-rending manner. The third and last comedy presented was the "Oakland Derby." This was the most highly appreciated presentation of the evening's entertainment. Nearly everyone present was a warm friend of the leadiug young artist, and being cognizant of the fact that Mr. Ransom was the author of the comedy and that he had written it especially for himself and Miss Schuster, and as this was its introduction and first presentation it was natural that all present were more deeply interested in its presentation than in anything that had preceded it. Miss Schuster and Mr. Ransom as Mrs. and Mr. Jack Drew, presented this interesting and amusing comedy in a manner that could not be excelled in point of humor and refinement, and never did a comedy hold such an uproarously laughable audience. Your correspondent thoroughly saturated his kerchief with the tears of hearty appreciation.

Utzinger.

Miss Anna Kirtley is visiting her sister, Mrs. Clay Duncan.

Lewis C. Walton, of Oklahoma, died August 6th, of typhoid fever.

Miss Pauline Winston, of Covington, is visiting her parents at this place.

Miss Fannie Willis has returned home after a visit of several weeks at Lexington.

Mr. Jinks Willis and family, of Lexington, are visiting his brother, T. G. Willis and family.

Mrs. Lizzie Graves and Mrs. J. Frank Grant are visiting friends and relatives in this neighborhood.

Mr. John Cropper, who has been quite sick since Sunday last, we are glad to report improving.

Harry Walton, who has been in the oats business in California for the past two years, has returned home, looking the better for his trip.

Prof. Hann, of Harrison, Ohio, will teach our school. Mr. Hann will make a good teacher, and the district is fortunate in securing his services.

Tobacco cutting is progressing rapidly, and the weather is propitious for curing. From present indications we will have the finest crop we ever raised in this section.

The sheep industry is receiving more attention than ever before. There is a manifest disposition on the part of most of our farmers to improve their stock and give more attention to this profitable industry than usual.

Two associations in session in this county this week—at Burlington and Union.

For Rent or Sale.

My farm of 118 acres of well watered, well fenced, good cultivating land. Large dwelling, tenement house and good tobacco barn on place. Seventy-five acres can be sown in wheat in the fall; 12 acres of uncleared woodland. Farm situated on L. & N. Railroad, 1½ miles from Verona, Boone county, Ky. For terms address,

MRS. J. T. BROCK,
416 E. Main St., Lexington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission and SEED Merchants.
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.
Largest and Best Stock of
GROCERIES IN THE CITY.
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.
27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone 4055.) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street,
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

JOHN ALLISON,
UNDER-TAKER  EMBALMER,
—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,—
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.
INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

Order Fall Suits NOW
H. F. BLASE.
And we will make them up artistically and ready for you promptly on time. We have
Over Five Hundred Styles
Of Spring and Summer Woolens to Select from. They come direct from the looms of foreign and domestic manufacturers, and surpass in elegance and variety anything ever shown in Covington. In the assortment are many exclusive patterns—goods that cannot be duplicated by any other establishment in this city. Keep these facts in mind and place your order for a stylish suit with us. We promise you a faultless fit, the proper cut, and a price that will not be more than you can afford to pay.
H. F. BLASE,
535 Madison Avenue,
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY

A Word to the Public
MY STOCK OF
Dry Goods, Notions,
AND LADIES' AND GENTS'
TOILET ARTICLES.
for the Spring Trade has been received, and to be appreciated must be seen. Fresh
DRUGS AND GROCERIES
received daily. A large stock of
PAINTS & OILS
on hand at all times. All Goods New and Clean, and are sold at the
LOWEST CASH PRICES.
—GIVE ME A CALL—
J. G. OELSNER, Florence, Ky.

?Are You Ready to Buy?
CLOTHING?
If you want WELL MADE, PERFECT FITTING CLOTHING At Rock Bottom Prices, we've got them. You wont be satisfied unless you see our line.
All Neat, New Patterns.
No Shop Worn Goods.
Men's Pants from $1.00 up.
Men's Suits from $2.50 up.
Children's Suits from $1.00 up.
Satisfaction Guaranteed or Money Refunded.
ROLFES & WACHS, No. 1 Pike Street, Cor. Madison Ave.
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

THE FAIR.

The attendance on the first day was about 1,000. The exhibition of mules and horses was very good, while the stock pens were filled with as fine sheep as Kentucky affords. The following is the list of the first days awards:

MULES, JACKS AND JENNETS.

Mule colt under 1 year old, Samuel Taylor 1st premium, William Botts, 2d.

One and under two, Rouse & Wilhoit 1st, Ben Stephens, 2d.

Two and under three, Marshall Whitson 1st, C. Dunn, 2d.

Pair of mules, C. L. Griffith, 1st, G. E. Rouse, 2d.

Mule any age, C. L. Griffith, 1st, Geo. E. Rouse, 2d.

Mule colt, the get of Bedinger's jack, Mike. Samuel Taylor.

Jack any age, John C. Bedinger, 1st, Rouse & Wilhoit, 2d.

Jennet any age, John C. Bedinger, 1st, M. T. Graves, 2d.

Running-walking horse, Chas. Wilson, 1st, Charles Clore, 2d.

DRAFT HORSES.

Colt under one year, J. Cody, 1st, Walter Riddell, 2d.

One and under two, Kirby Richardson, 1st, A. S. Yelton, 2d.

Two and under three, F. M. Smith, 1st, A. S. Yelton, 2d.

Mare three and under four, A. L. Caldwell, 1st, W. S. Walton, 2d.

Horse three and under four, Joe Trapp, 1st, Sam Hall, 2d.

Stallion three and under four, A. L. Caldwell, 1st and 2d.

Mare four and over, L. Bradford, 1st, Riddell & Thatcher, 2d.

Gelding four and over, Ed Beicher, 1st, Ben Michaels, 2d.

Stallion four and over, W. T. Stewart, 1st, F. M. Smith, 2d.

Stallion, mare or gelding, any age, Riddell & Thatcher, 1st, L. C. Wright, second.

Farm team, Gus Menninger, 1st, Ben Michaels, 2d.

Model horse, mare or geldlug, any age, W. S. Roberts, 1st, Charles D. Keith, 2d.

Coach horse, C. H. Tanner.

SHEEP.—SOUTHDOWN.

Ram under one year, C. H. & E. Wood, 1st, John H. Aylor, 2d.

One and under two, J. W. Garrett, 1st, B. C. Tauner, 2d.

Ram two and over, John H. Aylor, 1st, W. M. Whitson, 2d.

Ewe under one, C. H. & E. F. Wood, 1st, W. M. Whitson, 2d.

One and under two, J. W. Garrett, 1st, J. H. Aylor, 2d.

Two and over, J. W. Garrett both premiums.

Cotswool.—

Ram one and under two, John H. Aylor, 1st, E. Ellis, 2d.

Ram two and over, C. H. & E. Ford, 1st, C. Ellis, 2d.

Ewe one and under two, C. Ellis, 1st, John H. Aylor, 2d.

Ewe two and over, C. Ellis, 1st, E. H. Blankenbeker, 2d.

Hampshiredowns.—

Ram under one year, E. H. Blankenbeker both premiums.

Ram one and under two, W. M. Whitson, 1st, E. H. Blankenbeker, 2d.

Two and over, E. H. Blankenbeker, both premiums; also both premiums on ewe under one; ewe one and under two, and ewe two and over.

SHROPSHIREDOWNS.

Ram under one year, J. W. Garrett, 1st, J. P. Tanner, 2d.

One and under two, J. H. Aylor, 1st, J. W. Garrett, 2d.

Two and over, J. W. Garrett, 1st, J. H. Aylor, 2d.

Ewe under one, J. H. Aylor, both,

Ewe one and under two, J. W. Garrett, 1st, E. H. Blankenbeker, 2d.

Two and over, J. W. Garrett, 1st, E. H. Blankenbeker, 2d.

HAMPSHIREDOWNS.

Best ram under 1 year, E. H. Blankenbeker, both premiums.

One and under two, W. M. Whitson, 1st; E. H. Blankenbeker, 2nd.

Two and over; Ewe under one year, Ewe, oue and under two; Ewe, two and over, E. H. Blankenbeker all of the above premiums.

FLORAL HALL.

Display apples, Ed Berkshire first, J. B. Dixon second; display pears, Joe Weisenburg first, G. W. Dunlap second; display plums, Ed Berkshire; display quinces, Miranda Goodridge; display fruit, Ed Berkshire first, W. H. Clayton second; display fruit butter, Miss Mamie Tanner; display sour pickles, Mrs. J. H. Baker; display sweet pickles, Mrs. W. P. Beemon; can of peaches, W. H. Clayton; can tomatoes, Mrs. W. Woodward; pound cake, Mrs Mintie Glacklu; lady cake, Mrs. John Fulton; jelly cake, Mrs. Dudley Rouse; layer cake, Miss Kate Walton; fruit cake, Mrs. W. R. Carpenter; loaf corn bread, Mrs. J. E. Smith; hop yeast bread, Mrs. Ezra Wilhoit; salt rising, Mrs. Shellie Tanner; maple molasses, Tony Bentler; sorghum molasses, J. H. Baker; apple vinegar, Mrs. F. A. Utz; comb honey, G. W. Folmer; extracted honey, same; display preserves, Mrs. W. P. Beemon first, Mrs. Mamie Tanner second; butter, Mrs. Emma Acra.

SECOND DAY.

The attendance on this day was between 3,000 and 4,000. The show in the ring was poor, but at the stock pens it was good. The following is the list of premiums:

BEEF CATTLE.

Best bull 2 years and over, Wm Warfield, W H Rouse.

One and under 2, John H Aylor.

Warfield cleaned up the balance of the list of premiums on cattle.

There was a large number of entries in the potato race, which was the most exciting contest of the day. The premiums were taken by Walter Robinson, Lloyd Stephens, Albert Robinson.

SADDLE HORSES.

Colt under 1 year, J F Blyth, J W Palmer.

Under 2 years, Chas D Keith, James Tanner.

Two and under 3, J S Rich, A A Eckler.

Mare 3 and under 4, Jas Carpenter, Jas Tanner.

Gelding 3 and under 4, J F Cleek, Lou Clarkson.

Stallion 3 and under 4, Chas Keith.

Mare 4 and over, W S Roberts, C D Keith.

Gelding 4 and over, Moreland & Wear, J C Clore.

Stallion 4 and over, W S Roberts, C D Keith.

Boy rider, Beanie Rich, Boyd Hudson.

Stallion, mare or gelding, regardless of age, W S Roberts first and third, C D Keith second.

HOGS.—THINRIND.

Boar 1 year and over, Ira Aylor, J H Aylor.

Sow 1 and over, Mont Walton, Geo E Rouse.

Pair pigs 6 months old and under 1 year old, J H Aylor, W E Garnett.

Pair pigs under 6 mouths, Geo E Rouse, J B Conrad.

CHESTER WHITES.

Boar 1 year and over, M L Souther, W E Walton.

Boar under 6 months old, T J Hughes both premiums.

Sow 1 and over, T J Hughes both.

Pair pigs 6 and under 12, H L Tanner, Mont Walton.

Pair pigs under 6 months, T J Hughes both.

POLAND CHINA.

Boar 1 year and over, Wm Hasbush, Mout Walton.

Sow 1 year and over, Wm Hasbush, Mont Walton.

Pair pigs 6 month and over, and pair pigs 6 months old and under 1 year, and pair pigs under 6 months, William Hasbush both premiums.

Sow and 6 or more pigs, Wm Hasbush, R O Smith.

FLORAL HALL.

Display flowers in pots, Mrs W E Walton; hand bouquet, same; hanging basket, Henry Hafer; zephyr flowers, Corda Lipp; wax flowers, Ada Allen; paper flowers, same; hair flowers, Ora Rouse; hammered brass, H W Smith; crayon drawing, F M Rolper, Mrs Fannie Mann; pencil drawing, B Rolston, Kate Souther; color painting, Mrs Maberry both premiums; oil painting, Mrs J C Souther, Kate Souther.

THIRD DAY.

By noon of the third day there was between 6,000 and 7,000 people on the ground. The forenoon was devoted to the exhibition of dairy stock, and a larger and better show was never seen in this part of the country. The afternoon was consumed in showing harness animals, and the contests in all but two or three rings were very interesting. The following is the list of awards for this day:

DAIRY CATTLE.

Bull, two years and over, J T White, Joe Scott.

One and under two, R W Knapp, C H Youell.

Cow, two and over, C H Youell, Julius Bristow.

Heifer, one and under two, C H Youell both premiums.

Heifer, under one, W D Collins, C H Youell.

Herd, bull and three or more cows, Joe Scott, Garnett and Youell.

Milch cow, Julius Bristow, C H Youell.

Jersey bull and heifer under two, Joe Scott.

Jersey heifer two and under three, W R Garnett.

Cake walkers, first, Tom Cole and Mag Bartou; second, Tom Cole and Lucy Shepherd.

HARNESS HORSES.

Colt under one year, Noah Clore, 1st; Jeff Griffith, 2d.

One and under two, R F Fassett, J A Riddell.

Two and under three, C D Keith, A A Eckler.

Mare three and under four, Hubert Gaines, J E Rouse.

Gelding three and under four, R L Conrad, no second.

Best mare four and over, Dr Hale, Cincinnati; J P Tauner.

Best gelding four and over, J Fletcher, Moreland & Ware, Covington.

Stallion four and over, W J Carpenter, John Clore.

Mare with two or more colts, Chas Griffith, James Code.

Pair harness horses, Frank Thatcher, Charles Tanner.

Stallion with five or more colts, J W Watts, B E Northcutt.

Colt by Timothy Boy, James Code.

Single roadster, F Fletcher, Dr Hale, W J Carpenter.

Fancy turnout, M L Riddell, C D Keith.

FLORAL HALL.

Display linens with silk embroidery, Mrs Nannie Hall, Mrs R H Talbott, both of Lexington; Hand painting on silk, satin or velvet, Mrs J H Hall, of Lexington; Mrs Fannie Manser, Covington; Silk embroidery, Miss Evelyn Coppin, Mrs E Sellers, both of Covington; Linen embroidery, Mrs Nannie Hall, Mrs R A Hall, Newport; Worsted embroidery, Mrs J E Smith, Etta Beemon; Cotton embroidery, Mrs R H Talbott, Evelyn Coppin; Crochet work, Mrs Helen Curry, Williamstowu; Knit lace, Evelyn Fisher, Covington; Plain sewing, Susie Lipp; Drawn thread work, Mrs C M Williams, Covington, Mrs R H Wolfe; Silk embroidery, Mrs R H Talbott, Nettie Rouse; Battenburg lace, Mattie Lenson, C M Williams; Shirt by girl under 15, Eva O Utz; Rag carpet, Ora Ross; Woolen knitting, fancy, Mattie Hall, Lexington; woolen knitting, plain, Mrs E Cowen; cotton knitting, plain, Mrs T L Harris; fancy silk knitting, Mrs E G Rouse; silk quilt, Mrs B A Dulaney, Mary Curry; worsted quilt, Mrs J E Smith, Etta Beemon; calico quilt, Mrs S A Green, Mrs W M Rogers; knit counterpane, Mrs J H Hunton, Mamie Tanner.

FOURTH DAY.

The crowd on Saturday was about a duplicate of that of the day before, and the show in the ring was good, while that in floral hall, exceeded that on the corresponding day of any of the preceding years:

ALL-PURPOSE HORSES.

Colt under one year, Noah Clore, J W Palmer.

One and under two, R F Fassett, C D Keith.

Two and under three, S A Golden, C D Keith.

Three and under four, J P Tanner, J F Cleek.

Horse or mare four and over, W S Roberts, C D Keith, S A Goldeu.

Pair match horses, C D Keith, J P Tanner.

Lady rider, Mrs D W Mawn, Mrs Coal Hob, Mary Riddell.

Consolation prize, J W Poindexter, R D Courad, J L Fulton.

FLORAL HALL.

Clover seed, G S Hann; rye, oats and red wheat, Tom Hafer, W O Hafer second on red wheat; white corn, George Roberts, A M Yealy; yellow corn, Jerry Tanner, J E Smith; sweet corn, H C Hafer; display grain, Tom Hafer; 10 pounds burley tobacco, W T Wolfe, W N Utz; six stalks burley tobacco, W N Utz; Irish potatoes, H T Tucker; sweet potatoes, D M Snyder; onions, G B Powers; turnips, Perry Aylor; beets, S W Aylor; tomatoes, Bart Aylor; cabbage, Noah Clore; display vegetables, Perry Aylor, Tom Hafer, W T Tracy; display Irish potatoes, H R Hearn, Joe Geiger; green beans, W L R Rouse; soup beans, Sarah Rouse, watermelons, Huey Aylor; squashes, J W Dixon; muskmelons, Huey Aylor; carrots, Jake Crigler; parsnips, same; cucumbers, Ida Clutterbuck; radishes, Thos Corcoran; peppers, Perry Aylor; pumpkins, Sarah Garnett; canteloupes, S W Aylor; biggest pumpkin, Henry Aylor.

POULTRY.

Pair Cochins and pair Leghorns, Geo Ewalt; Wyaudotts, A M Thomas; Plymouth Rocks, Geo Ewalt; Laugshangs and Minorcas, J M Davis; Hamburgs, A M Acra; Brahmas and Black Spanish, Geo Ewalt; Games, A M Acra; Bronze Turkeys, B H Snyder; Holland Turkeys, John Aylor; Geese, W C Rouse; Ducks, A M Acra; display poultry, Geo Ewalt, J M Davis.

NOTES.

The one judge plan seemed to give satisfaction.

Not a single accident occurred in the exhibition ring.

The show in Floral Hall was a big feature each day.

L. C. Yager reported the fair for the Commercial Tribune.

The cakewalk was a new feature and was a drawing card.

A good show of harness horses is the best drawing card for a fair.

The refreshment stands made plenty of money for those who rented them.

The catch-penny concerns, of which there were several, did a thriving business.

The rain Friday afternoon assisted very much in bringing back a big crowd for Saturday.

Joel Corbin, of Aurora, Ind., was on hand Saturday, and meet hundreds of his Kentucky friends.

The directors handled the large crowds of Friday and Saturday without trouble whatever.

Noah Clore's colt took three blue strings on his colt, one of them was a premium given by the owner of its sire.

The saddle horse show did not come up to that of last year. It was not because good premiums were not given.

The directors watched closely the exhibition of each day to see wherein improvements can be made next year.

Noah Clore's colt took first and J. W. White's second in the show of the colts of Dexter, Joseph Kennedy's horse.

It would be a great pleasure to attend a fair where everybody thought everything was conducted exactly right.

When all the seats in the amphitheater were occupied the crowd seemed to be composed of about three ladies to one man.

The refreshment stand with a cooking department attached, did a rushing business the last two days. It fed hundreds of people, giving each a good meal.

John Bradford, of Scott county; Geo. W. Brown and William Bradford, of Nashville, Tennessee, were in attendance and met many of their old acquaintances.

With the liberal use of the sprinkling cart, and a good supply of ice water on hand all the time, the large crowds of Friday and Saturday were kept reasonably comfortable.

Taking the four days as a whole the fair was a complete success, for which the directors are entitled to credit, as they spared no efforts to bring about a fair that would be satisfactory to its patrons.

William Warfield exhibited a large number of as fine short horn cattle as can be gotten together in Kentucky. He is an extensive shorthorn breeder and keeps no cattle on his farm that are not as near perfection as it is possible to grow them.

Pete McAtee, who worked for Tony Bentler, a few years ago, but who, for some time, has been breaking on a passenger train running between Cincinnati and Junction City on the Southern Railroad, drove out to O. P. Conner's in a hack, last Friday, and took Mrs. Naunie Cloud, daughter of O. P. Conner and wife, to Erlanger, where they were united in marriage, after which they went to Ludiow, which will be their future home.

E. L. Riley, of Bullittsville has 55 good stock ewes for sale.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.

DOLLARS DO DOUBLE DUTY HERE.

Standard Granulated Sugar, 18 lbs. $1 00.
Arbuckle Coffee 10 cents per lb.
Daniel Boone Soap, 3 bars for 5 cents.
Pittsburg Wire less than city prices.
Lime, Cement, White Lead, Oils, Varnishes, etc., as cheap as in the city.

Baby Shoes for 10c per pair up.
Misses' Shoes for 50c per pair up.
A full line of Men's, Ladie's and Children's Tan Shoes—Latest Styles, Best Quality, Lowest Prices.
Men's Dress Pants, 75c per pair.
Wonder Overalls, Shirts and Pants, the best made.

COME at ONCE. THESE PRICES are ONLY While Present Stock Lasts.

UNION, KENTUCKY. UNION, KENTUCKY.

McALPIN & BLANTON,
Successors to RIGGS BROS,
Undertakers
—AND—
Embalmers,

LIVERY, BOARDING & FEED STABLES.

Special Rates to Travelling Men. Pianos, Organs and Furniture Carefully Removed. First-class Carriages for hire with careful drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, etc.

LEXINGTON PIKE, ERLANGER, KY.
J. M. EDDINS, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

Local News.

Tony Bentler will grind next Friday.

Jerry Beemon, of Limburg, has a fresh jersey cow and calf for sale.

Robert McGlasson's wife presented him with a 9 pound girl as his 34th birth day present.

There was a very small crowd in town Monday, and very little business was done in court.

Farmers in town Monday complained that pastures were drying up, and that corn and tobacco are firing up badly.

Farmers! buy The J. & F. Schrotha & Co., special Wheat Grower, only $20 per ton. B. F. Zimmer, agent, Constance, Ky.

It was Miss Nellie Rouse who received first premium on embroidery work at the Harvest Home, instead of Mrs. Emma Glore.

Friday Lee Gaines' big sale of Livestock will be had at his residence near Walton. It will be attended by a large crowd. A large lot of dairy stock will be sold.

The official count of the vote cast at the last primary election was made, last Monday. It varied only a few votes from the statement heretofore published. Stephen's official majority was 225.

Our old friend, D. M. Hewitt, who resides down on Woolper, came in with a lot of supplies Monday, and he could not have selected a more opportune time for replenishing our table. Thanks, Daniel, thanks.

The Bellevue and Burlington ball teams will cross bats on the park at this place next Saturday at 2:30 p. m. Bellevue is coming to take Burlington's scalp that day, and will have Johnson, of Aurora, to do their pitching.

NOTICE.—I hereby notify the public that my wife Katheriny, has left my bed and board, and that I will not be responsible for any debts she may contract. ADAM BAURER.
Aug. 16t, 1899.

NOTICE.—I have never authorized any person to sign my name to a receipt, or note, or a paper of any kind, and any person signing my name will be punished to the full extent of the law, by me, for forgery.
JOHN S. MASON, Hathaway, Ky.

It is a pleasure to us to announce that our friend, Henry Quick, of Hebron, has enlisted as a benedict, he and Miss Rose Utz, daughter of Mr. John P. Utz, of Limaburg, marrying last Thursday. Here is wishing Henry and his good wife much happiness.

Died—August 27th, at Lexington, Missouri, Asa T. Kirtley, aged 90 years. Deceased was a native of this county, and was the second son of Elder Robert Kirtley. At the age of fourteen he became a member of Bullitsburg church. He was married early in life, and in 1837 he moved to Missouri, where he reared a large family, most of whom survive him. One of his sons is a minister of prominence and usefulness in Illinois. After a long, useful and honored life, he died in faith calmly, peacefully and happy, leaving the writer of this sketch the only survivor of a large family.
J. A. KIRTLEY.

The death of Peter Hartman, Sr., at his home across the river on last Thursday morning, removes a well known citizen from this community. Mr. Hartman was born in Germany January 18th, 1816, and came to the United States in 1843. He was a basket maker for several years, and being of thrifty, industrious habits invested his accumulated savings in land, and for many years had been engaged in farming in Kentucky, and became quite wealthy. For the past few years he suffered greatly with rheumatism and ailments peculiar to persons of advanced years. He was aged 83 years, 7 months and 6 days, and was highly respected for his many excellent traits of character and sterling honesty. He leaves a widow, four sons and two daughters. The funeral occurred Saturday morning at the St. Lawrence church, Rev. J. F. Sondermann conducting the services.—Lawrenceburg Register.

When in Burlington Call on
J. S. CLUTTERBUCK
DEALER IN
DRY GOODS
Notions, Boots and Shoes,
Who has just received his stock of
SPRING & SUMMER SHOES,
the nicest stock ever in town. Have old stock which I AM SELLING AT GENUINE BARGAINS.
NICE LINE WALL PAPER,
At Prices to Suit the times.

DEERING - MACHINES

Are the favorites in every land where grass and grain grow. They are adopted to all conditions. They are the "Acme" of strength, durability, simplicity and light draft. We will carry a full line of Repairs. Buy the Machine that is fully guaranteed and handy to obtain repairs for.

Also remember we are headquarters for all kinds of
Farm Machinery
At bottom prices. We handle nothing but the best and fully guarantee all.

Also the Largest and Cheapest
Stock of Shoes
In the county, and a full line of
General -- Merchandise.
—CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.—
COME AND SEE.
T. J. HUGHES,
BEAVER LICK, KY.

GO TO
C. T. DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,
HEBRON AND CONSTANCE,
A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.
GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.
Undertaking Given Special Attention,
A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.
Hebron. C. T. DAVIS & CO. Constance

W. H. HOSHAL & COMPANY,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
Cattle, Hogs and Sheep,
—UNION STOCK YARDS,—
Cincinnati, - Ohio.
—TELEPHONE 7346.—
Information Regarding Live Stock Cheerfully Furnished.
Consign Your Stock Direct to Us.

LUMBER!

LATHS,
SHINGLES,
DOORS,
BLINDS,
SASH.

If you want any kind of Lumber it will be to your advantage to visit our yard at Lawrenceburg, Indiana, before buying. Prices to Suit the Times.

M. E. LEMING & CO.

A SERVICE OF SONG.

Rev. Dr. Talmage's Sermon on Music in Religion.

The Best Music Rendered Under Trouble—God Meant All to Sing—The Proper Music for a Church.

[Copyright, Louis Klopsch, 1899.]

Dr. Talmage to-day discussed a most attractive department of religious worship—the service of song. His ideas will be received with interest by all who love to lift their voices in praise in the Lord's house. The text is Nehemiah 7:67: "And they had two hundred forty and five singing men and singing women."

The best music has been rendered under trouble. The first duet that I know anything of was given by Paul and Silas when they sang praises to God and the prisoners heard them. The Scotch Covenanters, hounded by the dogs of persecution, sang the psalms of David with more spirit than they have ever since been rendered. The captives in the text had music left in them, and I declare that if they could find, amid all their trials, two hundred and forty and five singing men and singing women then in this day of Gospel sunlight and free from all persecution there ought to be a great multitude of men and women willing to sing the praises of God. All our churches need arousal on this subject. Those who can sing must throw their souls into the exercise, and those who cannot sing must learn how, and it shall be heart to heart, voice to voice, hymn to hymn, anthem to anthem, and the music shall swell jubilant with thanksgiving and tremulous with pardon.

Have you ever noticed the construction of the human throat as indicative of what God means us to do with it? In only an ordinary throat and lungs there are 14 direct muscles and 30 indirect muscles that can produce a very great variety of sounds. What does that mean? It means that you should sing! Do you suppose that God, who gives as such a musical instrument as that, intends us to keep it shut? Suppose some great tyrant should get possession of the musical instruments of the world and should lock up the organ of Westminster abbey, and the organ of Lucerne, and the organ at Haarlem, and the organ at Freiburg, and all the other great musical instruments of the world. You would call such a man as that a monster, and yet you are more wicked if, with the human voice, a musical instrument of more wonderful adaptation than all the musical instruments that man ever created, you shut it against the praise of God.

> Let those refuse to sing
> Who never knew our God,
> But children of the heavenly King
> Should speak their joys abroad.

Music seems to have been born in the soul of the natural world. The omnipotent voice with which God commanded the world into being seems to linger yet with its majesty and sweetness, and you hear it in the grainfield, in the swoop of the wind amid the mountain fastnesses, in the canary's warble and the thunder shock, in the brook's tinkle and the ocean's paean. There are soft cadences in nature and loud notes, some of which we cannot hear at all and others that are so terrific that we cannot appreciate them.

The animalculae have their music, and the spicula of hay and the globule of water are as certainly resonant with the voice of God as the highest heavens in which the armies of the redeemed celebrate their victories. When the breath of the flower strikes the air, and the wing of the firefly cleaves it, there is sound and there is melody; and as to those utterances of nature which seem harsh and overwhelming, it is as when you stand in the midst of a great orchestra, and the sound almost rends your ear because you are too near to catch the blending of the music, so, my friends, we stand too near the desolating storm and the frightful whirlwind to catch the blending of the music, but when that music rises to where God is, and the invisible beings who float above us, then I suppose the harmony is as sweet as it is tremendous, in the judgment day, that day of tumult and terror, there will be no dissonance to those who can appreciate the music. It will be as when sometimes a great organist, in executing some great piece, breaks down the instrument upon which he is playing the music. So, when the great march of the judgment day is played under the hand of earthquake, and storm and conflagration, the world itself will break down with the music that is played on it. The fact is, we are all deaf, or we should understand that the whole universe is but one harmony—the stars of the night only the ivory keys of a great instrument on which God's fingers play the music of the spheres.

Music seems dependent on the law of acoustics and mathematics, and yet where these laws are not understood at all the art is practiced. There are today 500 musical journals in China. Two thousand years before Christ the Egyptians practiced this art. Pythagoras learned it. Lasus of Hermione wrote essays on it. Plato and Aristotle introduced it into their schools, but I have not much interest in that. My chief interest is in the music of the Bible.

The Bible, like a great harp with innumerable strings, swept by the fingers of inspiration, trembles with it. So far back as the fourth chapter of Genesis you find the first organist and harper—Jubal. So far back as the thirty-first chapter of Genesis you find the first choir. All up and down the Bible you find sacred music—at weddings, at inaugurations, at the treading of the wine press. The Hebrews understood how to make musical signs above the musical text. When the Jews came from their distant homes to the great festivals at Jerusalem, they brought harp and timbrel and trumpet and poured along the great Judean highways a river of harmony until in and around the temple the wealth of a nation's song and gladness had accumulated. In our day we have a division of labor in music, and we have one man to make the hymn, another man to make the tune, another man to play it on the piano and another man to sing it. Not so in Bible times. Miriam, the sister of Moses, after the passage of the Red sea, composed a doxology, set it to music, clapped it on a cymbal and at the same time sang it. David, the psalmist, was at the same time poet, musical composer, harpist and singer, and the majority of his rhythm goes vibrating through all the ages.

There were in Bible times stringed instruments—a harp of three strings playing by fret and bow, a harp of ten strings resounding only to the fingers of the performer. Then there was the crooked trumpet, fashioned out of the horn of the ox or the ram. Then there were the sistrum and the cymbals, clapped in the dance or beaten in the march. There were 4,000 Levites, the best men of the country, whose only business it was to look after the music of the temple.

These 4,000 Levites were divided into two classes and officiated on different days. Can you imagine the harmony when these white robed Levites, before the symbols of God's presence and by the smoking altars and the candlesticks that sprang upward and branched out like trees of gold and under the wings of the cherubim, chanted the One Hundred and Thirty-sixth Psalm of David? Do you know how it was done? One part of that great choir stood up and chanted: "Oh, give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good!" Then the other part of the choir, standing in some other part of the temple, would come in with the response: "For His mercy endureth forever." Then the first part would take up the song again and say: "Unto him who only doeth great wonders." The other part of the choir would come in with overwhelming response: "For His mercy endureth forever," until in the latter part of the song, the music floating backward and forward, harmony grappling with harmony, every trumpet sounding, every bosom heaving, one part of this great white robed choir would lift the anthem: "Oh, give thanks unto the God of Heaven!" and the other part of the Levite choir would come in with the response: "For His mercy endureth forever."

But I am glad to know that all through the ages there has been great attention paid to sacred music. Ambrosius, Augustine, Gregory the Great, Charlemagne, gave it their mighty influence, and in our day the best musical genius is throwing itself on the altars of God. Handel and Mozart and Bach and Durante and Wolf and scores of other men and women have given the best part of their genius to church music. A truth in words is not half so mighty as a truth in song. Luther's sermons have been forgotten, but the "Judgment Hymn" he composed is resounding yet all through Christendom.

I congratulate the world and the church on the advancement made in this art—the Edinburgh societies for the improvement of music, the Swiss singing societies, the Exeter hall concerts, the triennial musical convocation at Dusseldorf, Germany, and Birmingham, England, the controversies of music at Munich and Leipsic, the Handel and Haydn and Harmonic and Mozart societies of this country, the academies of music in New York, Brooklyn, Boston, Charleston, New Orleans, Chicago and every city which has any enterprise.

Now, friends, how are we to decide what is appropriate, especially for church music? There may be a great many differences of opinion. In some of the churches they prefer a trained choir; in others they prefer the melodeon, the harp, the cornet, the organ; in other places they think these things are the invention of the devil. Some would have a musical instrument played so loud you cannot stand it, and others would have it played so soft you cannot hear it. Some think a musical instrument ought to be played only in the interstices of worship, and then with indescribable softness, while others are not satisfied unless there be startling contrasts and staccato passages that make the audience jump, with great eyes and hair on end, as from a vision of the witch of Endor. But, while there may be great varieties of opinion in regard to music, it seems to me that the general spirit of the word of God indicates what ought to be the great characteristics of church music.

And I remark, in the first place, a prominent characteristic ought to be adaptiveness to devotion. Music that may be appropriate for a concert hall, or the opera house, or the drawing room, may be inappropriate in church. Glees, madrigals, ballads, may be as innocent as psalms in their places. But church music has only one design, and that is devotion, and that which comes with the toss, the swing and the display of an opera house is a hindrance to the worship. From such performances we go away saying: "What splendid execution! Did you ever hear such a soprano? Which of those solos did you like the better?" When, if we had been rightly wrought upon, we would have gone away saying: "Oh, how my soul was lifted up in the presence of God while they were singing that first hymn! I never had such rapturous views of Jesus Christ as my Saviour as when they were singing that last doxology."

My friend, there is an everlasting distinction between music as an art and music as a help to devotion. Though a Schumann composed it, though a Mozart played it, though a Sontag sang it, away with it if it does not make the heart better and honor Christ. Why should we rob the programmes of worldly gayety when we have so many appropriate songs and tunes composed in our own day, as well as that magnificent inheritance of church psalmody which has come down fragrant with the devotions of other generations—tunes no more worn out than they were when our great-grandfathers climbed up to them from the church pew to glory? Dear old souls, how they used to sing! When they were cheerful, our grandfathers and grandmothers used to sing "Colchester." When they were very meditative, then the bearded meeting house rang with "South Street" and St. Edmund's." Were they struck through with great tenderness, they sang "Woodstock." Were they wrapped in visions of the glory of the church, they sang "Zion." Were they overborne with the love and glory of Christ, they sang "Arieh." And in those days there were certain tunes married to certain hymns, and they have lived in peace a great while, these two old people, and we have no right to divorce them. "What God hath joined together let no man put asunder." Born as we have been, amid this great wealth of church music, augmented by the compositions of artists in our day, we ought not to be tempted out of the sphere of Christian harmony and try to seek unconsecrated sounds. It is absurd for a millionaire to steal.

I remark, also, that coreetness ought to be a characteristic of church music. While we all ought to take part in this service, with perhaps a few exceptions, we ought at the same time to cultivate ourselves in this sacred art. God loves harmony, and we ought to love it. There is no devotion in a howl or a yelp. In this day, when there are so many opportunities of high culture in this sacred art, I declare that those parents are guilty of neglect who let their sons and daughters grow up knowing nothing about music. In some of the European cathedrals the choir assembles every morning and every afternoon of every day the whole year to perfect themselves in this art, and shall we begrudge the half hour we spend Friday nights in the rehearsal of sacred song for the Sabbath?

Another characteristic must be spirit and life. Music ought to rush from the audience like the water from a rock—clear, bright, sparkling. If all the other part of the church service is dull, do not have the music dull. With so many thrilling things to sing about, away with all drawling and stupidity. There is nothing that makes me so nervous as to sit in a pulpit and look off on an audience with their eyes three-fourths closed and their lips almost shut, mumbling the praises of God. During one of my journeys I preached to an audience of 2,000 or 3,000 people, and all the music they made together did not equal one skylark! People do not sleep at a coronation; do not let us sleep when we come to a Saviour's crowning.

In order to a proper discharge of this duty, let us stand up, save as age or weakness or fatigue excuses us. Seated in an easy pew we cannot do this duty half so well as when upright we throw our whole body into it. Let our song be like an acclamation of victory. You have a right to sing—do not surrender your prerogative. If in the performance of your duty, or the attempt at it, you should lose your place in the musical scale and be one C below when you ought to be one C above, or you should come in half a bar behind, we will excuse you! Still, it is better to do as Paul says in singing "with the spirit and the understanding also."

Again, I remark that the music must be congregational. This opportunity must be brought down within the range of the whole audience. A song that the worshipers cannot sing is of no more use to them than a sermon in Choctaw. What an easy kind of church it must be where the minister does all the preaching and the elders all the praying and the choir all the singing! There are but very few churches where there are "245 singing men and singing women." In some churches it is almost considered a disturbance if a man let out his voice to full compass, and the people get up on tiptoe and look over between the spring hats and wonder what that man is making all the noise about. In Syracuse in a Presbyterian church there was one member who came to me when I was the pastor of another church in that city and told me his trouble, how that as he persisted in singing on the Sabbath day a committee, made up of the session of the choir, had come to ask him if he would not just please to keep still! You have a right to sing. Jonathan Edwards used to set apart whole days for singing. Let us wake up to this duty. Let us sing alone, sing in our families, sing in our schools, sing in our churches.

I want to rouse you to an unanimity in Christian song that has never yet been exhibited. Come, now; clear your throats and get ready for this duty. I never shall forget hearing a Frenchman sing the "Marseillaise" on the Champs Elysees, Paris, just before the battle of Sedan, in 1870. I never saw such enthusiasm before or since. As he sang that national air, oh, how the Frenchmen shouted! Have you ever in an English assemblage heard a band play "God Save the Queen?" If you have, you know something about the enthusiasm of a national air.

Now, I tell you that these songs we sing Sabbath by Sabbath are the national airs of the Kingdom of Heaven, and if you do not learn to sing them here how do you ever expect to sing the song of Moses and the Lamb? I should not be surprised at all if some of the best anthems of Heaven were made up of some of the best songs of earth. May God increase our reverence for Christian psalmody and keep us from disgracing it by our indifference and frivolity.

Bramble-Dobbs thinks he is a good poker player, doesn't he?

Thorne—Yes, but it costs him a good deal of money to think so.—N. Y. Journal.

WHAT THE PEOPLE SAY.

The Glamor of Imperialism Does Not Mislead the Level Headed American.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson has returned from a prolonged tour of the west, and cheers the heart of the imperialists by announcing that he "did not find an 'anti' west of Chicago." There is no explanation given of how he managed to pass through so many western states without finding an anti "west of Chicago," because expressions of anti-imperialism from west of Chicago have been heard clear to the Atlantic coast. We do not for a moment doubt that the secretary's statement is exact, and therefore it is the more wonderful. It was a remarkable feat.

That his experience was unique may be judged from the results of an extensive inquiry by the Farm and Home, an agricultural paper published at Springfield, Mass., and Chicago, Ill. The paper is circulated in the farming regions of the west and south. On the 1st of May that journal propounded to its readers a series of ten questions, all of them bearing on our new national problems, except one as to whether United States senators should be elected by the people, asking them to put their replies on postal cards. It recently published a summary of the 21,000 replies which were received. Of this large number about ten per cent. came from New England, about 25 from the middle states, nearly 40 from the central west, and the rest almost equally from the south and the Pacific coast. The first question was: "Should the Filipinos be held in subjection to the United States, or should they be allowed to form an independent government?" The answers from each of the five sections of the country were largely in favor of independence, the totals footing up 12,520 for independence, to 8,416 for subjection. The majority was still greater for Cuban independence—13,199, as against 7,362 for annexation. On the other hand, a large proportion favor the annexation of Porto Rico to the United States—11,597, as against 6,004 for its independence and 1,746 for its annexation to Cuba.

The greatest unanimity and emphasis was noted on the comprehensive question: "In general, should the United States adhere to or depart from its former policy of non-interference with nations beyond either ocean?" There were 13,624 replies in favor of adherence, as against only 3,887 in favor of the new departure.

That, bear in mind, was a straw taken in May, when every dispatch brought the cheering news that the trouble in the Philippines would be ended in a few days. It was months before the admission was made that the Philippine war was a really serious war; before the protest of the correspondents was made against censorship, showing that the state of affairs is so bad in the Philippines that it was feared to let the American public know the truth; before the administration got rid of the incompetent Alger and drafted the energetic Root into the cabinet; before it was confessed that 100,000 troops were necessary to cope with Aguinaldo's forces; before the organs of imperialism began to admit that the course in the Philippines was a mistake from the beginning. Then the majority against imperialism was pretty large, although the project had not yet lost its original luster. What would the majority be to-day when the bad mess that affairs are in is becoming more and more apparent? What will it be next November? What in November, 1900? These are practical questions to those whose only chart and compass is popular approval. The people who respond to these questions are emphatically the plain people, whose opinions after all shape the course of the government. The glitter of imperialism had not drawn them away from the national ideals in May, when the brilliancy of the project was the greatest. Now, when the project is being stripped of its tawdry embellishment, and stands in its repulsive nakedness as a war of subjugation, it is not likely to make people abandon the constitution and the Declaration of Independence.—Utica Observer.

OPINIONS AND POINTERS.

——The state elections the coming fall may throw much doubt on President McKinley's renomination.—Milwaukee Journal.

——The republicans say that the democratic party is divided about "cardinal principles;" but they turn every color of the rainbow at the mere mention of democratic harmony to upset their rosecate predictions.—Albany Argus.

——President McKinley in a five minutes' talk has told the American people that he wants peace in the Philippines. All that he now has to do is to officially communicate this news to Aguinaldo and his wish will be gratified.—Kansas City Times.

——The campaign of next year will turn not upon the currency question, but upon the unfaithful, unpatriotic and dishonest administration of William McKinley. No amount of lying about the attitude of Mr. Bryan will avail to change the situation.—Chicago Chronicle.

——President McKinley's little splutter about the flag is just as indecisive and meaningless as other indications he has given of a policy toward our acquisitions. He is simply at sea and, drifting, taking refuge behind flag rhetoric and glittering generalities.—Pittsburgh Post.

——An official organ of the administration admits that the Philippine commissioners will not make their report until after they have returned and been informed of what the president wants them to report. They will then make a report in accordance with the president's instructions.—Syracuse Telegram.

McKINLEY'S POLICY.

Government by Proclamation and Peace Through Subjugation.

In his speech at Ocean Grove Mr. McKinley gave this brief definition of what he called "the president's policy in connection with the Philippines:"

"Peace first, then, with charity for all, establish a government of law and order, protecting life and property, and occupation for the well-being of the people—a government in which they shall participate under the stars and stripes."

He prefaced this declaration with the assertion that "our flag does not mean one thing in the United States and another thing in the Philippines."

Our flag in the United States means "government of the people, by the people, for the people." Does it mean this in the Philippines?

At home our flag means "government with the consent of the governed." Are we asking the consent of the Filipinos to "establish a government" for them, as the president puts it?

At home our flag means "no taxation without representation." Mr. McKinley purposes to tax the Filipinos. Does he mean to give them representation in our congress?

At home our flag means the supremacy of the civil over the military power. Will it signify any such thing in the Philippines for years to come, even after the inhabitants have been subjugated?

The most that "the president's policy" promises, after "occupation" by our forces, is a government established by him, through military power, in which the inhabitants shall "participate under the stars and stripes."

However benevolent and beneficent this sort of government for the Filipinos may be, it is not the sort of government that our flag means in the United States; it is not a form of government recognized in our constitution; it is not a government established or authorized by congress, but is directly contrary to the letter and spirit of the resolution adopted by the senate after the ratification of the treaty with Spain.

It is in fact a military satrapy that Mr. McKinley proposes—government by proclamation.

One of Mr. McKinley's predecessors in the executive office got into no end of trouble by proclaiming and defending and endeavoring to enforce what he called "my policy." Is not the incumbent of the white house following the same line?—N. Y. World.

PECKSNIFFIAN PALAVER.

McKinley's Hypocritical Declaration of His Philippine Policy.

It will doubtless amuse the wearied cynics of European diplomacy to read President McKinley's ingenuous announcement that he proposes to subjugate the population of the Philippine islands "for the well-being of the people," and to rule them by foreign fiat "with charity for all."

This hypocritical cloaking of the real intent of conquest under fair-sounding names is a feature of land-grabbing which has long been abandoned by the greater powers of the old world. It had its days in the eastern hemisphere, possessing certain temptations to the novice and wielding a certain influence over the minds of people who shrank from robbery at the outset. But it was a shoddy subterfuge, wearing threadbare in a very short time, and it is now regarded abroad as the garb of the "cheap man" in world politics. It will be impossible for the president of the United States to assume it with dignity.

The big land-grabbing powers of Europe nowadays are frank in their despoiling of weaker nations. They seize foreign territory with a candid acknowledgment of the fact that its possession means to them a widening of their commercial horizon and a strengthening of their militant power. The well-being of the peoples whom they subjugate is not pleaded as their reason for conquest. They do not pretend to bend the conquered race's neck to the yoke "with charity for all." You don't hear them talking of "benevolent assimilation" with an oily whine worthy of Mr. Pecksniff.

President McKinley should be more manly in his declaration of purpose. He should say outright that he proposes to hold the Philippines because the world-hungry trusts to whom he is subject demand the Philippines as booty and plunder of war. There will be no additional danger to the president in making this acknowledgment. The people already recognize the fact as the controlling influence behind the president's expansion policy.—St. Louis Republic.

Too Hopeful.

Hope springs eternal in the human breast, and President McKinley has a breast that is a perfect hotbed of the feeling. But even in his case we find it hard to believe that he still cherishes the fond hope with which he was so long deluded in regard to the speedy submission of Aguinaldo. Yet they say in Washington that the president still has fond expectations on this point and that they have been rekindled through recent advices from Manila. Surely by this time he should have learned that when a Manila dispatch, whether it comes from Gen. Otis or one of our Philippine commissioners, talks about the collapse of the insurrection being near at hand the proper reply, expressed, of course, in more courteous phrase, would be "Oh, bosh!" We wish we could take a brighter view of the prospect of the Filipinos' surrender, but common sense and recurrent disappointments lead to the conclusion that the war will outlast the rainy season.—Boston Herald.

——Some of the republican journals appear to have discovered that Mr. McKinley has a "Philippine policy." Summed up, the policy, so far as Aguinaldo is concerned, is "Take a licking and look pleasant."—St. Paul Globe.

HUMOROUS.

"Will you have some of the sugar-cured ham?" asked the landlady.—"What was it cured of?" asked the new boarder, suspiciously.—What-to-Eat.

Mrs. Snaggs—"Isn't it odd that a French duel is usually harmless?" Mr. Snaggs—"Yes; they ought to introduce the American toy pistol into France for duelling purposes."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Blunt—"Who reads your poetry, anyhow?" Dillets—"Why, my dear sir, all the prominent magazine editors of the country, and many of the lesser lights on the daily and weekly papers."—Philadelphia North American.

Logical and Unanswerable.—Mr. Cross—"If the love of money is the root of all evil, what shall be said of your insatiate love of jewelry?" Mrs. Cross—"Why, darling, it's an excellent means for uprooting evil!"—Jewelers' Weekly.

O'Flannigan (in an awful predicament two stories high)—"Faith, Pat, I can't howld on here enny longer. I'm goin' t' drop—rest me sowl!" O'Mulligan—"Could yes hang on a wee bit longer. Tim, till I get me new dinner booket from under yez?"—Ohio State Journal.

No Eyes for Sheila.—He took his fiancee sailing one summer's day, and they sailed to a beach-bound island in the sound. When they returned one of their friends said: "Did you bring back any of those beautiful shells on the beach?" "We didn't see any shells," they said. And then they wondered why everyone laughed.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

His Reformation.—Uncle John—"The fact is, you have no stability about you. How many times, now, have you sworn off cigarettes, only to begin smoking again worse than ever?" Harry—"But I have sworn off for good now, and I've stuck to it this time." Uncle John—"Stuck to it? How long, pray?" Harry—"Well, I haven't smoked to-day, and to-morrow and the day after will make three days."—Boston Transcript.

SHIPWRECK SAVED LIVES.

Loss of the Steamer Milwaukee Kept the Saugatuck Crew from Starving.

"And you never heard of the wreck of the Milwaukee?" said Capt. J. N. Upham, of the Saugatuck. "Well, well, well!" Capt. Upham has sailed the lakes 54 years, and, still hale and hearty, is taking things easy this year as skipper of the little steamboat Pilot on the Kalamazoo river.

"Let's see. The Milwaukee was wrecked right here off Saugatuck way back in the '30's—'37, if my memory serves me right. Now, the Milwaukee, she was a fine full-rigged ship—not a schooner, mind you, but a full-rigged ship—and you don't see them nowadays on this lake, I can tell you. She belonged in Buffalo and she was bound there with a cargo of flour. She had picked up the flour all along the coast, beginning with St. Joe. Now, in those days if a Saugatuck man wanted any flour, he packed his wheat on his back—70 pounds was a good back load—clear to Otsego, ten miles this side of Kalamazoo. Then he got it ground and packed it back again. So you can see there wasn't much flour in Saugatuck for the Milwaukee. Where did it come from? Why, from Kalamazoo. They brought it down the Kalamazoo river, 30 miles by small boats. The Milwaukee, she couldn't get in the river and she was lying at anchor off the mouth. Well, it was late in the fall and the Milwaukee was in a hurry to get away for Buffalo. Her crew was kept working night and day taking on flour and they were so played out they were almost ready to mutiny. The last of the flour was put aboard about midnight. The shore men hadn't more'n got back before a reg'lar gale come down out of the northwest, with snow and cold weather. The next morning the Milwaukee was goin' to pieces on the beach and her flour was comin' in on the waves. The crew was already ashore—we found 18 of them drowned and frozen stiff on the sand. They're buried over there in that old deserted cemetery that's about all that's left of the city of Singapore.

"And now, here's another part of the story; it's an ill wind that blows nobody good. Well, sir, this storm brought on the winter. Everything froze up and stayed froze till the next April. And sureas you live Saugatuck people would have starved to death that winter if it hadn't been for the Milwaukee's flour. She had 3,000 barrels on board, and a whole lot of it was saved. People lived on it and even fed it to their cattle. Yes, sir, that flour was the salvation of Saugatuck that winter, sure. A good many more'n 18 would have been dead by spring if the Milwaukee hadn't been wrecked right here."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

St Hoskins' Boy.

Passenger Agent Drake, on his recent trip to Denver, got hold of a yarn about Arkansas from a Little Rock school-teacher who was going to Los Angeles. This teacher said that below Little Rock 80 miles was a country that was a century behind. Children were not compelled to put on civilized dress until 21 years old. He said he went down into that particular section during the holidays of last winter hunting. Just as the party got into a little town that had the only post office for 40 miles a big, burly young fellow, looking a good deal as Adam probably looked when he bossed the garden of Eden, came tearing down the rocky street, swinging his arms and clawing the rocks and clamoring along pursued by three men. One of the party asked a young fellow who stood near the wagon, laughing, if that fellow running was crazy. "Naw," he said, with a drawl; "that's St Hoskins' boy. He's 21 years old to-day and they's trying to catch him to put some clothes on him."—Wichita (Kan.) Eagle.

DEMOCRATIC DECLARATION.

Made by Hon. William T. Mooney, Temporary Chairman at the Ohio State Convention.

In his address to the Ohio democratic state convention at Zanesville, August 30, Hon. William T. Mooney, temporary chairman, in the course of his remarks said:

"There will be to-day no contest as to the platform declarations which our party shall make. There is no difference of opinion. The democratic party of Ohio stands squarely upon every plank of the Chicago platform of 1896. We believed it then and we believe it now.

"The people who sent us here do not believe in a double standard of democracy. In 1856 the test was: 'Are you loyal to the platform?' and that is the Ohio test to-day.

"The party in Ohio is too thoroughly honest, too completely convinced, too desperately in earnest, to desire to be misunderstood. The reaffirmation of the national platform does not eliminate and does not fail to both recognize and emphasize that we demand the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver, at the ratio of sixteen to one, without waiting for the consent or assistance of any nation on earth.

"We believe that the demonetisation of silver in this country in 1873 was accomplished by fraud and crime; that the action was taken without any demand from or the consent of the people of the United States, and we declare to believe that blessings have flowed or will flow from legislation so procured and so enacted. We still distrust the new found solicitude of England to promote our material welfare, and we deny the right of the British parliament to participate in the government of this union, in monetary or other matters.

"The readers of the republican party are committed to a bank currency. Not being able to go into partnership with Europe on the silver question, and recognizing their inability to cope with the question themselves, the republicans have resolved to appoint a receiver for the money question, and their selection for a receiver, not inappropriately, to be the banks of the country. All honest men, however, may be amazed at the effrontery of a party which one moment contends that this government is unable to sustain an American financial policy and the next moment asserts that the American banks can be relied upon to formulate and carry out a safe and proper financial policy. And we are at a loss to understand why, if the banks can be charged with this exercise of governmental power, they did not in some manner demonstrate their fitness for the trust in the money famine of 1893, when their vaults were bursting with the accumulated money.

"If there has been an increase in the world's supply of gold, and if that increase has in any measure found its way to our mints, and if an increase in our money supply has contributed to our prosperity, as our adversaries state, it follows that we were right in 1896, when we contended that the money supply if increased would result in prosperous times. If it be added that the scale of general prices, excluding only farm commodities, the manufacture and sale of which is controlled by a trust, that the scale of general prices of all other articles is still on the decline, and if it be further considered that India has been forced by the money power of England to go to the gold standard, and the bank of England has been for some time and is now making fierce efforts to supply from other sources a gold reserve for its vassal, thus reducing this country's distributive share, it must follow that we are right now in our contention for recognition of the white metal.

"We are pointed to a business revival in the United States and it is argued that this makes most strongly against our position. That there has been a revival none will deny, and that the revival is not confined to this country our adversaries will certainly not contend. The revival of trade in Canada, Germany and Mexico, as well as the United States, proves too much, for the republican party has nothing in common with Germany, holds Mexico as an a 'horrible example,' and till it yields up a portion of Alaska will not be reestablished on cousinly terms with Canada. The business revival for which so much is claimed is naught but the reaction succeeding a world panic and a world famine. Such reactions always come, are always marked and are sometimes spectacular. Business revived after the panics of '73, '84, and '87, but remember waves ride the sailing as well as the flowing tides. The existence of the revival is not evidence to establish the fact that trade will continue. Proper conditions are necessary to support and maintain it, and an increase in trade requires inevitably an increase in the medium through which trade is carried on.

"Concede, however, that we are increasing our stock of money; admit that the balance of trade will continue in our favor and will continue to supply to us a balance in gold. Is there, then, any reason why this country may not establish and maintain an American monetary policy? In this undeveloped country money is required to establish, as well as to carry on, enterprises, and if money must be borrowed, if interest must be paid, let it be borrowed and paid here, to be returned without demand again and again into the field of our activities and to be paid again and again in the further development and in furthering the prosperity of our own country.

"The silver question is not dead, and till men cease to think, till the American people are willing to take their laws from Britain, till the republican party recognizes that not the existence but the distribution of wealth makes prosperity, till cause comes to the agricultural classes, till a fair wage is paid to the mechanic, and till content and satisfaction come to those who toil, until silver is restored to its proper place in the coinage the democratic party will stand by the Chicago platform.

"The money question is not, however, the only issue in this campaign. Everything, from the lands to grow cotton, from steel rails to sardines, from straw board to sugar, from tin cans to tobacco, from crackers to chewing gum, has been organized into a trust.

"Not only are these aggregations of wealth intended to control prices and to beat down wages, but in politics they threaten to affect our liberties.

"We are informed by an eminent republican, who professes to know his own business, that no political issue can be made of the trust question. And why not? Because it is ineffectual? Because the state cannot control its creatures? Because these giant corporations have too much power?

"The republican party is in power in the state and nation. Why does it not, instead of denouncing the trusts on paper, prosecute them in the courts, and why does it not hold up the hands of officers who try in this respect to do their duty? But is not all this in keeping with what was to be expected? To be consistent must not the republican party favor the trusts? To pay a debt of gratitude must not that party be for the trusts? Must not that party, which favored a tariff to eliminate competition so that the favorites of the government might plunder the pockets of the people, be in favor of trusts while they take the people by the throats? Is Hanna against the trusts? Carry the news to Mooney. Hanna against the trusts? In those latter days do men gather grapes of thorns or figs of thistles?

"We charge that the trusts of the country own this administration, and that their rule to it was secured by purchase, and until Mr. Hanna is dethroned we insist that the trusts will continue as now to be in possession of their property so secured. That the trusts can be controlled by the states only, and not by the general government, is a matter of no consequence to us, if they can be controlled at all; the republican party is at fault. So long as the attorney general of the United States is selected and inducted into office because he is a trust lawyer, and so long as an attorney general of the state of Ohio is retired to private life because he has undertaken in this respect to enforce the law, the republican party must fall in its declaration that it is opposed to trusts.

"We charge that the republican party, as at present controlled, stands for, if indeed it has not already entered into, an Anglo-American alliance. The democratic party stands to adopt for the United States, upon any subject of governmental concern, any but an American policy. We have no desire, we perceive no necessity, to aid Britain in the maintenance of a British policy anywhere, and with full confidence in the strength of our cause and country, we ask no aid from Britain in maintaining an American policy anywhere that it is necessary or desirable to maintain one. We adhere to the Monroe doctrine. We are loyal to the counsels of Washington's farewell address. We are not prepared to accept the ancient antagonisms of England as our own, nor to participate with her in her new found hates or envies; and at this juncture, when England sees its power slipping away and perceives with alarm the great advance of German manufacture in the world's trade, we have not discovered any reason why we should side with England and oppose the advance of Germany. We oppose the Anglo-American alliance; we would equally oppose any such alliance, and our motto will continue to be, in the future as in the past, 'one flag, one country and one allegiance.'

"In condemning the doctrine of imperialism, we in no manner abandon our soldiers in the field. But at the same time, whenever a purse-proud, trust-controlled administration dares array an army of forces against a people fighting for the God-given right to rule themselves, whenever the sum total of a people's offending is that they desire to be free, it will be the duty of the democratic party to be brave enough to expose the pretense, to tear the mask from the hideous face of fraud and greed and avarice, and proclaim that the recognition of such a war for such purposes is un-American and must be brought to a close.

"We proclaim that there shall be beneath our flag no slaves, no subjects, no colonists, who cannot be citizens, and, lest we be late, we proclaim now that no commercial empire must not be placed before principle; the doctrine, the recognition of which made us a great, free people, must not be ignored, departed from or limited, and we profess our lasting adherence to the doctrine that all men are created free and equal.

"We affirm that the war in the Philippines, as at present conducted, is one of criminal aggression, and we find no difference in the situation the administration occupies than the one occupied by Spain in the Philippines before the surrender. Whatever rights we have were acquired by purchase from Spain; our right is no higher.

"We declare that while no proclamation has been made, the fact is that this administration intends to hold the islands as a dependency; that the conquest of the war is a part of a political scheme and the government of those islands is to be used as a manner of payment for political services. The civil service is not intended to apply.

"The importance of the campaign this year must not be underestimated. This is the year beginning the triumph of 1900 for democracy's cause and democracy's candidate; the issues are made up of the people's interests, and the present administration's inefficiencies and blunders. The questions involved are the hope of the people for the future, the possibility of their prosperity, the maintenance of their liberties, the existence of the fundamental principles upon which this government is founded. The name of the candidate for the presidency next year appears in the resolutions of every convention held by the democracy this year in the state of Ohio. True to the people, devoted to their interests, gifted with wisdom to see what is right, and possessed of eloquence and courage to declare and defend it, the exponent of every principle declared to be democratic, the uncompromising foe of all at variance with the people's best interest, the unquestioned leader of a reunited democracy, his name resembles upon your lips, and trust and confidence in his honesty and capacity abide in your hearts; an ideal candidate, stronger in defeat than his opponent in victory, he is demanded by the democracy of Ohio and the democracy of the country as our standard-bearer in 1900—William Jennings Bryan. Under the banner of the democracy we enlist with him as our leader, and this day we resolve to make an appropriate and fitting beginning for next year, when at that great tribunal of the people's will—the ballot-box—this error of 1896 will be corrected and the ill considered and unjust judgment then rendered will be reversed."

McKinley's Optimism.

Mr. McKinley cannot afford to be otherwise than optimistic. It is his war. He embarked the country in it without consulting either congress or the people. The acquisition of the Philippines was his idea. He insisted through his docile agents and brakers in Paris upon the surrender of the Philippines by Spain as the condition upon which he would agree to make peace with the latter country, although nothing of the kind was stipulated or even hinted at in the protocol. Rather than miss what he must have thought at the time was a fine bargain he agreed to pay Spain $20,000,000 for her title, such as it was, and to take the chance of leading the Filipinos into submission. How many millions in addition to the $20,000,000 paid to Spain have since been expended in the vain effort to protect the Spanish title by war and bloodshed the American people do not know.—Baltimore Sun.

—The questions which split the republican party and drove its great men away from Blaine were not so momentous as are the questions which are driving great republicans away from McKinley. The issues which drove hundreds of thousands of republicans away from Hayes to Tilden were as nothing compared with the questions of to-day. In the meantime, only folly on the part of the democratic party can keep the people from turning to true democracy as a refuge from the dangers which threaten their country. And the democratic national convention will be held in 1900.—Poughkeepsie News-Press.

—President McKinley told the people at Ocean Grove that there had been doubt expressed in some quarters as to the purpose of the government respecting the Philippines and that he saw no objection to stating it there. "Peace first, then, with charity for all, an established government of law and order, protecting life and property and occupation, for the well-being of the people, in which they will participate under the stars and stripes." In other words, it is the purpose that the Philippines shall not be independent at present, but shall remain "under the stars and stripes."—Indianapolis Sentinel.

GROUPER AND PARROT FISH.

The Characteristics of One Strikingly Displayed in the Tank of the Others.

The Bermuda groupers are so called on account of their habit of grouping together. There are plenty of fishes that on occasions by accident or design may come together side by side, or in some other regular order or formation, but there are few if any that get together as the groupers do. In the tank of groupers at the aquarium, says the New York Sun, these fishes may be seen, half a dozen or more of them at a time, ranged along the glass at the front of the tank, heads all to the front, and with their bodies lapping one another diagonally with uniform regularity. Sometimes at feeding time they stand, or rather suspend themselves in the water side by side, in a uniform rank, heads up, near the surface, and wait there for the man with the food, whose step they may have heard on the platform back of the tanks.

A curious illustration of the fishes' tendency to group was shown in another way. Into a tank in which there were two parrot fishes there was put also a grouper. One of these parrot fishes was not feeling very lively; instead of swimming around it lay on the bottom of the tank, over in one corner, just breathing and taking things easy. This was the grouper's opportunity, and it stretched itself out on the bottom of the tank right alongside the parrot fish and as close to it as it could get, and stayed there.

DOG-WHIPPING DAY.

When Every Boy Is Allowed to Use a Switch in England—An Old Custom.

There are parts of rural England where they still set aside a day for whipping dogs.

Dog-whipping day is October 18. Then every boy in the neighborhood is privileged to arm himself with sticks and lashes and beat every dog he meets to his heart's content. There are different stories as to the origin of this strange custom. In Yorkshire tradition has it that a priest, when going his rounds many years ago, dropped the holy water used in communion service. A dog that happened to be near by swallowed it, and was promptly whipped for his guiltony, and in commemoration of this event it has been deemed expedient to thrash the entire dog family on this day throughout the succeeding years. In the vicinity of Manchester the tale goes that the good fathers in a certain monastery used to set platters of food outside the gates for the poor pilgrims that infested the country at certain seasons. On one occasion a dog, whose stomach was probably empty as any pilgrim's ever dare be, very selfishly ate the food himself. He was caught in the lawless act and was whipped soundly, and his crime and its punishment have been visited upon his descendants these many generations.

Mexico and the Yaquis.

The struggle between the Yaqui Indians and the Mexican government has been inevitable ever since the construction of the Mexican Central railroad brought civilization within an easy march of the Yaqui territory. With the extension of the area of gold discoveries in Sonora the conflict could not be longer averted and it will have a melancholy interest in history as probably the last stand of the red man on this continent against destiny. The Yaqui is not as aggressive or as bloodthirsty as the Apache, but he is fully as impervious to civilization and quite as good a fighter.

Birch Wood Exported for Spools.

About 10,000,000 feet of birch wood will be sent this year from Maine to England and Scotland for spools.

THE MARKETS.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 4.

LIVESTOCK—Cattle, common	$ 3 00	@ 3 85
Select butchers	4 85	@ 5 00
CALVES—Fair to good light	6 50	@ 7 25
HOGS—Coarse and heavy	3 25	@ 4 00
Mixed packers	4 25	@ 4 45
Select shippers	4 30	@ 4 40
SHEEP—Choice	3 60	@ 3 85
LAMBS—Spring	4 50	@ 5 10
FLOUR—Winter patents	3 35	@ 3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 6 3/4
No. 3 red		@ 66
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 34
Oats—No. 2		@ 22 3/4
Rye—No. 2		@ 50
HAY—Prime to choice	10 00	@ 10 25
PROVISIONS—Mess Pork		@ 9 37
Lard		@ 5 10
BUTTER—Choice dairy		@ 14
Choice creamery		@ 22
APPLES—Choice to fancy	1 50	@ 1 75
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 30	@ 1 40

CHICAGO.

FLOUR—Winter patents	3 50	@ 3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 72 1/4
No. 3 Chicago spring	66 1/4	@ 71 1/4
CORN—No. 2		@ 31 3/4
OATS—No. 2	21 1/4	@ 21 3/4
PORK—Mess	7 25	@ 8 00
LARD—Steam	5 05	@ 5 20

NEW YORK.

FLOUR—Winter patents	3 60	@ 3 90
WHEAT—No. 2 red		@ 74 1/2
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@ 38 3/4
RYE		@ 49 1/2
OATS—Mixed		@ 27
PORK—Mess	8 75	@ 9 20
LARD—Western		@ 5 50

BALTIMORE.

FLOUR—Family	3 25	@ 3 80
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	69 1/4	@ 69
Southern	67	@ 70 1/2
Corn—Mixed	30 1/2	@ 27
Oats—No. 2 White	27	@ 28
Rye—No. 2 western	55	@ 58
CATTLE—First quality	5 00	@ 5 25
HOGS—Western	5 30	@ 5 40

INDIANAPOLIS.

GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 67
Corn—No. 2 Mixed		@ 32
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@ 21 1/4

LOUISVILLE.

FLOUR—Winter patent	3 45	@ 3 55
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	73	@ 74
Corn—Mixed	23 1/2	@ 24
Oats—Mixed	22	@ 22 1/2
PORK—Mess		@ 9 50
LARD—Steam		@ 5 25

OLD FOES WATCH EACH OTHER.

Navajos and Mokis Still Keeping a Guard Their Ancestors Established 300 Years Ago.

The Navajos and the Mokis are ancient enemies. The Navajos stalk the plain, wide scattered. The Mokis huddle on the point of a precipitous mesa towering a thousand feet above the red desert. Inch by inch they cowered before their persecutors through a hundred years until at last they built their village of to-day on the heights four centuries. Though bitter foes, the Navajos peneeably visited the Mokis every alternate year on the day of the mysterious ceremony of the snake dance.

Three hundred summers ago, so runs the tradition, a Navajo boy while watching the dance fell from the brink of the mesa to a mangled death on the tumbled rocks far below. And every second summer since, when the visiting Navajos come on to the mesa they stand, now in groups, now singly, at the spot where the boy fell and gaze down from the heights for hours at a time.

The Mokis believe the Navajos are only waiting a favorable opportunity to pounce upon them and avenge their dansman's death. Recent visitors to the land of the Mokis say that on the day of the dance there is always a red-blanketed Navajo on the point of rock gazing stolidly below. Behind on the pile of the village and outlined against the sky is the solitary form of a Mokl watching the Navajo intensely. Both were standing the guard their ancestors stood through 300 summers.

THE BUTTERFLY.

Mother Uses the Down from Her Body to Make a Nest for Her Young, Then Dies.

There is something really pathetic in the way a mother butterfly builds a nest for her children. In the first place the little home where the eggs are deposited represents a great deal of sacrifice, for it is lined with several layers of soft down plucked from the mother's own soft body. The eggs, having been laid carefully upon this luxurious, pretty couch, are protected by an equally pretty coverlet made of the same material. These butterfly bedclothes are often arranged with an intricacy that is quite curious and perplexing. Sometimes a bed is made so that each separate delicate hair stands upright, thus giving the entire nest the appearance of a little brush of downy fur. Then again the eggs are laid spirally round a tiny branch, and as the covering follows their course, the effect resembles the bushy tail of a fox, only the nest is more beautiful than the "brush" of the finest fox that ever roamed our country. The building of this downy nest is the last earthly labor of the mother butterfly, for by the time it is completed her own delicate body is denuded of its natural covering, and there is nothing left for her to do but to die—a sacrifice which she promptly and heroically makes in the interest of the coming butterfly generation.

STILL RULES THE WAVES.

Britannia Owns Half the Tonnage of the World in Ships and Uncle Sam Is Next.

The old-time boast that "Britannia rules the waves" was never more justified than it is to-day. Figures published in Feliden's Magazine show that the entire tonnage of the world in ships amounts to a round total of 27,073,528 tons, of which enormous aggregate the United Kingdom and her colonies own rather more than one-half, or, to be precise, the immense and overshadowing proportion of 13,988,508.

Deducting from this latter total 1,661,584 owned by the British colonies throughout the world, the United Kingdom possesses no less than 12,326,924 tons, it is indeed a far cry from this predominating tonnage to the second biggest, which, it is hardly surprising to learn, is that of the United States of America, and which figures out to 2,465,387 tons.

Germany takes third place with 2,453,334 tons, which thus follows closely upon American heels. All probably but those who follow maritime affairs closely will learn with some surprise that Norway easily occupies the fourth place.

Sweet Sympathy.

A pretty story is told at Vienna about Archduchess Valerie, youngest daughter of the emperor. It seems that when traveling the other day from Linz to Vienna she noticed on the platform at Linz a 14-year-old schoolboy crying bitterly. She had the conductor bring the lad to her compartment and, finding that he was proceeding to Vienna to attend his father's funeral, she insisted on his traveling with her, paying the difference in his fare, as he had only a third-class ticket. During the trip she devoted herself to the task of comforting him, telling the boy among other things, that she, too, had suffered much from the loss of a fondly loved parent, who had died suddenly in a foreign land. It was only when the boy reached Vienna and was leaving the train that he discovered that the kind lady was Archduchess Valerie.

Spanish Queen's Charity.

The queen regent of Spain recently inherited a large fortune from a bachelor, Alexander Solar, and has given $600,000 of it to charities.

THE GRAND BRACE.

Pathetic Plea of the Bibulous Head of the House Next Morning.

One of the Bohemian citizens of the town went home the other night after having donned a pair of skates that would have slid him over in Arizona desert with the mercury bubbling out of the top of the thermometer. He had no recollection of how he got home, and even the next morning he was not certain whether he was on a storm-tossed Atlantic liner or making a leap from a balloon minus a parachute. He went down to the breakfast table with enough wet towels wrapped around his head to make a turban for the mahdi. His wife met him with reproaches in her eyes, but she did not scold him. She wanted to inform him of his conduct the night before, however.

"My dear," she said, "did you know that you came very near killing us all when you went to bed last night?"

"Nope," said her husband, thickly, as he felt his hot forehead.

"Well, you did. You knocked over the baby's cradle. Then you blew out the gas and we were nearly asphyxiated. What do you think of that?"

Her husband is usually a resourceful man, but the fumes of many cocktails taken the night before somewhat clouded his intellect. He made a grand brace and tried to look pathetic.

"M'love," he said, as a ray of inspiration burst through his foggy brain, "wasn't I here to die with you? —Washington Post.

Music for Nervousness.

Some scientists have claimed that music has the power to soothe the nerves. But the quickest way to cure nervousness is to strengthen the nervous system. We know of nothing which will accomplish the quicker than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is the one medicine that is successful above all others in the treatment of blood, stomach and liver disease. Do not take a substitute. See that a private Revenue Stamp covers the neck of the bottle.

Irony.

"Did you ever notice a man from St. Louis?" inquired the janitor philosopher. "Well, if ye didn't it's worth yer whoile. Up the boulevard he struts wid his head in the air, blindly thor's big commercial interests tied up in his fate by an attymobile. He picks himself up, goes home an' tills his frinds th' jackasses; but thot th' jackasses are inside. Oh, he's a bitter lobster."—Chicago Evening News.

Home Seekers' Excursions via "Big Four Route."

To the North, West, Northwest, Southwest, Southeast and Southeast. Selling dates: August 15th, September 5th and 26th and April 3d and October 3d and 17th, 1899, at one fare, plus $2.00 to authorized points in the following states: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, British Columbia, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Indian Territory, Idaho, Kansas, Kentucky, Lousiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Manitoba, New Mexico, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Washington. For full information and particulars as to rates, routes, tickets, limits, stop-over privileges, etc., call on Agents "Big Four Route," or address the undersigned. W. P. Deppe, A. G. P. & T. Agt., Warren J. Lynch, Gen. Pass. & Tkt. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

What He Had.

Guest—What have you got?

Waiter—I've got liver, cal's brains, pig's feet—

"I don't want a description of your physical peculiarities. What you have got to eat is what I want to know."—Boston Traveler.

Can't Succeed.

Some men are so deficient in the elements of success that they would never set the world on fire even if the world were insured in their favor.—Detroit Journal.

The Best Prescription for Chills

and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price, 50c.

Sort of "Short Deck."

The boss dynamiters of Japan are Pak Ki Jack, Pak Chung Yung and Pak Ying Hyo, and they are a very bad pack.—Baltimore Herald.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

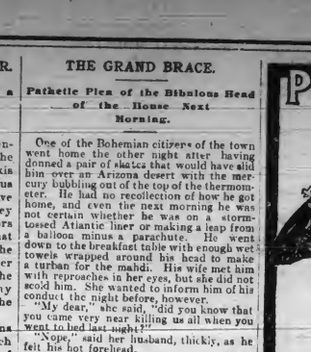
Feminine Exhortation.

A Boston paper says that about 300 women have been licensed to preach. The rest have not taken the trouble to get a license.—St. Louis Republic.

"Oh, that I should have married a funny man!" she wailed. "What is the matter, lovely, dear?" asked her most intimate friend. "He came home and told me he had a sure way to keep jelly from getting moldy at the top, and when I asked him how, he said turn it upside down."—Boston Traveler.

You have several dollars worth of old clothes that are good but soiled. Dye them over with Diamond Fadeless Dyes and they will be new again. Only takes an hour and they will not stain your hands or vessels.

Tommy—"Who was that lady you spoke to?" Willie—"That's the lady that lets my ma go out any afternoon but Thursdays and Sundays."—Boston Transcript.



I can recommend Piso's Cure for Consumption to sufferers from asthma.—E. D. Towsuend, Ft. Howard, Wis., May 4, '94.

The car conductor's motto is: "Let us put off till to-morrow the man who cannot pay to-day."—L. A. W. Bulletin.

Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is a Constitutional Cure. Price, 75c.

Men are never so good or bad as their opinions.—Mackintosh.

The debilitating drains and discharges which weaken so many women are caused by Catarrh of the distinctly feminine organs. The sufferer may call her trouble Leuchorrhoea, or Weakness, or Female Disease or some other name, but the real trouble is catarrh of the female organs and nothing else.

Pe-ru-na radically and permanently cures this and all other forms of Catarrh. It is a positive specific for female troubles caused by catarrh of the delicate lining of the organs peculiar to women. It always cures if used persistently. It is prompt and certain.

The microbes that cause chills and fever and malaria enter the system through mucous membranes made porous by catarrh. Pe-ru-na heals the mucous membranes and prevents the entrance of malarial germs, thus preventing and curing these affections.

"BIG FOUR"

"The Sea Level Route"

TO

NEW YORK.

DOUBLE DAILY SERVICE.

WAGNER SLEEPING CARS.

DINING CARS.

W. E. INGALLS, President. E. O. McCORMICK, Pass. Traffic Mgr.

WARREN J. LYNCH, Asst. Gen. Pass. & Ticket Agt.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 & $3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.

Worth $4 to $5 compared with other makes.

Indorsed by over 1,000,000 wearers.

ALL STYLES. ALL STYLES

THE LEXICON says W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on bottom.

Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Largest makers of $3 and $3.50 shoes in the world. Your dealer should keep them—if not, we will send you a pair on receipt of price. State kind of leather, size and width. Plain or cap toe. Catalogue H Free.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

Send your name and address on a postal, and we will send you our 156-page illustrated catalogue free.

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO. 176 Winchester Avenue, New Haven, Conn.

READERS OF THIS PAPER DESIRING TO BUY ANYTHING ADVERTISED IN ITS COLUMNS SHOULD INSIST UPON HAVING WHAT THEY ASK FOR, REFUSING ALL SUBSTITUTES OR IMITATIONS.

CARTER'S INK

Too good and too cheap to be without it.

FITS Permanently Cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free trial bottle and treatise free. Dr. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

A. N. K.—E 1777

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA (Teething Powders,)

Costs only 25 Cents. Ask your Druggist for it. If not kept by druggists mail 25 Cents to C. J. MOFFETT, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

Rev. (now Bishop) Joseph S. Key, Wrote: "We have your TEETHINA (Teething Powders) to our little grandchild with the happiest results. The effects were almost magical and certainly more satisfactory than from anything we ever used."

$60.00 PER MONTH.

We desire a limited number of trustworthy, energetic men in each state. To acceptable parties we will pay a regular salary of SIXTY DOLLARS per month. All applicants must furnish references. This advertisement will only appear in this issue, therefore address at once,

J. H. CHAMBERS & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

Plantation Chill Cure is Guaranteed

To cure, or money refunded by your merchant, so why not try it? Price 50c.

BOONE : COUNTY : RECORDER

Wednesday, Sept., 6, 1899.

Rates of Subscription:

One year	$1 50.
Six months	75.
Three months	40.

☞Payable invariably in advance.

THE RECORDER

SOLICITS YOUR

Job Work,

NOTE HEADS, LETTER HEADS, ENVELOPES, CARDS, BILL HEADS, STATEMENTS, SALE BILLS, AND NO SE BILLS

Printed at the Lowest Prices consistent with neat work.

Send your order by mail and it will be attended promptly.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Erlanger.

A petition for a vote on the graded school proposition in the Erlanger district, is out.

The Elsmere, South Erlanger and Woodside school district has voted a graded school, and a tax of 20 cents on the $100 worth of real estate.

Father Kolbe desires to inform the members of St. Henry's church, of Erlanger, that the services, next Sunday will be held at the town hall, the K. P's having kindly donated the hall. He desires the presence of all the members.

Gasburg.

Stock water is getting very scarce.

Melons have sold better this season than for many years.

A Miss Craig and a Miss Dorn from Lawrenceburg, are visiting friends and relatives here.

Frank Hartman, jr., and family, of Tacoma, Wash., have returned to their home, after a two months visit to relatives here.

Politics seems to be taking a rest here, only occasionally you hear the subject mentioned. There is considerable division of sentiment in this immediate vicinity.

Amanda, the 15 year old daughter of Mrs M. Terrill, while visiting at Elijah Parker's, arose in her sleep and walked out of a second story window and fell about 15 feet to the ground; with the exception of a considerable jar, she escaped injury.

Rabbit Hash.

Several from this neighborhood attended the fair last week.

Sidney Stephens' youngest child has been quite sick, the past week.

Dr. Cowen intends to build a large barn on his farm in the Bend.

Mr. John Elliott, of Ohio county, Indiana, will begin teaching at the Ryle school house, next Monday.

A. G. McConnell started Monday morning with two of his daughters, to Millersburg, where they will enter college.

Doc Ryle is repairing his house and barn, and it is thought he expects to marry soon, but who is the bride-to-be is a puzzle.

Mrs. Mary McConnell has sold the farm on which she resides to Elijah Hodges, and has bought Reuben Hager's upper farm.

Last Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson gave the young people an ice cream supper which was enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. Agness Stephens was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ella Aylor, of Lawrenceburg, the first of last week. Mrs. E. P. Stephen accompanied her and will remain there and at Petersburg for several days.

Capt. Hastings and daughters, Mrs. McConnell and children, and Mrs. Dr. Cowen returned home Thursday night, from a visit to Mrs. Clara McKay, in West Virginia. Their visit was shortened on account of the sickness of one of the children.

The Bellevue neighborhood was shocked last Monday afternoon by the sudden death of John T. Marshall, who, while at work on the vault that is being built in the new cemetery near the toll gate, was taken suddenly ill, and survived only a short time after being taken to the residence of James H. Lawell, a short distance from where he was at work. He had not been complaining and ate a hearty dinner at noon. The deceased was in his 53d year, and was a gentleman of the true Kentucky type. He was always reserved, yet an affable and congenial companion, and had a large circle of warm friends who had been his associates from boyhood. For many years he was engaged as a teacher in the public schools of this county, and many of the young men and women of to day were his pupils, and will be grieved to learn of his death. The writer and "Dump" Marshall, had been close friends from childhood, and in his death he recognizes that while the community has lost a good citizen he has lost a friend upon whom he could rely at all times. The deceased had never been married and was a son of H. P. Marshall, of the Waterloo neighborhood.

The Baptist bretbren and sisters have been very busy for several days preparing for the Association which meets with the church here this morning.

The citizens of the town have subscribed money to have the streets sprinkled during the association. Tony Bentler contractor.

The Methodist Conference has reassigned Rev. Harris to the Petersburg charge, and Rev. Cram, to the Erlanger charge.

The entire Walton bar was attending Quarterley Court here yesterday.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Dr. Murat and wife, of Constance were in town yesterday.

Mrs. S. P. Tilley, of Columbus, O., is visiting her sisters here.

Henry Clore has sold his farm near Limaburg, to W. T. Davis.

Mrs. Kate Ashburn, of Cincinnati, is visiting her sister at this place.

Jacob Platt, of the Petersburg, neighborhood, made us a call, yesterday.

Ed and L. W. Webb, of Home City, Ohio, are spending the week in Burlington.

Rev. Hoover arrived home, Friday, from Virginia, leaving his mother some better.

C. W. Riddell, of Williamstown, was a guest of his sister at this place last Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Dodie McGarvey, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. F. M. Morrow, of Carrollton, are guests at Richard White's.

Miss Ella Duncan returned home the latter part of last week from a visit to relatives at Middletown, Ohio.

C. Ross Loudwick and family, and Robert Foster, of Cincinnati, were guests at Judge Riddell's Sunday.

Mrs. Nannie Chambers, of Covington, is visiting A. C. Chambers and family in the Utzinger neighborhood.

B. E. Bryan and wife, Emil Roessler, wife and son, of Cincinnati, and W. C. Byers, of Crittenden, were guests at Mrs. Cowen's a few days last week. Miss Edna Bryan, of Cincinnati, is a guest there now.

COUNTY COURT.

L. H. Voshell, county superintendent of public schools, was allowed $50 on salary.

The will of Susan G. Anderson was probated, and George W. Anderson, her husband, qualified as executor.

J. M. Lassing was appointed administrator of the estate of John E. Dorsey. H. R Hearn, R J. Thomas and Ben Stephens were appointed appraisers.

The will of William Riley was probated, and America Riley qualified as executrix. Omer Cleek, Daniel Bedinger and B. C. Bedinger were appointed appraisers

W. C. Goodridge allowed $2 50 for brick to repair court house hall floor.

Pith of the Press.

Perhaps General Brooke is to come home for one of those famous conversations with Mr. Hobart.—Washington post.

Mark Hanna's influence in politics is undoubtedly powerful. It is making Ohio solidly Democratic.—St. Louis Republic.

Mr. McKinley may need delegates in the next convention, but, if so, he is leaving no patronage stone unturned to secure them.—St. Paul Globe.

Joe Wheeler says the climate of the Philippines is good, but Joe is inclined to be partial to any climate where fighting is going on.—Chicago Record.

Gen. Otis should endeavor to secure the services of Garrett H. Hobart. Anybody who could get Alger to retire could hardly fail to have some influence with Aguinaldo.—Topeka State Journal.

There is no period on a well-regulated farm during which idleness should exist. Stock raising combines many occupations. The dairyman who has a large herd must rise early and work until darkness returns. The many little details will keep him busy, and there is always something to be done; yet there are hundreds of farmers who have but few animals because they object to the work that necessarily follows the keeping of stock, but such farmers lose just as much time in the whole year and also deprive themselves of that portion of the profits which are made by utilizing the home-grown products that are not salable in any form unless consumed by stock. They overlook the fact that every pound of material grown on the farm that can be used for the production of some higher-priced product increases the profits by cheapening the cost, as well as the saving in labor, in hauling and shipping bulky products to market. One operation on the farm leads to another in regular rotation, and just the same as spring seeding leads to harvest, so does the storing of the products at a season of the year when the farmer is not called in the field to give his entire attention to work away from the barnyard. The care of the manure heap after the fall is gone is alone worth the time and labor of the farmer, while machinery and implements may be overhauled. Farm work has no ending and the labor that can be bestowed after harvest will return a satisfactory profit.—Philadelphia Record.

The Republicans are playing a pretty good game of politics in Kentucky, and hope to retain, by the indirect assistance of Democrats, the control of the State government, which until the split in the Democratic party, they saw no possible chance of holding another term. They, as anyother party would, are making the most of the situation.

As Regard Fruit Trees.

The following opinion has been rendered by Judge McClure, of Pennsylvania, in regard to fruit trees, whose branches over-hang adjoining property. "If the branches of trees growing on one's land hang over the line upon the other, the adjoining owner may cut off the branches perpendicular with his line, provided the branches had been allowed to extend over a period of twenty-one years or more, without objection, when no right would be gained to cut them off. Fruit on a tree is part of the realty and is not the subject of larceny. If the fruit had fallen to the ground the neighbor could pick it up and use it. The right of adjoining landowner to lop off branches of overhanging trees before twenty-one years of permissive acquiescence has elapsed does not carry with it the right to the fruit hanging on the tree. The fruit is not the product of his soil or labor." The tree and all that grows upon it is the property of the man on whose land the trunk stands, but he has no right to plant his trees so that the branches encroach upon his neighbor's property. The neighbor is protected to the extent that he can cut off the branches up to the time the tree is twenty-one years old. His tacit acquiescence up to that time is held to be acknowledged that he is willing that the tree should encroach upon his property. Besides the lopping off of projecting branches might be made to to kill the tree.

State News.

Twenty-four cases of small-pox are reported in the counties of Casey, Adair and Taylor.

Brady Hubbard was shot and seriously wounded by his brother in Knox county.

In Casey county, Bruce Marble was shot and killed from ambush by an unknown assassin.

At the request of a supporter of John Young Brown for Governor, the RECORDER publishes this week the Goebel election law.

PUBLIC SALE!

I will sell at public sale at my residence on the Covington and Lexington pike, 2 miles north of Walton, and 2 miles south of Richwood, on the C. N. & T. P. R. R., on

Friday, Sept. 8th, 1899,

The following stock:

25 fresh Milch Cows, some have calves by their sides; 15 yearling Jersey heifers; 200 Stock Sheep, in lots to suit purchasers; several Horses and Work Mules.

TERMS OF SALE.

A credit of four months will be given on all sums over $10, purchasers to give note with good security, negotiable and payable in Walton Deposit Bank; $10 and under, cash. No property removed until terms of sale are complied with.

W. L. GAINES.

Sale to begin at 9 a. m.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

The taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the following places to receive taxes for 1899:

Verona, Sept. 5th, Oct. 5th.
Walton, Sept. 6th, Oct. 6th.
Bellevue, Sept. 7th, Oct. 9th.
Union, Sept. 8th, Oct. 7th.
Petersburg, Sept. 9th, Oct. 10th.
Bullittsville, Sept. 11th, Oct. 16th.
Big Bone, Sept. 12th, Oct. 11th.
Constance, Sept. 13th, Oct. 12th.
Beaver, Sept. 14th, Oct. 13th.
Florence, Sept. 15th, Oct. 14th.
Rabbit Hash, Sept. 16th, Oct. 17th.
Gunpowder, Oct 18th.
Richwood, Oct. 20th.
Hebron, Oct. 21st.

All taxes not paid by Dec. 1st, 1899, will have the 6 per cent. penalty added. Meet me at the appointed places and avoid the penalty.

ELMER BEALL, S. B. C.

The League Institute,

VERONA, KY.

Opens September 18, 1899.

Miss N. E. Hamilton, Principal, teacher of Belle-lettres and Sciences.
Miss Madeline Pfeiffer, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Latin & German.
Miss Lulu Forwood, Mathematics and Elocution.
With those interested, a correspondence with the principal is solicited.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the League Institute, the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, 1st, That we endorse and commend the methods, management and zeal of the faculty.

2d. That we desire to express our appreciation of the steady growth of the Institute; and especially the great interest manifested by pupils and patrons.

3d. That we cordially invite parents seeking a good school for their children to investigate the merits of The League Institute.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS,
Verona, Ky.

For Sale or Rent.

A farm on the Ohio river, on the Ky., side, 18 miles below Covington, containing 450 acres. Address

Mrs. N. P. CHAMBERS,
432 Greenup St., Covington, Ky.

STATE DIRECTORY.

Governor—W. O. Bradley.
Lieutenant Governor—W. J. Worthington.
Secretary of State—Charles Finley.
Assistant Secretary of State—E. D. Guffy.
Attorney General—W. S. Taylor.
Auditor—Samuel H. Stone.
Assistant Auditor—Frank Johnson.
Treasurer—George M. Long.
Sup't of Public Instruction—Geo. M. Davidge.
Register Land Office—Charles O. Reynolds.
Deputies—Stanley D. Brown, Sam S. Shepherd.
Insurance Commissioner—Sam Stone.
Adjutant General—D. R. Collier.
Assistant—Walter Forrester.
Sup't Arsenal—Capt. David O'Connell.
State Inspector—C. M. Lester
Commissioner Agriculture—Lucas Moore.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Chief Justice—Joseph Lewis. Judges—Geo. Denrale, J. R. Grace, T. H. Paynter, B. L. D. Guffy, J. H. Hazelrigg, J. H. Lewis.
Reporter—S. W. Hines. Clerk—A. Adams.
Sergeant—W. S. B. Hill. Tipstaff—C. C. Turner.
Librarian—Miss Pauline Harding.
Inspector of Mines—C. J. Norwood.

STATE PRISON OFFICIALS:

Frankfort Prison—Warden, Henry George; Deputy Warden, M. A. Rooney.
Eddyville Prison—Warden, L. C. Curry; Deputy Warden, Ward Linn.

RAILROAD COMMISSION:

John C. Wood, Chairman; L. P. Dempsey, H. S. Irwin. Secretary—Samuel Brown.

COUNTY DIRECTORY.

County Judge—C. C. Roberts.
County Clerk—B. W. Adams.
County Attorney—J. M. Lassing.
Sheriff—Elmer Beall.
Deputy Sheriff—B. B. Allphin, jr.
Jailer—T. A. Adams.
Assessor—T. G. Willis.
Coroner—A. A. Murat.
Superintendent Schools—L. H. Voshell.
Surveyor—W. E. Vest.

Fiscal Court meets Tuesday after first Monday in January, April, July and October.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge—John W. Green.
Clerk—J. W. Duncan.
Commonwealth's Attorney—M. D. Gray.
Master Commissioner—J. R. Berkshire.

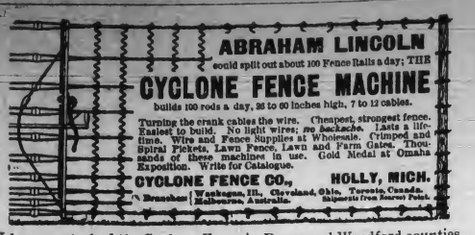
JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

Courts are held in the months of March, June, September and December, as follows:

District No 1.—Clinton Gaines, fourth Saturday; J. T. Grant, Constable.
District No. 2.—M. B. Green, first Saturday; Constable.
District No. 3.—B. H. Ryle, Wednesday after third Monday; J. W. Aylor, Constable.
District No. 4.—John S. Neell, Thursday after second Monday; Constable.
District No. 5.—J. C. Bylano, Third Monday; J. H. Watson, Constable.
District No. 6.—J. H. Walton, third Saturday; T. I. Brown, jr., Constable.

JONH TANEOUS,
Hebron, Boone County, Ky..
CARPENTER, CONTRACTOR & BUILDER.
Also does Roofing and Tin Work.
Your Work Solicited.

Consign your Stock to
Rabenstein, Harris & Conner,
—Live Stock—
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
COVINGTON STOCK YARDS,
Covington, Ky.,
OR UNION STOCK YARDS,
Cincinnati, Ohio.
When shipping East bill our care privilege selling Central Covington Stock Yards.
We will make it to your advantage and give your stock special personal attention.



Helms' ~ Barber ~ Shop,
PETERSBURG, KY.
Hair cut 15c, on Saturday 20c; Shave 10c; Shampoo 15c; Sea Foam 5c; Hair Singe 5c; Beard Trim 5c, other work proportionally as low in price. Ladies' and childrens' work a specialty. ☞All work guaranteed satisfactory or money refunded. Hair Oils, Tonics, Perfume, etc., for sale. Thanking all for past favors, I remain, &c.,
EVERETT HELMS, Prop.

LADIES—To the ladies that have not paid us a call, will say, that Thursday is conceded to be their day. Ladies Shampoo 25c; Sea Foam 15c; Bangs trimmed 10c. Hair dressed for special occasions a specialty, at reasonable rates. Courteous treatment is our motto. Give us a call.

SIXTH YEAR OF
Walton :-: Academy
—OPENS—
First Monday in September.
First-class instruction in all Common School Branches.
Higher Arithmetic, Elementary and Higher Algebra, Book-Keeping, Plain and Solid Geometry, History, Rhetoric and Literature, Physiology, Geography, Physics, Astronomy, Logic and Psychology. Latin includes Cesar, Cicero, Nepos, Virgil. Greek including Beginners, Greek and Xenophon.
Terms:—Tuition and Board in the building, five days in the week, under the care of the teacher, $105.75, for nine months; Board the full week or Music $18.50 additional for the full term.
Mrs. S. H. MYERS, Prin.

W. M. RANDALL,
DENTIST.
Will be at
BURLINGTON, Monday, Tuesday, PETERSBURG: Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday,
☞OF EACH WEEK.☜
GIVE HIM A CALL.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

I have control of the Cyclone Fence in Boone and Woodford counties. I will build the fence or sell machines to farmers that they may build their own fences. It is the cheapest and best fence that can be built.
Address G. CARTER GRADDY, BULLITTSVILLE, KY.

DR. A. P. WALTON,
DENTIST,
CINCINNATI,
The Lancaster Building 22 W. 7th, Bet. Vine and Race.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.
E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
EDGAR CROPPER, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. R. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. R. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

CORNER
Drug Store
Rising Sun, Ind.
Is the place for anything in the Drug Line.
WALL PAPER, PAINTS, WINDOW SHADES.
STATIONERY, PERFUMES, FANCY GOODS, &c.
B. F. BUCHANAN,
—DRUGGIST,—
Over thirty year's experience.

FARMERS
Take Notice!
If you want good
Fertilizer
PLEASE GIVE
B. F. ZIMMER
A CALL.
He will try to please you. He has the finest line of Fertilizer for 1899 he has ever handled. Write for particulars to☞
CONSTANCE, KY.

Central Covington Stock Yards,
COVINGTON, KY.
Are located so as to offer special inducements to shippers South of the Ohio river in saving them extra expense and time. In addition to the local buyers there will be Eastern and foreign buyers on the market for all kinds of stock. When shipping East, don't fail to consign our care privilege selling which will be of benefit to you.
Central Covington Stock Yards Co.
Commission firms will give prompt attention to consignments.

FRANK HOSSMAN,
Hebron, Ky.,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
—Also handles all—
KINDS of ROOFING.
Which is furnished and put on at the Lowest Prices consistent with good work.
I am prepared for moving buildings.
Your Work is Solicited.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.
Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect Dec. 5th, 1898.

P. M.	A. M.		A. M.	P. M.
4.00	8.80	lv Cincinnati ar	10.05	6.00
4.15	7.04	" Ludlow lv	9.55	5.50
4.30	7.18	" Erlanger lv	9.36	5.27
5.18	8.25	Williamstown "	8.45	4.25
5.35	8.49	" Corinth "	8.25	4.03
6.17	10.28	" Georgetw'n "	7.50	3.19
6.39	10.50	ar Stam'g Gro'nd	7.28	1.55
7.10	11.20	" Frankfort "	7.00	1.00

JOS. R. NEWTON, G. P. A., Frankfort, Ky.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kentou, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given to Collections entrusted to him. mch23-93.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. K. RIDDELL.
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections.

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
☞All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 20,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN..... $50,000
SURPLUS..... $ 8,000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
Artificial Dentures, Crown and Bridge Work to represent natural organs. Gas, Vitalized Air, Odontunder for extraction.
☞Will be in office at Union every Monday.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

Coal! Coal!
Good Raymond City Coal
In the Yard,
9 1-2 Cents a Bushel.
KANAWAH COAL
9 cents a bushel.
J. P. LINDSAY & CO.,
Erlanger, Ky.
J. O. HUEY, Manager.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1899. NO. 47.

It now looks like those who predicted an early fall, are going to prove the correct prognosticators.

MR. HALLAM is desirous of increasing the L. & N. pay-roll and says the Brown party must have one hundred more speakers.

HONS. J. C. CANTRILL, of Scott county, and J. M. Lassing, of this county, will speak at Bedford, Trimble county, next Saturday.

THE Court of Appeals decided that the Goebel election law is constitutional, and that court is the highest authority in this State on such matters.

THE Williamstown Courier entered its twenty-first year, last week. It is a first-class country paper, and will continue such so long as its present editor controls it.

FROM every direction in the State comes reports of most auspicious openings of the public schools, an indication that there is on increasing interest in the cause of education.

IT never occurred to anybody until in the last few days, that Joe Blackburn was anything like a "sheep killing dog," and strange to say the Commonwealth alone made the discovery.

THE people of Kentucky are interested in cheaper school boo and they listen attentively to the Democratic speakers who advocate the passage of a law for the reduction of the prices of these books.

THE platform adopted by the Brown convention at Lexington condemns the Republican State Administration, but the object of the convention was to assist the Republicans to retain control of Kentucky. The same platform declares in favor of the free coinage of silver and Bryan for President, which declaration is rendered farsical because of the fact that W. C. P. Breckinridge, W. M. Beckner, W. H. McCoy, Basil W. Duke, and other noted gold bugs manipulated the meeting.

THE Louisville Dispatch is now denouncing the Goebel election law as infamous, but immediately upon the passage of the law the Dispatch boasted of the influence it had exerted in behalf of the law and intimated that to its influence, principally, was due its passage over the Governor's veto. If what the Dispatch claimed for the law was true then it is true now, and every time it attacks that law it attacks what less than two years ago it was anxious to make the Democrats of Kentucky believe was its offspring.

THE Kentucky Post of last Monday afternoon contained what purported to be an interview with Judge Tarvin, in which he was quoted as saying that Goebel would not receive to exceed 25,000 votes in Kentucky, and that he would not make speeches for Goebel—that he is not his kind of man. At the very time the bogus interview was being printed Judge Tarvin was at Frankfort, making a speech in favor of Goebel and the remainder of the Democratic ticket. When shown the interview, the Judge denounced it as utterly false, and repudiated every statement it contained.

THE Covington Commonwealth likens Joe Blackburn unto a "sheep killing dog," but the Commonwealth will find it exceedingly difficult to convince the Democrats of Kentucky that Joe Blackburn possesses a single attribute of a "sheep killing dog," or of anyother kind of dog for that matter. The Commonwealth use to have some choice of language to use in its editorial columns, but now it appears to be inclined to follow the example of some of the disreputable sheets in this State. In as much as Joe Blackburn has never referred to the Commonwealth in this campaign, its attack on him is cold-blooded and unwarranted. Like other men, Joe Blackburn has his faults, but the Kentucky Democrats will be slow to believe upon the testimony of the Commonwealth, that the man whom they have so long loved to honor, is in the least like a "sheep killing dog."

[Covington Commonwealth.]

The suspicion is extant that deception will be used to convince the people that the Goebel election law is one of the fairest laws on earth. Copies have been given out evidently with the intention to mislead or confuse the voter. The Boone County Recorder, which has always been regarded as an honorable and fair newspaper, has either made an omission or followed copy of the law as furnished by some designing politician which leaves out the strong enacting clause of Section 12. That part of which we call the attention of the public is, "Where another than the person returned shall be found to have received the highest number of legal votes cast, such other shall be adjudged to be the person elected and entitled to the office.

The decision of the board shall be final and conclusive.

Fifth. The Governor shall immediately after such decision issue the proper commission, or order a new election, as the case may require."

The Recorder in reprinting the law has it:

"When another than the person returned shall be found to have received the highest number of legal votes cast, such other shall be adjudged to be the person elected and entitled to the office. Fifth. The Governor shall immediately after such decision issue the proper commission, or order a new election, as the case may require."

The question arises is this another attempt to conceal the real purport of the infamous measure?

In putting the Goebel Election Law in type for use in these columns on the 6th inst., the type was set directly from the bound volume of the Acts of the Legislature of 1898, and if any deception was practiced on this paper in regard to said law, the "designing politicians" who are guilty are the State officials at Frankfort, whose duty it is to have printed and bound, and send out to public officers throughout the State these Acts, and the words, "The decision of the board shall be final and conclusive," do not appear in section 12 of said law. And it is the party to which these same State officials belong that the Commonwealth is doing everything in its power to continue in control of Kentucky.

That the RECORDER printed the law correctly it offers in evidence the following certificate:

We certify that we have compared section 12 of what is known as the "Goebel Election Law," and which was published in the Boone County RECORDER of the 6th inst., with the law as it appears in the Acts of the Legislature of 1898, sent out by the Secretary of State, and find that the RECORDER published said section correctly, and that the words, "The decision of the Board shall be final and conclusive." appear nowhere in said section 12.

M. T. Garnett, D. C. C.,
C. C. Roberts, Co. Judge,
J. W. Duncan, Circuit Clerk.

Now, neighbor, try and conduct yourself like the respectable paper you use to be, and when the campaign that is causing so many men to disregard truth is over, you will still retain the confidence of the public.

The Post Office Department has adopted a new form of domestic money order, which will be introduced gradually, or as supplies of the old form become exhausted, at the various post offices throughout the country, after the 4th of September. The new form is somewhat smaller than the order now in use. Its dimensions are about those of the ordinary bank draft. It has two adjuncts—the advice, or notification to be sent by the issuing to the paying postmaster, is a reproduction of the order through the use of carbonized paper (the manifold process), and a receipt for the amount, to be furnished by the issuing postmaster to the remitter. On the back of the order a separate space has been provided for the stamps of banks through which it may be passed for collection. Through the process mentioned (the carbon or manifold process), the order and the advice are produced simultaneously. By the same operation the essential particulars of name of payee date, amount, and place of payment, as written in the order are duplicated, or reproduced, and made to appear in the advice precisely as in the order. The liability to mistake is thus greatly lessened and a saving of time effected. The receipt which is to be furnished by the issuing postmaster to the remitter, showing the number and date of the order and the amount for which issued, is also, in the main a reproduction, by the carbon process of the writing and stamping on the order, hence must necessarily agree therewith. The adoption of a receipt has not hitherto been practicable. It will tend to popularize the postal money order, supplying more than all else what was needed to make it, in the estimation of the public, a perfectly satisfactory vehicle for the transmission of small sums. Possession of the receipt will give the remitter a feeling of security. In shape and size the new order is deemed a decided improvement over any other form of money order ever adopted by the department.

POLITICAL.

Why is that John Young Brown, the great Democrat, never in any of his speeches has anything to say against the candidacy of the Republicans?

There is nothing in the administration of public affairs by the Republican party in Kentucky to justify the continuance of that party in power for the good of the public. No promises made by that party as to lessening public expenses and securing a more efficient public service have been kept. Instead of a reduction of taxes, they have been increased. There is nothing in the practice of the policy of the Republican party to commend it to popular favor.—Georgetown Times.

Capt. Stone was willing and anxious to take the nomination for Governor from the Louisville convention at any stage of the proceedings. Gen. Hardin was anxious and willing to take it. The preponderance of testimony goes to show that ex-Governor Brown would have taken it. The platform was made before any candidate was nominated. Ex Governor Brown doubtless feels a little embarrassed in attacking the methods of the convention and the platform adopted.—Georgetown Times.

The Democratic campaign is in full blast from one end of the State to the other. Over forty speeches were made last Monday in as many different counties, and it may be said that from this on it will be kept warm every where. The question is between Democratic or Republican control in Kentucky and this is all there is at issue. The Republican administration has been a dismal failure. It has increased the expenses and it has produced asylum officers that have disgraced the charities of the State. The expenditures of the prisons have drained the treasury, while favored incompetant officials have been kept on the pay roll. Last month the deficit in the general expenditure fund was nearly $800,000. The sinking fund has been absorbed while the school fund is also used. On September 1, 1899, we predicted the deficit in the State treasury, in the general expenditure fund will exceed $800,000. The Democrats did not hide their deficits, but General Taylor is attempting to create the impression that there is a surplus in the State treasury to-day. There should be over $1,000,000 in cash in the treasury, but it is not there. It has disappeared with expensive Republican Government. We demand Gen. Taylor to give the people the truth. They are entitled to it and he should tell the truth.—Western Argus.

Pith of the Press.

Abe Lincoln freed his slaves, William McKinley compels his to fight for their freedom.—Denver Post.

The principal feature of Mr. McKinley's "straightout poliov" is that it demands so much explaining.—Omaha World-Herald.

Perhaps Mr. Hobart can help the Administration out by drumming up some clients who can monopolize Tom Reed's time.—Washington Post.

Captain Carter and Captain Dreyfus do not parallel each other at all points, however. There is a slight divergence, for instance, at Devil's Island.—Philadelphia Press.

Attack has made it impossible for Mr. McKinley to keep on protecting Carter by methods of secrecy and stealth—or, indeed, to keep on protecting him by any methods.—N. Y. World.

Captain Oberlin M. Carter, who swindled the Government out of $1,600,000, says if he goes to jail he will take other official knaves with him. He cannot carry his threat into execution any too soon to suit the country at large. And the more he carries the better.—San Francisco Examiner.

KENTUCKY CROP REPORT.

Condition of Crops and Live Stock September 1st, 1899.

Replies were received this month from 143 correspondents, representing 100 counties.

WHEAT.—Threshing has progressed in the Northern and Western States of the winter wheat belt without developing any change from conditions previously reported. The crop is a light one in yield and considerably below the average in point of quality.

Spring wheat harvest is nearing completion and some threshing has been done. In addition to the injury to the crop in Minnesota and the Dakotas by the hot winds, farther damage by hail and wind storms has occurred, the loss being total in a number of counties in Minnesota and South Dakota. Rain during the latter part of August has interfered with harvesting and threshing in North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Nebraska, causing sprouting in shock and stack and bleaching of the standing grain. The yield from threshers is reported disappointing, rarely exceeding fifteen bushels per acre.

In Kentucky the weather was generally favorable to threshing, and no reports of sprouted grain are received. Yield continues to prove light, with the quality holding up to the excellent grade promised earlier.

Considering the favorable indications for a higher future market the crop is being marketed freely. Reports show but 57 per cent. of crops in farmers hands September 1, as compared with 76 per cent. on September 1, 1898.

Preparation for seeding the next crop is well advanced, although work is now suspended in a number of counties on account of a second drouth. Forty per cent. of fall plowing was completed September 1.

CORN—In a number of counties, especially in the central section, the rains ceased at a time when late corn was at the stage when early corn sustained such injury, and unless rain comes soon, may prove even lighter than early corn.

In the Western dounties the rain continued longer, and late corn will make a full average crop. Some early corn is being cut. Late corn will not be safe from danger before October 1.

The condition of the State, as a whole, averages 73, which is the average on August 1. The condition September 1 for the past two years, was, September 1, 1898, 105; September 1, 1897, 88. The Western section shows the highest average condition, 81, an improvement of four points during a month. In the central section the condition is 65, and for Southeastern section it is 76.

In a number of the extreme Western counties "army worms" threatened total destruction of late corn.

TOBACCO—Tobacco has greatly improved during August and while the improvement was checked to some extent by the cessation of rains, the outcome is very satisfactory. The condition September 1 averages 78, an improvement of 9 points during the month. The condition September 1, 1898, was 90; in 1897, 60. In the Western section the condition averages 76; in the central 78, and Southeastern 84. The Western condition is materially affected by damage from vast numbers of worms, which are reported more numerous than ever before known. It is estimated that 16 per cent. of crop was housed prior to September 1, which is 9 per cent. less than was housed by same date last year.

SHEEP—The number of breeding ewes is estimated at 90 per cent. of the number in 1898. There has been a substantial increase in the central counties, many of which report an increase of 25 per cent. over last year. On the other hand, in the Eastern, Southeastern and Southern counties, devoted more particularly to raising stock sheep, the number is correspondingly decreased, being but 80 per cent. of the number in 1898.

HEMP—The estimated average yield of hemp per acre is 675 lbs. The average yield for 1898 was 850 pounds. For 1897 the yield was 760 pounds.

Cattle—The number of "feeders" compared with 1898 is 85 per cent. Cattle are suffering annoyance to an unusual degree from the "horn fly," which is more numerous than ever known. This, with the drying up of pastures and scarcity of stock water in some sections, has reduced the condition of cattle as well as live stock generally. Some "Pinkeye" is reported in Bullitt county.

Horses—The number of "weanlings" is 85 per cent. of the number in 1898.

Mules—The number of "sugar mules" is estimated at 80 per cent; "cotton mules" at 83 per cent., and "weanlings" at 88 per cent. of the number of 1898.

Hogs—The number of hogs is estimated at 87 per cent. of the number of 1898. A number of counties report an unusual scarcity of hogs. Hog cholera is prevalent to a limited extent. Thirty correspondents answer the question, "Have you hog cholera? affirmatively and 108 answer in the negative.

Pastures—Pastures in the Central counties are very short indeed, while in the Western section grazing is still good. The condition averages 81 compared with average years. On August 1st the condition was 94.

Apples continue to drop, and orchardists are resorting to making them into cider to save a portion of the crop. The yield of fall and winter apples will be very light and of inferior quality.

LUCAS MOORE,
Commissioner of Agriculture.

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier.]

The Ten Mile Baptist Association met with the Mason church, last Wednesday and Thursday. Tremendous crowds were in attendance who were well entertained by the good people of Mason.

The Catholics will soon begin the erection of a $5,000 church at this place. More than $4,500 dollars have been subscribed toward the new church, and its promoters believe the full $5,000 will be subscribed in a few days.

Tobacco cutting is progressing rapidly, notwithstanding the intensely hot weather. The crop has been immensely damaged by the drouth and is being made lighter and shorter every day yet on that account. The Grant county crop will not make more than half a crop in weight and the quality must of necessity be poor.

Last Thursday afternoon as Mrs. Mary Perry was returning from the Ten Mile Baptist Association at Mason with her little six year old grandson, the horse became frightened at a passing handcar and ran away. A large number of persons were on the road returning from the Association and quite a panic ensued for a time. The buggy in which Mrs. Perry was riding was overturned and she and the boy thrown out. The boy received a severe scalp wound and other injuries about the back and was quite seriously used up. Mrs. Perry was also considerably injured but not dangerously.

Harve Sanders and Will McGuire have been confined in the county jail for the past few weeks in default of $500 bond, charged with criminal assault. The confinement was evidently growing monotonous and wearisome, for last Friday evening they made an attempt to escape and succeeded. They waited till Jailer Cates and his good wife had become wrapped in the sweet dreams of Morpheus, then taking the blankets and bedding which was left in their apartments, tore them into strips and constructed ropes. In the ceiling of the corridor of the jail is a small door which fastens over a scuttle hole. Further up is a ventilator just large enough to admit a man's body. This is covered with small bars which are very easily forced off. The two prisoners climbed through the scuttle hole and fastened the blanket-constructed rope on the inside, let themselves down one at a time and gained their liberty. No attempt has been made to catch the escaped prisoners. Sheriff Webb says he has got tired of catching criminals only to have them get away. The offense for which these two criminals were confined was quite grave and there is little doubt but they would have been convicted at the next term of court had they not escaped.

The Southern Methodist Conference, in session at Carlisle, tried Rev. John W. Reeves, the Presiding Elder of the Lexington district, and expelled him on a charge of immorality brought by R. T. Marshall, a wealthy farmer of Fleming county. The charges date back some years and involve a lady who is said to live in the shadow of the Flemingsburg Courthouse, but whose name has not been made public yet. It is reported in the newspapers that Rev. Reeves will bring a civil suit in the court to clear his name.

State News.

Owenton is to have a $2,500 artesian well.

Counterfeit half-dollars are in circulation in Boyle county.

The drought did great damage to growing vegetation in Owen county.

One of the features of the Bullitt county fair, was a wedding that was solemnized in the Judges' stand.

The annual reunion of the Tenth Kentucky Cavalry Association will be held in Flemingsburg October 5.

A case of smallpox is reported at Needmore, in Lincoln county, and twelve cases at Jabez, Russell county.

Eight hundred pounds of bass, newlights, "cats" and other fish were taken out of a hole in Dix river last week.

A man named Helton, near Wrights, Letcher county, was shot by assassins from ambush and fatally wounded.

Geo. R. Secrest, a prominent lumber dealer living near Carlisle committed suicide. Financial reverses are assigned as the cause.

An attempt was made to burn the town of Albany, in Clinton county. A suspected young man was driven out of the place.

Rev. W. W. Duncan, a well-known Presbyterian minister of Hopkinsville, has been adjudged insane and sent to the asylum.

A wind and rainstorm did great damage in Henry county, Wednesday night. At Gistville, Thomas Crittenden was killed by lightning.

A letter was received at Lexington, a few days ago, that had traveled 25,000 miles, having crossed the Pacific three times in its travels.

On the night of the 5th inst there was a heavy storm between Owenton and Monterey. Several tobacco barns were blown down and one man was killed by lightning.

Mrs. Julia Uppigrove, of Monroe county, a widow about sixty years of age, was found hanging by the neck, dead in her kitchen. Bad health supposed to be the cause.

In Webster county, David Killough was shot to death by John Gardner, his brother-in-law. Killough had attacked Gardner at the latter's home, firing the first shot.

A toll gate on the Eminence and Clear creek turnpike in Shelby county was blown up with dynamite. The gate at this point had been similarly destroyed on two previous occasions.

Jas. Duncan, of Lawrence county, is afflicted in a peculier manner. A few months ago a drowsiness came over him, and now he sleeps constantly. Physicians find it impossible to awaken him.

J. L. Young, of California, Ky., went to Newport to deposit $150. He forgot about it being Labor Day, and the banks were closed. He got mixed up in a crowd in Cincinnati and his pocket was picked.

James Roberts was killed at his home in Clay county, between Manchester and Hayden. He was sitting on his porch, a report rang out from the woods and he fell dead, the shot passing through his head.

In Nicholas county Henry Gifford was shot and badly wounded by a man named Gallaher. The scene of the shooting was in the watermelon patch of Frank Smith, who had employed Gallaher to guard his place.

At present there are more cases of typhoid fever in Trimble county than ever known at one time before. Nearly all of them prove fatal. It is not known what contains the germs, but most physicians think it is in the water.

Mr. Jack Clark fell into an old unused cistern containing six feet of water in the yard attached to his shop one day last week and had a narrow escape from death. He want in head foremost, and was bruised about the head and one arm.—Georgetown Times.

George Philpot, leader of the Philpot faction, is expected to call on Governor Bradley to protect him and his people from the Griffiths. The report says it this is not done the Philpots will turn on their enemy with a view to the extermination of the rival faction.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. : : KENTUCKY

SEPTEMBER—1899.

Sun.	Mon.	Tue.	Wed.	Thur.	Fri.	Sat.
....	....	....	....	....	1	2
3	4	5	6	7	8	9
10	11	12	13	14	15	16
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
24	25	26	27	28	29	30

THE largest tree in the world lies broken and petrified at the end of a defile in northwestern Nevada. It is said to be 666 feet long.

THE duke of Westminster, whose horse Flying Fox, recently won him $50,000, has presented the sum to the Royal Alexandria hospital, Rhyl, of which he is president.

AN Englisman just home from the west coast of Africa says he saw a whole village swimming out to the steamer, wearing, as they swam, renovated second-hand stovepipe hats in all the glory of the white tissue paper in which they are shipped out for sale.

ALL our senses do not slumber simultaneously. They fall into insensibility one after another. First the eyelids obscure sight and the sense of taste is the next to lose susceptibility. Smelling, hearing and touch then follow. Touch is the lightest sleeper and most easily aroused.

A BRIDGE composed wholly of telegraph wire was built over the Jhelum river at Kohala, in the Punjab, in the place of a bridge which was swept by the floods in 1892. A similar bridge was constructed during the first Soudan campaign over the Kokora river for military purposes.

PEOPLE marvel at the mechanism of the human body with its 493 bones and 50 arteries. But man is simple in this respect compared with the carp. That remarkable fish moves no fewer than 4,336 bones and muscles every time it breathes. It has 4,320 veins, to say nothing of its 99 muscles.

AN engineer in Tunis has invented a deep-sea diving apparatus which has been tried without accident at a depth of 174 feet near Cherbourg. The inventor declares his purpose of searching for the hull of the Alabama, which lies where she was sunk by the Kearsarge off Cherbourg harbor.

THE Automobile club of America, with principal offices in New York City, has been incorporated by the secretary of state at Albany. The purpose is to maintain a social club devoted to automobilism and to its development throughout the country. The club will arrange for pleasure runs and encourage road contests among owners of automobiles.

LIQUID air incinerator has been proposed as the very latest method of disposing of the city's dead. It is claimed for liquid air that it does its work swiftly. In half an hour a body weighing 180 pounds can be reduced to six pounds of phosphate of lime and mineral matter. The retort can be opened immediately after combustion, so that funeral services extend scarcely more than three-quarters of an hour.

HENRY D. MILLER, an old resident of Baton Rouge, La., when in Washington recently, stated the original "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was still standing on the estate of Joseph Henry, in Natchitoches parish, Louisiana. Its identity was established, he says, a good many years ago. The original of "Legree," the villian of the story, was an old Scotchman named McAlpin, known to many of the earlier residents of the state.

SINCE the cutting down of their supply of tobacco the convicts in the Iowa state penitentiary have been sullen and hard to manage and some 300 of them have refused to work. Chicago physicians interviewed on the subject say that the action of the prison authorities was unwise; that tobacco in moderate quantity does no harm and that its quieting effects make prisoners as well as soldiers more amenable to discipline and less disposed to mischief.

PRESIDENT PORFIRIO DIAZ of Mexico, who intends to visit the United States shortly, has rounded out twenty years of successful administration. Diaz found Mexico in a state of brigandage, revolution and anarchy. With a firm hand he seized the reins of government. While our sister republic preserves many of the forms of popular government, the will of the president is never thwarted. Backed by the military power he is supreme in the state. Nor does his ascendancy over the people depend upon force alone. His administration has been wise and has borne substantial fruit.

IF the claims that are made for his invention are well founded an English chemist has discovered a means of producing a degree of heat vastly more intense than ever produced through human agency before. While details of the invention are being kept secret it has transpired that the process consists in the use of kerosene oil and steam in such a way as to produce a temperature of about 4,000 degrees. So intense is this heat that it melts platinum and carbon with ease, and even magnesia, considered one of the hardest substances to fuse, is melted almost as quickly.

EXAMINATIONS.

Treasury Department Modifies Them in Customs and Revenue Services.

Applicant Must Be a Person of Moral Courage, Undoubted Honesty, Physical Ability and Familiar With Business Methods.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The treasury department has had under consideration for some time the preparation of examinations for the positions in the customs service and internal revenue service which pertain to excepted places, under the president's order of May 29, 1899, such as deputy collectors of internal revenue, storekeepers and gaugers, compensation under $500, and for positions in the customs service filled by cashiers, chief or principal deputies at customs ports, and the principal deputy at each sub-port, deputy naval officers and deputy surveyors.

The department has concluded to reduce the examination to arithmetic, including the conversion of currency, letter writing, plain copy and business experience and training. The arithmetic will be as practical as possible and where practicable will relate to the actual business transactions intended for the employes.

For storekeepers and gangers the candidates will be called upon to furnish vouchers to be filled by reputable citizens who are acquainted with the applicant. The applicant will have to show his age, occupation and residence. The person signing the voucher must show the length of time he has been acquainted with the applicant, whether the applicant is possessed of moral courage, and would be a proper person to employ without yielding to influence where he would be apt to temptation. It must be shown that the person signing the voucher would trust the applicant with employment requiring undoubted honesty; that the applicant has physical ability and can efficiently perform the duties; that he is of good address and familiar with men and the manner of approaching them; the voucher must show the length of time he has lived in the district from which he seeks to be appointed and with the familiarity he has with inhabitants, must show what knowledge applicant has as to methods of operating small distilleries and his familiarity with the manufacture of spirits at illicit distilleries; and that the candidate can render efficient service as an officer of internal revenue where honesty and integrity are indispensable. The applicant must have this voucher prepared before he is subjected to any academic test, and when it is approved by the collector it will count 70 per cent. in an examination. The other 30 per cent. in the examination will be the academic tests.

Two Men Killed by Lighting.

TUSCOLA, Ill., Sept. 8.—At the Douglas county fair at Camargo lightning struck the north end of the grand stand, killing two men instantly, fatally injuring two more and seriously disabling six others. The party was eating supper under the grand stand when the flash came.

Took Her Life.

ZANESVILLE, O., Sept. 8.—Miss Eva Gould, a former patient of the Athens insane hospital, discharged as cured, hung herself.

Vigorous Quarantine Useless.

OPORTO, Sept. 8.—The faculty of medicine have telegraphed to King Charles asking him to come here in person and "see the uselessness of the vigorous quarantine." They belittle the seriousness of the plague outbreak.

The Temperature at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—The temparature reached the 94 mark Thursday, and six prostrations were reported. A lake breeze, followed by a shower, caused a drop of 15 degrees.

ENCAMPMENT ENDED.

Col. Albert D. Shaw Elected Commander-in-Chief—Resolutions Adopted on the Pension Question.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—The 33d national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic came to an end Thursday night. The election of a commander-in-chief, which, it was supposed, would be settled only after a warm contest, was conducted and carried out in the most peaceable manner imaginable. Col. Albert D. Shaw, of Watertown, N. Y., was unanimously elected to the highest office of the organization after Judge Leo Rassieur, of St. Louis, had declined to be a candidate. Early in the campaign there were three candidates. W. C. Johnson, of Cincinnati, who was acting commander-in-chief, was first mentioned and the names of Col. Shaw and Judge Rassieur later became prominent. Johnson's boom was ended Wednesday with his election to the office for the unexpired term of the late Commander Sexton, lasting two days.

This rendered him ineligible to candidacy for another term, and with the election of Col. Shaw he becomes as past commander-in-chief. The friends of Col. Shaw and Judge Rassieur claimed the victory until the Missouri veterans at Thursday's session of the encampment, withdrew from the contest in favor of his New York opponent. Aside from the selection of a commander-in-chief, the pension question receives the major portion of attention. Resolutions were adopted that rule 225, passed by congress in 1890, and now in practice, was a hardship in that it required proof of identity and injuries which many old soldiers could not furnish and asking that the president re-establish rule 164, later passed by congress, which is not so stringent in its requirements. The resolutions also deplored the practice in the pension bureau which bars widows who have an income of $96 a year, and asks that the limitations be increased to $250 a year. Pursuant to the resolutions a committee of five was appointed to seek relief from the administrative officers, and, failing there, to ask congress to amend the law in favor of the veterans.

As Chicago secured the next encampment, it is expected that Judge Rassieur will then be elected commander-in-chief.

COL. ALBERT D. SHAW,
Elected Commander-in-Chief of the G. A. R. at Philadelphia.

The Sons of Veterans Meet.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 8.—Whether there is really any friction between the Sons of Veterans and the G. A. R., and whether the two societies shall in the future camp together are the serious questions being considered by the eighteenth annual encampment of the Sons of Veterans, which began here Thursday afternoon. Opinion among the delegates on the matter of camping together with the veterans of the G. A. R. is divided. There is in the hands of the resolutions committee a resolution fixing the 1900 encampment at Chicago simultaneously with the G. A. R. and ordering that the sons camp with the veterans hereafter. It was reported to the delegates for consideration Friday.

Inter-State Commissioner Resigns.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—A story was circulated Thursday night that W. J. Calhoun is to resign from the inter-state commerce commission to practice law in Chicago. Friends of Mr. Calhoun say the story is true.

Synagogues Closed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 8.—The government officials of the province of Kieff recently ordered the closing of 30 synagogues and schools at Birditcheff, which is the center of the Jewish population of the southwest provinces.

Prof. Wheeler's New Position.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—William Morton Wheeler, assistant professor of embryology at the University of Chicago has resigned to accept a similar position with the University of Texas.

NAVAL DISPLAY.

Many Lake Craft Lifted The Embargo on Lake Superior Navigation.

Many Hundreds of Tons of Ore Lightered From the Sunken Vessel—The Procession, Over 40 Miles in Length, Parade Down the River.

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Sept. 11.—The embargo on Lake Superior navigation by the sinking of the steamer Douglas Houghton in the Soo passage last Tuesday was lifted at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The largest fleet ever accumulated on the lakes if not in America, began to move soon after, and one vast naval procession headed down the lakes, while another started on its way to Lake Superior. In the two there were over 200 of the largest craft under the American flag save the ocean liners.

The lifting of the embargo was full of dramatic incident. It was Tuesday last when the Houghton was sunk in the narrowest part of the channel by a collision with the schooner Fritz, which she had in tow. In passing through a narrow cut of solid limestone, the wheel chains on the Houghton had parted, and the steamer drove her nose far into the limestone rock on one side, while the current swung her stern against the opposite side of the channel. The next instant the Fritz crashed into the side of the boat, cutting a hole in her side. The Fritz then also swung across the channel, which was as completely blocked as if the engineers had constructed a dam at that point.

Every man who could be secured was put to work. Divers succeeded in putting a patch of wood over the break, and night and day after that the ore was shoveled into lighters. Sunday at noon 1,500 tons had been lightered and the bow of the Houghton had risen out of the water about five feet. It was found that the steamer had driven her way into the limestone ledge about 12 feet, and the ledge had to be blasted away. The first blast of dynamite only cracked the rock. A second was then placed under the rock and four tugs were hitched against the Houghton's stern on one side and two on the other side, while one was placed at her bow. The tugs started up at full speed and the battery was fired. It was expected that the next instant would see the Houghton floating down stream, carrying the tugs and lighters and even the trees from the bank to which the boat was hitched by a 13-inch hawser. But the Houghton did nothing of the kind. The great boat raised slightly, and then settled back nine inches deeper in the pocket than she was before. Again the rocks were charged with dynamite and again the tugs puffed and snorted when the charge was fired. Again the Houghton did not move an inch. This was repeated again and again until finally, after an unusually heavy charge, which shattered the rocks which held the bow of the Houghton in a vise, the big boat moved in the current and drifted and was pulled out of the channel.

It was a time of great rejoicing among the captains of the blockaded fleets, over a hundred of whom were at the scene. They hurried back to their ships, to prepare for the procession down the river. They soon began to move into position in Hay lake, where they took their places in the order of their arrival at the locks.

Sunday night the fleet stretched out for miles in Hay lake. Captains are waiting for word from Capt. Davis to start. They were passing down a third of a mile apart in order to avoid danger of collision. The procession is over 40 miles long. As most of the upbound boats have been gotten out of the way the procession will be perfectly continuous and doubtless it is the greatest naval display ever given in the United States.

THE PARIS EXPOSITION.

Many Intended Exhibitors in Hungary Have Withdrawn Their Notices of Participation in the Big Show.

BUDA PEST, Hungary, Sept. 11.—The following semi-official statement has been issued:

"A move is on foot against sending exhibits to the Paris exposition in 1900. Many intending exhibitors have withdrawn their notices of participation on the ground that the present state of things in France renders it unsafe to send exhibits."

The Cathedral chapter of Gran, capital of the county of the same name on the Danube and the residence of the Catholic primate of Hungary, has cancelled its decision to send exhibits giving as a reason its unwillingness to endanger works of art worth millions of florins.

Shot His Son.

BEAZIL, Ind., Sept. 11.—Bruce Cook, was shot in the chest Sunday morning by his father, George Cook, an employe in the Crawford & McCrimmon machine shops. There had been trouble between the elder Cook and his wife and it is said that when he came home drunk Saturday night and began abusing his wife young Cook interfered and knocked his father down. As Bruce was entering home Sunday morning his father began firing at him. The father is now in jail. The young man may recover.

THE NAVAL VETERANS.

The Proposed Admission of Spanish War Veterans Causes a Split in Their Society—A New One Forming.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.—There were lively times at Wednesday's session of the 14th annual convention of the National Association of Naval Veterans. A resolution providing for the admission of participants in the Spanish war to membership in the association started a rumpus and the result was that there is now a split in the organization. At the convention held in Cincinnati last September the resolution above mentioned was introduced and under the rules was laid over until this year. There was much discussion among the members as to the advisability of admitting the Spanish war veterans, and when the resolution came before the association Wednesday everybody was ready to fight for or against it. The leader of the forces in favor of the proposition was Past Er. Adm. B. S. Osbon, of the Farragut association, New York city. He delivered a passionate address, in which he said that the Naval Veterans' association should be perpetuated by admitting the men of the late war and not let the organization die with the veterans of the civil war. He was followed by Surgeon A. Trego Shertzer, of Baltimore, who stoutly maintained that the association was organized for the sailors of the civil war only, and that it should die with them. A number of other speeches were made, and the vote on the resolution was overwhelmingly against admitting the men of the late war.

When the result was announced the Farragut delegates from New York and the delegates from the Adm. Boggs association, of Newark, N. J., walked out in a body. It is their intention to start an opposition association to be known as the United States Veteran Navy, and headquarters will probably be in New York city. The bolters claim that they will get nearly 200 members from the Naval Veterans association and will admit to membership all those who were in the navy during the Spanish war. Outside of this episode the convention was a harmonious one. Er. Adm. Foss, of Minneapolis, was in the chair and made a very able address. A resolution was adopted abolishing the title of rear admiral and giving the highest officer in the association the title of commodore commanding.

The proposition to parade with the Grand Army of the Republic each year was defeated, as was also a resolution providing for the organization of a beneficial society within the association.

The convention will be visited Thursday by Adm. Sampson, of the North Atlantic squadron, now in the city.

THE GREAT RACE.

Star Pointer Won the First Heat and Joe Patchen the Last Two—Star Pointer Will Never Race Again.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Fifteen thousand enthusiastic spectators were at the Empire City trotting track Wednesday to see the great race between the star pacers, Star Pointer, Joe Patchen, John R. Gentry and Searchlight.

In the betting rings there was a surging crowd only too anxious to bet 100 to 30 on Star Pointer against the field, until pool selling was stopped by the local authorities.

Star Pointer won the first heat, beating Joe Patchen by a neck. Time, 2:04¼.

In the second heat Joe Patchen won by a length. Time: 2:03¾, the fastest mile made in a race this season.

There was a rush to cover amongst the spectators who recognized that the old time pacing king was to be dethroned, and they made no mistake. As soon as the word was given Joe Patchen started out to complete his victory, and he did it in a most effectual manner. Star Pointer broke so badly that he was distanced and John R. Gentry was utterly unable to compete with the horse that he beat at Rochester, and which beat him at Goshen. The time of the last heat was 2:04¼. It was announced that Star Pointer would never race again.

Two Killed By Lightning.

GARFIELD, Minn., Sept. 7.—John L. Larson, John Lundstrom, Albert Larson and Henry Eggan, of Garfield, and O. C. W. Westman from Belle Rivera, threshers, while returning from Brandon Wednesday afternoon, were struck by lightning. Lundstrom and Westman were killed instantly. The others were more or less injured but will recover.

Gold for Cape Town.

MELBOURNE, Sept. 7.—The British steamer Moravian, Capt. Simpson, sailed Wednesday for Cape Town with £150,000 gold.

The Georgia Cotton Crop.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 7.—Commissioner of Agriculture C. B. Stevens, who returned Wednesday after a trip of inspection, states that the Georgia cotton crop will be at least half a million bales short.

Tennessee Miners Strike.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 7.—Two hundred coal miners at the Sale creek mines struck Wednesday because the company was furnishing coal to the Dayton Coal and Iron Co., whose miners were on a strike for higher wages.

"Circumstances Alter Cases."

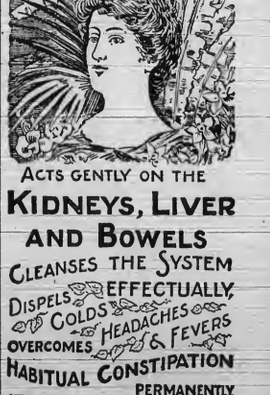
In cases of scrofula, salt rheum, dyspepsia, nervousness, catarrh, rheumatism, eruptions, etc., the circumstances may be altered by purifying and enriching the blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the great remedy for all ages and both sexes. Be sure to get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Never Disappoints

NATION'S GREETING TO DEWEY.

Features of the Reception to the Manila Hero in Washington.

The central idea underlying the grand welcome to be given Admiral Dewey in Washington the first week in October is its national character. His arrival at the Capital will mark his real home-coming to the American people, where the officials of the government will participate, and the magnificently jeweled sword voted by Congress will be presented. To that end all the arrangements will be of a simple but most dignified character. The welcome to the hero of Manila at the National Capital will probably occur on Monday, October 2, although the date will depend upon the length of the celebration in New York, which is still unsettled. The principal features of the reception in Washington, as planned by the citizens, with the cooperation of the President and Cabinet, will be two in number—the presentation of the sword voted by Congress and a night parade. A public reception at the White House will be followed by dinner to the Admiral by President McKinley. The sword will be presented by Secretary Long, at the east front of the Capitol, in the presence of Mr. McKinley and all the members of the Cabinet, late in the afternoon, while the parade, consisting of organizations of all kinds, will be accompanied by an illumination of the city on a scale of beauty never before witnessed in Washington.



Sword Voted by Congress to Dewey.

The different features of the preparations are in the hands of a central body of citizens and eleven committees, embracing in all over a thousand people. Preparations for the celebration have been in hand for over a month.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and other railroads entering Washington have agreed upon cheap rates for the celebration, and the committee expects that there will be an outpouring of patriotic citizens almost equal to the inauguration of a President.

"Look up, lift up," was the motto on the badge worn by the jail young man. "Wot's dis?" asked the elevator boy. "Has us guys got a union?"—Indianapolis Journal.

ACTS GENTLY ON THE KIDNEYS, LIVER
AND BOWELS
CLEANSES THE SYSTEM
DISPELS COLDS EFFECTUALLY
OVERCOMES HEADACHES & FEVERS
HABITUAL CONSTIPATION PERMANENTLY
TO GET ITS BENEFICIAL EFFECTS.

BUY THE GENUINE—MANF'D BY
CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
LOUISVILLE, KY. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. NEW YORK, N.Y.
FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS. PRICE, 50¢. PER BOTTLE.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

DREYFUS GUILTY

He Receives a Sentence of 10 Years, The Court Standing Five to Two.

He Expects to Be Released by October 15, Five Years from the Date of Former Condemnation—That Also is the Opinion of Several Attorneys.

RENNES, Sept. 10.—Capt. Dreyfus was found guilty.

The court's verdict sentences Dreyfus to ten years' imprisonment in a fortress. The court found extenuating circumstances.

Five judges voted for conviction and two against. During the reading of the verdict absolute silence prevailed in the courtroom.

The socialists are particularly bitter, and the excitement engendered by the presence of their leaders is growing hourly.

RENNES, Sept. 11.—Dreyfus has borne the terrible shock with marvelous fortitude, one might almost say with unnatural calm. Saturday he seemed stupefied when Maitre Labori communicated to him the verdict but he has since rallied. He passed a quiet night and arose when his orderly brought him water at 5 o'clock Sunday morning, just as he did during the trial when it was necessary.

Madame Dreyfus and Mathieu Dreyfus, his brother, visited him during the course of the afternoon, his brother subsequently leaving for Paris. The application to the court of revision was taken to him at noon by Maitre Labori's assistant and he signed it. Sunday he spoke but little, though he has seemed in better spirits than might have been anticipated. The meeting with his wife was naturally very affecting, but both held up as well as possible. He said to her: "I am not uneasy regarding myself as I shall soon be free, but I think of you and my poor children. They will be branded as the children of a traitor."

He is convinced that the ten years imprisonment to which he is sentenced will be wiped out by the five years of solitary seclusion he has undergone on Devil's island, and he expects to be released by October 15, which will be five years from the date of his former condemnation. He is so sanguine that he has made an extraordinary request of his wife for a novel to read in the meantime, explaining that his mind is so shaken and weighed down by recent events that he needs to divert his thoughts and to try to get all the recollections of the last three months out of his mind. He thinks that reading a novel will afford the desired mental repose and keep him from brooding.

The town Sunday was perfectly calm. There was not a sign of a demonstration nor a cry for or against Dreyfus or the Jews heard anywhere. A number of people gathered to see Mme. Dreyfus visit the prison, but they were quite respectful.

The troops and masses of gendarmes who Saturday gave the center of Rennes the appearance of a military camp have completely vanished. There are hardly any gendarmes in sight except near the Dreyfus residence, where a few are posted.

So far as can be ascertained military men are perfectly satisfied with the verdict which they interpret as safeguarding the honor of the army and at the same time doing an act of mercy for Dreyfus who, they say, has sufficiently expiated his crime in the awful existence he passed on Devil's Island. They point out that even if he is sent to Fort Corte it will be to receive henceforth the humane treatment he has experience since his return to France. One strange fact is the extraordinary difference of opinion respecting the exact effect of the judgment—whether he can be degraded again, and whether the five years solitary confinement he has undergone, will be regarded as equivalent to the ten years' detention to which he is now sentenced and he will be released next month. This matter is quite aside from the general impression that he will be pardoned in a few days by President Loubet, who will find some ground to exercise clemency.

Maitre Demange thinks the five years will count for nothing and that Dreyfus, according to law, will have to suffer ten years' detention. Many others, however, including several lawyers hold a contrary opinion and declare that he will be released in October.

A correspondent Sunday afternoon interrogated M. Coupois, the clerk of the court-martial, on this point. He was most emphatic in declaring that Dreyfus must serve 10 years from the date of a fresh degradation, the court-martial having considered the case as beginning when Dreyfus appeared before them, disregarding altogether his previous sentence.

Will Hold an Indignation Meeting.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Invitations were sent Sunday to leading citizens and clergymen irrespective of race and religion to take part in a great Dreyfus protest meeting which will be held this week in Cooper Union. Every leading Hebrew citizen is on the committee and will take part. At this meeting will be appointed a committee of men of standing of the financial, political and religious world, who will go to Washington and ask the president to make a personal appeal to President Loubet, of France, for Capt. Dreyfus.

THEY WILL NOT FIGHT.

British Cabinet Minister Says There Will Be No War with the Transvaal—Queen Victoria Will Not Permit It.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Mr. Montague White, the consul general of the South African republic in London, said to a press representative Friday evening: "I assure you on the authority of a cabinet minister that there will be no war with the Transvaal. In fact, the queen will not permit war. I received a telegram from Pretoria today assuring me that the Transvaal government quite understands the position regarding the peace party in England, and is in nowise misled by speeches and demonstrations."

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The Anglo-Transvaal situation wore Friday a more peaceful aspect. In addition to the troops from India a brigade of four battalions of infantry is under orders to start for South Africa immediately, one from home and three from Mediterranean stations. The sailing of the Castle Liner Harlech Castle has been canceled and the steamer will probably be employed to transport these troops. A semi-official statement comes from Pretoria through Cape Town to the effect that the Transvaal government has explained to the British diplomatic agent, Mr. Conyngham Green that its last dispatch was meant as an acceptance of the proposed joint inquiry.

PRETORIA, Sept. 9.—In the first raad Friday morning debate was resumed on the interpellation of the government respecting the concentration of British troops on the border and the stopping of ammunition consigned to the Transvaal. The house adjourned shortly before noon, after adopting unanimously the following resolution:

The volksraad having considered that friendly correspondence is still passing between the two governments, that the concentration of troops in great numbers near the border has a detrimental and restless effect on the inhabitants of the state, and that the Transvaal has lived in friendship and peace with all nations and desires to continue to live in such friendship and peace, now declares its regret at the fact of concentration and expresses the opinion that in the case of eventualities, which might lead to enmity or war between the two governments the cause would not lie with the republic.

As regards the stoppage of ammunition at Delagoa bay, the Volksraad trusts that the government will act according to circumstances.

"The raad further resolves to drop the matter of the concentration of troops on the border for the present until the government shall supply further information to the raad, although the information obtained is unsatisfactory. Nevertheless and with a view to the results of the negotiations which are pending, the raad declares itself determined in the meantime to maintain the rights and independence of the republic."

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The cabinet council Friday was marked by absolute unanimity, and in spite of a lack of official information and the presence of much corroborative evidence that the situation is scarcely less strained, there is no sign of any intention to convene parliament and no immediate necessity exists to call out the reserves. It is probable, however, that the appeals from the government of Natal will result in the dispatch of a large body of troops from England and India to Natal and Cape Colony.

Brig. Gen. Ovenshine in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Brig. Gen. Ovenshine, who has just returned from the Philippine islands, called on Secretary Root and the president Friday. Gen. Ovenshine has been suffering from fever and has not yet recovered. He undoubtedly will be granted a further leave of absence. He reports that Gen. Lawton has suffered from chills and fever since he has been in the Philippines.

The Yellow Fever at Key West.

KEY WEST, Fla., Sept. 9.—Thirty cases of yellow fever have been reported during the past 24 hours. Including two cases previously omitted, the total number occurring to date so far as known is 1,271. Two deaths have been reported during the past 24 hours, making the total number of deaths nine. The weather is still very warm and rainy and favorable for the spread of the disease.

Shamrock's Fourth Trial Spin.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Not much wind favored Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht Shamrock in her fourth trial spin Friday. It is the general impression that Designer Fife was "putting the breaks on," for the yacht's traveling Friday when there was a breeze was so ridiculously slow that those watching her declared she was being purposely sailed out of trim.

Caterpillar in His Ear.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Sept. 9.—An immense caterpillar crawled into the right ear of Joseph King, of this city, Thursday night, and, wiggling about, set the man in agony. It required the efforts of three physicians to successfully extract the insect, which measured over an inch long.

To Investigate the Soil and Flora.

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—The government has sent Prof. Von Volkens, of the University of Berlin, to the Carolines to investigate the soil and the flora.

POWDER MILLS.

The Work on the Government Plant Near Indian Head Being Pushed.

Altogether the Group of Buildings Will Number 24 or 25. With a Capacity of 2,000 Pounds Daily—The Plant Covers a Wide Area.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The navy department expects to begin the manufacture of smokeless powder at its powder mills, a few miles back from the Potomac river, near Indian Head, within the next two or three months. Work on the mills has been pushed energetically, and at present about 1,200 men are employed. Adm. O'Neil, chief of bureau of ordnance, accompanied by Lieut. Seymour, of the bureau, inspected the work during the last week, and was much pleased at the progress made. Already about a dozen buildings are completed, the electric light plant, said to be one of the finest in the world, is installed, and the stand pipe, 120 feet high, is up. There are ten or twelve other buildings well along toward completion. Altogether the group of buildings will number 24 or 25, with a capacity of 2,000 pounds of smokeless powder daily. This daily output seems large at first thought, but one of the big 13-inch guns of the Indiana uses 1,000 pounds of powder at a single shot.

The various buildings of the powder plant cover a wide area about four miles back from the river. The general purpose has been to keep the buildings as far apart as the requirements of manufacture would permit, in order to avoid the dangers of explosions. For that reason there is no large central building, but many small ones, each having a distinct branch of the powder making. They are arranged, also, with a view to the prevailing winds, so that the risk of having the fumes of acid borne by the wind is reduced to a minimum.

One building is us d exclusively for the picking process; another for the mixing; another for the acids. In this way each stage of manufacture is detached from all the others, not only reducing the chances of accident, but also giving some security against widespread damage in case of explosion in any one stage of the process. Another precautionary measure has been the building of light "paper" walls at the ends of the buildings. These readily give to the pressure of an explosion, leaving the main walls of the structure standing, and materially reducing the loss which occurs when an explosion is closely confined.

In order to connect the many buildings and permit the powder proc ss to be carried on expeditiously, a complete trolley car service is to be in operation. This will keep the material in its various stages moving forward from building to building until completed. The electric light plant serves the three fold purpose of running the machinery, running the trolley car service from mill to mill, and supplying light for the plant.

The opening of the mills will mark a distinct departure by the government. Heretofore all the supplies of powder have been drawn from private sources. The first appropriation made by congress for a powder factory was about $200,000, but in the last naval appropriation bill $1,000,000 was given for the purchase or manufacture" of powder. This permits a part of the last appropriation to be used for the mills now in course of construction.

Can Not Accept the Sword.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 10.—Mrs. David Eichberg, of this city, who recently started a movement to raise a fund among American Jews for the purpose of presenting a handsome sword to Capt. Alfred Dreyfus, convicted for treason toward the French government, received a letter from Mme. Dreyfus in which she said the captain could not accept a sword from the American people.

Altgeld on the Trust Conference.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Ex-Gov. John P. Altgeld has returned to Gov. Tanner the commission appointing Mr. Altgeld a delegate to the trust conference to be held in Chicago September 13. As to his reasons for this step Mr. Altgeld said: "The fact is, I haven't much confidence in the proposed trust conference. It looks as if it were going to be more of a trust love feast than anything else."

The 26th Volunteers Pass Through Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The 26th United States volunteers, New England's regiment, commanded by Col. Edmund Rice, passed through Chicago Sunday night en route from Boston to San Francisco, where they will embark for the Philippines September 15.

The Situation at Key West.

KEY WEST, Fla., Sept. 11.—Twenty-three new cases of yellow fever and two deaths have been reported in the past 24 hours. The situation is still very gloomy and large numbers of people are sent to the detention camp at Dry Tortugas.

Took Everything in Sight.

COCHISE, Ariz., Sept. 11.—Express train No. 10, on the Southern Pacific, was robbed here Saturday night by four masked men, who blew the safe open and took everything in sight.

ALTGELD IN NEW YORK

Illinois Leader Talks on the Issues to Eastern Democrats.

Trusts Imperialism and Money Questions Are Foremost—Democratic Party Declared the Only Friend of Wage-Earners.

The Chicago platform democrats of New York celebrated labor day with a rousing meeting at Cooper Union, and ex-Gov. John P. Altgeld, of Illinois, was the principal speaker. The ex-governor referred to William J. Bryan as the new Jefferson of the west, and was cheered for this utterance to the echo. His speech covered all the issues of the day, but it was most warmly received for those parts which urged the reaffirmation of the Chicago platform of 1896. Resolutions were passed indorsing the Chicago platform and denouncing President McKinley's policy in the Philippines. The tenor of the meeting was decidedly against expansion. In the course of his speech Mr. Altgeld said:

"There is the great financial question, the effort on the part of the toilers and producers of America to restore one of the great money metals of the world to its position and position of power it had held for ages. By stealth and by fraud one of the money metals of the world was demonetized by governments not for the good of commerce, not by the industries and enterprises of the world, but by the strong arm of the government, wielded by chicane and the greed of the world. As the result of this act the world's volume of actual money was gradually reduced to nearly one-half, and, as the world's volume of money tends to determine the selling price of property, it follows that the property of the world, and particularly farms and farm products, fell in the selling price by nearly one-half, while the debts and fixed charges remained the same.

"And even to-day, when we are told that the farmer is prosperous, he is selling his products at just about one-half what he formerly got. This determines his purchasing power and of necessity determines his social status, by reducing his purchasing power to about one-half what it formerly was, by depriving him of his ability to buy at the factory and at the store as he formerly did, the great American market has been destroyed to a large extent and we are looking abroad in foreign lands for markets for our surplus, when we would find a greater market than we could possibly supply right at home if we would again restore the farmer's purchasing power to what it would be if the world's prices of products were fixed by a volume of money consisting of both metals, instead of being fixed by a volume of money consisting of only one metal.

The Farmers and the Trusts.

"At present the farmer has to pay trust prices—that is, prices arbitrarily made high by monopolies—for anything that he buys; but he has to sell his products not only in the open market of the world, but he has to sell them on a single gold standard value, which is about one-half as high as a bimetallic standard of value would be. This great wrong having been done to all property owners and to all laborers, by governments, must be undone by government, and, inasmuch as the powerful moneyed classes of the country are opposed to having the government right this great wrong, we must have a political party with sufficient moral courage and sufficient devotion to the cause of justice to carry out this reform without the aid of the moneyed classes.

Enthroned Dollars, Enslaved Men.

"Again, the fierce commercialism of the age, which has tended to enthrone the dollar and enslave the man, has lowered the standards and has covered the land with corruption until corrupt concentrations of money wielded by unscrupulous men have secured such complete control of the governments, national, state and municipal, that the people are almost helpless. Laws beneficial to their interests are passed through bribery, and laws necessary for their protection are kept off the statute book by bribery. The meet this new and unfortunate condition it is necessary that the people be given the power in certain emergencies to legislate direct, either by a popular vote to put specific acts upon the statute book, or to declare certain specific acts already on the statute book to be null and void. This would destroy the business of bribery, because it would render the fruits of bribery worthless. No corporation would buy a legislature or a city council if the acts of that legislature or council could be nullified by the people.

Initiative and Referendum.

"In some countries of the world they have long had a system of this kind. They call it initiative and referendum, meaning that the people shall in certain emergencies have the power to initiate legislation and shall have the power to have legislation that already exists referred to a vote of the people. This system has worked marvelously well where it has been tried, and we must have a political party in our country with sufficient patriotism to free nations and republican government to establish it here. It is not a question to speculate about. It is not a chimerical idea; it is simply a question of self-preservation.

Republican Party Sized Up.

"Again I ask you, which of the two great political parties can be depended on for a moment look at the history of the party now in power. When headed by the martyred Lincoln it stood for humanity, it stood for high ideals; in recent years it has by its acts repudiated the principles of that great man, it has swung to the opposite pole, and is the party of organized greed, organized selfishness, organized bribery, organized debauchery and organized hostility to free institutions. It has become one of the basic principles of this party to use the government, with all its power, for the enrichment of the few at the expense of the many.

"It was this party which, long after the war, built up the system of tariff robbery that proved the mother of trusts—that levied tribute on every toiler of America in order to enrich a few men who made contributions to campaign funds and, therefore, claimed the right to rob the American people; a system that built castles on the hills for the few and then covered the land with tramps. This party has, on all occasions, stood for especial privileges and it is opposed to municipal ownership of public utilities and is opposed to national ownership of transportation facilities and opposed to governmental ownership of monopolies. It favors monopolies, but insists that the benefit of the monopoly shall go to a few individuals and not to the whole people. It opposes this course because it can then draw on the favored few individuals for the fabulous sums of money with which to debauch the American voter and with which to secure false returns on election day.

Record of the Past Years.

"At the instigation of European bondholders and American Benedict Arnolds this party used the strong arm of the government to demonetise silver, and thus by one stroke doubled the labor, doubled the sweat and doubled the blood which the debtors of America had to give in payment of their debts; by one stroke spread paralysis, bankruptcy, distress and ruin over the richest land in the world. It is this party which to-day advocates the continuance of the gold standard because English capitalists benefit by it. It is this party which to-day is trying to force upon the American people an alliance with England. It is this party which insists that we shall get off the high moral plane we have occupied in international affairs and shall join hands with England and embark in a career of brute force, highway robbery and assassination.

"All this in order that a few syndicates and manipulators may wax rich. It is this party which sustains government by injunction and upholds those creatures who have been elevated to the bench by corporate influence in their attempt to strike down trial by jury and destroy the liberties of the American people.

"In 1896 this party collected a stupendous corruption fund on two continents and used it to debauch American citizens and to secure false returns from the American election. Standing as it does for everything that is destructive of republican institutions, it seeks to cover its crimes with a mantle of false pretense, and it is simply true to its corrupt nature when it indorses the course of the present administration. For while pretending and sanctioning every iniquity which syndicates imposed, this administration has stood in the market places of America and with solemn countenance made loud protestations of righteousness. No lover of progress, no friend of humanity, no devotee to free institutions, no believer in a higher destiny of man can ever with reason expect or hope for anything from the republican party as it is organized and dominated to-day.

Democratic Party's Good Work.

"What about the other great party? For the first 40 years of our history it was the party of progress, that gave to the world the highest ideals and shaped the destiny of the country. For 30 years after the war it stood for practically the same things that the republican party stood for. That is, it had become a mere convenience of political and commercial manipulators who used it to further their own ends and amass fortunes. During these 30 dark years it held out no inspiration, it pointed to no great principle, it espoused no great cause, it made no heroic fight for anything, but the Almighty has wisely provided that every lane shall have a turn, and that there shall be an end to all things.

"And there came an end to the lane of cunning, trading and trickery in which we had marched; three years ago the party came out of the lowlands and took a position on the hilltop of progress. It repudiated the men who had degraded and betrayed it; it flung new banners to the breeze; it espoused the cause of humanity and it adopted a new declaration of American independence. Standing for the noblest and highest thought of the time it has drawn to its standards the patriotic intelligence of America. A new set of men have come to the front; men who, instead of seeking only selfish ends on the low plane of brutality, stand out in the sun, ready to make every sacrifice for the welfare of the race. These men have high ideals, and the party guided by these men is capable of dealing with the great problems that confront us, is capable of leading the American people on to the great plane of industrial freedom, just as their predecessors a century ago led this republic into the plane of political freedom.

Nearing the Promised Land.

"My friends, we are not yet in the promised land! We have yet a mighty struggle before us. In fact, the great conflict is only begun. Mighty battles are yet to be fought, great sacrifices must yet be made; reverses, defeats and humiliations may yet have to be endured, but we are conscious of standing for the right, conscious of standing for a higher humanity, conscious of being in harmony with the evolution of the race, conscious of moving along the line marked out by the Almighty for the guidance of His people. And we know that the cause we represent will triumph, but until the hour of final victory we must be on our guard and we must be constantly ready for every conflict.

"Eternal vigilance must be on guard in our own party, for those interests which have dominated the party so long have not yet surrendered, but are seeking in every way possible to get control. Should they succeed it would defer the hopes of mankind and intensify the struggles of the toilers of this land; it would postpone the day of deliverance.

Opposes Any Change in Policy.

"Ever since '96 these interests have been scheming, organizing and systematically working to again get control of the machinery of the party and dominate its councils. They have talked about harmony, talked about getting the offices, talked about everything except a high idea and noble purpose or a great end. They succeeded in getting control of most of the mayors of the large American cities; they got into friendly communication with what are known as county seat politicians all over the country, who simply want office and do not care whether it is Christ or Beelzebub who is mentioned in the platform. The idea was industriously circulated that if we would take down the banner we nailed to the mast in '96, if we would abandon the principles we declared for, if we would again straddle every vital issue and fool as many people as possible, then we could get in and get offices, then we could again elevate small men to high positions.

"But they forget that we have passed the turn in the lane; they forget that the 6,500,000 men who fought with us in '96 had been taught for several years to hold their heads up and to work for a principle; that those men had been taught to be independent and to assert their manhood, and that, consequently, while they might be betrayed, they could not be delivered, and that, therefore, any scheme which contemplated the control of conventions by fraud or bribery or trickery, any scheme which contemplated changing the great platform of '96 would lose to the democratic party 50 men where it would possibly bring in one.

Standing by the Old Principles.

"It would lose the men of high purpose and strong convictions who are doing the world's work and gain a few men who represent the corrupt commercialism of the age. It would render the party incapable of any high mission in case we should succeed and they were to dominate its councils. The machinations and systematic plans to which I have referred were carried so far, the schemers were becoming so bold and the trimmers were becoming so active that about seven or eight months ago it was felt that something should be done to check their activity; felt that something should be done to serve notice on that class of politicians throughout the country that the Chicago platform democrats, who constituted the great bulwark of the party, would stand no trifling, but while they might be betrayed they could not be delivered. For if syndicates, chicanery, bribery and corrupt commercial interests must dominate the government we want the republican party to do it. It is to-day the especial mission of that party to represent those interests and the democratic party must not embark on that line of business. This country doesn't need two syndicate parties. The democratic party has an entirely different mission.

Saving the Fairness of Ohio.

"Here in this great state of New York you have formed an organization for the same purpose. And let me say that no man ever embarked on a nobler work. Recent events have indicated that the people are standing firm throughout the land, and very recent events indicate that some of the politicians have noticed this fact and are preparing to accept the situation.

"Whether the conspiracy to overthrow the Chicago platform will be abandoned, or whether it will go on, I do not know; but, my friends, we must take no chances. The people of America are with us and they are in earnest, and we must see to it that they are not betrayed. We welcome all men to the ranks who believe in the great mission of the democratic party and who are ready to help it carry out that mission.

"Let me now say in conclusion that our skies are brightening. We have not lost a single devotee, while all over the land men are rallying to our standards who fought us in '96 and who are now determined to overthrow the iniquity they helped to create. They are weary of duplicity in the white house, they see that the republic is being destroyed and they look with hope to the Jefferson of Nebraska. We live in momentous times, the people are pregnant with mighty issues. Let us stand firm, let us rise to the occasion and great will be the joy of an emancipated people."

NEWS ITEMS.

Miss Helen Gould, who was elected as national sponsor of the Spanish war veterans, accepts.

Newspapers of all nationalities in Europe fall in with the idea of boycotting the Paris exhibition.

The United States cruiser Olympia, with Adm. Dewey, sailed from Gibraltar Sunday afternoon for New York.

Friday's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $280,967,566; gold reserve, $253,055,400.

The London Daily Chronicle says that Gen. Mercier issues from the Dreyfus case as one of the blackest scoundrels in history.

Dr. George Churchill, principal of Knox academy, died at Galesburg, Ill., Sunday, aged 70 years. He had been a resident there 60 years.

The bark Kitty was lost in a typhoon in the China sea. The captain, his wife and children and eleven of the crew were drowned.

The transport Sydney is reported at Yokohama and coaling with all well on board. She carried 360 marines and 350 recruits bound for Manila.

The National Export exposition, Philadelphia, will be opened at noon on Thursday next and remain open, Sundays excepted, until November 30.

The socialist and revolutionary groups demonstrated at Havre Sunday evening against the Dreyfus verdict. The police dispersed large crowds and made 15 arrests.

The iron mining companies of the Marquette, Mich., range have announced a voluntary raise in wages of ten cents a day taking effect September 1.

The Antigo (Wis.) screen door sawmill and furniture factory has been closed by attachments of creditors. The liabilities are placed at $50,000 and assets at $35,000.

Health officer Doty, of New York, reports that all of the four patients from Key West removed to Swinburne island from the steamer Lampasas, have developed yellow fever.

One new case of the bubonic plague was officially reported at Oporto Saturday. Dr. Irving, an American physician, arrived there Sunday to study the epidemic.

Senhor Eduardo Romana, former senator for Arequipa, was Friday inaugurated as president of the Republic of Peru for the term of four years in succession of Senhor Nicholas Pierola. The city is quiet.

Mr. Quesada, the Cuban commissioner, has presented to President McKinley telegrams received from the tobacco raising interests of Cuba, protesting against the proposal to admit Porto Rican tobacco into Cuba free of duty.

At Gibraltar, Friday, Adm. Dewey inspected the United States training ships Saratoga and Alliance, and was loudly cheered when leaving the vessels. The Saratoga sailed Friday afternoon for Madeira.

The special committee to invite the governor general of Canada and the members of his cabinet to attend the fall festival at Chicago next month left Sunday for Quebec, where the presentation will be made.

On the arrival of the bark Lanarkshire at Glasgow from France Sunday, the chief mate, Chas. Black of Montreal, was arrested on a charge of shooting and killing a colored seaman named Trott after a quarrel.

President Souchon, of the state board of health, of Louisiana, has issued the following bulletin: No new cases in New Orleans. Third case improving. Dr. Gant wires that the isolation at Mississippi City is perfect.

The marine hospital service at Washington has an official dispatch from Key West giving the total of yellow fever cases reported up to date as 185, with ten deaths. The detention camp at the Dry Tortugas is now in operation, and refugees are being received and cared for there.

Frank Aldrich, of New York, deposited $500 with Bob Stockton, a prominent sporting man of Denver, Col., to back "Mysterious" Billy Smith against Bob Fitzsimmons for $5,000 a side. Fitzsimmons to name the time and other terms, and the fight to be before the club offering the largest purse.

One case of yellow fever in Jackson, Miss., was officially reported to the state board of health Sunday afternoon. The patient is D. P. Porter, city clerk. Dr. Murray, of the marine hospital service, confirms the diagnosis and his report to Surgeon General Wyman says that the case is of a very malignant type.

The London Times, speaking of the Dreyfus case, says. "We do not hesitate to pronounce it the greatest and most pailing prostitution of justice the world has witnessed in modern times. All the outrageous scandals which marked the course of the trial pale into insignificance beside the crowning scandal of the verdict."

Gen. Frank, commanding the department of the gulf, received advices Friday from the commanding officer of the garrison at Key West that the battery at that post have left on the Mallory line steamer San Marcos for New York. The removal is made on account of the prevalence of yellow fever in Key West.

The navy department received word Thursday that the new battle ship Kearsarge would be ready for her official acceptance trial about the 25th inst., and asking that a course be laid on.

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, Sept., 13, 1899.

Advertising Rates:
One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

Democratic State Ticket.

For Governor,
WILLIAM GOEBEL, of Kenton.

For Lieutenant Governor,
J. C. W. BECKHAM, of Nelson.

For Attorney General,
R. J. BRECKINRIDGE, of Boyle.

For Auditor,
G. G. COULTER, of Graves.

For Treasurer,
S. W. HAGER, of Boyd.

For Secretary of State,
C. B. HILL, of Clark.

For Supt. Public Instruction,
H. V. M'CHESNEY, of Livingston.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. B. NALL, of Jefferson.

For Railroad Commissioner,
FLETCHER DEMPSEY, of Hopkins county.—First District.

C. C. M'CHORD, of Washington county.—Second District.

A. W. HAMILTON, of Montgomery county.—Third District.

For State Senator,
Dr. J. G. FURNISH.

Neighborhood News.

Hathaway.

Farmers are busy cutting tobacco.

Robert Adams is building a new cellar.

Joe Riddell commence cutting corn last week.

The thermometer registered here 106 last Wednesday.

Several of the farmers are getting scarce of stock water.

A light rain fell here last Friday. Only enough to lay the dust.

Your writer was so interested in going, to the fair last week he forgot to send in a communication.

G. L. Smith and wife, Mrs. Cynthna Mason and your writer and wife, attended the association at Union last Saturday.

Bellevue.

Prof. Snyder began his school at Woolper school house, Monday.

Quite a number from here attended the game of ball at Burlington, last Saturday.

Al Rogers and family, of near Burlington, were visiting their parents, last Sunday.

Rev. Watkins filled his appointment at the Christian church here. last Friday and Saturday nights.

Bro. Utz's appointment at the Baptist church, Sunday, was filled by Rev. Wright, of Georgetown College.

Uncle Harvey Marshall has chosen D. M. Snyder to administer upon the personal effects of J. T. Marshall.

Orlando Snyder and family, of Petersburg, were the guests of Mrs. Mary Corbin and Prof. D. M. Snyder, Sunday.

The sudden death of our old friend J. T. Marshall, usually called "Dump" was caused by lifting a stone into a wagon on Miss Julia Dinsmore's farm, causing a hemorrhage. His death was a severe shock to the entire community where he leaves a host of friends to mourn his death.

Francesville.

We had a delightful rain last Friday night.

Very little corn is matured enough to cut yet.

Omer Henry began his school at this place, Monday.

The farmers are most through housing their tobacco.

Corn cutting and wheat sowing will soon begin in earnest.

Charles, son of Will Goodridge, while placing tobacco in the barn loft, Thursday afternoon, fell, sustaining severe injuries to his arm, breaking both bones above the wrist, but thanks to Dr. Sayer, of Hebron, he is doing very well.

We attended the North Bend Association of Baptists at Burlington, last Wednesday and Thursday. Although the heat was almost intolerable, we found the house crowded and the yard full. There was good order and attention throughout. We heard preaching both days in the Presbyterian church. The business being done in the Baptist church. We enjoyed the most bountiful hospitality, the tables each day being laden with everything good to eat, and among the other blessings there was plenty of icewater on hand. Some of the good citizens of the town opened their homes to many of their friends and entertained them most royally. Among these fortunate ones was your humble correspondent.

Hebron.

Miss Edna Bryan, of Cincinnati, is visiting friends here.

The farmers were extremely glad to see the rain, last week.

The hands on the pike have been repairing bridges for a week.

James Clayton has been in very poor health for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mannin were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cloud, Sunday.

Henry Quick and wife have gone to housekeeping in Mrs. Amanda Rouse's house.

Miss Hattie Harper spent Saturday night and Sunday as the guest of Miss Mary Riddell.

Mike Dye and family leave, this week, for Denver, Colorado, for the benefit of Mrs. Dye's health.

A large crowd attended the C. E. Social, but no program had been arranged and the visitors were somewhat disappointed.

Prof. Meeks will attempt to organize a class in vocal music at this place. He will sing at the Lutheran church Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Clore took in the Columbus, Ohio, fair, Thursday and Friday, and were in a wreck on the way coming back, but, fortunately, they escaped injury.

Rev. Watkins filled his regular appointment at the Christian church, Sunday. He made some beautiful remarks on "our conversion and how necessary it is for us to be born again through Christ.

Union.

John Cleek, of Frogtown, is on the sick list.

Prof. Collins, of Richwood, was in Union, Friday.

Uncle Frank Smith has added a veranda to his residence.

James A. Huey had more sheep killed by dogs, last week.

Edwin Gaines, the genial stock hustler, was in our town, Sunday.

Geo. Gaines, of Bullittsville, was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Crouch, Sunday.

Miss Gertrude Frazier, of Missouri, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. John Gibson.

Messrs. Moses Tanner and Ben Rouse are doing carpenter work for John Dennedy, of Richwood.

The many friends of Mrs. Martin Weaver (nee Alice Baumister) will regret to hear that her health is failing rapidly.

R. A. Riley and family returned to their home in Bracken county, Sunday, after a pleasant visit of several days at this place.

The principal of Speedwell Academy had the school under full headway, but reports have reached this office that four pupils melted and three burned up completely during the recent witch sensation.

Sunday morning's services at Sardis closed a three days meeting of Licking Association of Particular Baptists and to quote the words of an aged elder, "The meeting was a delightful feast," enjoyed by a large congregation each day.

Some funny things to see:—John Garrison ride a bicycle. Tom Burkett with 6 ft. whiskers. Theo. Green cutting a 154 lb. watermelon and weigh 304 lbs. himself. Matson Rachal smoke cigarettes, if you do. Arthur Adams mad. John Newman wearing a plug hat xmas.

The principal of "Pleasant Valley University" had to dismiss school Friday for fear the building and all therein would be consumed by the heat. Mr. Henry Barlow did not say the thermometer registered 3001 on top of the tin roof Thursday, but its likely he thought it did.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rice, of Gunpowder, have a beautiful home, also have an abundance of everything needed to make them comfortable and prosperous, so they enjoy life and make others enjoy it too. We were told time and again that nobody could beat "Daddy" Rice and wife being clever, and after working for them two weeks we believe it.

In hauling home some stove wood that was cut last fall, a Florence man found three bottles of whisky hid under the ricks, and it is supposition it was whisky stolen from a saloon last winter and hid there. Its likely there is not another rick of wood standing intact within two miles of where they were found. Mr. Bradford left them as he found them and went his way.

Col. Jno. R. Whitson, of Florence, dropped into town recently, and was asked if it was hot in his town? Yes, he said, it is hot and dry too; so hot that people build fires all around themselves to keep cool, the heat of the fires being cooler than the heat of the sun—so dry that the ground has cracked through to China and all kinds of photographs were being taken by Homer Oeismer of street scenes in Pekin and other cities of that country.

Owen Utz requests the Recorder to make this statement for him: I, Owen B. Utz being of lawful age and 6 feet 2, declare that at no time was my presence needed at the Florence fair recently, for "quarterly" purposes or any other purposes, and if it had been needed there my tobacco patch needed it worse and prevented my going. I further state that the Walton cor. was mislead as to names and belched forth his bad grammar and firery invective in vain."

Walton.

Miss Pitton, of Clifton Heights, is being entertained by Miss Lora Diers.

Miss Ada Lermond paid a Sunday visit to her friend, Miss Lyda Percival.

Miss Effie Lermond commenced teaching at the Jones school house in Kenton, on Monday.

Mr. Fred Shafer has followed the example loug ago set by Mr. Jacob Kipp, and has cleaned the street in front of his lot very nicely.

Mrs. J. T. Boulton, little daughter and Miss Josie D. Hastings, of Covington, are the guests of Mrs. Ruth A. Hiud, the mother of Mrs. Boulton.

Hugh Roberts, whose horse and buggy were stolen on the night of August 30th, received word from the Sheriff of Trimble county that he had arrested the man with the horse and buggy.

Miss Virginia Warrington, a representative of one of the oldest families in Covington, and Miss Etta Schultz, were the delighted guests of Misses Ethel Waltz and Miss Cordelia Walsh last week.

The surprise party to Miss Virginia Sawyer was overlooked entirely last week, and it was one of the most pleasant gatherings the young folks have had for a long time. They jollited to their hearts content. Clara Diers, Estella Booth, Katie Grubbs, Amanda and Leele Ellis and Hattie Vest, were the young ladies present, while the youths were Thos. Stevens, Harry Diers, Raymond Byland, Virgil Ryder, Ewell Murphy, Watson Dyas, John Ingram and George Grubbs. They enjoyed themselves as only youngsters can,

It is well enough for a man to endeavor to be conspicuous and to become so, but there is danger unless he adheres to a correct course of conduct that he may fall and become simply notorious, and such appears to have been the fate of D. T. Haley, who, in his aim to attain prominence among his fellow citizens attached himself to the fortunes of the pulssant Col. Albert S. Berry, who was notorious at the time of the Chicago Presidential convention, as occupying a position astride of the high fence separating the gold and silver question. The Colonel being very tall could, as it were, see all over the ground and noting the great majority of silverites in the convention forthwith gave in his adherence to their view of the question. Haley in a recent interview with a newspaper man made some statements and predictions that will need some investigation. In the first place he has himself designated as "store keeper" Haley. He thought plain Mister might do for a man like Theodore Hallam, but did not seem consequential enough for a man of his standing, for, although, he was the tail, as it were, of the Democratic party, a title of some kind would sound respectable to people who did not know him, even if it made him ridiculous in the eyes of those who did. In the next place he stated there was great disaffection about Walton and that the majority for Goebel would fall off at least 500 votes. There are not 500 in the district. When it is remembered that Haley told Wat Hardin that his majority would be as three to one in this precinct when it was actually two to one against him, he attained notoriety; when he told Campbell the majority would fall off 500 he was aiming at still greater notoriety. When he tells people he will vote for Goebel and shows his button, they know almost to a certainty that he will not do such is the estimation folks have for his assertions.

Gunpowder.

Henry Quick and wife were guests of J. H. Tanner, last Sunday.

The tobacco crop is nearly all cut and in the house in good condition.

Uncle Gus Rouse, of Milan, Ind., was visiting relatives here last week.

J. C. Hankins attended the Ohio State Fair, last Wednesday and Thursday.

J. S. Rouse has been on the sick list for several days, but was able to attend church Sunday.

L. H. Busby has begun work on his new shop, and expects to occupy it before the zero weather sets in.

Last Wednesday was the hottest day of the season. The thermometer registered 102 at several different points.

A large crowd attended the Baptist Association last Saturday and Sunday. Quite a number from a distance were present.

As previously announced, the meetings at Hopeful began last Saturday night, and will continue throughout the week.

Miss Maggie Youell, of near Point Pleasant, while stopping with Miss Cordie Rouse, last Saturday night, became seriously sick, and it will probably be several days before she will be able to return to her home.

The death angel has visited our community again, and taken from our midst our friend and neighbor, Early Rouse. The end came at an early hour last Sunday morning. The funeral services were conducted at his home on Monday the 12th inst by Rev. Adams. He leaves a wife, one son and one daughter to mourn his untimely death.

Richwood.

Miss Neida Dickey is visiting in Covington.

Mr. James Taylor, of Walnut Hills, spent a few days during the fair at Mr. Samuel Taylor's.

Mrs. Willie Bedinger has returned from a visit to Ohio. All her friends are glad to see her home again.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Frost have returned to their home in Venice, Ohio, after a short visit at the home of Mr. Dan Bedinger.

Rev. W. T. Spears spent his vacation in Union and Richwood, visiting his old friends, among whom he labored for so long.

Mrs. Clark from Augusta and Misses Janie and Bessie Clark Brauner from Griffin, Ga., have returned to their homes after a visit to Rev. W. H. Davis and family.

The home of Mr. Feldlug Dickey, jr., was destroyed by fire on Saturday afternoon Sept. 2nd. He has the sympathy of all his friends on account of the loss of the old home place.

On Tuesday the 5th, Mr. Will Wolfe picked up a shawl and cape between Wolfe's blacksmith shop and the Richwood church. The lost articles will be returned to anyone who will call and describe them.

James Dobyns is slowly improving.

Ela Rogau had his hand badly torn by a gun exploding.

Miss Ida Grubbs returned, Sunday, from Hamilton, Ohio.

Miss Emma Harvey, of Williamstown, is visiting her mother.

Mr. W. H. Young, of Cincinnati, was visiting friends here Monday.

Miss Lillie Hammond is attending Prof. Myers' school at Walton.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grubbs and little son spent Sunday in Union.

Many people complimented Mrs. John Dendee's premium cake very highly.

Mr. Ollie Dixon left, Thursday, for Hot Spring, for the benefit of his health.

Mrs. Lewis Rice is entertaining her father, and Rev. Moore and wife, of Georgetown.

Many people, who attend the Hamilton fair will take advantage of the beautiful street car ride from Cincinnati. After leaving the College Hill car it only takes 50 minutes to reach the Court House, where you can get a car direct to the fair grounds.

Florence

The public school opened here Monday with 68 pupils enrolled.

Hon. D. E. Castleman, of Burlington, passed through our town, Monday.

Mrs. C. T. Moffett spent Saturday and Sunday with the doctor's parents near Independence.

R. P. Rice, the bustling Deering machine man, left here Monday for Owenton in the interest of that company.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Conner, of Burlington, spent Sunday here the guests of Mrs. Conner's mother, Mrs. Mary Latham.

Mike Cahill is willing to place $10 to $5 on Goebel as our next Governor. We believe as Mike does, but have no money to bet.

Mrs. Katie Souther, who has been spending the heated term with her relatives here, returned to her home in Cincinnati, Tuesday.

Scott Smith, who has been clerking for J. R. Rouse for several months will leave in a few days to attend college. He has many friends here who will regret to see him leave. He is a young man of sterling qualities, and will succeed wherever he may go.

Miss Julia Offutt, who had been visiting here returned to her home in Georgetown Sunday. Ben Osborn accompanied her home. Misses Lena, Katie and Mable Offutt are still here looking after their interest in the estate of Mrs. Angeline Osborn.

Constance.

F. Prable is building an addition to his house.

Louis Teeter had a watch stolen from him last week.

Jeff McNeal, of Ludlow, was in town one day last week.

The Fairview Sunday-school outing was a grand affair.

Robt. McGowen closed a good meeting at Taylorsport, Sunday night.

Ed Otter, aged 19, of Cincinnati, was drowned at this place. His body was caught at North Bend.

Capt. C. Kotmyer expects to build a new ferry boat soon. It will be the handsomest ferry afloat.

The public school commenced this week with a large attendance, with Miss Lulu Souther as teacher.

John Anderson was followed by two fellows from Ludlow to Bromley. He thinks they wanted to rob him.

H. C. McNeal's oldest daughter died last Wednesday of heart failure. Her remains were buried at Florence Thursday at 2 p. m.

Corn cutting is the go now.

Marce Riddell, of Burlington, was in town Sunday.

It was 106 in the shade at Bruce Anderson's, last Tuesday.

Henry Klassner entertained a crowd of city friends, Sunday.

Mrs. Mollie Anderson visited relatives near Hebron, Sunday.

Miss Minnie Oten spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Masters.

The ferry boat was laid up a half day last week, on account of a hole in the boiler.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Reeves spent Sunday with Mr. Harvey McGlasson, near Taylorsport.

The rails for the new street car line have arrived and work on the line is being pushed rapidly.

Miss Louisa Zimmer returned home after a two weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. Anna Richmond, at Blue, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Getker, Mr. and Mrs. Price, and Wm. Anderson spent Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. Eck Anderson.

Taylorsport.

Wednesday last was a scorcher.

J. H. Eddins had two cows to founder on apples.

Ed Mathews will teach the public school at this place.

James Dye has gone to Coal City, O., a clerk in Brack Whitlock's store.

Mr. Ralph Seabat, of Clifton, Ohio, spent Friday night with your scribe.

Pastures are drying up for the want of rain and stock water is getting scarce.

Perry Aylor and family, of Hebron, spent the day Sunday with Tom Clore and wife.

Miss Grace Barr, of Ludlow, has been spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Pickleheimer.

Mrs. Eva Williams and children, of Riverside, O., were visiting her brother, Wm. Wilson, last week.

Mrs. W. B. Grubbs has made quite an improvement by laying asphalt pavements around her house.

Mr. A. D. Sullivan, of Covington, will speak at the C. E. Meeting at Pt. Pleasant church next Sunday.

A small acreage of wheat will be sown this fall. Cutting corn and tobacco and digging potatoes are in order now.

Some of our Republican friends are attacking our party principles, which we as Democrats, advocate; saying that we had not had the regular nominees for Justice of the Peace in the 6th district. The case in reference was McNeal and Walton. Now, as there was no primary for said office the Democratic Committee, through the county paper, notified all persons wishing their names printed on the ballots to send $1 for printing. McNeal did so and at the regular election the voters preferred Walton and voted for him and he was duly elected.

Erlanger.

The Erlanger ball club defeated the Elsmeres by a score of 19 to 3.

There will be no school taxes in the Erlanger district this year to pay.

Geo. Abernathy, the pioneer of Erlanger Road, died Sunday afternoon. He was highly respected by all citizens.

Our colored citizens are wearing Goebie buttons and are going to vote for him. I have seen but one Brown man in this place.

St. Henry's congregation met at the K. of P. Hall, Sunday, and by a majority vote decided to rebuild their church. It will be built near the center of the parish, on the Lexington pike and Garvey aveuue.

Hume Store.

Water is getting very scarce.

Uncle Mike Lauler is very poorly.

Miss Mary West has been very sick of flux, but she is now some better.

Died.—Friday, Sept. 9, little Anna Dempsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patty Dempsey.

Miss Nell Hume, of Berkshire, was the pleasant guest of Mary Houston, one night last week.

Mr. Omer Macrander and Miss Pearl Phillippe, of Gunpowder, were visiting relatives at this place Sunday.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

In your paper dated Sept. 6th, under the head of Walton news, I am accused of having held up one Mr. Crowe at the Boone County Fair on Saturday. I was not at the fair this year and there must be some mistake, and if your Walton correspondent will give credit where it is due and he will oblige,

Yours truly, OWEN B. UTZ.

For Rent or Sale.

My farm of 118 acres of well watered, well fenced, good cultivating land. Large dwelling, tenement house and good tobacco barn on place. Seventy-five acres can be sown in wheat in the fall; 12 acres of uncleared woodland. Farm situated on L. & N. Railroad, 1½ miles from Verona, Boone county, Ky. For terms address,

Mrs J. T. BROCK,
416 E. Main St., Lexington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,

Grocers, Commission and SEED Merchants.

Tested Field and Garden Seeds.

Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.

Largest and Best Stock of

GROCERIES IN THE CITY.

Sole Agents for the Celebrated

RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.

When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.

27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone 4055.) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street,

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

JOHN ALLISON,

UNDER-TAKER  EMBALMER,

—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,—

COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.

INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

Order Fall Suits NOW

H. F. BLASE.

And we will make them up artistically and ready for you promptly on time. We have

Over Five Hundred Styles

Of Fall and Winter Woolens to Select from. They come direct from the looms of foreign and domestic manufacturers, and surpass in elegance and variety anything ever shown in Covington. In the assortment are many exclusive patterns—goods that cannot be duplicated by any other establishment in this city. Keep these facts in mind and place your order for a stylish suit with us. We promise you a faultless fit, the proper cut, and a price that will not be more than you can afford to pay.

H. F. BLASE,

535 Madison Avenue,

COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY

A Word to the Public

MY STOCK OF

Dry Goods, Notions,

AND LADIES' AND GENTS'

TOILET ARTICLES

for the Spring Trade has been received, and to be appreciated must be seen. Fresh

DRUGS AND GROCERIES

received daily. A large stock of

PAINTS & OILS

on hand at all times. All Goods New and Clean, and are sold at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.

—GIVE ME A CALL—

J. G. OELSNER, Florence, Ky.

?Are You Ready to Buy?

CLOTHING?

If you want WELL MADE, PERFECT FITTING CLOTHING At Rock Bottom Prices, we've got them. You wont be satisfied unless you see our line.

All Neat, New Patterns.
No Shop Worn Goods.

Men's Pants from $1.00 up.
Men's Suits from $2.50 up.
Children's Suits from $1.00 up.

Satisfaction Guaranteed or Money Refunded.

ROLFES & WACHS, No. 1 Pike Street, Cor. Madison Ave.

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

Local News.

For sale by F. P. Bruce, second-hand piano.

Vess W. Gaines has 85 good stock ewes for sale.

Assessor Willis will begin his annual rounds Friday.

Some hogs in the north part of the county have cholera.

Fine rains visited the Petersburg neighborhood, last week.

The continued dry weather has delayed plowing for wheat.

A large number of city wheelmen dined at W. E. Vest's, Sunday.

Jack Sandford has a fresh cow and calf, and 7 65-pound hogs for sale.

Born, on the 4th inst., to Ben Hewitt and wife, an 8½ pound son.

Wib Conner and Miss Anna Huuley, were married, one day last week.

A very great change in the temperature from what it was at this time last week.

Eli Tanner, of the Hopeful neighborhood, is building Miss Bettie Acra's house.

The Kentucky banana crop is now ripe and 'possums will soon be fat enough to eat.

The time of holding the North Bend Association of Baptists, has been changed to October.

For sale—Fine thoroughbred Thinrind boar, 18 months old.
J. F. BLYTH, Burling ton

The sheriff reports his collections of taxes for this year as behind the collections at this time last year.

The weather this week has been very fine for the tobacco harvest. Last week was entirely too hot for safe handling of tobacco.

Farmers! buy The J. & F. Schroths & Co., special Wheat Grower, only $20 per ton. B. F. Zimmer, agent, Constance, Ky.

The association was attended by a very large crowd each day last week, some estimating the crowd on Thursday at 800.

Tony Beutler kept the dust on the streets down during the association, but he had to keep his sprinkling wagon on the move all the time.

Baby, Nellie Bryan Terrill, daughter of Lewis R Terrill, was one of the prize winners at the Lawrenceburg fair. She is 11 months old and a little beauty.

The Stephen boys, of the Utzinger neighborhood, had to kill a $200 mare, one day last week. Her leg had been broken by a kick from her mate.

The board of County Election Commissioners will meet at the Court house in Burlington, at 9 a. m., on the 30th inst., to appoint officers of election for the county.

That there should be a bell in the belfry at the public school house, no one will deny, but the question is, how much will you contribute towards purchasing a bell?

Rev. Frank Williams is assisting Rev. Hoover in the protracted meeting that began at the church here Sunday evening. Rev. Williams is one of the best pulpit orators in this Sate.

Will Slayback, who raised a crop of tobacco on Bert Gaine's farm, was in town, one day last week, and while speaking of his very fine crop, said he had about 900 sticks that would do to strip.

After a high wind, Friday afternoon, the clouds began to thicken in the west and that night a much needed shower came, and by Saturday morning vegetation appeared to have taken on new life.

NOTICE.—I hereby notify the public that my wife Catherine, has left m bed and board, aud that I will not be responsible for any debts she may contract. ADAM BAURER.
Aug. 16t, 1899.

John Rowland's barn, in the Locust Grove neighborhood, was burned one night last week. It was full of tobacco. The fire was the work of an incendiary. The loss falls quite heavily on Mr. Rowland, as there was no insurance.

Mrs. Kirtley and daughter began teaching the Burlington public school, Monday. The compulsory educational law requires every child between 6 and 14 to attend at least 8 weeks of the public school, and the trustees expect that law to be compiled with.

NOTICE.—I have never authorized any person to sign my name to a receipt, or note, or a paper of any kind, and any person siguing my name will be punished to the full extent of the law, by me, for forgery.
JOHN S. MASON, Hathaway, Ky.

O. E. Rouse, one of the old and respected citizens of the Gunpowder neighborhood, departed this life, last Sunday morning at seven o'clock. The funeral occurred at his residence, Monday afternoon, in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends.

After having preached at Big Bone, last Sunday, Rev. J. A. Kirtley was taken very sick on the road from the church and getting out of his buggy became unconscious and his horse went on. Geo. Smith caught his horse, and putting Mr. Kirtley in his buggy took him home with him, and by Monday he was sufficiently recovered to go home.

Last Monday in the County Court John Hofmaun, an old and most highly respected citizen of the Florence neighborhood, was adjudged incapable of attending to his business, and F. A. Utz was appointed a committee for him. Mr. Hoffman is about 83 years old, and owns considerable property. Many years ago he was prominent in politics in this county.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dills is visiting H. W. Blyth and wife.

F. P. Walton and wife, of Utzinger, attended church here Sunday.

Miss Bettie Acra will build a house on Jefferson street, in the near future.

Miss Katie Smith will begin teaching at the Rucker school house next Monday.

Geo. Ossman, of Beaver, was physically disabled the last day of the association.

Joseph Rice, son of Joshua Rice, of Missouri, is visiting his relatives in this county.

R. R. Revill and wife, of Covington, are here with their relatives for a visit of a few weeks.

Miss Naunie Kyle and Mrs. Sarah Dempsey, of Kenton county, are visiting friends in Burlington.

James Hogan and family have moved to Riverside, Ohio. We are sorry to lose as good citizens as they.

Mrs. Merit, of Indiana, was the guest of her neice, Mrs. G. G. Hughes, at this place, several days last week.

Walter Lassing, of Union, left Monday, for Richmond, Madison county, where he will enter college.

A. B. Rouse is running the Boone County Deposit Bank while Cashier Revill is absent in Virginia

Chas Scothorn, of the north part of the county, was in town Monday. He was driving a handsome turnout.

Elmer Beall and J. M. Eddins were in Petersburg, Saturday, the former being on a tax-collecting expedition.

Mrs. R. P. Berkshire and little grandson, of Rabbit Hash, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. White, last week.

James Mitchell was in town Monday. He looked very frail and feeble, but says he is gaining strength every day.

Herman Carpenter and wife, of Gallatin county, were visiting friends in this county and attending the association, last week.

Mrs. Kate Ashburn, after a visit of two weeks with her sisters at this place, returned to her home at Mt. Adams, Ohio, Tuesday.

Milton Goodridge, of Oldham county, returned home last Saturday, after having spent several days with his brothers at Florence

J. M. Lassing and his father, Dr. H. C. Lassing, of Union, went to Nashville, last Thursday, to visit H. C. Lassing, jr., who was quite sick.

Our young friend, Edwin Gaines, is putting on considerable style behind that double team of bay steppers over which he now holds the ribbons.

Ed and L. W. Webb, returned to their home, Home City, Ohio, Monday, after a week's sojourn in Burlington. They each felt very much improved in health.

This office has been notified to change Prof. Henry Newton's paper to Crittenden, Grant county, where he and one of his daughters are teaching school.

W. P. Campbell, representative of the Kentucky Post, was in town last Friday afternoon, seeking information in regard to the political situation in this county.

J. C. Revill left, last Saturday, for Lithia Springs, Virginia, where he will remain a few weeks, hoping that the water of these celebrated springs will improve his health.

Price Neal, of Grant county, is visiting his brother aud sister near here. He says they have a very poor corn crop in his county, and that everything has dried up entirely.

What the Bellevue base ball team did for the Burlington aggregation, last Saturday afternoon, was a plenty. The Bellevue boys came up determined to win, and at no time did the Burlington boys get into the game anything like they are capable of doing, the score closing 12 to 4 in favor of the visitors. Baker and Johnson, of the Aurora team was the Bellevue battery. These two clubs will play again next Saturday week at Bellevue, and as each has won a game, the next contest will be a warm one, as the series is for the championship of the county.

The stockholders of the North Kentucky Agricultural Association met on their grounds, last Wednesday, to hold their annual election of officers, and receive the report of the Secretary and Treasurer. Of the stock 189 shares were represented. The report of the Association to be in good condition financially. Friday and Saturday of the last fair were big days and put the balance on the proper side of the ledger. The old board was reelected except T. A. Bird, who declined to serve longer as a director. W. P. Carpenter was elected in his place.

By order of the Democratic campaign committee, appointments for speaking in the several precincts of the county will soon appear. Hand bills announcing the dates and speakers can be sent the committeemen of the respective precincts, and they will please give general notice. Any committeemen desiring any special dates for their precinct, can confer with the chairman, and have dates arranged to meet their desires. Speakers can be supplied for any time or occasion.

The following is the county campaign committee: Bullittsville—C. W. Riley, John Stephens; Petersburg—M. F. Wingate, Hank Hoffman; Bellevue—Caddy Maurer, Dr. Williamson; Hamilton—R. Lee Huey, Douglas Moore; Beaver—G. E. Carroll, Omer Cleek; Verona—Geo. W. Roberts, C. W. Waller; Walton—J. C. Byland, S. C. Johnson; Union—L. B. Dickerson, L. H. Voshell; Florence—Ben Stephens, Dr. Dulaney; Constance—John Cloud, Walter Gordon; Rabbit Hash—E. L. Stephens, Robt. Wilson; Burlington—J. G. Furnish, C. C. Roberts.

J. G. FURNISH,
Chairman Campaign Committee.

John T. Marshall did not die at Mr. Lawell's as stated last week. He died at C. H. Acra's. Dr. Williamson says he died from the effects of heat.

The leaves have begun falling from the trees.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.

DOLLARS DO DOUBLE DUTY HERE.

Standard Granulated Sugar, 18 lbs. $1 00.
Arbuckle Coffee 10 cents per lb.
Daniel Boone Soap, 3 bars for 5 cents.
Pittsburg Wire less than city prices.
Lime, Cement, White Lead, Oils, Varnishes, etc., as cheap as in the city.

Baby Shoes for 10c per pair up.
Misses' Shoes for 50c per pair up.
A full line of Men's, Ladie's and Children's Tan Shoes—Latest Styles, Best Quality, Lowest Prices.
Men's Dress Pants, 75c per pair.
Wonder Overalls, Shirts and Pants, the best made.

COME at ONCE. THESE PRICES are ONLY While Present Stock Lasts.

UNION, KENTUCKY. UNION, KENTUCKY.

McALPIN & BLANTON,

Successors to RIGGS BROS.

Undertakers —AND— Embalmers,

LIVERY, BOARDING & FEED STABLES.

Special Rates to Traveling Men. Pianos, Organs and Furniture Carefully Removed. First-class Carriages for hire with careful drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, etc.

LEXINGTON PIKE, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

J. M. EDDINS, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

The North Bend Association of Baptists met with the Burlington church, Sept. 6th and 7th. It was the Ninety-seventh annual session of the body and to the credit of all who participated in the association it was a most delightful meeting. Elders S. F. Swindler, James A. Kirtley and D. E. Castleman, Esq., were unanimously chosen Moderator, Assistant Moderator and Clerk, respectively.

Elder Swindler preached the introductory sermon on Missions. The sermon was strong and well delivered. The speaker dwelt at some length upon District Missions.

The following visitors in attendance were recoguized by the Moderator and invited to seats with the body: Elders W. P. Harvey, of the Western Recorder; A. J. Ramsey, of Dayton; W. J. Bliin, of Cincnnati; Geo. Hill, of Williamstown; Elmer Atwood, of Georgetown; O. M. Huey, of Carrollton, and Geo. H. Cox, Esq., of Davis County Association, representing Ministerial Aid Society.

The letters from the various churches showed advancement along all lines of Christian work.

Able speeches were made upon the reports on State, Home and Foreign Missions by Elders S. M. Burgess, A. J. Ramsey and W. P. Harvey.

The 1900 movement in Missions was considered and a committee of five with J. A. Lee as chairman, was appointed to labor with a like committee appointed by the General Association of Baptists. This movement has two objects in view, to interest the members of our churches in missionary work and to raise an increased amount of 25 per cent. for missions. Geo. H. Cox, Esq., represented the Minister's Aid Society and took up a collection of $17 for that object. He also secured pledges from nearly all the churches for the same object.

A collection of $36 74 was taken for the Orphans' Home. The pledges for this object were larger than last year—Beaver headed the list with a piedge of $40.

The usual temperance resolutions were passed.

Bank Lick was selected as the place for holding the next session. Tuesday after the first Sunday in October to be the time, and Eld. S. M. Adams to preach the introductory sermon. Eld. M. J. Hoover was chosen delegate to the Southern Baptist Convention that meets at Little Rock, Ark., next May.

The overflow meetings were held in the Presbyterian church, where excellent sermons were preached by Elders O. M. Huey, Geo. W. Hill aud A. J. Ramsey.

The Burlington church extends thanks to the town aud vicinity for the help and favors shown them in meeting the wauts of the Association.

Wooddie Sullivan, 18, son of Woodford Sullivau, and Mamie Porter, 15, daughter of A. C. Porter, eloped to Lawrenceburg, last Wednesday afternoon, and were married. They were attending the association here that day, and had been gone about two hours before the bride's father knew anything about their leaving. He undertook to head off the weddiug by telephone but was too late.

Z. T. Baker and Charles Stevenson, of Big Bone, dug up some very large teeth, last week, that belonged to some prehistoric animal. Deputy Sheriff Allphin, who saw the teeth, says they are as fine specimens as have been exhumed at that celebrated bone-yard. It has been some time since an extensive search for bone has been made at Big Bone.

Misses Anna and Lucy Botts formerly of Boone county, who have been in the dress-making business in Louisville for the past six years, having moved to Rising Sun, Indiana, will continue in the same business and will be pleased to have the patronage of their Kentucky friends.

C. L. Crisler says he cannot locate that hotel sign which P. T. Fall claims to have painted for him some time since. Where is the much needed and greatly desired sign, Phillip?

Col. Wm. Ackmyer, of Bullittsville, was in town this morning. He says he has been under the weather for quite a while.

Doll Walton, of Bellevue, went to market with a drove of cattle, yesterday. The dry weather hurried them off.

Cool, dry and dusty.

To the Rev. G. W. Watkins:

Dear Bro.—Since you state in your last communication that you have nothing further to propose in reference to the debate, I thus address you this open letter that the public may know how the matter stands. In behalf of the pastors of North Bend Association, whose utterances you called in question, in this paper, I submit the following propositions:

1. Baptist churches, to one of which I am attached as a member, are scriptural in origin, history, doctrine and practice.

Baptists affirm and Disciples deny.

2. The "Christian" church to which I am attached as a member, is scriptural in origin, history, doctrine and practice.

Disciples affirm and Baptists deny.

Will you deny the first proposition? If not, you concede all that we claim. Will you affirm the second? If not you acknowledge that the "Christian" church is unscriptural.

We are ready to affirm the first and deny the second. I accept the proposition submitted by you on the origin, doctrine and practices of the churches, and all other points of differences that you may desire to discuss under the general heading of the above propositions. You will remember you said that my propositions were fair, and that you would accept them if this discussion were between you and me.

Now, if you want a discussion of all the many points of differences between us, accept the propositions.

As to the place, I prefer Florence, as each of our denominations is represented there, and because of it being accessible to all our brethren. But we are willing to make the concession of allowing you to name the place.

I have secured Elder J. N. Hall as our representative, and he is anxiously awaiting your decision. T. L Utz.

Limaburg.

Farmers are busy cutting corn.

The crop of tobacco is nearly all in the house.

Jacob Rouse had a $40 cow to die the other day.

The thermometer registered 102 here on the 7th.

Rev. Lentz is conducting a protracted meeting at Hopeful.

Henry Quick is putting an additiou to Jerry Beemon's barn.

Sam Cummins and wife are visiting Sam's father in Lincoln county.

Henry Clore bought of Noah Clore his farm near Hopeful church, and he will move to it next spring. This community will be sorry to lose Henry and his wife.

Harvey Baker, son of Geo. W. Baker, after a lingering illness with that dreadful disease, consumption, died on the 10th inst. at 12:30 p. m., aged 25 years and 7 months. His funeral and burial occurred at Hebron yesterday. Harvey was a bright young man and a close student, and was preparing himself for the law, when stricken with the disease that carried him off. All who knew him were his friends. His bereaved father and mother, and sister and brother have the sympathy of the entire community.

Utzinger.

Dr. A. P. Walton spent Thursday at home.

Tobacco cutting has been pushed rapidly and is nearly done.

There are very few Brown men around here—all for Goebel.

Mrs. Sublett, of Versailles, Ky., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Gaines.

Miss Eunie, daughter of T. G. Willis, has gone to Lexington to attend school.

The rain, Friday night, was a blessing to all and especially to those who were scarce of water.

Mrs. Dr. Roseboom, of Chillicothe, O., and Miss Genie Berkshire, were visiting in this neighborhood Friday.

Earl Walton, late of Brookiyn, N. Y. made a flying visit here Saturday. The boys look for a very hard winter and are returning home in good time.

Elmo Gaines, the popular and efficient deputy assessor, is housing the finest crop of tobacco in this neighborhood. He deserves his share of praise for the industry he has shown.

W. D Cropper sold to C. W. Riley, last week, a corn harvester which is said to do fine work. It cuts the corn and binds it in small bundles so that it can be easily shucked without untieing. Cropper, Gaines & Co., do a good business in farm machinery.

It has been nearly cool enough for frost, one or two mornings this week.

When in Burlington Call on

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS

Notions, Boots and Shoes,

Who has just received his stock of

SPRING & SUMMER SHOES,

the nicest stock ever in town. Have old stock which

I AM SELLING AT GENUINE BARGAINS.

NICE LINE WALL PAPER,

At Prices to Suit the times.

DEERING - MACHINES

Are the favorites in every land where grass and grain grow. They are adopted to all conditions. They are the "Acme" of strength, durability, simplicity and light draft. We will carry a full line of Repairs. Buy the Machine that is fully guaranteed and handy to obtain repairs for.

Also remember we are headquarters for all kinds of

Farm Machinery

At bottom prices. We handle nothing but the best and fully guarantee all.

Also the Largest and Cheapest

Stock of Shoes

In the county, and a full line of

General -- Merchandise.

—CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.—

COME AND SEE.

T. J. HUGHES,

BEAVER LICK, KY.

GO TO

C. T. DAVIS & CO., HEBRON AND CONSTANCE, General Merchants,

A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.

Undertaking Given Special Attention,

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron. C. T. DAVIS & CO. Constance

W. H. HOSHAL & COMPANY,

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

Cattle, Hogs and Sheep,

—UNION STOCK YARDS,—

Cincinnati, - Ohio.

—TELEPHONE 7346.—

Information Regarding Live Stock Cheerfully Furnished.

Consign Your Stock Direct to Us.

LUMBER!

LATHS,
SHINGLES,
DOORS,
BLINDS,
SASH.

If you want any kind of Lumber it will be to your advantage to visit our yard at Lawrenceburg, Indiana, before buying. Prices to Suit the Times.

M. E. LEMING & CO.

A WORK FOR WOMEN.

Dr. Talmage's Stirring Sermon on "The Queens of Home."

Heroines of the Fireside and the Battlefield — Ministering Angels—What Her Chief Desire Should Be.

[Copyright, Louis Klopsch, 1899.]

In this discourse the opportunities of usefulness for women are set forth by Dr. Talmage, and many sympathies are stirred and memories recalled. The text is Solomon's Song 6, 8: "There are threescore queens."

As Solomon, by one stroke, set forth the imperial character of a true Christian woman. She is not a slave, not a hireling, not a subordinate, but a queen. In a former sermon I showed you that crown and courtly attendants and imperial wardrobe were not necessary to make a queen, but that graces of the heart and life will give coronation to any woman. I showed you at once at some length that woman's position was higher in the world than man's, and that although she had often been denied the right of suffrage, she always did vote, and always would vote by her influence, and that her chief desire ought to be that she should have grace rightly to rule in the dominion which she has already won. I began an enumeration of some of her rights, and now I resume the subject.

In the first place woman has the special and the superlative right of blessing and comforting the sick. What kind, what street, what house, has not felt the smitings of disease? Tens of thousands of sickbeds! What shall we do with them? Shall man, with his rough hand and clumsy foot, go stumbling around the sickroom, trying to soothe the distracted nerves and alleviate the pains of the distressed patient? The young man at college may scoff at the idea of being under maternal influences, but at the first blast of typhoid fever on his cheek he says: "Where is mother?" Walter Scott wrote partly in satire and partly in compliment:

Oh, woman, in our hours of ease,
Uncertain, coy and hard to please,
When pain and anguish wring the brow,
A ministering angel thou!

I think the most pathetic passage in all the Bible is the description of the lad who went out to the harvest field of Shunem and got sunstruck—pressing his hands on his temples and crying out: "Oh, my head! My head!" And they said: "Carry him to his mother." And then the record is: "He sat on her knees till noon and then died."

It is an awful thing to be ill away from home in a strange hotel, once in awhile men coming in to look at you, holding their hand over their mouth for fear they will catch the contagion. How roughly they turn you in bed. How loudly they talk. How you long for the ministries of home. I know one such who went away from one of the brightest homes for several weeks' business absence at the west. A telegram came at midnight that he was on his deathbed far away from home. By express train the wife and daughters came westward, but they went too late. He feared not to die, but he was in an agony to live until his family got there. He tried to bribe the doctor to make him live a little while longer. He said: "I am willing to die, but not alone." But the pulses fluttered, the eyes closed, and the heart stopped. The express trains met in the midnight, wife and daughters going westward, lifeless remains of husband and father coming eastward. Oh, it was a sad, pitiful, overwhelming spectacle! When we are sick, we want to be sick at home. When the time comes to die, we want to die at home. The room may be very humble, and the faces that look into ours may be very plain, but who cares for that? Loving hands to bathe the temples. Loving voices to speak good cheer. Loving lips to read the comforting promises of Jesus.

In our civil war men cast the cannon, men fashioned musketry, men cried to the hosts: "Forward, march!" men hurled their battalions on the sharp edges of the enemy, crying: "Charge, charge!" But woman scraped the lint, woman administered the cordials, woman watched the dying couch, woman wrote the last message to the home circle, woman wept at the solitary burial, attended by herself and four men with a spade. We greeted the generals home with brass bands and triumphal arches and wild huzzas; but the story is too good to be written anywhere, save in the chronicles of Heaven, of Mrs. Brady, who came down among the sick in the swamps of the Chickahominy; of Annie Ross in the cooper shop hospital; of Margaret Breckinridge, who came to men who had been for weeks with their wounds undressed, some of them frozen to the ground, and when she turned them over those that had an arm left waved it and filled the air with their "hurrah!" of Mrs. Hodge, who came from Chicago with blankets and with pillows until the men shouted: "Three cheers for the Christian commission! God bless the women at home;" then sitting down to take the last message: "Tell my wife not to fret about me, but to meet me in Heaven; tell her to train up the boys whom we have loved so well; tell her we shall meet again in the good land; tell her to bear my loss like the Christian wife of a Christian soldier;" and of Mrs. Shelton, into whose face the convalescent soldier looked and said: "Your grapes and cologne cured me."

And so it was also through all of our war with Spain—women heroic on the field, braving death and wounds to reach the fallen, watching by their fever cots in the West Indian hospitals or on the troopships or in our smitten home camps. Men did their work with shot and shell and carbine and howitzer; women did their work with socks and slippers and bandages and warm drinks and Scripture texts and gentle strokings of the hot temples and stories of that land where they never have any pain. Men knelt down over the wounded and said: "On which side did you fight?" Women knelt down over the wounded and said: "Where are you hurt? What nice thing can I make for you to eat? What makes you cry?" To-night while we men are sound asleep in our beds there will be a light in yonder loft; there will be groaning down that dark alley; there will be cries of distress in that cellar. Men will sleep, and women will watch.

Again, woman has a special right to take care of the poor. There are hundreds and thousands of them all over the land. There is a kind of work that men cannot do for the poor. Here comes a group of little barefoot children to the door of the Dorcas society. They need to be clothed and provided for. Which of these directors of banks would know how many yards it would take to make that little girl a dress? Which of these masculine hauds could fit a hat to that little girl's head? Which of the wise men would know how to tie on that new pair of shoes? Man sometimes gives his charity in a rough way, and it falls like the fruit of a tree in the east, which fruit comes down so heavily that it breaks the skull of the man who is trying to gather it. But woman glides so softly into the house of destitution and finds out all the sorrows of the place, and puts so quietly the donation on the table that all the family come out on the front steps as she departs, expecting that from under her shawl she will thrust out two wings and go right up toward Heaven, from whence she seems to have come down.

O Christian young woman, if you would make yourself happy and win the blessing of Christ, go out among the destitute. A loaf of bread or a bundle of socks may make a homely load to carry, but the angels of God will come out to watch and the Lord Almighty will give His messenger hosts a charge, saying: "Look out for that woman; canopy her with your wings and shelter her from all harm," and while you are seated in the house of destitution and suffering the little ones around the room will whisper: "Who is she? Ain't she beautiful!" And if you will listen right sharply you will hear dripping down through the leaky roof and rolling over the rotten stairs the angel chant that shook Bethlehem: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will to men."

Can you tell me why a Christian woman going down among the haunts of iniquity on a Christian errand never meets with any indignity? I stood in the chapel of Helen Chalmers, the daughter of the celebrated Dr. Chalmers, in the most abandoned part of the city of Edinburgh, and I said to her as I looked around upon the fearful surroundings of that place: "Do you come here nights to hold a service?" "Oh, yes," she said. "Can it be possible that you never meet with an insult while performing this Christian errand?" "Never," she said, "never." That young woman who has her father by her side walking down the street, armed police at each corner, is not so well defended as that Christian woman who goes forth on Gospel work into the haunts of iniquity carrying the Bible and bread. God, with the red right arm of His wrath omnipotent, would tear to pieces anyone who should offer indignity to her. He would smite him with lightnings and drown him with floods and swallow him with earthquakes and damn him with eternal indignations.

Some one said: "I dislike very much to see that Christian woman teaching those bad boys in the mission school. I am afraid to have her instruct them." "So," said another man, "I am afraid too." Said the first: "I am afraid they will use vile language before they leave the place." "Ah," said the other man, "I am not afraid of that. What I am afraid of is, that if any of those boys should use a bad word in her presence the other boys would tear him to pieces and kill him on the spot." That woman is the best sheltered who is sheltered by the Lord God Almighty, and you need never fear going anywhere where God tells you to go.

It seems as if the Lord had ordained woman for an especial work in the solicitation of charities. Backed up by barrels in which there is no flour, and by stoves in which there is no fire, and by wardrobes in which there are no clothes, a woman is irresistible. Passing on her errand, God says to her: "You go into that bank or store or shop and get the money." She goes in and gets it. The man is hard fisted, but she gets it. She could not help but get it. No need of your turning your back and pretending you don't hear; you do hear. There is no need of your saying you are begged to death. There is no need of your wasting your time, and you might as well submit first as last. You had better right away take down your checkbook, mark the number of the check, fill up the blank, sign your name and hand it to her. There is no need of wasting time. Those poor children on the back street have been hungry long enough. That sick man must have some farina. That consumptive must have something to ease his cough. I meet this delegate of a relief society coming out of the store of such a hard-fisted man, and I say: "Did you get the money?" "Of course," she says, "I got the money; that's what I went in for. The Lord told me to go in and get it, and He never sends me on a fool's errand."

Again. I remark it is a woman's right to bring to us the kingdom of Heaven. It is easier for a woman to be a Christian than for a man. Why? You say she is weaker. No. Her heart is more responsive to the pleadings of Divine love. She is in vast majority. The fact that she can more easily become a Christian I prove by the statement that three-fourths of the members of churches in all Christendom are women. So God appoints them to be the chief agencies for bringing this world back to God. I may stand here and say the soul is immortal; there is a man who will deny it. I may stand here and say we are lost and undone without Christ; there is a man who will contradict it. I may stand here and say there will be a Judgment day after awhile; yonder is some one who will dispute it. But a Christian woman in a Christian household, living in the faith and consistency of Christ's Gospel—nobody can refute that. The greatest sermons are not preached on celebrated platforms. They are preached with an audience of two or three, and in private home life. A consistent, consecrated Christian service is an unanswerable demonstration of God's truth.

I speak to women who have the eternal salvation of their husbands in their right hand. On the marriage day you took an oath before men and angels that you would be faithful and kind until death did you part, and I believe you are going to keep that oath, but after that parting at the grave will it be eternal separation? Is there any such thing as an immortal marriage, making the flowers that grow on the top of the sepulcher brighter than the garlands which at the marriage banquet flooded the air with aroma? Yes, I stand here an embassador of the most high God to proclaim the banns of an immortal union for all those who join hands in the grace of Christ. O woman, is your husband, your father, your son, away from God? The Lord demands their redemption at your hands. There are prayers for you to offer, there are exhortations for you to give, there are examples for you to set, and I say now, as Paul said to the Corinthian woman: "What knowest thou but thou shalt save thy husband?" A man was dying, and he said to his wife: "Rebecca, you wouldn't let me have family prayers; you laughed about all that, and you got me away into worldliness, and now I'm going to die, and my fate is sealed, and you are the cause of my ruin!" O woman, what knowest thou but thou canst destroy thy husband?

Are there not some of you who have kindly influences at home? Are there not some who have wandered far away from God who can remember the Christian influences of their early home? Do not despise those influences, my brother. If you die without Christ, what will you do with your mother's prayers, with your wife's importunities, with your sister's entreaties? What will you do with the letters they used to write to you, with the memory of those days when they attended you so kindly in times of sickness? Oh, if there be just one strand holding you from floating off upon that dark sea, I would just like to take hold of that strand now and pull you to the beach! For the sake of your wife's God, for the sake of your mother's God, for the sake of your daughter's God, for the sake of your sister's God, come this day and be saved.

Lastly, I wish to say that one of the specific rights of woman is, through the grace of Christ, finally to reach Heaven. Oh, what a multitude of women in Heaven! Mary, Christ's mother, in Heaven; Elizabeth Fry in Heaven; Charlotte Elizabeth in Heaven; the mother of Augustine in Heaven; the countess of Huntington, who sold her splendid jewels to build chapels, in Heaven, while a great many others, who have never been heard of on earth or known but little, have gone into the rest and peace of Heaven. What a rest! What a change it was from the small room, with no fire and one window (the glass broken out) and the aching side and wornout arms, to the "house of many mansions!" No more stitching until 12 o'clock at night, no more thrusting of the thumb by the employer through the work, to show it was not done quite right. Plenty of bread at last! Heaven for aching heads, Heaven for broken hearts, Heaven for anguish-bitten frames! No more sitting until midnight for the coming of staggering steps! No more rough blows across the temples! No more sharp, keen, bitter curses!

Some of you will have no rest in this world. It will be toil and struggle and suffering all the way up. You will have to stand at your door fighting back the wolf with your own hand, red with carnage. But God has a crown for you. I want you to realize this morning that He is now making it, and whenever you weep a tear He sets another gem in that crown. Whenever you have a pang of body or soul He puts another gem in that crown, until after awhile in all the time there will be no room for another splendor, and God will say to His angel: "The crown is done. Let her up, that she may wear it." And as the Lord of righteousness puts the crown upon your brow angel will cry to angel: "Who is she?" And Christ will say: "I will tell you who she is. She is the one that came up out of great tribulation and had her robe washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb." And then God will spread a banquet, and He will invite all the principalities of Heaven to sit at the feast, and the tables will blush with the best clusters from the vineyards of God and crimson with the 12 manner of fruits from the tree of life, and waters from the fountains of the rock will flash from the golden tankards, and the old harpers of Heaven will sit there, making music with their harps, and Christ will point you out amid the celebrities of Heaven, saying: "She suffered with me on earth; now we are going to be glorified together." And the banqueters, no longer able to hold their peace, will break forth with congratulation: "Hail, hail!" And there will be handwritings on the wall—not such as struck the Babylonian noblemen with horror, but fire-tipped fingers, writing in blazing capitals of light and love: "God hath wiped away all tears from all faces!"

Wire Screens for Smoking Cars.

Wire screens are being put in the windows of the smoking cars of the elevated roads in Chicago to prevent cigar stumps and burning matches from being thrown out of the windows. Incipient fires have been caused by this practice.

JOKE ON A SPANISH SKIPPER.

He Was Shown the American Fashion of Loading a Vessel with Grain.

"About four years ago," said the superintendent of one of Buffalo's grain elevators, "while I was in charge of an elevator in Baltimore, a small brig ran up to the elevator to take on a load of wheat. The captain's name was Doncelo. He was a Spaniard and for ten or twelve years had traded around in eastern ports. He had never seen a grain elevator and his idea of loading grain into a vessel was that it was shoveled in by hand, as it was years ago. He found me and in his gruff way said:

"'I want to put in 15,000 bushels of wheat, and I don't want to lay around here a week or two. See if you can't get me out of here in two days anyhow.'

"I smiled, said that I would try, and gave orders a minute later to get the brig up in position, where we could easily fill her in good shape. The captain went to his berth to sleep, for it was nearly midnight then. We snugged the little craft up against the wharf, opened her hatches and inserted three full-sized spouts leading from well-filled bins in the top of the elevator. All the employes understood what the joke was to be and they decided to break a record. Everything was ready for the loading a half hour after Capt. Doncelo went to his berth, but we had concluded to let him get fast asleep before going on with the joke.

"It was an hour and a half after the captain had disappeared that the power was turned on and a second later thousands of bushels of grain went rushing from the bins into the hold of the little craft. The boat listed heavily for a moment and threatened to overturn, but the grain slid over to the center and righted the ship. Down rushed the grain through the three spouts. You could hear the roar for a thousand feet. Seven minutes after the power was turned on the power was turned off. The 15,000 bushels had been paid out and Capt. Doncelo's boat was setting pretty low in the water. About this time the captain appeared on deck in his night shirt.

"'To the pumps!' he shouted in Spanish in his loudest tones.

"The crew was on deck in a minute and Capt Doncelo flitted about like a paper man in a windstorm. Spying me on the wharf laughing, he accosted me.

"'What is the matter that my boat sinks at her dock?' he asked.

"'She's not sinking, I guess. You said you wanted to get out of here in less than a week and we loaded your boat for you in a hurry.'

"The captain looked at me queerly, stepped over to the hatchway and looked at the heap of golden grain in the hold. He was amazed, to say the least. He remained in port long enough to have the mystery explained, and a good wind prevailing, he set out. He had lain just two hours at the dock."—N. Y. Sun.

EMOTIONAL PRODIGALITY.

Proper Training of Children Embraces Lessons in Self-Control.

Perhaps no form of incorrigibility is less understood than that which includes a lack of emotional control. Children of both sexes are equally affected.

Successful treatment invariably involves the development of moral hygiene on a rational and persistent basis. A regular system verging on military discipline must be established—regular hours for rising and retiring, regular times for meals, which should be more frequent than ordinary (about two hours apart during the waking hours), regular times for study, exercise and sleep. All the activities of the patient should be as regular as clockwork, and no interference with such activities should ever be permitted. Nothing serves to establish emotional control better than regularity in occupation, which should be varied as frequently as necessary, not at the caprice of the child, but by the direction of the attendant, who must be keen to anticipate fatigue of attention on the part of the patient. If possible, the child should be placed in an entirely new environment. It is much easier to establish correct dietetic and hygienic rules in such than in the patient's own home, where, in many instances, marked lack of emotional control and gross infractions of proper rules of diet exist.—New Crusade.

Sweet Watermelon Pickles.

Take off the green rind and cut off the pink portion from the inside of a watermelon. Weigh, and to each seven pounds allow four pounds of sugar, a pint of vinegar, two teaspoonfuls of allspice, the same of cinnamon, half the quantity of cloves, half a teaspoonful of ground mace and a teaspoonful of ginger. Mix all the spices together; separate them into four parts, and tie each in a piece of cheesecloth. Put the watermelon over the fire in cold water, bring to boiling point and cook until it is transparent. Drain it. Put the sugar and vinegar with all the spices in a porcelain-lined kettle. When boiling add the watermelon, a little at a time; cook until it is dark—not more than five or ten minutes; then put away in a stone jar. Next morning drain off all the juice, heat to boiling point and pour it over the watermelon rind. Do this for nine consecutive mornings, the last morning heating the watermelon rind again in the juice and boiling the juice down until it will just cover the rind.—Ladies' Home Journal.

For Weak and Aching Eyes.

An old-time lotion for weak and aching eyes is a weak decoction of sage leaves. Pour a quart of boiling water over a handful of freshly-picked leaves, cover closely and allow it to steep gently on the back of the range. Strain and bottle.—N. Y. Tribune.

A WORD OF WARNING.

The Radical Departure of the Administration May Have Serious Results.

President McKinley's expansion policy is said to favor the permanent holding of the Philippines and their government by three American commissioners, to supplant the military government when the Aguinaldo rebellion shall have been crushed.

It is reported from Washington that the president will urge this policy upon congress, and use all the influence at his command to bring about its adoption. In view of his recent strong declarations in favor of establishing American supremacy in the Philippines there is no reason to doubt the accuracy of this latest outlining of his plans.

Whether the people of the United States will support the president in this radical departure from well-grounded American principles is the greatest issue of foreign policy presented since those which led to the war of 1812. It is upon adherence to the Monroe doctrine that the United States government logically bases its claim to supremacy in this hemisphere—keeping hands off the old world and requiring the powers of the old world to keep hands off the new.

The people of this country recognize the fact that the problem of the permanent disposition of the Philippines is seriously perplexing and that it demands the most earnest deliberation before executive action is taken. They hope, however, that the settlement of the problem may rest on a consistently American basis. They know that from the moment the United States takes formal and final possession of the Philippines a new epoch begins for this country, and they are apprehensive as to the developments of that epoch as bearing upon American principles and institutions and the welfare of the country.

It must be acknowledged by unprejudiced thinkers that there is a menace attaching to permanent American sovereignty in the far east. It necessarily means the maintaining of a big army and the inevitable fostering of a spirit of militarism. It nullifies the Monroe doctrine and opens the way for further colonial acquisition beyond the limits of the western hemisphere. It vastly increases the chances of war with the great powers of Europe and renders imperative a constant state of preparedness for such wars. It changes completely the attitude in which this government has stood before the world throughout all its previous history.

If we are to remain a liberty-loving and liberty-fostering republic, legitimately supreme in one-half of the world's territory, will it be wise to take the risks inseparable from the permanent holding of the Philippines? Is it right to do so? Is it safe for American institutions? Will it not be better to at least make an effort toward giving the Filipinos a chance to demonstrate their capacity for self-government? The people of the United States are not partisan in contemplating this problem. They are looking at it through American eyes. It will be well for the president to consider their attitude before surrendering American principles to the rapacity of land-grabbing syndicates, whose Americanism is limited to a worship of the eagle on the face of the American dollar.—St. Louis Republic.

MISRULE OF REPUBLICANS.

Public Money Wasted and Human Lives Sacrificed to Greed for Gold.

With the advent of Mr. McKinley to power the republican orgies began, with the enactment of a tariff framed in the interest of the monopolies and trusts, designed for the payment of campaign debts and to lay the favored sections, classes and interests under fresh obligations to the present administration as the dispenser of wealth. This was followed by the declaration of war against Spain, under the false pretense of assisting the people of Cuba to achieve their independence, without any ulterior thought of territorial greed or aggression on our own part. When the enormous outflow of patronage and favoritism caused by the Spanish war was checked by the premature termination of hostilities with Spain, Mr. McKinley paid $20,000,000 for the privilege of starting another war in another quarter of the globe against an unoffending people, whose only crime was that they, too, like the Cubans, desired to be free.

And the republican Saturanila goes on. The public money continues to be wasted like water and the blood of Americans and Filipinos is mingled in one stream to be coined into dollars by the favored few who have influence or "pull," and can be expected to work for Mr. McKinley's reelection.—Baltimore Sun.

McKinley Made.

The Philippine situation has been simplified for the democrats. They have been contending that if the administration would promise the Filipinos the same sort of government that was pledged to the Cubans there would be no necessity for the long, costly and bloody war that has ensued. They insist that if such a promise were made now that the war would come to a speedy close. The Filipinos would throw down their arms and diplomacy would accomplish what war has failed to do. McKinley has made this impossible and must take the full consequences of the terrible struggle that must yet ensue before the liberty-loving Tagals are crushed by superior force. From a political standpoint the democrats have reason to rejoice at the issue he has made.—Chattanooga News.

——Those men who see in the platform of the Iowa democracy a disposition to sidetrack silver are warned that it is time for them to consult some skilled oculist.—Omaha World-Herald.

GENERAL PROSPERITY.

Republicans Claim All Credit for Legitimate Results of World-Wide Conditions.

With their usual disregard of truth the republican politicians are claiming that the business prosperity of the United States is owing to the election of McKinley.

Doubtless the business prosperity of the European nations is also owing to the election of McKinley.

When wheat went up to a dollar or more a bushel the republican shouters claimed that "McKinley did it."

But men of sense know that the famine in India and the short crop in Argentina did it.

Now, what was the direct result of McKinley's election? Let William J. Bryan tell you. He says:

"More banks failed the first six months after the election than ever in the history of the country. If I had been elected it would have been laid at my door. More business houses failed the first six months after the election than ever in the same period of time before. If I had been elected all this would have been my fault.

"Times got so bad that some people thought that I had been elected, and one man from Texas wrote and congratulated me. But I have not been drawing a salary nor have I been appointing new cabinet officers to fill the places of those who have resigned.

"Times got better, and the goldbug came out and said: 'See; didn't I tell you what would happen if the gold ticket was elected? Didn't I tell you that gold would be discovered in British Columbia?' and did not every man who discovered gold in the Klondike admit that he had been mistaken? The people who said in 1896 that we had enough gold were the ones to do the most rejoicing when that was discovered?"

How plainly a frank statement of facts exposes the hypocrisy of these falsifiers who claim credit for acts of Providence and seek to fool the people by preposterous assertions.

If there is prosperity, the people should give thanks to world-wide conditions which make it possible, and not to McKinley.—Chicago Democrat.

SECOND TERM FOR M'KINLEY.

Obstacles in the Way of His Reelection Arise in Insurmountable Array.

All is not looking well for the second-term boom. In fact the skies are dark ahead of it and rumor has it that the outside leaders of his party are very much in doubt whether they can afford to carry Mr. McKinley and the numerous blunders and scandals of his truculent and incompetent administration in the next campaign.

First of all, the popular hostility to the trusts is no idle wind, and it will be a tornado by next campaign time. Mr. McKinley, more than any other one man, stands for the trust principle, owing all he has to the trusts.

Second, congress will doubtless attempt currency legislation as dictated by Mr. McKinley's New York friends with a view to strengthening the single gold standard and this will be decidedly unpopular.

Third, there are the numerous foul scandals that have made this administration a stench in the nostrils of the people, the climax being the shame and outrage of the Carter case, which will be fully aired before the country.

And last, but by no means least, comes the un-American, inglorious and unfruitful war of conquest which Mr. McKinley is prosecuting in violation of the most sacred traditions of the country and in direct opposition to the Declaration of Independence.—Wheeling Register.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

——With the north pole, it is just as it is with republican virtue; something always happening just as you think it is going to be discovered.—Albany Argus.

——There is no excuse whatever for Otis lying awake any longer. McKinley has assumed the entire responsibility for the Philippine campaign.—St. Louis Republic.

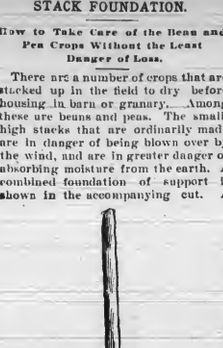
——It is to be noticed that very few McKinley organs are condemning John Bull for trying to steal the Dutch republic. The boss is in the same business.—Kansas City Times.

——If the democrats will maintain a logical stand and one consistent with the traditions of the party, they will have every advantage in the trust argument next year.—Minneapolis Times.

——We observe that none of the imperialist organs has courage enough to put its own tag on the Philippine imbroglio, although all protest against calling it McKinley's war.—Columbus Press-Post.

——Having acquired the old home with the historic veranda, at Canton, President McKinley begs leave to announce his readiness for the 1900 series of heart-to-heart talks with excursionizing voters.—Albany Argus.

——Mr. McKinley is slow in recognizing that in his Philippine war he has invoked a trouble that cannot be overcome by an Ohio stump speech or by pious platitudes. He was directly antagonized by Gov. Stone, who declared in his presence that "we much prefer to see these countries govern themselves," and said that "we desire neither their revenue nor their territory."—N. Y. World.



——The issue forced by the republicans and upon which they counted for gains was the expansion policy of President McKinley. The issue of imperialism and of the Philippine war was clearly defined in the platform, and while the result proves the fidelity of the democrats to the party programme it signifies more; it signifies popular disapproval of the McKinley administration's policy.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

AGRICULTURAL HINTS.

STACK FOUNDATION.

How to Take Care of the Bean and Pea Crops Without the Least Danger of Loss.

There are a number of crops that are stacked up in the field to dry before housing in barn or granary. Among these are beans and peas. The small, high stacks that are ordinarily made are in danger of being blown over by the wind, and are in greater danger of absorbing moisture from the earth. A combined foundation of support is shown in the accompanying cut. A long stake is driven into the ground near the growing crop and cross boards nailed to either side near the ground. These support slats, as shown in the cut. Beans and peas piled up about the central stake are proof against any wind, while no moisture can injure the bottom. If the top is neatly "thatched" with some of the crop, or if a bit of cloth be thrown over the top and tied in place, as suggested in the second cut, the crop will be quite safe from harm, whatever be the weather. There are many worn out farms that ought to raise just such crops as beans and peas—plants that get stores of nitrogen from the air, as clover does, leaving the land, in reality, richer in this valuable element than before they grew, besides making a valuable addition to the farm produce. The writer once saw an exceedingly heavy crop of beans harvested from a wornout, rocky hillside, on which sorrel would hardly grow, and that, too, with no great assistance in the way of fertilizer or cultivation. The plants got a start on the manure placed on the hill, scanty as it was, and then drew on the stores of nitrogen in the air. Beans appear to do particularly well on light, stony land, where many crops would be a perfect failure.—N. Y. Tribune.

FOUNDATION AND SUPPORT.

THE STACK COMPLETE.

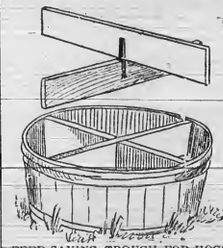
SEED CORN SELECTION.

How to Avoid a Mistake That Has Ruined Many a Crop on Very Good Land.

Many farmers owning both bottom and upland cornfields make the mistake of using the same seed on both kinds of soils. Corn which is adapted to the soil and moisture conditions of the valleys will not do so well on the upland as will some variety that has by several years of cultivation and selection become adapted to the conditions there. It is for the same reason that the large Colorado potatoes that have been grown for years under irrigation will do so poorly when used for seed in Kansas without the accustomed supply of water. It is generally the case on the farm that the corn from all the fields, both upland and bottom, is cribbed together, and when the time for seed selection comes the largest ears are picked out irrespective of the kind of soil that grew them. As the bottom land produces the larger ears it is more than likely that the bulk of the seed will be from the lower and more moist portions of the farm. This is the proper seed for the lowland, but it is not so well adapted to the dryer and poorer upland as is seed that has been raised there. It is advisable to select the seed either before or at husking time, when not only the quality of the ground but the character of the individual stalk and ear can be taken into consideration. As has been suggested before, a small box attached to the side of the wagon-bed into which the desirable ears can be thrown is the most practical device that can be recommended. By a little judicious selection for a series of years, a strain can be established on the upland portion of any farm which will be well adapted to that and other soils similar in location and composition. An eight-inch ear from the upland will ordinarily prove better for planting on the upland than will a 12-inch ear from a draw in the lower portions of the farm.—J. M. Westgate, in Prairie Farmer.

RAISE GOOD HOGS.



Well-Bred Rangy Animals Are the Most Ready Sellers and Bring the Best Prices.

If a person who knows anything at all about hog feeding was given a chance between a hog that would gain 23 pounds in six weeks and one that would gain 90 pounds in the same time on the same feed, he would not be long in choosing. During the past ten months the Kansas experiment station has fed 190 hogs that were bought of the farmers in the vicinity of Manhattan without regard to breed or breeding, just as they were, thrifty and weighing in the neighborhood of 100 or 125 pounds. This class of hogs is used because those experiments are for the highest benefit of the farmers, and by taking the stock they raise we stay within their conditions. A few conclusions may be drawn from the following facts taken from observations of feeding 80 head of hogs which were just finished. These hogs were nearer of the same age than size, and ranged from the long, big-boned bacon hog, to the short-boned chunk, according to the care or carelessness of the farmer who raised them. First, as to point of gain: The comparisons are between hogs fed the same in every respect. The best and poorest five out of twenty have the following showing: Best five, weight at beginning of test 596 pounds, gain 416 pounds, 70 per cent.; poorest five, weight at beginning of test 579 pounds, gain 235 pounds, 40 per cent. This was for a period of 42 days, and from observations made from week to week, this difference of gain from a little over one pound to practically two pounds a day was largely due to the breeding. A short, small-boned chunk will make good gains for a few weeks and then stop. It will be fat and ready for market, while a well-bred rangy hog will fatten and continue to grow and make good gains for a much longer period. Then as to the demand of the market. The three-shoulder is now one of the most profitable cuts that is made for export trade. Hogs from which these cuts are made must be large and muscular, long and rangy. The short, small-boned chunk will not answer the purpose. The bacon hog is also of the latter description and brings the best price on the markets. Well-bred rangy hogs make the most profitable gains, are the most ready sale and bring the best price on the market. — J. G. Haney, in Prairie Farmer.

OUT-OF-DOOR FEEDING.

Description of a Trough That Is Sure to Keep the Hogs from Crowding Each Other.

Where several hogs are quartered in an orchard or other pasture they must be fed out-of-doors. To keep each one from crowding and fighting his neighbor when eating, make such a trough as is shown in the illustration. The bottom part of a barrel is sawed off and two narrow strips of board are fitted together and nailed firmly into the trough, as in the drawing. A flour barrel can be made to answer this temporary purpose, but a trough from a stouter barrel will prove more lasting. — American Agriculturalist.

FEED-SAVING TROUGH FOR HOGS.

Rotted Sods for Manure.

There are many places in low lands by the roadside where the wash of the road has made the soil very rich. Sods cut from such land and piled in heaps rot down readily, especially if some wood ashes are thrown on them to hasten decomposition. This makes the best possible top dressing for grass lands, and will largely increase the growth where the soil is thin. If phosphate is added this compost becomes a complete manure for any kind of crop. The practice of rotting sod is very common in Lincolnshire, England, where in olden times the sod was cut very thin, and after being piled and dried out the heap was burned. There was waste of nitrogen in burning the sod, and allowing it to rot down is much the better way to make use of it.—American Cultivator.

Sugar Beets for Hogs.

The best root for hogs is the beet. All beets have more or less sugar, but it is better to grow the sugar beet, even though it may not yield so largely as do the large, coarse varieties. There is no time in the growth of beets when they are not acceptable food for hogs confined to their pens. They are better feed and more cheaply grown than clover, considering the waste of the clover when it is either pastured or cut and fed green. There is little nutriment in clover until it gets into blossom. If fed then, hogs will nose the clover over to get at the heads, and will eat very little else. But the whole of the beet, including the leaves will be eaten, provided the leaves are fresh.

In nearly all cases the price of fruit and vegetables in a package is fixed by the worst specimens, not by the best.

Hens will readily eat purings or any kind of vegetables if they are well cooked.

An over-fat hen will not lay at all or her egg will be worthless for hatching.

COFFEE TIPS.

How the First Plants Were Brought Over to This Side of the World.

A pretty story of the introduction of coffee into the western hemisphere is quite to the point since our new possessions have so bountifully produced it in the past, says the Philadelphia Record. There was a time when this "assisted emigrant," though so nobly self-supporting when it has the opportunity, was a tender slip and likely to perish of thirst. In 1714 Louis XIV. was presented with a single coffee plant for his botanical garden by an Amsterdam magistrate. It was nourished tenderly and in time slips from it were sent to Martinique—no doubt sub-rosa to the Dutch—the Dutch having long controlled the cultivation of coffee and guarded it jealously lest it be cultivated on islands not under their control. On the way to Martinique the botanist in charge, the ship's supply of water getting low, shared his own daily allowance with the precious plants. Responding to his kindness, they were soon growing nicely in Martinique. In due time these slips produced their fragrant white flowers—they grow at the roots of the leaves—and these presently changed into berries, each with its two grains of coffee. From Martinique the coffee journeyed to Porto Rico and Cuba.

Now Porto Rico alone annually exports about $9,000,000 worth of this highly esteemed bean. The plant grows wild in some parts of Africa.

POOR PAY OF MODELS.

A Calling That Is Full of Hardship and Makes But Small Return.

The amount of stuff that is written, and presumably read, about models nowadays leads one to suppose that the life of those men and women is very pleasant and delectable. Like most figures of "realistic" fiction, says the Philadelphia Press, this one is not quite real. One of the few good models of Philadelphia said the other day: "For first class work I get four dollars a week and work as many hours a day, going on the stand at 9:30 and posing until 12:45, with a rest of ten minutes in every 60. The 'head' model has to do just as much posing of the body as any other, and gets less money. However, it's one of the few lines of business where women do better than men. The latter don't seem to have the required bodily endurance. Put yourself in the most comfortable position and try to remain so, unmoved, for five minutes, and you'll understand something of what I have to go through for ten times that long without a break. For that reason most models prefer to pose for male classes. Men always have more consideration. A woman painter will make you stand till her own hand is tired with the brush. Yet in the studio of the most considerate one must undergo torture. There is a lot of pity given to factory girls, of which a little might be extended to us, for the fact is that there is no business in which a woman can engage where she will suffer so much fatigue and get so little remuneration as that of an artist's model."

Crime in England.

Sir James Vaughan, for 35 years a police magistrate of London, notes a wonderful decrease in crimes of brutality and violence, and an increase, less marked, in the crimes which require brains and ingenuity. General education doubtless favors morality and refinement; but there is in the cities a limited crop of children with inherited or acquired criminal tendencies; and when these are gathered into school, unless great pains are taken to counteract the influences of the street and of their wretched homes, the mere quickening of the intellect only gives new power for mischief.

THE MARKETS.

	CINCINNATI. Sept. 11.
LIVESTOCK—Cattle, common	$ 2 75	@ $ 3 75
Select butchers	4 75	@ 4 85
CALVES—Pair to good light	6 50	@ 7 50
HOGS—Coarse and heavy	3 40	@ 4 50
Mixed packers	4 35	@ 4 50
Light shippers	4 35	@ 4 60
SHEEP—Choice	3 85	@ 4 00
LAMBS—Spring	5 10	@ 5 75
FLOUR—Winter patents	3 25	@ 3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 64½
No. 3 red		@ 62
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 34½
Oats—No. 2		@ 21
Rye—No. 2		@ 51
HAY—Prime to choice		@10 25
PROVISIONS—Mess Pork		@ 9 50
Lard		@ 5 15
BUTTER—Choice dairy		@ 13
Choice creamery		@ 17
APPLES—Choice to fancy	2 25	@ 2 50
POTATOES—Per brl	1 40	@ 1 50
CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 50	@ 3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 72
No. 3 Chicago spring	65	@ 68
CORN—No. 2		@ 31½
OATS—No. 2	21¾	@ 22
PORK—Mess	7 25	@ 8 05
LARD—Steam	5 05	@ 5 30
NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 55	@ 3 75
WHEAT—No. 2 red		@ 74½
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@ 38¾
RYE		@ 54
OATS—Mixed		@ 26
PORK—New mess		@ 9 00
LARD—Western		@ 5 65
BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	$ 3 25	@ $ 3 50
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	70	@ 70½
Southern	67	@ 70½
Corn—Mixed	37½	@ 37½
Oats—No. 2 White	28	@ 29½
Rye—No. 2 western		@ 58
CATTLE—First quality	5 00	@ 5 10
HOGS—Western	5 25	@ 5 35
INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 67
Corn—No. 2 Mixed		@ 32½
Oats—No. 2 Mixed		@ 22
LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 45	@ 3 55
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	70	@ 71
Corn—Mixed		@ 34
Oats—Mixed	22½	@ 24
PORK—Mess		@ 9 50
LARD—Steam		@ 6 00

CANNIBAL IN THE INK.

He Was from the South Sea Islands and There Was Character in His Writing.

Rather an amusing incident was connected with the return to San Francisco, en route to Washington, of Justice W. L. Chambers, who has been for a number of years chief justice of Samoa. The judge is a well-educated and highly cultivated Alabaman, with that punch of that rare article the Southern gentleman of the best type.

In an interview, published at Honolulu on his way up, the chief justice was so erroneously misrepresented in his alleged statement regarding Samoan matters that he took the wise precaution in San Francisco of writing out his views on the more ticklish matters concerning which he was interviewed. Like most gentlemen, Judge Chambers' penmanship would never be taken as a model in a district school. A printer's devil in running paper to whom it was given to set up was in despair.

"Look here," he said, "this is positively the worst writing I ever was up against!"

"But that was written by the chief justice of Samoa, man. Look how much character there is in the writing."

"Chief justice of Samoa!" snorted the compositor. "That accounts for it. There is character in his hand. I might have known he was a South Sea islander. I could smell cannibal in the ink!"—San Francisco News Letter.

A Narrow Escape.

The man with the court plaster on his nose was talking about a cyclone and what a narrow escape he had when one of the group asked:

"Where were you when the cycione hit your house?"

"Down cellar," was the reply.

"You knew it was coming and had fled for safety?"

"Oh, no! I had a jaw with my wife and she had locked me up in the cellar half a day previous."

"And when the house went a-flying a fragment hit you on the nose?"

"Well, no. My wife hit me on the nose the day before she locked me up."

"Then what about your narrow escape from the cyclone?" persisted the questioner.

"Why, suppose my wife had just come down cellar and hit me again just as the wind picked the house up and sent it sailing!" answered the man with the nose.—Chicago Evening News.

Discovery of Life Plant.

Science has discovered a plant so full of life that if one of its leaves be broken off and merely pinned to a warm wall another plant will grow from it. It is these same vitalizing principles which enable Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to arouse to life and duty the overworked stomach, the weak blood and sluggish liver. The sufferer from dyspepsia or any similar trouble needs Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. See that a private Revenue Stamp covers the neck of the bottle.

Polly in Paradise.

Their parrot had died, and young Master Tommy, with his little sister Jennie, had just concluded the funeral services over the grave of their feathered pet. "I s'pose Polly is in Heaven now," remarked Jennie, tearfully. "Yes," returned Master Tommy; "I s'pose he is." "He—he's got wings, but he wouldn't fit an angel up there, would he?" inquired the little maid, anxious about his present status. "Oh!" cried Tommy; "he wouldn't be an 'angel,' only people is that." "Then what do you s'pose he is now?" persisted his sister. Tommy thought for a moment. Then the light of inspiration dawned on his beaming countenance. "I guess Polly is a bird of paradise now," he announced joyfully.—Troy Times.

To California via the Midland Route.

Every Friday night, at 10:35 p. m., a through Tourist Car for San Francisco, carrying first and second-class passengers, leaves the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Union Passenger Station, Chicago, via Omaha, Colorado Springs and Salt Lake City (with stop-over privileges at Salt Lake City), for all points in Colorado, Utah, Nevada and California.

The Tourist Car berth rate from Chicago to San Francisco is only $8.00, and sleeping car berths should be reserved a few days in advance of departure of train.

Through tickets and sleeping car accommodations can be secured from any agent in the east, or by applying at the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Depot or City Ticket Offices in Chicago.

Send for our free illustrated California folders. Address Geo. H. Heafford, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, Ill.

Too Many.

Hoax—Newed must have been surprised when the nurse announced him the triplets.

Joax—Yes: he could hardly believe his census.—Philadelphia Record.

Home Seekers' Excursions via "Big Four Route."

To the North, West, Northwest, Southwest, South and Southeast. Selling dates: August 15th, September 5th and 19th; and on October 3d and 17th, 1893, at one fare, plus $2.00 to authorized points in the following states: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, British Columbia, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Indian Territory, Idaho, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Manitoba, New Mexico, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Washington. For full information and particulars as to rates, routes, time, limits, stop-over privileges, etc., call on Agents "Big Four Route," or address the undersigned. W. P. Deppe, A. G. P. & T. Agt., Warren J. Lynch, Gen. Pass. & Tkt. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

The Cornfed Philosopher.

"The man who says he would be contented with a crust," said the Cornfed Philosopher, "kicks mighty hard unless there is a good proportion of cake under the crust."—Indianapolis Journal.

You don't have to take a day off to do your dyeing if you use Putnam Fadeless Dyes. These dyes are so simple to use that you can do your dyeing and have everything cleaned up and put away in from a half to one hour.

When it is announced that a woman is going away her neighbors get up a farewell surprise party on her, but the only attention a man gets is the appearance of his creditors with bills.—Atchison Globe.

The Baker's Premises.

"What would be the technical term for the premises of this baker?"

"Dough-main, I guess."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It always puzzles a horse to find out what a woman's driving at.—Philadelphia Record.

Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is taken Internally. Price 75c.

When a man whistles all the day either his heart or his head is light.—Chicago Daily News.

Do Your Feet Ache and Burn?

Shake into your shoes Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It makes tight or new Shoes feel Easy. Cures Corns, Bunions, Swollen, Smarting, Hot, Callous, Sore, and Sweating Feet. All Druggists and Shoe Stores sell it, 25c. Sample sent FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Too Serious.

"Do you think his intentions are serious?" asked her best girl friend.

"Altogether too serious," was the reply. "He asked me yesterday if I would consent to have my life insured in favor of my husband when I married."—Spare Moments.

The Best Prescription for Chills

and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price, 50c.

Our Fans.

Baroness de Rothschild, it is said, owns the finest collection of fans in Europe. In this country they are generally found at the baseball parks.—Scranton Tribune.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Mother—"Now, Ole dear, show uncle how well you can figure. Twice two is how much?" Ole—"Three." Mother—"O, the little darling. Isn't it wonderful—within one of being correct."—Sondags Nisse.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has no equal as a Cough medicine.—F. M. Aboott, 383 Seneca St., Buffalo, N. Y., May 9, 1894.

Before resigning your position, remember that for every unoccupied hole, there are 20 pegs trying to get in.—Atchison Globe.

Mrs. Barnard Thanks
MRS. PINKHAM FOR HEALTH.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 18,992]

"DEAR FRIEND—I feel it my duty to express my gratitude and thanks to you for what your medicine has done for me. I was very miserable and losing flesh very fast, had bladder trouble, fluttering pains about the heart and would get so dizzy and suffered with painful menstruation. I was reading in a paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I wrote to you and after taking two bottles I felt like a new person. Your Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me and I cannot praise it enough."—MRS. J. O. BARNARD, MILLTOWN, WASHINGTON CO., ME.

An Iowa Woman's Convincing Statement.

"I tried three doctors, and the last one said nothing but an operation would help me. My trouble was profuse flowing; sometimes I would think I would flow to death. I was so weak that the least work would tire me. Reading of so many being cured by your medicine, I made up my mind to write to you for advice, and I am so glad that I did. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and followed your directions, and am now well and strong. I shall recommend your medicine to all, for it saved my life."—MISS A. P., BOX 21 ABBOTT, Iowa.

Ayer's Pills

Dizzy? Then your liver isn't acting well. You suffer from biliousness, constipation. Ayer's Pills act directly on the liver. For 60 years the Standard Family Pill. Small doses cure. 25c. All druggists.

Want your moustache or beard a beautiful brown or rich black? Then use BUCKINGHAM'S DYE for the Whiskers
50 CTS. OF DRUGGISTS, OR R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA, N. H.

PILES

"I suffered the tortures of the damned with protruding piles brought on by constipation with which I was afflicted for twenty years. I ran across your CASCARETS in the town of Newell, Ia., and never found anything to equal them. To-day I am entirely free from piles and feel like a new man."
C. H. KEITZ, 1411 Jones St., Sioux City, Ia.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c. 25c. 50c.
... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 328
NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 & $3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.
Worth $4 to $6 compared with other makes.
Indorsed by over 1,000,000 wearers.
ALL LEATHERS. ALL STYLES.
THE GENUINE have W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on bottom.

Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Largest makers of $3.00 and $3.50 shoes in the world. Your dealer should keep them—if not, we will send you a pair on receipt of price. State kind of leather, size and width. Plain or cap toe. Catalogue Free.
W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

CARTER'S INK
Is scientifically compounded of the best materials.

FITS Permanently Cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. Dr. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

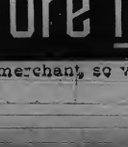
$75 Monthly easily outfit free; we want a man or woman in every county; apply quick. Manufacturers, 3045 Market St., Philadelphia.

A. N. K.—E 1778

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

John M. Smyth Co.
MAMMOTH MAIL ORDER HOUSE
150-152-154
156-158-160
162-164-166
W. MADISON ST.
CHICAGO.

OUR PRICE CONQUEROR.
To You It Commends Itself from an Economical Standpoint.



A Business Suit at a Business Price. Not a bargain suit, but a thoroughly first-class suit at a genuine bargain. It is by selling honest goods coupled with fair and truthful dealing that we have gained the confidence of the people.

Our No. 11. The illustration represents a business Suit of unusual merit, made of strictly all wool Almont Tweed, which has no superior for wear in medium grade goods. It is made in single-breasted fourbutton round-corner sack style coat with deep French facing, body lined with extra quality farmers' satin, sleeves lined with fine quality fancy Silesia; two outside pockets and ticket pocket; two inside breast pockets with flaps. The vest is made in the late fall and winter style, high cut, six buttons and collar, thoroughly well lined. Trousers are cut in the prevailing fashion. The entire suit is sewed with silk and linen thread, cut and made in the best possible manner known to the trade. The cloth is heavy weight, neat, stylish brown check patterns, and to those who desire a suit of this character we strongly recommend this number and positively assert that it cannot be duplicated at our prices. Our assortment sizes are quickly ordered; this we interpret as an assurance that the high estimate we place on the qualities and values is justified by public judgment—to you it should be a guarantee of satisfaction. Sizes, coats 33 to 44 inches chest measure; trousers 28 to 42 inches waist; and 30 to 35 in. length of inseam; no half sizes; larger price.

$7.90

OUR MAMMOTH CATALOGUE
In which is listed at lowest wholesale prices everything to eat, wear and use, is furnished on receipt of only 10c. to partly pay postage or expressage, and as evidence of good faith—the 10c. is allowed on first purchase amounting to $1.00 or above.

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA (Teething Powders.)
Costs only 25 Cents. Ask your Druggist for it.
Rev. (now Bishop) Joseph S. Key, Wrote: "We gave your TEETHINA (Teething Powders) to our little grandchild with the happiest results. The effects were almost magical, and certainly more satisfactory than from anything we ever used."
If not kept by druggists mail 25c Cents to
C. J. MOFFETT, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

Plantation Chill Cure is Guaranteed
To cure, or money refunded by your merchant, so why not try it? Price 50c.

BOONE : COUNTY : REORDER

Wednesday, Sept., 13, 1899.

Rates of Subscription:

One year..... $1 50.
Six months..... 75.
Three months..... 40.

☞Payable invariably in advance.

THE RECORDER

SOLICITS YOUR

Job Work,

NOTE HEADS,
LETTER HEADS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS,
BILL HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
SALE BILLS,
AND HORSE BILL,

Printed at the Lowest Prices consistent with neat work.

Send your order by mail and it will be attended promptly.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Petersburg.

It was 105 in the shade, last Tuesday.

The big boats have all gone to the banks.

One hundred and six children go to school here.

Joe Ferris drives the nobbiest turnout in this locality.

Ed Runk, of Cincinnati, is visiting his uncle, Charles Schramm.

Farmers are cutting corn and preparing ground for sowing wheat.

Carl and Henry Hunt, of near Burlington, were in town, Sunday.

Before the late rains farmers were driving their stock to the river.

Arthur Alloway is playing good ball for the Toronto team this season.

Mrs. Rebecca Bush fell, the other day, and hurt herself very badly.

The mosquitos are more numerous and larger this season than usual.

Rex Hurd was overcome by heat while working in tobacco, last week.

The canine population of the town held a street fair several days, last week.

Mrs. Perry Aylor was visiting her sister, Mrs. R. Y. Randall, last week.

John Burris united with the Christian church during the meeting, last week.

Frank W. Berkshire, of Chicago, attended his sister-in-law's funeral, last week.

Dr. Simpson and wife, of Dillsboro, Ind., were visiting here, one day last week.

The remains of Mrs. Fred McCool were taken to Lynchburg, Ohio, for burial.

William Fauss raised and sold in Aurora, a watermelon that weighed 68 pounds.

Mr. Matt Carpenter, of Gallatin, was here visiting his son, who has been very sick.

Prof. Early has moved to town and occupies the McNeely residence on Front street.

Misses Lela Mathews and Maud Wingate are attending college at Millersburg, Ky.

Miss Bessie Berkshire and Mrs. J. I. McWethy have returned from a visit to Owensboro.

Capt. B. B. Bradley, of Cairo, Illinois, was here, last week, attending his sister's funeral.

The Lawrenceburg Fair Co. had a balance on the right side of the ledger this season.

Dr. J. H. Walton of Delhi, O., was visiting his grand-parents here, one night last week.

For two weeks there has been hardly enough water in the river for the mud turtles to swim in.

Mrs. R. Y. Randall fell, and dislocated her hip, one night last week. She is nearly 80 years old.

Since our last communication, four persons in this community have gone to their eternal sleep.

Charles W. Jenkins and wife, of Baltimore, Md., are visiting his mother, Mrs. Wm. Appleton.

The steamers Lizzie Bay and Dick Brown are still stirring up the dust between here and Louisville.

Mrs. Maud Rosenbaum, of Columbus, Ohio, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Berkshire.

We have a reliable grape-vine that the distillery will start at the usual time and will feed 1000 cattle.

Misses Hayes and Bush, two of Aurora's handsomest young society buds, were visiting Mrs. Appleton, last week.

Misses Ollie and Anna Rector and Lizzie White, and Bud and Louis Rector, of Hathaway, were visiting here, Sunday.

The float at the distillery sunk and cannot be raised, owing to its rotten condition. A new steel one will take its place.

Scott Miller, son of undertaker Miller, of Lawrenceburg, was drowned while trying to swim the river here one day last week.

John W. Berkshire and family will move to his son's at the junction of the Petersburg and Burlington pike with the Wooiper pike.

John Portwood, of Gunpowder, was calling on friends here, Saturday and Sunday. A handsome blond lady seems to be the attraction.

Mrs. Huff, the aged widow of the late Capt. William Huff, died several days ago. Her remains were interred at Lawrenceburg.

Warren Montfort, 12 year old son of J. B. Tolin, was badly scalded on the legs by the explosion of a tin can he had rigged up for a threshing machine boiler.

The W. C. T. U. Society met at the home of Miss Pearl Crisler, last Thursday night. Miss Pearl is an excellent entertainer and has a host of friends among the "400."

A negro rouster shot at John McMurray three times on the wharf at Cincinnati, one morning last week. One of the balls went through a window on the str. Cincinnati and lodged in some frame work in the cabin. John is an employee of the Workum and lives at this place.

The I. O. U. Society gave a social on the bar below town, last Thursday. Refreshments were served all day, and dancing was indulged in till late at night. Pap Alloway and Miss Lillie Hoffman won the prize as the best cake-walkers. Harry Bahn and his mother won second.

Miss Mary Bradley died of flux at the residence of her brother-in-law, D. C. Peck, in Trimble county, last Wednesday, where she had gone on a visit a few days before. Miss Mary was in the 50th year of her age. She had taught in the public schools here for a number of years and was postmistress at this place during Cleveland's first administration. Her funeral was preached by the Rev. Early Friday, after which the remains were interred in the family lot in the cemetery here.

Mrs. Rose Stewart Berkshire, wife of W. T. Berkshire, died of consumption at the residence of her father in Switzerland county, Indiana, on September 1st. She had gone there only a few weeks before for her health. She was a kind and sociable lady, highly esteemed by all who knew her. She leaves a husband and three small children, besides a host of relatives and friends to mourn her early death. Her remains were brought here on Sunday, and after a short service at the cemetery by Rev. Early, they were placed in the vault to await final interment.

STATE NEWS.

Governor Bradley appointed the following delegates to the Southern Industrial Convention which meets in Huntsville, Ala., October 10: W. J. Davidson, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Lucas Moore, Commissioner of Agriculture; E. Porter Thompson, of Frankfort, and Z. F. Smith, of Louisville.

"The difference between the present price of school books and the Chinn bill schedule for a full series is $3 22. Multiply this amount between 718,359 children reported in 1900 and it amounts to $2,312,110, 98. If every school child in the state were required to purchase a new set of books the difference between the present system in price and the Chinn bill would be the sum stated above.

The large stock barn, the property of Mr. J. M. Fleming, near Oxford, was set on fire at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. Fleming had just hitched up his horse and was starting to church when he discovered the flames. There was considerable grain, feed, gear, wheat fan and other farming implements consumed by the flames. The loss is estimated at $1000 with no insurance.—Georgetown News.

Stegar, Dollar & Co., tobacco dealers, last week, finished stripping 901 hogsheads or 1,531,000 pounds of tobacco. All this mammoth shipment of strips goes to Liverpool and is the largest single shipment of the kind ever made from Princeton. All this tobacco was bought in Caldwell and the edges of a few adjoining counties and represents the distribution among our farmers of many thousands of dollars.—Princeton Republican.

While sinking a shaft for coal last week Mr. J. D. Cooper found a vein of clay as white as snow without a pebble or substance in it. The vein is between seven and eight feet thick and underlies a large tract of land. This clay will make the finest grade of queensware, and samples will be sent in large or small quantities to all or any who may be interested. It is only two miles from the city and is considered the most valuable find in this section.—Hawesville Plaindealer.

The Democratic Campaign Hand book for 1899, published under the the auspices of the State Central Campaign Committees of the party has come from the press, and will shortly be distributed all over Kentucky, being put in the hands of all the campaigners. The document contains 330 pages, and contains much interesting matter. The committee that compiled the work is composed of men who have done such work before and who understand the condition of affairs in the State thoroughly.

The grand jury at Lexington was given a sensational charge by Circuit Judge Parker, after a long adjournment caused by the presence of smallpox in the county jail. He said the city was wide open for all sorts of gaming, and that it was the duty of the jury to bring the guilty ones to justice. He said there were pool rooms, bucket-shops and other gambling devices. He also stated that the saloons were being kept open on Sunday in violation of the law. He said it was impossible for those things to go on without the knowledge of the officials, and that it was their duty to close up these disreputable places.

Deputy Sheriff G. W. Thacker was ambushed and killed on Little Goose creek, near Manchester, by unknown persons. Deputy Thacker and Jim Smith were on their way to Manchester to attend to business connected with court. When they arrived at the place of ambush four Winchester shots rang out on the air. Thacker fell dead, and Smith's horse was shot from under him. When Smith was found his horse had fallen on him, pinning him to the ground, where he laid for several hours. He was thought to be dead, but regained consciousness when released.

In the Letcher Circuit Court Isam Collier, of Cumberland River, was on trial for the burning of the home of Joseph Day, a neighbor, in March of this year. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty, and fixed his punishment at 14 years in the Kentucky Penitentiary. Collier being strictly on the alert, the instant the verdict was read, and when his bondsmen were in no way responsible, fled from the crowded courthouse, mounted his horse and rode away at a rapid pace. News of his escape spread like wildfire, and soon hundreds of people were searching the country for miles around. Collier was seen crossing the Cumberland Mountains toward Stonega, Va., the nearest railroad station. It is stated that Collier had over $400 in cash in his purse when he escaped.

FROST has appeared in the lake regions.

GOV. BRADLEY says that politics does not enter into conversations between him and General Taylor, the Republican candidate for Governor. Bradley is at the head of his party's revolt against the Republican State ticket, and there is no indication that he will be induced to lend it a helping hand in the hopeless struggle in which it is now engaged. The Governor is a man of his own head and can not be driven.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

The taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the following places to receive taxes for 1899:

Verona, Sept. 5th, Oct. 5th.
Walton, Sept. 6th, Oct. 6th.
Bellevue, Sept. 7th, Oct. 9th.
Union, Sept. 8th, Oct. 7th.
Petersburg, Sept. 9th, Oct. 10th.
Bullittsville, Sept. 11th, Oct. 16th.
Big Bone, Sept. 12th, Oct. 11th.
Constance, Sept. 13th, Oct. 12th.
Beaver, Sept. 14th, Oct. 13th.
Florence, Sept. 15th, Oct. 14th.
Rabbit Hash, Sept. 16th, Oct. 17th.
Gunpowder, Oct. 18th.
Richwood, Oct. 20th.
Hebron, Oct. 21st.

All taxes not paid by Dec 1st, 1899, will have the 6 per cent. penalty added. Meet me at the appointed places and avoid the penalty.

ELMER BEALL, S. B. C.

The League Institute,

VERONA, KY.

Opens September 18, 1899.

Miss N. E. Hamilton, Principal, teacher of Belle-lettres and Sciences
Miss Madeline Pfeiffer, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Latin & German.
Miss Lula Forwood, Mathematics and Elocution.
With those interested, a correspondence with the principal is solicited.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the League Institute, the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, 1st, That we endorse and commend the methods, management and zeal of the faculty.

2d. That we desire to express our appreciation of the steady growth of the Institute; and especially the great interest manifested by pupils and patrons.

3d. That we cordially invite parents seeking a good school for their children to investigate the merits of The League Institute.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.
Verona, Ky.

For Sale or Rent.

A farm on the Ohio river, on the Ky., side, 18 miles below Covington, containing 450 acres. Address

Mrs. N. P. CRAMBERS,
432 Greenup St., Covington, Ky.

The Time Comes

to every elderly woman when an important functional change takes place. This is called "The Change of Life." The entire system undergoes a change. Dreadful diseases such as cancer and consumption are often contracted at this time.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

strengthens and purifies the entire system, and brings the sufferer safely over these pitfalls. Its effects have been wonderful. It is good for all menstrual troubles, but is especially recommended at this time. Ask your druggist for the famous Wine of Cardui. $1.00 a bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

THOMAS J. COOPER, Tupelo, Miss., says—"My sister suffered from irregular and painful menstruation and doctors could not relieve her. Wine of Cardui entirely cured her, and also helped my mother through the change of Life."

STATE DIRECTORY.

Governor—W. O. Bradley.
Lieutenant Governor—W. J. Worthington.
Secretary of State—Charles Finley.
Assistant Secretary of State—K. D. Guffy.
Attorney General—W. S. Taylor.
Auditor—Samuel H. Stone.
Assistant Auditor—Frank Johnson.
Treasurer—George M. Long.
Sup't of Public Instruction—Geo. M. Davidson.
Register Land Office—Charles O. Reynolds.
Deputies—Stanley D. Brown, Sam S. Shepherd.
Insurance Commissioner—Sam Stone.
Adjutant General—D. R. Collier.
Assistant—Walter Forrester.
Supt. Arsenal—Capt. David O'Connell.
State Inspector—C. M. Lester.
Commissioner Agriculture—Lucas Moore.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Chief Justice—Joseph Lewis. Judges—Geo. Du relle, J. K. Grace, T. H. Paynter, B. L. D. Guffy, J. H. Haselrigg, J. H. Lewis.
Reporter—E. W. Hines. Clerk—A. Addams.
Sergeant—W. S. B. Hill. Tipstaff—C. C. Turner.
Librarian—Miss Pauline Hardin.
Inspector of Mines—C. J. Norwood.

STATE PRISON OFFICIALS:

Frankfort Prison—Warden, Henry George; Deputy Warden, M. A. Rooney.
Eddyville Prison—Warden, L. C. Curry; Deputy Warden, Ward Linn.

RAILROAD COMMISSION:

John C. Wood, Chairman; I. F. Dempsey, H. S. Irwin. Secretary—Samuel Brown.

COUNTY DIRECTORY.

County Judge—C. C. Roberts.
County Clerk—S. W. Adams.
County Attorney—J. M. Lassing.
Sheriff—Elmer Beall.
Deputy Sheriff—B. B. Aliphin, jr.
Jailer—T. A. Adams.
Assessor—T. G. Willis.
Coroner—A. A. Murat.
Superintendent Schools—L. H. Voshell.
Surveyor—W. E. Vest.

Fiscal Court meets Tuesday after first Monday in January, April, July and October.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge—John W. Green.
Clerk—J. W. Duncan.
Commonwealth's Attorney—M. D. Gray.
Master Commissioner—J. S. Berkshire.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

Courts are held in the months of March, June, September and December, as follows:

District No 1.—Clinton Gaines, fourth Saturday; J. T. Grant, Constable.
District No. 2.—M. B. Green, first Saturday; Constable.
District No. 3.—R. H. Ryle, Wednesday after third Monday; J. W. Aylor, Constable.
District No. 4.—John S. Noell, Thursday after second Monday; Constable.
District No. 5.—J. C. Byland, Third Monday; J. H. Watson, Constable.
District No. 6.—J. H. Walton, third Saturday; T. I. Brown, jr., Constable.

JONH TANEOUS,

Hebron, Boone County, Ky..

CARPENTER, CONTRACTOR & BUILDER.

Also does Roofing and Tin Work.

Your Work Solicited.

Consign your Stock to

Rabenstein, Harris & Conner,

—Live Stock—
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

COVINGTON STOCK YARDS,
Covington, Ky.,
OR UNION STOCK YARDS,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

When shipping East bill our care privilege selling Central Covington Stock Yards.

We will make it to your advantage and give your stock special personal attention.

Helms' Barber Shop,

PETERSBURG, KY.

Hair cut 15c, on Saturday 20c; Shave 10c; Shampoo 15c; Sea Foam 5c; Hair Stuge 5c; Beard Trim 5c, other work proportionally as low in price. Ladies' and childrens' work a specialty. ☞All work guaranteed satisfactory or money refunded. Hair Oils, Tonics, Perfume, etc., for sale. Thanking all for past favors, I remain, &c.,

EVERETT HELMS, Prop.

LADIES—To the ladies that have not paid us a call, will say, that Thursday is conceded to be their day. Ladies Shampoo 25c; Sea Foam 15c; Bangs trimmed 10c. Hair dressed for special occasions a specialty, at reasonable rates. Courteous treatment is our motto. Give us a call.

SIXTH YEAR OF

Walton :-: Academy

—OPENS—

First Monday in September.

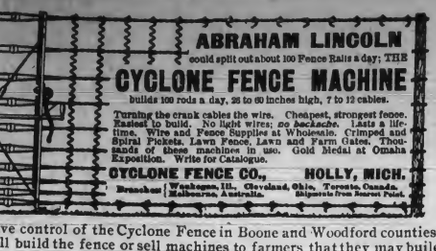
First-class instruction in all Common School Branches.

Higher Arithmetic, Elementary and Higher Algebra, Book-Keeping, Plain and Solid Geometry, History, Rhetoric and Literature, Physiology, Geography, Physics, Astronomy, Logic and Phychology. Latin includes Cesar, Cicero, Nepos, Virgil. Greek including Beginners, Greek and Xenophon.

Terms:—Tuition and Board in the building, five days in the week, under the care of the teacher, $105.75, for nine months; Board the full week or Music $18.50 additional for the full term.

Mrs. S. H. MYERS, Prin.

W. M. RANDALL, DENTIST.



Will be at

BURLINGTON,	PETERSBURG:
Monday,	Wednesday,
Tuesday,	Thursday,
	Friday,
	Saturday,

☞OF EACH WEEK.☜

GIVE HIM A CALL.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN could split out about 100 Fence Rails a day; THE CYCLONE FENCE MACHINE builds 100 rods a day, 26 to 60 inches high, 7 to 12 cables.

Turning the crank cables the wire. Cheapest, strongest fence. Easiest to build. No light wires; no backache. Lasts a lifetime. Wire and Fence Supplies at Wholesale. Crimped and Spiral Pickets. Lawn Fence, Lawn and Farm Gates. Thousands of these machines in use. Gold Medal at Omaha Exposition. Write for Catalogue.

CYCLONE FENCE CO., HOLLY, MICH.

Branches { Waukegan, Ill., Cleveland, Ohio, Toronto, Canada, Melbourne, Australia. Shipments from Nearest Point.

I have control of the Cyclone Fence in Boone and Woodford counties. I will build the fence or sell machines to farmers that they may build their own fences. It is the cheapest and best fence that can be built. Address G. CARTER GRADDY, BULLITTSVILLE, KY.

DR. A. P. WALTON, DENTIST,

CINCINNATI,

The Lancaster Building 22 W. 7th, Bet. Vine and Race.

INSURE AT HOME

The Farmers' Mutual Fire

INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF BOONE COUNTY,

Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.

Its Rates are Lower

Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County

HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE

In keeping their property insured.

EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.

E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
EDGAR CROPPER, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.

EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.

J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

CORNER

Drug Store

Rising Sun, Ind.

Is the place for anything in the Drug Line.

WALL PAPER, PAINTS, WINDOW SHADES.
STATIONERY,
PERFUMES,
FANCY GOODS, &c.

B. F. BUCHANAN,
—DRUGGIST,—
Over thirty year's experience.

FARMERS

Take Notice!
If you want good

Fertilizer

PLEASE GIVE

B. F. ZIMMER

A CALL.

He will try to please you. He has the finest line of Fertilizer for 1899 he has ever handled. Write for particulars to

CONSTANCE, KY.

Central Covington Stock Yards,

COVINGTON, KY.

Are located so as to offer special inducements to shippers South of the Ohio river in saving them extra expense and time. In addition to the local buyers there will be Eastern and foreign buyers on the market for all kinds of stock. When shipping East, don't fail to consign our care privilege selling which will be of benefit to you.

Central Covington Stock Yards Co.

Commission firms will give prompt attention to consignments.

FRANK HOSSMAN,

Hebron, Ky.,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

—Also handles all—

KINDS of ROOFING,

Which is furnished and put on at the Lowest Prices consistent with good work.

I am prepared for moving buildings.

Your Work is Solicited.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.

Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect Dec. 5th, 1898.

P. M.	A. M.		A. M.	P. M.
4.06	8.30	lv Cincinnati ar	10.05	6.00
4.15	7.04	" Ludlow lv	9.55	5.50
4.30	7.18	" Erlanger lv	9.36	5.27
5 18	8.25	Williamstown "	8.45	4.25
5.35	8.49	" Corinth "	8.25	4 03
6.17	10.28	" Georgetw'n "	7 50	3.19
6.39	10 50	ar Stam'g Gro'nd	7.28	1.55
7.10	11.20	" Frankfort "	7.00	1.00

JOS. R. NEWTON, G. P. A., Frankfort, Ky.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,

ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.

BURLINGTON, KY.

Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

BURLINGTON, KY.

Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,

ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.

BURLINGTON, KY,

Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,

ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.

WALTON, KENTUCKY.

—o—

Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him. mch23-93.

W. E. VEST,

County Surveyor,

BURLINGTON, KY.

Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL

LASSING & RIDDELL,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW.

BURLINGTON, KY.

Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

BURLINGTON, KY.

Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

S. W. ADAMS,

ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,

ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.

Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST,

Real Estate Agent.

Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. ☞All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.

(Incorporated 1886.)

CAPITAL, ... $80,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 20,000

—)o(—

Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.

(INCORPORATED 1893.)

ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY

CAPITAL PAID IN..... $50,000
SURPLUS,..... $ 8.000

Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,

DENTIST,

Walton, Kentucky.

Artificial Dentures, Crown and Bridge Work to represent natural organs. Gas, Vitalized Air, Odontunder for extraction. ☞Will be in office at Union every Monday.

Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

Coal! Coal!

Good Raymond City Coal

In the Yard,

9 1-2 Cents a Bushel.

KANAWAH COAL

9 cents a bushel.

J. P. LINDSAY & CO.,

Erlanger, Ky.

J. O. HUEY, Manager.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1899. NO. 48.

THERE is no argument in abuse and vilification, although that is some papers' entire stock in trade.

Is is hard to believe that Kentucky Democrats will follow the leadership of any set of men who contemplate invoking the aid of the federal government in a State election.

GOV. BROWN never finds time in any of his speeches to discuss the present State administration, although the platform on which he stands condemns it. But it is the policy of the speakers "on his side" to say nothing on that subject, so that when the time comes the Palmer and Buckner racket can be worked again, this time for the purpose of electing a Republican Governor.

THE Commonwealth unqualifiedly charges that Judge W. S. Pryor "is a part and parcel of the great conspiracy to steal the State for Goebel," Matters in Kentucky are reaching a terrible condition when the character of a man of Judge Pryor's standing in the State is assassinated solely for political purposes; but the character of Judge Pryor, either as private citizen or as public official, is a complete refutation of any charge that his would-be traducers can trump up against him.

IN the last four years of the Democratic administration in this State, the public school fund it distributed amounted to $1,011,403 more than the Republican administration will have distributed at the close of its four years, an average of over $250,000 a year in favor of the Democrats. This is a matter of very great importance to the teachers throughout the State. A yearly fall off of $250,000 in the money that they receive for their labors is a pretty considerable reduction.

IT is apparent that the object of the anti-Goebel speakers is to cultivate the sentiment against the Democratic ticket until it reaches such intensity that when, a few days prior to the election, the word goes down the Brown line, "vote for Taylor," they hope to see a general rush to the support of the Log Cabin ticket by the Brown following, hence the orators who are scouring the State, advocating the Lexington ticket, have nothing to say in regard to the present State administraton. There are some whom the scheme will not land.

IN 1898 when the Goebel election law was pending in the legislature, the Louisville Dispatch was about the staunchest friend the measure had in the State, and it abused the Courier-Journal roundly because of its opposition to its passage. No sooner did it become a law than the Dispatch boasted of the powerful influence it had wielded in behalf of the law, claiming that it was exactly the law to insure fair and honest elections in Kentucky. After the election at which Hobson was elected Judge of the Court of Appeals, the Dispatch was again very exuberant in its praise of the law, and was particular to indicate its many excellent features. But now this best and mostly needed of all laws—a law the passage of which the Dispatch, only a little over a year ago, was boasting it was the chief factor in its enactment, has all of a sudden become "infamous" in the opinion of that flopper, and that too without the intervening of an election after which the Dispatch had been so greatly elated with its operation. What has caused the Dispatch to change so radically in regard to the Goebel law? If what it now says about that law is true, what it said at the time of its passage and also immediately after Judge Hobson's election, was false; and, on the other hand, if what it said of that law on these occasions was true, what it nows says, is false; consequently, looking at the matter from either standpoint you see that the Dispatch is guilty of practicing deception. What right to leadership has a paper that, in a few short months has been on both sides of this important question. There is no assurance when it begins advocating any proposition that it will not desert it at any time. Its duplicity in regard to the election law is is equal to that of the Courier-Jurnal on the money question.

AURORA is beginning to feel the effects of the trusts that are swallowing up the commercial interests in this country, and the last issue of the Independents ays:

> The Match Company, so we are informed, is shipping away its stock, sold to Diamond Match Co. If this is true and it is an easy matter to ascertain the truth, it ought to be stopped, and stopped at once. Not a single match block ought to be premitted to be taken away from that factory without a fight for the rights of our citizens who have nearly thirty thousand dollars in that plant. There must be some protection for us and we ought to make a fight for it.

This match factory cost the citizens of Aurora $30,000, and the match trust having swiped it, the factory is to close down. Here is a slice of consolation the Independent dishes up:

> If any of our citizens have any hopes that the American Match Co. will ever again turn a wheel or make another match in our city he may as well banish that hope at once. If any one heretofore employed in that factory—that thirty thousand dollar beauty—thinks to work there again he or she had better look elsewhere for employment, because we have what we consider reliable information that this factory has gone into the match trust and if this is so there is not the slightest probability that it will ever be operated here again With these things in view it looks like we have been skinned clear to the bone, even to the marrow in our bones. It feels that way, too. It hurts.

The only panacea for this trust plague is the returning to power of the Democratic patty, and the Independent is requested to assist in that good work.

Secretary Hay says in his letter to the Ohio Republicans that the Democrats really have no issues. As for "the reign of trust," this, he says, "the Republicans themselves can manage, having all the requisite experience, both of legislation and business," The Republicans have so "managed" that under McKinley's Administration the number of industrial trusts has increased to 540, with a capitalization of $800,000,000. Hasn't the country had enough of the Republican party's "experience" in managing trusts?—N. Y. World.

THE Congressional election in this State, last fall, was held under the present election law, and not a word of criticism of its workings came from those who are now saying so much against it. The fact is all were pleased with it in that instance, and before the election no one ever suggested that the strong arm of the federal government should be called in to supervise the election in any manner.

A Boone county Democrat will certainly think a long time before following any set of men who favor inviting United States officials to take any part in the State elections. The scheme the Kentucky Post of last Saturday mentioned (see copied in another column) is only a short step from the bayonet.

GEN. OTIS does not intend that Gen. Joe Wheeler shall have an opportunity to distinguish himself in the Philippines if he can prevent it. Otis is too slow for Wheeler who believes in a dashing campaign. Had Wheeler been in the place of Otis all this time the Filipinos would have been whipped ere this.

A double tragedy occurred at Stamping Grounds, Scott county. Marshal Duke attempted to arrest Tom Southworth, for a disturbance, and was shot by the latter in the heart. Duke shot Southworth in the head.

THE indications are that W. J. Bryan will get a solid delegation from the State of New York in the national convention. The changes in his favor in the Empire State have been very marked in the last few months.

THE lawless bands that have been creating a great deal of trouble in Cuba since the occupation by the U. S. troops, have about all surrendered, and peace and quiet are being rapidly restored in the island.

SHOULD the Democrats carry Ohio, this fall, and Kentucky be safely anchored in the Democratic column for 1900, the Democratic Presidential victory will be about the same as won.

THE yellow fever continues to spread in Key West, Florida. From thirty to forty new cases appear each day.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

In last week's issue of your paper, your Walton correspondent, Geo. M. Casey, says I am becoming conspicuous and need watching, for I have become notorious, and to gain prominence I associated myself with Col. Albert S. Berry in 1896. In 1890 I voted for Col. Berry, and every time he has been a candidate I walked up and voted for him, and I was three times a delegate to the Sixth Congressional convention from Boone county for Col. Berry, and in 1900 I will be a delegate to the Sixth Congressional convention and will vote for Col. Berry.

He says in an interview with a newspaper man I made a statement that Goebel would lose 500 votes in the Walton precinct. If he will open his eyes and read the Kentucky Post, he will see what I said. Goebel will carry Boone by 1,000, and I said Goebel will lose 500 votes in Boone county. He said I told Wat Hardin that he would carry Walton; I did, and others told him the same thing. He says I am the tail end of the Democracy. I would like to see the head of Democracy at Walton, and what it has done for the party at Walton. In 1896, I, the tail of Democracy, made up $90 for the Bryan barbecue at Walton. The heads of Democracy, as he calls them, did not make up $10, and for the past five years I have been a judge or a challenger of the election for the Democratic party at Walton.

I will ask Geo. M. Casey what did he do for Democracy the past five years? In 1895 he did vote for Wat Hardin—in 1896 he was talking gold-bugism in Louisville with the Courier Journal, and he did not vote for Bryan. In 1897 he did not vote for Shackelford, and he calls himself the head of Democracy. If he is it is the first time I ever heard of the head being behind the tail, where he is now.

He stated through the Recorder that there were several German Republicans at Walton who would vote for Goebel, and that Goebel would run strong at Walton. I now say to Geo. M. Casey that for every Republican German or any kind that he will name through the Recorder that will vote for Goebel at Walton, I will name three silver Democrats who will vote against him.

I will also ask Mr. Casey, or any other man, to show me when or where did I ever vote or work against the platform or the nominee of the Democratic party? And I now say that G. M. Casey is a Courier-Journal Democrat—the tail end of no party—for Goebel this year and for McKinley in 1900.

DAVID HALEY.

Walton, Ky.

POLITICAL.

It is gratifying to know that with very few exceptions the Democratic journals during the present heated campaign have pitched their course upon a high plane. Although some of the opposition papers have lowered the standard of journalism and their whole stock in trade seems to have been vituperation and abuse, still the Democratic press has shown a dignity and forbearance, which stand in favorable contrast with the course of their opponents. Democrats can well afford to be mognanimous and forgiving. They have an undoubting and serene confidence in the great victory about to be won. And they can well afford to pass without notice the ill-tempered assaults of a baffled and disappointed enemy. And the more so because the violent and coarse abuse has recoiled, as it usually does, upon its authors, and added strength to the men whom it has assailed. When abuse becomes persecution, it utterly fails to accomplish its purpose.—Kentuckian Citizen.

THE Republicans in Covington are not dwelling in peace and harmony. The city officials are to be elected this fall, and about three out of five of the Republicans want some office, hence the scrapping.

IT would be hard to conceive of the condition of mind of a Boone county Democrat who would make the affidavit necessary to have federal officers stationed at the polls this fall. Democrats do not believe in federal interference in State affairs.

THE officers of election will be appointed now in a few days by the board of county election commissioners.

AS WE SEE THE MISSOURI MAN.

A man born in the wolf lands of Missouri, is of uncertain descent and hard to curry.

He rideth forth at noon-time and never returns at bed time.

He shunneth righteousness as a safe-guard against cremation and dies of old age if he wears 22 inch steel armor.

He desireth to raise h—l at all times—it is the best paying crop in the State—and drinketh much old crow for the ague.

He plows up his neighbor's fields with a gatling gun and soweth much discord in his neighborhood's domestic affairs.

He goeth forth in joy and cometh home arrested for train robbery.

He calleth his fellow-citizen a gentleman and is recognized as a profound liar.

He riseth in the night to "let the cat out of the bag," and dies instantly of pneumonia with his boots on.

He goeth forth on a journey unshot, and comes home on time with a stolen horse and gets shot.

He riseth even from his cradle to find his grandfather's enemy, and dies 79 years afterward throwing rocks at his grandmother.

He looketh upon wine when it is red—weareth a rose colored nose to meeting on Sunday—puteth a beer check in the contribution box and taketh out 20 cents in change. A circus catcheth him. Death hath no terror for him Cyclones abideth with him, and the average Kentuckian despiseth him. UNION BLADE.

HOW THE L. & N. IMPROVES THE COUNTRY.

There has been no little said and written about how the L. & N. R. R. has developed the country. A little investigation of the development shows how the R. R. Co. has devised a system of tariff rates that plays the mischief with all developments, that is so far as the inhabitants are concerned.

Taking the article of coal, one of the most important necessaries of life, and it is found that the C. & O. rates from Coalburg, W. Va., to Cincinnati, Covington and Newport, is 75cts per ton, frieght, on a distance of 235 miles. The rate on a ton of coal from Frenchtown, a suburb of Newport, to Walton, a distance of 17 miles, is 60 cts a ton freight. From Frenchtown to Verona, a distance of 22 miles, the freight rate is 90 cts a ton. From Frenchtown to Sparta, a distance of 42 miles, the rate is $1 20 per ton. But if the coal going to Sparta is shipped in Cox Bros.' name there is a rebate by which the cost is reduced to 60 cts per ton, the same as to Walton, a distance of only 17 miles from Frenchtown.

Is it any wonder that the L. & N. R. R. is making such Herculean efforts to down Goebel and the McChord bill? Its managers want an Executive and Legislature that will allow them to continue their robbery—and mayhap to increase it if they can select the tools with which to do it. Now this is developing the country with a great big Whereas. CASEY.

[Saturday's Ky. Post.]

If the plan which originated in Covington several days ago, and which is now being worked throughout the State, proves successful the voters of Kentucky may have their votes counted in the presence of a United States official at the November election.

The plan in substance is to ask the Federal Court to appoint a supervisor of the count of the ballots at the next election, under the claim that the right of suffrage granted to every citizen by the United States constitution is to be interfered with.

It is claimed that Federal Judge Evans has already held that the United States Court has the right to take action in any election, whenever any citizen's right to vote is menaced.

Those behind the movement are said to be getting persons in each voting precinct in the State to make affidavits that they intend to vote for Taylor or Brown for Governor, and that they believe their votes will not be counted. This, it is claimed, is equivalent to depriving them of their constitutional right of suffrage.

If the United States Courts should hold that the affidavits are sufficient cause for action on the part of the United States authorities, the courts will then, so it is claimed, appoint Federal Supervisors to see that the count is made correctly. Those behind the movement claim that the same is done in the South every year.

The matter has been kept quiet by the Brown people.

Truthful saying; proof from observation: An honest man is taken for a fool, but the fool is the one who takes advantage of his integrity. The good all denominations could do and more christianity they would show if they would stop fighting one another. The Bible is the best book to read but from the way the Bible reads, and the professed christian and preacher in general live one or the other is certainly wrong. Either make the outward man good and his deeds good, or else make the outward man corrupt and his deeds corrupt, for the man is know by his deeds; then if you are troubled when you will have to reap what you sow it will be because you make your choice below. Delight not in a multitude of unprofitable preachers; neither delight in ungodly churchmembers, tho they multiply; rejoice not in them except the fear of the Lord be with them; trust not them in their confession; neither respect their number, for one that is a christian is better than thousands, and better is it to die unconfessing than to confess and die a hypocrite. He that loveth the Lord feareth to do wrong that he may escape the wrath of God in the end.

A church member that is not a christian becometh a stumbling-block to the world and throweth a dark light in the path of those who might accept the way to peace and happiness. They bow down their necks while in the church and beat themselves from the love of God less they become christians and lose popularity and pleasure of the world and so bring sorrow unto their hearts.

> But God has licenses no one to sin,
> Even unto this evil day—
> Then his battle you should win
> Tho stumbling blocks be in your way.
>
> J. E. H.

FROM OWEN COUNTY.

[News]

Jas. Harris is one of the farmers who is through cutting tobbacco, a fine crop of 9,700 sticks.

Farmers say there was never in their recollection such a lot of tobacco worms on tobacco as during the past three weeks. It seems impossible to clear tobacco of them.

Mr. B. F. Doty is thinking of boreing a well five or six hundred feet on his place with a view of striking oil. There has always been strong traces of oil in a spring and a well near by, and he is of the opinion that oil can be found.

Allen Tate, the young man who was held over to the Circuit court before Squire Clark, last week, on the charge of stealing a watch from A. J. Tandy, near Hesler, was released Monday. It developed that the watch was taken by another, and Tate had nothing to do with it.

Monterey and vicinity were visited by a terrible wind storm last Wednesday. Fences and barns were blowed down and much damage done to standing crops. Mr. Lee McGraw had his large tobacco handling barn leveled. Mr. Scott and Mr. Henderson both had barns blown down. John Knox who drives the stage from this place to Monterey was blown off the pike several times, and Tom Crittenden, a young farmer living in the river bottom above Monterey was struck by lightening and instantly killed. While the damage was great it brought a fine rain, which the country greatly needed.

An interesting Missouri exchange has this to say: "Two brothers from a north Missouri county appeared one morning at the portals of the St. Joseph insane asylum, one to be incarcerated there as a patient, and the other having him in charge as far as the asylum. They were dressed very much alike and the observer on the train would not have detected signs of insanity in either. The asylum man was in a quandary. He chatted with his visitors until a late hour and then locked them in a room together. Then he telegraphed to the authorities at the town where the brothers lived: 'Two men arrived here from your town to-day; both dressed alike; one calls himself Bill and talks of constructing an air line to the moon the other goes by the name of Dave, and advocates the gold standard. which shall I keep?'"

HON. J. C. S. BLACKBURN, has the sympathy of the entire nation in his sad bereavement—the loss of his wife, whose death occurred of heart trouble, last Sunday.

IT is said that Capt. Alfred Dreyfus, twice convicted of selling the army secrets of France, will be a free man again in a few days, his pardon having been decided upon by that Government.

[New York Journal.]

President McKinley's wise Cabinet officers are having their hands full at present explaining away various matters pertaining to trusts. Secretary Wilson, of the Agricultural Department, carefully adjusting his official spectacles, delivers himself of the following:

"If the prices of meat continue high the farmers in the corn belt will take to raising live stock. It will pay them better than raising the raw material. They will transform some of their grain fields into pasturage and feed their cheap corn to the cattle. Instead of killing calves for veal they will raise beef cattle, and in two years and a half they can make a great increase in the supply."

Secretary Wilson says further that ranges have been "eaten down to the roots without giving the grasses time to renew themselves."

Where are the vast herds of cattle which have grazed the ranges to ruin? Secretary Wilson's own figures prove that they do not exist. The honorable Secretary's deduction also proves that what he does not know about the cattle business and about the operations of trusts would make a volume as large as the Theogony of Hesiod.

The business of cattle raising has decreased to the extent of almost 9,000,000 a year, because the business no longer pays, when the only customer the stock raisers can find is a rapacious trust, which fixes its own prices.

This trust has wrecked the business of cattle raising and has raised the price of beef on what remains of it.

From Texas to Montana the Beef Trust has the cattle men by the throat. Nothing gets away from it that is worth having.

Farmers should pay no attention to Secretary Wilson's arguments. Foolish, indeed, will be the farmer who stops raising cereals to dabble in stock under the iorn thumb of a trust. The unhappy steer, wherever he exists, is branded with the triple cross of three different trusts.

The Beef Trust takes the flesh and fixes it own price for it. The result may be seen in the present price of meat.

The Leather Trust takes the hide. Therefore we may expect a rise in the price of shoes.

The Glue Trust takes the hoofs and horns. Therefore we may look for a rise in the price of glue.

There is as yet no corn trust, or barley or oats trusts; there is no pumpkin or potato trust; there is no beet or bean trust. In these markets, therefore, the farmer may find an honest recompense for his labor.

There is no longer a home market for cattle for the farmers. The local butchers, who formerly bought farmers' cattle, have been forced to buy dressed beef from the trust or go into bankruptcy.

Secretary Wilson, although in a Trust Cabinet, should not misadvise men who look to him for counsel and wise words.

Hundreds of white men are camped on the borders in the principal towns of the Choctaw Indian nation. They are seeking Choctaw Indian girls for wives. The Choctaw citizenship rolls will close on the 1st of next month, and there after white men who marry Indian girls will not be allowed to share in the tribal funds. Already thousands of Choctaw girls have married white men, and these whites are now worth thousands of dollars. Choctaw girls at the present time are worth 550 acres of land, and about $1,000 in cash. They are pretty—that is, a majority of them are—and they have been fairly well educated. They like the white people generally, and it is not such a difficult task to win one. Tams Bixby, chairman of the Dawes commission, says that he expects 1,000 weddings to take place in the Choctaw nation within the next fifteen days.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

THE Kentucky Post gives out the figures of the Brown managers in 37 counties in the State, and in none of these counties do they claim to exceed 35 per cent, of the Democratic vote, reaching as low as 5 per cent. in some. This demonstrates that all the Brown people expect to accomplish is the defeat of the Democratic ticket, by drawing away enough votes for that purpose. Now if a Democrat is satisfied with Republican rule in the State it is his privilege to assist, either directly or indirectly, with his vote in the election of the Republican ticket this fall.

IT is less than six weeks until the election!

POLICY OF GEN. OTIS.

Revealed in Letter of Associated Press Man at Manila.

Facts Suppressed for Fear of "Hurting the Administration"—Causes for Round Robin of Correspondents.

In reply to a request from General Manager M. E. Stone, of the Associated Press, that he give events leading up to the newspaper men's "round robin," of last July, Correspondent Robert M. Collins, stationed at Manila, wrote full particulars, more prominent among which were the following:

"Manila, P. I., July 30, 1899.—Melville E. Stone, Esq., General Manager the Associated Press, Chicago, U. S. A.—My Dear Mr. Stone: Your request for a detailed record of all the circumstances leading to the statement cabled to the newspapers by all the correspondents in Manila is just received. In the beginning it should be explained that the correspondents had the question of taking some united action to secure the right to send the facts about the war, or, failing in that, to explain to our papers why we were not telling the facts, two months before the cablegram was released.

"The censorship enforced during the war and before the beginning of it was, according to newspaper men who had worked in Japan, Turkey, Greece, Egypt and Russia in war times, and in Cuba under the Weyler regime and during our war, so much more stringent than any hitherto attempted that we were astonished that the American authorities should countenance it, and were confident that public opinion would be overwhelmingly against it if its methods and purposes became known.

"For a long time we submitted to the censorship because of appeals to our patriotism and a feeling that we might be accused of a lack thereof if we made any trouble for the American authorities here.

Admits the Real Purpose.

"But when Gen. Otis came down in the frank admission that it was not intended so much to prevent the newspapers from giving information and assistance to the enemy (the legitimate function, and, according to our view, the only legitimate one, of a censorship), but to keep the knowledge of conditions here from the public at home, and when the censor had repeatedly told us, in ruling out plain statements of undisputed facts: 'My instructions are to let nothing go that can hurt the administration,' we concluded that protest was justifiable.

Otis Saves as Censor.

"Otis had gained the idea from the long submission by the newspaper men to his dictation that it was a part of the duty of the governor general to direct the newspaper correspondents as he did his officers. Much of the censorship was conducted by him personally, the censor sending a correspondent to the general with any dispatch about which he had doubts. The process of passing a message was identical with the correction of a composition by a schoolmaster. Otis or the censor striking out what displeased him and inserting what he thought should be said, or, what came to the same thing, telling the correspondent he must say certain things if his story was to go.

"In this way the entire American press was made the personal organ of Otis; we were permitted to send nothing but the official view of all events and conditions, even when the official view controverted the opinions of the great mass of the officers in the field and of intelligent residents and was a falsification of events which passed before our eyes. In this way every fight became a glorious American victory, even though every one in the army knew it to have been substantially a failure, and we were drilled into writing quite mechanically wholly ridiculous estimates of the numbers of Filipinos killed, knowing that if we wrote any other description than the sort being telegraphed to the war department our work would be wasted.

Frequent Appeals Fruitless.

"Repeated appeals made by all the correspondents to their papers to secure change in censorship methods had been fruitless, and as conditions steadily grew worse, and failure was piled upon failure, while we were sending rose-colored pictures of successful war and inhabitants flocking to the American standard, the repeated suggestions of correspondents that 'we must do something' resulted in a formal meeting.

"All were agreed that their work was being made a farce, the papers were wasting money in keeping them there, that Otis might as well detail some of his own clerks to do the work. Each had his own idea of what should be done. I proposed they protest to the president against the censorship, with the request that all matter should be passed except military movements which would assist the enemy, and I thought it had better be signed by the names of the organizations and papers represented than by our names, because their action might be construed into a desire for personal advertisement. The others thought we should send a statement of the conditions, with an explanation to the public why our reports had been so misleading.

Censor Says It's "a Terrible Mess."

"The censor's comment [I made note of it] was: 'Of course, we all know that we are in a terrible mess out here, but we don't want the people to get excited about it. If you fellows will only keep quiet now we will pull through in time without any fuss at home.'

"He took the story to Gen. Otis, who said: 'Tell Collins that if he will hold that for a week or ten days he will excuse me for not letting him send it,' and when I went to see him repeated the same old story about the insurrection going to pieces and hinted so portentously about having wonderful things up his sleeve that I almost believed him in the face of past experience of the same sort. The other men had practically the same experience, each one trying to get through a story of how matters stood at the beginning of the rainy season, then on.

"So after waiting a month for the general's predictions to materialize we decided to send the statement we had framed without changing it, as the conditions had not changed since it was written. Its form was not what I wanted, because I thought a correspondent of the Associated Press should not assume to give his own views upon any question; but, on the other hand, it was that or nothing. The views were not our personal views, but the views of Lawton, MacArthur, Funston, Wheaton, et al., and we could not be accused of prejudice against the administration, because the strongest administration organ in the country was committed to the plan, and, moreover, the attempt to hold the newspapers by the throat was so unusual that unusual action seemed to be justified and demanded.

Take Round Robin to Censor.

"As a matter of form, we took the message to the censor. His comment was practically the same that he had made on my message. He did not question the accuracy of the statement of conditions, but said: 'This is just the sort of matter the censorship is intended to suppress.' He, of course, took it to Otis, who in turn sent a messenger requesting Davis, of the New York Sun, to go and see him, doubtless thinking that as he had treated the Sun as his organ, and its correspondents being under obligations to him for special favors, he could work them to give up the plan. Thompson said he [illegible] thought Collins and McCutcheon would go also, as their views had always been conservative, etc. A committee [illegible] Davis, McCutcheon, Bass and [illegible] Threatens Court-Martial.

"[illegible] were ushered into Otis' room [illegible] be said with some anger: 'Gentlemen, you have served an extraordinary pass upon me. You accuse me of falsehood. This constitutes a conspiracy against the government. I will have you tried by a general court-martial and let you choose the judges.' We knew from experience with threats to 'put you off the island' that there was nothing to be frightened about, and also knew that all the officers who would sit on a court-martial would know we told the truth.

"Three hours of exceedingly plain talk followed. The general did not contradict our statements that the purpose of the censorship was to keep the facts from the public, but said that what we wanted was to have the people stirred up and make sensations for the papers. We told him that there had never been any subjects furnishing more good material for sensations than this war, and that he should be exceedingly grateful to the papers for handling it so temperately.

Mutilation of Dead Filipinos.

"In that connection we reminded him that the stories of looting in soldiers' letters home had been little, if any, exaggerated. Davis and Bass told him they had personally seen our soldiers bayonetting the wounded, and I reminded him that the cutting off of the ears of two American soldiers at Dasmarinas had been merely retaliation for similar mutilations of dead Filipinos by the Americans. [No one could possibly tell stronger stories of the looting and blackmailing by our soldiers than Otis has told, although he charges it all to the volunteers.]

"We told him that we had refrained from sending these things and others of similar nature because we did not wish to make sensations. We told him that the censorship was purely for the purpose of giving the impression at home that everything was lovely here, otherwise he would suppress the local papers which print all sorts of glippings from the American papers, debouncing the administration, and which keep the enemy posted on the position of every company in our army, and even give advance notice of intended movements.

Shuts Off Information.

"The position of the newspaper correspondents here is, as it has been from the beginning, most difficult.

"Otis had closed to us every possible source of information. Only yesterday, when I attempted to send a report of the bombardment of Paste, the truthfulness of which was unquestioned, he immediately sent for Lawton, and demanded to know how it had been made public, and told Lawton to jump on the members of his staff.

"Such strict orders against talking to newspaper men have been repeatedly issued that when we go about headquarters the officers avoid us as though we had smallpox, because they are afraid to be seen talking with us. Otis refuses to give us passes to go about the city after the closing hour (8:30), although such passes are given to the reporters on local papers and to business men of all nationalities, even Filipinos. All of the privileges extended to newspaper men in Cuba, like the limited use of the government telegraph wires and access to telegrams from the front which are not of a confidential nature, are denied us. It is impossible to maintain any system of correspondence from Iloilo and the other islands except by mail, as the officials in those places, under orders from headquarters, exercise a censorship practically prohibitive over the cable.

Fears Giving Aid to Bryan.

"Recently I filed what I thought a most inoffensive statement that the business men who had appeared before the commission had advocated the retention of the existing silver system of currency. The censor said: 'I ought not to let that go. That would be a lift for Bryan. My instructions are to shut off everything that could hurt McKinley's administration. That is free silver.' I explained that the silver system here was not 16 to 1, and with seeming reluctance he O. K.'d the item.

"The charge that we cared for nothing but to make sensations for our papers is most unjust, for I doubt if ever a body of newspaper men were more conservative in the presence of unlimited provocation for sensationalism. There have been three or four instances which I now recall of conduct by our soldiers resembling the episode of the Seventy-first New York in Cuba which were matters of common knowledge here, and which none of us has attempted to cable nor desired to.

Calls Otis a "Small Man."

"The secret of the whole trouble here is that the government has left a small man to deal with the most delicate problems, requiring broad statesmanship. Every one agrees that Otis is honest, and that young for much in a position affording such chances for dishonesty, but every one agrees also, with most remarkable unanimity, that he has bungled affairs from the beginning; that the war might have been avoided by tact and might have been ended before now by some other plan of campaign than sloshing aimlessly about, taking a town to-day, deserting it to-morrow, retaking it the next week—and by diplomacy.

"The Hong-Kong Press, which has always championed the American side of the Philippine questions, reflects the feeling of most people here in an editorial beginning: 'It is not difficult to imagine the disgust and indignation that would be felt and expressed in the United States when once the country awoke to the real condition of affairs in the Philippines. There has been mismanagement of the grossest description.'

"I wish the etiquette of officialdom might permit Dewey and Schurman to speak to McKinley and the public concerning Otis as freely as they have to newspaper men. Those two are the only men of the caliber of statesmen the government has sent here, and Schurman has the college professor's weakness of believing that all other men, including Malays, were as sincere in what they said as himself.

"Otis is a bureaucrat who never leaves his desk, has never seen his soldiers in the field, and insists upon managing both the civil and military branches of the government, although either one would fully occupy an able man, because he trusts no one but himself, and withal has a faculty for antagonizing everyone with whom he has to deal, as he has antagonized the newspaper men. Very truly yours,

"ROBERT M. COLLINS."

Original Round Robin.

Following is a copy of the original version of the round robin:

"The undersigned, being all the staff correspondents of American newspapers stationed in Manila, unite in the following statement:

"We believe that, owing to official dispatches from Manila published in American newspapers which have reached here, the people of the United States have not received a correct impression of the situation in the Philippines; that these dispatches have presented an ultra-optimistic view, which is not shared by the general officers in the field.

"We believe the dispatches misrepresent existing conditions among the Filipinos in respect to internal dissensions and demoralization resulting from the American campaign and to the brigand character of their army.

"We believe the dispatches mislead in the declaration that 'the situation is well in hand,' and err in the assumption that the insurrection can be speedily ended without a greatly increased force.

"We think that the tenacity of the Filipinos' purpose has been underestimated, and the statements unfounded that volunteers are willing for further service.

"The censorship has compelled up to participate in this misrepresentation by excising or altering uncontroversial statements of facts on the plea that, as Gen. Otis stated, 'they would also run the people at home,' or 'have the people of the United States by the ears.'

"Specifications: Suppression hospital reports and numbers heat prostrations in the field, systematic minimization of naval operations, suppression full reports field operations in event of failure and complete reports of situation."

HANNA REBUKES AMERICANS.

The Ohio Boss Has an Eye to the Financial Mad of the Expansion Business.

Senator Marie Hanna, of Ohio, who runs the republican party on a strictly syndicate basis, is not in sympathy with those Americans who deplore the surrender of American principles that will be necessary if the imperialist idea is to prevail. He characterizes the protests of these persons as "rot."

To Mark Hanna all ideas are "rot" that are not founded on the love of money and the desire and determination to accumulate money. It is not in the man to comprehend the meaning of such things as patriotism or unselfish devotion to high ideals or a faithfulness to the right for right's sake. At the end of every vista of life that opens to his view is the dollar or the power conferred by the dollar.

It was as the representative of money—not principle or party—that Hanna took charge of Mr. McKinley's campaign for the presidency. It was upon a money foundation that he organized the influences which brought about Mr. McKinley's election. It was with an eye strictly to the money side of every public question that he dictated the McKinley policy and directed the McKinley administration of national affairs. To Mark Hanna there is but one appeal possible from any phase of the duty of government—what is there in it for the syndicated governors?

Hanna opposed the war with Spain, because to him it seemed absurd that the financial chances of war should be assumed for such a Utopian idea as that of helping another people to national independence. The destruction of the Maine aroused no throb in his bosom beyond that of a businesslike regret that $5,000,000 should thus have gone up in smoke. But now that war has been followed by victory he sees the spoils of war and his soul yearns for them. He is syndicating Cuba as he has syndicated the United States. If he has his way Cuba will not even now be freed until the syndicates have milked her dry. He believes in holding the Philippines because there is money in it—the territory is rich and fertile and the natives work for small wages. Opposition to expansion is "rot" because it would deprive the syndicates of a big profit coming from the grabbing of other people's land.

The time has not yet come for the American people to be led by men like Mark Hanna. A faithful adherence to the Monroe doctrine may seem "rot" to him, but it looks like duty to the American people. Loyalty to the principles laid down by the patriot founders of this government is "rot" to Mark Hanna, but it stands for the right to Americans worthy of such a government. The time will soon arrive when Mark Hanna must retire from public life and resume in private his chase of the almighty dollar. He has degraded American standards and polluted American politics long enough.—St. Louis Republic.

McKINLEY'S WAR.

An Unholy Strife Signalized Throughout by Blunders and Bloodshed.

Suppose that anybody a year ago had proposed as the deliberate policy of the United States that we should send 50,000 to 75,000 troops to the Philippines and fight the natives to the death? Suppose that any man had laid such a proposal before congress? Would it not have been rejected with hooting? Would not any political leader urging it have been thought mad? Why, then, are we now asked to consent in silence to a policy which the whole country a twelvemonth since would have thought monstrous? Nothing has really happened to make us change our minds about the abhorrent nature of the work our troops are set to do in the Philippines. Even Gov. Roosevelt must be having inward qualms, for he exclaimed the other day: "Woe to the man who makes this nation an oppressor!" But he and all the other knucklers-down to McKinley are saying that, distasteful as the business is, we have put our hands to it and must finish it. This is the devil's own argument. Having begun with blunders and bloodshed, we must go on in that way to the bitter end. What, have we put our hand to the plow, and shall we look back? But if our hand had no business on that plow the sooner we take it off the better. Almost everybody admits—many McKinleyites are admitting—that the fighting with the Filipinos was unnecessary; that our relations with them were shockingly mismanaged. But must we go on heaping mismanagement on mismanagement? For our part, we assert that there is no reason to-day for regarding a war of conquest in the Philippines any differently from the way we should have regarded it a year ago; and if it was a duty then to avert war by peaceful negotiations it is a duty now to stop it in the same way. How long is the country to be sacrificed on the altar of Mr. McKinley's silly pride of consistency?—N. Y. Post.

——The democratic voters everywhere feel that, while the silver question is as important as ever and will retain its importance longer than any other issue now before the public, it is not necessary to subject it to elaborate discussion, especially when there is another question affecting the very institutions of the republic itself which needs to be examined into and dissected. There is a very strong feeling in the public mind that the republican policy in the Philippines needs to be challenged. And this is precisely what will happen—not because the silver issue has lost one iota of its importance, but because the republican scheme to make the flag of the republic mean one thing at home and another when it waves over an alien people demands the instant attention of those who believe in democratic institutions.—Atlanta Constitution.

PARAMOUNT ISSUES.

Imperialism and Trusts Will Be the Foremost Questions of the Next Campaign.

There can be little doubt that among the paramount issues of the campaign next year will be the questions of trusts, imperialism and militarism.

That the matter of bimetallism will be shelved is not at all likely, but instead of one issue, as in 1896, there will be several of vital importance in 1900.

In discussing this matter, the Pittsburgh Post, a conservative and consistent democratic newspaper, well says:

"In our judgment these twin questions of imperialism and militarism, as presented by the wicked and uncalled-for Philippine war, constitute the most supremely important question that has ever gone to the American people for their decision, short of the slavery and secession problems determined by the civil war.

"We believe they involve the maintenance and perpetuity of the government as it has been handed down to the present generation of Americans by the fathers of the republic. McKinley's policy, so far as his policy can be guessed at by current events and administrative developments, is fully as perilous to the future of the republic as was the secession programme of Jefferson Davis.

"It is, as Mr. Bryan has declared, a paramount question, more important, and for the time and until finally determined, supersending all others. Silver may bide its time. It is not a dead issue by any means, but the peril of imperialism and militarism are present issues and must be settled for weal or woe within a year."

These views will meet with the approval of most democrats; even those who are insistent as to the silver issue can find no serious fault with them.

Events of the last three years have moved rapidly. McKinley is engaged in removing the old landmarks and the people must be up and doing if they hope to rescue the republic from the hands of imperialistic plotters.

There is no subtraction to be made from the Chicago platform, but some additions of vital moment are rendered necessary by the trend of the times.—Chicago Democrat.

IMPERIALISM SURE ENOUGH.

The Infamous Plan of the Administration Regarding the New Possessions.

For the genuine article of imperialism the public will have to go to the report of the insular commission on the form of government Porto Rico should have. It suggests no half-way sort of a status, but goes right to the root and essence of autocracy. The commission recommends that the president, alone should determine the form of government and appoint all the officers without responsibility to any earthly power. And the reason why the commission wants the president to run the whole business to suit himself is because if left to congress it might make the islands part of the lawful or rather constitutional territory of the United States, and it knows that the president could be trusted to hold the island as a dependency and concede no political rights to the inhabitants.

This is the first intimation that the plan of the administration is to place Porto Rico and the Philippines under executive rather than under constitutional control. The present congress could be trusted, no doubt, to do as the president recommended in the premises, but a democratic congress would never suffer such power to be lodged in any president. It is for that reason the insular commission recommends, under orders, no doubt, that congress be deprived of all right to legislate for the colonies, leaving them to be run by the president without legal restraint or bounds. It is a very clever scheme to make imperialism a fact in the colonies with imperialism authority centered upon William McKinley in Washington. But while it is a clever trick it is also a most infamous one, for if congress is relieved of the right to legislate for our island possessions it could be relieved of the right to legislate for the home territories and states.—Kansas City Times.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS.

——Among the first things the sultan of Sulu will do with his $12,000 will be to buy McKinley buttons for his 300 wives.—Columbus Press-Post.

——Will the gentlemen responsible for hoisting the flag over the harem of the sultan of Sulu please inform us if it would be a disgrace to haul it down from there?—Omaha World-Herald.

——The present administration appears to have paid $20,000,000 for a choice collection of harems, polygamy, slaves and a ready-made insurrection. Politically this would seem to be quantam suf.—St. Paul Globe.

——When some one in the crowd asks the grinning governor of New York state a pertinent question, he evades the issue by practically calling the questioner drunk. He has done this on two or three occasions, and has shown the low order of intellect and lack of dignity he possesses.—Amsterdam Sentinel.

——Militarism—the disregard of private interests, the insolence of authority, the tyranny of power, backed by sword and bayonet—is the danger upon which this republic is now rushing. And the first step was taken when the McKinley administration began to exclude the public from its confidence and suppress facts the people had a right to know!—Houston (Tex.) Post.

——The honesty and sincerity of the administration are shown by the mutilation of a dispatch from Gen. Otis. The war department gave out the dispatch as follows: "Volunteers willing to remain." I went to the war department and asked for the original, and it read: "Volunteers unwilling to reenlist, but willing to remain till transports arrive."—Congressman Lenz.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

At 30 marriage is the wine of life; at 40 it's the morning after.

A man is quiet when he is dead; a woman is dead when she's quiet.

Every women is a mirror of her bosom friend to her husband and a mirror of her husband to her bosom friend.

The first sign that a woman is beginning to feel her age is when she hunts up all the baby pictures of her children.

Half a woman's pleasure in buying a pretty pair of stockings cheap is spoiled because she can never be perfectly sure they won't crock.

When you see a girl's eyes look as if she had been crying she has generally met with some great grief, or else she has just had her bath and couldn't find her silk starching bag.—N. Y. Press.

Not Up in Nautical Lore.

At sea, as many people know, time, instead of being reckoned by hours, is divided into watches of four hours each. From four o'clock to six, and six o'clock to eight, there are half divisions, nautically termed dog watches. In an insurance case the counsel asked an old sailor what time of day a certain collision occurred, and received the reply: "About the middle of the first dog watch." In summing up the case the barrister enlarged upon the information thus imparted, as follows: "You can imagine, gentlemen of the jury, the care which existed on this occasion, when, as appears from one of the plaintiff's own witnesses, this valuable ship and her cargo and the lives of passengers and crew were intrusted to what, gentlemen?—why, to the mere watch of a dog!"—English Paper.

FAIR FACES
Preserved by Cuticura SOAP

It removes the cause of disfiguring eruptions, loss of hair, and baby blemishes, viz.: The clogged, irritated, inflamed, or sluggish condition of the PORES. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the uses of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE — namely, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS — the best skin and complexion soap, and the best toilet and baby soap in the world.

INSTANT RELIEF FOR EVERY HUMOR
SPEEDY CURE

Bathe the affected parts with HOT water and CUTICURA SOAP to cleanse the skin and scalp of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, without hard rubbing, and apply CUTICURA Ointment freely, to allay itching, irritation, and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and lastly take CUTICURA RESOLVENT to cool and cleanse the blood.

This sweet and wholesome treatment affords instant relief, permits rest and sleep in the severest forms of eczema and other itching, burning, and scaly humors of the skin, scalp, and blood, and points to a speedy, permanent, and economical cure when all other remedies and even the best physicians fail.

Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug and Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass. "How to Preserve, Purify, and Beautify the skin, Scalp, Hair, and Hands," mailed free.

Pills, Tan Sor, $1.25; or, Soap, 25c., Ointment, 50c., and Resolvent (hair size), 50c. Sold

AGRICULTURAL HINTS.

NOTES ON DRIVING.

A Four-Horse and a Three-Horse Hitch Described and Illustrated by an Expert.

Many and various are the methods of driving horses with the three and four-horse lines. The arrangement shown in Fig. 1 is the only true way to drive four horses abreast with two lines, and after using them once a person will not want to try any other way, as it gives a direct line on three of the horses' bits. Use the ordinary lines (c d) for the two inside horses, and long run straps to connect the outside horses, as from a to b in illustration. Fasten the outside horse to the inside ones by means of a rope or strap, or these may be fastened together in hame rings with halter straps, as the horses work best.

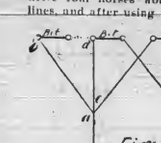

Fig. 1

A FOUR-HORSE HITCH.

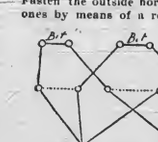

Fig. 2.

DRIVING THREE HORSES ABREAST.

The correct way for using three horses with two lines is shown in Fig. 2. The lines proper should be used on the outside horses. The run straps are the same as in Fig. 1, and are used by crossing over the withers of the middle horse and passing through the hame rings and fastening into the bits (a to b), as in Fig. 2.—R. A. Osborn, in Farm and Home.

QUITE ENTHUSIASTIC.

Massachusetts Good Roads Advocates Have a Clam-Bake and Listen to Words of Wisdom.

Monson, Mass., is sometimes called "the home of trap rock," and since trap rock is the foundation stone of the good roads movement, it isn't strange that as many as 160 good roads advocates gathered at the annual clam-bake, recently held in that city by members of the Connecticut Valley Highway association. In his opening address President W. L. Dickinson said:

"I do not think it is necessary for me to call attention to the object of this meeting, as you are all enthusiastic good roads men. Many of you have traveled a long distance to attend this meeting for the purpose of giving and securing all the information possible on the construction and maintenance of roads. Those of us who have been engaged in this work for a long term of years realize to the fullest extent that we have very much to learn, but in every state, city and town we find plenty of people without any experience in this line of work who think they know it all, and insist that this work shall be done just as they direct, with the result that our hands are often tied in such a manner that our taxpayers are called upon repeatedly to pay the bills for the expensive mistakes of these well-meaning citizens. This will continue until the people appreciate the fact that the construction and maintenance of roads is just as much a trade as any other business.

"We have another class that desire to beat the state, cities and towns in various ways, and because we endeavor to prevent them from doing so, as we are in duty bound, they will misconstrue the facts in every way possible to the public, for the purpose of gaining their ends. We must have systematic work. A plan should be adopted in every state, city and town, and at least a portion of it carried out each year, and the different road materials should only be used in their proper place, according to the different conditions that exist in each and every street.

"A proper system of maintenance should be adopted. Whatever road material you use will in time need careful repairs by men skilled in this work. The old adage 'A stitch in time saves nine' applies here."

Manuring the Pear Tree.

Late in summer is the best time to apply stable manure to pear trees. It should always be used as top dressing, and if the soil is moderately fertile little or no stable manure will be needed. Too much stable manure plowed in the soil creates an excess of all kinds of germs in contact with the pear tree roots; these are absorbed and sent up into the tree, causing blight. If the stable manure is applied in August or September as top dressing the tree gets no benefit from it until spring, and will then make a healthy growth. Most of the manure for pear trees or any other kind of fruit trees should be mineral, potash, phosphate and lime.

Enterprise in Tennessee.

The county turnpike commission have decided to expend $18,000 on the roads leading out of Knoxville, Tenn., to the adjoining counties.

PLAIN COMMON SENSE.

Really Nothing Else Is Required to Raise Healthy Calves Under Ordinary Conditions.

In all my experience I never lost but one young calf while it was sucking its dam. That was many years ago when Hungarian grass first put in an appearance with us, and the hay fed to the cow killed the calf, writes a contributor to Homestead. The milk caked in the calf's stomach. My experience has always been to restrict the feed of the cow for two or three weeks before calving, and if this is properly done I think there will, as a rule, be no scours in the calf. The fatter the cow the more care is necessary. I have had cows come in that were fit for the butcher's block, and have allowed the calves to take all the milk they would, and this, too, without harm to them. When the cow is not on grass I feed hay, and not too much, with no grain whatever for at least a week before calving. I also give a little wheat bran every other day for the sake of its regulating effect. Let the cow get a little hungry at this time, and it will not hurt her, while it will benefit the calf. This way of feeding with me has always got the cow and her milk in such a condition that the calf can have all it wants of it, and I only take away what is left. Sometimes the calf may be a little constipated, and when this is so feed more bran and all will come right. With me the question has not been so much the quantity as the quality of milk that makes the healthy calf. I invariably leave the cow and calf together for the first week or two.

During the month of May the cow should be on the grass, but as calving time draws near she should be in the stable at night. In June, when the grass should be at its best, look out for milk fever. If you have a lot where the grass is short and not too plentiful, that is the best place for her. The main idea that I would impress is when the cow is fat and has been fed high for about three weeks before calving, the rich feed must be taken away or scours in the calf will follow. You may think it an epidemic or call it what you will, but I am satisfied this is the cause that kills many a calf and what will kill one will kill more. I think the idea here advanced applies to horses and hogs as well. As to the sheep, I know nothing about them.

HANDLING CORN FODDER.

When Cut at the Right Time, and Properly Cured, It Is a Mine of Wealth to Farmers.

Corn fodder is not an article of commerce, but as a feed it is worth about as much, acre for acre, as hay. In order to get the most out of corn fodder it is necessary for the farmer to keep stock enough to consume it all and to cut, cure and save it in the best possible condition. It should be cut when most of the husks have turned brown. If cut earlier it is apt to be injured by molding in the shock or by warm rains before it is thoroughly cured. If it is left standing too long it declines steadily in value as a feed until it is worthless. Shocks should contain from 100 to 120 hills. Smaller shocks leave too much of the fodder exposed to the action of the air, sunshine and rains which injure the outer leaves and stalks. As soon as the corn will do to crib it should be husked, the fodder shredded and run into a mow in the barn; it is then secure from injury and is in the very best form to feed and also to use as bedding. The cheapest way to husk and shred the fodder is to use a machine which does both at one operation. Shredded fodder will not make animals' mouths sore as that cut in short pieces does. Another good method of caring for fodder is to tie it in bundles as it is husked, and haul it into the barn or stack it in long, narrow ricks that can be used from the end as wanted. If the bundles are set up in the field in large shocks and securely tied, the fodder will keep well nearly all winter. Fodder left standing in the field to be gleaned over by the stock is mostly wasted and is a nuisance on any farm. It is also hard to plow under for the next crop and it is an expensive job to break it off, rake and burn it. When cut, properly cured and cared for, and fed to stock, corn-fodder is a mine of wealth.—Evan L. Chalfant, in Prairie Farmer.

FOR HAULING MANURE.

How to Construct a Platform Which Robs This Disagreeable Work of Its Worst Features.

Manure hauling is generally a hard and disagreeable job, yet it is one that all successful farmers must perform. By the usual method of hauling it in the farm wagon both the loading and the scattering are hard work. If a man does his duty by his farm he will use a manure platform often enough to pay for having one. The accompanying sketch will show one on low-wheeled running gears, and without the sideboards, which are easily put on when required. It is merely a platform nailed to two by fours, which are bolted securely to a frame made of two by six plank which fits inside the standards that hold the wagon box in place. There are holes cut through the platform to let the tops of these standards through. The platform sets just high enough to be free of the wheels. It can be made seven feet wide if that width is desired. —J. L. Irwin, in Agricultural Epitomist.

PLATFORM FOR HAULING MANURE.

The demand for lamb and mutton has not been over supplied.

JOHN C. HUBINGER.

Remarkable Career of a Well-Known Western Capitalist, Manufacturer and Philanthropist.

Among the leaders of the progressive element for which the midle west is famous, Mr. John C. Hubinger, of Keokuk, Ia., reigns without a peer. As a manufacturer, as an enterprising capitalist and as a philanthropist his fame has spread over many states, and his financial enterprises have developed many obscure towns into progressive, thrifty and wide-awake cities. Mr. Hubinger, although but 47 years of age, can look back upon scores of commercial victories, each one of which has benefited mankind, for his liberality is as bountiful as his business sagacity is marvelous. He was born in New Orleans, La., his parents being of French and German origin. When he was four years old, his family removed to Kentucky, in which state young Hubinger received a public school education. Almost before reaching man's estate he secured patents on a number of valuable mechanical inventions, thereby laying the foundation of his present fortune.

By inclination and force of circumstances his attention was early directed to the manufacture of starch by improved processes, and in the course of time he became the head of a concern having an annual business of millions of dollars. But genuine ambition never quite satisfied with existing conditions, works ever toward perfection, and after years of painstaking study and research Mr. Hubinger has made a discovery, which he considers the crowning event of his wonderful career, and which is embodied in a new article of commerce, known as Red Cross Starch (Red Cross trade mark.) He is planning to distribute millions of packages of this starch to the housewives of America, at a merely nominal price to the consumer, in order to make its merits known without delay. Thus, for but 5 cents two large 10c packages of Red Cross Starch may be had, together with two magnificent Shakespearean views printed in 12 beautiful colors, or a Twentieth Century Girl Calendar; or for only 20 cents 10 packages of the starch and the entire series of eight Shakespearean views and one Twentieth Century Girl Calendar—views alone easily worth $1.00. Watch this paper for future premium announcements, of which every lady will certainly want to take advantage.

JOHN C. HUBINGER.

While Mr. Hubinger will devote his best energies to the manufacture of this new and wonderful starch, he will not retire from the various financial enterprises in which he is interested—street railways, electric lighting plants and the Mississippi Valley Telephone Co., with 10,000 telephone subscribers in Minneapolis and St. Paul—nor will his augmented activity interfere with his social obligations and exercise of the splendid hospitality which he dispenses at his palatial Keokuk home. Mr. Hubinger's family, consisting of himself, wife and four children, is the pivot around which his activity revolves, and while fond of promoting great enterprises, he is still fonder of his home circle, where he spends every moment of time not taken up by business or public cares.

THEIR OPINION OF HIM.

A Blow-Hard Government Clerk Who Tried to Make an Impression Upon Indians.

Last winter a delegation of Indians from a far western state, on a tour of inspection through the interior department, visited the land office, where they were introduced to the clerk who had especial charge of their section of the country, a pompitous little individual with a big head. This official proceeded to overpower the redmen with his importance, says a Washington correspondent in the New York Tribune. Grasping each one of them cordially by the hand, he patted them patronizingly on their backs and then delivered a long speech, explaining in detail the work of the office, their interest in it, laying particular stress on the fact that he was the motive power of it all. As soon as their entertainer paused for breath the visiting Indians began to grunt and talk among themselves.

"What are they saying?" asked the egotistical clerk, expecting to hear high praise of himself. "Tell me what they are saying."

"I cannot tell you," replied the interpreter; "it was not for you to hear."

But the little man insisted, and with great reluctance the interpreter finally yielded. "They said," he translated, 'Little man, big head, heap talk, say nothing, much fool.'"

RUFFLES DAD'S DIGNITY.

The Young Baseball Rooter Causes His Paternal to Feel Too Prominent.

He is a Chicago board of trade man, dignified to a degree, has luxuriant, bushy side whiskers, clean chin and upper lip, and he dearly loves baseball. He also has a son six years old, who loves the game as dearly as does his father, and while the older enjoys the playing in a solid, placid, contented way, the boy bubbles over with enthusiasm and outroots all other rooters.

During the last Chicago-St. Louis game father and son sat in the grand stand under the intense strain of knowing that St. Louis had two men on bases and two out, and if the man at the bat made a base hit the score would be tied. The latter smote the ball heavily. It soared upward and onward, far back into what the baseball reporter calls "the left garden."

Left Fielder Ryan was there, and, after a long, hard spurt, caught the fly on his finger tips and held it. The crowd screamed joyously and the small son of his father nearly went out of his skin for glee. The father merely smiled with dignity.

Finally the crowd ceased its yelling after the left fielder had doffed his cap thrice. There was silence as he walked to the bench twirling his blond mustache with either hand.

Then, with his father's clean shaven upper lip in mind, and with a voice that drew the attention of the assembled hundreds toward his devoted dad, the six-year-old rooter fairly yelled: "O, pap, don't you wish you had a mustache like Jimmie Ryan's?"—Chicago Tribune.

Stunned with Woe.

The gentleman with the red, red nose got aboard the trolley car, which, by some mischance, had stopped for a moment.

The silence was intense.

The little boy looked at the man with the nose.

And the little boy didn't ask his father anything.

"Merciful heaven!" muttered the fond parent, "I am the father of a freak!"—Indianapolis Journal.

Homeseekers' Excursions via "Big Four Route."

To the North, West, Northwest, Southwest, South and Southeast. Selling dates: August 15th, September 5th and 19th; and on October 3d and 17th, 1899, at one fare plus $2.00 to authorized points in the following states: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, British Columbia, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Indian Territory, Idaho, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Manitoba, New Mexico, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Washington. For full information and particulars as to rates, routes, tickets, limits, stop-over privileges, etc., call on Agents "Big Four Route, or address the undersigned. W. P. Deppe, A. G. P. & T. Agt., Warren J. Lynch, Gen. Pass. & Tkt. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

Employment for the Idle.

Almost anyone, when he can't think of anything else to do, eats something.—Washington Democrat.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

"Hello!" exclaimed the fish. "Here to stay?" "No," replied the worm; "I just dropped in for a bite."—Philadelphia Record.

Some men work hardest trying to accomplish useless things.—Chicago Daily News.

THE MARKETS.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 18.
LIVESTOCK—Cattle, common	$ 2 75	@ $ 3 75
Select butchers	4 90	@ 5 00
CALVES—Fair to good	7 00	@ 7 25
HOGS—Coarse and heavy	3 80	@ 4 30
Mixed packers	3 85	@ 4 00
SHEEP—Choice	3 75	@ 4 00
LAMBS—Spring	4 75	@ 5 65
FLOUR—Winter patents	3 25	@ 3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 69½
No. 3 red		@ 68
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 25
Oats—No. 2		@ 24½
Rye—No. 2	7	@ 81
HAY—Prime to choice		@ 10 25
PROVISIONS—Mess Pork		@ 9 50
Lard		@ 5 15
BUTTER—Choice dairy		@ 18
Choice creamery		@ 21½
APPLES—Choice to fancy	2 25	@ 3 00
POTATOE—Per bbl	1 50	@ 1 75
CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patents	3 50	@ 3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 71½
No. 3 Chicago spring	68	@ 69½
CORN—No. 2		@ 32½
OATS—No. 2	25½	@ 27½
PORK—Mess	7 30	@ 8 10
LARD—Steam	5 10	@ 5 21½
NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patents	3 10	@ 3 75
Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 74¾
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@ 37
RYE		@ 47
OATS—Mixed	26¼	@ 28½
PORK—New mess	8 75	@ 9 50
LARD—Western		@ 5 65
BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	3 25	@ 3 50
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	71	@ 71¾
Southern	70	@ 73
Corn—Mixed	36½	@ 36¾
Oats—No. 2 white	28	@ 29
Rye—No. 2 western		@ 58
CATTLE—First quality	5 00	@ 5 30
HOGS—Western	5 20	@ 5 30
INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 67
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 32
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@ 24
LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patents	3 45	@ 3 55
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 70
Corn—Mixed		@ 34
Oats—Mixed	23½	@ 25
PORK—Mess		@ 9 50
LARD—Steam		@ 5 1½

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 & $3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.

Worth $4 to $5 compared with other makes.

Indorsed by over 1,000,000 wearers.

ALL LEATHERS. ALL STYLES

THE GENUINE have W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on bottom.

Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Largest makers of $5 and $3.50 shoes in the world. Your dealer should keep them—If not, we will send you a pair on receipt of price. State kind of leather, size and width, plain or cap toe. Catalogue Free.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

CARTER'S INK

Ask for it. If your dealer hasn't it he can get it easily.

FISCUS CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

FISCUS CURE FOR DISEASES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

RUFFLES DAD'S DIGNITY.

The Young Baseball Rooter Causes His Paternal to Feel Too Prominent.

He is a Chicago board of trade man, dignified to a degree, has luxuriant, bushy side whiskers, clean chin and upper lip, and he dearly loves baseball. He also has a son six years old, who loves the game as dearly as does his father, and while the older enjoys the playing in a solid, placid, contented way, the boy bubbles over with enthusiasm and outroots all other rooters.

During the last Chicago-St. Louis game father and son sat in the grand stand under the intense strain of knowing that St. Louis had two men on bases and two out, and if the man at the bat made a base hit the score would be tied. The latter smote the ball heavily. It soared upward and onward, far back into what the baseball reporter calls "the left garden."

Left Fielder Ryan was there, and, after a long, hard spurt, caught the fly on his finger tips and held it. The crowd screamed joyously and the small son of his father nearly went out of his skin for glee. The father merely smiled with dignity.

Finally the crowd ceased its yelling after the left fielder had doffed his cap thrice. There was silence as he walked to the bench twirling his blond mustache with either hand.

Then, with his father's clean shaven upper lip in mind, and with a voice that drew the attention of the assembled hundreds toward his devoted dad, the six-year-old rooter fairly yelled: "O, pap, don't you wish you had a mustache like Jimmie Ryan's?"—Chicago Tribune.

Stunned with Woe.

The gentleman with the red, red nose got aboard the trolley car, which, by some mischance, had stopped for a moment.

The silence was intense.

The little boy looked at the man with the nose.

And the little boy didn't ask his father anything.

"Merciful heaven!" muttered the fond parent, "I am the father of a freak!"—Indianapolis Journal.

Homeseekers' Excursions via "Big Four Route."

To the North, West, Northwest, Southwest, South and Southeast. Selling dates: August 15th, September 5th and 19th; and on October 3d and 17th, 1899, at one fare plus $2.00 to authorized points in the following states: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, British Columbia, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Indian Territory, Idaho, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Manitoba, New Mexico, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Washington. For full information and particulars as to rates, routes, tickets, limits, stop-over privileges, etc., call on Agents "Big Four Route, or address the undersigned. W. P. Deppe, A. G. P. & T. Agt., Warren J. Lynch, Gen. Pass. & Tkt. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

Employment for the Idle.

Almost anyone, when he can't think of anything else to do, eats something.—Washington Democrat.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

"Hello!" exclaimed the fish. "Here to stay?" "No," replied the worm; "I just dropped in for a bite."—Philadelphia Record.

Some men work hardest trying to accomplish useless things.—Chicago Daily News.

THE MARKETS.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 18.
LIVESTOCK—Cattle, common	$ 2 75	@ $ 3 75
Select butchers	4 90	@ 5 00
CALVES—Fair to good	7 00	@ 7 25
HOGS—Coarse and heavy	3 80	@ 4 30
Mixed packers	3 85	@ 4 00
SHEEP—Choice	3 75	@ 4 00
LAMBS—Spring	4 75	@ 5 65
FLOUR—Winter patents	3 25	@ 3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 69½
No. 3 red		@ 68
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 25
Oats—No. 2		@ 24½
Rye—No. 2	7	@ 81
HAY—Prime to choice		@ 10 25
PROVISIONS—Mess Pork		@ 9 50
Lard		@ 5 15
BUTTER—Choice dairy		@ 18
Choice creamery		@ 21½
APPLES—Choice to fancy	2 25	@ 3 00
POTATOE—Per bbl	1 50	@ 1 75
CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patents	3 50	@ 3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 71½
No. 3 Chicago spring	68	@ 69½
CORN—No. 2		@ 32½
OATS—No. 2	25½	@ 27½
PORK—Mess	7 30	@ 8 10
LARD—Steam	5 10	@ 5 21½
NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patents	3 10	@ 3 75
Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 74¾
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@ 37
RYE		@ 47
OATS—Mixed	26¼	@ 28½
PORK—New mess	8 75	@ 9 50
LARD—Western		@ 5 65
BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	3 25	@ 3 50
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	71	@ 71¾
Southern	70	@ 73
Corn—Mixed	36½	@ 36¾
Oats—No. 2 white	28	@ 29
Rye—No. 2 western		@ 58
CATTLE—First quality	5 00	@ 5 30
HOGS—Western	5 20	@ 5 30
INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 67
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 32
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@ 24
LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patents	3 45	@ 3 55
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 70
Corn—Mixed		@ 34
Oats—Mixed	23½	@ 25
PORK—Mess		@ 9 50
LARD—Steam		@ 5 1½

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 & $3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.

Worth $4 to $5 compared with other makes.

Indorsed by over 1,000,000 wearers.

ALL LEATHERS. ALL STYLES

THE GENUINE have W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on bottom.

Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Largest makers of $5 and $3.50 shoes in the world. Your dealer should keep them—If not, we will send you a pair on receipt of price. State kind of leather, size and width, plain or cap toe. Catalogue Free.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

CARTER'S INK

Ask for it. If your dealer hasn't it he can get it easily.

FISCUS CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

FISCUS CURE FOR DISEASES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

Still More Counterfeiting.

The Secret Service has just unearthed another band of counterfeiters and secured a large quantity of bogus bills, which are so cleverly executed that the average person would never suspect them of being spurious. Things of great value are always selected for imitation, notably Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has many imitators but no equals for disorders like indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and general debility. Always go to reliable druggists who have the reputation of giving what you ask for.

Accommodated.

At the end of his two weeks' vacation, wanting a third week, he telegraphed his employer: "Very sick. Please hold my job."

And back came this mystifying reply: "Take all time you want to get well. Another man is holding your job."—Philadelphia North American.

The Best Prescription for Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It's simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure, no pay. Price, 50c.

One Reason.

Green—Why is it that some doctors have so small a practice?

DeWitt—If may be because they are practicing physicians.—Cleveland Leader.

Don't be hoodwinked into buying a special dye for wool and a special dye for cotton. If your goods should not be all wool, you would have to buy two packages and dye your goods twice. Putnam Fadeless Dyes will color either silk, wool or cotton at one time in the same vessel and you only have to buy one package.

First Young Attorney—"You seem to be very much attached to Miss Goodcatch?" Second Young Attorney—"Well, she owns 300 acres of land. That's sufficient ground for an attachment, isn't it?"—Ohio State Journal.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is an A No. 1 Asthma medicine.—W. R. Williams, Antioch, Ill., April 11, 1894.

In her apologies to her husband, a woman lays the blame of her fault on either her affections or her nerves.—Atchison Globe.

Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is a Constitutional Cure. Price, 75c.

Men are men; the best sometimes forget.—Shakespeare.

SUFFERED 25 YEARS.

Congressman Botkin, of Winfield, Kansas.

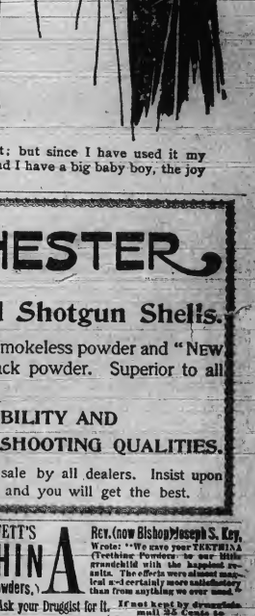
In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, Congressman Botkin says:

"My Dear Doctor—It gives me pleasure to certify to the excellent curative qualities of your medicines—Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin. I have been afflicted more or less for a quarter of a century with catarrh of the stomach and constipation. A residence in Washington has increased these troubles. A few bottles of your medicine have given me almost complete relief, and I am sure that a continuation of them will effect a permanent cure. Pe-ru-na is surely a wonderful remedy for catarrhal affections."

J. D. Botkin.

The most common form of summer catarrh is catarrh of the stomach. This is generally known as dyspepsia. Congressman Botkin was a victim of this disease twenty-five years. Pe-ru-na cures these cases like magic. Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O., for a free book.

The microbes that cause chills and fever and malaria enter the system through mucous membranes made porous by catarrh. Pe-ru-na heals the mucous membranes and prevents the entrance of malarial germs, thus preventing and curing these affections.



A CAPABLE mother must be a healthy mother. The experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation. Correct and practical counsel is what the expectant and would-be mother needs and this counsel she can secure without cost by writing to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass.

CAPABLE MOTHERHOOD

Mrs. Cora Gilson, Yates, Manistee Co., Mich., writes:

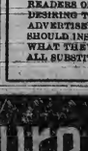
"Dear Mrs. Pinkham—Two years ago I began having such dull, heavy, dragging pains in my back, menses were profuse and painful and was troubled with leucorrhœa. I took patent medicines and consulted a physician, but received no benefit and could not become pregnant.

"Seeing one of your books, I wrote to you telling you my troubles and asking for advice. You answered my letter promptly and I followed the directions faithfully, and derived so much benefit that I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough. I now find myself pregnant and have begun its use again. I cannot praise it enough."

Mrs. Perley Moulton, Thetford, Vt., writes:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham—I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine. I took several bottles of it before the birth of my baby and got along nicely. I had no after-pains and am now strong and enjoying good health. Baby is also fat and healthy."

Mrs. Chas. Gerbig, 304 South Monroe St., Baltimore, Md., writes: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham—Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was unable to become pregnant; but since I have used it my health is much improved, and I have a big baby boy, the joy and pride of our home."



WINCHESTER

Factory Loaded Shotgun Shells.

"LEADER" loaded with Smokeless powder and "NEW RIVAL" loaded with Black powder. Superior to all other brands for

UNIFORMITY, RELIABILITY AND STRONG SHOOTING QUALITIES.

Winchester Shells are for sale by all dealers. Insist upon having them when you buy and you will get the best.

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA (Teething Powders.)

Rev. (now Bishop) Joseph S. Key, Wrote: "We gave your TEETHINA (Teething Powders) to our little grandchild with the happiest results. The effects were almost magical and certainly more satisfactory than from anything we ever used."

Costs only 25 Cents. Ask your Druggist for it. If not kept by druggists mail 25 Cents to

C. J. MOFFETT, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

READERS OF THIS PAPER DESIRING TO BUY ANYTHING ADVERTISED IN ITS COLUMNS SHOULD INSIST UPON HAVING WHAT THEY ASK FOR, REFUSING ALL SUBSTITUTES OR IMITATIONS.

FITS Permanently Cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. Dr. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

Plantation Chill Cure is Guaranteed

To cure, or money refunded by your merchant, so why not try it? Price 50c.

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, Sept., 20, 1899.

Advertising Rated

One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

Democratic State Ticket.

For Governor,
WILLIAM GOEBEL, of Kenton.

For Lieutenant Governor,
J. C. W. BECKHAM, of Nelson.

For Attorney General,
R. J. BRECKINRIDGE, of Boyle.

For Auditor,
G. G. COULTER, of Graves.

For Treasurer,
S. W. HAGER, of Boyd.

For Secretary of State,
C. B. HILL, of Clark.

For Supt. Public Instruction,
H. V. M'CHESNEY, of Livingston.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. B. NALL, of Jefferson.

For Railroad Commissioner,
FLETCHER DEMPSEY, of Hopkins county.—First District.

C. C. M'CHORD, of Washington county.—Second District.

A. W. HAMILTON, of Montgomery county.—Third District.

For State Senator,
Dr. J. G. FURNISH.

For Representative,
BENJAMIN STEPHENS.

Neighborhood News.

Union.

Ben Terrill is building a barn.

Henry Rouse is the first man to crib corn in this section.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith, a bouncing 10 pound boy.

Thos. Wilson, of Shelby county, is the guest of relatives here.

Rachal & Co., have 100 barrels of granulated salt in stock—price, low.

Mr and Mrs. Dunbar are entertaining friends from Covington, this week.

Warner Seniours, of Erlanger, was helping Lee Cleek cut tobacco, last week.

J. W. Kennedy purchased of Wilmot Fane his crop of tobacco just as it came out of the patch.

Mike Kinsly, Adams Bros., B. Clark, and Taggart Bros., all have fine crops of tobacco and hope to get 15c for it.

Business has been on a boom in Union all this season, and promises to continue until winter. Union is not dead by any means.

Tobe Marshall was fishing on Gunpowder, last week, and hooked a 20 lb. Carp that cut more capers than a yearling mule, and broke his line like it was made of thread.

Elbert Rice and Courtney Williams were riding horseback. Courtney was carrying a post hole digger on his shoulder. The horse threw them off and in the tumble Court had his hand split open by the digger, but Elbert escaped unhurt.

A reward of $25 is offered for the man that don't know Billy Batterson, not the man that hit "Billy Patterson," but the man who is a living image of the man who got his gun to kill Patterson. like Batterson could not be found when a job was to be done, he disliked.

Our friend, Jack Berkshire, is perhaps, the best natured man in Boone county. Things that would irritate and make most carpenters jump up and down with rage, only cause Mr. Berkshire to look cross for a second, then get on his horse and ride patiently to Walton.

The Free Silver Badge designed and copy righted by your humble scribe, will be put on the market in 1900 by a company of Kentucky capitalists with headquarters in New York. Instead of 12,000 sold in '96. they expect to sell 750,000 in 1900. Hon. W. J. Bryan pronounced it a beauty in '96 and it has not changed a bit. A hustling Boone county Democrat will be general manager of the county.

Theodore Green, after several years residence in our town, as the trusted employee of J. W. Kennedy's tobacco shop, left, Monday for "Old Virginy," his native State. Mr. Green has been from home for 15 years, and its more than likely the "fatted calf will be slain" an his folks will be rejoiced to see him. "Bolivar" has "hit the grit" from New York to Texas and knows how to commune with nature from the hurrican deck of a palace sleeper and dream sweet dreams on the gable-end of a vestibuled bovine express, same as Mexican man or anyother good man.

Monday morning, Sept. 11th, our public school started off with Prof. Stephens, of Kenton county, at the helm. Prof. Stephens comes to Union with credentials of the highest order, as to ability and it is to be hoped our school may be of the best. If the public school is the safe guard of our republic, and from its portals have gone forth into the world's arena, the greatest and best men the United States have produced, then we say, long live the public school with its rough and tumble democratic ways, that brush aside all distinctions of birth or habitation, and say to rich and poor, go in "Gallagher" for all your brains are worth.

Tom Burkett came into town one morning with a machine that puzzled our oldest inhabitants to tell its name. One man said it was the latest model in auto mobile carriages. The other said it could not be a horseless carriage for it had horses to it; another said he would be hanged if anybody could guess the name of such an automatic feeding-self-binding self-ejecting-double-geared-back-action,born in the woods rackelum-tackelum nursed by a wolf few of the kind and hard to find machine and gave it up. "Prof. Switzer," editor of the High St. "Cackleshighter chute" a paper devoted to agriculture and curiosities, gave it as his opinion that the machine was calculated to make a working man look upon work when it was ready (with indifference) and no prospect to get any, make him look upon wine when it was red and drown his sorrow, because, like Othello, the occupation of corn-cutters was nit. The "Kid" came along and took a peep at the machine and gave it as his honest opinion that said endless chain-geared, prussic-acid-tired, Pillsbury-flour-consuming machine was patented by a man in Boston, who believed in corn bread as a useful article of diet. Col. "Denuis," one of the oldest men in town, excepting "Windy Swipes," said he had lived 140 years of misery and discomfort for naught if the machine was not a corn-cutter on wheels, and so it was.

Petersburg.

Lawrenceburg has diphtheria.

Capt. Alden is having the Pauline caiked.

Will Casey is back from his Kentucky river trip.

Mrs. L. Nichols, of Ashby Fork, is very ill of flux.

L. J. Riley and Dr. Williamson were in town Saturday.

J. M. Botts built a nice barn for Mrs. Julia Smith on her farm.

The Aurora Ferry company will soon commence building a new boat.

Kirb Aylor and John Early have gone to Ohio with Joe Morrison.

Miss Emma Aylor, of Lawrenceburg was visiting her aunt here last week.

Johnson Wilson and wife, of Muncie, Ind., were visiting relatives here last week.

Col. William Bryan, the Indiana cattle king, was visiting Col. Geo. R. Berkshire, last week.

Rev. E. J. Curry will preach at the Christian church on the first Sunday night in October.

Ed Smith, our pioneer fisherman, says the fishing in the river is the poorest for many years.

Should John R. McLean be elected Governor of Ohio he will be a strong Presidential possibility.

Comodore W. T. Stott is improving the residence on his bottom farm, by having it remodeled and repainted.

Ed Dansberry and Morris McCright, engineers on the Pitteburg, are taking a rest at home during the low water.

D. C. Peck and family spent last week here attending to the affairs of Miss Mary Bradley, who died recently.

Kassabaum erected for J. Frank Grant a nice white granite monument in the cemetery here, one day last week.

M. F. Wingate bought a fine drove of cattle on the Cincinnati market, last week, and brought them to his farm near here.

In going from here to Dixon Station, last Monday, we saw farmers along the route hauling water, and in Florence beer was easier to get than water.

A strange fatality seems to follow the Bradley family. A son was killed in battle at Mt. Sterling in the late war; the father was drowned by the mail boat here a number of years ago; the mother died in Trimble county several years ago, and Miss Mary died at the same place.

Walton.

Col. O'Neal, of Covington, came out here last week, to urge Democrats to vote for Brown, and also to try and straighten the numerous Republicans into line for Taylor. Being met with such emphatic refusals by both parties, the Colonel in deep disgust wended his way back in the shortest possible time.

The Standard Oil Co., as the season for using gasoline is most over, have put down the price ½ a cent per gallon, and as coal oil will be in greater demand, has advanced the price of it one-half a cent a gallon. Simon says "wig wag."

The Walton and Patriot, Ind., base ball clubs played an exciting game here Saturday week, resulting 11 to 6 in favor of Walton, the second defeat the Patriots have sustained at the hands of the home team. The Patriot team is composed of some of the nicest young men our team has ever met. The stand was filled and some of our most prominent young ladies were present.

A few nights ago about 10:30, W. B. Brown, mail carrier between this place and Hamilton, had his slumbers disturbed by the barking of his dogs. He got up, and taking his pistol quietly went to the door and opened it when a man started to run. Brown fired at him twice, when the fellow ran into a wire fence, making as much noise as a horse. Having only two shots left he took his shotgun and waited for further development, but the marauder had enough, and the dogs quieted down.

Erlanger.

St. Henry's church will have high mass at the K. of P. Hall next Sunday. All invited. Rev. Kolbe officiating.

The school board of the Elsmere district rejected all bids for the erection of a school house, and will receive separate bids up to Sept. 29. Send bids to Geo. J. Rost, Erlanger.

A number from here attended the Democratic speaking at Covington last Friday night to hear Judge Tarvin, and about 50 attended the flag raising at James Graham's, Saturday night.

Jos. Kramer and Hattie Mack were married by Rev. Father Kolb at the Florence church, last Wednesday morning, Hal Kramer and Clara Morelli acting as best man and bridesmaid. The singing at the church was excellent and the church was crowded with friends. The presents were many and appropriate. Here's wishing them success in life.

Gunpowder.

J. S. Surface and wife were guests of your correspondent last Sunday.

There has been no wheat sown yet, and the farmers will not sow until it rains.

Uncle Henry Dixon, of Richwood, was visiting his daughter, Mrs. Surface, last Sunday.

The extremely hot and dry weather has caused water to become very scarce with a great many people.

Miss Hattie Tanner was taken seriously sick, a few days ago, and her friends entertain some doubts as to her recovery.

About 65 relatives and friends joined W. B. Garnett and wife in the celebration of their twentieth anniversary of their wedding last Sunday.

The meetings at Hopeful are still in progress, and will continue throughout the present week, and the Lord's Supper will be celebrated next Sunday.

Hathaway.

L. M. Stephens killed a couple of spreading adders last week.

W. S. White and son made a business trip to Rising Sun, last Saturday.

Mrs. C. S. Smith and daughter were guests of Mrs. Whit Ryle, last Wednesday.

Several of the local farmers finished housing their crop of tobacco last week.

Miss Edna McElroy commenced teaching the public school here last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Ryle were visiting in this neighborhood, last Sunday week.

Jeff Williamson was down on Gunpowder doing some cementing one day last week.

Farmers are cutting up their corn, and will commence to sow their wheat as soon as it rains.

Robert Reed, of Covington, spent several days last week, here with Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Elston.

Mrs. Robert Adams and son, of Grant county, were visiting in this vicinity several days last week.

Mr. P. P. Neal and family were the pleasant guests of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Mason, last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. White were visiting Mr. Will Rice and wife, of the Bellevue neighborhood, last Sunday.

George N. Smith, of this place, returned home on a visit last Sunday from Indiana, where he has been working for Mr. W. C. Adams.

Hebron.

Miss Clara Hossman has returned home to stay.

We hear that R. C. McGlasson has purchased the Milton Gaines farm.

Miss Daisy Harding has been staying at her uncle's at Utsinger, the past week.

The Ashbrooks, of Covington, have been visiting relatives here, the past week.

Prof. Meeks sang at the church and Sunday-school, Sunday. His voice is rich, deep and very impressive.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Manning entertained Mr. and Mrs. E. Harper, Misses Lizzie Dye and Hattie Harper and Prof. Haun, Sunday.

Since our last another soul has been laid to rest to await the resurrection morn, and the spirit of Harvey E. Baker has winged his flight to the great beyond. Father, mother, sister, brother and friends saw the cold grave close over the young man and mother earth receive unto her bosom another shining star. Death chose a shining mark when it called this young man away. God needed him in heaven, and when the summons came it found him blessing his mother, and with the Lord's prayer on his lips he closed his eyes forever to earthly scenes. Oh! could all our lives be as was his—so ambitious, so manly, and full of God's wisdom.

Richwood.

Meridith Conner has lost a very valuable horse.

Wm. Lancaster had a mule to break its leg, Saturday.

Prof. Andy Collins spent Sunday with his parents.

Mr. Beaver, of Newport, was visiting friends here, Sunday.

Mrs. McGlasson and Miss Alice are guests of friends here.

The mail train killed a horse of Dave Buffington's, Tuesday.

Many people visited the new Bank Lick bridge, last Sunday.

Miss Bradley, of Georgetown, is the guest of Mrs. Lewis Rice.

Miss Lulu Hammond has not been well, but hopes to continue her studies Monday.

Mrs. Klinger, who purchased the Webb Smith place, has sold it to a gentleman from Lewisburg.

Friends of Miss Hattie Tanner, of Gunpowder, will be pained to learn that she is at the point of death with appendicitis.

Mrs. Booth and son, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dobyns and Mrs. John Carpenter spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. M. Grubbs.

Francesville.

Fred Siekman is very sick with typhoid fever.

The party given by Miss Pearl Moore was quite a success.

Miss Anna Henry was calling on friends here this week.

Mr. Batterson will commence repairing the church next week.

This cool weather is quite refreshing, after the torrid weather of last week.

Miss Nora Stephens, of Hebron, is visiting Miss Willie Graves.

Mr. Graddy is building one of his famous fences around part of the church yard.

The Constance ball team will play the Francesville boys at this place Saturday afternoon.

Limaburg.

We had a nice shower on the 18th.

Some wheat will be sown this week.

Wallace Tanner has bought a fine mare.

Jacob Ronse has had two good milch cows to die in the last two weeks.

Geo. Barlow and wife and Noah Barlow were guests of J. W. Uts, Sunday.

Henry Clore has been hauling lumber to the farm he recently purchased.

We hear that there is to be a wedding in this neighborhood at no distant date.

A good crowd from this neighborhood will attend the Lagoon Harvest Home.

The Hopeful church was too small to hold the congregation, Sunday night. Meeting is still in progress.

Gasburg.

Tobacco all housed, and is the best crop raised for several seasons.

Reuben Akins hauled a load of melons to market that averaged 42 pounds each.

Several from this place attended Mrs. Mike Clore's funeral at Bellevue, Sunday.

Wheat sowing will begin this week with acreage greatly decreased from last season.

While Elijah Parker was passing through his barn lot, a few days since he was attacked from the rear by a vicious cow, and tossed in the air. He fell on his head with the cow still trying to gore him. He caught the cow by her horns and held on until his son came to the rescue and beat her off. He was but little hurt but his clothes were torn into shreds.

While driving through this place on her way to Petersburg, Mrs. Tinker Hall's horse began kicking, and running on a steep bank and falling backwark broke the buggy badly, and entangled itself in the gear so it could not get up. Mrs. Hall leaped from the buggy at this juncture with her baby in her arms, escaping without injury.

Rabbit Hash.

Week before last, Walter Hager killed 18 spreading adders while plowing.

John Elliott commenced teaching school at the Ryle school house, last Monday.

Thos. N. Stephens is enlarging and repairing his dwelling, C. C. Barnes is the architect.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Scott entertained quite a number of the young people with a dinner, last Sunday.

Mrs. Agnes Stephens has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ella Aylor, of Lawrenceburg, the past ten days.

R. S. Cowen and sister, Miss Annie, of Burlington, were visiting their brother, Dr. Cowen, one day last week.

Mrs. Jessie Wilson Anderson, James A., of Lawrenceburg, were visiting her parents and other relatives here, last week.

A. P. Marshall has just completed a large barn on the site of the one that was destroyed by lightning some six weeks ago.

Last Saturday a week a picked nine from here played ball against the Rising Sun nine. The Kentucky boys shut the Hoosiers out.

Verona.

The weather continues dry.

Hodge Hudson has returned to college at Willmore.

Mr. Cowen, of Burlington, was in our midst, last Sunday.

Mrs. Kate Kennedy has been ill of fever for several weeks.

Miss Kate Roberts has been quite sick for several days with malarial fever.

Master Walter Berk, of Covington, was the popular organist during the recent series of meetings at Bethel.

The past week our town was honored by a call from O. T. Wallace, candidate for Governor, and W. H. Belzier, for Lieutenant Governor, on the Prohibition ticket.

The many friends of the cause of Christ will be glad to know that work has commenced on the Methodist Church, and the pushing contractor expects to have it completed by the 15th of November. All who have subscribed to this cause and have not paid, are requested to hand their subscription to Mrs. Pattie Carlisle.

The death angel has visited our community again, this time taking as its victim, Mrs. Hattie Craven, wife of Walter Craven. The deceased leaves a husband and four little children and many friends to mourn her death. Her funeral was preached at New Bethel by Rev. L. Johnson, to a large gathering, last Saturday. Her remains were interred in the New Bethel cemetery. The bereaved family has the sympathy of the entire neighborhood.

The revival meeting which has been held at the Baptist church here, for the past two weeks, closed last Sunday with two additions by conversion and one by baptism, and one by letter. Rev. E. N. Dickens, of Franklin, Ky., did the preaching. He presented God's truths to saint and sinner alike without fear or favor, in the same way Christ did when on earth. We feel that the true seed has been sown and hope it will find lodgement in good, honest hearts, and bring forth fruit to God's honor and glory.

Constance.

William Peno is building a new residence.

Mr. Weimer had a fine cow to die of milk fever.

The shipping season being over the Jones Desiccating Co. discharged several hands, last Saturday.

The youngest daughter of John Fallons was badly scalded on the head and arms, the other day.

Arthur Peno had one of his fingers badly mashed while at work over at the tin mill, a few days ago.

Drs. B. A. Dulaney, Murat and McCullom, removed a fibroid tumor from the breast of Mrs. H. Peno, last week.

Dr. Murat has well under way a new residence on the site of the one recently destroyed by fire. George Reeves & son are the contractors.

Erastus Winters has moved to Ludlow, where he will keep a boarding house. Rev. William Peno occupies the house Mr. Winters vacated.

The work of laying rails on the Aurora and Anderson Ferry electric road has commenced at this end of the route. The road will be first completed to North Bend, where the power house will be built.

People will soon begin predicting a fall of snow before it rains again.

Rev. Carneil, old Baptist, will occupy the pulpit at the Baptist church here next Sunday night.

The Covington and Erlanger street railway is having trouble in securing the right of way, and the Bromley and Crescent Springs route may be adopted yet.

John B. Lock, the farmer upon whose place in the Kentucky Highlands the body of murdered Pearl Bryan was discovered, was surprised Monday by a visit from George W. Jackson, the colored man, who was in the trial as the supposed driver of the cab in which the body was removed from Cincinnati. Jackson wanted a souvenir of the place and broke a twig from the bush near which the decapitated trunk was found. Jackson is now a lieutenant in the Ninth O., V. I., and is en route from Springfield to New York.

For Rent or Sale.

My farm of 113 acres of well watered, well fenced, good cultivating land. Large dwelling, tenement house and good tobacco barn on place. Seventy-five acres can be sown in wheat in the fall; 12 acres of uncleared woodland. Farm situated on L. & N. Railroad, 13 miles from Verona, Boone county, Ky. For terms address,

MRS. J. T. BROCK,
416 E. Main St., Lexington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,

Grocers, Commission and SEED Merchants.

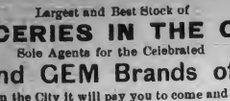
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.

Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.

Largest and Best Stock of

GROCERIES IN THE CITY.

Sole Agents for the Celebrated



RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.

When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.

27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone 4055.) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street,

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

JOHN ALLISON,

UNDER-  EMBAL-

TAKER MER,

Corner Pike & Russell Streets,

COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.

INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

Order Fall Suits NOW

And we will make them up artistically and ready for you promptly on time. We have

Over Five Hundred Styles

Of Fall and Winter Woolens to Select from. They come direct from the looms of foreign and domestic manufacturers, and surpass in elegance and variety anything ever shown in Covington. In the assortment are many exclusive patterns—goods that cannot be duplicated by any other establishment in this city. Keep these facts in mind and place your order for a stylish suit with us. We promise you a faultless fit, the proper cut, and a price that will not be more than you can afford to pay.

H. F. BLASE.

H. F. BLASE,
535 Madison Avenue,
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY

A Word to the Public

MY STOCK OF

Dry Goods, Notions,

AND LADIES' AND GENTS'

TOILET ARTICLES

for the Spring Trade has been received, and to be appreciated must be seen. Fresh

DRUGS AND GROCERIES

received daily. A large stock of

PAINTS & OILS

on hand at all times. All Goods New and Clean, and are sold at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.

GIVE ME A CALL

J. G. OELSNER, Florence, Ky.

Call in and See Our

NEW FALL STOCK,

THE QUICKER THE BETTER.

The Best $5 00 All-wool Man's Suit ever shown.

Our $2 50 Boy's Suits cant be beat.

Our $1 25 Child's Suit is the biggest value ever offered.

We show the Finest, Best Made Line of pants and Suits at the Very Lowest Prices.

We carry a fine Line of Corderoy Pants, Rubber Lined Duck Coats and Cardigan Jackets.

Our Motto is—The Best Values for the Money.

Satisfaction Guaranteed or Money Refunded.

ROLFES & WACHS, No. 1 Pike Street, Cor. Madison Ave.

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

Local News.

Aurora is trust sore now.

Mrs. Kirtley has quite a large school.

Pastures are nearly as dusty as the public highways.

The watermelon season has about come to a close again.

Remember the RECORDER is now printed on Wednesday.

Considerable corn has been cut at night during the last two weeks.

Hear of two or three weddings that are said to be booked for an early date.

L. W. Scraton, a prominent citizen of Rising Sun, died suddenly, Sunday.

The forest is advertising, most eloquently, the approach of another winter.

Mrs. Thos. Castleman, of Florence, has been dangerously ill for several days.

The water wagons went on duty last week. Tear out your cisterns and build larger ones.

Some of the farmers have been laying in their supply of fertilizer preparatory to sowing wheat.

Mr. and Mrs. Blanton Pope have the sympathy of the entire community in the loss of their little child.

For Sale—Five high grade Shorthorn yearlings. E. GAINES & SON, Petersburg, K.

There are no new developments in regard to the Union telephone line. It seems that the poles are hard to secure.

The local coal bins were not replenished this year at as early a date as usual, and that work is receiving attention now.

Preparations are being made for giving a considerable portion of the Burlington and Florence pike a coat of new metal.

Farmers! buy The J. & F. Schroths & Co., special Wheat Grower, only $20 per ton. B. F. Zimmer, agent, Constance, Ky.

James E. Smith has bought Mr. Regan's interest in the Hockins land near the county infirmary. He paid $500 for the 14 acres.

The game of ball at Bellevue next Saturday will draw a good sized crowd of rooters for each club. It will be a game worth going to see.

Several from here attended the fish fry and political speaking at Jas. Graham's on the Covington and Lexington pike, Saturday night.

The chairman of the county Democratic campaign committee is preparing to made things lively from now until the election in this county.

The river was rising last week. There is an immense quantity of coal at head waters ready to come out as soon as there is water enough to float it.

Assessor Willis and his deputy, Elmo Gaines, are now making their official tour. All property and dogs owned September 15 have to be listed for taxation.

All the cups have been taken off the pumps about town as a precautionary measure to prevent the spreading of contagious diseases.—Lawrence b u r g Press.

Last week W. E. Vest and other commissioners divided the lands belonging to the late Chas. Slater in the Big Bone neighborhood. There were ten heirs.

Eb. Roberts is one of the best rail fence builders in this part of the county. He can build a very respectable fence with rails that are so crooked they cannot lay still.

Joe Morrison, for some time proprietor of the Riverside Hotel, Petersburg, has sold out his effects and gone to Ohio, where he will engage in feather renovating and upholstery.

When Jim Clore sent his teams to the country for a load of hay yesterday, all the tubs and water barrels in town were put in a position to catch water as it ran off of the houses.

The North Kentucky Medical Association held a very interesting meeting at Big Bone Springs, one day last week. The attendance was large and quite a number of interesting papers was read.

Mrs. Milton Gaines has sold her farm of 160 acres in the Hebron neighborhood to Robert McGlasson for $10,000 cash. This is a well improved farm, and will make Mr. M. a delightful home.

Sam Hall brought to town yesterday morning a trap containing 19 rats it had captured the night before, and quite a large crowd witnessed the massacre of the rodents by Judge Riddell's celebrated ratters.

FOR SALE.—A farm of 62 acres, near Florence, Boone county; a good dwelling and all necessary outbuildings, all of which are in good repair; with never failing water. Address
JOHN BENTHAM, Florence, Ky.

NOTICE—The Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Boone County will hold its annual election for officers at its office in Burlington, on Monday, October 2d, 1899.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary.

Boone county has a good crop of corn, while in some of the adjoining counties the crop is in a manner a failure. Some say the yield per acre may not be as large as that of last year, but the quality is very much superior.

Mr. F. W. Kassabaum, of Aurora, has appointed R. B. Huey, of the Locust Grove neighborhood, his agent to take the place of J. T. Marshall, who died recently. Mr. Huey is well known in the county, and will make an excellent agent. He is correct in every particular.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Elijah Parker, of Gasburg, was in town Saturday.

Miss Sheba Roberts is visiting her grandparents at Walton.

Gordon McKim returned to college at Oxford, Ohio, last week.

James Hogan moved his family to Riverside, Ohio, last week.

F. W. Kassabaum, of Aurora, made the RECORDER a call Monday.

J. B. Berkshire and wife, of Florence, spent Sunday in Burlington.

Mr. J. W. Duncan made a business trip to Walton, one day last week.

Misses Mary and Catharine Furlong were visiting in Cincinnati, Monday.

Mrs. Julia Clore is entertaining her grand-daughter, Miss Lucy Clore, this week.

W. C. Brown and wife were visiting at Napolean, Gallatin county, a day or two last week.

C. C. Hughes came up from Petersburg Saturday evening and remained over until Monday.

Miss Lucy Rice returned, Sunday, from a visit to her brother Perry and family in Verona.

Mrs. J. H. Ryle, of Florence, was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. S. Clutterbuck last week.

E. O Rouse, of Florence, made glad this office with his presence for a few minutes, yesterday.

Mrs. Georgia Tompkins, of Virginia, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Dr. Smith, of this place.

Miss Bessie Cropper, of Bullittsburg, was the guest of Mrs. Fannie Kirtley and daughter, Sunday.

Ben Drake, of Bellevue was in town yesterday delivering 60 cent sweet potatoes for D. M. Snyder.

Mrs. Minerva White was the guest of her granddaughter, Mrs. S. Gaines, a portion of this and last week.

Mrs. J. A. Huey, of Union, and her mother, Mrs. Crouch, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Castleman.

Mrs. McAtee, of Ludlow, was visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Couner, Monday.

Hons. L. H. Voshell and J. L. Frazier, of Union, were among those transacting business here Monday.

Mrs. Anna McGarvey, of Cincinnati, was visiting her relations here from Saturday until Monday morning.

Mrs. Alice Brown, of the Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, made the RECORDER a pleasant call Saturday afternoon.

James Gaines and wife, of the Petersburg neighborhood, were guests of Atty. S. L. Jones and wife, Monday.

J. O. Huey, the Erlanger Coal Merchant, and H. G Blanton, liveryman, of same place, were in town Sunday.

Rev. J. W. Harris did not fill his appointment here Sunday. He was in Tennessee attending a very sick brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Rouse left, yesterday for a visit of several weeks to Mrs. Rouse's brother and sister in Nebraska.

Esq. J. C. Byland, of Walton, was in town a day or two last week. He made a trip into the Bellevue country on Friday.

J. B. Tolin, our Petersburg correspondent, was in town Monday. He says everything is very quiet in his bailiwick.

Mrs. B. B. Allphin went to the South Fork neighborhood, Friday evening. She was joined by her husband there on Saturday.

Mrs. Martha Buddleston and Mrs. Hitchfield, of Lawrenceburg, were visiting G. T. Gaines and family a day or two last week.

Miss Lucy and Jessie Kirkpatrick have returned home after a visit of several weeks with their grandparents at Milan, Ind.

Atty. Samuel Adams, of Erlanger, was at the court house, Friday, looking after business for some of his clients. He biked over.

Mrs. John Baldon, of the Flatteburg neighborhood, has been visiting her relations in Missouri, for a couple of weeks or more.

Miss Alice Adams, of Pendleton Co., was the guest of her uncle Tom's family at this place a week or two, returning home last week.

J. E. Duncan and John Stephens, of Bullittsville, were here Monday looking after the interests of the Boone County Insurance Co.

Rev. M. J. Hoover went to Harrodsburg, Saturday afternoon, where he filled the pulpit for Rev. Williams, who is preaching here.

Michael Dye and wife, of Hebron, will leave to-morrow for Denver, Colorado, where it is hoped the climate will restore Mrs. Dye's health.

D. M. Snyder and C. H. Acra, of Bellevue, were in town, Saturday. The former was appointed administrator of the estate of John T. Marshall.

W. R. Rouse, of Limaburg, was in town a few hours the other day. He has been doing considerable sawing at his mill during the past few months.

Master Henry Adams, who has been an intense sufferer with one of his lower limbs, all summer, is now able to be moved about some in a little wagon.

Mrs. Morrow, who has been visiting Mrs. Richard White and other relatives at this place, for the past two weeks, returned to her home at Carrollton, Monday.

Mr. M. P. Neal returned to his home in Grant county, last Saturday. Spating of the drought in his county he said his sheep have had no water for a month, but they look fat and fine.

John M. Lassing returned home from Bedford, Trimble county, Sunday. He says they had a splendid Democratic meeting at Bedford, Saturday, and that everything is in good shape in Trimble.

John Hogan contemplated calling on a young lady, last Saturday evening, and about one o'clock that afternoon he lay down to take a nap, and it was nearly midnight when he returned to consciousness. Of course the call was off.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.

DOLLARS DO DOUBLE DUTY HERE.

Standard Granulated Sugar, 18 lbs. $1 00.
Arbuckle Coffee 10 cents per lb.
Daniel Boone Soap, 3 bars for 5 cents.
Pittsburg Wire less than city prices.
Lime, Cement, White Lead, Oils, Varnishes, etc., as cheap as in the city.

Baby Shoes for 10c per pair up.
Misses' Shoes for 50c per pair up.
A full line of Men's, Ladie's and Children's Tan Shoes—Latest Styles, Best Quality, Lowest Prices.
Men's Dress Pants, 75c per pair.
Wonder Overalls, Shirts and Pants, the best made.

COME at ONCE. THESE PRICES are ONLY While Present Stock Lasts.

UNION, KENTUCKY. UNION, KENTUCKY.

To the public:

In last week's RECORDER is another letter to the writer from the Rev. T. L. Utz. It seemes to me it is very uncalled for. If Bro. Utz wanted to address a letter to me, he might have replied to my last private letter to him, which is yet unanswered. But some people seem so fond of crowing that it seems a pity they were not "hatched" with spurs. For the past six months Bro. Utz has posed before the eyes of Boone county, as the little boy with a chip on his shoulder, daring any one to knock it off, that he may have occasion for a fight. Poor fellow! if the public could see what has happened to him in private, they would know that he is already whipped.

A poor way to let the public know about said debate, is this telling a half truth as did Bro. Utz. All are acquainted with how this debate was brought about. I am aware that a great many in Boone county do not want it, but nothing else will satisfy Bro. Utz—provided we will accept his ways.

I did call in question certain statements of brethren as made in the RECORDER, and that questioning is still unanswered. I met Bro. Utz at his home in Bellevue, the 10th of July, to arrange for the debate. He selected J. N. Hall as his man, I selected J. B. Briney. His challenge was for any one to meet them to discuss the "points of difference." I stated six propositions which I have not now with me, being away from home. These set forth our differences on the following subjects:—Baptism, Communion, Conversion, Origin of the church, the Name and falling from Grace. Bro. Utz then stated his proposition as in last week's RECORDER. His proposition does not set forth the points of difference, but includes the points of agreement as well. Neither would accept the other and so we separated. Two weeks ago I wrote him I would meet him in Bellevue on last Saturday. He did not meet me, neither did he answer my letter; but, comes out with his "open letter" informing the public of "the way he sees it."

True, I said I would debate his proposition with him, but that don't seem to be what he wants. If Bro Utz wants a debate on the "points of difference," there is not a stone in his way. But I have heard that his omnibus proposition is the only thing that J. N. Hall will debate. I have no doubt "Hall is anxiously waiting," but, if he gets so they can't hold him any longer, why, just turn him loose. I am responsible for all damage done.

Bro. Utz may come out with his long reply, but I have not much money to pay for RECORDER space, but I tell all now that the plum is ready when he wants to knock it.

GEO. W. WATKINS,
Constance, Ky.

A man claiming that his name is Harry Hunter, was lodged in jail here, last Thursday afternoon, in default of $800 bail, and charged with stealing Hugh Robert's horse and buggy. Hunter was arrested near Bedford, Trimble county, by the Marshall of Bedford. A man who was riding in the buggy with Hunter, at the time they were overtaken by the officer made his escape, the officer shooting at him twice. Hunter refuses to talk further than to say that he had nothing to do with the stealing of the horse and buggy, and that he met the fellow who escaped, at Elizabethtown, 40 miles below Louisville, and had been with him from that time until he was arrested. In the buggy was two or three saws, some bed clothing and other things necessary for a thieving tour, and it is said that they had entered a house or two a short time before the arrest was made. The examining trial was held by County Judge Roberts, and the prisoner's bond fixed at $500.

Geo. W. Sanders, of Walton, has sued the T. A. Snider Preserve Co., located at that place for $1,999 damages. On the 21st of last July Sanders was assisting some carpenters who were working on the defendant's building, when the scaffold fell, precipitating Sanders a considerable distance to the ground, crushing his shoulder and otherwise injuring him considerably. It is supposed that the damages were fixed at $1,999 to prevent a removal of the case to the United States Court to which it could have been taken had they been laid at $2,000. Dickerson & Dyas, for plaintiff.

Mrs. Minerva Clore, wife of Michael Clore, died last Thursday afternoon, after many years of ill health. Mrs. Clore had lived beyond four score years. She leaves a husband, one daughter (Mrs. James M. Conner) and two sons to mourn her loss. Her burial occurred at Bellevue, Sunday, in the presence of a large crowd of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Martha Delph, who resides on Woolper, was in town Monday, and secured from the County Judge a warrant for the arrest of a couple of young men, whom she charges have been annoying her by threatening to roll large rocks down the steep hillside into her house. She was very much exercised over the alleged bad conduct of the young men.

The District Teachers' Association for district No. 3 will be held at the East Bend school house, Saturday, September 23d. All teachers teaching within that magisterial district must attend or teach a day extra.

L. H. VOSHELL, Co. Supt.

COUNTY COURT.

A. G. Simrall & Co., allowed $360 for insuring Court-house for $30,000 for a period of five years against damage by fire, lightning or wind.

James L. Clore allowed $14 90 for material furnished and hauling done for repairing Court house.

D. M. Snyder appointed administrator of estate of John T. Marshall. A. B. Corbin, Perry Clore and W. W. Grant, appraisers.

By order of the Democratic campaign committee, appointments for speaking in the several precincts of the county will soon appear. Hand bills announcing the dates and speakers will be sent the committeemen of the respective precincts, and they will please give general notice. Any committeemen desiring any special dates for their precinct, can confer with the chairman, and have dates arranged to meet their desires. Speakers can be supplied for any time or occasion.

The following is the county campaign committee: Bullittsville—C. W. Riley, John Stephens; Petersburg—M. F. Wingate, Hank Hoffman; Bellevue—Caddy Maurer, Dr. Williamson; Hamilton—R. Lee Huey, Douglas Moore; Beaver—Ed. E. Carroll, Omer Cleek; Verona—Geo. W. Roberts, C. W. Waller; Walton—J. C. Byland, S. C. Johnson; Union—L. B. Dickerson, L. H. Voshell; Florence—Ben Stephens, Dr. Dulaney; Constance—John Cloud, Walter Gordon; Rabbit Hash—E. L. Stephens, Robt. Wilson; Burlington—J. G Furnish, C. C. Roberts.

J. G. FURNISH,
Chairman Campaign Committee.

John Crow, by his next friend, T. J. Crow, has sued the North Kentucky Agricultural Association for $5,000. This suit is the outcome of young Crow's arrest during the recent fair, charged with entering the grounds without paying the price of admission, the policeman who made the arrest claiming that he had climbed over the fence. Crow had gone to hitch his horse when he was arrested, having left his lady friend, a Miss Curley, to await his return. T. E. Curley, C. Y. Dyas and W. W. Dickerson, are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Public Speaking!

Hon. J. N Kehoe, of Maysville, will address the Democrats of Boone county at the Court-house in Burlington at 2 p. m., Monday, October 2nd—county court day.

Hons. J. G. Furnish, Democratic candidate for State Senator, and Benj. Stephens, Democratic candidate for Representative, will speak at Big Bone Springs next Saturday at 2 p. m.

There ought to be a telephone line from Petersburg to Burlington via Hebron. With this line and those projected in the southern part of the county, the local system would be about complete, and in a short time this county, Grant, Gallatin, Owen and Carroll would be connected.

Rev. Frank Williams, of Harrodsburg, has been preaching at the Baptist church here since the night of the second Monday. His sermons, while learned and interesting, are not calculated to create excitement but are an appeal to reason. So far there have been no additions by confession. Mrs. Fannie Kirtley and daughter joined by letter, and Mrs. Robert Wilson and daughter former members of the Methodist church have been received.

From the reading of our Union communication one will conclude that the Union neighborhood is considerably excited by the presence of a fodder saving machine that has made its appearance there.

NOTICE.—I have never authorized any person to sign my name to a receipt, or note, or a paper of any kind, and any person signing my name will be punished to the full extent of the law, by me, for forgery.
JOHN S. MASON, Hathaway, Ky.

NOTICE.—I hereby notify the public that my wife Catherine, has left my bed and board, and that I will not be responsible for any debts she may contract. ADAM BAURER.
Aug. 16t, 1899.

In the District Court of the United States, for the District of Kentucky, in Bankruptcy.

In the matter of Henry Kroger a Bankrupt.

In the 8th day of Sept. A. D., 1899, on considering the petition of the aforesaid bankrupt for discharge, filed on the 8th day of Sept, A. D., 1899, it is ordered by the court that a hearing be had upon the same on the 14th day of Oct., A. D., 1899, before said court at Louisville in said district at 10 o'clock, in the forenoon, or as near thereto as practicable, and that notice thereof be published one time in Boone County Recorder, a newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

Witness the Honorable Walter Evans, Judge of said Court, and the seal thereof, at Covington, on the 8th day of Sept., A. D., 1899.
JOS. C. FINNELL, Clerk.
By L. M. VAN DYKE, D. C.

When in Burlington Call on

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS

Notions, Boots and Shoes,

Who has just received his stock of

SPRING & SUMMER SHOES,

the nicest stock ever in town. Have old stock which I AM SELLING AT GENUINE BARGAINS.

NICE LINE WALL PAPER,

At Prices to Suit the times.

DEERING - MACHINES

Are the favorites in every land where grass and grain grow. They are adopted to all conditions. They are the "Acme" of strength, durability, simplicity and light draft. We will carry a full line of Repairs. Buy the Machine that is fully guaranteed and handy to obtain repairs for.

Also remember we are headquarters for all kinds of

Farm Machinery

At bottom prices. We handle nothing but the best and fully guarantee all.

Also the Largest and Cheapest

Stock of Shoes

In the county, and a full line of

General -- Merchandise.

CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.

COME AND SEE.

T. J. HUGHES,

BEAVER LICK, KY.

GO TO

C. T. DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,

HEBRON AND CONSTANCE,

A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.

Undertaking Given Special Attention,

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron. C. T. DAVIS & CO. Constance

McALPIN & BLANTON,

Successors to RIGGS BROS.

Undertakers

—AND—

Embalmers,

LIVVERY, BOARDING & FEED STABLES.

Special Rates to Travelling Men. Pianos, Organs and Furniture Carefully Removed. First-class Carriages for hire with careful drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, etc.

LEXINGTON PIKE, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

J. M. EDDINS, Agent, Burlington, Ky.

LUMBER!

LATHS,
SHINGLES,
DOORS,
BLINDS,
SASH.

If you want any kind of Lumber it will be to your advantage to visit our yard at Lawrenceburg, Indiana, before buying. Prices to Suit the Times.

M. E. LEMING & CO.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. : : KENTUCKY

MISS MILLY BURNETT, of Port Huron, N. Y., who is a candidate for school commissioner on the republican ticket, is electioneering by riding through the country on a bicycle and interviewing the voters. She is an expert wheelwoman and is making a strong race.

PACKAGES can not be mailed to the Yukon country, according to an order recently issued by the post office department. Letters and postal cards can be sent to the Yukon territory, but there is no way in which parcels, or third or fourth class matter can be forwarded.

A GERMAN officer has invented an acetylene searchlight which can be carried by one man and which will illuminate everything within a distance of 100 yards. It is expected to be of great use in searching for the wounded after a battle and in bridge building at night.

THE South African republic, also known as the Transvaal, was originally formed by part of the Boers, who left the Cape colony in 1835 for Natal, but quitted that colony on its annexation to the British crown. In 1852 the independence of the Transvaal was recognized by the British government.

MAX NORDAU, in writing about the personal characteristics and features of Dreyfus, declares that the real Semitic nose is perfectly straight. The crooked nose, says Dr. Nordau, is pure Armenian, and its prevalence among the Jews of to-day betrays their mixture in the past with that tenacious people.

THE consumption of ice in England during the season has broken the record, though the amount used is by no means large as compared to its use in the United States. A great quantity of the ice comes from Norway, and during certain periods of the past three months an average of about 3,000 tons a day has been received at English ports.

MILLIONS of dollars are invested in the Transvaal gold mines. No less than about $5,000,000 worth of mining machinery is imported every year. British capital is largely and chiefly invested in the mines. It is said that in case of war with Great Britain the Boers would blow up the gold mines. This would mean the destruction of immense fortunes.

A BOSTON man has patented a method for preserving bread for a long period. He simply bakes it, as usual, at a temperature sufficient to kill all organic life and then while it is still hot seals it in a wrapper which he claims is air tight and waterproof. This has the advantage of assuring cleanliness in handling, as well as preventing mold and decay.

ACCORDING to the report of a German calcium carbide manufacturer, 650 tons of lime and 615 tons of coal are theoretically required to make 1,000 tons of carbide. But, in practice, 1,025 tons of lime and 710 tons of coal are necessary to make that quantity of this valuable compound. According to this report, one pound of carbide should cost a little less than two cents.

THE French war office is rejoicing over a new civilizing influence which may outdo even the English dum dum bullet. It is a rifle invented by a Capt. Daudeteau, and experiments have proven how deadly a weapon it is. At 2,000 yards the bullet went clear through a horse placed obliquely to the line of fire, the bones in the track of the bullet being shockingly smashed.

WHEN Senator George L. Turner, of Washington, lost his fortune a few years ago there came to his law office some miners from British Columbia who wanted certain papers drawn up. As they seemed poor, Mr. Turner refused to accept a fee, whereupon they insisted that he accept stock in their claims. The claims turned out well and made them all, including Mr. Turner, millionaires.

WHEN Gen. Shafter retires as a brigadier general in the regular army next month he will be continued as a major general of volunteers, as a reward for his services around Santiago. The vacant brigadier generalship will probably go to Gen. Lawton. Brig. Gen. Anderson and Maj. Gen. Merritt of the regular establishment will retire in the next six months, and this will make two new brigadiers, who are likely to be MacArthur and Wheaton.

IT is interesting to note how many Jews there are in the British army and navy. Most of the Jews in the rank of privates in the British army attend the Church of England services, so that it is difficult to get an accurate estimate of them, but in the case of officers a calculation, which may be relied on as being fairly accurate, has been made, and this gives a total of twenty-seven Jewish officers in the home army and fourteen in India. The royal navy has seven Jewish officers.

EX-PRESIDENT POLICARPO BONILLA, of Honduras, is said to be the only chief executive of that republic who ever turned over to his successor in a friendly spirit the presidency of his country, or who has been unbuyable while occupying the office. "Our territory," he says, "could support ten million people. We have land upon which three crops can be raised a year. Lack of capital has held back the development of our great resources. The opportunities for mining are great, as the richness of the Honduras soil is such that few if any of the well known ores are lacking."

THE MARRIAGE VOWS

The Ease with Which They Are Broken Is Deplored.

Timely Discourse of Dr. Talmage on the Marital Relations—Uniform Divorce Laws Are Needed.

[Copyright, 1899, by Louis Klopsch.]

Dr. Talmage in this discourse discusses a question of national importance, which is confessedly as difficult as it is urgent. The text is Matthew 19:6: "What therefore God hath joined together let no man put asunder."

That there are hundreds and thousands of infelicitous homes in America no one will doubt. If there were only one skeleton in the closet, that might be locked up and abandoned, but in many a home there is a skeleton in the hallway and a skeleton in all the apartments. "Unhappily married" are two words descriptive of many a homestead. It needs no orthodox minister to prove to a badly mated pair that there is a hell. They are there now. Sometimes a grand and gracious woman will be thus incarcerated, and her life will be a crucifixion, as was the case with Mrs. Sigourney, the great poetess and the great soul. Sometimes a consecrated man will be united to a fury, as was John Wesley, or united to a vixen, as was John Milton. Sometimes, and generally, both parties are to blame, and Thomas Carlyle is an intolerable grumbler, and his wife has a pungent retort always ready, and Froude, the historian, pledged to tell the plain truth, has to pull aside the curtain from the lifelong squabble at Craigenputtock and 5 Cheyne row.

Some say that for the alleviation of all these domestic disorders of which we hear easy divorce is a good prescription. God sometimes authorizes divorce as certainly as he authorizes marriage. I have just as much regard for one lawfully divorced as I have for one lawfully married. But you know and I know that wholesale divorce is one of our national scourges. I am not surprised at this when I think of the influences which have been abroad militating against the marriage relation. For many years the platforms of the country rung with talk about a free love millennium. There were meetings of this kind held in the Academy of Music, Brooklyn; Cooper Institute, New York; Tremont temple, Boston, and all over the land. Some of the women who were most prominent in that movement are now since been distinguished for great promiscuosity of affection. Popular themes for such occasions were the tyranny of man, the oppression of the marriage relation, women's rights and the affinities. Prominent speakers were women with short curls and short dress and very long tongue, everlastingly at war with God because they were created women, while on the platform sat meek men with soft accent and cowed demeanor, apologetic for masculinity and holding the parasols while the termagant orators went on preaching the gospel of free love. That campaign of about 20 years set more devils into the marriage relation than will be exorcised in the next 50. Men and women went home from such meetings so permanently confused as to who were their wives and husbands that they never got out of the perplexity, and the criminal and the civil courts tried to disentangle the filaments of woes, and this one got alimony, and that one got a limited divorce, and this mother kept the children on condition that the father could sometimes come and look at them, and these went into poorhouses, and those went into an insane asylum, and those went into dissolute public life, and all went to destruction. The mightiest war ever made against the marriage institution was that free love campaign, sometimes under one name and sometimes under another.

Another influence that has warred upon the marriage relation has been polygamy in Utah. That is a stereotyped caricature of the marriage relation and has poisoned the whole land. You might as well think that you can have an arm in a state of mortification and yet the whole body not be sickened as to have any territories or states polygemized and yet the body of the nation not feel the putrefaction. Hear it, good men and women of America, that so long ago as 1862 a law was passed by congress forbidding polygamy in the territories and in all the places where they had jurisdiction. Thirty-seven years have passed along and nine administrations, yet not until the passage of the Edmunds law in 1882 was any active policy of polygamic suppression adopted. Armed with all the power of government and having an army at their disposal, the first brick had not till then been knocked from that fortress of libertinism. Every new president in his inaugural tickled that monster with the straw of condemnation, and every congress stultified itself in proposing some plan that would not work. Polygamy stood in Utah and in other of the territories more intrenched, more brazen, more puissant, more braggart and more infernal than at any time in its history. James Buchanan, a much abused man of his day, did more for the extirpation of this villainy than all the subsequent administrations dared to do up to 1882. Mr. Buchanan sent out an army, and, although it was halted in its work, still he accomplished more than the subsequent administrations, which did nothing but talk, talk, talk. Even at this late day and with the Edmunds act in force the evil has not been wholly extirpated. Polygamy in Utah, though outlawed, is still practiced in secret. It has warred against the marriage relation throughout the land. It is impossible to have such an awful sewer of iniquity sending up its miasma, which is wafted by the winds north, south, east and west without the whole land being affected by it.

Another influence that has warred against the marriage relation in this country has been a pustulous literature, with its millions of sheets every week choked with stories of domestic wrongs and infidelities and massacres and outrages, until it is a wonder to me that there are any decencies or any common sense left on the subject of marriage. One-half of the news stands of our great cities reek with the filth.

The congress of the United States needs to move for a change of the national constitution and then to appoint a committee—not made up of single gentlemen, but of men of families, and their families in Washington—who shall prepare a good, honest, righteous, comprehensive, uniform law that will control everything from Sandy Hook to the Golden Gate. That will put an end to brokerages in marriage. That will send divorce lawyers into a decent business. That will set people agitated for many years on the question of how they shall get away from each other to planning how they can adjust themselves to the more or less unfavorable circumstances.

More difficult divorce will put an estoppel to a great extent upon marriage as a financial speculation. There are men who go into the relation just as they go into Wall street to purchase shares. The female to be invited into the partnership of wedlock is utterly unattractive and in disposition a suppressed Vesuvius. Everybody knows it, but this masculine candidate for matrimonial orders, through the commercial agency or through the county records finds out how much estate is to be inherited, and he calculates it. He thinks out how long it will be before the old man will die, and whether he can stand the refractory temper until he does die, and then he enters the relation, for he says: "If I cannot stand it, then through the divorce law I will back out. That process is going on all the time, and men enter the relation without any moral principle, without any affection, and it is as much a matter of stock speculation as anything that was transacted yesterday in Union Pacific, Wabash and Delaware and Lackawanna. Now, suppose a man understood, as he ought to understand, that if he goes into that relation there is no possibility of his getting out, or no probability. He would be more slow to put his neck in the yoke. He should say to himself: "Rather than a Caribbean whirlwind with a whole fleet of shipping in its arms, give me a zephyr off fields of sunshine and gardens of peace."

Rigorous divorce law will also hinder women from the fatal mistake of marrying men to reform them. If a young man, by 25 years of age or 30 years of age, have the habit of strong drink fixed on him, he is as certainly bound for a drunkard's grave as that a train starting out from the Grand Central depot at eight o'clock to-morrow morning is bound for Albany. The train may not reach Albany, for it may be thrown from the track. The young man may not reach a drunkard's grave, for something may throw him off the iron track of evil habit. But the probability is that the train that starts to-morrow morning at eight o'clock for Albany will get there, and the probability is that the young man who has the habit of strong drink fixed on him before 25 or 30 years of age will arrive at a drunkard's grave. She knows he drinks, although he tries to hide it by chewing cloves. Everybody knows he drinks. Parents warn; neighbors and friends warn. She will marry him; she will reform him. If she is unsuccessful in the experiment, why, then, the divorce law will emancipate her, because habitual drunkenness is a cause for divorce in Indiana, Kentucky, Florida, Connecticut and nearly all the states. So the poor thing goes to the altar of sacrifice. If you will show me the poverty struck streets in any city, I will show you the homes of the women who married men to reform them. In one case out of ten thousand it may be a successful experiment. I never saw the successful experiment. But have a rigorous divorce law, and that woman will say: "If I am affianced to that man, it is for life, and if now, in the ardor of his young love and I the prize to be won, he will not give up his cups, when he has won the prize surely he will not give up his cups." "No, sir; you are already married to the club, and you are married to that evil habit, and so you are married twice, and you are a bigamist. Go!"

A rigorous divorce law will also do much to hinder hasty and inconsiderate marriages. Under the impression that one can be easily relieved, people enter the relation without inquiry and without reflection. Romance and impulse rule the day. Perhaps the only ground for the marriage compact is that she likes his looks, and he admires the graceful way she passes around the ice cream at the picnic! It is all they know about each other. It is all the preparation for life. A man not able to pay his own board bill, with not a dollar in his possession, will stand at the altar and take the loving hand and say: "With all my wordly goods I thee endow." A woman that could not make a loaf of bread to save her life will swear to love and keep him in sickness and in health. A Christian will marry an atheist, and that always makes conjoined wretchedness; for if a man does not believe there is a God he is neither to be trusted with a dollar nor with your lifelong happiness. Having read much about love in a cottage, people brought up in ease will go and starve in a hovel. Runaway matches and elopements, nine hundred and ninety-nine out of a thousand of which mean death and hell, multiplying on all hands. You see them in every day's newspapers.

Our ministers in some regions have no defense such as they have in other regions where the banns must be previously published and an officer of the law must give a certificate that all is right, so clergymen are left defenseless and unite those who ought never to be united. Perhaps they are too young, or perhaps they are standing already in some domestic compact. By the wreck of 20,000 homes, by the holocaust of 10,000 sacrifices men and women, by the heartstone of the family, which is the corner stone of the state, and in the name of that God who hath set up the family institution and who hath made the breaking of the marital oath the most appalling of all perjuries, I implore the congress of the United States to make some righteous, uniform law for all the states and from ocean to ocean on this subject of marriage and divorce.

Let me say to all young people, before you give your heart and hand in holy alliance, use all caution. Inquire outside as to habits, explore the disposition, scrutinize the taste, question the ancestry and find out the ambitions. Do not take the heroes and the heroines of cheap novels for a model. Do not put your lifetime happiness in the keeping of a man who has a reputation for being a little loose in morals or in the keeping of a woman who dresses immodestly. Remember that, while good looks are a kindly gift of God, wrinkles or accident may despoil them. Remember that Byron was no more celebrated for his beauty than for his depravity. Remember that Absalom's hair was not more splendid than his habits were despicable. Hear it! Hear it! The only foundation for happy marriage that ever has been or ever will be is good character.

Ask the counsel of father and mother in this most important step of your life. They are good advisers. They are the best friends you ever had. They made more sacrifices for you than anyone else ever did, and they will do more to-day for your happiness than any other people. Ask them, and, above all, ask God. I used to smile at John Brown, of Haddington, because, when he was about to offer his hand and heart in marriage to one who became his lifelong companion, he opened the conversation by saying: "Let us pray." But I have seen so many shipwrecks on the sea of matrimony I have made up my mind that John Brown, of Haddington, was right. A union formed in prayer will be a happy union, though sickness pale the cheek and poverty empty the bread tray and death open the small graves and all the path of life be strewn with thorns, from the marriage altar with its wedding march and orange blossoms clear on down to the last farewell at that gate where Isaac and Rebecca, Abraham and Sarah, Adam and Eve, parted. And let me say to you who are in this relation, if you make one man or woman happy you have not lived in vain. Christ says that what He is to the church you ought to be to each other, and if sometimes, through the difference of opinion or difference of disposition, you make up your mind that your marriage was a mistake patiently bear and forbear, remembering that there is a glory in the patient endurance of a sad yoke. Life at the longest is short, and for those who have been badly mated in this world death will give quick and final bill of divorcement written in letters of green grass on quiet graves. And perhaps, my brother, my sister, perhaps you may appreciate each other better in Heaven than you have appreciated each other on earth.

In the "Farm Ballads" our American poet puts into the lips of a repentant husband, after a life of married perturbation, these suggestive words:

And when she dies I wish that she would be laid by me,
And, lying together in silence, perhaps we will agree,
And if ever we meet in Heaven I would not think it queer
If we love each other better because we quarreled here.

And let me say to those of you who are in happy married union, avoid first quarrels; have no unexplained correspondence with former admirers; cultivate no suspicions; in a moment of bad temper do not rush out and tell the neighbors; do not let any of those backbonts of society unload in your house their baggage of gab and tittle-tattle; do not make it an invariable rule to stand on your rights; learn how to apologize; do not be so proud or so stubborn or so devilish that you will not make up. Remember that the worst domestic misfortunes and most scandalous divorce cases started from little infelicities. The whole piled up train of ten rail cars telescoped and smashed at the foot of an embankment 100 feet down came to that catastrophe by getting two or three inches off the track. Some of the greatest domestic misfortunes and the widest resounding divorce cases have started from little misunderstandings that were allowed to go on and go on until home and respectability and religion and immortal soul went down in the crash.

Fellow citizens as well as fellow Christians, let us have a divine rage against anything that wars on the marriage state. Blessed institution! Instead of two arms to fight the battle of life, four; instead of two eyes to scrutinize the path of life, four; instead of two shoulders to lift the burden of life, four; twice the energy, twice the courage, twice the holy ambition, twice the probability of worldly success, twice the prospect of Heaven. Into that matrimonial bower God fetches two souls. Outside the bower, room for all contentions, and all bickerings, and all controversies, but inside that bower there is room for only one guest—the angel of love. Let that angel stand at the floral doorway of this Edenic bower with drawn sword to hew down the worst foe of that bower—easy divorce. And for every paradise lost may there be a paradise regained. And after we quit our home here may we have a brighter home in Heaven, at the windows of which, this moment, are familiar faces watching for our arrival and wondering why so long we tarry.

A Fashionable Novelty.

It can be said with perfect safety that the collarette in its numerous different forms has come to stay. There was some doubt as to whether it would take well at first, especially in high-grade goods, but it is now a well-known fact that they will be largely used this fall and no doubt continue right through winter.—Dry Goods Economist.

THE SERIOUS CEREUS.

Mr. Smith Thinks There Are Times When They Amount to a Tragedy.

"Night-blooming cereuses are no joke," remarked Smith to his partner as he arrived at the office about 12 o'clock in the day.

"Serious things, I suppose," remarked Brown, jocularly.

Smith groaned. "Serious? Well, I should say so. They are a tragedy. We have one in our family, and just as soon as I can persuade my wife to go down to her mother's for a few days that hoodoo of a botanical specimen goes in the ash barrel. For some reason or other my wife decided that the cereus was going to bloom last night. It has threatened to bloom so many times and then backed out at the last minute that nobody but a woman would have any more faith in it. But it was a sure thing this time and Mrs. Smith sent runners all over town to summon our friends in to see that dastardly thing burst into flower; certain billed to blossom out at midnight. When I came home Mrs. Smith said:

"Now, Henry, a night-blooming cereus is something you don't see in flowers more than once in a century—or is it a thousand years? Anyway it's an awful long time. And I've invited the Jones and the Collinses and the greens and—'

"Well, about 50 people, half of 'em living seven miles out on the North side. I had arranged to meet a man at the club, but I telephoned him I wouldn't be there. Then the caterers came and they turned the house into an ice-cream parlor. All my papers and books and fishing rods and guns were carried out of the study to clear a suitable place for that confounded cereus. It took the center of the stage and kept it, and as far as I am concerned I wish botany was at the bottom of the sea. The layout cost me $50 besides losing in the melee a deed to ten lots in Englewood.

"Well, but the cereus?" queried Brown.

"Oh, yes, hang it, the thing didn't bloom. Flunked for the twenty-fifth time!"—Chicago Inter Ocean.

PROGRESS.

With time, comes progress and advancement in all lines of successfully conducted enterprises. Success comes to those only who have goods with superior merit and a reputation. In the manufacture of laundry starch for the last quarter of a century J. C. Hubinger has been the peer of all others and to-day is placing on the market the finest laundry starch ever offered the public under our new and original method.

Ask your grocer for a coupon book which will enable you to get the first two large 10 cent packages of his new starch, RED CROSS, TRADE MARK brand, also two of the children's Shakespeare pictures painted in twelve beautiful colors as natural as life, or the Twentieth Century Girl Calendar, all absolutely free.

All grocers are authorized to give ten large packages of RED CROSS STARCH, with twenty of the Shakespeare pictures or ten of the Twentieth Century Girl Calendars, to the first five purchasers of the Endless Starch Chain Book. This is one of the grandest offers ever made to introduce the RED CROSS laundry starch, J. C. Hubinger's latest invention.

The Brute!

"He tried to kiss me, judge," said the female complainant.

"Did he succeed?" queried the court.

"No, sir."

"Five dollars' fine!" thundered the court, turning to the prisoner. "Be more careful next time."—Philadelphia North American.

"I cannot understand ze language," said the despairing Frenchman. "I know how to pronounce ze word 'hydrophobia,' and zen I learn zat ze doctors sometimes pronounce it fatal."—N. O. Times-Democrat.

"Do you know anything that will make me stout, doctor?" "Why, certainly, I do." "What is it?" "Flesh."—Yonkers Statesman.

"Necessity is the Mother of Invention."

It was the necessity for a reliable blood purifier and tonic that brought into existence Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is a highly concentrated extract prepared by a combination, proportion and process peculiar to itself and giving to Hood's Sarsaparilla unequalled curative power. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Never Disappoints

ONE WIFE SURELY ENOUGH.

Why Monogmy Has Come to Be the Prevailing Matrimonial Principle in This Country.

Margherita Arlina Hamm, the well-known traveler and author, called when in China upon the wife, or rather the wives, of a great mandarin. Her visit partook of the nature of a festival, so novel was the experience to the Chinese women, whose lives are passed almost entirely within the walls of their yamen. They examined her clothing, and were partly pleased and partly astonished at it. They were shocked by her shoes, and especially by the fact that her feet were not confined by bindings.

Finally one of them said, through the interpreter: "You can walk and run just as well as a man?"

"Why, certainly."

"Can you ride a pony as well as a man?"

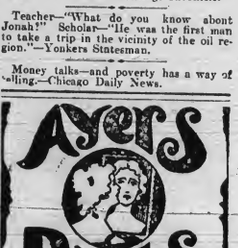
"Of course."

"Then you must be as strong as most men."

"Yes, I think I am."

"You wouldn't let a man beat you, not even your husband, would you?"

"Not at all."



The Chinese woman paused, laughed, and then said: "Now I understand why foreigners never take more than one wife. They are afraid to."—Philadelphia Post.

Which Was the Bigamist.

A prominent resident of Chicago spending his summer holidays in the eastern provinces, dedicated to the memory of the famous men and women who formed themselves into the philosophic workers and dreamers of Brook Farm encountered in the residence of Emerson two other prominent residents of the city on Lake Michigan, both of them judges of note and both living on the West side. The two jurists were accompanied by three attractive ladies unknown to the solitary prominent resident who first claimed attention, and after an interval of exclamation and greeting one of the judges turned and with a sweeping gesture introduced the ladies: "Mr. Dash, these are our wives."—Chicago Chronicle.

Teacher—"What do you know about Jonah?" Scholar—"He was the first man to take a trip in the vicinity of the oil region."—Yonkers Statesman.

Money talks—and poverty has a way of talking.—Chicago Daily News.

Ayer's Pills

Look at yourself! Is your face covered with pimples? Your skin rough and blotchy? It's your liver! Ayer's Pills are liver pills. They cure constipation, biliousness, and dyspepsia. 25c. All druggists.

Want your mustachs or beard a beautiful brown or rich black? Then use

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE for the Whiskers

50 cts. of Druggists, or R. P. Hall & Co., Nashua, N. H.

John M. Smyth Co.

MAMMOTH MAIL ORDER HOUSE

150-152-154 156-158-160 162-164-166 W. MADISON ST. CHICAGO.

FASHIONABLE AUTUMN AND WINTER SKIRT.

No. 105. This handsome skirt is made of fine quality all wool storm serge in the new fashionable shape; stylishly trimmed with black satin from waist, in fancy design as illustrated. Notwithstanding the modest cost of this ne plus ultra of fashion, none of the essential points that go to make up a strictly first-class skirt have been omitted. It is lined throughout with high grade percaline and substantial interlining; bound with best water-proof binding; made with under box plait and patent snap fasteners in the back to prevent spreading open; bound seams. The accompanying illustration having been made from a photograph of the skirt; accurately portrays the gracefulness of each fold and line and gives a clear conception of the way it will hang when worn. This is a bargain of unusual interest to every lady who desires something not too expensive, at the same time possessing style equal to more costly garments and quality that is wonderfully serviceable. Colors are navy blue or black. Sizes: Waist, 22 to 30 inches; length, 39 to 44 inches. Larger sizes 50 per cent extra. Price

$3.35

You'll enjoy wearing it because it possesses individual style, because the price is only about half the value. To be enumerated among our customers means to be in close touch with the centers of fashion at all times.

OUR MAMMOTH CATALOGUE

In which is listed at lowest wholesale prices everything to eat, wear and use, is furnished on receipt of only 10c. to partly pay postage or expressage, and as evidence of good faith—the 10c. is allowed on first purchase amounting to $1.00 or above.

AGAINST TRUSTS.

Several Interesting Papers Read at the Conference in Chicago.

Legislation Can Not Control It Without Striking at the Root—Government Owns All Means of Transportation and Utility.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—The great conference on the uses and abuses of trusts and combinations, with representative men from nearly every state in attendance, opened here Wednesday. Central music hall was packed with the 200 delegates and others who were merely spectators. The meeting was called to order by Chairman Franklin H. Head.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The afternoon session of the trust conference was devoted to the papers on the "Relation of agriculture to trusts." Dudley Wooten acted as chairman for the session, but presided over delegations even thinner than they were during the forenoon. W. Burke Cochran was missed from the ranks of the New Yorkers, but these gentlemen asserted that he had not forsaken the conference.

Gov. Pingree, of Michigan, together with Gov. Atkinson, of West Virginia; Gov. Schofield, of Wisconsin, and Gov. Stanley, of Kansas, upon the invitation of the chairman took seats on the stage.

Samuel H. Greely, of the Chicago board of trade, spoke on "The protection of American grain markets from railroad and warehouse monopoly." He was followed by J. C. Hanley, of St. Paul, delegate from the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union. Aaron Jones, of South Bend, Ind., master of the National Grange, declared that the farmer was opposed to no other branch of industry, including trusts. The last speaker of the afternoon was Maj. Benj. R. Tucker, of New York, editor of an anarchist paper. He gave his view of trusts from the point of view of the anarchist.

At the close an opportunity for discussion was offered, but a motion to adjourn was overwhelmingly favored and was carried. J. C. Hanley, of St. Paul, spoke on foreign markets and American shipping and the effect and influence of these on agriculture.

"Trusts and combines," said he, "if conducted on a strict business competitive system, would be a blessing rather than a curse, but the operation of many of these gigantic monopolies as conducted at present are a menace to the existence and stability of our nation. I am convinced that legislation can not control this evil without striking at the root of it, and that the government own and control all means of transportation and public utility."

In the course of his speech Aaron Jones said: "It occurs to me that the first step in remedial legislation is to pass a well considered anti-trust law by the congress of the United States, defining the powers limiting the privileges of these corporations, and supplement this law by enactments of the several state legislatures to apply to such phases as could not be reached by the federal law."

Maj. Tucker, at the close of his speech, said: "Free access to the world of matter, abolishing land monopoly; free access to the world of mind, abolishing idea of monopoly; free access to a free and untaxed market, abolishing tariff monopoly and money monopoly—secure these and all the rest shall be added unto you. For liberty is the remedy of every social evil; and to anarchy must the world look at least for any enduring guarantee of social order."

THEY PROTEST.

The Free Importation of Coffee From Porto Rico to Cuba Caused a Bad Impression Among Planters.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Sept. 15.—The measure declaring free importation of coffee from Porto Rico to Cuba has caused a bad impression in the city and province of Santiago. The planters held a meeting Wednesday, and after a prolonged discussion agreed to cable Senor Quesada in Washington a request to present a protest to President McKinley. They declare that such a regulation will kill the Cuban coffee industry and leave thousands penniless.

The Santiago chamber of commerce, at its meeting Thursday, adopted a resolution of protest.

Dreyfus Will Be Pardoned September 19.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—The Matin Friday morning asserts that the cabinet has agreed to pardon Dreyfus and that the decree will be signed September 19. Many of the provincial papers publish articles insisting on the granting of a pardon.

Suicided on a Train.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Chas. E. Snedes, a grain merchant of Harlem, S. D., committed suicide by shooting on a train while passing through Glenview Wednesday night. He had been ill from softening of the brain for the past nine years.

Secretary Vanderlip Returns to Washington.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Assistant Secretary Vanderlip has returned to the city from a ten days' official trip through New England.

THE VANDERBILT FUNERAL.

Short Services at the Fifth Avenue Mansion Preceded the Simple Public Ceremonies at the Church.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Funeral services were held over the remains of Cornelius Vanderbilt, son of Wm. H. Vanderbilt, who died suddenly at his Fifth avenue mansion, New York, September 12, of cerebral hemorrhage, Friday afternoon in St. Bartholomew's Episcopal church. The church funeral was preceded by short exercises at the house, to which only members of the family and close friends were admitted. Rev. Dr. David H. Greer, rector of St. Bartholomew's, officiated at both services. From the house to the church the funeral party included Mrs. Vanderbilt, her children, Cornelius, Gladys, Reginald and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney; Wm. K., Frederick and George Vanderbilt, brothers of the dead man; Elliot F. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sloane and their two children and Mrs. McKay Twombley.

At the church the casket was preceded down the aisle by Bishop Potter and Dr. Greer, the bishop reciting the first sentence of the Episcopal service beginning "I am the resurrection and the life."

The services were extremely simple. A choir of 60 mixed voices, under the direction of the church organist, Richard Henry Warren, sang the music of the services and Chopin's funeral march was played as the procession moved up the aisle. The only floral tributes at the church were from the members of the family. One great cross of roses, orchids and lilies of the valley and more than six feet tall, stood near the casket.

Mrs. Vanderbilt walked with her eldest son Cornelius. At the close of the church service, the casket was taken to the Vanderbilt mausoleum, Newdorp, Staten Island.

DID NOT TAKE PLACE.

William J. Bryan Refused to Enter Into a Debate With Bourke Cochran at the Trust Conference.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—The exciting joint debate looked for between William J. Bryan and Bourke Cochran on trusts did not take place Friday night. Central music hall was packed with an eager audience but the people present had to content themselves without the oratory of the famous Nebraskan, who, however, occupied a seat on the platform.

Mr. Bryan reached Central music hall early in the evening. He went direct to a room upstairs where he was greeted by Chairman Franklin Head, Congressman Gaines, Ralph M. Easley and other members of the programme committee of the civic federation conference on trusts.

Mr. Bryan surprised the committee by declining to speak at the night session with W. Bourke Cochran in accordance with the programme previously arranged. Mr. Bryan explained that he did not wish to let the impression go out that he was to enter into a debate with Mr. Cochran. For that reason he said he would not speak with Mr. Cochran at the same session. Mr. Cochran was sent for and he and Mr. Bryan discussed the situation.

The committee withdrew to allow the two orators to settle the dispute among themselves. Mr. Bryan asserted that he never said he would follow Mr. Cochran with an address on the same evening. If the committeemen got that impression from the conversation he had with them over the long distance telephone Thursday he said they misunderstood him. Mr. Cochran wanted to talk at the same session with the noted Nebraskan and offered to flip a coin to determine who should have the privilege of delivering the closing address. Mr. Bryan would not accept this proposition. Mr. Cochran then agreed to appear at any time the committee desired. The programme was then changed to meet Mr. Bryan's wishes. Mr. Bryan said he was anxious to address the conference and repeated that his only reason for changing the programme was to avoid any indication of a public debate with Mr. Cochran.

Gen. Otis Asks for Additional Officers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Gen. Otis has cabled the war department a request for additional staff officers for service in the Philippines. He asks for one additional judge advocate general, two assistant adjutant generals, two inspector generals, eight quartermaster, nine commissaries of subsistence and two engineer officers. The adjutant general has called upon the heads of these different bureaus to designate officers for this duty, as the importance of having all the officers of the staff asked for before the next active campaign begins is recognized by the department.

RAILWAY RUMBLE.

An ordinary railway engine is equivalent in strength to about 900 horses.

A good railway engine will travel about 1,000,000 miles before it wears out.

The street railway companies of Great Britain are using on roads now in operation, and have ordered for roads which are being constructed, between 2,500 and 3,000 electric motors, and according to a street railway journal nearly or quite 20,000 horse-power of American electric railway generators.

BOERS TO FIGHT.

It is Probable That the Last Hope of Peace Has Vanished in Transvaal.

The Transvaal Government Repudiates Suzerainty and the Right of Interference in Internal Affairs and Adheres to Franchise.

LONDON, Sept 18.—The reply of the Transvaal government to Mr. Chamberlain's latest note is said to cover nine pages. It is eminently of the "negative and inconclusive" character, which Mr. Chamberlain declared would compel the imperial government to consider the situation afresh. It practically repudiates suzerainty, reverts to the seven years' franchise, and declines to give equality to the Dutch and English languages in the volksraad. In short it is politely negative and defiant. The full text may not be available for a day or two, but it will not change the aspect of affairs. The cabinet will probably meet on Wednesday or Thursday to consider the next step.

The Morning Post says:

"The Boers mean to fight. That is the plain English of it."

The Standard says:

"The Transvaal note is unsatisfactory and indeed a dangerous composition. It might be going too far to say that the last hope of peace has vanished or that diplomacy has said its final word, but it is idle to deny that the rulers of the Transvaal have brought their country very close to the brink of disaster which the British government done its best to avert.

The Daily Chronicle says: "We regret that the Boers, by rejecting a fair offer, made in fair language, have taken a line giving fresh points to the argument of their enemies, that President Kruger is a shifty and impracticable politician, fit only to be spoken to across a line of bayonets."

The Pretoria correspondent of the Morning Post, in his summary of the Transvaal reply, says the Transvaal repudiates suzerainty and the right of interference, and denies that either State Attorney Smuts or the government offered a five years' franchise otherwise than on Conyngham Greene's assurance that the imperial government would withdraw its claim of a right to interfere in the Transvaal's internal affairs. The correspondent adds: The reply anticipates a final alternative of a British note by saying that further suggestions on the lines indicated are vain."

All the dispatches from South Africa Monday morning talk of the imminence of hostilities and the preparation for them. In Johannesburg it seems to be taken for granted that the Orange Free State has approved President Kruger's note, and promise active assistance in the event of war.

An official telegram posted at Volksrust says that the Transvaal, with the assent of the Orange Free State, repudiates British suzerainty and adheres to the seven years' franchise.

IMPOSING CEREMONIES.

The Monastery and College of the Holy Land, at Washington, Dedicated by High Church Officials Sunday.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—One of the most remarkable religious institutions in the country, the monastery and college of the Holy Land, established by the Franciscan Friars of the Holy Land, was dedicated Sunday with imposing ceremonies in which Cardinal Gibbons, Mgr. Martinelli, Bishop Blenk, of Porto Rico; Mgr. Stephan, head of Indian missions in this country; Mgr. Sharetti, auditor of the papal delegation in Washington, and many other prominent figures of the Catholic church participated. During the afternoon a flag raising gave a national and patriotic phase to this extensive undertaking. The institution is situated near the Catholic university, on an eminence commanding a view of the beautiful university grounds.

A special branch of the Franciscan order for centuries has devoted its entire attention to the preservation and protection of the tomb of the Saviour, the stables of Bethlehem, and other sacred relics of the life of Christ. As many Americans are joining the pilgrimages to the holy relics, it has been deemed advisable to establish in this country a college which will prepare those who will carry forward the work of preservation.

Insurgents Take Possession of Maracay.

CARACAS, Sept. 18.—The insurgent commander, General Cipriano Castro, has taken possession of Maracay and is still advancing. The United States, British and French representatives have asked their respective governments to send war ships to protect their interests. President Andrade arrived here Sunday.

Train Inspection.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 18.—Surgeon G. M. Magruder, of the marine hospital service, after consultation with the state board of health, has arranged a plan of train inspection over four of the principal railroads in Mississippi.

Their Remains Exhumed.

HAVANA, Sept. 18.—The ceremony of exhuming the remains of General Antonio Maceo and Francisco Gomez, son of General Maximo Gomez, took place at Bejucal Sunday in the presence of a large concourse of people.

WILL FORM A NEW PARTY.

It Will Be Upon a Platform Around Which All the Old Revolutionary Organizations of Cuba Can Rally.

HAVANA, Sept. 16.—Gualberto Gomez says he has no intention of joining the Cuban national league or the Cuban national party, but will soon form a new party upon a platform around which all the old revolutionary organizations can and will rally. "In the event of Americans declaring Cuba independent," he said Friday, "I think Gen. Maximo Gomez is likely to be elected president as he has a large backing. He would not, however, remain long in that position. He is a tyrant and overbearing, and the people of Cuba would not endure the injustice which would certainly prevail under his administration. He has the backing of the peace party now for the simple reason that it is not generally realized by his supporters that the party which I am organizing will have the support of the old revolutionary elements, the men who did the fighting and who understand Maximo Gomez. The two parties are absolutely incompatible."

Cubans who know Gualberto Gomez say that he will rely principally upon the colored vote and that when he talks about the men who did the fighting he refers to the Negroes, who undoubtedly constituted the greater part of the army. It is obvious that the present necessity of union has thrown men like Quintin Bandera into the arms of the Cuban National League; but when the split comes on account of the domineering nature of Maximo Gomez, then, according to the followers of Gualberto Gomez, the latter, having clean hands with regard to the Cuban national party and the Cuban national league, the backers of Maximo Gomez will be in a position to say that he has not compromised, but has always followed the same course and always upheld the rights and claims of those who did the fighting, namely, the Negroes.

OUTRAGES AND MURDERS.

Almost Daily Stories Come From Villages in the Interior of Cuba—The Crimes Seem to Be Increasing.

HAVANA, Sept. 16.—The Diario De La Marina says editorially Friday:

"Almost daily stories of horrible outrages and murders come from villages within cannon shot of the principal towns in the interior, which seems to show that the crimes are increasing. The persecution of industrious Spaniards is becoming more cruel and the situation is fast developing a serious character. We would urge the authorities to give their attention immediately to these conditions."

The paper gives an account of a Spaniard, living at Managua, who, though he has been there 20 years in charge of a local school, is menaced nightly by a mob that threatens to lynch him unless he leaves the place. It appears that many of the resident Spaniards are preparing to leave.

Printing House on Fire.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 16.—Fire broke out at 1:30 Saturday morning in the Jacob North printing house, a three-story and basement brick, containing an immense amount of printing machinery and the home of many publications. The North building will be a total loss. A high wind is blowing from the south, and if the flames cross the alley to the Masonic temple, an entire block of solid business house is threatened.

Champion Jeffries Coming Home.

QUEENSTOWN, Sept. 16.—The Dominion line steamer New England, which sailed from this port Friday for Boston, has among her passengers James Jeffries, the champion pugilist. Jeffries was hissed in Cork Thursday evening because he refused to spar with a local celebrity named O'Connor, on the ground that it would be inadvisable to do so in view of his approaching fight with Sharkey.

Large Export for August.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The record of August commerce shows the relation of this year's business to that of other countries. Exports were $80,082,875 larger than ever before in August and exceeded imports by $37,929,699, partly because exports of staples were $9,366,978 larger than last year, but also because exports of other products, mainly manufacturing, were $10,349,000 larger than last year.

The Pope Will Write a Letter.

ROME, Sept. 16.—The pope, while receiving 50 pilgrims from Toulouse, France, Friday announced his intention to address a letter to the French nation urging an immediate pacification for the sake of humanity, and so as to not compromise the success of the Paris exposition.

Could Not Pass Examination.

ANNISTON, Ala., Sept. 16.—Seventy-six out 100 public school teachers whose papers were examined under the new law by the state board of examiners, had their heads chopped off. The head of one of the state schools failed to get a first grade certificate.

Highway Robber Hanged.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 16.—Noah Finley was hanged at Pulaski, Va., for highway robbery Friday. This was the first legal execution for this crime in Virginia.

RUNNING FIGHT.

Seven Negro Miners Killed in a Riot at Carterville, Ill., With Whites.

The Opposing Sides Met at the Depot, Exchanged a Few Words, When the Negroes Opened Fire on the Whites—Fight Followed.

CARTERVILLE, Ill., Sept. 18.—Carterville was the scene of a bloody riot about noon Sunday in which four Negroes were instantly killed and one wounded unto death while two others received slight wounds. Trouble has been hovering ever since the militia was recalled by Gov. Tanner last Monday. The white miners of this place have refused to allow the Negro miners to come into town, always meeting them and ordering them back. Sunday however 13 Negroes, all armed, marched into town going to the Illinois Central depot where they exchanged a few words with the white miners there, when the Negroes pulled their pistols and opened fire on the whites who at once returned the fire when a running fight was kept up.

The Negroes scattered, but were followed by the whites, running up the main street, while the remainder took down the railroad track. Here the execution was done, all who went through town escaping. After the fight was over four dead bodies were picked up and another mortally wounded. They were taken to the city hall, where the wounded man was attended to and an inquest held over the dead ones.

Trouble has existed here off and on for over a year, but no fatalities occurred until June 30, when a passenger train on the Illinois Central railroad was fired into and one Negro woman killed. These Negroes were on their way to the mines, having come from Pana. A short time afterwards a pitched battle ensued between the union and non-union forces during which time the dwellings occupied by the union Negroes were burned. Several arrests were made and the parties are in jail at Marion on the charge of murder awaiting trial. The mayor has taken every precaution to prevent further trouble and none will occur unless the Negroes make an attack. It is now rumored however, that the state militia will be here within a very short time. If they arrive no further trouble is looked for. Superintendent Donely of the Brush mines, where the Negroes are employed, reported that the Negroes are worked up into a frenzy and that while he is doing all in his power to hold them in check, he is afraid that he can not do so much longer and that unless the militia arrives shortly further trouble may be expected.

Two more dead negroes were found late Sunday evening near the Brush mines, swelling the total killed to six. Cummins, the wounded negro, is reported dead, making a total of seven killed.

Company C, 4th regiment I. N. L., arrived here late Sunday evening, and will endeavor to preserve order.

Forty miners from the Herrin mines left that place for this city armed with Krag-Jorgensen rifles, and are determined to assist the white miners here if their services are required.

APPEAL FOR REVISION.

It Will Be Withdrawn by Dreyfus in Order to Allow the Government to Take Steps for a Pardon.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The Paris correspondent of the London Daily News says:

The premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau, has promised definitely to propose a pardon for Dreyfus at next Tuesday's cabinet council.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—M. DeBlowitz, the Paris correspondent of the Times, says:

"I learn that Capt. Dreyfus will shortly withdraw his appeal for a revision of the Rennes trial, which will leave the ground clear for the government to take immediate steps to pardon him. This pardon will not annul the civil and military consequences of the verdict and he will, therefore, no longer belong to the army.

"There is nothing, however, to prevent him from applying to the court of cassation to quash the Rennes trial whenever the new fact required by law is produced. When liberated he will settle in the south of France, as the members of his family do not wish to expose him to such demonstrations of sympathy abroad as might be used against him by his adversaries at home."

Protested Against the Verdict.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Chicago Jews assembled at Metropolitan hall, Jefferson and O'Brien streets, Sunday and protested against the verdict of the court-martial in the Dreyfus case.

His Home and Contents Destroyed.

CENTERVILLE, Ia., Sept. 18.—While J. M. Wales was away from home Saturday his home and its contents were destroyed by fire. It is supposed to be another result in the famous Wales-Wakefield feud.

Mercier for the Senate.

PARIS, Sept. 18.—The Journal is authority for the statement that Gen. Mercier, who is staying at Dinard, in the department of Ille-et-Vilaine, announces his intention to stand for the senate in the department of Sarthe.

THE DIAMOND JUBILEE.

Many of the Higher Officials, Including All Officers of the Sovereign Grand Lodge I. O. O. F., in Detroit Mich.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 18.—The officials and the rank and file of American odd fellowship who have thus far arrived in the city passed a quiet Sunday preliminary to the opening of the diamond jubilee anniversary of the order. There are already on hand some 400 of the higher officials, including all the officers of the Sovereign grand lodge, delegates to the grand lodge sessions, state grand lodge officers, grand encampment officers, and officers of the Rebekah branch. Besides these about 1,000 of the rank and file have thus far arrived from various states.

Religious services were held Sunday in the First Congregational church. The central portion of the church auditorium was reserved for odd fellows and their ladies, several hundred of whom arrived from headquarters by special trolley train. Rev. Nehemiah Boynton, D. D., pastor of the church, preached upon "Brotherhood." The speaker defined the various relations of brotherhood, inclusive, first, of family relationship; secondly, of a particular class; and finally, the enlarged idea of brotherhood as exemplified by Jesus Christ, who brought brotherhood up to its full realization, all men to Him being brethren irrespective of residence, religion, color, or other circumstances.

"Jesus," said the speaker, "looked beneath men's varied defects, and found therein his brother, man, for whom he offered his very life. You can only carry true brotherhood into the world in proportion as the essence of brotherhood which exists in your own souls. It is not enough for you to send your check from your lodge to the physician and the undertaker. It is more in the open palm behind which throbs the sympathetic heart. Take away your inspiration and the real brotherliness of your order will fail. Your institution is 75 years old, but its inspiration was born 1900 years ago with the infant who has since been the world's affection."

Dr. Boynton declared that the assuring feature of what he termed the "Dreyfus outrage" lay in the numerous protests against the verdict, which showed that the principle and spirit of brotherhood is nowadays finding an interpretation hitherto unequalled.

Work progressed all day on the great welcoming arch which will span Woodward avenue. The hotels have been crowded since early Sunday morning with incoming odd fellows. Monday the sovereign grand lodge will be formally welcomed in the Detroit opera house by Gov. Pingree and Mayor Maybury.

Tuesday's feature will be the annual reunion of the past grand representatives and members of the sovereign grand lodge. Wednesday the grand parade will be held. Thursday will be given over to the prize drills, with a Rebekah concert in the evening. Friday and Saturday will be spent in sightseeing and other pleasures.

THE SECOND DEGREE.

Elias Hatfield Guilty of the Murder of H. E. Ellis — Indictments Returned Against Others of the Clan.

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Sept. 18.—Elias Hatfield, who on July 3 murdered H. E. Ellis, was found guilty of murder in the second degree. The jury reached this verdict after deliberating more than 12 hours. The special grand jury has returned indictments against a number of the Hatfield clan, two of which were for complicity in the murder of H. E. Ellis. They will be given a speedy trial here and, if acquitted, will be turned over to the Kentucky authorities to answer for murders committed some time ago. Elias Hatfield will likely be sentenced by Judge Doolittle Monday. The sentence will not be less than five nor more than 20 years in prison.

Only One Member of the Family Escaped.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., Sept. 18.—An adobe house five miles from Mora, N. M., collapsed, killing Manuel Cordove and his wife and six children. It had been raining in that vicinity for several days, and the dirt roof of the house having become saturated, fell on the inmates, crushing them. Only one member of the family, a son, 10 years old, escaped, he being outside the house when the accident occurred.

Col. Schneider Removed.

VIENNA, Sept. 18.—The official army gazette announces the removal from the Austro-Hungarian military attache ship in Paris and Brussels of Col. F. Schneider, whose alleged letter incriminating Capt. Dreyfus, though distinctly repudiated by him as a forgery, was one of the principal weapons of the prosecution during the Rennes trial.

Anti-Vaccination Crusade.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 18.—Frank Blue, of this city, secretary of the Anti-Vaccination Society of America, is sending a circular broadcast over the state advising parents not to heed the advice of boards of health and school authorities in regard to the vaccination of school children. Several years ago Mr. Blue raised a test case in the court here against the ruling of the school authorities that children not vaccinated could not attend school, but the case was never decided by the supreme court.

BOONE : COUNTY : REORDER

Wednesday, Sept., 20, 1899.

Rates of Subscription:

One year..... $1 50.
Six months..... 75.
Three months..... 40.

☞Payable invariably in advance.

THE RECORDER

SOLICITS YOUR

Job Work,

NOTE HEADS,
LETTER HEADS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS,
BILL HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
SALE BILLS,
AND HORSE BILL,

Printed at the Lowest Prices consistent with neat work.

Send your order by mail and it will be attended promptly.

STATE NEWS.

Five illicit stills were captured in this State during the last month.

In Scott county schools are being dismissed on account of the drought

The fall term of the Court of Appeals opened Monday with a large docket.

Former Chief Justice B. J. Peters, died at his home in Mt. Sterling Monday, aged 94.

Miss Neville Carson, of Broadhead, has a plate and tea pot that are 120 years old.

There is now going on in Carlisle over $50,000 worth of building, and there is more to follow.

The smallpox epidemic in the county jail of Fayette county cost the county so far $5,000.

During the past year more than fifty houses in Mt. Sterling have been burned by incendiaries.

Two farmers in Bell county quarreled because the cow of one had invaded the corn field of the other. A funeral was the result.

Christian county will vote on free turnpikes in November and also on a bond proposition for the purchase of the roads.

The British Government wants to buy 1,000 Kentucky mules, and are negotiating with a Louisville firm to do the buying. These mules are desired as pack mules in South Africa.

A committee of London citizens visited Frankfort to see Gov. Bradley and protest against the pardon of E. K. Wilson convicted of the murder of Mary Cloyd, last December.

James Huddleston and George Pruitt, of Junction City, were arrested charged with grand larceny. The officers believe they have been ringleaders of a gang of cattle thieves.

C. E. Smith, of Richmond, has closed a deal with Perry county parties for 50,000 oak trees and 10,000 poplar trees. Another deal is pending with the same parties for 100,000 trees in the same county.

In Robertson county, James Campbell was asphyxiated by foul gas while digging a well. Hisbrothers, William and Henry, went into the well to try to save him, and lost their lives in the attempt.

Mrs. Nancy Wilson aged 74, was struck by a C. & O. train at a crossing on her farm in Wilson's Bottom, Lewis county, and killed. She had on a sunbonnet which prevented her from seeing or hearing the train.

The residence of Sherman Cotton near Cottonburg, Madison county, was struck by lightning during a thunderstorm. A little child and a cat were lying side by side on a porch. The cat was killed by the bolt, but the child was unhurt.

The Daviess county grand jury has indicted several Owensboro business men for violating the lottery laws in disposing of goods by chance and on the club plan. The jury may also indict those holding tickets in the purchasing clubs.

According to the Hodgenville Herald there is an old colored woman in Hardin county who is 120 years old. She walks about the house yet, and is said to looks like an Egyptian mummy. She lives at the foot of Muldraugh Hill. Her name is Goodin. She must be a goodon'.

A new bunko game is being worked throughout the State. A stranger secures lodging at a farm house. Late at night a couple drive up to get married. The stranger says he is a minister and marries them. The farmer's signature as witness on the certificate later turns up on a promissory note.

Late corn, grass and tobacco all suffered from the heat and drouth of the past week. Much tobacco was being cut, and it had to be hauled to the barn before it was wilted to prevent sunburn. A good deal of corn was just at a stage to be injured. Grass has suffered considerably. —Trimble Banner.

S. E. Smith has bought the timber off 150 acres of land belonging to A. E. Young, in Tracey, Barren county, and has let the contract for sawing it. There are 900 oaks, 300 poplars and 100 walnuts and hickories on the land, and Mr. Smith paid $2,000 for them. This is said by sawmill men to be the last big body of timber in Barren county.

The electric headlight of the locomotive to passenger train No. 9 on the Cincinnati Southern railroad was struck by lightning Friday night as the train was running 35 miles an hour. The headlight was torn to pieces and the locomotive had to carry a common railroad lantern the remainder of the run from Wilmore to Junction City. No other damage was done, but the fireman was badly stunned by the shock.—Georgetown Times.

Heretofore it has been the practice of tobacco growers to break the flyings from the tobacco stalk while growing as it is calculaied to make the remainder of the tobacco of better growth and quality. T. C. Robinson, one of the farmers and tobacco growers in the county, the other day said that he thought, under the present tobacco market, this practice was not best, because the flyings are selling nearly as high as the other grades. He gave as an instance the fact that the flyings from W. O. Brock's crop of 91 hhds. had averaged $9 per hundred last week on the Louisville market.—Winchester Democrat.

There is a man now in the Louisville jail who, if he is not a murderer, has a very unfortunate resemblance to several. He is now being held by United States authorities as suspected of being the man who killed Deputy United States Marshal Wireman 10 years ago. This question will not be settled until the next term of the United State Court. Sheriff Collins, of Letcher county, claims that the prisoner is Anderson Ambergey, who is wanted in Letcher county for the killing of Jim Collins, the brother of the Sheriff, in 1882. Collins says that Ambergey was arrested, tried and sentenced to serve seven years in the penitentiary, but that before he was sent up a party of friends called one night at the jail and demanded the prisoner. When he was refused they burst in the jail door and took him by force. Collins says he is positive the prisoner is the man, though he says Ambergey's hair was red, while the prisoner's is more black than red. The prisoner claims to be Wickliffe Coleman, and says he is a peaceable resident of Arkansas.

CROP AND STOCK.

Mason county produced 3,845,700 pounds of tobacco in 1898, against 5,117,800 pounds in 1896.

Wills & Broadwell have paid Harrison county farmers about $19,000 for 760 mule colts, which they shipped East. Dr. J. T. Ware bought about 300 at an average of $25.

Mr. C. E. Marvin sold to Smith and Chambers, of Shelby county, 10 head of Pollen Angus cattle, 8 heifers and 2 bull calves, 9 of which brought $100 per head, and 1 $60.—Georgetown Times.

All previous records will be broken by this year's corn crop, the lowest estimate being for a production of 2,300,000,000 bushels, while many statisticians expect a yield of 2,500,000,000 bushels.

Lewis H. Brown sold in Louisville last week one of the finest crops of tobacco ever raised in the county. He realized on eight acres the handsome sum of $1,409, averaging $10 87 per hundred, or $175 per acre. Mr. Brown is cutting ten acres that is equally as good.—Jessamine Journal.

Kansas farmers and business men have formed a trust called the Farmer's Federation of the Mississippi Valley, with $20,000,000 capital, for the purpose of controlling the price of farm products, particularly Kansas corn. That trust will have warehouses in Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago.

It is said the crop of tobacco this year in Woodford, Jessamine and a part of Fayette counties is the finest in texture of any tobacco in the State. Although the tobacco will not weigh as heavy as in former years, it will make up in quality what it lacks in quantity. To use the expression of all who have seen it, the crop is "as fine as split silk."

Hudson Bros., of Louisville, recently sold and shipped a carload of horses—saddlers, coachers and teams—to Havana, Cuba. The purchaser was Gariel Fernondez. He told Mr. Hudson that in the near future he wanted to buy a carload of fancy Kentucky saddlers and harness horses and would give from $250 to $400 a piece for the right kind.—Farmers Home Journal.

In Germany electric plowing compares favorably with steam plowing as regards expenses. The cost of electric plowing in heavy soil with deep cultivation is from $11 25 to $14 25 per acre, while steam plowing costs $21 25 per acre. The mechanism used on the royal farms in Prussia consists of a motor wagon, containing a motor driving the winding drums, and the motor may also be coupled to the driving wheels of the wagon to give it the proper advance at the end of each traverse of the plow. The depth of the furrow is eight to ten inches, and the speed of plowing is about three feet per second.

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier.]

Grant county has at last succeeded in getting all of the turnpike roads in Grant county conveyed to the county. The last of the roads was conveyed to the county on last Monday by the directors of the Ford's Mill and Stately Run Turnpike Company.

A man about 45 years of age, giving his name as Fred Marcus, of Foster, Ohio, was found by the side of the railroad track, one mile south of Mason last Monday morning with three deep gashes, which were evidently inflicted with a razor found lying by his side, in his neck. He told Dr. Alexander, who dressed the wounds, that he tried to commit suicide by severing the jugular vein, having become desperate from a severe rupture.

Harve Sanders, who together with W. McGuire, escaped from the county jail some two weeks ago, was captured in Newport last Monday morning by detective Jim Cates. Sanders was waiting for a train at the head of Monmouth street, when the officer took him into custody. Monday evening Cates brought the fugitive to this place, where he was again placed behind the bars, and where he will be held till court convenes some three weeks hence when the grand jury will take action with reference to his case.

R. B. HUEY,
SALESMAN FOR
F. W. KASSEBAUM & SON,
Manufacturers and Dealers in
Granite and Marble Monuments.
GRANT P. O., KENTUCKY.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

The taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the following places to receive taxes for 1899:

Verona, Sept. 5th, Oct. 5th.
Walton, Sept. 6th, Oct. 6th.
Bellevue, Sept. 7th, Oct. 9th.
Union, Sept. 8th, Oct. 7th.
Petersburg, Sept. 9th, Oct. 10th.
Bullittsville, Sept. 11th, Oct. 16th.
Big Bone, Sept. 12th, Oct. 11th.
Constance, Sept. 13th, Oct. 12th.
Beaver, Sept. 14th, Oct. 13th.
Florence, Sept. 15th, Oct. 14th.
Rabbit Hash, Sept. 16th, Oct. 17th.
Gunpowder, Oct 18th.
Richwood, Oct. 20th.
Hebron, Oct. 21st.

All taxes not paid by Dec. 1st, 1899, will have the 6 per cent. penalty added. Meet me at the appointed places and avoid the penalty.

ELMER BEALL, S. B. C.

The League Institute,
VERONA, KY.
Opens September 18, 1899.

Miss N. E. Hamilton, Principal, teacher of Belle-lettres and Sciences.
Miss Madeline Pfeiffer, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Latin & German.
Miss Lulu Forwood, Mathematics and Elocution.
With those interested, a correspondence with the principal is solicited.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the League Institute, the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, 1st, That we endorse and commend the methods, management and zeal of the faculty.

2d. That we desire to express our appreciation of the steady growth of the Institute; and especially the great interest manifested by pupils and patrons.

3d. That we cordially invite parents seeking a good school for their children to investigate the merits of The League Institute.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS,
Verona, Ky.

For Sale or Rent.

A farm on the Ohio river, on the Ky., side, 18 miles below Covington, containing 450 acres. Address
Mrs. N. P. CHAMBERS,
432 Greenup St., Covington, Ky.

Administrator's Notice.

All persons indebted to the estate of J. T. Marshall, deceased, are hereby notified to come forward and settle at once, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned properly proven.

D. M. SNYDER, Adm'r.

STATE DIRECTORY.

Governor—W. O. Bradley
Lieutenant Governor—W. J. Worthington.
Secretary of State—Charles Finley.
Assistant Secretary of State—K. B. Gaffy.
Attorney General—W. S. Taylor.
Auditor—Samuel H. Stone.
Assistant Auditor—Frank Johnson.
Treasurer—George M. Long.
Sup't of Public Instruction—Geo. M. Davidson.
Register Land Office—Charles O. Reynolds.
Deputies—Stanley D. Brown, Sam S. Shepherd.
Insurance Commissioner—Sam Stone.
Adjutant General—R. Collier.
Assistant—Walter Forrester.
Sept. Arsenal—Capt. David O'Connell.
State Inspector—C. M. Lantz.
Commissioner Agriculture—Lucas Moore.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Chief Justice—Joseph Lewis. Judges—Geo. Du-relle, J. R. Grace, T. H. Paynter, B. L. D. Guffy, J. H. Hazelrigg, J. H. Lewis.
Reporter—E. W. Hines. Clerk—A. Addams.
Sergeant—W. S. B. Hill. Tipstaff—C. C. Turner.
Librarian—Miss Pauline Hardin.
Inspector of Mines—C. J. Norwood.

STATE PRISON OFFICIALS.

Frankfort Prison—Warden, Henry George; Deputy Warden, M. A. Rooney
Eddyville Prison—Warden, L. C. Curry; Deputy Warden, Ward Linn.

RAILROAD COMMISSION.

John C. Wood, Chairman; T. F. Dempsey, H. S. Irwin, Secretary—Samual Brown.

COUNTY DIRECTORY.

County Judge—C. C. Roberts.
County Clerk—S. W. Adams.
County Attorney—J. M. Lassing.
Sheriff—Elmer Beall.
Deputy Sheriff—S. B. Allphin, jr.
Jailer—T. A. Adams.
Assessor—T. G. Willis.
Coroner—A. A. Murat.
Superintendent Schools—L. H. Voshell.
Surveyor—W. E. Vest.

Fiscal Court meets Tuesday after first Monday in January, April, July and October.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge—John W. Green.
Clerk—J. W. Duncan.
Commonwealth's Attorney—M. D. Gray.
Master Commissioner—J. L. Berkshire.

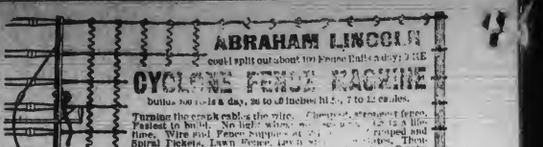
JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

Courts are held in the months of March, June, September and December, as follows:

District No 1.—Clinton Gaines, fourth Saturday; J. T. Grant, Constable.
District No. 2.—M. B. Green, first Saturday; Constable.
District No. 3.—B. H. Ryle, Wednesday after third Monday; J. W. Aylor, Constable.
District No. 4.—John S. Noell, Thursday after second Monday; Constable.
District No. 5.—J. C. Byland, Third Monday; J. H. Watson, Constable.
District No. 6.—J. H. Walton, third Saturday; T. I. Brown, jr., Constable.

JONH TANEOUS,
Hebron, Boone County, Ky.
CARPENTER, CONTRACTOR & BUILDER.
Also does Roofing and Tin Work.
Your Work Solicited.

Consign your Stock to
Rabenstein, Harris & Conner,
—Live Stock—
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
COVINGTON STOCK YARDS,
Covington, Ky.,
OR UNION STOCK YARDS,
Cincinnati, Ohio.
When shipping East bill our care privilege selling Central Covington Stock Yards.
We will make it to your advantage and give your stock special personal attention.



Helms' Barber Shop,
PETERSBURG, KY.
Hair cut 15c, on Saturday 20c; Shave 10c; Shampoo 15c; Sea Foam 5c; Hair Sluge 5c; Beard Trim 5c, other work proportionally as low in price. Ladies' and childrens' work a specialty. ☞All work guaranteed satisfactory or money refunded. Hair Oils, Tonics, Perfume, etc., for sale. Thanking all for past favors, I remain, &c.,
EVERETT HELMS, Prop.

LADIES—To the ladies that have not paid us a call, will say, that Thursday is conceded to be their day. Ladies Shampoo 25c; Sea Foam 15c; Bangs trimmed 10c. Hair dressed for special occasions a specialty, at reasonable rates. Courteous treatment is our motto. Give us a call.

SIXTH YEAR OF
Walton :-: Academy
—OPENS—
First Monday in September.
First-class instruction in all Common School Branches.
Higher Arithmetic, Elementary and Higher Algebra, Book-Keeping, Plain and Solid Geometry, History, Rhetoric and Literature, Physiology, Geography, Physics, Astronomy, Logic and Psychology. Latin includes Cesar, Cicero, Nepos, Virgil. Greek including Beginners, Greek and Xenophon.
Terms:—Tuition and Board in the building, five days in the week, under the care of the teacher, $105.75, for nine months; Board the full week or Music $18.50 additional for the full term.
Mrs. S. H. MYERS, Prin.

W. M. RANDALL,
DENTIST.
Will be at
BURLINGTON, Monday, Tuesday,
PETERSBURG: Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday,
OF EACH WEEK.
GIVE HIM A CALL.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

I have control of the Cyclone Fence in Boone and Woodford counties. I will build the fence or sell machines to farmers that they may build their own fences. It is the cheapest and best fence that can be built.
Address G. CARTER GRADDY, BULLITTSVILLE, KY.

DR. A. P. WALTON,
DENTIST,
CINCINNATI,
The Lancaster Building 22 W. 7th, Bet. Vine and Race.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.

E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
EDGAR CROPPER, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

CORNER
Drug Store
Rising Sun, Ind.
Is the place for anything in the Drug Line.
WALL PAPER, PAINTS, WINDOW SHADES, STATIONERY, PERFUMES, FANCY GOODS, &c.
B. F. BUCHANAN,
—DRUGGIST,—
Over thirty year's experience.

FARMERS
Take Notice!
If you want good
Fertilizer
PLEASE GIVE
B. F. ZIMMER
A CALL.
He will try to please you. He has the finest line of Fertilizer for 1899 he has ever handled. Write for particulars to☞
CONSTANCE, KY.

Central Covington Stock Yards,
COVINGTON, KY.
Are located so as to offer special inducements to shippers South of the Ohio river in saving them extra expense and time. In addition to the local buyers there will be Eastern and foreign buyers on the market for all kinds of stock. When shipping East, don't fail to consign our care privilege selling which will be of benefit to you.
Central Covington Stock Yards Co.
Commission firms will give prompt attention to consignments.

FRANK HOSSMAN,
Hebron, Ky.,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
—Also handles all—
KINDS OF ROOFING.
Which is furnished and put on at the Lowest Prices consistent with good work.
I am prepared for moving buildings.
Your Work is Solicited.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.

Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect Dec. 6th, 1898.

P. M.	A. M.		A. M.	P. M.
4.00	8.30	lv Cincinnati ar	10.05	6.00
4.15	7.04	" Ludlow lv	9.55	5.50
4.30	7.18	" Erlanger lv	9.36	5.27
5 08	8.25	Williamstown "	8.45	4.25
5.35	8.49	" Corinth "	8.25	4.08
6.17	10.28	" Georgetw'n "	7.50	3.19
6.39	10.50	ar Stam'g Gro'nd	7.28	1.55
7.10	11.20	" Frankfort "	7.00	1.00

JOS. R. NEWTON, G. P. A., Frankfort, Ky.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given Collections entrusted to him. mch23-93.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections.

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
☞All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL, ... $80,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 20,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN..... $50,000
SURPLUS..... $ 8,000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
Artificial Dentures, Crown and Bridge Work to represent natural organs. Gas, Vitalized Air, Odontunder for extraction.
☞Will be in office at Union every Monday.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

Coal! Coal!
Good Raymond City Coal
In the Yard,
9 1-2 Cents a Bushel.
KANAWAH COAL
9 cents a bushel.
J. P. LINDSAY & CO.,
Erlanger, Ky.
J. O. HUEY, Manager.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1899. NO. 49.

BIG time in New York City tomorrow when Dewey comes sailing home.

J. D. KEHOE will speak at the Court House next Monday in the interest of the Democratic ticket.

IF the Goebel election law is iniquitous now it was iniquitous when the Louisville Dispatch was advocating its passage.

MR. HALLAM has come to realize verry suddenly that a certain matter he forced into the campaign has no business therein.

WHEN John and Mark open up their "barls" over in Ohio, the campaign will soon become one of the "rag time" variety.

THE continued low stage of water in the Ohio river is rather annoying to those who have not laid in their supply of winter's coal.

AT a laboring men's meeting in Covington, one evening last week. John Young Brown and the Commonwealth were handled without gloves.

The Bank of Spain now holds $12,700,000 more gold than it held a year ago, and $41,700,000 more silver. Its note circulation meantime has increased $21,800,000.

THERE are some who claim that Gov. Bradley will yet take the stump for the Republican ticket. He may do so, but he is a long time getting his consent.

ADMIRAL DEWEY reached New York two days ahead of time, causing considerable confusion on the part of those who had in charge the reception ceremonies.

THE Campbell county Democrats met at Alexandria, Monday, nominated candidates for the Legislature, endorsed Goebel for Governor and J. C. S. Blackburn for United States Senator.

IF you believe what the Louisville Dispatch is now saying about the Goebel election law you believe the Dispatch told you falsehoods about the bill when it was pending in the General Assembly.

GEN. TAYLOR has a good deal to say about the election law, but as regards the separate coach law he is as quiet as a grave yard except when some thoughtless fellow calls his attention to it, when he shows his teeth.

SOME of those Democrats who were emphatic in their charge that the Republicans stole Kentucky's electoral vote in 1896, are assisting in a move to continue that party in power in Kentucky. Strange things do happen.

THE campaign now in progress in Kentucky is awfully hard on the court rooms. It is nothing uncommon for newspaper reporters to find court rooms with a capacity ranging from two hundred to three hundred people, containing from one thousand to twelve hundred persons, assembled to listen to some campaign orator.

JAS. ALLEN, of Big Bone, was the Republican member of the Boone County Board of Election Commissioners, but he aint now, and to say that Jim is pleased on account of the way in which his bouncement was secured would not be in accord with the facts, if reports are true, but on the other hand about the proper way to describe his feelings is to say he is hot—not because of his desire to retain the office, but because of the tactics pursued by some of the members of his party in going after his official scalp.

THERE is certainly something wrong when after months' succession of victories over the Filipinos they can come to a point not to exceed thirty-miles from Manila, and capture and sink an American gunboat. The reports sent over to this country from the seat of war have lead many to believe that the country for miles from Manila had been completely subjugated, but this last successful performance of the enemy, almost in sight of the city, will create a very grave doubt in the minds of many as to whether this country has received any correct information as to the progress of American arms in those far off islands.

The Goebel election law provides that the decision of the election board, whatever it may be, is FINAL and CONCLUSIVE. Here is where the dirty work will come in.—Covington Record.

It is evident from the above that the Record is endeavoring to lead its readers to believe that the State election commissioners are the only persons who have any voice in determining the result of the election of Governor, which is as false as false can be. Section 12 of that law says that said board shall be a board for determining the contested election of any officer other than Governor or Lieutenant-Governor, elected by the voters of the State, or of a Judge or a Clerk of the Court of Appeals, Circuit Judge or a Commonwealth'sAttorney. If the election of Governor is contested the State Board of Election Commissioners have nothing to do with it, as section eight of the law provides that "when the election of a Governor or a Lieutenant-Governor is contested, a board for determining the contest shall be formed in the manner following: First. On the third day after the organization of the General Assembly, which meets next after the election, the Senate shall select, by lot, three of its members, and the House of Representatives, shall select, by lot, eight of its members, and the eleven so selected shall constitute a board, seven of whom shall have power to act." The law then goes on to provide for the hearing of testimony upon which to decide the contest, and the decision of this board is reported to the General Assembly, which finally disposes of the contest, and yet the Record and some other papers, continue to repeat the falschood that the decision of the election board is final and conclusive, referring to the race for Governor.

THE election held last fall was held under the new election law, and immediately after the result was declared it was generally conceded to have been the quietest and fairest election held in Kentucky for some time. The necessity for United States Marshals at the polls was not made apparent by the important election held under it in '98, and the effort now being made to secure the presence of these officers at the polls this fall is not being made in good faith, and those who are urging the appointment of these federal officers to take part in the State election have departed a long way from the cardinal tenets of democracy, a State's supreme right to control her local affairs.

Under the Republican administration it paid less for printing and binding because of the introduction of type setting machines into the State, and less for the record books furnished the counties, but the general expenditures for the four years for like service is increased nearly two million dollars over the Democratic administration.—Argus.

A common practice still prevalent among the South American Indians is to kill the members of one's own family, who through old age or sickness have become a burden to the family. The Mayorunas still eat their old and feeble, not excepting father or children, and in the case of the sick this is regarded as an act of piety.

IT is strange but nevertheless true that some Democrats who, in 1896, were the most abusive of Democrats who bolted Bryan's nomination, are now fighting the Democratic State ticket under the leadership of the same fellows whom they denounced two years ago.

National Committeeman Woodson is in receipt of a telegram from W. J. Bryan, authorizing him to make appointments for him to speak in Kentucky October 15, 17 and 18. He will be conducted over the state in a fast special train, covering every section.

IT is only in the last two or three years that Kentucky produce dealers have found such a ready sale for geese in New York, turkeys and chickens having heretofore been the favorite fowls of the effete East.

Pith of the Press.

Foraker is becoming the champion political crawfish.—Kansas City Times.

Mr. Reed's letter to the people of his district has tack's in it, point up.—Omaha World Herald.

The rainy season may close in the Philippines, but while Otis remains there the foggy season will not end.—Ex.

Perhaps Alger thinks he can have more fun by remaining outside and throwing bricks at the Administration.—Chicago Record.

It is quite fortunate for Governor Roosevelt that Ohio has no canal frauds to bob up at her political meetings.—Washington Post.

Speaking as a New York lawyer, Tom Reed will not be compelled to be so mindful of the interests of the Republican party.—Washington Post.

Aguinaldo has not sent his thanks to McKinley for resolving to keep Otis in command, but no doubt he would like to.—Kansas City Times.

Otis may bar the Chinese from the Philippines, but he cannot keep Li Hung Chang's words of wisdom from the ears of Americans.—N. Y. World.

Mark Hanna has returned to find that the Ohio Democrats have put upaman who can't be frightened by either "Boo!" or boodle.—Waco (Texas) Times-Herald.

It is safe to estimate that Admiral Schley's "fool friends," about whom so much has been said of late comprise about nine-tenths of the people.—Chicago Tribune.

We leave it to a fair minded people knowing that righteous judgment will be rendered. Is it fair to refer to Michigan's greatest man as "Ping?"—Toledo Commercial.

Bountiful harvests are now referred to as "McKinley crops." That's nice. "My war, my destiny, my trusts and my crops" make a nice combination.—N. Y. Telegram.

While the American people would hardly give Otis a Dewey reception, there are hundreds who would be glad to welcome him home any old way.—Columbus Citizen.

The people who are hunting Governor Roosevelt should be convinced by this time that he is too shrewd a bird to be caught with Vice Presidential chaff.—Philadelphia Ledger.

It seems to be settled that President McKinley will make no speeches in the Ohio campaign. Only a few incidental remarks at the way stations. That's all.—Boston Herald.

It does begin to look as it Tom Reed retired from the Speakership in order to get a wider swing for the anti-expansion club with which he proposes to swat the President.—St. Louis Republic.

The friends of Admiral Schley are, perhaps a little overzealous, but if there is a naval bureau clique in Washington the President ought to know it and squelch the clique.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Ex-Senator Alger having given up his senatorial aspirations, it is proper to inquire if it is a complete drop-out, or is some good Federal appointment in store for him?—Minneapolis Tribune, Rep.

By sending Mr. Lo to fight against Mr. Fil we are playing the red brother against the brown brother, and making the white brother's burden a little lighter.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The expansion of Jefferson and the expansion of McKinley are two very different things. We made no war for the Louisiana Purchase and the territory we annexed was contiguous.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

If General Otis is really trying to keep old Joe Wheeler from following up victories in the Philippines he's in for a tug of war that will make all his previous trials seem insignificant.—St. Louis Republic.

As the returns come from the press of the whole country it begins to look as if Secretary of State Hay had spoiled an enviable reputation to diplomacy in his stumb letter to "Dear Mr. Dick," of Ohio.—Houston (Texas) Post.

A war of criminal aggression, like this McKinley war, is no reprobated only when it is rushed through a succession of victories to a speedy and triumphant close. And this can hardly be predicted of McKinley's Philippine infamy.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

New York may have some trouble deciding whether Schley or Sampson shall lead the Dewey procession, but the American people had no difficulty in determining which led in the Santiago fight. Sampson as a hero is a grotesque sham.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Administration seems determined to relegate Admiral Schley to the naval back yard, and to with hold all the honor that is his due. This accords well, but in an inverse ratio, with McKinley's indorsement of Shafter the stufled, Alger the embalmed, and Otis theonerous.—N. Y. Journal.

Senator Foraker in his Emancipation Day speech at the Butler county fair grounds took occasion to climb into the Administration's imperial band wagon. After he made clear his position on this point there was no further interest in his speech. The newspaper men who came from all the country expecting the Senator to utter some original truths of the old fire alarm pitch were sadly disappointed.—Hamilton (Ohio) Democrat.

[Kentucky Post, Sept. 23.

The Brown Democrats, of Kentucky, are going to ask for assistance in the November election from the Federal authorities. The Post some weeks ago published a statement to the effect that United States Deputies would act in the election with the view of having the protection of the Federal law thrown around all voters, whose rights are impaired by the action of the State laws or the action of the State authorities. At that time the Brown managers denied that such action would be taken, but it has since been ascertained that is exactly their play.

Dr. A. D. James, the United States Marshal, of Kentucky, for several days has been looking over the ground in Covington, Newport and Ludlow.

James said that the United States constitution gives every citizen the right of suffrage, and if any man believes that his vote is not going to be counted he loses that right, and it is the Government's duty to see that he is protected. The names of those who will act as deputies in Newport and Covington have been secured.

Largest Thiugs in the World.

The largest state is Texas.

The largest bank is in London.

The largest church is in Rome.

The largest falls are in New York.

The largest brewery is in St. Louis.

The largest buildings are in New York.

The largest city (in area) is New York.

The largest broker is in New York.

The greatest hotel is in New York.

The largest public gardens are in Paris.

The greatest stove factory is in Detroit.

The largest stone structure is in Egypt.

The greatest flour mill is in Minneapolis.

The largest starch business is in Oswego.

The largest tobacco factory is in St. Louis.

The greatest marble quarry is in Vermont.

The largest copper mine is in Michigan.

The largest spring works are in Pittsburg.

The largest steel works are in Pittsburg.

The largest stock exchange is in New York.

The largest number of theatres is in London.

The largest bottle manufactory is in Pittsburg.

The largest boot and shoe industy is at Lyon.

The largest financier in the world is in New York.

The greatest copper and brass mill is in Waterburg.

The largest hardware house in the world is in St. Louis.

The largest grocery house in the world is in New York.

The largest drug house in the world is in St. Louis.

The largest wholesale dry goods house in the world is in New York.

The largest gun works in the world are in Essen.

The largest wooden ware manufactory is in St. Louis.

The largest locomotive is on a short line in Pittsburg.

The greatest railroad in the world is in the United States.

The largest beef and pork packing house is in Chicago.

The largest life insurance companies are in New York.

The largest suspension bridge in the world is in New York.

The greatest shipbuilding plant in the world is at Glasgow.

The largest river is in South America.—New York Press.

The loftiest structure in the world is in Paris—the Eiffel tower.

The largest locomotive works in the world are in Philadelphia.

The largest car manufacturing plant in the world is in Pittsburg.

The largest hospital in the world is in Paris—the Hotel des Invalides.

The largest sewing machine works in the world are at Elizabethtown.

The largest steamship plies between New York, Southampton, Bremen.

The largest pumping engine in the world is in the Calumet and Hecla mine.

The largest metal spans in the world are in New York (the Washington bridge).

The largest drop hammer in the world is the property of the Bethlehem Iron company.

The largest steamboat runs in Long Island Sound, between New York and Fall River.

The largest match factory in the world is at Barbertown, O. Its capacity is 100,000,000 a day.

The largest monument in the world is in Washington—largest in the sense of tallest and cost.

The greatest whisky industry is in the United States, the output being more than 80,000,000 gallons a year.

The largest college or university is Harvard, considering the greatest number of students. Its undergraduates exceed in number those of Oxford.

The largest corporation in the world is in Pennsylvania—the Carnegie Steel company, capital stock $250,000,000. Next comes the Federal Steel company of New Jersey, capital authorized, $200,000,000.

CROP AND STOCK.

A disease called "black leg" is playing havoc with cattle in some parts of Garrard county.

In Madison county George D. White sold to J. S. Collins 71 head of 1,250 pound grass fed cattle at 4½ cents.

The Louisa Produce Company has 9,000 geese ready for shipment East, and expects to purchase 10,000 more before Christmas.

W. L. McCarty, proprietor of the Kings Mountain Cannery, tells the Interior Journal he has put up about 125,000 cans of tomatoes and would have canned as many more had it not been for the short crop.

There is a middle way for all. The safe plan is to raise everything possible to meet nece-sities, and to devote remaining energies to the money crop, whether it be tobacco, hemp, corn, fruit or vegetables.—Southern Farm Magazine.

J. C. Caldwell, of Boyle county, sold to W. B. Kidd, agent for Brower & Co., of New York, 200 barn-fed cattle at 5½ cents per pound, and a premium of $1 per head. This is said to be the finest bunch of cattle fed in the Bluegrass this year.

Two tracts of land belonging to the Featherstone estate, six miles from Lexington, were sold this week. The first tract of 356 acres was purchased by Milton Young for $50 per acre and the second of 92 6-10 acres went to Mrs. Sue Featherstone at $63 an acre.

The best American sheep are quoted higher in London than the same grade of best. It cost no more to raise a pound of mutton than of beef, using the best stock in each case, and sheep may be kept and fed to advantage on the smallest of farms. Surely there is encouragement in growing them.

The entire lot of thoroughbred horses owned by Edward Corrigan in Kentucky are en route from Lexington to California via Chicago. This shipment closes out Corrigan's breeding interests in Kentucky, he having recently sold Riley and a lot of his valuable brood mares to Applegate & McMeekin.

FROM CARROLL COUNTY.

[Democrat.]

Did you notice where the Republican sympathy was placed Monday? All of the Republicans who cared to hear either speech flocked to the court room to hear Judge Greene. That was a very natural thing to do. If we were a Republican and desired the election of Taylor, most certainly we would encourage the Brown movement as the surest way to elect our man. The shrewdness of the Republicans is to be admired; most assuredly they are not to be censured. The blame must attach to the leaders in the independent or Brown movement, who seek to make possible the election of a Republican.

The workmen began driving piles for the bridge last Sunday. The work is progressing nicely.

There was a good crop of pawpaws, considering the fewness of the trees, but the delicious fruit is getting scarce.

FROM GALLATIN COUNTY

Independent

The sale of live stock at the farm of W. E. Buchanan, near town, last Saturday, was lightly attended, and owing to the very dry weather few wanted horses, therefore only two head were sold, one to Thos. Mylor, a four year-old for $28 50 and a ten year-old horse to C. R. Taliaferro at $26 00. Three other head were bid in for Mr. Buchanan. He sold the hogs privately and sold three head of yearling cattle for $80 00 to W. E. Crouch.

The weather this week has been genuine fall weather, being cool and almost on the border of frost. Nearly all of the tobacco has been cut and safely housed and all crops are in shape for cold weather.

Charles Green died at his home on Sugar Creek Wednesday after a lingering illness from consumption.

State News.

Cholera has killed thousands of dollars worth of hogs in Garrard county in the past three weeks. William Ferguson lost 150 out of a drove of 200.

The alleged "wild man," that has been creating such terror in the mountains of Casey, was finally caught in the knobs near Liberty by Sherift Brown and a posse. He fought until the very last. He gave his name as Sullivan, and said he was going to San Francisco, Cal. He is now in the Casey county jail at Liberty.

A cave which it is believed will eclipse Mammoth Cave has been discovered on a farm in Claiborne county, Tennessee, 10 miles from this city. The cave attracted attention by a heavy current of air which came from a small hole in the mountain side. A chamber was discovered, the floor perfectly smooth and several acres large. No chamber underground anyway near as large as this has ever before been discovered. Another strange thing is the sound of music caused by the heavy current of air blowing through the cones of stalactites and stalagmites. One minute it is like the roar of a cannon and the next it changes to that of a thousand harps.

The great cucumber district, embracing hundreds of acres southeast of Benton Harbor, with an annual output of over 1,000,000 bushels, has been destroyed in the last two weeks by a foreign red bug. The new pest, although much smaller, belongs to the "lady bug" family. One of the leading cucumber growers says: "About three weeks ago the vines, which were in fine condition, as well as the fast-maturing cucumber, were discovered to contain hunnreds of small eggs, which the warm weather soon hatched out, producing the unknown bugs, which soon destroyed the vines. The total loss throughout the district is estimated at $100,000."—St. Joseph, Mich., telegram to the Chicago Chronicle.

Continued strong bidding marked the sales of tobacco during the present week. The offerings were of good size but not as large as the very much improved market would seem to justify, and this fact is an indication of the strong feeling among holders. The latter fully expects a further advance in prices believing that there is hardly enough of last year's crop to supply the demand, and that the New will not only fall short of an average, but will be considerably less in quantity than the 1898 crop. It seems certain that there will not be an overly large yield, but there is certainly not a short crop, and most reports are in unison as to the quality, which is stated to be very good.

TO ENJOY LONG LIFE.

A Prescription Prepared by Rev. Dr. Talmage.

Religion Will Offset the Dissipations and Destroyers of Life—The Gospel a Chariot for the Living.

(Copyrighted, 1899, by Louis Klopsch.)

In this discourse Dr. Talmage gives prescriptions for the prolongation of life and preaches the gospel of physical health. The text is Psalms 91, 16, "With long life will I satisfy him."

Through the mistake of its friends religion has been chiefly associated with sick beds and graveyards. The whole subject to many people is odorous with chlorine and carbolic acid. There are people who cannot pronounce the word "religion" without hearing in it the clipping chisel of the tombstone cutter. It is high time that this thing were changed and that religion, instead of being represented as a hearse to carry out the dead, should be represented as a chariot in which the living are to triumph.

Religion, so far from subtracting from one's vitality, is a glorious addition. It is sanative, curative, hygienic. It is good for the eyes, good for the ears, good for the spleen, good for the digestion, good for the nerves, good for the muscles. When David in another part of the psalm prays that religion may be dominant, he does not speak of it as a mild sickness or an emaciation or an attack of moral and spiritual cramp. He speaks of it as "the saving health of all nations," while God in the text promises longevity to the pious, saying: "With long life will I satisfy him." The fact is that men and women die too soon. It is high time that religion joined the hand of medical science in attempting to improve human longevity. Adam lived 930 years; Methuselah lived 969 years. As late in the history of the world as Vespasian there were at one time in his empire 45 people 135 years old. So far down as the sixteenth century Peter Zartan died at 185 years of age. I do not say that religion will restore take the race back to antediluvian longevity, but I do say the length of life will be increased.

It is said in Isaiah: "The child shall die a hundred years old." Now, if, according to Scripture, the child is to be a hundred years old, may not the men and women reach to 300 and 400? The fact is that we are mere dwarfs and skeletons compared with some of the generations that are to come. Take the African race. They have been under bondage for centuries. Give them a chance, and they develop a Frederick Douglass or a Toussaint L'Ouverture. And, if the white race shall be brought from under the serfdom of sin, what shall be the body, what shall be the soul? Religion has only just touched our world. Give it full power for a few centuries, and who can tell what will be the strength of man and the beauty of women and the longevity of all?

My design is to show that practical religion is the friend of long life. I prove it first from the fact that it makes the care of our health a positive Christian duty. Whether we shall keep early or late hours, whether we shall take food digestible or indigestible, whether there shall be thorough or incomplete mastication, are questions very often deferred to the realm of whimsicality. But the Christian man lifts this whole problem of health into the accountable and the Divine. He says: "God has given me this body, and He has called it the temple of the Holy Ghost, and to deface its altars or mar its walls or crumble its pillars is a God defying sacrilege." He sees God's caligraphy in every page, anatomical and physiological. He says: "God has given me a wonderful body for noble purposes"—that arm with 32 curious bones—wielded by 46 curious muscles and all under the brain's telegraphy, 350 pounds of blood rushing through the heart every hour, the heart in 24 hours beating 100,000 times, during the 24 hours the lungs taking in 57 hogsheads of air, and all this mechanism not more mighty than delicate and easily disturbed and demolished. The Christian man says to himself: "If I hurt my nerves, if I hurt my brain, if I hurt any of my physical faculties, I insult God and call for dire retribution." Why did God tell the Levites not to offer to Him in sacrifice animals imperfect and diseased? He meant to tell us in all the ages that we are to offer to God our very best physical condition, and a man who through irregular or gluttonous eating ruins his health is not offering to God such a sacrifice. Why did Paul write for his cloak at Troas? Why should such a great man as Paul be anxious about a thing so insignificant as an overcoat? It was because he knew that with pneumonia and rheumatism he would not be worth half as much to God and the church as with respiration easy and foot free.

An intelligent Christian man would consider it an absurdity to kneel down at night and pray and ask God's protection while at the same time he kept the window of his bedroom tight shut against fresh air. He would just as soon think of going out on the bridge between New York and Brooklyn, leaping off and then praying to God to keep him from getting hurt. Just as long as you refer this whole subject of physical health to the realm of whimsicality or to the pastry cook or to the butcher or to the baker or to the apothecary or to the clothier you are not acting like a Christian. Take care of all your physical forces—nervous, muscular, bone, brain, cellular tissue—for all you must be brought to judgment. Smoking your nervous system into fidgets, burning up the coating of your stomach with hot, long-wooded and strychnined smoking with thin shoes to make your feet look delicate, pinched at the waist until you are nigh cut in two and neither part worth anything, groaning about sick headache and palpitation of the heart, which you think came from God, when they came from your own folly!

What right has any man or woman to deface the temple of the Holy Ghost? What is the ear? It is the whispering gallery of the soul. What is the eye? It is the observatory God constructed, its telescope sweeping the heavens. What is the hand? An instrument so wonderful that, when the earl of Bridgewater bequeathed in his will $40,000 for treatises to be written on the wisdom, power and goodness of God, Sir Charles Bell, the great English anatomist and surgeon, found his greatest illustration in the construction of the human hand, devoting his whole book to that subject. So wonderful are these bodies that God names his own attributes after different parts of them. His omniscience—it is God's eye; His omnipresence—it is God's ear; His omnipotence — it is God's arm; the upholstery of the mid-night heavens—it is the work of God's fingers; His life-giving power—it is the breath of the Almighty; his dominion—"the government shall be upon his shoulder."

"But," you say, "professors of religion have fallen, professors of religion have got drunk, professors of religion have misappropriated trust funds, professors of religion have absconded." Yes, but they threw away their religion before they did their morality. If a man on a White Star line steamer, bound for Liverpool, in mid-Atlantic jumps overboard and is drowned, is that anything against the White Star line's capacity to take the man across the ocean? And if a man jumps over the gunwale of his religion and goes down never to rise, is that any reason for your believing that religion has no capacity to take the man clear through? In the one case, if he had kept to the steamer, his body would have been saved; in the other case, if he had kept to his religion, his morals would have been saved.

There are aged people who would have been dead 25 years ago but for the defenses and the equipoise of religion. You have no more natural resistance than hundreds of people who lie in the cemeteries to-day slain by their own vices. The doctors made their case as kind and pleasant as they could, and it was called congestion of the brain or something else, but the anakes and the bluefies that seemed to crawl over the pillow in the sight of the delirious patient showed what was the matter with him. You, the aged Christian man, walked along by that unhappy one until you came to the golden pillar of a Christian life. You went to the right, he went to the left. That is all the difference between you. If this religion is a protest against all forms of dissipation, then it is an illustrious friend of longevity. "With long life will I satisfy Him."

Suppose you had a supernatural neighbor who came in and said: "Sir, I want you to call on me in every exigency. I am your fast friend. I could fall back on $20,000,000. I can foresee a panic ten years. I hold the controlling stock in 30 of the best monetary institutions of New York. Whenever you are in trouble call on me, and I will help you. You can have my money, and you can have my influence. Here is my hand in pledge for it." How much would you worry about business? Why, you would say: "I'll do the best I can, and then I'll depend on my friend's generosity for the rest."

Now, more than that is promised to every Christian business man. God says to him: "I own New York and London and St. Petersburg and Peking, and Australia and California are mine. I can foresee a panic a hundred years. I have all the resources of the universe, and I am your fast friend. When you get in business trouble or any other trouble, call on me, and I will help. Here is my hand in pledge of omnipotent deliverance." How much should that man worry? Not much. What lion will dare to put his paw on that Daniel? Is there not rest in this? Is there not an eternal vacation in this? "Oh," you say, "here is a man who asked God for a blessing in a certain enterprise, and he lost $5,000 in it. Explain that."

I will. Yonder is a factory, and one wheel is going north, and the other wheel is going south, and one wheel plays laterally, and the other plays vertically. I go to the manufacturer and I say: "O manufacturer, your machinery is a contradiction! Why do you not make all the wheels go one way?" "Well," he says, "I made them go in opposite directions on purpose, and they produce the right result. You go downstairs and examine the carpets we are turning out in this establishment, and you will see." I go down on the other floor, and I see the carpets, and I am obliged to confess that, though the wheels in that factory go in opposite directions, they turn out a beautiful result, and while I am standing there looking at the exquisite fabric an old Scripture passage comes into my mind: "All things work together for good to them who love God." Is there not a tonic in that? Is there not longevity in that?

Suppose a man is all the time worried about his reputation? One man says he lies, another says he is stupid, another says he is dishonest and half a dozen printing establishments attack him, and he is in a great state of excitement and worry and fume and cannot sleep, but religion comes to him and says: "Man, God is on your side. He will take care of your reputation. If God be for you, who can be against you?" How much should that man worry about his reputation? Not much. If that broker who some years ago in Wall street, after he had lost money, sat down and wrote a farewell letter to his wife before he blew his brains out—if, instead of taking out of his pocket a pistol, he had taken out a well-read New Testament, there would have been one less suicide.

O nervous and feverish people of the world, try this almighty sedative! You will live 25 years longer under its soothing power. It is not chloral that you want or morphine that you want. It is the Gospel of Jesus Christ. "With long life will I satisfy him."

Again, practical religion is a friend of longevity in the fact that it removes all corroding care about a future existence. Every man wants to know what is to become of him. If you get on board a rail train, you want to know at what depot it is going to stop. If you get on board a ship, you want to know into what harbor it is going to run. And if you should tell me you have no interest in what is to be your future destiny I would, in as polite a way as I know how, tell you I did not believe you. Before I had this matter settled with reference to my future existence the question almost worried me into ruined health. The anxieties men have upon this subject, put together, would make a martyrdom. This is a state of awful unhealthiness. There are people who fret themselves to death for fear of dying. I want to take the strain off your nerves and the depression off your soul, and I make two or three experiments. Experiment first: When you go out of this world it does not make any difference whether you have been good or bad, whether you believed truth or error, you will go straight to glory. "Impossible," you say. "My common sense as well as my religion teaches that the bad and the good cannot live together forever. You give me no comfort in that experiment." Experiment the second: When you leave this world you will go into an intermediate state, where you can get converted and prepared for Heaven. "Impossible," you say. "As the tree falleth, so must it lie, and I cannot postpone to an intermediate state reformation which ought to have been effected in this state." Experiment the third: There is no future world. When a man dies, that is the last of him. Do not worry about what you are to do in another state of being. You will not do anything. "Impossible," you say. "There is something that tells me that death is not the appendix, but the preface, to life. There is something that tells me that on this side of the grave I only get started and that I shall go on forever. My power to think says 'forever,' my affections say 'forever,' my capacity to enjoy or suffer, 'forever.'"

Well, you defeat me in my three experiments. I have only one more to make, and if you defeat me in that I am exhausted. A mighty One on a knoll back of Jerusalem one day, the skies filled with forked lightnings and the earth filled with volcanic disturbances, turned His pale and agonized face toward the heavens and said: "I take the sins and sorrows of the ages into my own heart. I am the expiation. Witness, earth and Heaven and hell, I am the expiation." And the hammer struck Him, and the spears punctured him, and Heaven thundered: "The wages of sin is death!" "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." "I will by no means clear the guilty!" Then there was silence for half an hour, and the lightnings were drawn back into the scabbard of the sky, and the earth ceased to quiver, and all the colors of the sky began to shift into a rainbow woven out of the falling tears of Jesus, and there was red as of the bloodshedding, and there was blue as of the bruising, and there was green as of the heavenly foliage, and there was orange as of the day dawn, and along the line of the blue I saw the words: "I was bruised for their iniquities," and along the line of red I saw the words: "The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth from all sin," and along the line of the green I saw the words: "The leaves of the Tree of Life for the healing of the nations," and along the line of the orange I saw the words: "The day spring from on high hath visited us," and then I saw the storm was over, and the rainbow rose higher and higher until it seemed retreating to another heaven, and, planting one column of its colors on one side of the eternal hill, and planting the other column of its colors on the other side the eternal hill, it rose upward and upward, "and, behold, there was a rainbow about the throne." Accept that sacrifice and quit worrying. Take the tonic, the inspiration, the longevity, of this truth. Religion is sunshine; that is health. Religion is fresh air and pure water; they are healthy. Religion is warmth; that is healthy. Ask all the doctors, and they will tell you that a quiet conscience and pleasant anticipations are hygienic. I offer you perfect peace now and hereafter.

What do you want in the future world? Tell me, and you shall have it. Orchards? There are trees with 12 manner of fruits, yielding fruit every month. Water scenery? There is the river of Life from under the throne of God, clear as crystal, and the sea of glass mingled with fire. Do you want music? There is the oratorio of the Creation led on by Adam, and the oratorio of the Red sea led on by Moses, and the oratorio of the Messiah led on by St. Paul, while the archangel with swinging baton controls the 144,000 who make up the orchestra. Do you want reunion? There are your children waiting to kiss you, waiting to embrace you, waiting to twist garlands in your hair. You have been accustomed to open the door on this side the sepulcher. I open the door on the other side the sepulcher. You have been accustomed to walk in the wet grass on the top of the grave. I show you the under side of the grave. The bottom has fallen out, and the long ropes with which the pall bearers let down your dead let them clear through into Heaven.

Glory be to God for this robust, healthy religion! It will have a tendency to make you live long in this world, and in the world to come you will have eternal life. "With long life I will satisfy him."

There are 1,000 vessels which cross the Atlantic ocean regularly every month, some of them twice a month.

McKINLEY VERSUS SCOFIELD.

Wisconsin's Republican Governor Is Not in Accord with Imperialism.

Gov. Scofield, of Wisconsin, is not an imperialist. He is not in accord with the recent declaration of President McKinley. In his address at the Wisconsin state fair Gov. Scofield said: "If the papers have quoted the president correctly as saying that the Philippine islands belong to this country by right of purchase, and by this is meant that when the insurrection is suppressed these islands shall become a part of the United States territory, and if the policy of the war while it is in progress is to be shaped to that end, I believe a very serious mistake may be made. I do not think that this country should attempt to attach to itself territory thousands of miles away and an alien race that it would take centuries to amalgamate with ours."

Proceeding, the Wisconsin governor added: "We are under sacred obligations to those people growing out of the progress of events up to this time, but I cannot believe that these involve the attempted assimilation of a people and territory with whom we have nothing in common."

This is exactly the position of leading democrats and of a vast number of thoughtful men in the republican party, including Senator Hoar and ex-Speaker Reed. We have had enough trouble with a colored race. The trouble is not yet ended. It would be idiotic to borrow more trouble.

Gov. Scofield is a radical republican and has always appeared on the front linea in party campaigns. But in separating himself from the policy of President McKinley's administration no doubt he represents the opinions of many republicans, though they are a limited minority, in the state of which he is chief executive.

Wisconsin is largely settled by a German population. For many years past the Germnn voters have given their support to the republicans on financial questions. They opposed the local democratic adoption of a greenback platform 20-odd years ago, and they are hostile to the silver platform of sixteen to one. They are now arrayed against imperialism and the policy of establishing an American imperial colony in the tropics on the other side of the globe. In this respect they will find themselves in harmony with Gov. Scofield. But he is not likely to be followed by the republican party of that state, which will adopt a platform supporting McKinley's policy.

This is the democratic opportunity in Wisconsin. When the Germans supported the democratic party on the school question in 1890 George W. Peck, the democratic candidate for governor, was elected by 28,320 majority. By the aid of the German vote Grover Cleveland had 6,544 majority in the state in 1892. On a platform that will meet German opinion on financial subjects and on imperialism doubtless the democrats could carry Wisconsin in 1900.—Chicago Chronicle.

ANTI-IMPERIALIST DEWEY.

The Admiral Holds Views Which Are at Variance with the McKinley Policy.

The New York Tribune says that "the anti-imperialists are not likely to ask for a place in the Dewey procession, but may get up one of their own, carrying a wax figure of Aguinaldo in front, with Atkinson bringing up the rear and distributing pamphlets."

We should like to know why the anti-imperialists might not ask for a place in the Dewey procession? The attitude of Dewey in reference to the Philippines is all that the anti-imperialists could ask. It is in line with the ideas of our two living ex-presidents, Harrison and Cleveland, and in line with our best statesmanship. It is in harmony with the desires of millions of our citizens who want to preserve this republic as our forefathers established it and hand it down to future generations with its record unsullied by a war of conquest.

Dewey emphatically opposes imperialism when he says: "Rather than make a war of conquest on this people I would up anchor and sail out of the harbor." Again he said in an interview which has not been denied:

"I have never been in favor of violence towards the Filipinos. The islands are at this moment blockaded by a fleet, and war reigns in the interior. This abnormal state of things should cease. I should like to see autonomy first conceded, and then annexation might be talked about. This is my opinion, and I should like to see violence at once put a stop to. According to me, the concession of self-government ought to be the most just and the most logical solution."

Is there anything in these remarks that does not appeal to the hearts of the anti-imperialists? Isn't that the doctrine that the anti-imperialists have been preaching right along? Why should not the anti-imperialists march in the Dewey procession if they choose? The anti-imperialists are the only ones who believe in Dewey's theory of treating the Filipinos.

But what shall we think of Roosevelt and other "bloody bridles" officials marching behind Dewey? They have been calling the people who believe as Dewey does "traitors." And now they propose to be the chief worshipers of the most distinguished anti-imperialist of all.—Utica Observer.

——It is said that Secretary Gage, who knows the absolute emptiness of the administration's financial policy, and who was reported to be thoroughly opposed eight years ago to the absurdities of the protective system, should be won over by a mess of pottage also to the defense of imperialism and jingoism, and all the other constitutional heresies with which the administration is beguiling the people under the guise of patriotism in order to gain the votes of honest but simple-minded citizens who love their country.—Pittsburgh Post.

FRIGHTENED M'HANNAITES.

McKinley's Secretary of State Makes a Grand Stand Play for the Administration.

The condition of the campaign in Ohio is such that the McHannaites are badly frightened. The German-Americans of that state are not in love with imperialism and still less with the evidences that there is no "understanding" between the McHanna authorities and the English government. So badly is Mr. McKinley scared that he had his secretary of state, Mr. John Hay, write a letter to the chairman of the Ohio republican committee semiofficially denying the existence of an Anglo-American alliance. Mr. Hay assures this republican chairman that they have nothing to do with England and are friendly to Germany. This statement must be taken with several large grains of salt. There may be no open treaty or alliance as yet between England and the United States, but the McHannaites and the English jingoes are closely connected in spirit and principles. McKinley's administration has been a mere copy of England's policy. It was for the benefit of England and to get American assistance in the eastern question that the Philippine outrage was begun. An open door policy would enrich English commerce. Our policy toward the Philippines was identically the same as that of England against the Boers. It was conquest and robbery of weak people that animated alike the English and McKinley traitors to liberty. But all was done with American blood and money. At Samoa the English caused the trouble, because they wanted the islands which Germnns had been cultivating since 1829. The American tool, Chambers, openly advocated the annexation of the Islands to England. Another English tool, Admiral Kautz, bombarded the Germans and native settlements for eight days, and the McKinley administration most lustily preached war against Germnuy. The course of the McHanna administration in the Samoa trouble was a most contemptible one. It did everything that England wanted in that dirty and cruel affair. American sailors and two prominent officers were butenered under the trenchery and cowardly command of British officers, who ran away and forsook the Americans after putting them in trouble in a most stupid and inefficient manner. The English false dispatches, fostered and uncontradicted by the administration, raised a great storm of indignation against Germany and German-Americans were placed in a false and unpleasant position.

It is too late for Mr. Hay to counteract the effects of the record by denying in a letter to a political boss in Mr. McKinley's own state that the McHanna administration has surrendered American principles and adopted an entire British policy.—Illinois State Register.

TRUSTS WILL BE FOUGHT.

Democrats Solidly Aligned Against the Oppressors of the People.

One thing is settled. There is to be a campaign against the trusts.

Indeed, if Mark Hanna is to be credited, there will be two campaigns against the trusts.

With optimism exuding from every pore (and Mark Hanna's corporosity gives ample verge for this sort of thing) the republican boss returns from Europe and alleges that democrats will derive no advantage from making the trusts a political issue, for the republicans will take an advanced and aggressive position in favor of the regulation of these combines.

Truly the trusts are placed in an embarrassing position.

With the democrats solidly aligned against them, and the republicans, according to Hanna, to take an "aggressive position," what will the poor trusts do.

But, of course, the managers of the trusts are not alnrmed at Hanna's dictum. They know that he is talking for buncomb.

McKinley owes his election to the trusts. The trusts owe their prosperity largely to McKinley's protective tariff. The two are inseparable friends.

As a political expediency the republicans may fire a few blank cartridges at the trusts. As a practical experience the trusts will suffer no molestation from the republicans.

But the democrats mean business. They believe in protecting the people, and that is why there is to be a campaign against the trusts.—Chicago Democrat.

POINTS AND OPINIONS.

——Mr. Hanna is thinking out a nice new way of suppressing trusts without hurting their feelings.—Albany Argus.

——McKinley is reported to have determined that Otis shall stay at Manila. But the people are in no wise determined that McKinley shall stay at Washington.—Chicago Democrat.

——The democrats need not worry about the outcome of the next presidential campaign. Just give the republican imperialists rope enough and they will hang themselves.—Illinois State Register.

——The Sulu sultan is said to designate President McKinley "His High Mightiness of the Rising Sun." His high mightiness pays his annexed polygamous and slaveholding majesty the subsidy; but the American taxpayer has to raise the wind.—Albany Argus.

——Some republican organs think they are having fun in recommending Aguinaldo for second place on the democratic ticket. They might consistently support the sultan of Sulu as their own candidate for vice president, running with McKinley on a platform of imperialism, polygamy and slavery.—Concord (N. H.) People and Patriot.

HUMOROUS.

Father—"So you have decided to become an artist?" Son—"Yes." Father—"Well, I have no objections, if you don't draw on me."—Brooklyn Life.

Diplomacy.—Tactful Shoe Clerk—"Here is a pair of 1½ shoes that the maker had marked number six by mistake. Just try this on, please; I believe it will just fit you." (Trial and speedy sale.)—Judge.

A Mere Suggestion.—"Economy is a good thing," he said to his only daughter, "but did it never occur to you that the young man who called last evening could save quite as much gas by leaving earlier as by turning it down?"—Chicago Evening Post.

Easily Guessed.—Little Helen—"Boohoo! I don't want to take that nasty, bitter stuff." Her Mamma—"But how do you know it's nasty and bitter? You haven't tasted it." Little Helen—"You said it would be good for me."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Fun on Olympus.—"Watch me," remarked Jupiter Tonans, and, drawing a thunderbolt, he hit the earth. "Good eye!" shouted Mercury. For it was known among the immortals, even at that early day, that the earth was a ball.—Indianapolis Journal.

"Money talks," they observed. There came into the eyes of the trillionaire the wild, hunted look peculiar to his kind. "But it doesn't give it-self away," he cried, agonizedly. For the fear that he would die rich was haunting him in day and night shifts.—Detroit Journal.

Romantic Tourist—"I suppose you have no interesting old ruins in this neighborhood?" Villager—"No ruins? Great Scott, mister! I can show you more'n two dozens buildin's in this county that used to be creameries in the old days 'fore the trusts."—Chicago Tribune.

THE WALKING LEAF.

Varieties of Plants and Ferns That Travel Over Spaces of Ground.

There is usually considerable doubt in the mind of the unbotanic flower and fern hunter as to what the walking leaf is and whence its peculiar energy comes. Various vines have been pointed out as the walking leaf, and many common ferns have received this name. The rare and beautiful climbing Hartford fern is often given this name by those who are ignorant of the appearance and form of the true walking leaf. This Camptosorus rhizophyllum, as the botanist calls it, is a little fern which grows among huge limestone rocks in the clefts of moss-grown bowlders. Its simple, lanceolate fronds are heart shaped at their base, with entire edges. Most of the fronds taper into long, slender tips, some of which reach the ground and become rooted again, producing new plants, with leaves which in their turn walk in the same way. This is one of the few evergreen ferns. It is not a common plant, but one need not despair of finding it in any locality where there are shaded calcareous rock overgrown with moss enough to produce good black soil. It is in such black vegetable mold that the little walking stick delights to travel about, producing its picturesque plants in thick, evergreen tufts. After discovering this rock fern one must look about, for one often finds in the same fruitful locality other rock ferns equally interesting and beautiful. These ferns of the cliffs and rocks, though not connected botanically, according to their habitat, form a very interesting group. Some of them are Aspleniums, or spleenworts; others are Woodsias, while others are lip ferns and cliff brakes. All of them seem to possess a delicate fragility like harebell and other rock flowers which seem to have gained a certain spirituality of growth from their precarious dwelling places in the fissures of the rocks and cliffs. The rare pinnatified spleenwort is also a rock fern, which takes root, it is said, where the slender tip of its frond touches the ground. The American wayfaring tree, or hobble bush, also takes root where its twigs touch the ground, and there are several other plants that walk in the same peculiar fashion.—N. Y. Tribune.

COLORS OF FLOWERS

Blue Is the Most in Evidence in the Northern Floral World.

Blue is the highest color of the floral world, and is preferred by bees. Blue flowers are, as a rule, highly specialized both in form and color, and often possess marvelous mechanism which aid in disseminating the pollen. This coloring is very common in the mint and pulse families, and in this district there are in the former 40 and in the latter 61 species of blue flowers. Their structure is such that few insects besides the long-tongued bees can gain access to the honey, and in some instances a single species of flower is visited by a single kind of bee, as one of the larkspurs by one of the bumblebees. While this high specialization of the flower may insure intercrossing, it is open to many objections, such as scarcity of proper guests, mechanical imperfections, perforation of the flowers by bees, and development of the perianth at the expense of the essential organs.—J. H. Lovell, in Appleton's Popular Science Monthly.

A New Experience.

"It seems almost too good to be true."

The young husband drew his wife to his side and said in that tone of exultation which comes only to the supremely happy. "Tell me, dearest, how did you manage to live this month without your allowance?"

"It was so easy!" she murmured. "And now that I have done it once, I wonder why I never thought of it before. I found, dear, that in almost every instance I could get things charged."—Puck.

URGE PARTY UNITY.

Democratic Leaders Plead Strongly for Peace.

National Committee Unanimously Adopts Resolution to Harmonize—Factions Asked to Settle Differences.

At a meeting of the national democratic committee in Chicago, Monday, September 18, ex-Gov. William J. Stone, of Missouri, introduced the following resolution, which was adopted by a rising vote:

"The national committee of the democratic party in session at Chicago to consider the work of party organization, preparatory to the campaign of 1900, sends greeting to the democracy of the nation, with the assurance that the prospect of democratic success next year grows brighter every day. We have every reason for confidence as to the outcome.

"The great need now is party unity and thorough organization.

"The committee appeals, therefore, to our party friends in all states, and especially in states where elections are to be held this year, to put aside all local differences wherever they exist and support the regular party tickets earnestly and enthusiastically, keeping always in view the great struggle of next year and remembering that in unity there is strength and in division weakness.

"Especially do we appeal to the Kentucky democracy to give loyal support to the regular ticket in that state, headed by Mr. Goebel, and thereby make sure of a democratic victory in the state and the return of Senator Blackburn to the senate of the United States."

Wish Chicago Fight Ended.

The members of the executive committee tacitly admitted after their meeting that the paragraph in the resolution dealing with factional differences was inspired by the situation that exists in Chicago and some parts of Illinois outside of Cook county. They want the fight between the regular organization, of which Mayor Harrison is the leader, and the Altgeld forces, that has been exploited at two meetings of the national committee through the medium of attacks on Editor Devlin, of the press bureau, concluded forthwith. To bring about this finale they have vested Chairman J. G. Johnson, of the executive committee, with extraordinary powers and established him at the head of permanent executive headquarters to be opened in this city within 30 days. Chairman Johnson is equally acceptable to the Harrison and Altgeld forces.

Chairman Johnson was invested with power to assume command of all the departments of the national organization. The executive committee empowered him to establish headquarters in the Unity building, and set on foot such schemes of organization, management and supervision as may in his judgment appear feasible and necessary.

The ways and means committee placed him in charge of the work of the committee not alone as general manager, but as the resident member of the committee. Sam B. Cook, the present manager, is to retire to accept the democratic nomination for secretary of state of Missouri.

The press committee authorized Mr. Johnson to assume immediate control of the press bureau of the National Bulletin. This commission places Editor Devlin under Mr. Johnson's orders and will eventually enable him to select Devlin's successor.

Vested with Great Authority.

Mr. Johnson is therefore the embodiment of all the executive energy of the national organization of the democratic party. More authority has been concentrated in him than ever before was intrusted to a single member of the party. The return of Senator Jones in October will not impair the position of the Kansan. The senator selected Mr. Johnson for the duties he is going to perform. He will not interfere in the arrangements agreed upon, for they had his approval before they were consummated.

The only consideration exacted from Mr. Johnson in return for the honors showered upon him was a promise on his part to establish his home in Chicago until after the next national convention.

Secretary Charles A. Walsh, of Iowa, was also made a member ex-officio of all three committees, and after the close of the state campaign in Iowa will spend a great deal of his time in Chicago as Mr. Johnson's associate at headquarters.

Plans for Frequent Meetings.

Chairman Johnson's present intention is to call frequent meetings of the executive committees whenever he thinks they ought to gather for the transaction of business. The executive committee will meet at least once every 60 days and perhaps as often as once every 30 days.

No well defined scheme of organization was offered by any member of the committee. It seemed to be the assumption of those present that Mr. Johnson ought not to be hampered at the outset of his work by a prearranged programme. He will be left to follow his own plans, which are said to have met with the approval of everyone to whom they were submitted. The first work the new chairman will undertake will be the harmonizing of dissatisfied democrats and the unifying of party organization in localities where there are factional divisions. He will devote a great deal of attention to the Kentucky situation and will endeavor to discourage those members of the party who have evinced a disposition to follow the bolting candidate for governor. It is Chairman Johnson's intention to make frequent trips to states and districts where there is trouble to interview opposing leaders and advise them to bury their differences in the interest of party success.

Ex-Gov. Stone said after the meeting, says the Chicago Chronicle, that the resolution had been conceived in a spirit of harmony and accepted by his colleagues on the executive committee in the same spirit.

"Personally," he said, "I have come to the conclusion that the democratic party cannot have too many members. We want as many as we can get. We have taken the key out of the lock and thrown it away. The door will be wide open hereafter. The efforts of the national committee from this time will be devoted to harmonizing existing differences and unifying the party. All schemes of organization governed by any other spirit would fail of their purpose. The men who comprise the personnel of the new working committees are a unit on this matter."

Pleased with Work Done.

Almost without exception the national committeemen expressed satisfaction with the results of the meetings. They said that while no essential positive business had been performed with the exception of the defining of Mr. Johnson's powers, much work for the future had been mapped out. They were enthusiastic over ex-Gov. Stone's harmony resolution, which, they agreed, is a direct invitation to all democrats to get together.

Following are some expressions of opinion about the spirit of the resolution:

Urey Woodson, of Kentucky—The language is unequivocal. The resolution is a direct invitation to all democrats to join hands with the party in its future battles. We are in favor of harmony.

Adair Wilson, of Colorado—I voted for the resolution because it seemed to breathe the spirit of harmony. I was glad that ex-Gov. Stone introduced it, and I was equally glad that it was passed without a dissenting vote.

Thomas Gahan, of Illinois—There can be no sort of doubt after to-day's proceedings that the democratic national committee is in favor of harmony. The resolution adopted has only one significance. It is an appeal to democrats to get together, and its effect upon the party organization everywhere is bound to be good.

J. G. Johnson, of Kansas—Ex-Gov. Stone's resolution marks a new spirit and sentiment in the democratic organization, and I have no doubt that its effect will be far-reaching on members of the party.

Members in Attendance.

Committeemen at the meeting were:

Vice chairman, W. J. Stone, Missouri; secretary, C. A. Walsh, Iowa; J. G. Johnson, Kansas; Thomas Gahan, Illinois; H. D. Clayton, Alabama; Urey Woodson, Kentucky; J. M. Head, Tennessee; J. M. Guffy, Pennsylvania; W. H. Thompson, Nebraska; George Fred Williams, Massachusetts; T. D. O'Brien, Minnesota; John R. McLean, Ohio.

A SOLDIER SPEAKS.

The Unauthoritative Assurance of Senator Hanna Set at Naught.

Lieut. Col. Jacob H. Smith, the distinguished commander of the Twelfth regular infantry, now winning renown in the Philippines, does not agree with those military and other optimists who are now predicting the early suppression of the Aguinaldan insurrection.

"The United States must understand," writes Col. Smith to Banker William H. Thomson, of St. Louis, "that we are only in the beginning of this war and that it will take 100,000 soldiers to put down the troubles we are now beset with in the Philippines. The army here, which is minus the tried veterans, has a very alarming amount of sick men and officers, and there appears to be no let-up, owing to our having so many soft recruits."

How differently this sounds from Senator Hanna's confident assurance that the Philippine revolt will be ended within six months—and, coming from a tried and trained soldier like Col. Smith, who is on the scene of operations, how much more authoritative. Persons desirous of getting at the truth of the Philippine situation cannot fail to be impressed by this latest report. It sounds the judgment of a man whose business it is to correctly estimate the qualities of a foe and to weigh carefully all the chances pertaining to a campaign.

It is natural, however, that Hanna and his followers should wish to minimize as much as possible the menace of the Philippine situation. Administration secretiveness concerning the administration policy regarding the permanent disposition of the Philippines was largely responsible for the outbreak of the insurrection. Administration blundering and favoritism are responsible for the prolonged conflict. The administration must needs convince the people that the outlook is not serious if such a feat is now possible to its mouthpieces. Senator Hanna is pleading earnestly for the president when he so bravely predicts the early restoration of order in the Philippines. It is very unfortunate that, with the exception of the president's favorite, Otis, the army officers now in the Philippines do not agree with the Hanna forecast.

With Otis' press censorship suppressing the dispatches of newspaper correspondents at the front, the people will be grateful for such bits of authentic information as are contained in letters like that of Col. Smith. They desire the facts concerning the Philippine campaign. If we are in for a long war it is better that the certainty be known. The administration itself would act wisely in recognizing this truth and adopting a policy of greater frankness in its dealings with the people.—St. Louis Republic.

——It is stated that Secretary of War Root is "studying the Philippine problem like a legal case." This is an excellent idea. Mr. Root is an astute lawyer. Why doesn't he sue Spain and require her to deliver the Philippine goods in accordance with the bill of sale, on which we paid her $20,000,000 in good money? Why not secure a mandamus or something of that sort to compel Spain to make good her "defective title" to the islands? Fighting under Gen. Otis is a slow and costly process. The law is the thing!—N. Y. World.

GIRAFFES IN AFRICA.

A Few Specimens Have Been Found in the Central Part of the Dark Continent.

From time to time it has been rumored that giraffes existed in British Central Africa, on the Loangwa river, but, although that river valley has been frequently visited during the last ten years by Europeans, no authentic information on the point has ever been obtained, says the British Central African Gazette.—Recently, however, a giraffe was shot on the east bank of the Loangwa, in the Marimba district, by a European prospector, and its skin (incomplete) sent in to Capt. Chichester, in Mpezeni's country. The hinder half of the skin is being sent to the British museum, and it is hoped that a complete specimen may now be obtained.

The existence of giraffes in Marimba is remarkable; the area in which they are found is extremely restricted, and their number appears to be very few. The one shot, however, was in a herd of about 35. The nearest country north of Marimba in which giraffes are known to exist is north of Mareres, where the Elton-Cotterill expedition met with them many years ago. To the south Matabeleland is the nearest giraffe country.

FIFTY CENTS FOR NOTHING.

What will the inventive brain of man do next? This is a question some one asks almost daily. There is one, though, who leads all others, who for a quarter of a century has been making fine laundry starch, and to-day is offering the public the finest starch ever placed on the market.

Ask your grocer for a coupon book which will enable you to get the first two packages of this new starch, "RED CROSS" (trade mark brand) also two children's Shakespeare pictures, painted in twelve benutiful colors, natural as life, or the Twentieth Century Girl Calendar, all absolutely free. All grocers are authorized to give ten large packages of "RED CROSS STARCH" with twenty of the Shakespeare pictures or ten of the Twentieth Century Girl Calendars to the first five purchasers of the ENDLESS CHAIN STARCH BOOK. This is one of the greatest offers ever made to introduce "RED CROSS" laundry starch, J. C. Hubinger's latest invention.

Miss Proctor's Youthful Critics.

Miss Mary Proctor, the astronomer and lecturer, takes a deep interest in social settlement work in the big cities, and frequently gives her personal services toward entertaining poor children and adults. Generally her lectures are very well received. Many of her audiences often manifest better attention than those drawn from higher circles. Now and then there are exceptions. On one occasion a bright-eyed little boy who sat in the front row with his eyes fixed upon the speaker was asked how he liked it. "I guess," he said, "it was pretty good, but she ought to talk about lions and tigers. That's better for everybody." At another lecture a youngster criticised her as follows: "It's all very well to talk of weighing and measuring stars. There are some people, of course, who believe that sort of thing, but if she thinks she can fool us boys with such fairy tales she's a very much mistaken."—Philadelphia Post.

Home Seekers' Excursions via "Big Four Route."

To the North, West, Northwest, Southwest, South and Southeast. Selling dates: August 15th, September 5th and 19th; and on October 3d and 17th, 1899, at one fare, plus $2.00 to authorized points in the following states: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, British Columbia, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Indian Territory, Idaho, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Manitoba, New Mexico, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Washington. For full information and particulars as to rates, routes, tickets, limits, stop-over privileges, etc., call on Agents "Big Four Route," or address the undersigned. W. P. Deppe, A. G. P. & T. Agt., Warren J. Lynch, Gen. Pass. & Tkt. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

She—"Did you ever kiss a girl when she wasn't looking?" He—"Yes; but only once. She made me do it over again when she was looking."—Town Topics.

THE MARKETS.

	CINCINNATI, Sept. 25.
LIVESTOCK—Cattle, common	$ 2 75	@	$ 3 85
Select butchers	4 85	@	5 00
CALVES—Fair to good light	6 25	@	7 00
HOGS—Packers and heavy	3 60	@	3 65
Mixed packers	4 35	@	4 45
Light shippers	4 45	@	4 50
SHEEP—Choice	3 60	@	4 00
LAMBS—Spring	4 25	@	4 80
FLOUR—Winter patents	3 35	@	3 60
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	70¼
No. 3 red		@	68
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	34¼
Oats—No. 2		@	2 ¼
Rye—No. 2		@	62½
HAY—Prime to choice	11 25	@	11 50
PROVISION—Mess pork		@	9 75
Lard		@	5 25
BUTTER—Choice dairy		@	13¼
Choice creamery		@	21
APPLES—Choice to fancy	3 00	@	3 50
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 40	@	1 50
	CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 30	@	3 60
GRAIN—Wheat, No. 2 red		@	73¾
No. 3 Chicago spring		@	68
CORN—No. 2		@	34¼
OATS—No. 2		@	23½
PORK—Mess		@	8 20
LARD—Steam	5 17½	@	5 32½
	NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 60	@	3 80
Wheat—No. 2 red		@	75¼
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@	41
RYE		@	61
OATS—Mixed		@	28
PORK—New mess	9 00	@	9 50
LARD—Western		@	5 60
	BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	3 25	@	3 50
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	72	@	72¼
Southern	65	@	72
Corn—Mixed		@	34¼
Oats—No. 2 white		@	19
Rye—No. 2 western		@	58
CATTLE—First quality	5 00	@	5 20
HOGS—Western	5 35	@	5 50
	INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	67
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	32
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@	22½
	LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 45	@	3 55
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	71
Corn—Mixed		@	34¼
Oats—Mixed		@	25
PORK—Mess		@	9 00
		@	5 25

The Best Man Wins.

Prize fighting may not be a pleasant subject, but it teaches a lesson nevertheless—the inability of man to hold the championship for any length of time. How unlike that great champion of health, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has never been beaten, and for fifty years has met and conquered the worst cases of constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness and liver trouble. See that a private Revenue Stamp covers the neck of the bottle.

Looks All Right.

"Doesn't the bicycle make you feel younger?" asked the expert.

"Well, I won't exactly say that," replied the elderly novice, "but it certainly makes me look younger."

"How is that?"

"Why, to sail through space as I occasionally do certainly gives the appearance of youthful activity, no matter how I may feel about it."—Buffalo News.

Non-Territorial Expansion

Means paying rent for a poor farm. Now is the time to secure a good farm on the line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway in Marinette County, Wisconsin, where the crops are of the best, work plenty, fine markets, excellent climate, pure soft water, land sold cheap and on long time. Why rent a farm when you can buy one for less than you pay for rent? Address C. E. Rollins, Land Agent, 161 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

Wanted His Record Corrected.

"You are charged with scorching," said the magistrate in a stern voice. "The policeman who overhauled you says you were going at least 15 miles an hour."

"There must be some mistake about this, your honor. I was—"

"Oh, yes; of course, of corse; they all claim that."

"But, your honor," continued the bicyclist, "I am positive that I was going at least 20 miles an hour."—Ohio State Journal.

Do Your Feet Ache and Burn?

Shake into your shoes Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It makes tight or New Shoes feel Easy. Cures Corns, Bunions, Swollen, Smarting, Hot, Callous, Sore, and Sweating Feet. All Druggists and Shoe Stores sell it, 25c. Sample sent FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Preaching and Practice.

The man who invented a perfect method for the culture of the memory forgot his hat. The man who wrote a book instructing mankind how to live a hundred years died at 88. The woman who wrote a book to prove that there is no death has buried two husbands.—Christian Register.

The Best Prescription for Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure, no pay. Price, 50c.

English as Written in Austria.

This curious attempt at English was copied the other day from the label of a bottle of kummel at Kitzbuhel: "This fine aromatiesi liquor of cumin being carefullist destillated by me from exquisite green cumin must be recommended at the best as an excellent and savory hygienical middle."—N. Y. Tribune.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

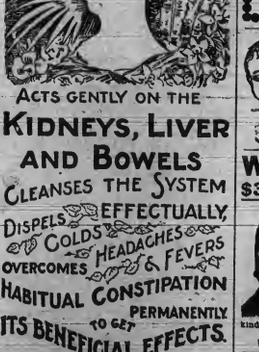
Crowded Out.

"Crowded out to make room for more interesting matter," remarked the editor, as he shoved aside a plate of beans and tackled pie.—Ohio State Journal.

Remember that Putnam Fadeless Dyes are the only dyes in the world that are guaranteed to give satisfaction. If you use Putnam Fadeless Dyes and are dissatisfied, send the empty envelope to Monroe Drug Co., Unionville, Mo., and they will forward you 10c for every envelope of Putnam Fadeless Dyes.

An egotist is a man who is unable to disguise the interest he feels in himself.—Chicago Daily News.

I have found Piso's Cure for Consumption an unfailing medicine.—F. R. Lotz, 1305 Scott St., Covington, Ky., Oct. 1, 1894.



We have heard of several, but never knew a man who could enjoy a joke on himself.—Atchison Globe.

Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is taken Internally. Price 75c.

College graduates and thermometers are marked by degrees.—Chicago Daily News.

One who has a mind to think will soon have a thinking mind.—Ram's Horn.

ACTS GENTLY ON THE KIDNEYS, LIVER
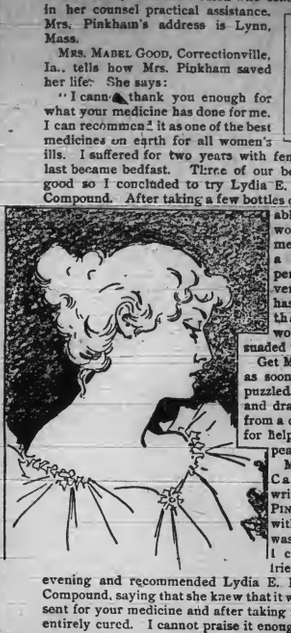
AND BOWELS
CLEANSES THE SYSTEM
DISPELS COLDS EFFECTUALLY,
OVERCOMES HEADACHES & FEVERS
HABITUAL CONSTIPATION PERMANENTLY
TO GET ITS BENEFICIAL EFFECTS.
BUY THE GENUINE—MANUFD BY
CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
LOUISVILLE, KY. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. NEW YORK, N.Y.
FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS. PRICE 50¢ PER BOTTLE.

THE ills of women overshadow their whole lives.



Some women are constantly getting medical treatment and are never well. "A woman best understands women's ills," and the women who consult Mrs. Pinkham find in her counsel practical assistance.

Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

PRACTICAL HELP FOR SUFFERING WOMEN

MRS. MABEL GOOD, Correctionville, Ia., tells how Mrs. Pinkham saved her life. She says:

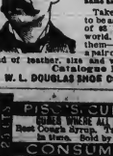
"I cannot thank you enough for what your medicine has done for me. I can recommend it as one of the best medicines on earth for all women's ills. I suffered for two years with female weakness and at last became bedfast. Three of our best doctors did me no good so I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking a few bottles of your medicine, I was able to do all my housework. I know that your medicine raised me from a bed of sickness and perhaps death, and am very thankful for what it has done for me. I hope that every suffering woman may be persuaded to try your medicine."

Get Mrs. Pinkham's advice as soon as you begin to be puzzled. The sick headaches and dragging sensation come from a curable cause. Write for help as soon as they appear.

MRS. DOLE STANLEY, Campbellsburg, Ind., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I was troubled with sick headache and was so weak and nervous, I could hardly go. A friend called upon me one evening and recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, saying that she knew that it would cure me. I then sent for your medicine and after taking five bottles of it, I was entirely cured. I cannot praise it enough."

John M. Smyth Co.
MAMMOTH MAIL ORDER HOUSE
150-152-154
156-158-160
162-164-166
W. MADISON ST.
CHICAGO.

FASHIONABLE AUTUMN AND WINTER SKIRT.



No. 165. This handsome skirt is made of fine quality all wool storm serge in the new fashionable shape; stylishly trimmed with black satin from waist, in fancy design as illustrated. Notwithstanding the modest cost of this se plus ultra of fashion, none of the essential points that go to make up a strictly first-class skirt have been omitted. It is lined throughout with high grade percaline and substantial interlining; bound with best waterproof binding; made with under box plait and patent snap fasteners in the back to prevent spreading open; bound seams. The accompanying illustration having been made from a photograph of the skirt, accurately portrays the gracefulness of each fold and line and gives a clear conception of the way it will hang when worn. This is a bargain of unusual interest to every lady who desires something not too expensive, at the same time possessing style equal to more costly garments and quality that is wonderfully serviceable. Colors are navy blue or black. State Waist, 22 to 30 inches; length, 39 to 44 inches. Larger sizes 20 per cent extra. Price

$3.35

You'll enjoy wearing it because it possesses individual style, because the price is only about half the value. To be enumerated among our customers means to be in close touch with the centers of fashion at all times.

OUR MAMMOTH CATALOGUE

In which is listed at lowest wholesale prices everything to eat, wear and use, is furnished on receipt of only 10c. to partly pay postage or expressage, and as evidence of good faith—the 10c. is allowed on first purchase amounting to $1.00 or above.

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA (Teething Powders.)
Costs only 25 Cents. Ask your Druggist for it. If not kept by druggists mail 25 Cents to
C. J. MOFFETT, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.
Rev. (now Bishop) Joseph S. Key, Wrote: "We have your TEETHINA (Teething Powders), to our little grandchild with the happiest results. The effects were almost magical and certainly more satisfactory than from anything we ever used."

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 & $3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.
Worth $4 to $6 compared with other makes.
Indorsed by over 1,000,000 wearers.
ALL LEATHERS. ALL STYLES
THE GENUINE have W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on bottom.
Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Largest makers of $3 and $3.50 shoes in the world. Your dealer should keep them—if not, we will send you a pair on receipt of price. State kind of leather, size and width, plain or cap toe. Catalogue B Free.
W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

READERS OF THIS PAPER DESIRING TO BUY ANYTHING ADVERTISED IN ITS COLUMNS SHOULD INSIST UPON HAVING WHAT THEY ASK FOR. REFUSING ALL SUBSTITUTES OR IMITATIONS.

CARTER'S INK
Take no other—It is the best that can be made.

FITS Permanently Cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $25 trial bottle and treatise free. Dr. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

$75 Month; costly outfit free; we want a man or woman in every county; supply quick. Manufacturers, 3845 Market St., Philadelphia.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

A. N. K.—E 1780

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

Plantation Chill Cure is Guaranteed
To cure, or money refunded by your merchant, so why not try it? Price 50c.

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, Sept., 27, 1899.

Advertising Rates:
One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

Democratic State Ticket.

For Governor,
WILLIAM GOEBEL, of Kenton.

For Lieutenant Governor,
J. C. W. BECKHAM, of Nelson.

For Attorney General,
R. J. BRECKINRIDGE, of Boyle.

For Auditor,
G. G. COULTER, of Graves.

For Treasurer,
S. W. HAGER, of Boyd.

For Secretary of State,
C. B. HILL, of Clark.

For Supt. Public Instruction,
H. V. M'CHESNEY, of Livingston.

For Commissioner of Agrieulture,
I. B. NALL, of Jefferson.

For Railroad Commissioner,
FLETCHER DEMPSEY, of Hopkins county.—First District.

C. C. M'CHORD, of Washington county.—Second District.

A. W. HAMILTON, of Montgomery county.—Third District.

For State Senator,
Dr. J. G. FURNISH.

For Representative,
BENJAMIN STEPHENS.

Neighborhood News.

Berkshire.

R. L. Roberts is on the sick list.

J. G. Finnell is building an addition to his house.

We are glad to report that Jack Stewart is able to be out again.

Miss Julia Stewart, of Crittenden, was visiting relatives in this vicinity, last week.

Will Hume has returned home from Carrollton, after finding his fortune, and is all smiles.

Deputy Sheriff Allphin and wife, of Burlington, were in this vicinity, last week, attending meeting.

The protracted meeting at South Fork closed Friday night with nine additions, viz: Maud Brown, Lena Ellis-ton, Mary Moore, Mamie Stewart, Ceb-ury Allphin, Jessie Allphin, Harry Miller, Clarence Hopper and Jimmie Wilson.

Hathaway.

The assessor was in this vicinity last week.

J. S. Mason hauled his clover huller home last Thursday.

Harry Stephens and wife went to Rising Sun, last Thursday.

Mrs. Sarah White was visiting in the Woolper neighborhood, last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Clements were visiting in Indiana several days last week.

Dogs made a raid on G. L. Smith's sheep, one night last week, killing and crippling several.

Mrs. Cynthia Mason and Mrs. Nan McElroy were guests of Mrs. Bettie Allen, last Tuesday.

William Green, jr., of Rising Sun passed through this burg last Monday, en route to Union, to look after the telephone line at that place.

Gunpowder.

A much needed rain fell here last Sunday night.

A large crowd attended communion services at Hopeful, last Sunday morning.

There were several from here attended the Lagoon Harvest Home last Saturday.

James Beall and family, George Baker and family, and Henry Quick and wife, dined with J. H. Tanner, last Sunday.

Mrs. John F. Doherty, of 1631 Pullan ave., Cincinnati returned home a few days ago after a three weeks' visit with Mrs. Joe Scott.

Miss Hattie Tanner is still lying in a critical condition, and while she has had excellent treatment, she has gradually grown worse since my last report, and her condition is very serious.

Mr. Charles Rice, of Richwood dropped dead last Sunday morning—cause, heart failure. Mr. Rice was well known here and his family have the sympathy of a host of friends in their bereavement.

The meetings at Hopeful closed last Sunday night. There were two accessions. The entire services were conducted by Pastor Lents, except two evenings, when Bro. Crans, Pastor of the M. E. church at Florence, occupied the pulpit, and preached two excellent sermons.

Richwood.

Mrs. McGlasson and Miss Alice spent Sunday with friends here.

Miss Hattie Tanner is still seriously ill and her recovery is still doubtful.

It was circulated that Mrs. Klinger had sold her farm, but such is not the case.

Mrs. Hughes, whose home was burned, is now in her beautiful new home with every modern convenience.

Mr. James Dobyns, who has had typhoid fever, was to be out Sunday for the first time—his visit of course was "to father's."

The Harvest Home at the Lagoon was quite a success. The Misses Dixon, of Crescent, brought eleven ribbons home with them.

The Methodist congregation are delighted to have their former pastor, Willard Crans, for another year. He preached a very able sermon at both services Sunday.

Miss Bradley, of Georgetown, who has been the guest of Mrs. Lewis Rice for the past ten days, has returned to her home. She more than deserves the many high compliments paid her, for she was a charming young lady and made many friends during her stay.

The friends of Mr. Chas. Rice will be pained to learn that he passed away Sunday morning. He was in his usual health when he retired Saturday night; he was found critically ill early Sunday morning, and while every effort was made he never roused. Mrs. Rice and family have the heart felt sympathy of all.

Bellevue.

Fine rain Sunday night.

Mrs. John Barnett is very sick with typhoid malaria.

Frank McMullen, who has typhoid, is reported some better.

Reuben Acra and wife were guests of their son Charles, Sunday.

Michael Clore spent several days the past week with his son Robert, on Clore's Ridge.

T. L. Utz and family were at home, last Sunday, but he was not able to occupy the pulpit.

The personal effects of J. T. Marshall, deceased, were sold on the afternoon of the 23d inst. Most everything sold well.

L. L. Snyder and wife have been sojourning with their son-in-law, Mr. Ira Powell, of the Hoosier State the past week.

Warring Flick and Miss Susie Staley quietly repaired to Rising Sun, last Wednesday, and were made one by some one authorized to perform the rites of matrimony. They have many friends here who extend congratulations.

We had the most exciting as well as the first professional game of ball ever played at this place, last Saturday. People came from all points of the county as well as Aurora and Rising Sun, until the crowd numbered 400. Score, 3 to 2 in favor of Bellevue.

Notes.—Too much hallooing. Noah Clore wore his hat rim out cheering the Burlington boys. Some of the ladies, friends of both clubs, became very much excited.

Sam'l E. Harnest and wife, of Carthage, Ill., and Mrs. David Walton, of Denver, Ill., are guests of relatives in this community. Mrs. Harnest is the daughter of F. M. and Emily Walton, who moved from this county in 1835. Mrs. Emily Walton is a sister to D. G. Rice and brothers, who died in this county. Mrs. Walton has reached her 88th year. Mrs. David Walton is the daughter of Mr. Moses Scott. They came in on a thirty day's ticket, and will visit many of their relations in Boone before returning.

Flickertown.

Chas. Sebree's children have scarlet fever.

Sunday school closed last Sunday week.

Corn cutting and wheat sowing are the order of the day.

Mrs. Sallie Baldon is visiting relatives in St. Louis, Mo.

Merlit Sullivan has sold his crop of tobacco to Ben Hensley.

Mrs. L. Nichols has been quite poorly for a couple of weeks.

Geo. Hensley has gone to house keeping on Wm. Botts' farm.

Several went from here to the ball game at Bellevue, last Saturday.

Prof. Snyder's school is progressing nicely with about 35 scholars enrolled.

Robert Bachelor has been very low with typhoid fever, but is now improving.

Ask Harry Passons how many sweet potato hills it takes to fill a 2 bushel sack.

Woody Sullivan and his bride are living with the bride's father, Mr. Alf. Porter.

Miss Eliza Delph, of Garrison, has been visiting Noah Delph and family a couple of weeks.

Courtney Jarrell has had a very sore foot. He dropped a brick on it mashing one toe nail off.

Mrs. Martha Delph shot at that party of hoodlums from Petersburg, who passed here last Friday night.

We see our friend Edwin Botts pass through town quite often in that new buggy, driving that high headed gray stepper. We are told that the magnet that draws Ed's attention is in the Utzinger neighborhood.

Union.

Mr. and Mrs. Asburry, of Mason Co., attended church in Union, Sunday.

Rev. Davis preached at the Presbyterian church, Sunday morning and evening.

J. W. Williams has 35 acres of corn that will make 300 barrels and hasn't a replant hill in it.

Our village was shocked to learn of Charley Rice's sudden death, Sunday morning at Richwood.

Mrs. Larry Judge and little daughter, of Nicholasville, were the guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Hney, last week.

Charley Cleek claims to have the finest patch of sorghum in the county. It measures 12 feet in length and is jurley.

Miss Mamie Reed returned to Covington, Saturday, after a pleasant visit with friends in Union and vicinity, for several days.

"Uncle" John Baker was in town, one day last week, and told the Recorder that Mrs. Baker and himself were very feeble this summer.

John Cleek has been in a critical condition for several days at his home near Frogtown with fever. Nothing lays on his stomach and has not for 20 days.

Miss Lizzie Aylor is having her house beautified with a couple of coats of paint. Miss Lizzie believes in keeping everything in "apple pie" order on her farm and does it too.

Noah Tanner has been on the sick list for ten days with rheumatism, but is better. He made two barrels of cider by himself in one day and got the rheumatism as a result. No wonder.

Esq. Bannister returned, Saturday night, from Hickson, Tenn., where he visited Martin Weaver and family. Mr. Bannister reports his daughter, Mrs. Weaver, improved some in health, but not well by any means.

Mr. Owen Gaines, of Bullittsville, was shaking hands with the boys here recently, and seems to be growing heavier and better natured as he grows older. We venture the assertion that Mr. Gaines has the most powerful chest and shoulders of any man of his height in Boone county.

Harry Riley came in Saturday evening from a six weeks cure trip in tobacco. His overalls were so gummed up with tobacco gum that we were forced to "gum it up" as to whether he was a machine for gumming postage stamps or not. Harry is always busy because he is a good worker.

Rich Bros., Tun and Joe, bought cows and calves at the Cincinnati Stock Yards. They sold the calves and brought the cows home, and have had more trouble than enough keeping them. Several weeks ago all of them (6) got out and one never stopped until she rounded in at the stock yards again; two got to Covington and were penned by Sam Moreland and the others were corralled at various points in Kenton and Boone.

Harry Chambers, of Erlanger, is doing some patching on the Masonic Hall. "Hack" heard the boys talking about sorghum making and he told of a family in Erlanger that ate sorghum until five of the children turned into ginger cakes, three more into molasses candy and the other six into sorghum cane, grew up and went to seed, were planted next spring and produced a sugar plantation with all necessary equipments for making 2000 barrels of sugar a year. Next.

"Boys as a rule are boys the world over." They exist in great variety and divers colors. Most boys live in mortal fear of order and system, and hate anything that flavors of discipline. We think most boys are of a kind of foreshadowing of what they will be when they are 40 years old and a kind of backshadowing of what their daddies were when they were boys, but in all cases this idea will not hold good. For right here in Union precinct are boys who have daddies that are as good and orderly men as can be found, and yet, these same boys will destroy and devour everything that comes in reach of them, and for no reason on earth, except to gratify a morbid desire for doing devilry. A good boy is a joy forever—a poem of beauty and should be appreciated.

Much difference of opinion exists even among Democrats about our war with the Philippino's. Some say its wrong; some say its right. Be this as it may, there are Democrats who know the South is being and has been materially benefitted by this war from the start. Southern products have been consumed at big prices by the soldiers camping there; cotton has advanced, sugar has bounded and iron furnaces too. Finally they believe the Nicaragua canal will be built and southern ports will be ports of entry for millions of dollars worth of imports now going into New York and other eastern ports. As Southern Democrats, they believe, what is good for the South is good for the entire earth, so they say let the Phillippines be taken, the canal be built, the South from Kentucky to the Gulf bloom as a flower garden, &c.

Walton.

Miss Madge Holder had a pleasant visit to her friend, Miss Mamie Stephens, of Covington last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hind and family left, on last Thursday, for Los Angeles, California, to spend the winter.

Miss Lora Diers goes to the city on Tuesdays to teach a class in music. She is thinking of giving lessons in Walton. Miss Lora is an accomplished musician as her position in the chorus at the Sangerfest testified.

An apology is hereby heartily tendered Mr. Owen B. Utz for using his name in connection with the arrest of John Crowe at the fair. Several persons were questioned in regard to the given name of Mr. Utz, and all stated that it was Owen. When told it was our old friend, Fred, it came over us like a thunder clap from a clear sky. He has bought lambs for a number of years and it was a revelation that he failed to recognize one when it was before him.

As to D. T. Haley's card it caused no further concern than to amuse the writer and his friends at the vain manner in which he gave himself away as being in the harness all the time he is. Berry, who is fomenting through his tools the discord now existing in the Democratic ranks. The people here are the ones to determine the matter. In no case can a man touch pitch without being defiled. If necessary the public can learn from the editor of the Recorder what the writer has done for the party to which he belongs.

Elijah Gorman gave a good reply to one of the Brown blowers the other day, who was saying how many Democrats were going to vote against Goebel. "That's all right," says Eliza, "we have only swapped a few loud mouthed Democrats for some darkies, and are better off for the exchange, as the Dem ocrats lost to us were an injury to the party and we are only too glad to get rid of them." The blower had immediate business in the other part of town.

The league committee of the Third Fistrict Christian Endeavor Union visited the Walton C. E. Society, Saturday evening. The committee consisted of A. D Sullivan, Joseph Sereus, and Miss Lily Southgate, of Covington, and Miss Bertha Harper, of Newport. Messrs. Sullivan and Sereus were guests of Mrs. Emma Lermond and daughters while Misses Harper and Southgate were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ransler. The two gentlemen of the committee and Miss Harper went on the 7:45 a. m. train for Crittenden and Goshen, while Miss Southgate, remained here until Sunday afternoon and organized a rousing Junior C. E. Society. The committee conducted a very helpful meeting and the Endeavors feel that much good will result from their visit.

The weekly meeting of the Literary Society of the young ladies of this place and surrounding vicinity, held at the residence of Mr. John C. Byland on Saturday evening, proved to be a grand success. In addition to the regular exercises of the meeting, good music was introduced by Messrs. C. C. Metcalfe and Edward Mann. The visitors present were Messrs. Eskew, of Covington, and Paugle, of Louisville, who expressed themselves as having derived great pleasure from the entertainment. Mr. Paugle is night operator on the Short Line and Mr. Eskew is the druggist running Hind's drug store during Mr. Hind's absence in California.

There is always a feeling of sadness in writing the notice of the demise of any worthy person, but this feeling is greatly intensified when it becomes necessary to note the death of a good friend under circumstances of so painful a character. Mr. Chas. Rice, 47 years of age, son-in-law of the late Senator Conner, was suffering with a raging toothache Saturday night, during which he took the contents of a vial of morphine. His wife did not discover it until next morning, when Dr. Menifee was called and who telephoned for Dr. Jones, of this place, who left immediately, but arrived too late to be of any benefit, Rice dying a few minutes after his arrival. The deceased was liked by all who knew him and had not an enemy in the country.

Constance.

The river is falling again.

John Funk, who has been sick with fever, is improving.

Rabbits are beginning to die with the lead-shot trouble.

Mrs. Macey Hood, who has been seriously sick, is some better.

Chas. Herbstreitt is happy. His wife presented him with a bouncing girl.

Geo. Parson and Chas. Volhsing have gone to work on the Big Four road.

Miss Ella England, who has been working in Ludlow, has returned home sick.

Bro. Watkins filled his regular appointment at the Christian church, Saturday night.

Mr. Wm. Vest, of Burlington, had his horse hurt here so badly it had to be sent home.

Mrs. Davis and daughter, of Lawrenceburg, are spending a few days at her brother's, Aleon Loder.

Alfred and Louis Dolwick have to make a trip to New Orleans in their uncle's gasoline boat, Little George.

John J. Rucker has secured the lumber for the completion of his new house.

Geo. Reeves and son are finishing it.

Bert and Ed Berkshire and John Cloud, of the Burlington neighborhood, spent the day at B. F. Zimmer's, one day last week.

Louis Cottmeyer, of Pittsburg, Pa., where he has recently been appointed superintendent over five large plants, is visiting his father, Capt. Cottmeyer.

Hebron.

Leslie Aylor, of Erlanger, was in our burg, Sunday.

Measles have made their appearance in this vicinity.

Very few from here attended the Lagoone Harvest Home.

J. W. Clore has begun hauling rock to pike "Dogtrot Avenue."

G. S. Hann has purchased thirty fine sheep from two of his patrons.

Mr. Hann spent Saturday night in Bromley, the guest of John Helst.

A number from this place attended church at Hopeful, Sunday night.

Jeff Clayton and family have moved to the house vacated by Mike Dye.

Miss Martha Harding has returned from a three weeks stay at Erlanger.

Miss Eva Beall is now staying with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Aylor.

Mrs. Mary Quick spent several days, last week, with her niece, Mrs. Cornelius, of Ludlow.

Oliver Dye and wife were the guests of Will McGlassou and wife, Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. Mannin and wife were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wayman, of Covington, Saturday night and Sunday.

The departure from our village of a certain young lady has caused several young men to wear a very sad look.

The monthly night meeting at the Lutheran church was postponed Sunday night on account of the meeting at Hopeful.

Pt. Pleasant.

Born—To Adam Dolwick and wife, Sept. 12th, a son.

Mrs. Ollie Aylor, of Hebron, is visiting her parents, this week.

Miss Sarah Southern, of Rosedale, is the guest of Mrs Belle Hood.

Protracted meeting commenced at Pt. Pleasant church, last Sunday.

One of the events of the past week was the social held at the home of Miss Grace Russell, Saturday evening.

Mrs. Anna Cullum, of Hone City, Ohio, has been the guests of friends and relatives here, the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith, of Kansas City, Mo., are the guests of Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. J. W. Henke.

E. S. Mathews and wife will move to Taylorsport, the latter part of the week. Mr. Mathews will teach the school at that place.

Bank Lick.

Corn cuttings are the order of the day.

The new bridge on the Bristow turnpike has been completed.

Mr. Wm. Bagby had a very fine horse killed by a train Thursday night.

Mr. J. Z. Bristow received several premiums on his poultry at the Lagoon Harvest Home.

Mrs. Omer Armstrong was pleasantly surprised by a number of young folks from the neighborhood coming to see her Saturday evening.

Miss Minnie Craddock, the handsome and charming young daughter of Mr. Thos. Craddock, of Walton, was the pleasant guest of Mr. Price V. Conner, from Saturday till Sunday.

FARM FOR SALE.

My farm of 114 acres, situated on the L. & N. Railroad, one mile south of Walton, Boone county, Ky. All good cultivating land; good fences and plenty of fruit; well watered. 2-story frame dwelling, 2 large tobacco barns, and all kinds of out buildings necessary on a farm.

TERMS MADE EASY.

I also offer for sale my house and lot in Walton, Boone county, Ky., situated on Verona Ave. Good five room cottage, a No. 1 barn and good outbuildings of all kinds.

For terms call on or address,
J. K. ROBERTS,
Box 35, Walton, Ky.
sept27-tf

For Rent or Sale.

My farm of 113 acres of well watered, well fenced, good cultivating land. Large dwelling, tenement house and good tobacco barn on place. Seventy-five acres can be sown in wheat in the fall; 12 acres of uncleared woodland. Farm situated on L. & N. Railroad, 1½ miles from Verona, Boone county, Ky. For terms address,
Mrs. J. T. BROCK,
416 E. Main St., Lexington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission and SEED Merchants.
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.
Largest and Best Stock of
GROCERIES IN THE CITY.
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.
27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone 4055.) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street,
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

JOHN ALLISON,
UNDER-TAKER  EMBALMER,
—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,—
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.
INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

Order Fall Suits NOW

H. F. BLASE.

And we will make them up artistically and ready for you promptly on time. We have

Over Five Hundred Styles

Of Fall and Winter Woolens to Select from. They come direct from the looms of foreign and domestic manufacturers, and surpass in elegance and variety anything ever shown in Covington. In the assortment are many exclusive patterns—goods that cannot be duplicated by any other establishment in this city. Keep these facts in mind and place your order for a stylish suit with us. We promise you a faultless fit, the proper cut, and a price that will not be more than you can afford to pay.

H. F. BLASE,
535 Madison Avenue,
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY

A Word to the Public
MY STOCK OF
Dry Goods, Notions,
AND LADIES' AND GENTS'
TOILET ARTICLES
for the Spring Trade has been received, and to be appreciated must be seen. Fresh
DRUGS AND GROCERIES
received daily. A large stock of
PAINTS & OILS
on hand at all times. All Goods New and Clean, and are sold at the
LOWEST CASH PRICES.
—GIVE ME A CALL—
J. G. OELSNER, Florence, Ky.

Call in and See Our
NEW FALL STOCK,
THE QUICKER THE BETTER.
The Best $5 00 All-wool Man's Suit ever shown.
Our $2 50 Boy's Suits cant be beat.
Our $1 25 Child's Suit is the biggest value ever offered.
We show the Finest, Best Made Line of pants and Suits at the Very Lowest Prices.
We carry a fine Line of Corderoy Pants, Rubber Lined Duck Coats and Cardigan Jackets.
Our Motto is—The Best Values for the Money.
Satisfaction Guaranteed or Money Refunded.
ROLFES & WACHS, No. 1 Pike Street, Cor. Madison Ave.
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

Local News.

Dry, dry, dry.

There is a very slim prospect for any fall grass.

D. E. Castleman's house is nearing completion.

Some say there was frost last Thursday morning.

Defective flues will begin to get in their work now.

The painters have begun work on Castleman's house.

Several from here attended C. B. Rice's funeral, yesterday.

That will be a good game of ball at the park here next Saturday.

Come to the Burlington park next Saturday and see a good game of ball.

The leaves having decided not to wait for frost have begun coming down.

James D. Acra has added a tobacco barn to the improvements on his farm.

Inquiries have been made as to the whereabouts of the last winter's overcoat.

The Local thinks that home talent is conducting the burglar business in Rising Sun.

Some of our citizens will get the benefit of the rise in coal, unless a good rain comes soon.

There is a stray buck at Jack Stafford's, for which he would like the owner to call for.

There is now enough moisture around for a pretty good frost. Cut your tater vines.

People began going about yesterday with coat collars turned up like they were in mid-wiuter.

It was 24 years ago Monday the RECORDER made its bow to the public—quite a good while.

Burlington sent a pretty good delegation to Bellevue, Saturday afternoon to witness the game of ball.

Don't begin shooting quails this fall before the law permits. Let all the hunters have the same chance.

The hauling of stone for the building of Lassing & Hogan's tobacco warehouse began Monday morning.

Some of the steam mills through the county have had to suspend operations because of the scarcity of water.

Shooting frogs with pistol cartradages filled with shot is affording considerable sport for some of the boys.

What everybody hoped would turn out to be a good rain, Sunday night, proved to be only sufficient to lay the dust.

Hon. J. D. Kehoe will speak at the court house in Burlington, next Monday, in the interest of the Democratic ticket.

The Boone County Insurance Company will hold its annual electiou of officers at its office in Burlington next Monday.

Some of the springs that had been dry for two or three weeks, began to send forth water again the latter part of last week.

It would take considerable rain to put the ground in a condition that it can be brokeu in anything like a satisfactory manner for wheat.

James Worford, who lives on Mr. J. G. Gaines' farm sent to this office a hill of potatoes that grew together, forming one, irreguiar tuber.

The members of the Hebron Democratic Club are requested to meet in Hebron at 2 p. m., Saturday, Oct. 7th. Good speakers will be in attendance.

James Clore hauled several loads of hay to the city last week, and yet it did not rain. Verily, verily the drouth is one the backbone of which is hard to break.

Some of the farmers have been compelled to drive their stock quite a distance to water, while others are hauling water for their stock and for use about their houses.

The wire for the Union and Florence telephone line is now at the depot, and by Saturday night the poles will be dellvered, and the line will be put up next week if the weather will permit.

NOTICE—The Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Boone County will hold its annual election for officers at its office in Burlington, on Monday, October 2d, 1899.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary.

Sam Hall brought that rat trap of his to town again last Friday, the contents being 22 healthy, active rodeuts, the destruction of which furnished a half hour's furious fun for a large number of persons.

It now looks like it will require a vast amount of food to keep stock till grass comes again. Unless there is a very great change for the better farmers will have to begin feeding their stock in a short time.

Mr. Alfred Cason has sold 14 calves this year for fancy prices. He sold two yearling heifers at $75 each. He has an excellent grade of Shorthorns and takes great pains lu their breeding. He sells a great many to Indiana parties.

The Covington and Erlanger Street Railway Company has filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State. The authorized capital is $250,000. This is one more link in the long chain that leads up to construction.

The excessive heat during the last few weeks tobacco remained in the field reduced the yield of that crop very materially by burning it. Some was so badly fired that it was necessary to cut the stalk off at the height of four or five leaves.

PERSONAL MENTION.

J. N. Pearson, Election Commissioner, was in town Monday.

Supt. Voshell was in town Monday looking after official business.

Elhenen Fitzgerald, of Fairberry, Illinois, is a guest of J. F. Blyth.

James A. Smith, of the Gunpowder neighborhood, was in town Saturday.

Dr. Anderson, of Erlanger, was the guest of A. P. Rouse, Sunday night.

Mr. E. M. Gaines is the guest of his granddaughter, Mrs. Ves W. Gaines.

Mr. A. G. Winston, of Hebron, was in town a few hours, last Friday afternoon.

Rev. J. A. Kirtley was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Castleman, Sunday night.

Quite a number of their friends dined with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. [illegible] entertained a large number of friends at dinner, Monday.

Miss Alma Carpenter was the guest of Mrs. Thornton, of Erlanger, last Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Florence Tolin, formerly of Petersburg but now of Horace, Ind., is very sick with typhoid fever.

Edward Lodge, of Monticello, Illinois, was visiting his cousin, Miss Mary A. Thompson, last Saturday.

D. T. Crigler, of Gunpowder, and L. N. Crigler, of Covington, were guests at the Boone House, Sunday.

Misses Birdie and Emma Graves, of Marshall, Mo., were guests of Mrs. J. R. Clutterbuck, last Wednesday.

Chas. Scothorn of the northern part of the county, was among those transacting business in town yesterday.

Mrs. C. C. Hughes has been an intense sufferer for about a week with a finger which she stuck with a pin.

T. D. Goodridge spent several days, last week, the guest of his daughter, Mrs. S. Gaines, and attended church.

